FIRE INSURANCE.

BY the Plan of the Norwich Union Insurance Office, the usual Premiums for Insurance are taken, and after paying promptly all Claims arising from Loss by Fire, Expences of Engine Establishments, &c. the Surplus of Premium is returned septennially to the Insured.

Seven Years Receipts of Premium always remain in Bank, or are invested in the Names of Trustees, as a Security to the Insured, independent of the Annual Receipt, now amounting to £80,000—it is found by twenty-one Years Experience, that seven Years Receipt is more than equal to the Claims made in fourteen Years. In order, however, more efficiently to provide for the Security of the Insured, an Annual Appropriation of 7½ per Cent. upon the Premium deposited, is made, to provide a Permanent Capital, which it is intended should amount to Five Hundred Thousand Pounds.

LIFE INSURANCE.

The Plan of the Norwich Union Life Insurance is precisely the same as the Fire Insurance—the Profits arising from Life Insurance, granting Annuities, Endowments for Children, &c. are added at stated Intervals, as a Bonus to the Policies of those who insure for the Term of Life, and as the Lives insured by this Office are generally Country Lives, the Directors have been warranted in effecting Insurances at about 10 per Cent. lower Terms than those demanded by the London Offices.

The illustration depicts a woman in a long dress and bonnet, kneeling on a patterned rug. She holds a long staff or pole in her right hand and reaches out with her left hand towards a large, shaggy dog sitting beside her. In the background, a three-masted sailing ship is visible on the left, and a large, dark structure, possibly a building or a piece of machinery, is on the right. The entire scene is rendered in a detailed engraving style with fine lines and cross-hatching for shading.
