TABLES OF THE TIDES
AT GLASGOW AND GREENOCK FOR 1886.

OBSERVATIONS.

In the Tide Table, if a blank, such as .... occurs upon any day, there is high water only once that day. It is to be observed that morning is supposed to commence immediately after midnight, and evening immediately after noon. Noon is denoted by 0h 0m. Having assumed 12 hours 8 minutes as the time of full and change at Greenock, nothing more is necessary than to apply the time as under to the time given in the Greenock Table, and the result will be the time of High Water at each respective place.

THE CITY OF GLASGOW.

VITAL, SOCIAL, AND ECONOMIC STATISTICS.

In April, 1881, the population of the city was 511,415, and the suburbs 193,858, making a total of 705,272. In May, 1885, the population within the city boundaries is estimated by the City Chamberlain to have been 544,922, and within the suburbs at 215,385—in all, 760,307, being an increase of 33,507 in the city, and of 21,527 in the suburbs during the past four years. While births show an increase of 685, deaths show a decrease of 633 as contrasted with those in 1883. Marriages, although above the average of the ten years, are under those of 1880 and 1882. Of the births, there is an excess of 2.33 per cent. in males. As a result of the recent depreciation in the value of property, and consequent reduction of rents, the rental of the city shows a marked decline. The total rental for 1884-85 was £3,406,372, being £25,742 under that of the previous year. The rental for the seven years past has increased 2¾ per cent., while for the seven years from 1870-71 to 1877-78 the increase was equal to 56 per cent. The water supply is now 41,732,500 gallons daily, being fully double that of Manchester, the next best supplied city, and fully three times that of Edinburgh. The Clyde Navigation revenue has improved from £147 in 1770 to £164,093 in 1870, to £223,709 in 1880, and to £291,182 in 1884, and the total expenditure of the trustees down till 30th June, 1885, amounts to £10,293,862. The shipping registered in Glasgow at the close of 1884 was 1428 vessels of 1,018,476 tons, an increase of 241,696 tons in four years, and double the tonnage registered ten years ago. Arrivals at Glasgow numbered 17,872 vessels of 3,361,187 tons, an increase over previous year of 61,487 tons, and over 1882 of about 315,000 tons. A large trade has sprung up in the import of foreign animals at Glasgow, and for the year ending 31st May, 1885, 49,642 cattle had been landed, chiefly from the United States and Canada, and 11,217 tons of beef were imported from the same places. In January, 1881, the stock of Raw Sugar amounted to 30,668 tons, and the price at 31st December was 22s. In January, 1883, the stock was 46,760 tons, the import for that year was 260,631 tons, and the price at 31st December was 18s 6d. In January, 1884, the stock amounted to 61,578 tons, the imports to 229,652 tons, and the price on 31st December was 11s per cwt. Of the sugar imported last year, 141,231 tons were beetroot sugar, 72,569 tons cane sugar from Java, and the remainder cane sugar from the West Indies and Mauritius. The inland revenue of Glasgow for the year ending 31st March, 1885, was £1,882,484, being an increase of fully £32,500; and the income and property tax amounted to £288,951, an increase of nearly £47,000, caused by the increase of 1d per £1. 26,486 emigrants left the Clyde in 1884, as against 41,632 in 1883, 49,097 in 1882, and 42,136 in 1881. 20,335 went to the States, 3196 to Canada, and 2811 to Australia; and of the total, 2196 were cabin and 24,290 steerage passengers.

The City Chamberlain is of opinion that at Midsummer of 1885 the population of the City and Suburbs was as follows:—

Within the Municipal Boundaries,...	544,922
Within Suburban Districts, ...	215,385
Total population, within City and closely contiguous Suburbs,	760,307

GLASGOW CORPORATION TRAMWAYS.

These Tramways, which have been constructed by the Corporation under the Glasgow Street Tramways Act, 1870, and the Glasgow Corporation Tramways Act, 1875, and subsequent Acts, are leased to the Glasgow Tramway and Omnibus Company Limited for a term of 23 years from 1st July, 1871, and the agreement under which the lease is granted applies not only to the whole of the lines already authorised but also to any extension which may be made by the Corporation. By that agreement the Corporation are to borrow on their own security the capital required for construction and expenses, and the lessees are to pay the rate of interest actually paid by the Corporation, and their expenses of borrowing, management, &c., in addition to a sinking fund of three per cent. per annum. In lieu of any payment for pavement in streets not being turnpike roads, the lessees pay a fixed charge of £150 per annum per street mile. The lessees are also to set apart annually four per cent. on the monies spent on construction, as a fund for maintenance and renewals, the interest on which will be received by the lessees, and any balance at the end of the lease will revert to them. Under an agreement of date 6th and 8th March, 1879, the Corporation have leased to the said Company about 6¼ miles of additional lines of Tramway, for payment only of interest, at the rate of 4½ per cent. per annum, on the cost of construction, and £150 per annum for every mile of street occupied by the lines within the city, in so far as these are not turnpike roads. This agreement is coeval in duration with the lease above mentioned. The total length of the system is now 25 miles of double lines of Tramway.

In last session of Parliament the Corporation obtained power to make six miles three furlongs of additional Tramways in Glasgow and suburbs, three miles of which have been leased to the Company, and are in course of construction.

The object of the Institution is to place within the reach of the public the fullest and most recent information on all subjects of general interest, whether Commercial, Literary, or Scientific; to provide an agreeable place of resort in the intervals of business; to incite, especially among Young Men, a taste for intellectual and elevating pursuits, and to secure the means of its gratification, by affording the utmost facilities for systematic study in various branches of useful knowledge.

The Reading Rooms are abundantly supplied with the earliest Telegraphic Intelligence, Newspapers, and periodicals of every kind, and the Library contains upwards of 11,000 volumes. Amusement Rooms for the use of Members only.

Writing accommodation, Post-Office, Private Letter Boxes, and many other conveniences are provided for the Members.

STIRLING'S AND GLASGOW PUBLIC LIBRARY, 48 Miller Street

Stirling's Library, with which the Glasgow Public Library is now incorporated, was founded in 1791, by the late Walter Stirling, merchant in Glasgow, and has since received many valuable additions from various donors.

The Library now contains between 40,000 and 50,000 volumes, including a full set of the Patents Publications, and is free to the public for consultation. It is open daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Life Subscription to Lending Department, £5 5s. Annual Subscription, entitling to two Works and one Magazine, 10s 6d; Six-monthly, 7s 6d. Firms sending four readers, entitling to one work each, £1 1s, and 5s 3d for each additional reader.

THE MITCHELL LIBRARY,

Temporary Premises—Ingram Street.

Founded on a bequest of the late Stephen Mitchell, Esq. Mr Mitchell died in April, 1874, and the bequest was accepted by the Town Council in July of the same year. The constitution provides, inter alia, that the Library shall be known as the Mitchell Library; that books on all subjects not immoral shall be freely admitted, no book to be regarded as immoral which simply controverts present opinions on political or religious questions; that the Library shall be administered by a Committee of the Town Council; that power be given to incorporate with the Library other libraries and collections of books; and that the Library shall be accessible to the public for purposes of reference and consultation.

The library was opened November 1, 1877, and is open daily from 9.30 a.m. till 10 p.m. uninterruptedly. It contains more than 62,000 volumes, and is the largest free public library in Scotland. The books are not permitted to be taken away, but may be read in the library, which has been conveniently furnished for this purpose. There is a magazine room, where may be seen more than 250 of the principal weekly, monthly, and quarterly serials, including a number of American, German, and French periodicals. The admission is free, and no introduction or guarantee is required. In the selection of the books to form the Library, efforts have been made to give it a thoroughly representative character, so that students in every department of knowledge will derive advantage from its use. Collections of books relating to Scotland, and particularly to Glasgow and the West, are forming. "The Poets' Corner" is believed to contain the largest and most valuable library of Burns' literature and Scottish Poets and Dramatists in existence.

The number of readers is large, averaging 1,350 daily, and frequently exceeding the accommodation provided. In 1884, the average number of volumes consulted daily was 1413; in 1885 it is even larger; the total number from commencement to 14th November, 1885, being 2,972,391, exclusive of the reading of the periodicals in the magazine room, the references to which are estimated to be nearly equal in number.

Convener, William Wilson	Sub-Convener, James Colquhoun
Librarian, F. T. Barrett	Sub-Librarian, John Ingram

BAILLIE'S INSTITUTION

Was founded by the late Mr George Baillie, writer in Glasgow, who divested himself in his lifetime of his whole fortune (£18,000), which, with its accumulations during twenty-one years from 11th Nov., 1863, he appointed to be applied to the erection and endowment of an Institution, to be called "Baillie's Institution," having for its objects, 1st, To aid the Self-culture of the operative classes in Glasgow, by means of Free Public Libraries and Reading Rooms; and 2nd, The Tuition and Training of their children in unsectarian schools. The former of these, however, according to his direction, is alone to be proceeded with, as there is not a sufficiency of funds for both. The Dean, Council, and Clerk of the Faculty of Procurators in Glasgow, are perpetual Preceptor, Patrons, and Directors of the Institution, which was incorporated by Royal Charter, dated 18th March, 1867.

The funds now amount to over £1450. The Society has two bursars at Glasgow University who receive £15 a-year, and about £30 is distributed in charity.

GLASGOW WATER OF ENDRICK FRIENDLY SOCIETY.

This Society was instituted on the 29th of March, 1771, and has for its object the relief of its members who may be rendered incapable of attending to business by disease, accident, infirmity, or old age, and for securing a payment at death for funeral expenses.

All persons are eligible for admission as members who have been born within seven miles of the Endrick Water, from its rise to its mouth; or who are connected by certain specified relationships with the district within the same radius.

Rates of contribution graduate, according to age, from 2s per quarter at 15 to 20 years, to 5s 6d at 50 years. These contributions entitle members to aliment during illness at the rate of 10s per week for the first six months; 6s per week for the second six months; and 4s per week thereafter. Old age or permanent infirmity entitles members to an allowance of 4s per week. Funeral allowance, £6.

Capital account at 31st Dec., 1884, stood at £3771 5s 4d, and the number of members on roll at 191, the funds thus showing £19 14s 11d to each member. The funds are invested in accordance with the Friendly Societies Act.

The Society was instituted in the year 1806, and the sphere of its operations includes the Parliamentary boundary of the city of Glasgow situated on the south side of the river Clyde. The object of the Society is to afford pecuniary or other relief to the natives and old inhabitants of the Barony of Gorbals, who are of respectable character; have been in better circumstances, but reduced to a decayed and indigent state; and who, not being otherwise sufficiently provided for, stand in need of the Society's aid; but no one receives assistance from its funds who is in receipt of parochial relief. Advanced age, urgent necessity, and respectability of character are indispensable. Length of residence, next to nativity preferred, but applicants must have one or other of these qualifications Non-residence at the time of making application will not exclude from the benefits of the society. No one is allowed to participate in the benefits of the Society who is under fifty years of age, unless labouring under permanent bodily infirmity. The Treasurer supplies forms of application for aid.

GRAHAM CHARITABLE.

This Society was instituted in the year 1759, and was incorporated by Seal of Cause from the Magistrates and Town Council of Glasgow, upon the 2nd Jan., 1770. None are eligible as members of the Society except persons of the name of Graham and their descendants, or those married to individuals of that name, or their descendants. The entry-money to strangers is £5 5s, and to sons and other lineal descendants, and sons-in-law of members, £3 3s.

The managers are chosen annually in December

GLASGOW HOME FOR DESERTED MOTHERS,

308 Renfrew street.

Established in 1873, and supported by Voluntary Contribution

The aim and object of this Home is to supply a desideratum, the want of which has been long experienced in this city and the West of Scotland, viz., to afford temporary shelter and maintenance to destitute and houseless mothers, with their helpless infants. Those only who have for the first time deviated from the paths of virtue, or who have been led astray, are eligible for admission. While resident in the Home a vigilant supervision is exercised over them. Much attention is paid to their moral and religious welfare, and every effort made to procure suitable situations for them. The infants are placed under the care of proper and trustworthy nurses, all of whom are under the oversight and supervision of the Matron.

The Home is managed by a Committee of ladies, assisted by a Board of gentlemen, and is under the general superintendence of a Matron.

Treasurer, John E. Watson, C A, 149 Hope street
Secretary, J. B. Kidston, 50 West Regent street

The object of this Institution is to afford assistance to natives, and widows, and families of natives of the City of Glasgow, who, from reverses of fortune or otherwise, have been reduced to necessitous circumstances; though not such casual or trivial relief, as is properly obtained from the funds destined by law for the support of the poor, but rather such more ample and efficient assistance, as may tend to secure comparative ease and independence to the parties on whom it is bestowed. The capital amounts to £16,751 8s 10d, producing an annual income of about £700; to this the Directors added £16 from the entry-monies of the previous year, making in all the sum of £726, which was distributed in the manner above indicated. During last year the number of recipients was 95, who received grants varying from £4 to £10. The annual expenditure is on an average only £8. The membership is composed of parties born within the Royalty or Parliamentary limits of the Burgh, though donations are received and invited from those who, though not natives, have been identified, by long residence or commercial connection with the interests and prosperity of the city, and who, though not members, are enrolled in a separate class, titled donors. Legacies and bequests will also be received, and are invited from the opulent and generous either at home or abroad, who approve of its objects. A payment of £5 5s, either in one sum at entry or by five successive yearly instalments of £1 1s, constitutes membership. Members and widows and families of members, are entitled to a preference in the distribution of the funds.

Secretary, S. S. Eunson, 13 Dixon street

The principal object of the Society is to grant charitable relief to the natives of the Orkney and Shetland islands, their children, or widows, residing in Glasgow or its neighbourhood, or travelling through Glasgow, and who from sickness or sudden emergency may be in want of temporary aid. No applicant shall be relieved whose character for honesty, sobriety, and industry has not been satisfactorily ascertained.

MISSION TO THE OUT-DOOR BLIND FOR GLASGOW AND THE WEST OF SCOTLAND.
President, Sir James Watson, 40 St Vincent place
Honorary Treasurer, Archd. Arrol, 16 Dixon Street
Honorary Secretary, James Miller, 5 South Hanover street
Superintendent, John Macdonald, 4 Bath street

Has under its care upwards of 1170 blind people, resident in Glasgow and the counties of Lanark, Renfrew, Ayr, Dumbarton, Bute, and Argyll. These blind persons are sought out, visited at their own houses, taught to read, and provided with books in raised type. As they are mostly adults, who have by the one calamity lost both their sight and their income, many of them being in extreme destitution, means are much needed to relieve their pressing wants, and to aid them in procuring employment.

LADIES' AUXILIARY TO THE MISSION TO THE OUT-DOOR BLIND FOR GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For visiting blind women, and, through means of two female teachers, instructing them in knitting, and providing work for them at their own homes. Sale-room for work done by blind, 6 Bath street

PRISONERS' AID SOCIETY.

This Society was instituted in 1856, for the purpose of looking after and assisting, to employment or otherwise, discharged prisoners, chiefly those new to crime. Experience has taught that the only effectual mode of doing this is by dealing with each case individually, and since the adoption of this plan the results have been very satisfactory

HOUSE OF SHELTER FOR FEMALES AND PRISON GATE MISSION.

114 Hill street, Garnethill.

The "Shelter" was instituted in 1850, its object being to provide a home for females, on their liberation from prison, who are desirous to reform and to support themselves by honest industry. The average number of inmates in the "Shelter" during the past year was 50. They are employed in needlework, the institution receiving the proceeds of their labour, in return for which the inmates are lodged, fed, and clothed

THE PRISON GATE MISSION.

15 Whitevale Street.

Matron, Miss Macdonald

This Home was begun in 1878, and its object also is to provide for females who have been in prison, and desire to lead a better life. It opens its doors, however, to those who are unable or unwilling to submit to the restraints as to personal liberty required in the "Shelter."

Employment is given in washing and laundry work; also, sewing and knitting. Besides three comfortable meals during the day, those employed in the washing-house and laundry receive 9d per day, and the sewers and knitters from 2d to 6d according to the work done. All have liberty to go home at night, but lodging in the House is provided at 1s 6d per week for the large numbers who prefer remaining there.

The two Houses are under one management.

WEST OF SCOTLAND CONVALESCENT SEASIDE HOMES, DUNOON.

Promoted by Miss Beatrice Clugston, of Glasgow.

This Institution is designed for the necessitous and deserving of the industrial classes who have been in illness, to give them the benefit of the restorative influence of a short residence at the sea-side during convalescence. The Homes were formally opened in 1869, since which time 29,445 patients have been quite restored to health. There is accommodation for 150 persons; and added to a generous diet, there is afforded the best medical advice and medicines, as also the use of superior hot and cold water baths. Each donor of £10, or annual subscriber of £1, is entitled to recommend one person annually for admission to the Homes.

SUMMARY OF BENEFITS.

EARLY BONUS SCHEME (E.B)

Besides the privileges which it has from the outset, an ordinary Policy of the Early Bonus Class, which has complied with the necessary conditions, will, at the end of Three Years, enjoy the following EXCEPTIONAL ADVANTAGES:—It will be Entitled to rank for Bonus Additions;

Indisputable on the ground of Errors or Omissions;
World-wide without Extra Charge; and
Liable only to reduction in amount on non-payment of the Premium.

In short, it will be subject to no condition except payment of the original premium, and not to entire forfeiture even if that premium be not paid.

At last division of profits, ordinary Life Policies issued under this scheme received a Bonus addition of £2 per cent. for each year since they began to rank.

SPECIAL BONUS SCHEME (D.B.)

Under this scheme Policies are issued at Rates which do not exceed, and in many cases fall short of, the Non-Profit Rates of other Offices. At age 30, £1200, with right to profits, can be insured for the same premium as would be charged for £1000 under the usual Profit Schemes of most Offices.

WHELPTON'S

VEGETABLE PURIFYING PILLS

BY THE USE OF WHICH,
DURING THE LAST FIFTY YEARS,
MANY
THOUSANDS OF CURES

Have been effected in numbers of cases which had been pronounced INCURABLE!

The numerous well authenticated Testimonials in disorders of the HEAD, CHEST, BOWELS, LIVER, and KIDNEYS; also in RHEUMATISM, ULCERS, SORES, and all SKIN DISEASES, are sufficient to prove the great value of this most useful Family Medicine, it being and other fluids of the human body.

Many persons have found these pills of great service both in preventing and relieving SEA SICKNESS; and in warm climates they are very beneficial in all Bilious Complaints. Also

WHELPTON'S VEGETABLE STOMACH PILLS

Are particularly suited to Weakly Persons, being exceedingly mild and gradual in their operation, imparting tone and vigour to the Digestive Organs.

This Should be Useful in every Medicine House.

Prepared and sold wholesale and retail in boxes, prices 7½d, 1s 1½d, and 2s 9d, by G. WHELPTON & SON, 3 Crane Court, Fleet Street, LONDON; sent free to any part of the United Kingdom on receipt of 8, 14, or 33 stamps.

THE HYGIENIC BROOCH

Adapted for

PERFUMES OR DISINFECTANTS.

MOST USEFUL BROOCH OF THE AGE.

Invaluable when worn in Crowded Apartments, Theatre, Ball-Room, &c., &c.

ALSO MAKES A COMPLETE VINAIGRETTE.

THE HYGIENIC BROOCH

Is fitted with an Absorbent Cone By turning the Moveable Ball A the Cone is withdrawn. Immerse the end in Perfume or any suitable Deodoriser—such as Eucalyptus, Spirits of Camphor, &c.—and it absorbs sufficient for daily use; thus charged, it acts as a perfect Vaporiser, the Hygienic Virtues of the liquid escaping gradually in vapour through the openings of the perforated work B into the surrounding atmosphere, which is thereby Freshened and Purified.

WHEN USED WITH DISINFECTANTS.

Ladies Travelling or District Visiting will find the Hygienic Brooch the most Efficacious Prophylactic yet introduced; and for Children attending School, in any way exposed to Contagion, its constant use cannot be too strongly urged.

The Prominent Position in which the Hygienic Brooch is worn allows the Purifying Vapour to Act upon the Air before it is breathed, thus being a valuable Safeguard to Health.

Eucalyptus is Strongly Recommended by the Medical Faculty as a Reliable Non-Poisonous Disinfectant. While acting as a Deodoriser it exerts an Ozonising Influence on the Atmosphere, thereby greatly lessening the risk of Contagion.

The Hygienic Brooch is Manufactured in Various Designs. Neat, Elegant, and Attractive. As an Ornament it can with advantage be substituted for the ordinary variety of Brooches in common use, there being no perceptible difference.

Original Designs in Gold, Silver, Oxydised, and Gilt. Various Prices.

C. M. PERCY,

PROPRIETOR OF THE

FAMOUS "PERCY" SHOE HOUSE,

TENDERS his sincere thanks to the many patrons of his Establishment for the very flattering reception and continued encouragement accorded him since opening the above depot.

That such a place of business was in urgent demand is more than verified by its magical success. Opening in the midst of Shoe shops where the rule is to charge fabulous prices, the "PERCY" was much needed, and has unquestionably proved a "step in the right direction."

Ladies and Gentlemen daily patronising this model Shoe House are perfectly amazed and agreeably pleased at the exceedingly reasonable prices charged for HIGH-CLASS Boots and Shoes, frankly acknowledging the saving, from 20 to 30 per cent. less than paid to their former Shoemaker for the same class of goods.

Why pay 20s. when you receive equal value at the "PERCY" for 15s., the same saving holds good, whether you purchase "PINET'S FINEST" or "PERCY'S OWN." A fair trial for comparison respectfully solicited.

Ask for Cadbury's Cocoa

MAKERS TO THE QUEEN.

"It is often asked, 'Why does my Doctor recommend Cadbury's Cocoa?' The reason is, that being absolutely genuine, and concentrated by the removal of the superfluous fat, it contains Four times the amount of Nitrogenous or Flesh-Forming Constituents than the average in other Cocoas which are mixed with sugar and starch."

DUNFERMLINE WATER WORKS.—In 1847 an Act of Parliament was procured, incorporating a Joint-Stock Company for supplying the town of Dunfermline with water. For this purpose large reservoirs were formed at Craigluscar, about three miles from Dunfermline, covering about 37 acres. But the supply not being satisfactory, the town acquired the whole works in 1865, by agreeing to pay three per cent. on the share capital of £13,350, and relieving the Company of its debt of £7400. The Town, in 1868, expended about £10,000, in the construction of an additional store reservoir at Craigluscar, covering an area of about 12 acres, and in laying enlarged main pipes from the reservoirs to the town. In 1876 the Corporation got a new Water Bill passed, and decided to introduce a plentiful supply of water into the town from the Glensherup Burn, a tributary of the river Devon. The cost of obtaining the Bill was nearly £2000, and the expense of the new works, including extensions of piping within Burgh, has been considerably over £70,000.

UNIVERSITY OF ST ANDREWS.

The University was founded by Bishop Wardlaw in May 1411; the College of St Salvator by Bishop Kennedy in 1456; and the College of St Leonard, in 1512, by Archbishop Alexander Stuart and Prior Hepburn; and St Mary's by Archbishop James Beaton in 1537. The two Colleges of St Salvator and St Leonard were united by Act of Parliament in 1747, and called the United College of St Salvator and St Leonard. The University now "consists," to quote the Calendar, "of three distinct corporations viz.:—The United College of St Salvator and St Leonard, with its Principal and nine Professors; St Mary's College, with its Principal, who is also Primarius Professor, and three Professors; and the University, comprising the members of both Colleges, and of which the senior Principal (senior according to priority in office) is president."

The Session in the United College opens in the first week of November, and closes towards the end of April. In St Mary's College, it commences in the second week of November, and closes in the end of March.

The aggregate annual value of the prizes, bursaries, and scholarships at St Andrews is upwards of £2500.

LOCHLEVEN.

This Loch (in extent 3406 acres) is the property of Sir Graham Montgomery. There are three islands in it. Queen Mary's Island, on which the Castle stands, is near the town of Kinross, and measures 8 acres. Close adjoining it is a small island of about an acre, called Reed Bower; and towards the eastern side there is the island of St Serfs, measuring about 80 acres. On the latter in ancient times stood the Priory of Lochleven, distinguished as the place where Prior Winton resided, and where he wrote his well-known chronicles. The waters find their outlet at the east end. Authorised by an Act of Parliament, passed in the year 1826, extensive works were undertaken, as well to reclaim land around the Loch as to enable the mill-owners situated on the banks of the river to regulate the flow of water. A new cut of above three miles in length was made at a very low level, at the mouth of which powerful sluices were erected. By these means the permanent level of the Loch has been reduced 4½ feet in height, while still another 4½ feet has been obtained by the mill-owners to form a large reservoir of water entirely under their control. Herein the rains of winter, which often ran down in devastating floods, are stored up and made useful as a power to drive machinery during the dry months of the year. The quantity of water thus stored up when the Loch is full is estimated at 600,000,000 cubic feet, equivalent to a supply of about 80 days. The experience of about forty years, however, has shown that, with the exception of extremely dry seasons, a regular supply of about 5000 cubic feet per minute has thus been given to the mill-owners. The works were executed under the superintendence of the late Mr Jardine, Civil Engineer, Edinburgh, who placed a rain gauge (the funnel being 7 inches in diameter) in the ground at the sluice house.

A register of the rain falling there has been kept since 1842, from which the following abstract has been prepared:—

LOCHLEVEN FISHINGS.

The Loch is open for fishing from the 1st of January to the end of August. Previously to 1811 the fishing season included the month of September, but that being considered an improper arrangement the present dates were fixed upon. There is an Act of Parliament (Charles I., 28th June 1633), for the protection of the fish spawning in the streams within five miles of the Loch (as an additional means of protection, advantage is now taken of the Act 23 and 24 Victoria, Cap. 45, 23d July 1860), but the length of the fishing season is fixed by the proprietor. The Lochleven Angling Association Limited, the lessees of the fishing, let out boats, with one man, for rod fishings at 2s 6d an hour. There are twenty boats.

THE LOCHLEVEN ANGLING ASSOCIATION (LIMITED),

Has been formed to lease from Sir Graham Montgomery, Bart., the fishings on the Loch, and to keep them open and unrestricted as hitherto to the angling community. Directors—Geo. Henderson, Esq. of Turfhills, Kinross (Chairman); James A. Hunt, Esq. of Pittencrieff, Dunfermline; Robert Greig, Esq., Gellybank, by Kinross; Thos. Aitken, Esq., 5 Grosvenor Crescent, Edinburgh; R. Burns Begg, Esq., Factor on the Kinross Estate; The Hon. George Waldegrave-Leslie, Leslie House; James T. Smith, Esq., Duloch, Inverkeithing; George Barnet, Esq., Kinross; James R. Haig, Esq. of Blairhill; Wm. Flockhart, Esq. of Annacroich; Arthur Harris, Esq., Dundee. Manager—G. W. Hall. Solicitor and Secretary—George Bogie, Solicitor, Kinross.

Miss Janet Beattie, matron
Miss J. M. M'Gregor and Mrs. M. Moncur, scripture readers
Three male and four female teachers.

This prison is under the direction of four Commissioners, appointed under the Prisons (Scotland) Act (1877), who have also a superintendent of all prisons in Scotland. The expense of the establishment is defrayed from the public funds.

The penal department consisted of two wings at the opening of the prison, on 30th March, 1842. It has since been enlarged by the addition of a third wing in 1853, and of a fourth wing in 1859. It now contains separate accommodation for 734, and associated accommodation for 62, viz.—In the male department an hospital for sick to accommodate 10; as also hospitals for imbeciles and epileptics to accommodate 20; and in the female department hospitals for sick, for imbeciles, and for epileptics, to accommodate 32.

Male and female prisoners under sentence of imprisonment, and female convicts under sentence of penal servitude, are received for their whole sentence; and male convicts under sentence of penal servitude during their probationary period.

Imprisonment prisoners and convicts, while undergoing probationary confinement, are treated on the separate system; but in the case of female convicts over one year tried the discipline of the separate system is relaxed.

In 1859 a new prison was built to accommodate 58 juveniles on the associated system of Parkhurst.

The juvenile prison is not now required, and has been adapted for the accommodation of 58 male criminal lunatics.

A new hospital for the accommodation of 30 female lunatics was opened on 1st. June, 1881. The total available accommodation of the prison is now 884.

THE SAVINGS BANK OF THE COUNTY AND CITY OF PERTH

Established in 1838, and certified under the Act of 1863

The Right Hon. the Earl of Mansfield, K.T., chairman
Andrew Martin, Esq., Lord Provost, deputy-chairman
Albert Butter, Esq., treasurer; Melville Jameson, Esq., secretary; W. A. Barclay, actuary and cashier; George C. Roy, accountant and clerk; James Anderson, John Petrie, and Robert Arnott, check clerks; J. & R. Morison, auditors

The Office, 26 Tay street, Perth, is open every day from 10 till 3 o'clock, except Saturday when it shuts at 12

Open on Saturday evening from 6 to 8 o'clock for receiving deposits ONLY

Object of the Institution

It is established for the safe custody and increase of small savings belonging to the industrious classes of the County and City of Perth; and among its other advantages the following may be mentioned:—

1. Any sum from 1s up to £150 will be received from individual depositors, provided not more than £30 is deposited by each in one year. Societies and Charitable Institutions of any kind may deposit to the extent of £100 in the year, and £300 in all; while Friendly Societies duly enrolled may lodge their whole funds without any limitation

2. The whole or any part of the sums deposited may be withdrawn whenever required

3. Interest is secured at a comparatively high rate. It is calculated on the accounts once a year and added to the principal by which Depositors derive the benefit of compound interest. Every sum of 5s. and upwards gets the benefit of it.

4. The whole funds deposited in this Bank are specially exempt from Income Tax; and those of deceased Depositors under £100 are also exempt from Stamp and Residue Duty.

NOTE.—At the Annual General Meeting of the Trustees and Managers, held on 25th February, 1885, there were reported to be then 19,758 individual depositors, having a capital at their credit of.....£542,157 14 2
Charitable Institutions or Societies..... 12,863 8 11

Showing the total accumulated capital belonging to Depositors, including the capital inserted for the District Banks, to be.....£555,021 3 1

AUCHTERARDER

Was one of the Royal Burghs of Scotland. The earliest notice we have of it occurs in the foundation charter of the Abbey of Inchaffray, by which the Earl of Strathearn, A.D. 1200, appropriated the church of Auchterarder to that house. King Alexander II., by charter dated 13th August, 1227, granted the teinds of his rents of Auchterarder to the said Abbey. It was the head burgh of Strathearn, possessing a common seal, and as such is recognised in two ordinances of Edward I. of England, issued during his usurpation of Scotland. REGISTRARS OF BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS.

BIRTHS must be registered within Twenty-One Days; one of the parents must, if possible, attend for this purpose; and, as the date and place of the marriage of the parents must be given, it is advisable that informants furnish Registrars with notes or extracts of marriage at the time of registering births.

DEATHS within Eight Days. Informants, who ought in all cases to be the nearest relatives present at the Death, must attend at the Office of the Registrar to give the necessary information, and to sign the Register Books.

N.B.—The Registrars must enter Births and Deaths in the two Duplicate Register Books in presence of the informants under a Penalty of L.10.

MARRIAGE SCHEDULES must be lodged with the Registrar within Three Days after the ceremony. It is the duty of the officiating Minister to see that the particulars of the age, parentage, occupation, &c., of the contracting parties are set forth in the Schedule before he proceed to solemnise the marriage; and, after the ceremony is performed, to see that, along with himself, the parties and witnesses sign the Schedule.

PARENTS AND GUARDIANS must have Children Vaccinated within Six Months after the day of Birth, and lodge a certificate (which the Vaccinator is bound to give), with the Registrar within three days after Vaccination stating that Vaccination has been successfully performed.

ASSOCIATION FOR IMPROVING THE CONDITION OF THE POOR.

Instituted 1869.

The objects of the Association are—1. By an apportionment of the town and neighbourhood into districts; and, by a regular system of visitation, to gain and keep up an accurate knowledge of the condition of the poor 2. To encourage and judiciously relieve the deserving poor in such a way as to prevent them from becoming dependent on the Poor's Board. 3. To discourage idleness, vice, and out-door beggary, by denying relief to those who are either unwilling to help themselves, or who are already receiving aid from the Poor's Board or otherwise. 4. To educate those children whose parents are unable to do so. 5. To aid the unemployed of both sexes in obtaining employment. 6. By attention to the sanitary state of the dwellings of the poor, and generally by advice and assistance to ameliorate as far as possible their moral as well as material welfare.

ABERDEEN CHURCH EXTENSION AND TERRITORIAL HOME MISSION ASSOCIATION,

147 UNION STREET, ABERDEEN.

President, L. M'Kinnon, jun., advocate.

Vice-Presidents, William Yeats of Auquharney and Robert Smith of Glenmillan.

Secretary and Treasurer, Harvey Hall, advocate.

THE ABERDEEN BIBLE WOMEN'S AND EVANGELISTIC ASSOCIATION,

Was instituted 1859, and its object is, through Bible Women, to maintain a Missionary agency in the spiritually destitute parts of the city. Its methods are house to house visitation, tract distribution, and local meetings. In connection with the Association is a Relief Fund, from which a little material assistance, on the recommendation of the Bible Women, is given in cases of great destitution, and especially in cases of sickness and child-birth. The number of Bible Women employed is nine, and the Association is supported by voluntary subscriptions and occasional grants from Charitable Trust Funds. The management is under a large representative Committee of Ladies and Gentlemen. Treasurer, Gray C. Fraser; Secretary, Charles Shirreffs, Christian Institute.

WEST-NORTH STREET EVANGELISTIC ASSOCIATION (1872),

36 LITTLEJOHN STREET.

Its objects are "to provide the means of inducing moral culture, and social happiness, and to bring the gospel within the reach of those who are prevented from attending other means of grace." The Association is undenominational, and is supported by voluntary contributions. Annual income about £95.

President, Wm. Struthers, 43 North Broadford; Vice-President, John Cooper, Seaview Villa, Woodside; Secretary, R. Tocher, 2½ Nellfield Place; Treasurer, A. P. Hird, 28 Queen Street; Missionary, John Watters, 227 King Street.

SUNDAY MORNING EVANGELISTIC SERVICES,

NORTH LODGE HALL, WEST NORTH STREET,

Instituted in 1876, for the benefit of the destitute and homeless poor whose haunts are visited early on Sabbath mornings by a staff of Christian workers who invite them to the meetings. These services are conducted by well-known evangelistic preachers, both lay and clerical. A service of coffee and bread takes place at the commencement of the meeting (8 a.m.)

The work is carried on by means of voluntary contributions, and is under the immediate superintendence of Dr Thomas Farquhar, 16 Rubislaw Terrace.

ABERDEEN EVANGELICAL ASSOCIATION,

Was instituted in 1873, on the basis of the Evangelical Alliance, and acts as the local representative of that Alliance. Its object is to arrange for Christian conferences, evangelistic services, and all religious meetings of a general or undenominational character. The committee is representative of all the Church bodies of the city. President, Earl of Aberdeen; chairman of committee, Rev. John Judge; treas., Dr Gibbon; secy., Rev. David Burns.

NORTH-EAST COAST MISSION,

Instituted 1858. Its object is "to promote the spiritual welfare of Sailors, Fishermen, and the poor of those towns and villages or parishes on the North-East Coast of Scotland, which are not supplied with Home Mission Agency." It occupies the entire Coast between Montrose and Thurso, about 400 miles, containing more than 100 towns, villages, and hamlets, at least 50 harbours and creeks, a fishing population of 40,000; and, besides, it is reckoned nearly 30,000 seamen, both native and foreign frequent this coast during a year. Patron, Earl of Aberdeen; Presidents, W. Ferguson of Kinmundy, and G. Jamieson of Rosebank; Treasurer, G. C. Fraser, advocate; Secretary and Superintendent, Captain David Ross, Bloomfield, Holburn Place. Acting Committee, Revs. D. Beatt, H. W. Bell, Duncan Campbell, J. Duncan, M. Galbraith, W. D. Scott, G. W. Thomson; Dr Robson, Dr Gibbon; Messrs A. Laing, D. Mitchell, J. Roger, Major Ross, and Colonel Kirby.

ABERDEEN SAILORS' MISSION (1862),

INSTITUTE, JAMES STREET.

Its objects are, the spiritual, mental, and social improvement of the seafaring community, and seamen from other places visiting this port. The annual income of the Mission is about £200, obtained by voluntary contribution.

President, George Thompson, Jun.; Hon. Secretary and Treasurer, Geo. T. Harvey; Missionary, Mr David Carnegie; Keeper of Institute, James Hampton.

MARITIME STRANGERS' REST (1881)

POINT LAW, ABERDEEN,

Is specially intended as a centre of spiritual influence for the strangers who come here from foreign countries, and from different parts of this country, to prosecute the Herring Fishing Industry, and, as occasion requires, for seamen who may be wind-bound during the winter months.

The Rest includes a Reading Room, which is supplied with publications in various languages, writing materials, &c., and during the herring season, soup, tea, coffee, bread, and other temperance refreshments are supplied at moderate rates.

Trustees—Ex-Provost Esslemont, Ex-Baillie Donald, ex-Baillie Paterson, Dr. Alex. Gibbon, and Captain David Ross of the East Coast Mission.

Treasurer, Mr. Alex. Morrice, bank agent, 262 Union Street.

THE BRITISH AND FOREIGN BIBLE SOCIETY,

ABERDEEN UNITED PRESBYTERIAN YOUNG MEN'S MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION,

Instituted in 1866. Its objects are:—(1) To provide for the support of Native Teachers or Missionaries in the Foreign Mission Field; (2) to cultivate a missionary and devotional spirit amongst the young men of the U.P. Church in Aberdeen; and (3) to serve as a central bond of union between the various Congregational Branch Societies of a like nature; and generally to develope an increased measure of Christian sympathy and mutual co-operation amongst the Congregations of the Presbytery.

The Association at present supports Native Agents at Old Calabar, West Africa, and at Livingstonia in East Central Africa.

The Executive consists of two delegates, sent annually by each Congregational Branch Association, from among whom the office-bearers are chosen.

President, George Milne; vice-president, Robert Johnston; secretaries, John Mitchell and William Morgan; treasurer, Louis Findlay.

THE PROTESTANT REFORMATION SOCIETY (1853)

Is a national Institution, established in 1827. Its head office is in London, but it has a Scottish branch with a large representative committee. Objects—(1) The salvation of Roman Catholics, by presenting the truth in love, through the one only Mediator, Christ Jesus; (2) the preservation of Protestants who are assailed, or in danger of being preverted by Romish agency. It employs 22 missionaries. The Aberdeen agency is partly supported by local contributions, and is conducted by a committee consisting of ministers of all denominations. Resident missionary, ———

ABERDEEN REFORMATION SOCIETY (1853),

Established on the basis of the Scottish Reformation Society, to resist the aggressions of the Church of Rome and its adherents, to watch over their designs and movements, and to diffuse sound and Scriptural information on the distinctive tenets of true religion, as opposed to Popery.

President ———; Vice-President and Honorary Secretary, William Henderson of Devanha. Secretary, William Stevenson, 33 George Street.

ABERDEEN SABBATH SCHOOL UNION,

Instituted 1868, "To stimulate and encourage persons engaged in the superintendence and instruction of Sabbath Schools; to aim at improvements in the methods of teaching; to encourage the establishment of new schools in districts where they are needed; and to secure, as far as practicable, that no children within the sphere of the Union's operations shall fail to receive the benefits of religious instruction."

In seeking to carry out these objects, the Union expressly guards against interference with the management of any school.

The Union is supported by the contributions of affiliated schools and individual subscriptions. Expenditure for 1884-85, £43 2s 7d.

ROBERT GORDON'S COLLEGE, SCHOOLHILL

Was founded by Robert Gordon by Deed of Mortification, dated in 1730. The President and Governors were Incorporated by Royal Charter under the Great Seal of Scotland, dated 15th June, 1772, and by another Royal Charter, dated 16th May, 1792, also by the name and title of "The President and Governors of Robert Gordon's College in Aberdeen," by a Provisional Order, dated 10th June, 1881, made by the Secretary of State, under the Endowed Institutions (Scotland) Act, 1878, which Provisional Order came into operation on 1st August, 1881.

The "Collyhill Trust," founded by Alexander Simpson, of Collyhill, in 1816, was merged in the College by the same Provisional Order.

Those qualified to become foundationers are:—Children or grandchildren of Burgesses of Guild or of Trade of the City of Aberdeen, or children belonging to the City or County of Aberdeen who are orphans, or whose parents are in receipt of weekly wages or belong to the labouring classes. One-fourth at least of the foundationers for the time being must be elected by competitive examination, open to all boys suitable in respect of age, health, and character.

The chief subjects of instruction provided are—English language and literature, history and geography, modern languages, mathematics, and the elements of physical and natural science.

Day scholars are also admitted to the College Schools at fees ranging from 7s. 6d. to 15s. per quarter, and for such boys, residing in Aberdeen and attending the College or other schools in Aberdeen, 60 Bursaries have been instituted, equal in amount to the fees payable at different stages by day scholars attending the College schools, and tenable for one year. A competitive examination for 30 of these Bursaries is conducted by the Head Master annually in June, and the remaining 30 are awarded by the votes of the Governors to boys who pass an entrance examination, and who are orphans, or whose parents are in receipt of weekly wages or belong to the labouring classes, and who are suitable in respect of age, health, and character.

Day scholars, as well as foundationers, must not be under 8 years of age when admitted, and foundationers must leave the College at the age of 15, except in special cases.

The number of foundationers is restricted to 120, of whom not more than 30 shall reside in the College Buildings.

Science Classes and Classes for General and Commercial Education are held in the College Buildings, in the evenings, from October to April, and are intended for those who are prosecuting the Engineering and Building Trades, for Chemists and Druggists, and those engaged in commercial pursuits. Fees—from 4s. to 15s. per session for each subject taken with the exception of Practical Geometry, which is given free to students of Machine and Building Construction and Drawing.

The President and Governors are—ex-officiis:—Lord Provost of Aberdeen, Dean of Guild of Aberdeen, Principal of the University of Aberdeen, Chairman of the Aberdeen School Board. Elected by Town Council—to hold office for 5 years from 1881—Ex-Baillie Geo. Donald, Ex-Baillie James Ross, Alex. O. Gill; to hold office for 3 years from 1884—Baillie James Paterson, Dr Robert Beveridge, and John Gray; to hold office for 2 years from 1885—Baillie George Walker, Baillie Charles Gordon, and Treasurer James Walker.

Elected by Principal and Professors of Aberdeen University.—To hold office for 4 years—Chas. Niven, F.R.S., Professor of Natural Philosophy in the University; to hold office for 6 years—Wm. D. Geddes, LL.D., Professor of Greek in the University.

Trustees—The Provost, Dean of Guild, the President of the Board of Police, the President of the Society of Advocates, President of Shipmaster Society, Convener of Incorporated Trades, the Principal, and the Professors of Greek and Medicine in the University, the First and Second Ministers, the Senior Minister of St Paul's Episcopal Church, the Senior Physician of the Royal Infirmary, and the Secretary of the County Club, all of Aberdeen.

Treasurer and Secretary, George Allan, advocate, 56 Castle Street.

ORPHAN HOMES OF SCOTLAND.—(1871).

Instituted by Mr Wm. Quarrier, Glasgow. The Homes are situated at Bridge of Weir, Renfrewshire, James Morrison Street, Glasgow, and are for the reception and upbringing of "orphans who are destitute, and in good health, from one to twelve years of age, from any part of the country."

There are thirteen Cottages affording accommodation for 30 boys or girls (besides an Invalids' Home, Workshops, &c.), each under the charge of a "father and mother," the object being to preserve the family character and the influence of a Christian home.

The Homes are, as a rule, named after the district from which the funds or their erection came, and on that principle there is an "Aberdeen Cottage."

Mr Quarrier has also instituted Emigration Homes at Cessnock and Elmpark, Govan Road, Glasgow, as a part of his scheme, from which at intervals boys and girls between 4 and 14 years of age are sent to Miss Bilbrough's Home in Canada, and these are adopted or hired into private families throughout the dominion.

The City Home and Night Refuge in James Morrison Street, Glasgow, is for (1) destitute and wandering children; (2) homeless working boys from 14 to 18; and (3) virtuous young women who are friendless and out of work, from 14 to 25 years of age.

The total annual expenditure is upwards of £15,000, which is met by voluntary subscription.

Superintendent, Wm. Quarrier, 318 St Vincent Street, Glasgow; Correspondent in Aberdeen, A. C. Barker, 79 Chapel Street.

ABERDEEN ASYLUM FOR THE BLIND, HUNTLY STREET.

ESTABLISHED 1843.

Blind Boys and Girls from 8 to 16, in indigent circumstances, born or resident for three years in any of the Counties of Aberdeen, Banff, or Kincardine, and whose character, health, &c., are satisfactory to the Managers, are admissible to the benefits of the Asylum on payment of an annual sum of £10. The inmates receive board, washing, lodgings, but not clothing. Besides religious and ordinary elementary education, the inmates are taught such branches of industry as are suited to their capacity. The Boys remain 3 years, the Girls 4, or such longer period as Managers may arrange, but they may afterwards be employed in the Industrial Department, and earn respectable wages. The adult blind of the city may also receive employment in the Asylum.

MANAGERS FOR LIFE—Alexander C. Pirie; Frederic Holland, manufacturer; William Yeats of Auquharney; Gavin T. Todd, manufacturer; Sheriff John Dove Wilson; James Corbet, late H.E.I.C.S.; Wm. Henderson, Devanha House; Major Ross; Thomas Ferguson; Henry Alexander; Colonel Allardyce.

1st. Children under 14 years of age found begging or receiving alms, whether actually, or under the pretence of selling or offering for sale anything ; or being in any street or public place for the purpose of so begging or receiving alms, or found wandering and not having any home or settled place of abode, or proper guardianship, or visible means of subsistence ; or found destitute, either being an orphan, or having a surviving parent undergoing penal servitude or imprisonment ; or who frequent the company of reputed thieves, or whose mothers may have been twice convicted of crime, or who may be found to be lodging, living, or residing with common or reputed prostitutes for the purpose of prostitution, or frequenting the company of prostitutes, may be brought by any person before a magistrate, and sent to a Certified Industrial School, to be detained until 16 years of age.

2nd. When the parent or step-parent, or guardian of a child apparently under 14 years of age, represents to a Magistrate that he or she is unable to control the child, and desires the child to be sent to an Industrial School under the Industrial Schools Act, the Magistrate may issue an order to that effect, if he deem it expedient.

3rd. A number of children, whose parents are unable to maintain and educate them, are admitted to a day-board, education, and industrial training, by the Admission Committee.

HOUSE OF INDUSTRY AND REFUGE.

(Details on Page 109).

DR. JOHN BROWN'S SCHOOL, SKENE SQUARE,

Founded in 1860 under Deed of Settlement of the late John Brown, M.D., Physician in Aberdeen. The School was erected and endowed for the Instruction of the Children of Indigent Persons only, residing in the vicinity of Skene Square, in reading, writing, arithmetic, and the principles of the Christian religion. In 1878, the Trustees, acting on the opinion of Mr. Asher (late Solicitor-General) resolved to transfer the school buildings and ground to the Aberdeen School Board, under an arrangement inter alia :—"That all children, who may be from time to time nominated by the Trustees as children entitled under Dr. Brown's Trust Disposition and Settlement, shall receive such instruction at the school so long as the fees usually exacted from other children attending the school for such instruction are paid to the School Board." Those nominated by the Trustees to have a preference in the event of applications for admission to the school being in excess of the number for which there is accommodation.

Capital invested in heritable security, £3,203 4s. 8d.

Trustees, ex officiis—The Professor of Divinity of the University; the Ministers of East, West, and Gilcomston Parishes; the Professor of Mathematics of the University; and the Rector of the Grammar School, all of Aberdeen; also, Francis Edmond, LL.D., and Wm. Fraser, surgeon.

MISS CHALMERS' SCHOOL, WESTFIELD,

Founded in 1870, by deed of settlement of the late Miss Chalmers of Westfield, to provide, at a moderate rate, a first-class elementary education for poor girls in the Gilcomston district of Aberdeen under 14 years of age. Fees 2d and 3d per week.

Teacher, Miss Copland; Sec. to Trustees, Mr J. M. Garden, advocate.

ROSS' SCHOOL, HOLBURN STREET (ENDOWED),

Was instituted in 1864 by Deed of Settlement of the late James Ross, junior, Esq. of Cuparstone Cottage, Aberdeen. The average income from Endowment is about £160. Its object is to afford a plain and useful education to the children of industrious parents in the Holburn district of Aberdeen. The fees are 2d and 3d per week.

Trustees—The Lord Provost, the Senior Baillie, and the Dean of Guild of Aberdeen, the First Minister of the Parish of Old Machar, the Minister of the Established West Church of Aberdeen, and their successors in office; Alexander Simpson, advocate; George Jamieson of Rosebank; and J. B. M'Combie, advocate.

Secretaries—Messrs Chalmers, advocates.

Teachers—Boys' School, Mr Jas. Rennie; Girls' School, Miss Robertson.

JAMES THAIN'S TRUST, INSTITUTED 1788,

Provides for the instruction, free, in reading, writing, and arithmetic, book-keeping, and the principles of religion, at any of the Board, or other Schools of recognised efficiency, of the children of indigent parents, residing within the municipal boundary of the City of Aberdeen, who are not in receipt of Parochial relief.

Capital about £3,000, from the revenues of which the school fees are paid.

The average number of children on the roll during 1885 was 142.

The Trustees are nine ministers of St Nicholas Parish and nine elders elected by the General Kirk-Session of St. Nicholas.

Agents for the Trustees, Simpson & Cruden, 13 Bridge Street.

JAMES LESLIE'S MORTIFICATION (1825),

Provides for the maintenance, clothing, and instruction of the daughters of indigent persons in Aberdeen, a preference being given to the daughters of decayed Burgesses of Guild. Assistance from this Mortification is given in the form of Bursaries of £6 each per annum, tenable for 4 years. Applicants must not be under 8 years of age, and the Bursaries cease on the recipient attaining the age of 14. There are at present three recipients from the Mortification, and the last election took place in May, 1882.

Trustees—The Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Town Council.

Treasurer—Mr P. M. Cran, City Chamberlain.

ALEXANDER MACRA'S MORTIFICATION

Instituted in 1763 by Deed of Mortification of Alexander Macra, sometime ironmonger in Bristol. The capital consists of a principal sum of £1666 13s. 4d., the interest of which is applied, after paying expenses, (first) in providing an annuity of £5 11s. 1d. stg. to the heir (male lineally descended of the donor's great grandfather, Alexander Macra of Inverinet; and (second) in the clothing, maintenance, and education of indigent boys of the surname of Macra.

There are at present two boys receiving the benefit of the Fund under the second of the above described classes.

Factor—Mr John Thomson, advocate, 2 Union Terrace.

MILNE BEQUEST.

Founded by Dr John Milne of Bombay, by his Deeds of Settlement, dated in June, 1841, for the payment annually of £20 each, to Parochial Teachers in Aberdeenshire, for which they are each required to teach 25 poor scholars gratis.

TRUSTEES.

The Provost, Eldest Baillie, and Dean of Guild of Aberdeen; The Members of Parliament for the City and County; Principal of the University of Aberdeen; Moderators of the Synod and Presbytery of Aberdeen; President and Treasurer of Society of Advocates in Aberdeen; The two Eldest Ministers of the Town of Aberdeen; The Ministers of the Parishes of Skene and Nether Banchory Factor and Secretary, William Paul, Advocate in Aberdeen.

SCHOOL FEES FOR POOR CHILDREN.

The Town Council, under the "Aberdeen (Endowed Institutions) Provisional Order, 1881," have arranged that £30 of the annual surpluses of the Scholarship Fund will be available for payment of the fees of poor children at any of the Public Elementary Schools, not being in receipt of Parochial relief.

Forms of application may be obtained from the City Chamberlain.

DUFF'S MORTIFICATION.

Founded by Mrs Helen Duff of Bracco for maintenance and education—preference being given to the daughters of indigent Burgesses of Guild.

The stock amounts to £303, and the annual free revenue to about £10. Under the "Aberdeen (Endowed Institutions) Provisional Order, 1881," the Town Council have instituted two bursaries of £5, tenable for four years; the presentees to be under 10 years of age when presented to the bursaries. Treasurer--P. M. Cran, City Chamberlain.

SAMUEL M'KNIGHT'S MORTIFICATION (1843-4),

Instituted by Samuel M'Knight of New Orleans for the purchase and distribution of elementary books of instruction for the children of the poor of the town of Aberdeen.

The stock now amounts to £950, and the free revenue to £32 yearly.

Treasurer—P. M. Cran, City Chamberlain.

THE WATT BEQUEST (1881),

Established by the late John Watt, Sen., advocate in Aberdeen, "to provide in the form of Bursaries the fees of children of both sexes attending Public Schools in Aberdeen, not under 9 years of age, whose parents are working people, of temperate habits, members of churches of any denomination or attenders thereat, and living in orderly and cleanly houses; and to enable such parents to keep their children (if of good parts) longer at school than they otherwise would." The Bequest is to be administered by the Aberdeen School Board, who propose to institute the following Bursaries to be called the "Watt Bursaries," viz. :—In Standard III., 20s. per annum; Standard IV., 25s.; Standard V., 30s., all tenable for one year; Standard VI., 50s. tenable for two years at the discretion of the Board, and in the event of any boy holding a 50s. bursary also securing an Elementary School Scholarship of £8 for 4 years with admission to Grammar School at half fees, he will be entitled to a "Watt Bursary" of £5 per annum during his Grammar School course.

Girls, holding bursaries, who show capacity for higher education, and are prepared to enter on it, will be entitled to a prolongation of their bursaries for such length of time, and at such higher rates as the Board may deem advisable.

 The Bequest is subject meantime to a life-rent.

ANDERSON LIBRARY, WOODSIDE (1881),

Instituted in Woodside by the gift of Sir John Anderson to his native place on the occasion of the commencement of the second century of its history, and as a lasting token of his affection for the place of his birth.

HOSPITAL FOR RELIEF OF PERSONS LABOURING UNDER INCURABLE DISEASE, MORNINGFIELD.

Established in 1857 to provide moderate comforts and attendance for persons belonging to the Town and County of Aberdeen, labouring under incurable disease, and incapable of earning a livelihood, with the view of preventing such persons from becoming a burden on their friends, or being obliged to claim or receive Parochial aid.

Patients are elected by the votes of Donors and Subscribers, who are entitled to votes according to a fixed scale, viz.:—

Donors of	£5 5s.,	in one sum,	are entitled to	One vote for life.
,,	£10 10s.,	,,	,,	Two ,,
,,	£31 10s.,	,,	,,	Three ,,
,,	£52 10s., or upwards,		,,	Four ,,

Annual Subscribers of £1 1s. are entitled to one vote during the continuance of their subscriptions; of £3 3s., to two votes; and of £5 5s. and upwards, to three votes.

One vote may also be given by the Lord Provost and each of the Magistrates of Aberdeen; each of the Trustees of John Gordon's Charitable Fund; an Executor paying a legacy of £100 and upwards; the Executor or Executors (not exceeding two) of every individual who shall give or bequeath estates or property, yielding a free annual revenue of £25 and upwards; and the minister of every church collecting annually £5 5s. or upwards to the funds of the Hospital.

A Donation of £500 to the Institution entitles the donor—during his life, and any party or body he selects, by any writing under his hand, to take effect after his death—to nominate one patient, and on the death or removal of such patient, to nominate another, and so on in perpetuity.

The Institution has accommodation for fifty-five patients, but in the meantime no more than forty-five can be received.

The total ordinary expenditure for 1884 amounted to £870, of which £38 was met by the revenue from invested funds, and the balance by subscriptions donations, legacies, &c.

OLD ABERDEEN DISPENSARY ASSOCIATION,

Supplies Medical Attendance and Medicines to Poor Persons, not in receipt of Parochial relief, residing in Old Aberdeen and Spital district. The Charity is supported by public subscriptions, with a donation from time to time from the Trustees of John Gordon's Charitable Fund. Recipients require a line of recommendation to the Medical Attendant from a member of Committee of Subscribers. The Committee is appointed annually in January, and includes the Provost, Senior Baillie, Professor of Theology, the Ministers, the Convener of the Trades, and Five elected members.

Medical Officer, Dr Polson; Apothecary, Robert Ross, Druggist, 43 High Street, Old Aberdeen.

PAUPER LUNATIC FUND,

Was instituted in 1820 to assist in providing for the maintenance in the Lunatic Asylum of persons who have been deprived of their reason, and whose relatives are unable wholly to provide for their maintenance.

The Revenues of the Fund are now derived from Bequests and Donations, with the interest of about £4,000 of accumulated Stock, and a contribution of about £50, being interest of two legacies held in trust by the Managers of the Royal Infirmary.

Persons entitled to assistance from this Charity, must have resided, at least for three years previous to date of application, within the parish of St. Nicholas, not having come into the parish in a state of lunacy, and those in receipt of relief from the parish are not eligible.

The present Managers of the Fund are: (1.) The minister and an elder, or manager, of each congregation in town which collected annually for its support up to 1837; (2.) The Trustees of the late Robert Burnett, Esq. of Dens; (3.) Francis Edmond, LL.D., as Trustee of the late Mr Symmers of Cults.

Number of patients on the Fund in 1884 was 12. Expenditure, £250 to £300. Chairman, Dr. Webster, M.P.; Treasurer, Ex-Dean of Guild Walker Clerk, James Allan, 52 Union Street.

CARGIL BEDLAM FUND (1718).

This Fund was instituted by resolution of the Town Council of date the 16th April, 1718, to hand over to the Master of Mortifications the proceeds of sale of the Leper's Croft (870 pounds Scots, £72 10s stg.), to establish a fund for "the maintenance of persons deprived of the use of their reason within the burgh of Aberdeen."

Various bequests and donations were added subsequently, and in 1798 a bequest, amounting to £1068, was left by Baillie Daniel Cargil for the same purpose.

By an arrangement made between the Magistrates, the trustees of Baillie Cargil, and the Managers of the Infirmary, the latter body agreed, in consideration of the payment of £30 per annum and the residue of Cargil's estate (£1068), to maintain ten persons disordered in their reason, and who are in indigent circumstances, and without the means of proper care and protection, free in the asylum, five of whom are to be admitted on the recommendation of the Magistrates.

In addition, the Magistrates, out of the remaining balance of revenue of mortifications for the benefit of the insane, pay allowances of from £4 to £8 to eleven annuitants, three of whom are in the asylum, and the remaining eight are persons of weak intellect more or less.

Treasurer, P. M. Cran, City Chamberlain.

SICK MAN'S FRIEND SOCIETY

Was established in 1792 to give assistance to any poor person within St Nicholas parish (not in receipt of parochial relief) during sickness, to the amount of One Shilling Weekly. The Treasurer pays the money on the presentation of one of the Society's Lines, signed by a Visitor of the Society, and countersigned by a Medical man, and also of lines signed by the Secretary of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor. The average Annual Income is £90.

President and Honorary Treasurer, Mr Alex. Walker; Honorary Secretary, Mr Robert Gerrard; Clerk, James Allan, 52 Union Street; Officer, William Adam.

WEST ABERDEEN SICK MAN'S FRIEND SOCIETY,

ESTABLISHED 1814,

Has for its object the assistance of poor working men and women (not in receipt of Parochial relief) who by sickness are rendered unable to follow their usual occupations, or who have been temporarily incapacitated for work by accidents. A weekly allowance (continued for 13 weeks if necessary) of 3s is given on the recommendation of the visitor. The area of this Society's operations is that portion of Old Machar Parish southward of Hutcheon Street west, and road in continuation thereof. Supported by the subscriptions of the members, and donations. In the year ending Oct., 1884, relief was given to the extent of 606 weekly payments, and the total sum expended was £90 18s.

Honorary Directors—All Clergymen, residing within the southern division of the parish of Old Machar, being regular Subscribers.

Ordinary Directors, who are also the visitors—George Walker, 43 Skene Square; James Taggart, 18 Holburn Road; Gavin Coutts, Queen's Road; Geo. Nicol, 24 Loanhead Terrace; W. W. Milne, 39 Victoria Street; Wm. Smart, 131 Union Street; Wm. Keith, sen., 24 Summer Street; Marcus Tulloch, Newbridge House; Geo. Merchant, 26 Belmont Street; Jas. Walker, 41 College Street; Charles Smith, 195 Union Street; Alex. Strachan, 38 Ro emount Place.

Office-Bearers—William Rose of Hazlehead, President; G. Carmichael, 226 Union Street, Treasurer; Marcus Tulloch, Secretary.

THE SICK LABOURERS' FUND.—ESTABLISHED IN 1805,

Has for its object the temporary relief of indigent labourers, male and female, resident in that part of the parish of Oldmachar northward, bounded by the parish of St Nicholas to the railway, and then along the line of railway to Woodside quoad sacra parish, and embracing said parish, and the part of the parish north of the Don. The conditions are that they are rendered incapable, by temporary sickness, of supporting themselves and families, are not in receipt of parochial or other moderate aid, and are likely again to be self-supporting. Applicants require to have resided at least two years within the northern division of Oldmachar parish. Parties residing for a shorter period within the district are also relieved under certain conditions. The Treasurer is authorised to grant relief, on the recommendation of any member of the Acting Committee, and in amount proportionate to the number of dependants in the family. The fund now amounts to a capital of £1900, invested in the name of the Provost and Treasurer. The Managers meet annually, and elect an Acting Committee, which meet quarterly.

Clerk, Rev. G. Jamieson; Treasurer, Geo. Thomson, Powis Lodge.

REID'S ACCIDENT FUND,

Instituted in 1871 by the deed of settlement of the late Mr. Alexander Reid, Cartwright in Aberdeen, for the purpose of giving relief to such deserving persons of the labouring class, not in receipt of parochial aid, as shall be temporarily injured either in their person or effects by accident when not otherwise compensated.

The surviving executors are Dr Jackson, Mr. Alex. Robertson, plumber, and Mr Robert M'Kinlay, grocer, who are authorized at any time to hand over the administration of the Fund to the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor in Aberdeen; and, on their number being reduced to one, it is required by the deed of settlement that such surviving executor shall hand over the future administration of the Fund to that Association.

Applications are received by the Executors, the Secretary for the Association for the Poor, or Messrs Watt & Cumine, agents under Mr Reid's deed of mortification.

The amount of the Fund, which is invested, is £310 19s. 10d.

THE LADIES' FUND SOCIETY.—ESTABLISHED IN 1818,

Has for its object the Relief of Indigent Tradesmen's Wives and other respectable married Women during the period of their confinement. It is almost entirely supported by private subscriptions. Medical Attendant, Dr. Garden, Golden Square; Secretaries, Mrs Simpson, 11 Westfield Terrace, and Mrs Robertson, 158 Union Street; Treasurer, Mrs Charles Davidson, Forresterhill.

Annual Income, £31. Number of cases relieved during the year was 83.

The following ladies have each a box of clothing belonging to the Fund, viz.:—Mrs Simpson, 11 Westfield Terrace; Mrs Robertson, 158 Union Street; Mrs Miller, 9 Rubislaw Terrace; Mrs Spence, Castle Hill; Mrs Garden of Woodthorpe; Mrs Milne, 14 Albert Street; and Mrs Aiken, 27 Union Place.

SAMARITAN FUND,

Instituted in 1864, when the Trustees of John Gordon's Charitable Fund voted £50 to the Infirmary "for a Samaritan Fund in respect of the great prevalence of Fever and Small Pox." Farther donations from the same source, and sums occasionally received from other benevolent sources have given the Fund a permanent position in connection with the Hospital. The money is applied through the Lady Superintendent, and is given to poor patients — principally to females — on leaving the Infirmary, to enable them to obtain necessary articles of clothing, provisions, &c.; payment of railway fare being occasionally made when the invalid's home is at a distance.

From £15 to £20 per annum is expended in connection with the Fund.

THE LADIES' SANITARY ASSOCIATION

Was formed in 1859. It acts through the agency of Bible-women, and gives its aid to the aged and infirm poor, in having their houses and bedclothes cleaned. It provides flannel linders in cases of fever, and distributes soap and similar necessaries. It has also a Rent Supplementing Fund, applicable to peculiar cases. The Association is supported mainly by voluntary subscriptions. A sub-committee of the ladies meets every Monday for the purpose of receiving and deciding upon applications for assistance. Annual expenditure, about £170.

Mrs Parr, 12 Carden Place, Treasurer. Miss Melville, 75 Bon-Accord Street, Secretary.

FLOWER MISSION,

Instituted in 1874, under the patronage of the Countess of Aberdeen, is conducted by a number of ladies who visit the sick in the Hospitals and their homes, and distribute on these occasions the flowers which are sent for the purpose every Tuesday to the offices of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor. The Mission has also established a library for the use of the patients in the Infirmary, and the books are circulated by the ladies on the occasion of their weekly visits.

Contributions of Flowers are received up to 1 p.m. on Tuesdays by Mr George Milne, Secretary, Association for the Poor. Miss Simpson, Gordondale Road, Secretary to the Committee.

CONVALESCENT HOSPITAL, LOCHHEAD HOUSE,

Instituted in 1873 for patients able to leave the Infirmary, who are recommended as convalescents by the medical and surgical staff. Persons are also admitted from their own homes on the recommendation of a medical practitioner in Aberdeen.

The Hospital is under the same management as the Royal Infirmary, and is supported by voluntary contributions.

There is accommodation for 23 patients (12 males and 11 females), and four or five beds are now set apart for patients labouring under diseases of the chest.

196 males and 109 females—total, 305—received the benefit of residence in the Hospital for a period of two weeks or more during 1884.

Expenditure for 1884 was £411.

Superintendent—R. Mennie; Matron—Mrs. Mennie.

COTTAGE HOME FOR CONVALESCENTS AT NEWHILLS,

Was established in 1875 by Mrs. Smith, Manse, Newhills, for the reception of poor persons in weak health or recovering from sickness of a non-infectious character, who are likely to be benefited by change of air and home comforts. Admission is obtained on the recommendation of some person of known respectability, accompanied by a medical certificate.

Patients have the benefit of a fortnight's residence there, which is extended in suitable cases.

A new Cottage was opened in July, 1882, with accommodation for from 12 to 15 patients, and 74 persons have been admitted in course of last season. The Cottage is open from the beginning of May until late in Nov.

The Institution is wholly supported by voluntary contributions.

Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs Smith, Manse, Newhills.

ST. MARGARET'S CONVALESCENT HOME, BAYVIEW, SPITAL,

Was Instituted in 1870 by the Sisterhood of St. Margaret of Scotland, and in connection with the congregation of St. Margaret's Episcopal Church in Aberdeen, for the reception of persons of all ages, during a period of enfeebled health or of convalescence from illness.

Patients are admitted from any part of Scotland at certain fixed rates, or on the recommendation of subscribers of £1 1s. and upwards. In necessitous and deserving cases free admission may be obtained.

There is accommodation for six patients.

Applications should be made at the Home, Bayview.

Trustees—The Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Aberdeen, the Chaplain of the Sisterhood, and Two of the Sisters. Chaplain—Rev. J. Comper; Treasurer—Norval Clyne, Esq.

EIDDA CONVALESCENT COTTAGE AT CULTER.

Established in 1880 by Miss Lumsden, of Camphill, at whose expense it is maintained.

The Institution is for the reception of children and young persons who are recovering from sickness. There is accommodation for six patients, and five of the six beds are placed at the disposal of the Directors of the Aberdeen Hospital for sick children for the benefit of patients from that Institution. 19 children were admitted during the summer of 1885.

Open from May to October, when one of the trained nurses of the Children's Hospital is in attendance on the patients.

VI.—GENERAL CHARITIES FOR RELIEF OF THE POOR.

ASSOCIATION FOR IMPROVING THE CONDITION OF THE POOR,

M'COMBIE'S COURT.

Patroness, Her Majesty the Queen. Formed in March, 1870, to ascertain, by means of house to house visitation, the wants and condition of the poorer classes; to assist, by counsel and material help where necessary, the struggling and deserving; to prevent pauperism and put down imposture; also to consolidate existing charities, and prevent superfluous organisation and overlapping.

The Conditions of Membership are a donation of £3 or an annual subscription of Five Shillings, and the Association is supported entirely by voluntary contributions.

The relief is granted in the form of annuities, of which there are being paid at present 20, each of the value of £12, and tenable during the remainder of the annuitant's life.

Trustees—The Lord Provost and Magistrates.

Treasurer—Mr P. M. Cran, City Chamberlain.

BISHOP'S HOSPITAL (1531),

Founded by Bishop Dunbar, "For the maintenance of twelve poor men, where they may say prayers and count their beads without molestation." For many years past in lieu of residence in the Hospital, a money payment (at present 12s. monthly) is given to each of the Beadsmen, who are now 18 in number, in consequence of additional funds having been acquired by the Hospital.

From the foundation of the Hospital to the Reformation, the Hospital was governed by a Director named by the Bishop, under the superintendence of the Dean and Chapter; from the Reformation to the Revolution, by a Director or Master named by the Bishop while Episcopacy was established, or by the Kirk-Session of Old Machar. At the Revolution, the new Sovereigns, William and Mary, exercised the right of nomination to the office of Master, and in some respects altered the management of the Hospital, nominating the Principal and Sub-Principal of the University, and the Minister of the First Charge of Old Machar as overseers of the Hospital and Auditors of the Master's Accounts. Since the union of Marischal and King's Colleges the management has been vested in the Principal of the University and the Senior Minister of Old Machar Factor —Thomas Youngson, Advocate.

MILNE FUND (1880),

Instituted by the Deed of Settlement of the late Rev. David Milne of Gilcomston Parish Church. The revenues of the Trust, amounting to about £250, are distributed, on Christmas Day, in sums of £1 and upwards amongst the deserving poor of Gilcomston Parish not in receipt of Parochial relief, with a preference to those parishioners who are members of Gilcomston Parish Church.

Trustees for Distribution—Rev. Wm. Brebner, M.A.; Mr. John Cook, Union Bank. Treasurer—Mr. J. Davidson, Union Bank.

CALDER FUND.

Instituted in 1803 for the benefit of the labouring poor of the parish of Old Machar who have spent the best of their days in the service of the citizens, and are entitled to look to them for protection and support when overtaken by poverty and old age.

The fund amounts to £1000, and was originated by Mr James Calder, wine merchant in Aberdeen, giving a donation of £500 for the purpose, and by a bequest of £500 from his son, Alexander Calder, of 22 Woburn Place, London, in terms of deed of settlement, dated 20th September, 1862.

A wish was expressed by the original founder of the fund that, in the annual distribution, not less than 20s shall be given to any individual, and, where there is a family of young children, not less than 40s.

The number of persons who receive benefit from the fund at present is 20, one half being selected from those belonging to the north district, and one half to the south district of the parish—the recipients not being on the poor's roll.

Trustees and Managers—The two Ministers and the Kirk-Session of Old Machar.

JOHN HARROW'S MORTIFICATION.

Instituted in 1793 by John Harrow, wigmaker in Aberdeen, who bequeathed his whole heritable and movable estate "to be distributed annually at Christmas, at the sight and under the directions of his Trustees, among indigent poor of the parish of Old Machar, who have resided within the same for at least four years, supporting honest characters, attested by certificates under the hand of two persons of character, elders of said parish or chapel of ease, and that equally and proportionally without preferring one suppliant to another." The sum of £200 was divided equally at Christmas of 1883 among 200 recipients, one half being in the north district, and the other half in the south district of the parish.

Trustees—The Minister of the First Charge of Old Machar and the Minister of Gilcomston Parish Church. Factor to the Trustees—Thomas Youngson, Advocate.

RUSSEL TRUST,

Founded in 1867 by Misses Elizabeth and Grace Russel, daughters of the late Thomas Russel of Rathen, for the Saving of Life from Shipwreck on the Coasts of Aberdeen and Banffshires, for the Relief of Sufferers by these Wrecks, and by all Casualties by Sea to the Fishermen on these Coasts; and for other Benevolent Purposes in the towns of Aberdeen and Banff.

Annual income of Trust about £280.

Trustees—Andrew Murray of Allathan; James Rose of Hazlehead; John Duguid Milne of Melgum; William Yeats of Auquharney; Andrew Murray, Junior.

Factor—Andrew Murray, Junior, 214 Union Street.

HARVEY'S TRUST

Was constituted by W. Harvey, Esquire of Beedlieston, under Deed of Mortification dated 1844. Average annual income about £250, one-third of which is to be applied towards the support and education of poor deaf and dumb persons, and two-thirds for the protection and reformation of females of dissolute habits. As to recipients, natives of the city and county of Aberdeen are to be preferred, but the Trustees can exercise their judgment as to cases from whatever quarter. Trustees—Lord Provost, four Baillies, Professors of Systematic Theology and Church History in Aberdeen University, the Parish Ministers within St. Nicholas, and three Clergymen of other Christian denominations. Clerks and Factors—Messrs. Milne & Walker, 16 Union Terrace.

DONALDSON'S TRUST.

Instituted by Deed of Settlement of the late Mr Robert Donaldson of Rosebank. Its objects are:—

First—"To encourage women from the town and country to come forward and qualify themselves for becoming Sick Nurses." For this purpose the Trustees in 1875 entered into an arrangement with the Managers of the Royal Infirmary "to apply certain funds towards the expenses incurred by such parties in learning these duties." Applicants, who must be Protestants, are required to serve in the Royal Infirmary for at least twelve months, and are supplied with an Hospital Dress on entering upon duty, and with lodging, or money to pay for the same if living outside the the Hospital. When found entitled certificates of efficieney will be granted, and on obtaining these a money payment will also be made to them—the whole amount, including dress, lodging, and gratuity, not to exceed £15 to each person.

Forms of application may be obtained from William Carnie, clerk and treasurer of Royal Infirmary, 27 Exchange Street.

Second—Arrangements have also been made by the Trustees for encouraging proficiency in Religious Knowledge amongst Pupil Teachers and Scholars in the Public Schools, to whom, following on an annual competitive examination, prizes are awarded.

Factor for the Trustees—John Crombie, C.A., 74 Union Street, Aberdeen.

THE BURNETT FUND (1783)

Was instituted by the late John Burnett, merchant in Aberdeen, who, by his deed of settlement destined the annual rents of his Estate of Kinaldie, in the parish of Old Deer, for certain charitable and literary purposes. The income of the Fund (about £800) is applied in equal proportions to the following objects, viz.:—

1. For relief of the sick poor, which is handed over to the Managers of the General Dispensary, who, in consideration thereof, undertake to give medical attendance and medicines to the sick poor in Aberdeen, and suburbs thereof, who are not proper objects for admission to the Royal Infirmary, and who are not paupers.
2. For the benefit of persons deprived of reason.
3. To provide for a lectureship in connection with the Aberdeen University on the "Existence of a Supreme Creator."

Out of the proportion allocated to the lectureship, a sum of not less than £20, and not exceeding £50, is payable for behoof of persons in the County and Synod of Aberdeen who are bed-ridden and incurable.

Trustees—John Webster, LL.D., M.P., Sir John Clark of Tillypronie, and Alexander Bain, LL.D.

Treasurer and Clerk, Wm. Carnie, treasurer, Royal Infirmary.

JOHN DAVIDSON'S MORTIFICATION (1805),

Provides gratis instruction to Children of poor Whitefishers and Seafaring People in Footdee, and maintenance of infant children or Widows of Whitefishers or Pilots in Footdee, who may have perished at sea.

Trustees:—The Lord Provost of Aberdeen, the Master of Mortifications, the youngest Minister of Aberdeen, and the Minister of Footdee.

Treasurer—P. M. Cran, City Chamberlain.

VII.—GUILDS, TRADE INCORPORATIONS, BURIAL, BENEFIT, AND DEPOSIT SOCIETIES.

ABERDEEN GUILDRY AND INCORPORATED TRADES.

These two bodies, one a genuine Merchant Guild of the 13th century, the other a Confederation of Craft Guilds of the 16th, by their old historic connection with the city, and by the amount they annually distribute, take the first place among the benevolent and charitable institutions of Aberdeen. Any commercial privileges which were of old enjoyed by either have long since ceased, but the Mutual Benefit Society advantages of both remain intact, and it is with these that we have here to do. In grants to aged members, their widows, and daughters, these two institutions pay over £10,000 a-year, and this large sum would have been more than doubled if the Guild Brethren had been as chary of their confidence as the Craftsmen were. The accumulated Funds of the Guildry were lent to the city from the very earliest times. They had grown by slow degrees, were mixed inextricably with the funds proper belonging to the Corporation, and were managed by the Guildry as Town Councillors up to the passing of the first Reform Bill. These funds a century ago yielded an annual revenue of about £800 on a capital stock of £25,000. The funds are now valued at £48,000, yielding over £1800 a-year, being rather more than 3½ per cent. on the accumulated capital of the Guild, still, as of old, in the hands of the Town Council. The Charter of Incorporation gave to the Trades the power to hold, invest, and manage their funds. These, which were at one time, less in amount than those of the Guildry, are now worth fully £180,000, and yield rather more than £8000 a year.

Entrance to the Guildry, is by formal petition, signed by two Brethren, to the Dean of Guild and Assessors. These have the right to reuse or accept applicants. The present entry money is for Sons, £16 6s. 7d.

Extraneans, £26 6s. 7d. To the Seven Incorporated Trades, Craftsmen only are admitted. The rate is different in the different Trades, Sons, Sons-in-law, and Apprentices have one scale of payment, Extraneans another. The Deacon or Boxmaster of any individual trade will give all information connected with their craft, and the Town Clerk will give full particulars about the Guildry.

THE GUILDS AND THE CONVENER COURT OF OLD ABERDEEN.

In Old Aberdeen, with but little alteration, the entry, management, and distribution of the revenues of the Merchant Guild, the Trades, and the Convener Court continue as they were 250 years ago. Their accumulated capital is not large. Their revenues are wholly devoted to the aid of Members, Widows, or Orphan Daughters. The Entrance to Membership of Sons, Sons-in-law, and Apprentices is made light, but the numbers entering are few. The Town Council grant a sum to the Merchant Guild, and the office-bearers in the Crafts grant entry to the various Trade's Guilds. The revenue of the accumulated capital of the Convener Court is divided among the annuitants of the various Crafts, who had become members of the Convener Court. These allowances are all regulated by the number of yearly payments made, and no member or members' dependants has a right to claim who has not made, prior to claiming, at least ten separate yearly payments.

The following are the office-bearers:—

Patron, Rev. George Jamieson, B.D.

Convener, Alex. Walker.—Master of Hospital, George M. Clark.

THE MERCHANT SOCIETY OF OLD ABERDEEN,

Instituted in the year 1686 by the Merchant Burgesses of Old Aberdeen, for the purpose of helping in indigence Members, Widows, and Orphans. Only those who, by payment of the entry money, were already members of the Merchant Guild, could become members of this Society, and, into its fund, they have to make, at least, ten yearly payments before their right to aid for Self, Widow, or Orphan is admitted.

President, ——; George Stables, jun., Vice-President; Geo. M. Clark, Treasurer; Dr. Grub, Clerk.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY

Was originated in 1788, chiefly for the purpose of social intercourse, with a charge for membership of half-a-crown. In 1797 its object was turned to a more practical purpose, with a materially increased charge upon new entrants, and the revenue from funds thus derived fell to be annually divided amongst decayed members, and Widows, or Children of Members. From this fresh start when the entry money was £2 2s., and 4s. of annual payment, the charge for admission into membership of the Society has gradually increased till entrants have now to pay £15 if unmarried, and £50 if married. The revenue from accumulated funds continues to be divided, according to original arrangement, into sums of about £20 per annum, but varying with the number of beneficiaries.

The affairs of the Society are under the management of 15 members periodically elected. Office-bearers—President, James Murray Garden, advocate; Vice-President, William Milne, advocate; Treasurer, J. D. Matthews; Secretary, James Tytler, C.A. Factor, James Duguid, advocate, Aberdeen.

ABERDEEN SHIPMASTER SOCIETY,

Incorporated by Royal Charter of very old date, and is composed of shipmasters connected with the port, who pay the stipulated fees, and otherwise conform to the rules.

Members of the society receive pensions on attaining a certain age, and assistance is also in certain circumstances afforded to the widows and children of members.

President, Captain James Duthie; Vice-President, Captain A. H. Taylor; Treasurer, Captain James Archibald; Clerk, Alexander Cochran, advocate.

FREEMASONS.

ABERDEEN CITY PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE

Is the directing authority in Aberdeen over the Mason Lodges in the district.

Provincial Grand Master—Dr. R. Beveridge.

Provincial Grand Treasurer and Clerk—A. I. M'Connochie, C.A., 74 Union Street.

In connection with the order there is a Benevolent Fund for the assistance of Freemasons and their widows and children when in necessitous circumstances. Assistance is also given by the subordinate Lodges to their own members only, their widows and children.

ODDFELLOWS SOCIETIES.

About the middle of last century Oddfellows' Lodges existed in various places, but they seem to have been little more than clubs instituted for social and convivial purposes, adopting a similar system with Free Masonry, of initiatory rites, phraseology, and organisation, and only occasionally extending charitable assistance to members.

At Manchester, in 1812, the Order was placed on its present basis; the main purpose of Oddfellowship being, as declared by its laws:—"To render assistance to every brother who may apply through sickness, distress, or otherwise, if he be well attached to the Queen, and Government, and faithful to the Order."

Oddfellowship still retains some of the characteristics of Free Masonry in possessing pass-words and peculiar "grips." The Order is now one of the most extensive self-governed provident associations in the world. A few years ago the annual income was about £350,000, and its expenditure, £300,000. Many of the Lodges are enrolled under the Friendly Societies' Act, but each Lodge is left free to enrol or not as they think fit.

ANCIENT AND NOBLE ORDER OF ODDFELLOWS.

(BOLTON UNITY, 1832.)

Members are admitted between the ages of 18 and 40 on payment nitiation fees, which vary from 7s 6d to 20s according to age, and a weekly payment of 5d afterwards, which entitle the member to receive medical advice and sick benefit during illness at the following rates, viz.:—For first 26 weeks, 10s weekly; second period of 26 weeks at 7s 6d weekly; and during the continuance of illness thereafter at 5s weekly. For additional payment of 2s 6d yearly, medical attendance is secured for wife and family of the member.

Funeral benefit is granted to members of this Order, as follows:

On death of member.	On death of member's wife.		On death of member's children.
	First wife.	Second wife.	Between the ages of 5 and 14 years.	Under 5 years of age.

NATIONAL INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODDFELLOWS (1845).

Members are admitted between the ages of 18 and 40 on payment of initiation fees and of 4d weekly thereafter. This entitles to benefit during sickness at the rate of 10s per week for a limited period, 7s 6d weekly for a further period, and 5s weeky thereafter while the illness continues. An additional payment of 2s 6d yearly secures medical attendance to the wife and family of the member.

Funeral benefit is also granted in the event of the death of a member to the amount of £7, and of his wife of £5.

ANCIENT ORDER OF FREE GARDENERS.

"Moved by a spirit of benevolence, a few Practical Gardeners formed themselves into a Society at Haddington, called 'The Ancient Free Gardeners,' previous to the year, A.D. 1676, at which period there were 65 practical members." The object of the order is "to provide while in health for sickness, infirmity, and old age, to assist each other in distress, and to make provision for the decent interment of the brethren and their wives." Members are admitted between the ages of 18 and 40, and the terms of admission and benefits are similar to those of the Odd Fellow Lodges.

FRIENDLY SOCIETIES (REGISTERED).

In 1793 Friendly Societies were made an object of statutory protection and regulation, and in 1855 all legislation regarding them was consolidated, and has since been amended several times. Under the provisions of the Act any number of persons may establish a Friendly Society, by subscriptions or donations, for the following objects:—"(1) For insuring a sum of money to be paid on the birth of a member's child, or on the death of a member, or for the funeral expenses of the wife or child of a member; (2) For the relief or maintenance of the members, their husbands, wives, children, brothers or sisters, nephews or nieces, in old age, sickness, or widowhood, or the endowment of members, or nominees of members, at any age; (3) For any purpose which shall be authorised in Scotland by the Lord Advocate, as a purpose to which the powers and facilities of this Act ought to be extended." The rules of the proposed society must be transmitted to the Registrar of Friendly Societies, whose certificate to the effect that it is in conformity with law shall constitute it an established society from the date of said certificate.

ABERDEEN AND NORTHERN FRIENDLY SOCIETY (1862).

OFFICES—141 GEORGE STREET.

Registered under the Friendly Societies' Act.

Its object is "to raise money for life assurance to be paid on the death of a member.

The membership is "composed of both sexes between the ages of one day and eighty years," good health and good moral character being conditions of admission.

The weekly payments are from a half-penny upwards; and the amount received at death ranges from £1 10s. to £108, exclusive of bonuses. Bonuses are declared every five years, in accordance with the Actuary's recommendation.

After payment for 26 weeks members are entitled to full benefit, and to half benefit after 13 weeks regular payments have been made.

The membership of the Society at the end of Dec., 1885, was over 28,000. Capital, about £18,000; Annual Income, £5000; Funeral Benefit was paid to over 400 members during 1885.

Treasurer, J. F. M. Massie. Secretary, James Robertson.

ABERDEEN MUTUAL ASSURANCE AND FRIENDLY SOCIETY (1831).

Enrolled under the Friendly Societies' Act. Its objects are to provide relief to members, and medical attendance to members, their wives, and the members of their families who are under 20 years of age when laid aside by sickness or bodily infirmity; and to provide sums up to £25, payable at the death of the members, or on their attaining a certain age. Entry money to Sick and Funeral Funds, 2s. 6d., with fixed rates of premium for each branch according to age on admission. A quarterly payment of 2s. 2d. secures medical attendance for the member, his wife, and all the members of his family who are under 20 years of age.

President, Alex. Finlayson, jun.; Vice-President, F. B. Kelly; Treasurer, James Duthie; Medical Officer, J. M. Gordon Pirrie, M.D.; Auditors, George Esson, Charles Brown, and George Angus.

Actuary and Secretary, John Crombie, C.A., 74 Union Street.

CITY OF GLASGOW FRIENDLY SOCIETY (1862),

Registered under the Friendly Societies' Acts, and has the following branches of business:—

First.—Assurance for Funeral Benefit. Persons of all ages and of both sexes are admitted as members, by payment of from one penny to one shilling of entry money, and a weekly payment of from a half-penny to sixpence (according to age on entering) entitles to a payment on the death of the member of from £1 to £48.

Second.—Endowments for children—(1.) By a weekly payment ranging from 1d. to 6d Endowments may be secured to children on their reaching 14 years of age, of sums ranging from £3 10s. to £19 10s., according to age on entering, and the amount of weekly payment; (2.) And by similar weekly payments, until the child reaches the age of 14, an Endowment may be secured of from £5 to £30 on attaining the age of 21 years.

Third.—Endowments for persons of any age. By a weekly payment of from 6d to 1s for 10, 15, 20, or 25 years, members may, at the end of either of those periods, receive an endowment of from £15 to £101, according to the amount of weekly payment, and the length of time during which it has been continued.

The entry money for Endowments is in all cases three times the amount of the weekly payment, and half the premiums received are returned in case of death before the Endowment has become matured.

Fourth.—Sick aliment. An entrance fee of from 1s. to 1s. 3d., and after 27 weekly payments ranging from 2d. to 8d. (according to age on entering) entitles the member to receive benefit in case of sickness, of from 5s. to 10s. per week during first 13 weeks, half these sums during second 13 weeks, and a fourth of these sums during the next 18 months of sickness.

Only male members from 15 to 55 years of age are admitted to the sick benefit branch.

There are about 4000 members in the Aberdeen district connected with the Society, and for every 1000 members the district sends one Delegate to the Annual Meeting of the Society.

PRUDENTIAL ASSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED (1848).

The business of the Company is divided into two branches :—

1st—The Ordinary Branch in which ordinary Life Assurance business is transacted, the premiums being payable either yearly or half-yearly.

2nd—The Industrial Branch, in connection with which all the premiums on upwards of 6,000,000 policies are collected weekly at the homes of the policy-holders by the agents of the company. The average sum assured by each policy is £9 4s 10d, and the average weekly premium is fully 2d. The following kinds of assurance may be effected under this branch :—(1) By certain fixed weekly payments, regulated according to age when a policy is obtained, a sum may be secured on attaining the ages from 35 to 65, or at death, should that occur previously; (2) By weekly payments continued for 15 years, an endowment can then be claimed; (3) Deferred annuities, securing a monthly payment of 10s or £1, on attaining the age of 60, may also be secured by weekly premiums; (4) For sums ranging from 1d to 6d weekly, payments may be secured at death, varying according to age on entering and amount of weekly premium, from 10s to £55 16s.

In the city of Aberdeen and district, extending to Cults and Woodside, there are about 30,000 persons who have effected assurances with the Prudential Assurance Company, Limited.

BENEVOLENT FUND AND SOCIETY FOR FEMALE DOMESTIC SERVANTS WHILE LABOURING UNDER SICKNESS.

Established 1853, "for the Benefit of Female Domestic Servants employed in Aberdeen, and in that part of the parish of Oldmachar lying south of the river Don, while afflicted with sickness and unable to maintain themselves." Payment of at least one shilling half-yearly constitutes membership, and gives a claim on the society's funds. Accumulated funds, £170. Ex-officio directors —Lord Provost, Senior Baillie, Dean of Guild, and Chairman of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor. Subscribers of five shillings per annum can appoint two of themselves directors. Life directors are appointed in virtue of a donation or bequest of nineteen guineas. Secretary and Treasurer, W. Kendall Burnett, advocate, 123½ Union Street.

In order to encourage the saving of small sums, from one penny and upwards, slips are supplied at the various Post-Office Savings Banks whereby persons may affix Penny Postage Stamps, as they have the means of doing so, and when 12 of these have been so affixed, they will have 1s. entered at their credit in the Savings Bank on taking them to any of the offices where Savings Bank business is done.

2½ per cent. interest is allowed on all sums lodged in the Post-Office Savings Bank.

NATIONAL SECURITY SAVINGS BANK.

The first Savings Banks Acts were passed in 1817, and at intervals since, these Acts have been modified and extended in many ways. National banking institutions were established for a benevolent rather than a commercial purpose, the trustees and managers not being allowed to make any profit out of the transactions. They have wrought vast benefit by inducing habits of economy among the working-classes. The National Security Savings Bank of Aberdeen was established in 1844. The Office is in Exchange Street, and is open on Saturday from 9 to 12, on other lawful days from 9 to 2, and on Monday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 8. Sums of One Shilling and upwards are received, and interest is allowed at the rate of 2½ per cent., calculated on all sums of Five Shillings and upwards, and for the full number of days the Deposit remains in the Bank. At 20th November, 1883, there were 32,668 Depositors, including 190 Penny Banks and Societies, with united Deposits to the amount of £396,151 2s. 4d.

TRUSTEES AND MANAGERS AT 20TH NOVEMBER, 1884. The Lord Provost, the Eldest Baillie, the Dean of Guild, the Convener of the Trades, the Minister of the West Parish, the Convener of the County, the President and the Treasurer of the Society of Advocates, President of Shipmaster Society, the Members of Parliament for the City and County, the Sheriff and Sheriff-Substitute at Aberdeen, the President and Secretary of the Mechanics' Institution. BANFFSHIRE.

This County, which lies on the south of the Moray Firth, is bounded on the west by Moray and Inverness-shires, and on the east and south by Aberdeenshire. Its greatest length is 57 miles, and its greatest width (along the coast) is 34 miles, but its average width only 12 miles. Area, 686 square miles, or 439,040 acres. Population in 1881, 62,731. Parliamentary constituency, 7018. Valued rental for 1877-8 (exclusive of burghs), £217,316 12s 8d; 1878-9, £221,123 4s 5d; 1879-80, £222,759 8s 2d; 1880-81, £224,587 7s 0d (exclusive of railways, £14,711); 1881-2 (including railways), £240,114 8s 5d; 1882-3, £227,415 9s 6d (exclusive of railways), and including railways, £241,624 9s 6d; 1883-4 (exclusive of railways), £228,152 15s, and railways, £13,187; 1884-5 (exclusive of railways), £230,263 4s 6d, and with railways, £250,258 4s 6d; 1885-6 (exclusive of railways), £229,427 18s 10d, and with railways, £249,524 18s 10d.

Banffshire comprehends the districts of Boyne, Enzie, the greater part of Strathdeveron, Strathisla, Glenfiddich, Glenrinnes, Glenlivet, and Strathavon; and the civic parishes of Aberlour, Alva, Banff, Botriphnie, Boyndie, Cullen, Dufftown, Forglen, Gamrie, Grange, Inverkeithny, Marnoch, Mortlach, Ordiquhill, Rathven, Rothiemay. It contains also almost the whole of the parishes of Keith and Inveravon, and parts of Bellie, Boharm, Cabrach, and Gartly; and also very small parts of Cairney, Glass, Oldmachar, Newmachar, and Rothes.

The South of Banffshire is very mountainous, being enclosed, and partly occupied, by the highest group of mountains in Britain. Here the scenery is exceedingly wild, and often sublime in its loneliness and grandeur. The middle and northern parts of the county are very hilly, but frequent glens and wide straths occur, especially in the north; and these, being cultivated with the utmost care and skill, amply repay the labours of the husbandman. The principal crops are oats, barley, turnips, and potatoes. Great attention is paid to the breeding and rearing of cattle. The towns and villages of the inland districts of the county are Keith, Fife-Keith, Newmill, Aberchirder, Dufftown, Charlestown, and Tomintoul.

The great body of the population is, however, distributed along the coast, and chiefly in towns and villages, all more or less engaged in, and dependent upon, the valuable white, herring, and salmon fisheries on the coast. Banff herrings are highly esteemed in the foreign market. The coast towns are the Royal burghs of Banff and Cullen; the towns of Macduff, Portsoy, and Buckie; and the villages of Crovie, Gardenstown, Whitehills, Sandend, Portknockie, Findochty, Portessie, and Portgordon. The shipping and trade of these ports are considerable. The imports are chiefly coals, timber, manures, iron, and salt; and the exports, grain, cattle, fish, and whisky, &c.

THE ROYAL BURGH OF BANFF.

Situated by rail 50 miles N. by W. of Aberdeen, and 38½ E. of Elgin, occupies the slop of a hill descending gradually towards the Deveron and the Moray Firth. From the sea, and from the east, more especially from the Banff (Bridge) Station, it presents a very interesting and picturesque appearance. Internally the town comprises several well built streets, which are adorned with many large and elegant modern buildings. It has always borne, and deservedly, the highest character for cleanliness and salubrity. Banff and its neighbourhood are associated with many historical events. It is probable that it possessed the privileges of a Royal Burgh before the time of William the Lion, and these privileges were confirmed by Robert Bruce and Robert II. The population in 1881 was 4203, showing a considerable increase during the ten years. The Municipal Constituency is 680 (including 156 females). The valuation of the Burgh to Whitsunday, 1885, including railways, is £12,549 12s 8d, showing a large increase in the annual value within the last few years. The Earls of Fife and Seafield have lately granted very eligible feus upon their lands adjoining the town. Plans of the proposed extension have been prepared by order of their Lordships, and already advantage has been taken of the facilities thus afforded for building towards the west; and at present there is an extension of villas towards the south, along the Sandyhill Road. The society is good, and the educational institutions are not surpassed by those of any town in the north. The Library of the Literary Society is extensive and well selected, while the Museum belonging to the burgh is stored with articles of vertu from all parts of the world. Recently there has been added to the attractions of the burgh a Bath House with all the newest appliances, which, along with the natural amenities of the place, has had the effect of largely increasing the number of summer visitors. A handsome drinking fountain, designated the "Biggar Memorial," has also been erected on the site of the ancient Cross in Low Street. Tourists have of late years discovered that there are objects of interest and beauty in Banff and its neighbourhood worthy of being visited, and the railways from both north and south render the locality of easy access. Duff House, the principal seat of the Earl of Fife, is in the immediate neighbourhood. The hotel accommodation is excellent. Banff as a seaport has a good harbour and considerable shipping. The chief industries are the manufacture of woollen goods, leather, and tobacco; shipbuilding, ironfounding, distilling, brewing and printing. The fisheries also are important.

The Parliamentary burgh of Banff includes Macduff, a burgh of Barony, distant about half a mile on the east side of the Deveron, and with a population of 3638. Banff is one of the Elgin district of burghs, and its Parliamentary constituency is 1019.

Alexander Asher is M.P. for the Elgin group of Burghs.

MORAYSHIRE.

This county may be considered as that part forming what may have been the home district of the ancient and extensive "Province of Moray." It is about 40 miles north and south, and 20 east and west. On the east it is bounded by Banffshire, and on the west by Inverness and Nairn shires; on the north it is washed by the Moray Firth.

The whole area is estimated at 531 square miles, or 340,000 acres. The rural population in 1881 was 45,052, the total population, including burghs of Elgin and Forres, being 56,471. The parliamentary constituency in 1885 was 5004. The value of property within the County, for the year 1885-86 is, including railways, but excluding Royal Burghs of Elgin and Forres, £187,623 19s. 9d. The valuation of Forres in 1885-6 was £15,144 18s

The county is divided into the parishes of Alves, St. Andrews-Lhanbryd, Birnie, Cromdale, Dallas, Drainie, Duffus, Dyke, Edinkillie, Elgin, Forres, Kinloss, Knockando, Rafford, Rothes, Speymouth, New Spynie, Urquhart, and part of Bellie, Boharm, Keith, and Inveravon.

The lower part of Morayshire is exceedingly fertile, and in no district is farming better understood, or more successfully prosecuted. The rivers in the shire are the Spey, the Findhorn, and the Lossie. The scenery is varied, embracing every character of sylvan, marine, alpine, and champaign. It boasts of two royal burghs—Elgin, which is the head burgh, and Forres—besides the police burgh of Rothes, and the important villages of New Elgin, Findhorn, Lhanbryd, Burghead, Lossiemouth, Hopeman, Branderburgh, Fochabers, Garmouth, Urquhart, Kingston, Grantown, Archiestown, Dallas, &c.

CITY AND BURGH OF ELGIN.

This city is beautifully situated in the lower district of the county. It was made a royal burgh by William the Lion. The scenery around the town is from many points of view exquisitely fine, and internally the town relatively presents an appearance of wealth. The buildings—which of late years have been considerably added to—are generally tasteful, and throughout there is a considerable air of cleanliness. The parish church is conspicuous from its position and style of architecture. Gray's Hospital occupies a healthy site. The institutions of the place are varied and important, while the Morayshire branch of the Great North of Scotland Railway has the effect of virtually making it a seaport. Population in 1881 was 7388; parliamentary constituency in 1885, 1024. Elgin is the head of the Elgin District of Burghs, and is justly famed for the ruins of its once magnificent cathedral. The value of property, exclusive of railways, within the parliamentary boundaries for the year 1885-86 was £32,278 12s 4d.

ROYAL BURGH OF FORRES.

Forres was enfranchised by William the Lion, and consists of several streets, the two principal extending from east to west. In the centre of these stands a market-cross, much in the style of Sir Walter Scott's monument in Edinburgh. Forres has no resident sheriff-substitute; but courts by the sheriff, justices of the peace, and baillies of the burgh, are regularly held in the court-house. There is a prison connected with the public buildings, and the whole is surmounted by an elegant spire, with clock, which is supplied with illuminated glass dials. Forres, which is the centre of the combined counties of Elgin or Moray and Nairn shires, is the returning burgh. The scenery around Forres can scarcely be surpassed, from the variety of prospect afforded by the neighbouring ground, the windings of the Findhorn, &c.; and Forres, now so easy of access by the Highland Railway, from Perth to this burgh, is fast becoming one of the loved spots of Scotland. From its sweet and genial climate, the Forres district has long been known as the Montpelier of Scotland. This has been the cause of its being selected for the erection of a Hydropathic Establishment, which is one of the most complete and well conducted in the kingdom. To the east of the town is a storied obelisk, called Sweno's Stone, hitherto the reproach of antiquarian lore. Population at last census was 4562. Constituency, 553; Revenue of Burgh taken from town's account of year 1884-85, £1,844 1s. Distance from Inverness by upper Nairn road, 26½ miles; by lower 23½. Forres forms one of the Inverness District of Burghs. By rail the distance is 24¾ miles to Inverness. The Perth and Inverness section of the Highland Railway, opened in September 1863, has its junction with the Main Line at Forres; and the great traffic, which has even surpassed the expectations of its Directors, has considerably increased the trade and importance of the town. The main street has recently been laid with granite blocks, and other extensive improvements have been carried out at a cost of about £3000.

For the Free Education of Poor Children of the Parishes of Forres, Rafford, and Kinloss.

Trustees, the Provost, Magistrates, and Town Council. R. Urquhart, treas. John Sutherland, master of the school; Jessie Smith, female teacher; and Pupil Teachers

The property of this Institution consists of a school and teachers' houses in one handsome building, surmounted by an elegant spire, and ground, together with £5000 invested. The proceeds of this investment, after answering the scholastic expenditure of the Institution, are divided amongst decayed householders of the town of Forres. The building has recently been remodelled to meet the requirements of the Education Act in order to secure the Government Grant—upwards of £3000, including £2500 by an unknown donor, having been subscribed for that purpose. The Draft Scheme of the Endowed School Commissioners recommends that the Free School be closed, and the funds go for the purpose of founding bursaries.

NAIRNSHIRE.

This county is bounded on the west by Inverness-shire, south by Banffshire, north by the Moray Firth, and east by Morayshire, of which it anciently formed a part. It extends north and south 22 miles, and 15 east and west. Its area is 200 square miles, or 129,000 acres; 70,000 of these are tilled, 30,000 untilled, and 28,000 are unproductive. The following are the parishes into which the county is divided, viz.: Ardclach, Auldearn, Nairn, and part of Cawdor, Croy, Daviot, Dyke, Moy, Petty, and Urquhart.

The population in 1881 was 10,454. The constituency is 792. The valued rental in 1674 was £15,162 Scots; according to the Valuation Roll of 1885-86, it is £37,331 19s 1d, including the railway valuation. Nairn is the only royal burgh in the county; but there are the villages of Cawdor and Auldearn. The county is under the same sheriff as Inverness and Elgin. It also joins Moray in sending a member to Parliament; and is municipally and otherwise perfectly independent.

GEDDES—5th April, if Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday, or, if not, first Tuesday thereafter.

BURGH OF NAIRN.

Nairn is most pleasantly situated, and is generally considered as very healthy. It is much frequented by invalids and others on account of its pure air and advantages of sea-bathing, while it is provided with the best artificial baths in the North, whether taken cold, tepid, or hot. Nairn was regalised by William the Lion. Many of the inhabitants are fishermen, but it cannot be called a fishing-station in the larger sense of that term. It stands on the north bank of the river from which it derives its name, within a very short distance of its junction with the sea. For this reason it was anciently called Invernairn. Population in 1881, of Parliamentary Burgh, 4161; of Royal Burgh, 4678; and of the Parish of Nairn, 5364. Constituency of Burgh, 1885-86—Males, 484; Females, 139—total, 623. Rental per Valuation Roll of 1885-86, £14,571 14s 7d, including railway valuation. Distance from Inverness by Campbelltown, seventeen and a-half miles; by the new or upper road, fifteen and a half miles; by Culloden Moor, Croy, and Cawdor, seventeen; and by railway, fifteen.

INVERNESS-SHIRE.

This is the largest county in Scotland. From east to west it extends 85 miles, and 55 from north to south. It includes the extensive districts of Badenoch, Lochaber, Strathglass, Glenelg, Arisaig, the Aird, Lovat country, and Moidart, besides the most important of the Western Isles, including Skye, North and South Uist, Barra, Raasay, Harris, &c. St. Kilda is also part of Inverness-shire.

The face of the country is generally mountainous, and contains the highest eminences in Scotland. Among these are Ben Nevis, 4406 feet above the level of the sea, upon the summit of which a Meteorological Observatory was opened on the 17th October, 1883; Scarsough, 3414; Mealfourvonie, 3060; and the Abriachan granite hills. The principal rivers are the Ness, the Nairn, the Findhorn, the Spey, the Lochy, the Oich, the Garry, the Glass, the Farrar, and the Beauly. The principal lakes are Loch Ness, Loch Oich, and Loch Lochy. These rivers and lakes abound in fish; and the districts, chiefly consisting of moor, yield abundance of the several sorts of game. The scenery almost everywhere is beautiful, and in many places grand. Of these descriptions are especially the parts between Beauly Bridge and Aigas, along the line of the Caledonian Canal, the Falls of Foyers, the Pass of Inverfarigaig, &c.

Inverness-shire is well traversed with roads; while the Caledonian Canal, and the safe and convenient navigation afforded by the east and west seas, renders communication easy between it and all other parts of the world.

It contains the following parishes, and parts of parishes, viz.:—Alvie, Ardersier, Ardnamurchan, Barra, Boleskine and Abertarff, Bracadale, Daviot and Dunlichity, Dores, Durinish, Rothiemurchus, Glenelg, Harris, Inverness, Kilmonivaig, Kilmorack, Kilmuir, Kiltarlity, Kingussie, Kirkhill, Laggan, Moy, Petty, Portree, Sleat, Snizort, Strath, N. Uist, S. Uist, Urquhart and Glenmoriston, Abernethy, Cawdor, Inverallan, Croy, Duthill, Kilmailie, and Small Isles. These occupy an area of 4,255 square miles, or 2,723,501 acres.

The population in 1881 was 90,414. The old valued rental of the year 1690 was 53,888 pounds Scots. The ordinary rental of the County for the year 1885-86 is £328,507 14s 1d. Highland Railway, £14,199; Great North of Scotland Railway Company, £7,242; and Caledonian Canal, £176. Gross annual value of County, exclusive of Burgh, £322,764 0s 10d. The constituency—County, 9330. Polling places—Inverness, Torbreck, Farr, Raigbeg, Dores, Fort-Augustus, Drumnadrochit, Inchmore, Beauly, Boat-of-Garten, Kingussie, Gergask, Fort-William, Onich, Spean Bridge, Arisaig, Kirkton of Glenelg, Portree, Uig, Dunvegan, Ferindonald, Broadford, Struan, Castlebay, Dalibrog, Howmore, Torlum, Paible, Obbe, Tarbert.

There is but one Royal Burgh in the shire; but there are the villages of Campbelltown, Beauly, Kingussie, Fort-Augustus, Fort-William, Portree, Broadford, Lochmaddy, &c. All matters connected with its government are conducted at Inverness, and the officials there have jurisdiction over the whole county; but for the better administration of justice, the shire is divided into the districts of Inverness, Fort-William, Skye, and the Long Island, each being under the separate jurisdiction of a Sheriff-Substitute.

CALEDONIAN CANAL—(ORIGINALLY OPENED IN 1822.)

The line of this grand national work passes through the Great Glen of Scotland, in which the extensive lochs—Ness, Oich, and Lochy—lie embedded, presenting to the tourist some of the most magnificent scenery in the world. Since the late improvements were executed, the route has become a favourite one with large craft passing westward from the Baltic, &c.

The Canal is sixty miles in length, of which thirty-eight are lake water, and twenty-two are cutting. There are twenty-nine locks on the line—the rise to the summit level in Loch Oich being about 100 feet above high water of ordinary neap tides. It can accommodate vessels not exceeding in dimensions, over all, viz.—Length, 160 feet—width, 38 feet—draught of water when at the standard level, 17 feet. Steam tugboats have been put on for tugging vessels through the lakes and estuaries on the line of the navigation.

The toll for passing along the Canal from sea to sea is rated the dead weight of cargo on the rates varying from 6d. to 1s. 6d. per ton, according to the nature of the cargo, the same rates applying to the first 100 tons of larger vessels, but being only 1s per ton on so much of the tonnage as exceeds 100 tons; on unladen vessels, or vessels in ballast, the dues for passing wholly through the canal are 1s. per ton of the registered tonnage of the vessel, B.M. For less distances they are rated proportionally. Screw steamers are charged 1s 9d per ton; paddle steamers, 2s per ton reg.

The above is exclusive of a moderate charge for steam tugboats when they are used. Special duties are levied on steam passage boats and vessels loading or discharging cargoes in the Canal basin or Harbours.

The Canal Charge.—Through rates on Herrings, and Timber (not manufactured), are one shilling per ton of herring, or load of timber. Coals and salt, 6d per ton. Slates, 9d per ton.

Since 1st August, 1861, by Act of Parliament the following Duties have been levied on Passengers passing through the Caledonian and Crinan Canals :—

PER SWIFT PASSAGE STEAMERS.

MARKETS AND FAIRS.

The BEAULY, or MUIR of ORD, has now become the most important cattle fair in the north of Scotland; and the days on which the market holds have been appointed, after much consideration, in the following manner, with the view of accommodating cattle dealers from the south and every other part of the country:—1st market holds on the Muir of Ord, on the third Thursday of January. 2d, on the third Thursday of February. 3d, on the third Wednesday and Thursday of March. 4th, on the third Wednesday and Thursday of April. 5th, on the second Wednesday and Thursday of May. 6th, on the third Wednesday and Thursday of June. 7th, on the third Wednesday and Thursday of July. 8th, on the Wednesday and Thursday before Falkirk, in August. 9th, on the Wednesday and Thursday before Falkirk, in September. 10th, on the Wednesday and Thursday before Falkirk, in October. 11th, on the Wednesday and Thursday before Edinburgh Hallow Fair, in November. 12th, on the Thursday after the third Wednesday in December. —It is well to bear in mind that, at all the markets Wednesday is the principal day for the sale of sheep and lambs, and held exclusively for that purpose; Thursday for the sale of cattle, horses, sheep, pigs, &c.

INVERNESS MARKETS are held on Friday after the Muir of Ord market.

STRATHDEARN MARKETS hold at Freeburn—1st, for milk cows, upon Saturday after the 19th May; 2d, a lamb market, on Friday preceding the Campbelltown Lammas market, in the month of August; 3d, a cattle market, on Monday after third Tuesday of September; 4th, a cattle market, on the second day after the Beauly market in October.

Cattle Markets are held at NEWTONMORE on the Tuesday after Grantown in April and October.

The following Markets are held at KINGUSSIE:—Feeing, 12th May, if a Tuesday, or the First Tuesday after the 12th; Lambs, third Wednesday of August; Cattle, Tuesday after Grantown in September; Feeing, 12th November, if a Tuesday, or the First Tuesday after the 12th.

The GRANTOWN TRYSTS hold on the days specified in that list.

FORT-AUGUSTUS FAIRS — Monday preceding the second Wednesday of June; 20th September—if not, next Monday to the 20th September.

FORT-WILLIAM FAIRS—Second Wednesday of June and second Wednesday of November. Sheep and Wool market, on the Tuesday after the Inverness Great Sheep and Wool Fair.

CAMPBELLTOWN FAIR holds on the 12th of August, if it falls on any day from Tuesday to Friday—if on Saturday or Monday, the first Tuesday thereafter.

URQUHART FAIRS for the sale of black cattle, at Drumnadrochit; the first holds on Tuesday immediately preceding the Michaelmas Beauly market; the second on Tuesday immediately preceding Beauly Hallowmas fair; the third to be held in April; and the fourth for the sale of milk cows, in the first week of June; the days for the last two are not fixed.

BRIDGE of SPEAN MARKETS are held fourteen days before each of the September and October Falkirk Trysts, Monday being the most suitable day.

BURGH OF INVERNESS.

This ancient Royal Burgh, once solely on the south-east, now occupies considerable space on both sides of the Ness. The communication between these two natural divisions, previous to 1808, was carried on by means of a handsome stone bridge, erected in 1685, which, however, was borne down by the memorable flood of 24th January, 1849. Since 1808, with the exception of short interruptions, the town rejoices in the convenience of two bridges, and to these are now added a handsome foot bridge, which crosses the river at the upper end of Ness Bank, and a second, and equally handsome foot bridge (iron suspension), which crosses the river from Greig Street to Church Lane. An elegant iron suspension bridge, opened in 1856, has been erected on the site of the old stone bridge. The south-east is still the business side of the town. Great improvements have taken place in Inverness within the last thirty years, in new buildings, upon the roads and walks along the banks of the Ness and principal thoroughfares of the town, and in providing for more efficient sewerage. In 1874 the Lindsay Act in its entirety was introduced into the burgh. The Gas and Water Company has proved of considerable utility. In the Parliament of 1875 a Bill was passed empowering the Corporation to buy up the Gas and Water Co., and to introduce water by gravitation from Loch Ashie. The stock of Gas and Water Co. was bought. At the head of the institutions may be placed the Caledonian Bank, and the several Railway Companies—Highland, Sutherland, Duke of Sutherland, and Sutherland and Caithness—under one working management at Inverness. There are several handsome buildings—the Caledonian Bank, the Railway Station, the Castle and County Prison, the Highland Club, Station Hotel, the Free High Church, Lombard Street, St. Andrew's Cathedral, Young Men's Christian Association Buildings, Workmen's Club, Town Hall, the Hotels, Royal Tartan Warehouse, Free Library, School of Art, and Museum, &c. The Highland Railway Company have an elegant building for offices, &c., which cost about £12,000, besides extensive new workshops, and in 1881 spent £6000 on the extension of the Station Hotel. The new Town Hall was completed in November, 1880, at a cost of £10,000. Private villas are constantly springing up in the town and suburbs. There are several public walks in the neighbourhood. The Ness Islands form the principal walk in the summer months, and recently the Town Council have effected improvements which add much to their attractiveness.

The principal streets on the south-east side of the river are High Street, Bridge Street, Petty Street, Inglis Street, Church Street, Union Street, Academy Street, Chapel Street, Shore Street, Douglas Row, Bank Street, Rose Street, Castle Street, Drummond Street, and Lombard Street; and on the north-west, Huntly Street, Telford Street, Celt Street, Grant Street, Queen Street, Kessock Street, Telford Road, &c.

Inverness was erected into a Royal burgh by William the Lion. The old Royalty did not include many important parts of the town, the one side of some streets being within, and the other without the liberties—thus affording to violators of the law protection from the jurisdiction of the magistrates. By the Burgh Act, 1847, this is obviated, by extending the boundaries to the parliamentary royalty, as fixed at the passing of the Reform Bill in 1832. This extends from the Clachnaharry pier in a straight line to the upper angle of the Ness Islands. Crossing the Ness the line runs along Aultnaskiah burn, and across the Muirfield, to a point near the Poorhouse, thence in a line drawn due North to the sea, and thence to the first-mentioned point at Clachnaharry pier. For municipal purposes the royalty is divided into three different wards—1st, the west side of the river Ness, returning alternately two and three councillors annually; 2d, all south of a line drawn along the centre of Bridge Street, High Street, Petty Street, and the Millburn Road, returning alternately two and three councillors annually; 3d, all north of the line drawn along centre of Bridge Street, &c., returning alternately two and three councillors annually. The population of the burgh in 1881 was 17,366. The burghal constituency is 2944; and the valuation in 1885-86 is £86,453 5s 5d, including railways and canals.

For choosing persons to represent proprietors of heritages below the annual value of £20, at the Parochial Board, the town and parish are also very simply divided into the same number of wards.

The old Castle of Inverness—destroyed by the Highland army in 1746—occupied the present site of the Castle and County Prison. Cromwell's Fort—now called "the Citadel"—is close by the harbour, the moat being filled up. On the west side of the town are the vitrified fort of Craig Phadraig, and the well-wooded and singularly-shaped hill of Tomnahurich, on the summit and west side of which is a tastefully laid-out cemetery. At a distance of four miles south-east of the town lies the battlefield of Culloden, where ended the hopes of the Stuart line, and closed the opposition to the present reigning dynasty. At Clachnaharry, a monument is erected, commemorating a sanguinary affray between the Mackintoshes and Munroes in 1454.

STEAMERS.

INVERNESS, THE WESTERN ISLES, AND GLASGOW.

The steamers of Mr David MacBrayne, Glasgow, ply regularly during the year between Inverness and Glasgow, via Caledonian and Crinan Canals. In the summer months, there is daily communication, each way, by swift steamers. In connection with these, from Oban, Mr MacBrayne's steamers ply to Staffa and Iona, Glencoe, Skye and Gairloch, Stornoway, &c. A steamer, carrying the mails, leaves Inverness every afternoon (except Sunday) at 3, for all Loch-ness Piers and Fort-Augustus. Returning from Fort-Augustus every morning (Sunday excepted) at 6, in connection with the limited mail train for the south. Steamers carrying goods, as well as passengers, leave Inverness and Glasgow twice a-week (Mondays and Thursdays), during the whole year. Steamers likewise ply regularly (twice a-week in summer, and once a-week in winter) from Glasgow to Oban, Tobermory, Portree, and Stornoway, calling at the various intermediate ports in Mull and Skye: also, fortnightly at Gairloch, Ullapool, Lochinver, Lochmaddy, and Tarbert (Harris). Passengers and Goods from Inverness for these places change steamers at Oban. Mr MacBrayne's steamers also ply in connection with the Highland Railway at Strome, conveying goods and passengers, &c., as follows:—Strome and Portree daily during the summer months, and three times a week in winter (Mon., Wed., and Friday).

The Stornoway mail steamer plies daily in summer and three times a week in winter (Monday, Wednesday, and Friday) between Strome and Stornoway. In the summer months there is direct communication between Strome and Gairloch, and the Strome and Portree steamer connects all the year round at Portree with Mr MacBrayne's steamers sailing to Gairloch, Aultbea, Poolewe, Ullapool, Lochinver, Tarbert (Harris), Lochmaddy, &c.

Agent, John Mackintosh, 17 Union St., Inverness; J. Murdoch, Fort William; Alex. Brown, Oban; John Masson, Tobermory; James Gordon, Lochinver; K. Cameron, Ullapool; Wm. Lindsay and Co., Greenock; Don. M'Donald, Portree; John Harrold, Stornoway.

The Moray Firth Steam Shipping Company's steamer "Earnholm" runs regularly between Inverness, Cromarty, Invergordon, Buckie, Aberdeen, and Leith, leaving Inverness every Thursday, and returning from Leith every Monday, and from Aberdeen every Tuesday. Agent, D. Macpherson, 8 Drummond Street, Inverness

The Black Isle Steam Shipping Company's steamer "Rosebaugh" and "Speedwell" ply regularly between Inverness, Avoch, and Fortrose, making daily trips during summer, and every Tuesday and Friday during the winter months. Agent, D. Macpherson, 8 Drummond Street.

In 1875 the Messrs Langlands, of Glasgow and Liverpool, got a steamer specially built for going by the Caledonian Canal from Dundee and Aberdeen to Liverpool, and vice versa. The steamer is the "Princess Beatrice," and leaves Liverpool every alternate Wednesday for Inverness, Aberdeen, and Dundee, via the Caledonian Canal. On the return journey she leaves Dundee every alternate Wednesday, calling at Inverness. The "Princess Beatrice" is usually in Inverness every Friday night. Agent at Inverness, D Macpherson, 8 Drummond Street.

FAIRS AND MARKETS AT INVERNESS.

Markets for the sale of horses, cattle, and sheep, are held on the Inverness Market Stance on the Fridays succeeding the Muir of Ord Markets and in addition to these, the following markets are held during the year, viz. :—In July, the great sheep and wool fair, nominally beginning on Thursday, and ending on Saturday night, and a produce market on the last Friday of the month ; in August, on the last Friday; and in November, on the last Thursday.

A horse-market holds in connection with each of the fairs

BEAULY.

This village, a Burgh of Barony, is situated on the north bank of the river of that name, and within barely two miles of its mouth. It is, on the whole, a clean, regularly laid out, well-built little place, with a population of 950 souls. The road to it lies by Clachnaharry, Bunchrew, Phopachy, and Bogroy, and thence by Moniack and Beauly Bridge, or by Kirkhill and Beauly Ferry. The ferry is impassable by horses or carriages, but a boat plies for the use of foot passengers. In Beauly are the ruins of a Priory, founded by John Bisset of Lovat in 1230. At the Reformation, it reverted in trust to the Lovat family, but now forms part of the jurisdiction of "Woods and Forests." Beauly rejoices in several inns, and is much frequented by tourists visiting the unsurpassed scenery of the Falls of Kilmorack, the Dreim, Strathglass, the Chisholm's Pass, Prince Charlie's Cave in Glenstrathfarrar, and the ruins of Castle Spynie, and the vitrified forts, Dunmore, Dunaver, and Dunfion, besides Beaufort Castle, Belladrum, and the ruins of Kilchrist, the scene of the Macdonells burning the M'Kenzies alive; the beautiful Burn of Teanassie, Dunmore of Breachachy, anciently the stronghold of the M'Leans of Kilmorack; Reelig Burn, where thirty-six different varieties of ferns are to be found, besides other rare plants and trees; Tarradale House, the birthplace of Sir Roderick J. Murchison; Redcastle, the oldest inhabited house perhaps in all Scotland; the Ruins of Kilcoy Castle. At Culbirnie there is a Druid Circle in a complete state of preservation. Beauly is traversed by the great north road to Dingwall, Tain, and Wick. There is an Established, Free, and Roman Catholic, Church in the village. Divine service in the Established Church every Sunday at 11 a.m. and 6.30 p.m., and in the Free Church every Sunday at 2 p.m. and 6.30 p.m. The evening service in the Free Church is held alternately in English and Gaelic, and there are fortnightly Gaelic services in the Established Church at 4 p.m. Distance from Inverness by Moniack and Beauly Bridge, twelve miles; by Kirkhill and Beauly Ferry, nine and a-half miles. The Railway Station is within half a mile of the village.

CAMPBELLTOWN.

The village of Campbelltown lies about a mile and a-half south of Fort-George. It is built without any regard to regularity, and affords qualifications for about 148 voters at the county election. Partly it is a fishing village, and is resorted to during the summer months as a bathing place, and by invalids in search of health, for its chalybeate waters. There are several hotels, and the Fort-George station of the Highland Railway is about a mile and a-half from the village, while its proximity to Fort-George brings it no inconsiderable number of visitors. Distance from Inverness, ten miles.

FORT-GEORGE.

Fort-George, on which are a moat, glacis, &c., is situated on a point of land east of Inverness, and opposite to Rosemarkie. The route eastward to it lies by Culloden, Castle-Stuart, the Church of Petty, Connage, and the village of Campbelltown. The ramparts are bomb-proof. The casemates are fitted as large barrack-rooms, and it is said that within the walls is accommodation for nearly 2000 men and officers. Distance from Inverness about twelve miles. The Royal Naval Coast Guard from Fraserburgh to Shetland, H.M.S. "Clyde," Aberdeen, and gun-boats to and fro', are supplied from the Divisional Ordnance stores and magazines at Fort-George.

FORT-WILLIAM.

Fort-William, situated at the head of Loch Linne, was built shortly after the Revolution, by General Mackay. Like others of the same line of strongholds, it has outlived its original purpose. It is a small place, approaching the triangular rather than any other form. It is now dismantled, and has become the property of Mrs. Cameron Campbell, of Monzie, by purchase from the Government. The principal features in the works are a ditch, ravelin, and glacis. It contains a bomb-proof magazine, and accommodation for a limited garrison. It was assailed in 1745 by a part of Prince Charles Edward's army; but Cumberland's march on Inverness obliged the siege to be raised. As it has its name from King William III., the adjoining village was called Maryburgh, in honour of his consort, but this is a distinction now laid aside. The town was made into a police burgh in 1874, and consists principally of three parallel lines of buildings, forming two streets, in which are several good hotels and shops. It contains about 1700 inhabitants. In the suburbs are several handsome villas, and in the immediate neighbourhood are the Belford Hospital and the recently built Ben Nevis Distillery. Immediately on the south-east, Ben Nevis, the highest mountain in Scotland—ascertained, by Government survey (1869), to be 4406 feet above the level of the sea, and its circumference at the base is supposed to exceed 24 miles—towers into the clouds. There is a Meteorological Observatory established upon Ben Nevis, under the superintendence of Mr R. T. Omond of Edinburgh, assisted by Mr Angus Rankin, who, with a servant, reside in the Observatory and take hourly observations. A hotel has also been established on the summit of the mountain, where tourists can be accommodated in the summer months. A road has been constructed to the top of the Ben, and telegraph communication provided. The Observatory was formally opened on 17th October, 1883. There salso a station at the sea level, where observations are taken daily by Mr Livingston, of the Public School—all being under the direction of the Scottish Meteorological Society. In 1884 the buildings at the top of the Ben were greatly enlarged, and a room added specially for use of tourists. Within the last few years there have been built two fine churches. The one is the Episcopal Church, and the other the Established Church. There is also a new Court-House, with offices for the Sheriff Sherift-Clerk, and Procurator-Fiscal; and the old Court-House has been converted into a Police Station. There are two new schools—the Public School and the Episcopalian—both handsome buildings. A new school in connection with the Roman Catholic Church is now erected. In the centre of the town is the Townhall.

SHERIFF COURT.

The Sheriff Court for the Fort-William or Lochaber district of Inverness-shire, and also of the northern division of Argyleshire, including the districts of Appin (with the exception of the estate of Airds), Ardgour, Kingerloch, and Strontian (established by the Act 1 William IV., cap. 37), both for the decision of ordinary causes and those under the Small Debt Act, is held at Fort-William every Thursday in time of session. The session commences and terminates same time as at Inverness.

KINGUSSIE.

This is the capital of the once renowned lordship of Badenoch. It is exactly by rail half-way between Inverness and Perth. It was all but inaccessible to the general public until that great undertaking, the "Inverness and Perth Junction Railway," now the "Highland Railway," opened up the Highlands through and through. This railway is turning out a good investment for the Shareholders, and it is having a great and lasting effect on the Highlands for good. It is not unlikely Kingussie may largely share in its benefits, from its position, nestled among the highest mountains in Scotland, and about fifty miles removed from the sea on all sides. It has already become a favourite resort for parties from the sea-side, in quest of change of air. The inhabitants, who seem anxious to encourage the residence of strangers among them, seem to be doing all they can to make the place as inviting as possible. They have unanimously adopted the necessary clauses of the Police Act, for the purpose of getting the village thoroughly drained, and pure spring water from the hills introduced, for both of which there are rare facilities. These movements are in the right direction, and, if properly carried out, ought to make Kingussie as healthy a little village as any in the kingdom. Evan Baillie, Esq. of Dochfour, Glenelg, &c., is the Superior, and much depends on the encouragement he gives to these efforts of the inhabitants; but if fairly followed up, this village, beautifully situated on the banks of the Spey, and the centre of an extensive district of country, may yet become a place of considerable importance.

SKYE—PORTREE.

Skye is a judicial division of Inverness-shire, and Portree is the seat of court. It is reached by steamer from Oban, or by rail by Dingwall, Contin, Garve, Auchinault, Luib, Craig, & Lochcarron, to Strome Ferry, and thence by railway steamer. It is called Portree—a contraction and corruption of "Port-an-Righ"—the king's haven or harbour—because James V. dropped anchor there, while making a progress round his kingdom. The bay is beautifully picturesque, and the town has lately rapidly risen in importance. Distance from Inverness, by Oban, about 210 miles; by Beauly, Dingwall, and Strome Ferry, 131; by Invermorriston and Sheil House, 109 miles.

FORT-AUGUSTUS, OR KILCUMMIN.

Fort-Augustus stands on the western extremity of Lochness. The land routes to it from Inverness are, on the south of Lochness by Dores, 8 miles, the famous fall of Foyers, 16, and thence through Stratherrick—and on the north by Lochend, 7 miles, Drumnadrochit, in the beautiful Glen of Urquhart, 14, and Invermoriston, 27; and by steam through the Canal, which is lined by the most magnificent scenery imaginable. There is a small village here, formerly called Kilcummin, to which the name of the Fort is now common. It has long been famous for the salubriousness of the climate, and being situated in the middle of the great Glen of Scotland, and on the line of frequent steam communication between Glasgow and Inverness, it is one of the most convenient centres in the Highlands. It possesses a first-class hotel; and a mail steamer now plies every day between Fort-Augustus and Inverness—distance 33½ miles—in connection with the mail trains to and from the south. The Fort, which was built in 1734, was of square construction, bastioned at the angles, and protected by a ditch, a covered way, and glacis. In 1876 the Fort and glacis, which had previously been purchased from the Government, was given by Lord Lovat to the Monks of the Benedictine Order, who, though suppressed in Scotland at the Reformation, were still maintained at the Scotch Abbey of St James, at Ratisbon, and have now converted the old barracks into a large Monastery, and a commodious college for the sons of Catholic gentry and nobility. The students are prepared for the army, navy, and civil service. The college is associated with the London University. The teaching staff is supplemented by Lay Professors from the English Universities. Of the four blocks of buildings between the bastions the northern has been changed into the College, the eastern into the Monastery, the western into the Hospitium, or Guest-house, and the southern has been removed to make way for a large church. The interior quadrangle is surrounded by very fine cloisters. The new buildings are in the Early English style, whilst the bastions and other features connected with the associations of the place have not been destroyed. By a Papal Brief, dated December 12, 1883, the Monastery was raised to the dignity of an Abbey, and made independent of the jurisdiction of the Benedictines in England.

The village and lands are now the property of the Right Hon. Simon Lord Lovat.

The Parishes of North and South Uist, Harris and Barra, form a judicial district of the County, Lochmaddy being the seat of the Court, where there are County Buildings, Prison, &c. Mails are despatched daily at 6 A.M. to the south end of South Uist, and thence three times a week to Barra. The Kelp manufacture, which was formerly extensively carried on in these islands, is fast declining. The lobster fisheries afford employment to a great number of the native boats, and there are also extensive cod and ling fisheries. The herring fishing is also an important one in its season during May and June, but is extensively carried on by boats from the east and Argyleshire coasts.

ROSS-SHIRE.

This county is of great extent, stretching from the shores of the Moray Firth on the east to the Atlantic on the west. The island of The Lewis forms part of the county. On the south the county is bounded by Inverness-shire, and on the north by Sutherland. For judicial purposes the counties of Cromarty and Sutherland are joined to Ross, the sheriffdom bearing the title of Ross, Cromarty, and Sutherland. The same sheriff-depute presides over all; but each county is distinct in jurisdiction, except in regard to such parts of the county of Cromarty as are locally situate in Ross, which are subject to the jurisdiction of the officials of the sheriff courts at Dingwall and Tain. For other purposes they are separate.

Its length is 67 miles, and its breadth, 58; its area is 2774 miles, or 1,775,830 acres. Of these, 301,000 are productive, 545,000 are untilled, and 929,830 are irreclaimable. The valuation, exclusive of railways, amounts to £283,588 11s 8d; including railways, £311,568 11s 8d. This includes, likewise, the Burghs of Dingwall, Tain, and Fortrose.

The population in 1881 was 78,539. The county is jointly represented with Cromarty by Dr Roderick Macdonald, London, M.P.

Ross is popularly divided into districts, such as Ardross, Ardmeanach (Lord of Ardmeanach was a title of the old Earls of Ross, and was conferred by Mary Queen of Scots on Darnley, on the day of their marriage) or Black Isle, Kintail, Strathconon, Lochcarron, Lochalsh, Lochbroom, and The Lewis. The parishes of the two counties are—Alness, Applecross, Avoch, Barvas, Contin, Cromarty, Dingwall, Edderton, Fearn, Fodderty, Gairloch, Glenshiel, Killearnan, Kilmuir Wester, and Suddy, Kilmuir Easter, Kiltearn, Kintail, Kincardine, Knockbain, Lochalsh, Lochbroom, Lochcarron, Lochs, Logie Easter, Nigg, Resolis, Rosemarkie, Rosskeen, Stornoway, Tain, Tarbat, Uig, Urquhart, and Logie Wester, and part of Urray.

Ross-shire has four royal burghs. Formerly it had five. Cromarty, once a royal burgh, resigned its charter and renounced its privileges. The remaining burghs are—Dingwall, Tain, Fortrose, and Rosemarkie—the last two, although under the same municipal government, are distinct burghs, each constituted by royal charter—besides the town of Stornoway, and the villages of Invergordon, Ullapool, Jeantown, Plocktown, Shieldaig, Alness, Cononbridge, Avoch, Maryburgh, Contin, Redcastle, Charlestown, Munlochy, Evantown, Ballintraid, Barbaraville, Dornie, Poolewe, &c.

By Act of Parliament, 8 and 9 Vict., cap. 99, Dingwall is declared the head burgh of the shire; but for the better and more expeditious administration of justice it is divided into the Easter, Wester, and Lewis districts, at the head of which respectively are the towns of Tain, Dingwall, and Stornoway, each having a sheriff-court.

BURGH OF FORTROSE.

Fortrose - of old the "Chanonry of Ross," and an Episcopal See of considerable importance, as well as the seat of law, divinity, and learning in these parts—was erected into a "free burgh" in favour of the reverend father in Christ, Thomas, Bishop of Ross, and united to the adjoining elder burgh of Rosemarkie, by James II., in 1455. Being a Bishop's Burgh, Fortrose, along with other ecclesiastical lands and villas, reverted to the Crown at the Reformation, and was, in consequence, enfranchised anew, and erected into an independent Royal Burgh in 1590, and again annexed to Rosemarkie in 1592, under the united name of the Royal Burgh of Fortrose. The Bishoprick of Ross was formed by King David I. between the years 1124 and 1128, at which period Macbeth, its first Bishop, appears on record. The Cathedral or Diocesan seal of Fortrose, now used as that of the united Burghs, is circumscribed in Saxon characters—Scapituli Scom Petri et Bonifacii de Rosemarkin. The cathedral church, dedicated to Saint Peter and Saint Boniface, stood at the Chanonry, now Fortrose. When entire, it consisted of choir and nave with aisles, eastern Lady Chapel and Chapter House at the north-east end. Its remains consist of the south aisle to chancel and nave and the detached Chapter House—all in the middle-pointed style. A large bell now hung on a wooden spire bears the name of Thomas Tulloch, Bishop of Ross, 1460, and an inscription intimating its dedication to the Virgin Mary and Saint Boniface. Rosemarkie was enfranchised by Alexander II., in or about 1216. The ancient Burgh seal of Rosemarkie has inscribed on it the figure o fSaint Peter mitered in a shield. The circumscription is Sigillum est munæ Burge de Rosemarkiyn. The original church of Rosemarkie is ascribed to Saint Boniface, surnamed Queretinus an Italian, who, in the seventh or eighth century, is said to have come into Scotland for the purpose of inducing the church there to conform with the practices of the Church of Rome, and after founding churches in many parts of the country, to have settled in Rosemarkie and to have built there a church in which he was afterwards buried. The church was dedicated to him, and stood on the same site as the new church built in 1821. The town is regularly built, well lighted, and abundantly supplied with water. It is romantically situated on the shores of the Moray Firth, and, from the salubrity of the climate, and the beautiful walks in the neighbourhood and along the shore, possesses great attractions as summer and sea-bathing quarters. From the ridge of the hill, at the foot of which the burgh lies, a wide and varied panorama of mountain, hill, and sea stretches out before the eye. Within a wide grassy enclosure, in the centre of Fortrose, there are the remains of a once grand and imposing Cathedral—the see of the Bishops of Ross. Between the two towns, which are distant about half-a-mile from each other, a long tongue of land, having a beautiful sandy beach, and fine level lawn—the public links—on both sides, terminated by a lighthouse of the second order, runs out into the Firth. A ferry connects the peninsula at this point with Fort-George and the Inverness-shire coast. The Burgh having an independent revenue, besides a considerable income from various mortifications, left for the benefit of the poor, taxation is almost nominal. Living is cheap, and there is an excellent endowed Academy, besides several good schools. There is also a comfortable hotel, and sea-bathing quarters can easily be had. Fortrose likewise possesses a safe and convenient harbour. Distance from Inverness, about eleven miles, from Dingwall about fifteen, and from Cromarty about 9 miles. The fishing village of Avoch is within a mile and a-half. The population of the burgh by the census of 1881 is 869. Constituency—males 150, females 58—208. The annual value of real property within the Parliamentary boundary for the year 1884-5 is £3651. The comparative revenue for the same period is £222. Part of Royal Burgh of Fortrose beyond Parliamentary boundary, 117. Landward part of Rosemarkie Parish, 366. Total population of do., including Fortrose, 1352.

ISLAND OF LEWS.

This island is the largest of the Hebrides, being 45 miles in length, 15 in average breadth, and 30 in extreme breadth. The whole area is 417,460 acres, and the population, which is rapidly increasing and already exceeds that of Sutherlandshire by several thousands, was, according to last census, 25,876. The interior of the island is chiefly moorland, and the arable land is distributed along the seaboard, which is, however, much indented in some parts. There are four parishes—Stornoway, Lochs, Barvas, and Uig. The only town is Stornoway, situated at the head of a spacious and well protected bay on the east coast. The number of its inhabitants is about 3000; but during the herring fishing season the population is nearly trebled. The island was acquired in 1844, at a price of £190,000, by the late Sir James Matheson of Achany, Bart., Lord Lieutenant and some time M.P. for Ross-shire, from the representatives of the late Earl of Seaforth. Immense sums have been expended in the general improvement of the estate. Lews Castle, the residence of the proprietrix, occupies a commanding position overlooking the town. The Castle—a modern building in the Tudor style—is a massive structure of very striking aspect, and is most luxuriously furnished; while the Castle grounds are magnificent. The late Sir James Matheson's munificent liberality in improving the resources of the island is well known. The town of Stornoway is a Police Burgh, and is the emporium of the island. It is regularly built, and has undergone great improvement in recent years. Gas and water were long ago introduced; the main streets are paved with Caithness flags; and many of the vacant spaces have been tastefully laid out by Lady Matheson and her late mother, Mrs Perceval. Fishing, especially herring fishing, is the chief industry of the island, and the annual exports, comprising fish, cattle, horses, sheep, and wool, are probably understated in value at £200,000. The imports are of about equal aggregate value. The excellent facilities which its spacious natural harbour offers have made Stornoway an important port of call for deep sea ships. Stornoway is one of the largest stations of the Royal Naval Reserve. So popular has this service become, that the number of men in annual training is fast approximating 2000. The Government have lately completed a large extension of the battery. The armament consists of six guns. The island also furnishes about 700 to the militia, but few to the regular army. The antiquarian remains are interesting, but have not been investigated with the attention they deserve. They include the famous "Druidical" circles of Callanish, the duns or burgs of Bragor and Carlowsy, and several ancient chapels. At Gress, near Stornoway, there is a cave about 200 yards long, very like the sparr cave of Strathaird, in Skye.

The constituency, which is included in the shires of Ross and Cromarty, now numbers about 2500.

CROMARTYSHIRE.

This is a county of small extent, comprising the eastern part of the Black Isle, or Ardmeanach, part of the district generally called Easter Ross, Coigach on the west coast, most part of the northern acclivity of Strathpeffer, and several detached pendicles widely distant from each other, but all locally situated within the county of Ross, in which, though claiming some institutions peculiar to other counties, it is municipally sunk. It has no sheriff of its own, nor even a substitute, but forming little more than a circuit in the itinerancies of the sheriff-substitute of Dingwall.

Owing to the strange intermixture of territory alluded to, it was impossible to give a list of parishes altogether distinct from those of the dominant shire. They are therefore included in that of the county of Ross. This is also the case as to the population. The area, but perhaps only of Cromarty proper, is computed at sixty-two square miles, or 39,696 acres. It has a joint parliamentary representation with Ross—the present representative being Dr Roderick Macdonald, London.

TOWN OF CROMARTY.

This ancient town (the Portus Salutus of the Romans) is romantically situated on the south side, and close to the entrance of the Cromarty Firth. Owing to the beautiful walks, the unrivalled scenery, and splendid sea beach, where sea bathing can be enjoyed in perfect safety, the place is fast becoming a favourite summer resort. Immediately behind the town rises the famous Gallow Hill of Cromarty, from the top of which a wide and varied panorama of mountain, moor, and sea stretches out before the eye, while around its base lie those wonderful rocks and caves which were the "schools and schoolmasters" of Cromarty's illustrious son, Hugh Miller. In the neighbourhood of the town is the famous Burn of Eathie, with its miniature cascades and cataracts. Cromarty was once a Royal Burgh, but through some mismanagement it lost its Royalty. By the Reform Act of 1832 it again received the privilege of a civic constitution, and now forms one of the Northern Group of Burghs. It has a safe and always accessible harbour, the bay being the finest in the kingdom, where vessels encountering storm in the German Ocean often run for safety. There is regular steamboat communication with Leith, Aberdeen, Inverness, &c. Population, 1352. Distance from Inverness, 18 miles.

SUTHERLANDSHIRE.

This is a county of very great extent, bounded SS.W. by Ross-shire, on the N.E. by Caithness, on the W. and N. by the Atlantic, and on the S.E. by the Moray Firth.

Sutherland is divided into the districts of Sutherland, Strathnaver, Assynt, Edderachillis, and Durness, and the parishes of Assynt, Clyne, Creich, Dornoch, Durness, Edderachillis, Farr, Golspie, Kildonan, Lairg, Loth, Rogart, Tongue, and part of Reay.

The population in 1881 was (including the Burgh of Dornoch) 23,336. The constituency is 3185; and the Marquis of Stafford is the sitting member.

In extent Sutherland is 62 miles from east to west, and 49 miles from north to south. Its area is about 1886 square miles, or 1,207,188 acres; about 150,000 are in a state of cultivation, 600,000 lack cultivation wholly, and 370,000 yield no cultivation.

The seat of Government is Dornoch, the only royal burgh in the shire, though there are the important villages of Bonar Bridge, Brora, Golspie, Helmsdale, Tongue, Scourie, and Lochinver.

ORKNEY.

The Islands forming this County lie off the North Coast of Caithness, from which they are separated by the Pentland Firth, which is from 5½ to about 7 miles broad. They are 67 in number, of which 29 are inhabited. The principal inhabited Islands are:—The Mainland or Pomona, South Ronaldsay, Sanday, Stronsay, Westray, Shapinsay, Walls and Hoy, Eday, Rousay, Papa Westray, Burray, Græmsay, Egilsay, North Ronaldsay, Gairsay, Flottay, Veira, and Papa Stronsay.

The area of the Islands is about 244 geographical miles; the population in 1881 was 32,037; the Parliamentary constituency for 1885-86 was 3898. The old valued rent of Orkney, made in 1653-71, was £57,149 Scots, and the new rental for 1885-86 was over £71,700 stg., exclusive of the burgh of Kirkwall, £12,247. The county is now under the same Sheriff as Caithness and Shetland, and unites with the latter in sending a member to Parliament; but is otherwise entirely independent.

Kirkwall is the only Royal Burgh in Orkney; but Stromness is a Burgh of Barony, with a population of about 2000, and it has an excellent harbour, which was formerly much frequented by shipping. Kirkwall population, 4100.

There has been steam communication between Orkney, Aberdeen, and Granton for the last 36 years, now changed to Leith, between which and Kirkwall two fast vessels ply weekly. A small steamer now plies twice a week between Kirkwall and Rousay, calling at Evie and Rendall on the Mainland. The traffic has now so much increased that two steamers weekly are found insufficient in the summer months to carry all the stock and goods from Kirkwall and Lerwick. One of the steamers runs weekly on the passage during the winter. There is, besides, a daily mail steamer between Scapa Pier (about a mile and a-half south of Kirkwall) and Scrabster Roads in Caithness, which also carries passengers, cattle, and goods, and for a number of years past there has been steam communication twice a-week, 'twixt Kirkwall and the North Isles, viz., Sanday, Stronsay, Westray, and Eday. Under the new "Orkney Piers and Harbour Act," a pier for the accommodation of steamers and sailing vessels has been erected at Scapa Bay; and to meet the ever-increasing traffic in fish and farm produce at Holm, a new pier has also been erected at the village of St. Mary's there on the estate of Graemeshall. Excellent stone piers have also been built in the Islands of Eday, Westray, Sanday, and Stronsay, and others are being projected both in the South and North Isles.

KIRKWALL

was a place of much importance during the Scandinavian dominion in the islands, and, on their annexation to the Scottish Crown in 1468, it was erected into a Royal Burgh by James III. It possesses some very interesting ancient structures. The Cathedral of St Magnus, founded by Ronald, Earl of Orkney, in 1137, in honour of Earl Magnus, and subsequently enlarged from time to time, is the most complete building of the kind in Scotland, and, together with the ruins of the Bishop's Palace, in which King Hakon of Norway died in 1263, and the ruins of the Earl's Palace, both in close proximity, forms a picturesque group, unsurpassed by anything of the kind in Scotland.

A Gas Company was started and the town lighted with gas upwards of thirty years ago, and many improvements have lately been made in and around the Burgh. Tasteful and commodious houses are now springing up on its outskirts, and there is a handsome pier to which the steamers can come at all tides. A large fleet can ride at anchor, in complete security, in Kirkwall Bay, which is sheltered from the ocean on all sides.

The valuation of the burgh for 1884-85 is £11,062 16s 10d, and the burghal constituency is 401, and the population in 1881 was 3923. Kirkwall is one of the Wick district of burghs represented by J. M'D. Cameron, analytical chemist, London, M.P.

Cromwell's Fort is now used as a battery by the Kirkwall Volunteers. In the vicinity of the town there are several ruins of buildings belonging to the early inhabitants of the islands. Close to the farm house of Quanterness is a large "Picts' house," and not far from it, on the western slope of Wideford Hill, one of a smaller size. Remains of large buildings and subterranean chambers, exist at the old house of Saverock; and, in the summer of 1870, the ruins of a large "Brough" or circular tower, surrounded by numerous smaller structures, in the form of chambers and connecting passages, was discovered at Lingrow, and excavated, and, being within half-an-hour's walk of Kirkwall, can easily be visited by tourists.
