INTRODUCTION.

THE EXHIBITION OF WORKS OF ART AT LEEDS consists of the following Departments, which serve to illustrate the various phases of Pictorial and Ornamental Art from an early period to the commencement of the present century:—

1. A collection of Paintings in Oil by the OLD MASTERS, from the fifteenth to the eighteenth century, contained in the Central Saloon, in Galleries A, B, and C, and in their respective Staircases.
2. A series of Works in Oil by BRITISH ARTISTS, down to the present day; the earlier ones in Gallery D, the later ones in Gallery E, and in their respective Staircases.
3. A series of Paintings by MODERN FOREIGN ARTISTS, in Gallery F, and in the adjoining Staircase.
4. A collection of Water-Colour Drawings by BRITISH ARTISTS, deceased and living, in Gallery G, and adjoining Staircase.
5. Engravings and Etchings are arranged in Gallery H.
6. Drawings and Sketches by the OLD MASTERS, in Gallery H.
7. A collection of Miniatures in the same Gallery.
8. A Portrait Gallery of YORKSHIRE WORTHIES, contained in the Corridors round the Central Court.

9. The Museum of Ornamental Art; consisting of Works from the earliest period to the present century, arranged in the Chapel and adjoining Rooms, and in Gallery J, its Staircase and Corridors.
10. An India Museum, situated on each side of the Western Entrance.

The Works of the OLD MASTERS have been selected and the collection formed by the Chief Commissioner, Mr. Waring, and by Mr. Redford, the Assistant Commissioner, by whom the Pictures of the Italian, Spanish, and French Schools have been arranged.

The three Galleries, containing Paintings by BRITISH ARTISTS in OIL and WATER-COLOURS, have been formed under the superintendence of Mr. R. C. Saunders.

The Gallery of Pictures by MODERN FOREIGN ARTISTS has been formed under the superintendence of Mr. L. Lefèvre.

The ENGRAVINGS AND ETCHINGS have been collected and arranged by the Honorary Superintendent, Mr. W. Smith, F.S.A., who has also written that section of the Catalogue, and the Introduction to it.

The Drawings and Sketches by the OLD MASTERS have been collected by Mr. Waring. To Mr. J. C. Robinson the Committee are indebted for the selection and description of Mr. Malcolm's Drawings.

The GALLERY OF YORKSHIRE WORTHIES has been entirely formed by the Honorary Superintendent, Mr. Hailstone, by whom, also, the descriptive Catalogue of this section has been written.

The MUSEUM OF ORNAMENTAL ART, including Miniatures and Illuminated MSS., together with the Catalogue of that portion of the Exhibition, has been collected and classified by the Superintendent of the Museum, Mr. W. Chaffers.

The INDIA MUSEUM is due to the co-operation of the Secretary of State for India, by whose direction the present selection of examples of Art-Manufactures from the India Museum has been intrusted to Dr. J. Forbes Watson, Reporter on the Products of India; by whom, also, this portion of the Catalogue has been furnished.

To Mrs. Hailstone, the Committee are indebted for the formation of a collection of LACE AND EMBROIDERY.

The CATALOGUE OF PICTURES and the BIOGRAPHICAL NOTICES OF ARTISTS have been carefully compiled by Mr. R. N. James.

The FLORAL DECORATIONS of the Central Hall, Entrance, Corridors, &c., with the Statues and Trophies, have been designed and carried out by Mr. H. C. Brandling.

All the arrangements connected with the practical working of the Exhibition, apart from Art, have been under the direction of Mr. T. A. Wright, the General Superintendent.

THE OLD MASTERS.

GALLERIES A, B, C, AND CENTRAL SALOON.

However desirable it might have been, it was not possible to form in the present Exhibition a complete series of works illustrative of the art of oil painting in Europe. The earlier productions of the great masters in Italy, Germany, and Flanders are well known, and are preserved in certain localities, which the student of art must visit before he can form an adequate idea of their value. In the present instance, we have collected such pictures as will serve to illustrate the rise of oil painting in Europe, and give the visitor an idea of the characters of the various Schools from the fifteenth century onwards. For this purpose a certain degree of chronological arrangement has been kept, but our principal object has been to render the collections attractive and interesting.

The Old Masters, as they are generally called, in contradistinction to the modern ones, do not include any very long period or extend to any very remote past, being restricted as they are to between the fifteenth and nineteenth centuries, or not much more than 300 years in all. Those who more justly, perhaps, should be termed the old masters "par excellence," lived in an earlier time, but their works were principally executed in tempera and as mural decoration. The peculiar adaptation of oil colours for painting, practised by the Van Eycks, about the year 1410, led to a complete change in the style of art, which was quickly adopted by the painters of Flanders, Germany, and Italy. "Chiaroscuro," or the power of shadow as well as of light, now first came to be duly appreciated and practised, owing no doubt to the facilities which the new method afforded for its adoption. The earliest paintings in oil are executed on wood panel, and the use of prepared canvas did not become general till the close of the fifteenth century, but in every instance, until within a comparatively late date, when the making of colours became a separate manufacture, the artist prepared his own colours, or employed an assistant to do so for him, under his own guidance. The purity of the material, and the care taken in the process, led in a great measure to the excellent preservation in which old paintings are generally found, unless roughly treated, whilst many of our modern productions fade away or crack to pieces even during the lifetime of the artist, who, regardless of chemical experience or ignorant of the nature of the material he employs, especially in the unfortunate use of asphaltum, produces very perishable works, to his own vexation and the purchaser's loss.

From among the preparers of colours for the Old Masters arose many of the very first artists, for it was a task usually assigned to the latest pupil; each great master had his school, and instructed a number of pupils in his peculiar style, hence so many works of doubtful character are ascribed to the master's own hand, when they are probably the productions of his school. All the great masters pursued this course, and two notable instances may be mentioned in Raffaele, who was aided by quite a little army of excellent painters in his great decorative works at the Vatican; and in Rubens, who, after giving the sketches for his great works of a similar class, had them carried out by pupils, and then gave the finishing touches with his own hand. This is not a system which we advocate, but merely mention it as a fact which accounts for the great number of works ascribed to individual masters, and which it would seem incredible one man could have executed, unaided, during an ordinary lifetime.

The Central Gallery, on the grand staircase, contains a selection of paintings belonging to the Earl of Dudley, and other beautiful specimens of painting by the Old Masters.

The works of the Italian, Spanish, and French Schools are placed in the Central Gallery, in Gallery A, and in Gallery B, above it. Proceeding hence along the terrace over the Central Hall, the visitor will find the productions of the German, Flemish, and Dutch Schools in Gallery C, for hanging which the committee are indebted to the gratuitous services of Mr. Rutley, jun. Returning to the terrace, the visitor will pass across the court to Gallery D, containing the works of deceased English Painters in Oil.

He asks her to marry him, and leads her away from her father's cottage (to the right of the picture). She is divested of her coarse clothing, and having been dressed in fine clothes the Marquis marries her (in the centre of the picture).
19	THE STORY OF GRISELDA " " The Marquis and Griselda having been married some time, he determines to try her patience, and sends her children away from the palace (to the left of the picture). The Marquis is next seen receiving the news of their supposed death. He turns his back upon Griselda (in the first archway to the left). Griselda is divorced (in the centre archway). Griselda is stripped of her fine clothing (in the archway to the left). Griselda returns to her father's cottage.
20	THE STORY OF GRISELDA " " Some years afterwards Griselda is recalled to the palace and made to sweep the floors (to the left of the picture). The Marquis orders her to receive his new wife, which she does (to the right of the picture). The Marquis asks Griselda her opinion of his new wife (at the end of the table to the right). The Marquis is embracing Griselda, who is seated beside him, and is telling her that his apparent harshness was only assumed to try her patience, and that his new wife is their daughter who has grown up in the meantime, and the boy their son (at the left hand end of the table).

BRITISH PAINTERS IN OIL.

GALLERIES D AND E.

It would be out of place in a Catalogue to enter into any disquisition as to the comparatively modern rise of pictorial art in Great Britain. It is enough simply to state, that whilst other European countries had long been famous in this branch of civilization, England was comparatively inactive. Whatever the cause may have been, want of ability could have hardly been the primary one, judging from the productions of the Mediæval period and of the present time. Yet, it is nevertheless true that, as regards painting, we owe our later inspiration to foreign masters. Holbein, Vandyck, Lely, and other well-known names—the models on which our earlier artists formed themselves—bespeak a foreign and not a native motive power, and whatever was done by our countrymen was mostly in portraiture, founded on these models, until the advent of Hogarth, Reynolds, and Gainsborough (the three great masters of English art) gave a distinctive character to our School. Various interesting examples of these artists will be noticed in gallery D. George Morland, a purely English painter of great natural ability, is also well illustrated; and the diploma pictures from the Royal Academy, or pictures presented by artists on their election as Royal Academicians, serve to show the progress of art from the early part of the century almost to the present day. Most of those who visit the present Exhibition will remember the first appearance of the Pre-Raphaelite School, and the revolution which it undoubtedly effected in English art; the name was not particularly appropriate, for its two main characteristics, a close study of nature and very minute finish, had characterised the productions of various individual painters and even of certain schools, especially among the Flemish and Dutch, subsequent to Raphael. Its primary features were, however, earnestness of purpose and careful workmanship, two qualities which were of the highest importance for our artists to cultivate, led away as they had been by the clever and sketchy productions of men whose genius alone could give value to such half-executed works. The more objectionable features of the school were of only transient duration, and a very beneficial result is discernible both in the practice of landscape and figure subjects, by the amount of thought and labour now required from all who desire to take a high place in art.

After having seen Gallery D, the visitor proceeds again on the terrace till he reaches Gallery E, which contains principally the works of Living artists, and returning to the terrace, will proceed to Gallery F (Foreign artists).

MODERN FOREIGN ARTISTS.

GALLERY F.

Nowhere is the effect of early and scientific instruction more to be remarked than in the productions of modern European art, and especially that of France, when compared with those of our own country. With us, everyone works out his own way, proceeds in his own path, and seeks to render his individuality most marked, without much regard to the lessons and advice of those who have gone before him. In the end, no doubt, this is the right course, as being the one most calculated to produce originality and to demand a close study of nature; but we have to pay the penalty arising from a want of knowledge, and of that discipline which is as essential to success in art as in war. Artistic education may be said to be at a low ebb in this country, whilst in other lands it produces, from mediocre ability, the very highest possible results, owing to the schools opened by the greatest artists, who direct in person the progress of their pupils, and give them all the aid of their valuable experience.

Painting in France, after its decay in the eighteenth century, rose in a new form under the Empire, and under the leadership of David produced works of great power, but of a conventional style, founded on classic models not calculated to withstand the growing desire for originality and love of Nature, fostered by all the teaching and the spirit characteristic of the age.

The "Classic" and "Romantic" schools formed themselves into two hostile camps, but the struggle was a brief one, though fierce and bitter in spirit. Without mentioning those great artists who held an intermediate position, the names of Géricault, Delaroche, Delacroix, Decamps, Scheffer, Vernet, and a host of others hardly less famous, bear witness to the complete triumph of genius over the restrictions sought to be imposed on it. In modern times, one name, however, of the classic school should be held in the highest esteem. Ingres has produced works of a completeness and beauty never, perhaps, surpassed, and which are distinguished by a learning and refinement of taste of the very highest description. A similar contest took place in Germany; but neither the schools of Munich in the south, nor of Dusseldorf in the north, allied as they were with the great names of Cornelius, Schnorr, Bendemann, &c., nor the religious reaction under Overbeck's leadership, could alter that current of individuality which becomes more and more characteristic of art throughout Europe, and of which an extraordinary and most valuable series of fine works of art from all European countries bore, last year, ample and satisfactory witness at the International Exhibition of Paris.

This is the first time that a really important series of works showing the state of pictorial art in Europe has been formed in this country, except in the metropolis; and a comparison of the pictures here exhibited with those in Gallery E will serve to illustrate the merits and faults of each style of art respectively: only premising that some of the finest of our own productions are to be seen in the English Gallery, whilst the great works of the first foreign artists can only be seen in their own countries, where many are executed on a grand scale in numerous public buildings.

On descending this staircase the visitor arrives at the collection of British Water-Colour Drawings, Gallery G.

	After the battle of Molwitz, on the 10th of April, 1741, when the whole Austrian country was laid open by the army of Frederick the Second, Zietten, the daring Colonel of Hussars, dashed to Stockeran, the next stage to Vienna, and from the heights of Eisamberg pointed out to his jolly horsemen the gates of the old city of Emperors. Where the news spread, it caused a sudden panic (a "Spanish fright"), and the whole population fled to the frontiers of Hungary, until the King, having elsewhere to go, was obliged to give up his project of attacking Vienna, and recall Zietten.

	The Flemish patriots, Counts Egmont and Horn, were executed on the 5th of June, 1568. The figure standing on the right of the picture is Egmont, behind whom is the Bishop of Ypres, who, after hearing the confession of Egmont, was so persuaded of his innocence that he went to the Duke of Alva and begged him to stay the execution. Alva refused; and the revolt which the execution caused freed the Netherlands from the tyranny of Spain. Count Horn is seated.

(Italian). THE PARTING OF UGO BASSI FROM HIS SISTER, after being sentenced to be shot by the Austrian Court-Martial at Bologna "Ugo Bassi—'Garibaldi's priest,' as he was affectionately called—was chaplain to the Italian army during the siege of Rome, and was described by General Garibaldi as 'highly distinguished for great merit, of unblemished moral character, of a noble heart and benevolent disposition, and of high rank for popular eloquence; such a man, indeed, as Italy cannot produce without the labour of ages.' He accompanied Garibaldi and his wife and Ciceroacchio, in their flight after the fall of Rome; and leaving the General attending on his dying wife, Anita, fell into the hands of a patrol of Croats, who conducted him to Bologna, where he was condemned to be shot by the Austrian Court-Martial, presided over by General Gorgoski. On receiving his sentence, his sister rushed into his arms in an agony of grief, when Bassi, who was quite calm, thus addressed her:—'Do not be afflicted, my dear sister. My mission is accomplished. I die innocent, for I never bore arms against the Emperor, to whom I owed no duty, and against whom I have committed no crime. But I have assisted the dying in the field and have never denied help to my wounded enemies!' He then turned to the officer of the guard, and said, 'My crime is yours, for I have faithfully served my country, as you do your sovereign!' He was then removed in chains; and Bedini, the Pope's nuncio at Bologna, ordered that, as Bassi had been an ordained priest, those parts which had been 'consecrated' should be 'desecrated.' And thus was added one of the noblest names to the immortal roll of martyrs for Italian freedom and unity!"	R. McTear, Esq.

BRITISH WATER-COLOUR DRAWINGS.

GALLERY G.

It was originally intended to keep all the productions of British artists in adjacent Galleries; but it appeared so desirable to have the works in Oil, by our own and by foreign artists, in juxtaposition, so that their differences might be more directly noticed, that the Water-Colour Drawings have been arranged in their present place. It is, indeed, a school of art, in a great measure distinguished by different characteristics, as well in style as in practice, from any other, and is one in which we have taken the lead over other nations. Although practised to a certain degree by the early painters of Europe in the fifteenth or sixteenth century, for sketches and studies, and carried out with no slight amount of finish by the painters of the Dutch School in the seventeenth century; yet it is, as an art, essentially one of English origin and growth, and in which we have produced the greatest masters, of whom excellent examples will be seen in the present collection, commencing from the simpler style of Sandby, Girtin, Barrett, Varley, &c., through the system founded by Turner, to the large and highly-finished works of living artists, in which every appliance for effect is freely used, and with a success and power which silences the opposition of those who advocate the older system, and object to the present extensive employment of body colour.

On leaving this Gallery, and proceeding to the Central Hall, the Portraits of Yorkshire Worthies will be found ranged along the main Corridor. The entire east end of the building, including the Chapel and Gallery J, being occupied by the Museum of Ornamental Art, and Gallery H by the Engravings, Drawings by Old Masters, and Miniatures.

WOOD ENGRAVING.—The discovery of the art of taking impressions or printing from subjects cut on blocks of hard wood appears to have taken place in Germany, late in the fourteenth or towards the commencement of the fifteenth century, and was first applied to playing-cards. After these, one of the earliest specimens is the well-known representation of St. Christopher carrying the infant Saviour, the only impression being in Lord Spencer's Collection, which bears the date of 1423. The first productions were rude, ill-drawn, and little more than outline. Towards the end of that century renowned painters, especially ALBERT DURER and LUCAS CRANACH, adopted the process, and by their hands, or under their personal direction, were executed those works which still excite universal admiration. In fact, the former artist may be fairly considered the founder of the art as it is now practised. It was rapidly introduced into all civilized countries, and, principally by the improved mode of printing, has, during the last fifty years, obtained results which are almost marvellous.

LINE ENGRAVING.—Considerable difference of opinion exists among those best acquainted with the subject, as to whether the discovery of the mode of taking impressions on paper from engraved plates of metal is to be attributed to Italy or Germany; the authors of each of these countries naturally claiming the honour for their respective fatherlands. The weight of evidence is, however, in favour of the former; and though none of his works bear dates, it appears tolerably certain that MASO FINIGUERRA, a goldsmith of Florence, about the year 1450 made this discovery, which was destined to afford so much instruction and gratification to future ages, as well as to contribute materially towards the civilization of mankind. It was immediately adopted both by Italian and German artists; and during the remainder of that century, a large number of engravings was executed by the most eminent painters themselves, especially ANDREA MANTEGNA in Italy, and MARTIN SCHÖNGAUER in Germany, giving a spirit to their productions which no copyist, however skilful, could rival. Occasionally admirable works appeared by artists whose names have long been lost; an excellent and characteristic specimen of the earliest of these, called the MASTER OF 1466, on account of some of his plates bearing that date, will be found in this collection (No. 3450).

Within a short period, that is to say towards the end of the fifteenth and beginning of the sixteenth centuries, appeared contemporaneously two artists—one Italian, MARC ANTONIO RAIMONDI (1475—1539), the other German, ALBERT DURER (1471—1528), whose works are beyond all praise. The former engraved exquisite plates from the designs of RAFFAELLE, under that immortal painter's personal superintendence; but those by the latter are from his own inspirations. To these may be added LUCAS VAN LEYDEN, who during a short life (1494—1533) executed a large number of exquisite and delicately-engraved works. In the next century, Holland, Flanders, and France produced excellent engravers, a few of the most distinguished being GOLZIUS, BOLSWERT, the VISSCHERS, SUYDERHOEF, NANTEUIL, and EDELINCK. In the course of the two following centuries a higher and more elaborate mode of finish has been adopted, as will be seen in the works of WILLE, MORGHEN, MULLER, LONGHI, DESNOYERS, TOSCHI, and many others.

INTRODUCTION TO ENGRAVINGS, &c.

The limits of an introduction of this description render it impossible to enter into further details respecting the history and progress of this beautiful art. It may, however, be stated that as far as this country is concerned, scarcely any attempt seems to have been made till about the middle of the sixteenth century, when certain foreigners, chiefly Flemings, obtained employment in London, in engraving portraits, frontispieces, and illustrations to books. In the following century, WILLIAM FAITHORNE, a native of London (1620—1691), having, from his adherence to the cause of Charles I., been compelled to live for some time in Paris, and having probably worked with some of the great engravers before mentioned, attained remarkable excellence. His plates are executed with consummate skill (see 3501, 3502, 3503), and have a brilliant and powerful effect. Several years later, HOGARTH (1698—1764) again introduced the practice of the painter engraving his own works; and the English School reached its highest position when STRANGE, WOOLLETT, and SHARP produced their well-known works, which, especially in the landscapes engraved by the second, are still unrivalled.

ETCHING.—In order of time the next discovery was that of the art of tracing with a needle, on a properly prepared copperplate, and by a well-known process burning in, by means of an acid, the lines so traced. In this way the painter is enabled to print the exact drawing he has made, and to produce any effects of light and shade he may require. Attention is particularly directed to the examples by CARRACCI, CLAUDE, VANDYCK, REMBRANDT, HOLLAR, OSTADE, and BERGHEM.

MEZZOTINT.—Towards the middle of the seventeenth century, LOUIS VON SIEGEN (1609—1650), a native of Holland, but of German extraction, subsequently a lieutenant-colonel in the Hessian service, invented a new mode of engraving, called on the Continent the black style, or black art (manière noire, schwartze Kunst, zwartekunst). Up to a comparatively recent period, Prince Rupert, on the authority of John Evelyn, had the honour of the discovery: there is, however, no doubt that it is really due to Siegen, no plate by the Prince bearing an earlier date than 1657, while that of 1642 appears on the first state of the portrait of the Landgravine of Hesse by the former (3558). Moreover, Leon Laborde, in his history of mezzotint engraving, gives a fac-simile of a letter written by Siegen to her son the Landgrave, dated 1642, in which he states that he had recently made the discovery, but gives no account of his process. Prince Rupert must have learned the secret from him or some of his friends, and introduced the art into England when he returned with Charles II. It became at once a peculiarly English one, and up to the present day the works of our native artists admit of no competition with those of other countries; in fact, it has frequently been termed manière Anglaise. A very few years after Prince Rupert had made it known, JOHN SMITH (1652—1742) engraved plates, generally after portraits painted by Kneller, which engravers of more recent times have not surpassed (see 3563, 3564). The principal artists since his time are McARDELL, DOUGHTY, PETHER, J. R. SMITH, GREEN, EARLOM, WARD, and others, whose best works are here exhibited. Those after Sir Joshua Reynolds are perfect triumphs of art.

In our limited space we have sought to exhibit the best works of the most renowned artists of all ages and countries. In nearly all cases these are of the highest quality; and considering the risks to which most of them have been exposed during a long series of years, their condition is wonderful. The etchings have been placed first, on account of their being the nearest approach to original drawings. It was intended to have added a few notes respecting the enormous increase in the pecuniary value of works of art of this description during the last few years, but one or two examples will perhaps be sufficient. An impression of Rembrandt's Christ Healing the Sick in the Temple, called the Hundred Guilder Piece, on account of its being traditionally stated that he once sold an impression for that sum (little more than eight pounds), corresponding in every respect with No. 3413 in this collection, has been three times sold by auction. On the first occasion at Amsterdam, in 1847, it produced £147; and on the second in London, in 1867, £1,180; and on the third, also in London, in May last, £1,100. In 1788 one exactly similar sold at the Hague for 84 guilders (seven pounds), and there is good reason for believing it to be the one now in this Exhibition.

Nothing affords a more conclusive evidence of the artistic ability and knowledge of the painter than those SKETCHES and DRAWINGS which have been done off-hand from the subject or model which he wished to note or to study. They are invariably forcible and truthful, and have ever been held in high esteem by all admirers of art. A distinction should be made between those sketches which are merely notes of particular objects which struck the artist's fancy, as seen in many of the present examples by L. da Vinci, and those more or less finished studies made for the arrangement or completion of a large work, such as are most of Raffaele's; whilst another series consist of the study of the work itself in chalk, &c., completely carried out on a small scale to serve as a model for the large and finished painting. The attention paid by the Old Masters to this system of study was no doubt one of the main reasons of their success in works on a large scale, and the studies themselves have a value and importance which places them amongst the most treasured remains of the different masters that the amateur possesses.

MINIATURES.—The miniature painter's art is, as its name denotes, only a development of that practised by the book illustrators, or "miniatori" of the middle ages, so called from the use of "minium," or red lead. When the introduction of printing in the fifteenth century led to the gradual decay of colouring illustrated books by hand, the "miniature," debarred from this practice of his art, became a painter of portraits, principally on a small scale; and taking the name now of miniature painter, produced works which, whilst frequently vying with our present photographs for fidelity of delineation, surpassed them greatly in point of art and in delicacy of treatment.

Our own countrymen have always held a high place in this art, and in the sixteenth century the names of Nicholas Hilliard and Isaac Oliver are of especial celebrity. In the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries the number of miniaturists greatly increased, but with varying merit in the productions of the artists; amongst whom are to be particularly noticed Peter Oliver and Samuel Cooper. Amongst the most admirable artists were several foreigners, who settled in or visited England—especially in enamel portraits—e. g., Petitot, Bordier, Liotard, and Zincke. The earlier miniatures were executed on vellum or card: in the seventeenth century enamel was brought to perfection; and in the eighteenth century ivory came into vogue, and was the material principally used by the Cosways, Chalon, and the miniature painters of the present century. Celebrated painters in oil did not, however, disdain to work on a small scale, and some of the productions of Holbein, Sir Antonio More, Walker, and other great artists, are admirable for their close reproduction of nature and minute finish. For list of Miniatures see Section Z, Museum Catalogue.

Portraits of Yorkshire Worthies.

“Our County, as the curious observe, is the epitome of England;
“whatsoever is excellent in the whole land being to be found in proportion “thereto.”

“Besides, God hath been pleased to make it the birthplace and nursery
“of many great men.”

—Dr. George Hickes' Sermon, preached at the Yorkshire Feast, in Bow Church, London, June 11th, 1682.

	This is precisely the same as the impression sold in Sir Charles Price's sale, last year, for £1,180 0s. 0d., which was resold in May, 1868, for £1,100. Only eight are known, five of which are in public collections. The principal difference consists in the absence of some diagonal lines on the neck of the ass on the right, which Rembrandt introduced in the second state.

MRS. HAILSTONE'S ROOM.

LACE, NEEDLEWORK, AND EMBROIDERY.

In acceding to the wishes of the Committee of this Exhibition, and to those of many friends, that I should illustrate the art of Needlework, and lend this collection, formed with so much difficulty, my object has been to afford those who admire art-manufacture an opportunity of studying the various kinds of lace. Many of these were designed by celebrated artists, amongst whom may be named Vinciolo and Cesare Vecellio, the Venetians, who lived in the 16th century; and others in Germany and Belgium, as well as in England.

The art of Needlework, in its various branches, was formerly an essential part of the education of ladies. The work of Jean de Glen, published at Liege, 1597, was devoted to this subject. In earlier times ladies appropriated the results of their labours to the purposes of the church, and to domestic use and ornament. The collection I have formed, a part only of which is now shown, will serve to illustrate the great amount of taste, skill, and neatness of hand required in this beautiful art; and having myself overcome the technical difficulties of the work, I can safely say that the most delicate lace may be successfully copied, so as to be scarcely distinguishable from the old specimens; it thus becomes an important source of profitable employment. Should this Exhibition inspire others with a share of the delight I have myself experienced in working out the history and technical details of an art so elegant and useful, it will be a gratification to feel that I have so far contributed to their pleasure and instruction.

All the specimens are separately ticketed; but I would especially call attention to the following, which are a few of the most noteworthy in each case.

S. H. LILLA HAILSTONE.

CASE A.

This contains, amongst many others,—

- A PIECE "POINT DE VENISE," en relief. Date 1600. Very fine and scarce.
- "POINT DE VENISE." Made of silk, and by the needle. Very fine and scarce. 17th Century.
- A CURIOUS COLLAR ON LINEN, darned with floss silk, black, and cord sewn on. Early 17th Century.
- A LONG LAPPET. Italian point, double-headed eagle, Maltese cross, and little men, edged with cushion lace. Date, late 17th Century.
- A SQUARE PIECE, POINT DE BRUXELLES À L'AIGUILLE. Early 18th Century.
- FINE PIECE OF ITALIAN NEEDLEWORK ON LINEN, in coloured silks and gold thread. About 1700.
- A PIECE OF LACE—STAG HUNT. Very fine. Date about 1600. Valenciennes.

LACE, NEEDLEWORK, AND EMBROIDERY.

- A DRESS SKIRT, very good Honiton, the ground made on the cushion, belonged to the PRINCESS CHARLOTTE. Date, about 1812. Now used as a christening robe.
- CROSS. The finest piece of modern Honiton Lace. 1863. (From Mrs. Treadwin's, Exeter.) Presented to Mrs. Hailstone by William Gott, Esq.
- A PAIR LAPPETS, exquisitely fine, cushion made, birds and butterflies. 1610. English. These lappets have not been washed.
- A LARGE COLLAR. EXQUISITE POINT À L'AIGUILLE, most probably made at Alençon, combining Venice Point and Alençon. 1670.
- CAP, POINT D'ALENÇON, all needlework. 17th century. (This piece of lace was once in the possession of QUEEN MARIE ANTOINETTE.)
- A SMALL PIECE, curious. Belonged to "The PRETENDER." Cushion.

CASE B.

- A LARGE FRONTAL FOR AN ALTAR, representing eight incidents in the Passion of our Lord. In the centre is the doom, the human soul brought up for judgment. Inscriptions in Latin surround the compartments. Apparently the work is done from a design in an early illuminated MS. Length 14 feet, width 4 feet. English. 16th Century.

CASE C.

- AN OLD ENGLISH UNBLEACHED LINEN SAMPLER. 1669.
- PORTION OF AN OLD ENGLISH "CUT WORK SAMPLER." 1669.

- EARLY ENGLISH NEEDLEWORK, on satin, representing mythological subjects. About 1589.
- A TOWEL, linen, with "Point Coupé," and coloured floss silk embroidery, silk fringe. Date 17th Century.
- FLOWERS AND FRUIT. Turkish needlework. 1862.

THE MUSEUM OF ORNAMENTAL ART.

THE CHAPEL AND ROOMS ADJACENT, AND GALLERY J.

This important section of the Exhibition contains a series of works remarkable for their artistic merit, from the time of the ancient Egyptians, or some thousands of years before the commencement of our era, down to the present century. An extraordinary amount of ingenious and clever adaptation of natural models to the purposes of industrial art, and a wonderful power and delicacy of manipulation, are to be remarked in the earliest, equally with the latest, productions of man's hands; and it is a noticeable fact that, for purity and simplicity of style, for a high and keen appreciation of natural beauty, the ancient Greeks have still the advantage over us of the present day. The contents of the Museum—besides the interesting productions of a comparatively barbaric period, illustrated by flint implements of a date greatly anterior to our own era, and later on by the bronze weapons and ornaments, many of which were found, like most of the flint pieces, buried in the graves of the early inhabitants of these islands—present valuable and interesting examples of almost every branch of art and industry. It is hoped that the artizan, especially, will carefully note the more remarkable examples of that class in which he may be personally interested; and carry away with him, not only many valuable ideas, but an increased sense of the estimation in which the best specimens of artistic industry are held by all educated persons, as affording a high idea of the genius of the people who were able to produce them.

On returning to the Central Hall from Gallery J, the visitor will proceed by the corridor containing the portraits of Yorkshire Worthies, until he reaches the western side of the building, in which is situated the Oriental Museum.

- Contributed by Bishop Butler of Limerick.*
- 62 "THE LIMERICK CROZIER;" a silver-gilt pastoral staff, of admirable workmanship, of the 15th Century. It consists of a hollow staff, of silver gilt, the head elaborately worked with Gothic canopies, buttresses, and pinnacles, in two stages. The upper has six statuettes of the Blessed Trinity, St. Peter, St. Paul, St. Patrick, St. Manchan or Monaghan (the Patron Saint), and the Blessed Virgin, resting upon corbels; the lower stage has six female Saints, engraved and enamelled on a background of enamel. In the centre of the volute is represented the Annunciation, and the crook terminates with a pelican in her piety. About four inches below this head of the staff is a boss, hexagonal, with the following inscription on red and blue enamel:—"Me fieri fecit: Corneli o deagh! eps limiricens: a° d° M°cccc° xvij consecracionis: sue anno."
- 63 "THE LIMERICK MITRE;" formed of silver parcel gilt, and jewelled; a broad band runs round the base, up the centre, and along the sloping edges at the sides, jewelled and edged with mouldings, and an elaborate cresting of vine leaves. Round the base is the following inscription on translucent enamel, some portions being lost, "Me fieri fecit Cornelius o Deaygh Episcopus anno domini Mill°." Above the band is engraved "Thomas o Carryd artifex faciens" (sic). Below the apex is a sentence from the breviary: on each side of the central band is an enamelled medallion; upon the infula are two other translucent enamel ornaments and two crystals. Date, circa 1418.
- Contributed by Lady O. Fitzgerald.*
- 65 CELTIC GOLD TWISTED TORC, coiled to form an armilla. Found at Maguires Bridge, County Fermanagh.
- 66 THE BELL OF ST. MURA, formed of bronze, of quadrangular form, ornamented in front with a casing of detached silver plates, embossed with interlaced scrolls and curved lines, and in the centre a large crystal and three vacant sockets for stones, one of amber now remaining; the top is arched, and has three spaces for stones, in which the gold setting only remains. This work is of the 11th Century. By a removal of a portion of the outer casing, we find a series of earlier enrichments, which were probably of the 9th Century, consisting of a tracery of Runic knots, wrought in brass, firmly attached to the bell by a thin plate of gold. From the Abbey of Fahan, near Innishowen, County Donegal.
- 67 EARLY BRITISH EARTHEN CUP, with four projections and groove, corded lines and indented zigzag ornaments round the upper part of the vase: fine work. From Blanch.
- 68 EARLY BRITISH URN, with four raised bands, and jagged indentations. Found at Seamer Moor.
- 69 EARLY BRITISH URN, with three raised bands and zigzag ornaments. From Driffeld.

- No. 70 EARLY BRITISH URN, with indented ornament on three rims at the top, tapering towards the bottom. Found at Warter Wold. 1851.
- 71 EARLY BRITISH CUP, with bands of zigzag ornaments, and a groove at the top with perforated projections for a cord. Found at Blanch.
- 72 EARLY BRITISH CUP, with incuse ornament on the upper part, and two grooves with perforated projections for suspension. From Seamer Moor.
- 73 EARLY BRITISH CUP, with indented zigzag ornaments and raised projections. Found at Londesborough.
- 74 EARLY BRITISH CUP, ornamented with zigzag ornaments. From Warter Wold.
- 75 EARLY BRITISH URN, broad mouth, with diagonal and dotted lines. Found at Driffeld.
- 76 EARLY BRITISH CUP, with five projections and groove for a cord, ornamented with diagonal lines. Found at Blanch.
- 77 ANGLO-SAXON CUP, with four channels round outside. Found on Breach Downs.
- 78 ANGLO-SAXON VASE, with fluted sides. From Breach Downs.
- 79 ELEGANT ANGLO-SAXON BOTTLE, the neck and upper part ornamented with incuse lines and wavy lines between. Found at Wingham.
- 80 ANGLO-SAXON FIBULA, silver gilt, set with garnets, semicircular top, and five projections. Found at Bourg sur Aisne Soissons, in 1843.
- Contributed by the Right Rev. Dr. Moriarty, Bishop of Kerry, Killarney.*
- 81 "EARLY IRISH CROZIER." The staff is of wood covered with brass, and plates of silver joined on the inner side. The crook is curved, and ends in a piece in shape of a horse's head, which opens as a reliquary, and is ornamented in front with gold filigree Runic knots, a stone of a ruby colour in the centre; at top of the frame is a human head, and at bottom a bird; the head of the staff is ornamented with interlaced work, and four medallions of gold filigree knots; the stem has two bosses, and terminates in a square open-work end.
- Contributed by I. Lentaigne, Esq.*
- 82 ELECTROTYPE COPY OF THE SHRINE OF ST. MONAGHAN; of the 12th Century, discovered in Ireland, with some of the statuettes which have been found on the same spot, and other portions restored. For a lengthened description of the original, see Catalogue of the Special Exhibition of Works of Art, S.K.M., page 47.
- Contributed by James Milner, Esq.*
- 83 ANCIENT BRITISH SHIELD OR TARIAN, of bronze, circular in form, ornamented with twelve concentric circles, between which are small bosses, struck up from the back of the shield, and a large boss in the centre. Found in the bed of the river Thames, between Hampton and Walton.
- Contributed by the Rev. Walter Sneyd.*
- 84 PROCESSIONAL CROSS, of bronze, with large oval crystal cabochons. The figure of our Saviour in full relief is crowned, and wears a sort of kilt, as frequently seen on Irish specimens of art of the 11th or 12th Century.
- Contributed by Robert Hunter of Hunter, Esq.*
- 85 THE "HUNTERSTON" BROOCH, of the same general form as the Irish penannular fibulæ of silver, and ornamented with gold filigree knots and ornaments of fine workmanship, with Runic inscription. Found in Ayrshire. Probably Saxon.
- Contributed by W. H. Forman, Esq.*
- 86 CELTIC GOLD FLAT RING, formed of seven wires fastened together. Dug up at Rathfarnham, County Dublin, 1855.
- 87 SILVER PENANNULÆ BROOCH, of the 15th Century, inscribed in Gothic capitals, "Ave Maria," &c., chased on the reverse with animals.
- 88 CURIOUS SILVER BRACELET, with an oval seal-shaped medallion in front, chased in relief, with a bishop under a Gothic canopy, and the following legend: "S. Thomi Dei Gracia Episcopi Mannencis," twisted shank; supposed to have belonged to Thomas Burton, Bishop of Sodor and Man, 1452-1480. Found at Rathmines, near Dublin, in 1855.

- No.
89 SUITE OF TWO BRACELETS, BROOCH, AND LARGE HAIR PIN; the former of open work, rosettes enamelled in white, studded with turquoise, garnets, and carbuncles. The pin of similar work has two doves, in white enamel, supporting a heart-shaped shield, on which is the Irish letter Z. Found in the County Kildare, Ireland.
- 90 SMALL CELTIC GOLD FIBULA, fluted shank, the ends pointed without cusps.
- 91 CELTIC GOLD RING, of very thick wire, quite plain, not joined at the ends, of hollow metal.
- 92 CELTIC BRONZE DAGGER, broad-pointed blade, with raised lines engraved between, with triangular designs; plain handle.
- 93 CELTIC GOLD TORQUES, of plain semi-cylindrical form, narrowing towards the ends, terminating in small buttons.
- 94 CELTIC GOLD TORQUES, formed of a flat crescent-shaped piece of gold, the ends turned transversely, devoid of ornament. Found at Newmarket-on-Fergus, County Clare, in 1854.
- 95 CURIOUS FLAT GOLD ORNAMENT, of spiral form, the ends being coils of wire, the upper side engraved and punched with pyramidal ornaments. Of Etruscan work, and similar to the Celtic. Found at Baiae. (Campana Collection.)
- 96 SMALL CELTIC GOLD FIBULA, with flat circular ends turned back obliquely; fluted shank, and engraved border. Commonly called "Ring money."

THE "RECUPERO" COLLECTION, consisting of Eleven Specimens of Early Christian Glass, found in the cemeteries of the primitive Christians, near Rome. They consist of circular medallions, which have originally formed the bases of pateræ or bowls, and being double folds of glass, have been preserved, while the more fragile sides of the vessels have perished. They are ornamented with figures animals, &c., cut out in gold leaf, the outlines of features and draperies being etched with a steel point, and in some instances filled in with a red background. They are figured and described in "Vetri ornati di figure in oro," by Garucci. The date of these extremely rare and interesting objects may be fixed at about the commencement of the 4th Century.
1582 PORTION OF A GLASS PATERA, representing in the centre the busts of St. Peter and St. Paul, between them the sacred monogram, surrounded by six compartments of scriptural subjects, and round the border an imperfect legend beginning "Dignitas amicorum," &c. Three of the subjects are perfect, the rest wanting.
1583 GLASS PATERA; in the centre the busts of a man and his wife; above is written "Ple zesés" (May you live happily); around is a series of scriptural subjects.
1585 THE CENTRE OF A GLASS PATERA, representing Christ seated on a throne surrounded by Apostles and martyrs; inscribed above Cristus, Paulus, Petrus, and below Timoteus, Justus, Simon, Florus; the names of others, and a portion of the subject, are deficient.
1586 THE HALF OF A PATERA, with a bust of Christ in the centre and three saints, inscribed Petrus, Lucas, Justus.
1587 THE CENTRE OF A PATERA, representing two youthful figures in the tunic and pallium, with a column between them supporting a tablet inscribed, "Genesius, Lucas," in a square border.
1588 THE CENTRE OF A PATERA, the subject divided into two compartments, each with two busts: in the upper Peter and Paul, in the lower Julius and Justus; in a square border.
1589 THE CENTRE OF A PATERA, representing a priest in prayer vested in alb, chasuble, and stole, on his right a veiled throne surmounted by the sacred monogram, and on his left a female, also in prayer; round the border an imperfect legend, "Dignitas amic" (sic.)
1590 THE CENTRE OF A PATERA, with two male busts, bare headed, face to face, clad in tunic and pallium, and the names Ursus and Dion; in a circular border.
1591 THE BASE OF A GLASS CUP, with circular medallion of Hercules overcoming the Arcadian Stag; behind in the field, his club.
1592 THE BASE OF A GLASS CUP; in an octagonal border is the head of a leopard with open jaws.
1593 FRAGMENT OF GLASS, representing four fish swimming, and above, the lower part of a man, perhaps the "Miraculous Draught."
1594 FRAGMENT OF GLASS, with a slight sketch of some uncertain object, and a portion of the sentence, "Dignitas amicorum," &c.

EXAMPLES OF ART-MANUFACTURES, FROM THE INDIA MUSEUM, LONDON, SELECTED AND FORWARDED BY DR. FORBES WATSON, UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL.

There is hardly any branch of art applied to industry in which the Indian artisan does not produce works of the very highest excellence—works which, in colour, design, and execution, may serve as models to our own students and manufacturers, and which are, indeed, in many respects, unapproached by the highest efforts of European skill.

A careful inspection of the collection now presented is earnestly recommended.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTICES

OF THE

OLD MASTERS AND ENGLISH SCHOOL.

BY R. N. JAMES.

THOSE OF THE MODERN FOREIGN ARTISTS BY L. LEFÈVRE.

- ACHENBACH, ANDRÉ.—Born at Cassel (Hesse Electorale), September, 1815. Pupil of Shirmer. Received the Gold Medals of Prussia and Belgium, and one from France. Chevalier of the Order of Leopold. Member of the Berlin, Amsterdam, and Antwerp Academies. German School.
- ACHENBACH, OSWALD.—Born in Dusseldorf (Prussia). Pupil of M. André Achenbach. Received the 2nd Class Medal; Order of Leopold; and 1st Class Medal, Paris and Berlin. German School.
- ADEMOLLO, C. Italian School.
- ALBANI, FRANCESCO.—Born at Bologna, 1578. Died at Bologna, 1660. The friend and fellow-pupil of Guido in the schools of Denis Calvart and the Carracci. Worked under Annibale Carracci at the Farnese Palace, Rome, about 1602. Executed the frescoes in the Verospi (now Torlonia) Palace, Rome, in 1625. Many of the figures in his pictures are studies from his wife and children, all remarkable for their beauty. Bolognese School.
- ALMA-TADEMA, LAURENS.—Pupil of Baron Henri Leys. Received the 1st Class Medal, in Paris, 1864; the Order of Leopold, 1866. Dutch School.
- ALUNNO, NICOLÒ.—Born at Foligno. Painted from 1458 to 1499. Said by Rumohr to be the master who signed, "Nicola Fulginatis opus," and by Mariotti, to have instructed Pietro Perugino. Roman School.
- ANGELICO, FRA; see FIESOLE.
- ANGUISCIOLA, SOFONISBA.—Born at Cremona, in 1530. Died at Cremona, in 1620. Pupil of B. Campi and Il. Soiaro. Celebrated for her portraits. Blind for many years before her death. Her three sisters excelled also in portraiture. School of Cremona.
- ANTONELLO DI MESSINA.—Born at Messina, about 1414. Living in 1493. After studying painting in Italy, visited Flanders, and learned from Van Eyck to paint in oil colours, and on his return introduced that style of painting into Italy. Neapolitan School.
- APPIANI, ANDREA.—Born, 1754. Died, 1818. An Italian painter, whose principal performances are at Milan. Roman School.
- ARFINO; see CESARI.
- ARTOIS, JACQUES D'.—Born at Brussels, in 1613. Died, 1665. Scholar of John Wildens. A good landscape painter, many of whose pictures are rendered more valuable by the figures which David Teniers inserted in them. Flemish School.
- ARY, SCHEFFER.—Born at Dordrecht, Holland, in 1795. Pupil of Guérin. Chevalier of the Legion of Honour, 1828. Officer of the Legion, 1835. Died at Argenteuil, near Paris, June 15th, 1858. French School.
- ASSELYN, JAN.—Born at Diepen, near Amsterdam, in 1610. Died, 1660. Scholar of Esaias Van de Velde and Jan Miel. An excellent landscape painter. Studied many years in Italy. Dutch School.
- AUFRAY, JOSEPH-ATHANASE.—Born in Paris. Pupil of Mr. Barrias. French School.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTICES.

- BAKHUIZEN, LUDOLPH.—Born at Embden, 1631. Died at Amsterdam, 1709. Pupil of Albert van Everdingen and H. Dubbels. Now thought to have represented rough seas on a large scale more successfully than any other Dutch painter. His nephew, of the same name, painted battle pieces. Dutch School.
- BAPTISTE, J. B. MONNOYER; called BAPTISTE.—Born at Lisle, 1635. Died, 1699. Studied at Antwerp and Paris. Came to England, and painted here many fine flower pieces. Flemish School.
- BARBARELLI, GIORGIO, called GIORGIONE.—Born at Castel Franco, 1477. Died 1511. Pupil of Giovanni Bellini. Remarkable for his height, personal beauty, and dignified manners. Most of the heads painted by him are strongly expressive of melancholy, but have little of the religious sentiment to be found in those by older masters. He sought principally to produce a good general effect; and was the first who introduced that free style of painting which Titian and other Venetians carried to so high a degree of perfection. Venetian School.
- BARKER, THOMAS; called "BARKER OF BATH."—Born, 1769, near Pontypool, in Monmouthshire. Died in 1847. Self-taught. Painted in various styles, even in fresco. English School.
- BAROCCIO, FEDERIGO.—Born at Urbino, 1528. Died at Urbino, 1612. Son of a sculptor. Studied painting under Battista Franco, but formed his style from the works of Raphael and Correggio. Roman School.
- BARRET, G., R.A.—Born in Dublin, 1728. Died in London, 1784. Pupil of West. Patronized by Edmund Burke. Came to England in 1762. Landscape painter. English School.
- BARTOLOMMEO, FRA, DI SAN MARCO; known also as BACCIO DELLA PORTA. Born at Savignano in 1469. Died a Dominican friar in the Convent of Saint Mark, at Florence, 1517. Pupil of Cosimo Rosselli. Friend of Savonarola and Raphael d'Urbino. Cotemporary with L. da Vinci, Michael Angelo, and Raphael. His works combine much of that portion of art in which each of these great masters excelled. Florentine School.
- BASAITI, MARCO.—Born in Friuli, of Greek parents. He painted from 1470 until 1520. One of the early Venetian painters in oil. There is a very beautiful picture by him in the National Gallery in London. Venetian School.
- BASSANO; see PONTE.
- BASSANO (LEANDRO).—Born 1558. The third son of Jacopo Bassano, in whose style he painted. His best works are portraits. Venetian School.
- BASSANO, (JACOPO DA PONTE, called).—Born at Bassano, 1502. Died, 1592. Son and scholar of the elder Francesco da Ponte. The originator of that style by which the works of the family are known. Venetian School.
- BATONI, POMPEO.—Born at Lucca, 1708. Died at Rome, 1787. Painted many portraits of Englishmen who visited Rome in his time.
- BATTAGLIE; see CERQUOZZI.
- BAUGNIET, CHARLES.—Born in Brussels. Chevalier of the Order of Leopold. Belgian School.
- BEALE, MARY.—Born in Suffolk, in 1632. Died, 1697. Studied under Sir P. Lely, and copied Vandyck. Painted many portraits of the clergy of her time. British School.
- BEAULIEU, ANATOLE DE.—Pupil of Eugène Delacroix. French School.
- BEAUMONT, SIR GEORGE, BART.—Born in 1753. One of the founders of the National Gallery, and one of Wilkie's earliest friends. An amateur painter of merit. Died, 1827. English School.
- BECKER, CHARLES.—Berlin. German School.
- BECKER, CARL.—Professor at Berlin. Born in Berlin, 1820. A pupil of Von Klöber, Von Hess, and Cornelius. Won the Academy prize in 1842. German School.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTICES.

- BEECHEY, SIR WILLIAM, R.A.—Born at Burford, in Oxfordshire, 1753. Died, 1839. Painted almost exclusively portraits. English School.
- BEERESTRATEN.—Died in 1687. A good painter, who excelled in representing winter scenes, in some of which Adrian Van de Velde painted the figures. Dutch School.
- BEGA, CORNELIUS.—Born at Haarlem, in 1620. Died in 1664. Pupil of Adrian van Ostade. Painted in the same style as his master, but his colouring is not equal to that of Ostade. Dutch School.
- BELLE, NICOLAS SIMON ALEXIS, of Paris.—Died at Paris in 1734, aged 60. French School.
- BELLINI, GIOVANNI.—Born at Venice, 1426. Died, 1516. Brother of Gentile. Both pupils of their father, Jacopo Bellini. Their sister married Andrea Mantegna. Giovanni was the master of Giorgione and Titian. Venetian School.
- BELLINI, GENTILE.—Born at Venice, in 1421. Died, 1501. Son of Jacopo and brother of Giovanni Bellini. Named after Gentile da Fabriano, who was the master of Jacopo. Sent, at the request of Mahomet the Second, by the Venetian Senate to Constantinople, where he painted the portrait of Mahomet, and struck a medal bearing the head of that Emperor and the three crowns on the reverse. Venetian School.
- BELTRAFFIO, GIO ANTONIO.—Born at Milan in 1467. Died there in 1516. An amateur artist, and pupil of Leonardo da Vinci. School of Milan.
- BENVENUTI DI GIOVANNI, DI MEO DEL GUASTA SENESE.—Painted from 1466 to 1517, but adhered to the old style of the 15th Century. School of Sienna.
- BENVENUTI, GIO. B.; called L'ORTOLANO.—Born at Ferrara. Died about 1525. His pictures are often mistaken for those of Garofalo. School of Ferrara.
- BERCHEM or BERGHEM, NICHOLAS.—Born at Haarlem, 1624. Died there, 1683. Pupil of Van Goyen, Weenix, and others. Painted in various styles, but chiefly landscapes. His etchings are rare and masterly. Dutch School.
- BERGEN, DIRK VAN.—Born at Haarlem, in 1645. Died in 1689. Pupil of Adrian Van de Velde, whom he approached very nearly in some of his best works. Came to London in 1673. Dutch School.
- BERKHEYDEN, GERIT.—Born at Haarlem, 1645. Died there, 1698. Dutch School.
- BESCHEY, BALTHASAR.—Born at Antwerp, 1708. Died, 1776. Painted landscapes in the style of Jan Breughel, and historical pictures in that of Gaspard de Craeyer. Flemish School.
- BIERSTADT, A. American School.
- BIGG, W. R.—Born, 1755. Died, 1828. Became R.A. in 1814. His pictures are generally of domestic subjects. Several have been engraved. British School.
- BIRD, WILLIAM.—Born at Wolverhampton in 1772. Died in Bristol in 1819. Self-taught, but became a member of the Royal Academy. English School.
- BLES, DAVID (LA HAYE).—Officer of the Order of the Couronne de Chêne at La Haye. Chevalier of the Order of Leopold. Medal, 3rd Class; Paris, 1855. Dutch School.
- BLES, HENRI DE, or MET DE BLES.—In Italy known as "Civetta," from the owl in his pictures. Born at Bonvignes, 1480. Died at Liege about 1550. Pupil of Patinier. Flemish School.
- BLOEMAN, PETER VAN; called STANDAART.—Born at Antwerp, about 1649. Died, 1719. Spent many years in Rome; and his landscapes have generally an Italian character. Flemish School.
- BLOEMEN, JAN, FRANS, VAN; called ORIZONTI.—Born at Antwerp, in 1658. Died very old, at Rome, where he resided for many years. He received his name of Orizonti from the delicacy of the gradations of the distances in his pictures. Flemish School.
- BLOEMART, ABRAHAM.—Born at Gorcum, in 1514. Died at Utrecht, 1647. Better known as an engraver than as a painter. Dutch School.
- BODOM, E. Norwegian School.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTICES.

- BOL, FERDINAND.—Born at Dort, 1609-10. Died at Amsterdam, 1681. Pupil of Rembrandt. Best known as a portrait painter. Dutch School.
- BONHEUR, FRANÇOIS-AUGUSTE.—Born at Bordeaux. Pupil of Raymond Bonheur (his father). Received 3rd Class Medal, 1852 and 1857; 2nd Class, 1859; 1st, 1861, and honourably mentioned in 1863. French School.
- BONHEUR, MDLLE. MARIE-ROSA.—Born at Bordeaux. Pupil of Raymond Bonheur (her father). Received the 3rd Class Medal, in 1845; the 1st Class Medal (landscape and cattle), 1848; and the 1st Class Medal, at the Universal Exhibition, 1855; received the Cross of the Legion of Honour from the hands of Her Majesty the Empress of the French, in 1865. French School.
- BONIFAZIO VENEZIANO, or DA VERONA.—Born, 1491. Died, 1553. Said to have been a pupil of the elder Palma or Titian, but little is known of his life, and his works are inferior to those of either of those masters. It is even supposed that there were two painters of this name. Venetian School.
- BONNINGTON, RICHARD PARKER.—Born at Arnold, near Nottingham, 1801. Died, 1828. Self-taught. Went at the age of nineteen to France, where, and in Italy, his works were much admired. Since his death they have been eagerly sought for, and many imitations of them sold as being by him. British School.
- BONVICINO, ALESSANDRO.—Known as Il Moretto da Brescia, in which place he was born near the end of the 15th Century. Scholar of Ferramola and Titian. Lived between 1490 and 1560, and was one of the best of the great masters who flourished at that time. His best works (in fresco) are at Brescia; and others, equally remarkable (in oil), are in London and Vienna. He seems to have adopted the name of Moretto, as he has signed a picture Alex: Moretto. Brix: F., 1548. Was also a good portrait painter, and master of Moroni. Venetian School.
- BOONEN, ARNOLD VAN.—Born at Dordrecht, 1669. Died, 1729. Scholar of Schalcken. Dutch School.
- BORDONE, PARIS.—Born of a noble family of Treviso, 1500. Died at Venice, 1571. Pupil of Titian. Celebrated for his female portraits. Was invited to France by Francis the First, 1538, where he painted many of the ladies of the French Court. His masterpiece is "The Ring of St. Mark," at Venice. Venetian School.
- BORGOGNONE; see COURTOIS.
- BOSSUET, F.—Professor at the Royal Academy of Fine Arts at Brussels. Belgian School.
- BOTH, JAN or JOHN.—Born at Utrecht, 1610. Died, 1656. He and his brother Andrew were sons of a glass-painter, and pupils of A. Bloemart. They resided long at Rome. The etchings by John are good and rare. Dutch School.
- BOTTICELLI, SANDRO or ALESSANDRO.—Born at Florence in 1447. Died in 1515. Scholar of Filippo Lippi. Painted at Rome and Florence both sacred and profane subjects, also portraits of the Medici family. Known likewise as the designer of a series of subjects chosen from Dante, and which were engraved by Baldini. Florentine School.
- BOUCHER, FRANÇOIS.—Born at Paris, 1704. Died at Paris, 1768. French School.
- BOURDON, SEBASTIEN.—Born at Montpellier, 1616. Died at Paris, 1671. Pupil of his father, and studied at Rome. Painter to Queen Christina, of Sweden; and Rector of the Academy of Painting in Paris. French School.
- BOURGES, MDLLE. LEONIDE-PAULINE-ELISE.—Born in Paris. Pupil of Mr. Th. Salmon and Edouard Frère. French School.
- BOUT, AND BOUDEWYNS.—About 1700, they painted conjointly a large number of landscapes. Flemish School.
- BRAEKELEER, HENRI DE.—Pupil of Baron Henri Leys. Belgian School.
- BRAMER, LEONARD.—Born, 1596. Little is known of his life, but he was one of the followers of Rembrandt. Dutch School.
- BRANDI, DOMENICO.—Born at Naples, 1683. Died, 1736. Painted principally animals. Neapolitan School.

- CARAVAGGIO, MICHELANGELO MERIGI; called DA CARAVAGGIO.—Born at Caravaggio, 1569. Died at Porto Ercole, in 1609. Began life as a mason, who prepared the walls for fresco painters, and was almost self-taught. The chief of the "Naturalisti," so called from their supposed servile imitation of nature, from which, however, they departed so widely by the unnatural blackness of the shadows in their pictures. Roman School.
- CARLONE, GIOVANNI.—Born at Geneva, 1590. Died at Milan, 1630. Pupil of Passignano, at Florence.
- CAROLUS, F. Belgian School.
- CARRACCI, AGOSTINO.—Born at Bologna, 1558. Died at Parma, 1601. Brother of Annibale Carracci. Studied painting under P. Fontana and D. Tibaldi; engraving under C. Cort. He was the most active teacher in the celebrated school of the Carracci; and not only a painter, but also a poet, musician, and one of the best engravers of his time. Bolognese School.
- CARRACCI, ANNIBALE.—Born at Bologna, 1560. Died at Rome, 1609. Pupil of his cousin Lodovico Carracci. Studied the works of Correggio at Parma. Painted, with the assistance of Domenichino, Lanfranco, and his brother Agostino, the celebrated frescoes in the Farnese Palace at Rome, which were finished in 1604. Bolognese School.
- CARRACCI, LODOVICO.—Born at Bologna, 1555. Died, 1619. Pupil of Prospero Fontana. Studied the works of Correggio at Parma. He, with the assistance of his cousins, Agostino and Annibale, founded the School of the Carracci at Bologna, in 1589, which sought, and to a certain extent succeeded, in adding to the glory of Italian art, by combining the different merits of the older masters. Bolognese School.
- CARRENO DE MIRANDA, JUAN.—Born at Avilés, 1614. Died at Madrid, 1685. Scholar of Pedro de las Cuevas. Painted many portraits in the reign of Philip IV. Spanish School.
- CARRUCCI; see PONTORMO.
- CARPACCIO, VITTORE.—Born at Venice. A distinguished painter among the early Venetian masters. Many of his works perished when the Ducal Palace of Venice was burnt, in 1576. His known works are dated up to 1520, and his portrait, by himself, 1522. Venetian School.
- CASTELHAUS. Spanish School.
- CASTIGLIONE, GIOVANNI BENEDETTO; called IL GRECHETTO.—Born at Geneva, 1616. Died at Mantua, 1670. Studied under Paggi, Ferrari, and Vandyck. Executed some spirited etchings. His brother Salvatore, and his son San Francesco, painted in a similar style. Genoese School.
- CASTILLO, JUAN DEL.—Born in 1584, at Seville. Died at Cadiz, 1640. Pupil of Luis Fernandez. Cano and Murillo studied under Castillo. Spanish School.

- CERQUOZZI, MICHEL ANGELO; called M. A. DALLE BATTAGLIE.—Born at Rome, 1602. Died 1660. Best known as a battle painter. Roman School.
- CESARI, GUISEPPE; called IL CAVALIERE D'ARPINO.—Born at Arpino about 1568. Died, 1640. One of the best of the mannerists of the Roman School.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTICES.

- CHAMBERS, GEORGE.—Son of a seaman of Whitby, in Yorkshire, where he was born at the close of the last century. Died, 1840. While still a cabin boy shewed a talent for painting, and received some instruction from Bird, a drawing-master of Whitby. Came to London and was employed in painting the great Panorama of London at the Colosseum. When scene painter at the Pavillon Theatre, was introduced by Admiral Lord Mark Keir to William the Fourth, but an early death prevented Chambers deriving much profit from the fair prospect of success then before him. British School.
- CHAMPAGNE, PHILIPPE DE.—Born at Brussels, 1602. Died at Paris, 1674. Went in 1621 to Paris, where he painted in the Luxembourg, and was patronized by Marie de Medicis and Cardinal Richelieu. His masterpiece is the "Adam and Eve bewailing the death of Abel," now at Vienna; but he is best known as a portrait painter of great merit. He was Rector of the Paris Academy of painting. Flemish School.
- CHAPLIN, CHARLES.—Born at Andely (Eure). Pupil of Drolling. French School.
- CHAVET, VICTOR.—Born at Aix (Bouches du Rhone). Pupil of P. Revoil and C. Roqueplan. Received the 3rd Class Medal, 1853; and the 2nd Class Medal, at the Universal Exhibition, 1855. French School.

- CIVETTA; see BLES.
- CLAUDE, GILLÉ or GELEÉ; called LE LORRAIN or DE LORRAINE.—Born at Chateau de Chamagne on the Moselle, near Charmes, in 1600. Died at Rome, 1682. Apprenticed to a man-cook, and travelled to Rome, where in that capacity he entered the service of Agostino Tassi, a landscape painter, from whom, and his friend Sandrart, he learned the rudiments of the art which he afterwards carried to so high a degree of perfection by an incessant study of nature. His drawings and etchings are also, like his pictures, very masterly and valuable. See those in this Exhibition. French School.
- CLEEF, JOAS VAN, of Antwerp.—Painted about 1530 to 1550. An excellent portrait painter, in a style between that of Holbein and Antonio Moro. His pictures are frequently mistaken for those of Holbein. Flemish School.
- CLOUET.—There were three painters of this name. Jehannet or Jeannet Clouet, father and son, the elder of whom was living in Brussels in 1475, and settled at Tours, in France, in the neighbourhood of which were then the principal residences of the French Court, about 1480. The son was painter to Francis the First in 1518, and died in Paris in 1541. Many of the French portraits of that date are by him, and have been attributed to Holbein. François Clouet, his son, born about 1510, died about 1574, succeeded him as painter to Francis the First. There was a fourth Clouet, a brother of the younger Jeannet, who was employed about 1529 by Francis and his sister, the Queen of Navarre. The name Jeannet or Janet appears to have become a surname. Flemish School.
- CLOVIO, GIULIO.—Born, 1498. Died, 1578. Pupil of Giulio Romano. The celebrated painter in miniature. Some of his works are among the finest that have been executed on vellum in that style. Roman School.
- COELLO, ALONZO SANCHEZ.—Born at Benifayro, in Valencia, early in the 16th Century. Died in 1590. Copied the works of Titian. The first of the great Spanish portrait painters. Spanish School.
- COLLINS, WILLIAM, R.A.—Born in London, 1788. Died, 1847. Son of a picture dealer, author of the "Life of Morland." Painted a large number of interesting pictures, mostly of English scenery and country life. British School.
- CONEGLIANO, GIAMBATTISTA CENIA DA.—His pictures are dated from 1489 to 1517. Pupil of Giovanni Bellini, whom he in some respects excelled, particularly in his landscape backgrounds, many of which represent his native place, Castello de Conegliano. His son Carlo Cenia imitated his works. Venetian School.
- CONSTABLE, J., R.A.—Born, 1776. Died, 1837. Son of a miller. Pupil of Farington. The well-known landscape painter; some of whose works have been engraved by D. Lucas, and his life written by Leslie. British School.
- COOK, R., R.A.—Born in London, 1782. Died, 1857. Studied at the Royal Academy, and became R.A. in 1822. British School.

- COOMANS, JOSEPH.—Born in Brussels. Received the Bronze Medal, at Brussels, 1848; Gold Medal, at La Haye, 1859; 1st. Class Medal, at Metz, 1861; and the Silver Medal, at Rouen, 1863. French School.
- COOMANS, MISS CELESTINE. French School.
- COPLEY, J. S., R.A.—Born at Boston, in America, 1737. Died in London, 1815. Exhibited his first picture at the Academy in London, in 1760. Painted many fine historical pictures. The father of the late Lord Lyndhurst. British School.
- COQUES, GONZALES.—Born at Antwerp, 1618. Died, 1684. Pupil of David Ryckaert. Celebrated for groups of small portraits, which generally represent persons of the wealthier classes in the 17th Century. Flemish School.
- CORNELITZ, LUCAS.—Born at Leyden, 1493. Died, probably, 1552. Visited England in the reign of Henry VIII. Dutch School.
- CORREGGIO, ANTONIO ALLEGRI, or LIETO; commonly called CORREGGIO.—Born at Correggio, near Modena, in 1493, or early in 1494. Died there in 1534. Said to have been the pupil of Bartolotto, a painter in his native place, but was at Mantua as early as 1511 or 1512, and a master of established reputation at Parma in 1519. There he then painted in the convent of San Paolo, and subsequently, about 1522, the "Assumption of the Virgin" and other works, which are, in many respects, the most admirable that modern art has produced. School of Parma.
- CORTONA, PIETRO BERRETTINI DA.—Born at Cortona in 1596. Died at Rome, 1669. The elegant but incorrect style which he introduced led to the rapid decline of painting in Italy. Florentine School.
- COSTA, LORENZO.—Born at Ferrara, 1460. Died at Mantua, 1535. Studied under Benozzo Gozzoli, at Florence, and assisted Francesco Francia, at Bologna. Settled at Mantua, and died in the service of the Duke Francesco Gonzaga. He left two sons, Ippolito and Girolamo, the latter the father of the younger Lorenzo Costa, who died in 1583, at the age of 46. School of Ferrara.
- COTMAN, J. S.—Born at Norwich about 1780. Died, 1843. Eminent as a water-colour painter and engraver of architectural subjects. British School.
- COURTOIS, JACQUES; called IL BORGOGNONE or LE BOURGURGNON, and by the Italians, CORTESE.—Born at St. Hippolyte in Franche Comté, in 1621. Died at Rome, 1676. Remarkable for his spirited battle-pieces. He became a Jesuit and lived principally in Italy. French School.
- COX, DAVID.—Born in 1783. Died at Harborne Heath, near Birmingham, in 1859. Son of a whitesmith. Self-taught. Employed as a scene painter in London in 1803, and rose gradually to be one of the most admired landscape painters of his time, particularly in water-colours. British School.
- CRANACH, LUCAS SUNDER; known as LUCAS CRANACH.—Born at Cranach, in Bavaria, in 1472. Died at Weimar in 1552. The intimate friend of Luther, whose portrait he painted several times. He marked his pictures with a crowned serpent. German School.
- CREDI, LORENZO DI CREDI.—Born at Florence, 1459. Died at Florence, 1537. The fellow-pupil of Leonardo da Vinci, in the school of Verocchio. Sculptor and painter, but best known as the latter. Although he was much influenced by the works of Da Vinci, his own are most remarkable for the elaborate manner in which they are finished. Florentine School.
- CRIVELLI, CARLO.—The dates of his birth and death are not known, but he was of a Venetian family, and lived and worked principally at Ascoli, or in its neighbourhood. His known pictures are dated from 1468 to 1495. He painted in tempera. Venetian School.
- CRIVELLI, VITTORIO.—Lanzi thinks it probable that he was of the family and School of Carlo Crivelli. His known works were executed about 1489-90. Venetian School.
- CROME, JOHN.—Born in Norwich, 1769. Died there in 1821. Self-taught. Apprenticed to a coach painter; but, by an incessant study of nature, rose to be one of the best English landscape painters. Several of his pupils have followed his style. British School.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTICES.

- CUYLENBURG, ABRAHAM VAN.—Born at Utrecht in 1639. His pictures are often sold for those of Pœlenburg, whom he imitated. Dutch School.
- CUYP, ALBERT.—Born at Dort, 1605. Still living in 1683. Pupil of his father, Jacob Gerritz Cuyp. Excelled in painting everything he saw around him, and representing it at the moment when it appeared to the greatest advantage. In this respect he surpassed even Claude Lorraine, whose fame rests entirely on his landscapes; whereas Cuyp painted also portraits, animals, birds, fish, flowers, fruit, and still-life, in a manner little inferior to the best Dutch painters of those subjects. Dutch School.
- DADD, R. English School.
- DAHL.—Born at Stockholm, 1656. Died in London, 1743. Pupil of Ernststræen Klocke, who had been in England. Came to England in 1678, and again in 1688, and remained here until his death. His son, the younger Dahl, was an inferior painter. British School.
- DANBY, FRANCIS, A.R.A.—Born in the county of Wexford, 1793. Died, 1861. British School.
- DANCE (HOLLAND), SIR NATHANIEL.—Born in London, 1734. Died at Winchester, 1811. Originally an artist by profession. Inherited a fortune and took the name of Holland. Pupil of Francis Hayman. British School.
- DAVID, JACQUES LOUIS.—Born at Paris, 1748. Died at Brussels, 1825. Pupil of Vien. The principal painter in France in the reign of Napoleon I. French School.
- DAVIES, R. B.—Born at Watford in 1782. Died, 1854. A good painter, who was much patronized by George the Third. British School.
- DELFOSE, ERNEST.—Born in Brussels. Pupil of C. Roqueplan. Belgian School.
- DENNER, BALTHAZAR.—Born at Hamburg, 1685. Died, 1749. His pictures are remarkable for the labour bestowed upon them. German School.
- DESHAYES, EUGENE.—Born in Paris. Pupil of his father. French School.
- DOBSON, WILLIAM.—Born in London, 1610. Died there, 1646. Worked under Sir Robert Peake and Franz Cleyne, but improved himself by studying the works of Titian and Vandyck. The latter was so much pleased with a copy by Dobson of one of his own pictures, that he introduced him to Charles the First, who appointed him his serjeant painter after the death of Vandyck. The civil war was, however, fatal to Dobson's prosperity, and he died in poverty. He painted some good historical pieces as well as portraits. British School.
- DOES, SIMON VAN DER.—Born, 1653. Died, 1717. Painted Italian scenery. His early pictures are the best. Dutch School.
- DOLCE, CARLO, or CARLINO.—Born at Florence, 1616. Died, 1686. Scholar of Jacopo Vignali. Most successful in female figures, for which his delicate and highly-finished style was best adapted. His daughter Agnese copied many of his works. Florentine School.
- DOMENICHINO; see ZAMPIERI.
- DOU, GERARD or GERRIT.—Born at Leyden, 1613. Died there, 1675. Son of a glazier, or rather glass painter; he was bred to the same business, but entered the school of Rembrandt in 1628, and studied under him about three years. He became famous for the delicate execution and correctness of his works, which, even in his life-time, sold for very high prices. One of his most celebrated pictures is "The Schoolmaster," in the Museum at Amsterdam. Dutch School.
- DROOST.—Born at Amsterdam in 1638. Died in 1690. Studied under Rembrandt. Went to Rome, where he improved greatly in design. A very able artist. Dutch School.
- DUBASTY, ADOLPHE-HENRI.—Born in Paris. Pupil of M. Ingres. Received the 3rd Class Medal, in 1845. French School.

wood and copper, and soon became as celebrated north of the Alps as Raphael in Italy. Went to Venice in 1506, and Flanders in 1520. His diary written during the latter journey is still preserved. There is a fine specimen of his skill in carving, in the British Museum. His best pictures are at Vienna. Author also of several works on Geometry and Design. German School.

DUVERGER, THEOPHILE EMMANUEL.—Born at Bordeaux. Received Medals in 1861, 1863, and 1865. French School.

DYCE, WILLIAM, R.A.—Born at Aberdeen, 1806. Died in 1864. Received the degree of M.A., at Marischal College at the age of 16. Went to Rome, and returned to Scotland about 1826. Painted in various styles. British School.

DYCK, SIR ANTHONY VAN.—Born at Antwerp, 1599. Died in London, 1641. His father was a merchant at Antwerp, and his mother remarkable for her skill in embroidery. Vandyck showed early a taste for drawing, and was placed under H. Van Balen; the pupil of Rubens, about 1615, and worked under him till 1620. First came to England in 1621. In 1623 visited Italy, where he remained for four or five years. He returned to Antwerp about 1628. Came to England in 1630 or 31, and finally settled in London in 1632; where, or at Eltham, he remained almost constantly until his death. As a portrait painter he is considered only second to Titian, and many of his historical pictures are equal to the finest works that the art of painting has produced. Flemish School.

DYCKMANS, JOSEPH LAWRENS.—Born at Antwerp. Pupil of De Tielmans and Wappers. Belgian School.

EASTLAKE, SIR C. L., P.R.A.—Born at Plymouth, 1793. Died, 1865. Student at the Royal Academy in 1809. About 1816 went to Italy and Greece. Elected President of Royal Academy in 1850. Author of several well-known works on the fine arts. British School.

ELSHEIMER, ADAM; also known as ADAM OF FRANCFORT.—Born at Franckfort, 1574. Died at Rome, 1620.—At Rome, as Adamo Tedesco, he became distinguished for small, highly-finished pictures, particularly such as represented night and moonlight effects, some of which were engraved by Count Goudt. German School.

ESCOSURA, IGNACE DE LEON.—Born in the Asturias (Spain). Pupil of M. Gerôme. Spanish School.

ETTY, WILLIAM, R.A.—Born at York, 1787. Died in York, 1849. Son of a miller and baker. Showed early a taste for drawing. Apprenticed in 1798 as a compositor, to a printer at Hull. Remained there seven years. Arrived in London, 1806. Became a student at the Royal Academy and pupil of Sir Thomas Lawrence. His progress in painting was very slow, but he at length became one of the best colourists of the British School.

EVERDINGEN, CÆSAR VAN.—Born at Alkmaer in 1606. Died in 1679. Scholar of John van Bronckhorst. He painted history and portraits, and was also eminent as an architect. Dutch School.

EYCK, VAN.—There were three, if not four, painters of this name, who came originally from the small village of Eyck, in Limbourg. After residing in Bruges, they settled in Ghent, about 1421. Hubert, the eldest, was born about 1366, and died at Ghent in 1426; John born about 1390, and died 1440-41. The other two Van Eycks were Lambert, of whose history little is known, and their sister Margaret, whom de Heere and Van Mander mention as an excellent painter. She died about 1430. Hubert is now generally admitted to have been, if not strictly speaking the inventor, the great improver of painting in oil. Of the lives of the other Van Eycks little is known, but John was in the service of the Dukes of Burgundy, and sent by Philippe le Bon into Portugal, Spain, and elsewhere, between 1428 and 1436, where, like Rubens, he was employed not only as a painter, but as a diplomatist. Flemish School.

FALENS, CHARLES VAN.—Born at Antwerp, 1684. Died in Paris, 1733. Imitator of Philip Wouvermans. Flemish School.

FARINATO, PAOLO DEGLI UBERTI.—Born at Verona, 1522. Died, 1606. Probably studied under Giulio Romano. His principal works are at Verona. Venetian School.
