PART FIRST.

The Kalendar,

AND INFORMATION CONNECTED THEREWITH.

PRELIMINARY OBSERVATIONS ON THE KALENDAR.

THOUGH the Astronomical portion of Oliver & Boyd's New Edinburgh Almanac is specially designed for popular use, it may, in the absence of the Nautical Almanac, be found serviceable to the Astronomer and the Navigator.

All the computations are adapted to Greenwich mean time. If we subtract 13 m * from the time in the tables, the remainder is Edinburgh mean time. Mean Time is that which is shown by a well-regulated clock; Apparent Time, that indicated by a sundial. The column called Equation of Time shows the difference between mean and apparent time: when it is headed "Clock before Sun," the mean is earlier than the apparent noon; and to obtain apparent time, the equation must be subtracted from the mean time: when the column is headed "Clock after Sun," the mean is later than the apparent noon, and to obtain apparent time, the equation must be added to the mean time. To reduce apparent into mean time, add the equation when the clock is before the sun; subtract it when the clock is after the sun.

The rising and setting of the centre of the sun are calculated for the latitude of Edinburgh, at the level of the sea, allowance being made for parallax and refraction. The declination, parallax, semi-diameter, right ascension, and logarithmic distance of the sun, the equation of time, and the places of the principal planets, are computed for the instant of mean noon. The semi-diurnal arcs of the planets are used in ascertaining the times of their rising and setting: thus, to find the approximate time of rising, subtract the arcs from the times of southing; and to find that of setting, add the arcs to the times of southing.

The time of high water at Leith is computed from manuscript tables deduced from recent observations on the Tides in the Firth of Forth, and the depth from FORMULÆ investigated in the second and fifth volumes of the Mécanique Céleste of La Place. The depths are computed for the Old Dock at Leith; the depths for the Victoria Dock will be obtained by adding 6 feet 4 inches to them; and for the Albert Dock by adding 8 feet. The times, though calculated for Leith, will be found sufficiently correct for the other ports on the Firth of Forth, as well as for Berwick, Dundee, Holy Island, and London Bridge, as the winds frequently cause a wider difference than that which exists between the times at those places and Leith; but when greater accuracy is required, recourse should be had to the table at page 25.

The time of high water at Granton may be assumed the same as at Leith; the depth of high water at the Victoria Jetty will be obtained by adding six feet six inches to the depths calculated for Leith; at the two upper jetties by adding eight feet; and at the end of the pier by adding ten feet three inches.

The rising and setting of the moon, corrected for parallax and refraction, are computed for Edinburgh, at the level of the sea; and her Semi-diameter, Horizontal Parallax, Right Ascension, and Declination, which are given for each day at noon, afford the means of making many useful and interesting Nautical and Astronomical calculations.

All the results have been carefully checked by means of differences and by frequent independent calculations, so that it is hoped no error of importance will be found.

NOTE.—When the time is between noon and midnight, it is indicated by the letter a. or A.; and when between midnight and the following noon, by the letter m. or M.

FARMER'S AND GRAZIER'S KALENDAR.

January.—In fresh weather, where the soil is moderately dry, the plough may be kept in motion.——To make the feeding of cattle remunerative, it is necessary that the most unremitting attention be paid to the animals. Whether they are fed in courts, byres, or boxes, they ought to be kept warm and comfortably littered, whilst their food, of whatever description, ought to be regularly supplied at stated hours. Crushed grains, and artificial food given in addition to stored roots, will be found a profitable mode of feeding, and chopped straw may also be given as a healthy and economical addition to their diet. Cows require succulent roots or food prepared by steam or hot water, to yield milk copiously. Shelter new dropt lambs, and give their dams roots, hay, and bruised grain, or linseed cake.

February.—Frost being a powerful agent in obtaining mould for covering seeds, plough grass and other lands intended to produce a crop. Whether turnip be folded or carried from the field, plough the land as the crop is removed, and wheat-sowing may follow. Beans and oats may be sown; but it is only rich dry soils which can be seeded so early with prospect of success. In mild weather thorn hedges may be dressed, and new ones planted. Lay up stores of seed-corn, put implements into working trim, and execute many little jobs, that no interruption may be experienced in sowing-time.——Animals about to bring forth merit particular attention,—the supply of milk and strength of offspring being affected by the dam's treatment previous to birth. Keep calves warm, clean, and dry; give hay and sliced roots in addition to liquid food to such as are rearing.

March.—Finish wheat-sowing about the middle of the month. Sow beans, oats, and barley as soon as the weather and soil admit,—reserving cold wet lands till the season advances. The seeds of clover and ryegrass will succeed amongst autumnal-sown wheats, without harrowing or rolling, unless the surface be peculiarly dry. Particular fields intended for barley or potatoes may receive a second ploughing. Prepare composts and manures for turnip. This is the best time for planting hedges.——In altering the diet of fatting animals, always let the change be to one more nutritious. Fatting cattle may be allowed bruised grain or linseed cake. If there be a scarcity of turnip for cattle intended for grass, give a small allowance of bruised grain, cake, or hay. Should the weather be favourable, potatoes may be planted after the middle of this month.

April.—No favourable opportunity should now be lost to sow grain crops. Harrow and roll clover and ryegrass sown amongst wheat, to ensure the seed germinating. Store the residue of the turnip crop, to preserve the bulbs and prevent the exhaustion of soil. Drain lands intended for green crop where previously neglected. Potatoes may be planted in favourable situations. Finish planting thorn hedges.——On store farms, this is the chief lambing season, and the shepherd's utmost attention is necessary. Cease folding turnip, and either feed sheep on stored roots, or restrict them to grass. Should the pastures be late, give sheep grains or prepared cakes. Fatting lamb-hogs require good pasture, being unable to eat turnip freely, from shedding teeth. When there is a scarcity of keep at the homestead, lean cattle may be allowed to roam over permanent pastures. Seedling grasses will seldom admit of being depastured with cattle.

May.—Conclude the sowing of grain crops; and, with the advance of the season, use early varieties. From necessity, barley and pease may be sown up to the end of the month; but full crops cannot be counted upon from such late sowing. Prepare soils for turnip, and use every means to produce a fine tilth. Finish potato-planting. Give a second ploughing to summer fallow, and never allow vegetation to make progress at this season on its surface.——Fatting cattle may be continued on well-kept Swedish turnip and potatoes. When there is a sufficiency of grass, and the soil becomes dry, stock pastures with all descriptions of cattle. In cold and wet evenings, shelter milch cows and fat cattle in courts. Wean early calves, and turn late ones out to pasture. Swedish turnips may be sown from the middle of this month to the end of it.

June.—This is the month for sowing turnips. Where Swedes could not be sown during May, they may still be planted during the first days of June. All other varieties may be sown in course of the month. Drilled crops require attention. Weeds are most easily destroyed when young; and, as a general rule, use hand and horse hoes as soon as the crops admit of the operations. Earth up early-planted potatoes. Hay making commences in early situations. Mow grasses before the plants seed; remove the crop quickly from the ground, and soon afterwards carry it to the stack.——Sheep-shearing becomes general. Fleeces are proportionate to the treatment of animals; and every progression or falling off in condition may be traced in the quantity and quality of wool. Cattle may be best soiled this month, and this mode of feeding has many advantages.

July.—Conclude haymaking from artificial grasses. Single out turnip, leaving on rich soils spaces of from ten to twelve inches between each plant, and let hand and horse hoes be in constant requisition, with a view to improving the crops and benefiting succeeding ones. Work fallows thoroughly with plough, harrow, and roller, carefully removing root-weeds by the hand. Execute draining, and apply lime and lime-composts when such operations are necessary. Hand-weed grain crops.——In warm weather fatting cattle and milch cows are the better of sheds, to shelter them from the sun. Throughout summer examine flocks daily, to preserve them from the attack of flies, and use the common remedies for the prevention and destruction of maggots.

August.—Conclude hand and horse hoeing turnip. Apply manure to the fallows, and immediately plough it into the soil, putting the ridges into proper form, and clearing out water-courses, to guard against wet weather. In mountain districts haymaking from natural grasses engages the attention of store-farmers. In low situations corn-harvest will occupy all hands.——Lambs not separated from their dams last month must be weaned and put on the best pastures. On lowly situated arable farms get in ewes for early lambing. In high districts select and prepare the stock to be sent to market in the course of autumn. Prepare ropes, thatch, and every description of store necessary for the harvest, and see that the requisite implements are in proper order.

September.—This may be considered the harvest month. Engage plenty of assisting hands for this important season. Guard against shaking winds by reaping before the juices have left the straw; and to avoid sprouting, keep cut crops always standing in an upright position. When the crop is fit for stacking, carry it by day and by night, and cover the stacks as soon as they are built. Hand-weed turnip where necessary. Finish fallows; and such as are wet and coldly situated may be sown with wheat.——On arable farms, weaned lambs and ewes for early lambing may be allowed to depasture stubbles and seedling grass. The breeders, rearers, and feeders of stock will meet at the different markets, and make arrangements for their customary changes of animals.

October.—Harvest being finished, this month may be considered the first in the agricultural year, as on the carrying of one crop, preparations for the next should be begun. The plough should now be set in motion. Commence wheat-sowing in later situations, and defer only such fields as are very dry, and situated in an early climate. Use the preventatives for smut immediately before scattering the seed, and never sow unless there be moisture in the soil to effect germination. Gather potatoes, and carefully secure them from frost.——Unless there is abundance of grass, sheep should get turnip on the pastures. In the beginning of the month remove fatting cattle to the courts, and shelter milch cows during night. Keep weakly calves warm, and allow them nourishing food.

November.—Conclude potato harvest. Finish wheat-sowing, although this grain may be sown any time on rich dry soils up to the middle of March. At this season, sow wheat from day to day as the soil is turned over. Begin to store turnips for winter use; and wheat may be sown where the crop is removed. Form lime-composts for applying in spring and summer. This is the best time for draining soils intended for green crop and fallow. Dress hedges and ditches.——Sheep intended to be fatted should be folded on turnip, and allowed dry fodder. Lamb-hogs will thrive best with an allowance of turnip on pastures. To all flocks apply the salves and lotions in common use. Cattle of all descriptions should receive fodder and shelter during night, and such as are fatting be carefully attended to in the courts or boxes.

December.—Continue to plough stubbles. Store turnip in mild weather. Regulate thrashing, so that there may be straw to last through the season. In mild weather dress ditches and repair fences, drain, and add by every means to the stores of compost and manure. During frosty weather bring forward materials for drains and composts, and remove heavy commodities which require a firm surface for transport.——Cattle of every description should now be in winter quarters, and receive winter fare. Separate the weak from the strong. Have a constant supply of water to store cattle, and apportion their litter and food to last till the arrival of the grass season. Give fatting cattle as much as they can eat, commencing with globe turnip, and proceeding with food of increasing richness.

GARDENER'S KALENDAR.

January.—When the frost is not severe, trench, manure, and turn up in ridges all vacant ground, and prepare hotbeds. In open and dry weather, sow in mild exposures, for a succession, a few early-frame pease, common beans, short-topped radishes, lettuces, carrots, onions, spinach, and curled parsley, protecting them from the frost by mats or straw; and, in hotbeds, sow cauliflowers, melons, cucumbers, small salading, early cabbages, and kidney-beans. Plant, prune, and train standard and wall fruit-trees, gooseberry, raspberry, and currant bushes. Edge beds, form new flower-gardens, and shelter from frost tender evergreens, tulips, ranunculuses, &c. Pot choice dahlias, placing them in a stove or hotbed. Air and keep dry carnations and stage auriculas. Plant snowdrops, crocuses, gladioluses, irises, &c.

February.—Make ready all the ground intended for early crops; and, when the weather is favourable, continue to sow every fortnight pease, beans, onions, spinach, savoys, lettuces, celery, cauliflowers, carrots, parsnips, and radishes, as directed in the kalendar for the preceding month. Start and cut early kidney-potatoes for seed, and put them into the stove or hotbed in order to planting out. Clean shrubberies, roll walks and lawns, and plant out evergreens and shrubs of all kinds, particularly roses. Put cuttings into rich light soil in well-sheltered borders, and plant stocks of the common wild rose for standards on which to bud the Chinese and other fine varieties. Protect all tender plants from the effects of frost, and air greenhouse and stage auriculas and polyanthus frames. Top-dress all fine auriculas and polyanthuses in pots or boxes. Strike dahlias from roots in hotbeds, and sow balsams, cockscombs, tricolors, amaranths, sensitive and ice plants, as well as other tender annuals. Plant carnation-layers, ranunculuses, anemones, and bulbous roots, and divide the roots of herbaceous plants.

March.—The principal crops of vegetables should be put into the ground this month. Sow asparagus, celery, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, beets, brocoli, spinach, onions, Dutch turnips, carrots, pease and beans, savoys, parsnips, and turnip-rooted radishes. Plant red cabbage, sea-kale, kidney-beans, and cauliflowers from frames: and sow cucumbers and melons in hotbeds. Finish pruning, dress borders and strawberry beds. Strike verbenas, calceolarias, heliotropes, senecias, petunias, dahlias, scarlet geraniums, fuchsias, salvias, Chinese chrysanthemums, &c. This is the best time to graft fruit-trees, and the China, perpetual, moss, and noisette roses, on the common brier or blush China rose, and to propagate them by layers. Pot dahlias that have pushed, and also cuttings from the offsets, placing them in a moderate heat. Protect tender plants and blossoms, and sow polyanthus, auricula, and almost every kind of perennial, biennial, and annual seeds.

April.—Sow whatever was omitted last month, and plant out such of the pot-herbs as are ready for that purpose. Continue to sow brocoli, asparagus, nasturtiums, sea-kale, Dutch turnips, German greens, and savoys, and plant out rhubarb, artichokes, sea-kale, German greens, and small salading. Earth up pease, tie up lettuces, and in very dry weather water seedling beds. Finish the grafting of fruit-trees, and train and clean walks and edgings. Sow annuals, biennials, and perennials. Plant evergreens, and propagate by cuttings jasmine, lavender, sage, rosemary, rue, &c., and all the woody kitchen shrubs. Sow dahlias, carnations, pinks, hollyhocks, Cape, Brompton, and German stocks, China asters, and all kinds of hardy annuals. Pot the flowers struck last month. Destroy the green-fly on roses, and preserve the bloom of stage auriculas from sun and rain. Top-dress all flowers in pots by removing withered leaves, and put in fresh earth. Hoe and rake gravel-walks, cut box-edgings, and mow grass plots.

May.—Sow capsicums, cauliflowers, carrots, lettuces, spinach, Knight's marrow-fat pease, cucumbers, red beet for pickling, and a full crop of kidney and French beans. Transplant cabbages, winter-greens, lettuces, cauliflowers, and celery. Hoe and stake pease, water newly planted crops, and propagate aromatic plants by slips or cuttings. Plant out the flowers potted last month, if there be no appearance of frost; and protect from wind and rain choice tulips, ranunculuses, and anemones. Propagate herbaceous plants by dividing the roots; wallflowers, sweetwilliams, lychnis, and rockets, by slips; and China roses, mimuluses, &c., by cuttings. Put out into the open border pelargoniums, with other greenhouse plants; also Neapolitan violets, and such other hardy annuals as were sown last month. Sow biennials and perennials, if formerly omitted.

June.—Continue sowing the vegetables directed last month, and also turnips for autumn use. Plant out brocoli, cabbages, savoys, celery, cauliflowers in shady borders, leeks, lettuces, cucumbers for pickling, and kidney-beans. Watering is requisite in dry weather both evening and morning; and also the hoeing of potatoes, cabbages, and pease. Thin out onions, carrots, parsnips, and early turnips. Gather and preserve kitchen-herbs. Shade and air melon-plants, and strike by cuttings double-wallflowers, rockets, scarlet lychnis, and stocks. Transplant annuals, biennials, and perennials and seedling pinks into a bed. Lift all hyacinths, tulips, and other bulbs that have ceased flowering. Cut off the foliage an inch above the stem, and before putting by lay them in sand a fortnight. Re-pot auriculas, polyanthuses, &c. Mow and roll grass walks and plots once a-fortnight during this and the other summer months.

July.—In this month prepare all unoccupied plots of ground for autumn and winter crops. Sow turnips, lettuces, and black Spanish radishes. Plant out brocoli, cauliflower, savoys, leeks, and winter cabbages, and earth up celery. Lift full-grown winter onions, and prepare mushroom spawn. In fine weather, gather medicinal flowers and sweet herbs when in bloom, dressing them in the shade for winter use. Divest wall-trees, espaliers, and standards, of all superfluous shoots. Continue to water in dry weather, and gather all kinds of seeds as they advance to maturity. Propagate evergreens, roses, and other shrubs, by laying the young wood. Inoculate flowering and other shrubs, bud roses in cloudy weather, and divide the roots of double primroses, polyanthuses, and auriculas. Lay or pipe carnations and pinks, take up anemones and ranunculuses, and put in cuttings of pansies, calceolarias, dahlias, geraniums, &c.

August.—Sow onions, early cabbages, savoys, German greens, and parsley, for the succeeding year; and lettuces, spinach, and cauliflowers, to stand the winter. Earth celery; hoe and thin turnips; transplant brocoli, savoys, and cauliflowers, and the principal crop of celery into trenches for blanching. Cut those herbs which are adapted for distillation or for winter use. Make mushroom-beds, propagate kitchen herbs by slips, and take up all onions, garlic, and shalots that are withered in the stem. Continue to bud on fruit-trees, roses, and bushes, so long as the bark rises freely and the weather is cloudy. To obtain new varieties, sow auricula, polyanthus, and anemone seeds, and mignonette to blow in winter; as also the seeds of tulips, hyacinths, irises, and all the other bulbous-rooted flowers. Support and thin dahlias to improve their bloom. Shift tender exotics and hardy green-house plants into fresh pots. Keep the ground clear of weeds; and continue to water plentifully.

September.—Sow vegetable seeds for a spring-crop, and plant savoys, German greens, lettuces, celery, and perennial aromatic and pot herbs. Hoe winter-spinach and turnips, earth up celery and cardoons, weed cauliflowers and young onions, prick out cabbage-plants, gather ripe seeds, and make mushroom-beds. Make cuttings of gooseberries, currants, verbenas, calceolarias, heliotropes, senecias, petunias, scarlet geraniums, fuchsias, salvias, Chinese chrysanthemums, &c., and keep them in boxes during the winter. Plant cuttings of raspberries, and also strawberries, taking out all the old stools which have twice produced fruit. Continue to divide and transplant biennial and perennial flower-roots; lay almost every kind of shrubs; and put in cuttings of evergreens, China roses, and flowering shrubs. Crocuses, snowdrops, Persian irises, dog's-tooth violets, fritillarias, crown imperials, narcissuses, and most of the other bulbous roots, may now be planted. All the rooted pinks and carnations may be planted out. Sow hardy annuals to stand the winter, and trench up ground in which to plant tulips and hyacinths during October or November.

October.—Plant horse-radishes, lettuces, early cabbages, and other greens neglected last month, in sheltered situations; also cauliflowers, mint, and tarragon in frames, for winter use. Earth up savoys and cabbages as high as the leaves. Take up carrots and parsnips, cut off their tops, and bury them in dry sand. Crop the tops of parsley, to make fresh leaves for winter. Plant all deciduous trees and shrubs. Commence pruning, taking the vertical branches in fruit-trees, and cutting obliquely to prevent rain from lodging; also roses, honeysuckle, and other flowering shrubs. Protect dahlias, young carnations, and layers, from sudden frost; and, about the end of the month, begin to plant hyacinths, tulips, ranunculuses, and anemones. In favourable weather, transplant hardy fibrous-rooted plants, intermixing them in the borders, to keep up a succession in the flowering season.

November.—Although hazardous, early pease and beans may be sown in a warm border; if neglected, most vegetables recommended in the last two months may still be planted, earthed up, &c., taking care to protect them from frost. Force sea-kale, rhubarb, and asparagus. Prune and plant fruit-trees and bushes; and finish flowering shrubs and trees. Transplant seedling stocks, and suckers taken from the roots of the pear, codling, plum, and quince trees, to prepare them for budding or grafting different fruits upon; also stocks of the tree-rose, for budding upon them the garden and Chinese varieties. Shelter choice flowers. To make the colours of the tulip distinct, the compost ought to be changed every alternate year; an operation which should be performed this month. Tulip-soil should be one-third of fresh, light, turfy loam; one-third of fine sand; and one-third of sandy peat, or leaf-mould. Take up dahlia roots whenever the bloom is nipped by frost, and keep them in sand free from damp.

December.—Prepare for future operations, by digging, manuring, or trenching vacant ground, and collecting dung, leaves, and turf, to make compost. In mild weather, a few early pease and radishes may be sown in a warm border, and small salads and cucumbers in hotbeds. Cover with fern, straw, litter, or mats, all such plants as are likely to be injured by frost, either in the open ground or in frames, admitting free supplies of air when the weather is favourable. Plant and prune all kinds of trees and bushes, taking care to stake the trees that are newly planted. In pruning roses, remove the old wood, curtail the young straggling branches, adding good store of decayed manure. Fine auriculas, polyanthuses, and carnations must now be treated with great care.

PART SECOND.

Information in Commerce, Agriculture, Law, Chronology, and Statistics.

SECTION I.—USEFUL TABLES.

MONETARY SYSTEM OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

The integer of account is the pound, divided from a remote period into 20 shillings, each of 12 pence; and the circulating medium consists of coins of gold, silver, and bronze, and of bank notes convertible into gold, which is the metallic basis of the monetary system; the silver and bronze coins being available only for small money or change.

COINS.

Gold: Sovereign (or pound) and half-sovereign, coined at the rate of 1869 sovereigns from 40 lbs. troy of the standard fineness of 22 carats, or 916⅔ milliemes; being minted at 77s. 10½d. per troy ounce. The full weight of the sovereign is 5 dwts. 3·274 grains; but it is a legal tender when 5 dwts. 2¾ grains; and the two coins are received at par by the Bank of England at the "current weights" of 5 dwts. 2½ grains and 2 dwts. 13⅛ grains respectively.

Gold has long been the principal medium of large payments, but a double standard legally existed until 1816, when gold coins became the sole standard and legal tender, without limitation (56 Geo. III, c. 68). Under this law the mint is open to the public for gold coinage, and standard bullion is converted into an equal weight of sovereigns; but in practice, the bullion is sold at the fixed rate of 77s. 9d. to the Bank of England, in exchange for coin (or its equivalent) at 77s. 10½d. per oz., the difference of 1½d. per oz. being compensation to the Bank for the delay in coinage.

Silver: Crown of 5s., half-crown, florin of 2s., shilling, and pieces for 6d., 4d., 3d., 2d., and 1d.; but the last two, called maundy money, are not in circulation. All are coined at the rate of 66s. from 1 lb. troy of the fineness of 11 oz. 2 dwts., or 925 milliemes; and the full weight of the shilling is 3 dwts. 15¾ grains. Silver is thus minted at 5s. 6d. per oz., an over-valuation of about 8 per cent.; but the coins are not a legal tender for more than 40s. at one time.

Bronze: Penny, halfpenny, and farthing, coined at rates greatly exceeding their intrinsic value, but not legal tender beyond one shilling.

The Remedy of the Mint is, for gold coins 12 grains per lb. in weight, and $\frac{1}{18}$ carat in fineness; for silver 1 dwt. per lb. in both weight and fineness.

In England the pound represented at first a Saxon pound of silver, but the coins were successively degraded to about one-third of their original values. The earliest, save the Saxon styca and skeatta, was, A. D. 725, the silver penny, often broken into fourth-things or farthings. Gold was not coined until 1257, and copper not until the 17th century. Of the old gold coins, the chief were the merk of 13s. 4d.; the noble of 6s. 8d.; and later, the guinea, valued after 1717 at 21s.

Scots currency was, when abolished, 1707, of only 1-12th the value of sterling, and £100 Scots = £8, 6s. 8d. sterling, or £1 Scots = 1s. 8d. sterling. The merk = 13s. 4d. Scots, and the plack = 2 bodles = 4d. Scots.

In Irish currency, abolished 1826, £108, 6s. 8d. Irish = £100 sterling.

PAPER MONEY AND BANKS OF ISSUE.

Public banks were introduced shortly after the Revolution of 1688. Unlike the old banks of Venice and Amsterdam, which were solely banks of deposit, they became banks of deposit, loan, circulation, and exchange. The earliest and greatest, the Bank of England, founded 1694, advanced its capital, then £1,200,000, to the Government, and acquired important privileges. It was immediately, 1695, followed by the Bank of Scotland, of less pretension, but which led the way to a system which, from its economy, especially in utilizing deposits, and supplying a stable currency, has more than any other contributed to the excellence of modern banking. The Bank of Ireland was formed, 1782, on the model of the Bank of England.

The note circulation of the Bank of England was well supported, and save during a short period in 1696, its convertibility was maintained until 1797, when, under adverse circumstances, aggravated by war, the Bank was exempted from specie payments. The notes then became depreciated; but under arrangements consequent on "Peel's Act," 1819, the exchange of notes for gold was resumed in 1821.

The concessions to the Bank of England included a restriction, in 1708, of the partners in other English banks to six, which continued until 1826, when joint-stock banks of issue were allowed in places beyond the metropolitan district; and in 1833, when the Bank charter was renewed, and one-fourth of its capital repaid by Government, non-issuing joint-stock banks were allowed within the metropolitan district. The monopoly of the Bank of Ireland was similarly broken up in 1824. The joint-stock banks thus established were all mainly constituted upon the Scottish system. No other change occurred until the introduction of the existing regulations in 1844.

Existing Regulations.

The bank issues consist in England of notes for £5 and upwards of the Bank of England (which still monopolizes the circulation within 65 miles of London), and of numerous provincial banks; and in Scotland and Ireland of notes for £1 and upwards, all regulated so as to conform to a gold currency. New banks of issue are prohibited; and existing banks are limited in their issues, except against specie, of which one-fifth may be silver; while a publication is required of their circulation and specie, and an annual registration of their partners.

The Bank of England was, from August 31, 1844, divided into two entirely separate departments of issue and banking, and notes for £14,000,000 were transferred from the former to the latter, against special securities lodged with the Government, including £11,015,000 due by it to the Bank, all bearing 3 per cent. interest. Beyond this £14,000,000 no notes could be issued, except against coin or bullion lodged in the issue department. But the Bank was empowered to increase its issues upon securities to the extent of two-thirds of that withdrawn by any English provincial bank, and its authorized issue has been thus increased to £15,000,000—the profit of this increased issue, however, going to the Government. The actual circulation averages £22,000,000, issued about two-thirds from London, and one-third from 11 branches. Notes may be demanded from the issue department in exchange for gold bullion at the rate of 77s. 9d. per oz., and they are payable in coin at the mint rate of 77s. 10½d. per oz. Payment of those issued in London can be demanded there only, but branch notes are payable either at the London office, or at the branches where issued. Otherwise the notes are a legal tender except in Scotland and Ireland.

The English Provincial Banks of issue have a maximum circulation fixed at the average of the twelve weeks to April 27, 1844. The issues must be at certain licensed places, and no union can take place between a joint-stock bank and a private bank, or between two joint-stock banks of issue, without one of them, at least, losing its circulation. The opening of new branches of issue is also restrained. The aggregate fixed issues, originally £8,631,647, have declined to £6,723,903; and the average actual circulation is only about £5,400,000, spread over 123 private and 56 joint-stock banks. The specie held is not published, the notes being payable in Bank of England paper, and no power being possessed to issue against specie in excess of the fixed circulation.

In Scotland, banks of issue are confined to those which existed in the year to May 1, 1845; and the issue of each is restricted to the amount of its average circulation in that year, and of the specie held at its head office, where the notes are payable. Should two banks join, the united bank may issue to the amount of their separate circulations. The aggregate authorized circulation, originally £3,087,209, is now £2,749,271. The average amount of specie held is nearly £3,000,000, and of actual circulation nearly £5,000,000, issued by 11 joint-stock banks, with upwards of 700 branches.

In Ireland the authorized circulation is arranged as in Scotland; the issues of two banks which unite are also given to the united bank; but if any bank discontinues its issue, and circulates notes of the Bank of Ireland, the circulation of the latter may be to an equal amount increased. The notes are demandable in gold at the branches where issued; but the specie held against the circulation in excess of that authorized must be held at the head office, or certain licensed places. The total authorized circulation is still, as at first, £6,354,494. The average specie held is about £2,000,000, and of actual circulation £6,000,000, issued by six joint-stock banks.

Under four distinct arrangements, a general system is thus established which gives to all these banks a collective action analogous to that of a single national bank, with a privilege of issue limited upon securities, but expansive upon bullion. Placing together the fixed issues gives—

Bank of England, .	£15,000,000
English Provincial Banks,	6,723,903
Scottish Banks . . .	2,749,271
Irish Banks	6,354,494
In all .	£30,827,668

The authorized issues were adjusted with a declining tendency; but to their operative extent the use of the precious metals (or capital) is economized; while, from all farther issues being represented by specie,* the whole is rendered conformable to a metallic currency. The actual circulation averages about 38 millions, which, estimating 70 millions for gold and 12 millions for silver and copper, makes the aggregate of money 120 millions. The issues temporarily rise at the money terms, but show little tendency to increase, notwithstanding the rapid growth of trade and wealth. Indeed, the bank note has almost become a secondary instrument, as, owing to the extension of the deposit system, with the increased use of cheques, transfers, credits, and other expedients of modern banking, mediums of exchange and payment are now supplied, which, while as cheap as notes, are in practice more elastic and convenient. The bank clearing system, too, pervades the whole country, everywhere economizing both currency and capital. Local clearings are adjusted by drafts on Edinburgh, Dublin, or London, which merge into greater clearings in those towns, especially in London, where cheques, bills, etc., representing annually about 2000 millions sterling, are settled without either bank note or coin—the mutual balances of the clearing banks being settled by cheques on their several accounts with the Bank of England. This system could be farther economized by working the London clearing out of a joint account with the Bank of England, or by exchequer bills, as in Edinburgh.

BANK OF ENGLAND ACCOUNTS AND MANAGEMENT.

The Bank publishes weekly accounts in the Gazette of the Issue and Banking departments, as follows:—

The Issue Account is credited with the fixed securities ($b+c$) for £15,000,000, and ($d+e$) the bullion; and debited with, their constant equivalent, the (a) "notes issued" to the banking department and the public. This amount (a) is termed the "issue circulation;" while that in the banking department (n) is the "note reserve;" and their difference ($a-n$), called the "active circulation," is that in the hands of the public. The action of the issue department is purely passive, having no function beyond that of giving, when required, notes for bar gold at 77s. 9d., and sovereigns (or bars if preferred) for notes at 77s. 10½d. per oz.

The Banking Department separates the business of the public boards from that of commercial or private parties, the former being chiefly transacted at the "public drawing office" and the "chancery and exchequer office," the latter at the "private drawing office."

The public offices all keep accounts with the bank, the customs, inland

* This is a prominent feature of the Act of 1844; and it is usually held that the notes of the Bank of England are specially secured by the specie, &c., in the issue department of the Bank. This is not, however, clear (Bank Report 1857, p. 220), and, as respects all other banks, the specie held is not more applicable to their notes than to their deposits and other liabilities.

revenue, &c., lodging the revenue as collected, and the pay-office, &c., withdrawing it for public purposes; while, quarterly, the dividends are paid on the national debt, the stocks constituting which are besides recorded and transferred at the bank. The (h) "public deposits" (which include chancery and savings banks' funds) increase through revenue receipts until the dividend terms in January, April, July, and October; but in order to lessen the inconvenience of so much capital being withdrawn from use, certain special advances are, in the latter part of each quarter, made out of these deposits to the discount-houses and others, which are repayable when the dividends on stock become due.

The banking account is separately debited with (f) the fixed capital of £14,553,000, and (g) the "rest," a variable surplus, increased by accrued profits until April 5, and October 10, when the bank dividends are paid to the proprietors. The other debits, beside (h) the public deposits already noticed, are (i) "other deposits," which comprise those of bankers, merchants, and others,—from £2,500,000 to £4,000,000, being those of London bankers. (k) The "seven days' bills" includes the outstanding bank post bills.

The credit side embraces (l) "government securities," a safe and readily-convertible investment; (m) "other securities," composed of bills discounted, and stocks, bonds, &c., on which advances have been made; and (n, o) the reserve of notes and coin, immediately available for advances or payments. The note reserve may be viewed as merely an arithmetical expression for the bullion in the issue department available for the banking department, as by consolidating the two accounts, and eliminating the unissued notes, an equivalent sum in bullion or coin will be found in excess of that required by the Act of 1844.

The Government of the Bank is vested in a governor, deputy-governor, and 24 directors, whose qualifications in stock are £4000, £3000, and £2000 respectively. The court or board meets every Thursday, when the weekly account is presented. The two governors have the chief administration, and attend daily, and the court is divided out into six regular committees:—1. The committee of treasury, virtually the governor's council, composed of the two governors, the former governors, and directors elected by the court; 2. The committee of daily waiting, composed of three directors in rotation, who discount or reject bills, take in or decline bullion, examine securities, &c.; and committees of, 3. Branches and lawsuits; 4. House, clerks, &c.; 5. Inspection of accountants' offices; and 6. Inspection of cashiers' offices. Subject to the court, the three departments of issue, banking, and national debt, are worked by two head officers,—first, the chief accountant, with cognizance of all the accounts; second, the chief cashier, with charge of all money matters. There is also a subordinate control of each office by a principal and deputy principal, besides, in the larger offices, superintendents. The early theory of the bank was to keep the divisions of accounts and cash entirely separate; and, though now much blended, the distinction is still mainly preserved, and the two check each other. Including branch clerks, mechanics, &c., upwards of 1000 persons are employed, about 400 being in the national debt department; and the annual charge is nearly £240,000, besides £20,000 in pensions. The bank building covers nearly 4 acres, and bears an estimated rental of £40,000.

The Business Regulations, though precise, comprehend little that is peculiar. Any person respectably introduced may keep a drawing account, provided it shall be remunerative to the bank,—a condition usually fulfilled by maintaining an adequate balance, though in some cases by an annual payment proportionate to the work. No interest is allowed, nor is an over-draft permitted; but the bank is always ready to discount approved bills for their customers, and to make advances on approved securities. The limit of the échéance of bills discounted is 90 days; but advances on bills of even six months are granted to parties who transact all their business with the bank. The rates charged are various, yet never below the advertised "minimum rate of discount" by which the bank's ordinary transactions are regulated. The bank will also buy or sell, or take charge of securities, and receive dividends; and will also remit money to or from her branches; and from one branch to another. At London are issued bank-post bills drawn at 7 days, and notes at 60 days, for transmission to India, &c.

The General Management of the bank does not, in principle, differ from that of any other well-conducted bank. The directors must always look to their present liabilities, their present reserve, and the impending demands on the latter. In respect to investments,— the average amount of deposits being known, and due regard paid to their temporary or permanent character,—it is usual to invest all above the amount to which they are likely to be reduced, in discounting bills, short loans, stock, or other convertible securities, care being taken to reserve sufficient cash to meet ordinary fluctuations in the deposits, without disturbing the general nature of the investments. The capital of the bank is not necessarily kept in the same realizable form, but it is desirable always to preserve a considerable portion of it in good banking securities, in case more than ordinary demands should arise. The progress of the bank is shown in the weekly returns. In tracing the action of the law of 1844, the fluctuations of the circulation now attract little notice; but increased importance is attached to the movement of the banking department. An increase of (i) the private deposits indicates increased monetary ease, while a decrease, especially when heavy, attests the necessities of traders and bankers. But the items which chiefly command attention are the two which more immediately determine the value of capital,—(m) the advances on commercial securities, and (n, o) the reserve; the former indicating the demand, the latter the supply which regulate the bank rate of discount,—which, as the best practical index of the value of capital, materially influences transactions throughout the kingdom. When the reserve is high, and advances moderate, the rate is low: but it is raised according as the reserve falls, and advances become in greater request, more especially during an adverse foreign exchange and drain of gold. The efflux of capital abroad is thus restrained, and its influx encouraged. The law of 1844, besides securing the convertibility of the note, operates in this way as a general caution to other banks and the public to contract, rather than extend, bill and credit facilities, when bullion is being exported.

Generally gold tends to leave the bank, and reduce the reserve, when the short exchange of London on Paris falls to 25f. 10c.; while an opposite effect is produced by the exchange rising to 25f. 33c. Owing to London being the entrepôt of the mining countries, a foreign demand for gold is often met without disturbing the bank's reserve. But under exceptional circumstances, political or financial, the bank is watchful of a diminution of the bullion, and may raise the discount-rate even while the reserve is good, and the foreign exchange not unfavourable; an adequate supply of gold being, in times of doubt or difficulty, peculiarly necessary as a basis of our credit and monetary system.

Since 1844 the reserve stood highest —£17,861,747—on June 21, 1871, when the private securities were £16,816,887, and the discount rate 2½ p. c. It stood lowest—£1,552,686—on Nov. 18, 1857, when, with the private securities at £26,113,453, the rate was 10 p. c.

IMPERIAL MEASURES.

This system, introduced 1826, continued the old legal measures of extension and weight, but superseded numerous corn and liquid measures by the "Imperial gallon," a new measure of capacity. The standards fixed were:—

1. Extension.—The "Imperial Standard Yard," or brass "standard yard of 1760," bearing the proportion of 36 inches to 39·1393 inches, the length of a pendulum vibrating seconds in the latitude of London at 62° Fahrenheit, and in a vacuum at the level of the sea.

2. Capacity.—The "Imperial Standard Gallon," containing 10 lbs. avoirdupois, or 277·274 cubic inches of distilled water at 62° Fahr., the barometer being at 30 inches.

3. Weight.—The Old Troy Pound of 1758, containing 5760 grains; one cubic inch of distilled water at 62° Fahr., the barometer being at 30 inches, weighing 252·458 grains; and 7000 of such grains were declared to be equal to the avoirdupois pound.

In 1834 those standards were accidentally destroyed; and a scientific commission having reported in favour of their restoration from material copies rather than by experimental reference to natural constants, the provisions for the latter were repealed in 1855. A standard yard and a standard avoirdupois pound were then constructed from authentic copies of the old standards, and deposited in the Exchequer—copies being at the same time lodged at the Mint, the Royal Observatory, the Royal Society, and the Palace at Westminster.

The following tables exhibit the usual multiples and divisions of these standards, with their equivalents in the metrical system of France:—

I.—LENGTH.

		Fr. Metres.
12 Inches	= 1 Foot	0·30479
3 Feet	= 1 Yard	0·91438
5½ Yards	= 1 Pole or Perch	5·02911
40 Poles	= 1 Furlong	201·16436
8 Fur. or 1760 Yards	= 1 Mile.	1609·31492

The hand = 4 inches; ell = 45 inches; pace = 5 feet; fathom = 6 feet. The degree = 20 leagues, = 60 nautical miles, or 69·121 statute miles. The land chain of 100 links = 66 feet.

II.—SURFACE.

		Fr. Ares.
144 Sq. inches	= 1 Sq. foot	0·000929
9 Sq. feet	= 1 Sq. yd.	0·008361
30¼ Sq. yds., or 272¼ sq. feet	= 1 Sq. Pole	0·252919
40 Sq. poles	= 1 Rood	10·116775
4 Roods	= 1 Acre	40·467102

The acre also contains 10 square chains, and 640 acres = 1 square mile.

III.—CAPACITY.

I.—GENERAL MEASURES OF SOLIDITY.

		Cub. Metre.
1728 Cubic inches	= 1 Cub. foot	0·028315
27 Cubic feet	= 1 Cubic yd.	0·764513

The ton measurement = 8 barrel bulk, or 40 cubic feet.

II.—MEASURES FOR LIQUIDS, CORN, &c.*

		Litres.
8·665 Cubic in.	= 1 Gill	0·142
4 Gills	= 1 Pint	0·568
2 Pints	= 1 Quart	1·136
4 Quarts	= 1 Gallon	4·543
2 Gallons	= 1 Peck	9·087
4 Pecks	= 1 Bushel	36·348
8 Bushels	= 1 Quarter	290·781

The peck, bushel, and quarter, are used for dry goods only: the last = 10 quarters.

Besides the gallon and its divisions, various other liquid measures, multiples of the gallon, are used for different commodities, as shown under CUSTOMARY TRADE MEASURES.

IV.—WEIGHT.

I.—AVOIRDUPOIS WEIGHT.

		Kilogrammes.
27·34375 Troy gr.	= 1 Dram	0·0018
16 Drams	= 1 Ounce	0·0283
16 Ounces, or 7000 gr.	= 1 Pound	0·4536
14 Pounds	= 1 Stone	6·3503
28 Pounds	= 1 Qr.	12·7006
4 Quarters, or 112 lbs.	= 1 Cwt.	50·8024
20 Cwts.	= 1 Ton	1016·0475

II.—TROY WEIGHT.

		Grammes.
24 Grains	= 1 Pennyweight	1·555
20 Dwts	= 1 Ounce	31·103
12 Ounces,	= 1 Pound	373·242

Troy weight is chiefly used for gold and silver. At the Mint, the troy ounce is divided decimally into 1000ths.

In Jewellery, the ounce is divided into 600 pearl grains, and 151½ diamond carats.

Apothecaries' Weight.†—20 troy grains make 1 scruple; 3 scruples make 1 dram; and 8 drams make 1 troy ounce.

GOLD AND SILVER STANDARDS, ETC.

The fineness of gold is expressed in carats, the unit of reference being divided into 24, and its quality denoted by the number consisting of pure or fine gold. The carat is divided into 4 grains. The British standard for gold coin is 22 carats, i.e., 22 parts are fine, and 2 parts alloy. The fineness of silver is similarly denoted by the number of ounces and pennyweights fine in 1 lb. troy; and the money standard is 11 oz. 2 dwts., i.e., 222 parts are fine, and 18 parts alloy. These standards, often now expressed decimally in 1000th parts or milliemes, as in France, are 916⅔ and 925 respectively.

Plate, excepting small articles, &c., is of regulated fineness. The standards for gold until 1854 were 22 carats and 18 carats; but, to meet the competition of foreign jewellers, it is now also stamped of 15, 12, and 9 carats (17 & 18 Vict. c. 96). The standards for silver are 11 oz. 2 dwts. and 11 oz. 10 dwts.; the latter, called "new-sterling," is almost in disuse. Provisions are likewise made for five "marks" of verification:—

1. The Standard mark, for plate of the fineness of coin, is, in England, a lion passant; in Scotland, a thistle (6 and 7 Will. IV. c. 69); in Ireland, a harp crowned. But in England, since 1844, gold of 22 and 18 carats is separately distinguished by a crown (7 and 8 Vict. c. 22): the lower standards of 15, 12, and 9 carats bear only the numbers denoting their fineness in carats and milliemes. Silver of 11 oz. 10 dwts. has a Britannia. Articles of all standards likewise bear—2. The Maker's mark or initials; 3. The Date mark, a variable letter; 4. The Hall mark, or device of the district assay office—that of the London Goldsmiths' Company being a

* Corn is now also sold by weight, and by weight and measure combined, but there is a perplexing diversity of units and denominations. In Glasgow the boll of wheat is 240 lbs., of barley 320 lbs., and of oats 264 lbs. In Ireland the barrel of wheat, etc., equals 280 lbs.; of barley, etc., 224 lbs.; of oats, 196 lbs. In Liverpool, etc., the cental of 100 lbs. is now in partial use for wheat and flour.

† In the British Pharmacopœia (1864), the oz. Troy of 480 grains has been abolished, while the lb. avoir. of 7000 grains, and the oz. avoir. of 437½ grains, have been adopted.

leopard's head crowned, of Birmingham an anchor, of Sheffield a crown, of Edinburgh a castle, of Dublin a Hibernia; 5. The Duty mark, of the Sovereign's head.

The date letter of the London Goldsmiths' Company commenced in May 1716 with A in Roman capitals, reckoning on to 20 letters or years, omitting J, and ending with U. Small Roman is then used; next old English capitals; then small Roman; again commencing with a Roman A in May 1796; a small a in 1816; an old English capital in 1836; and small old English in 1856.

The assay cuttings are kept, in each assay office, in the Pix or Diet Box, to await the Trial of the Pix, an ancient usage which also exists at the Mint.

OLD MEASURES SUPERSEDED BY THE IMPERIAL SYSTEM.

ENGLAND.—Wine Measure.—Denominations same as imperial, and 1 wine gall. = ·83311 imp. gall.; or 6 wine galls. = 5 imp. galls. nearly.

English Ale Measure.—54 galls. = 6 firkins = 3 kilderkins = 1½ barrel = 1 hhd. 1 ale gallon = 1·01704 imp. gall.; or 59 ale galls. = 60 imp. galls. nearly.

English or Winchester Dry Measure.—Denominations same as imperial, and 1 Win. bushel = 7·75558 imp. galls.; whence 32 Win. bush. = 31 imp. bush.

IRELAND.—11 Ir. miles = 14 imp. miles. 30¼ Ir. acres = 49 imp. acres.

SCOTLAND.—Measures of Length.—5920 feet = 1920 ells = 320 falls = 8 furlongs = 1 mile = 5929·568 imp. feet; or 10 Scots miles = 11¼ imp. miles nearly.—Chain of 100 links = 74·120 imp. feet.

Scottish Measure of Surface.—5760 ells = 160 falls = 4 roods = 1 acre = 1·261183 imp. acre, or 6104 square yards nearly; and 23 Scots acres = 29 imp. acres nearly.

Scottish Troyes or Dutch Weight.—4096 drops = 256 oz. = 16 lbs. = 1 stone = 17·391885 lbs. avoird. The meal boll contained 8 stones, or 139·135 lbs. avoird., but reckoned at 140 lbs., and the Dutch or Lanark stone at 17½ lbs.

Scottish Liquid Measure.—128 gills = 32 mutchkins = 16 chopins = 8 pints = 1 gallon = 3·00651 or about 3 imp. galls.

Linlithgow or Standard Corn Measures.—4 lippies or forpits = 1 peck; 4 pecks = 1 firlot; 4 firlots = 1 boll; and 16 bolls = 1 chalder. Two sets were used; the wheat firlot (used also for pease, beans, rye, and salt) = ·998256 imperial bushel; and the barley firlot (used also for oats and malt) = 1·4562794 imperial bushel. The barley measure is merely the ancient heaped measure reduced to a definite standard by the Scots Act of 1618. The Linlithgow standards represent precisely those of the counties of Edinburgh, Haddington, Linlithgow, Lanark, Dumfries, Peebles, Perth, and Wigtown, as fixed by the Sheriff-juries under 5 Geo. IV. c. 74, § 18. Elsewhere the measures varied, —though in Berwick, Fife, Kinross, Forfar, Inverness, Ross, and Sutherland, only slightly,—from the Linlithgow standards.

METRIC OR DECIMAL SYSTEM Act 27 and 28 Vict. c. 117 (1864).

The Metric system, instituted in France, 1795, is founded on the estimated distance from the pole to the equator, the ten-millionth part of which, or Metre, is the unit of length, and equal 39·37079 imp. inches. The Are, unit of surface, = 100 square metres,—the Litre, unit of capacity, = 1 cubic decimetre,—and the Gramme, unit of weight, weighs 1 cubic centimetre of water, or 15·4323487 imp. grains.——The multiples of these units are denoted by prefixing to them the Greek derivatives deca, ten,—hecto, hundred,—kilo, thousand,—and myria, ten thousand; and their subdivisions by the Latin prefixes deci, tenth of,—centi, hundredth of,—milli, thousandth of. Thus the kilometre = 1000 metres, and the decimetre = 1-10th metre.

* In the French import markets, sugar, coffee, rice, and other kinds of tropical produce, are sold at a price per 50 kilogs.—a weight precisely equal to the German Customs centner of 100 union pounds or half-kilogrammes, which is also used in Hamburg, Holland, Switzerland, &c., and equal 110¼ lbs. avoird. Being thus only 1⅛ per cent. less than the British cwt., it may in approximate estimates be accounted equal to it; while 1000 kilogrammes may in like manner be taken approximately at 1 ton.

This Table is readily available for rates which are one-half or double thos specified. Thus, for a 3½ per cent. stock take one-half, and for a 13 per cen stock, double the return shown as applicable to a 6½ per cent. stock.

The accrued interest, usually included in the price of stock, may be computed for deduction, at the rate of 1s. 8d. per month, or 4½d. per week, for each 1 pe cent. of the dividend.

SECTION II.—FIARS-PRICES OF SCOTLAND.

STATE OF THE FIARS-PRICES

OF THE SEVERAL COUNTIES OF SCOTLAND FOR THE CROPS AND YEARS FROM 1864 TO 1870 INCLUSIVE.

The Fiars are the average prices, yearly ascertained by the Sheriff, with the help of a jury, of the several kinds of grain of the growth of his county, in the preceding crop. Their origin is obscure: it has been referred to the year 1627, when, it is said, they were for the first time ascertained in the county of Haddington; but they appear to have been struck in some other counties in the end of the previous century. The forms of procedure are regulated by the Acts of Sederunt, 21st December 1723, and 29th February 1728.

The Tables have been prepared from official documents in the Teind Office. The average is that of the period of Seven Years; but in a few cases, distinguished by an asterisk, that of Six Years only. Where breaks of more than one year occur, no average is stated, the Fiars not having been regularly struck.

The Grain is computed by the Imperial Quarter; the Meal by the Boll of 140 Imperial Pounds.

DRAWBACKS, ABATEMENTS, AND ALLOWANCES.

1. BEER exported: for every 36 gallons, and so in proportion for any greater quantity, made by any licensed brewer for sale in the U. K. from worts which before fermentation were of the specific gravity of not less than 1040 degrees 0 4 3 and for every additional 5 degrees, up to 1125 degrees, a farther sum of 6d. for every 36 gallons.

2. BREWERS of beer for sale: when the quantity of beer brewed in any year shall be less than the quantity for which the license was granted, the difference shall be repaid to the brewer; if the quantity be greater, he shall be surcharged for the difference.

On the death of a brewer, or on the business being discontinued before the expiration of his license, a proportionate part of the duty may be returned.

When the license duty exceeds £10, it may be paid in moieties, one half on 10th Oct., the other on 1st March.

3. MALT exported: No malt can be exported on drawback, which, when screened and cleaned, shall weigh more than 44 lbs. avoirdupois a bushel; and no malt (other than blown, roasted, and crystallized) can be exported on drawback, which, when screened and cleaned, shall weigh less than 36 lbs. avoirdupois a bushel. On exportation, a drawback is allowed on malt weighing less than 40 lbs. a bushel, at the rate of the duty payable on 1 bushel of malt exported: on malt weighing 40 lbs. or more a bushel, drawback is allowed, according to the quantity ascertained by measure; subject in either case to the deduction of 7½ per cent. on the ascertained quantity. Roasted malt can be exported on drawback only by licensed roasters or dealers in roasted malt, under the same regulations as other malt. (Acts 23 and 24 Vict. c. 113, sect. 28, no. 3; 28 and 29 Vict. c. 66, sect. 13; 29 and 30 Vict. c. 64, sect. 5 and 6.)

[By the Act 27 Vict. c. 9, malt may be made duty-free for feeding cattle only.]

By the Act 28 and 29 Vict. c. 98, British compounded spirits, not more than 11 per cent. overproof, as defined by the Act 23 and 24 Vict. c. 114, sect. 148, may, if compounded from excise-duty-paid spirits, be warehoused, upon drawback of the duties paid, in customs or excise warehouses, for exportation or ships' stores, or for home-consumption (on payment of the duty on plain British spirits, and of 3d. a gallon); and spirits of wine, if rectified from excise-duty-paid spirits, may be warehoused upon drawback of the duties paid in customs warehouses, for exportation or ships' stores, but not for home-consumption.

As certain British compounded spirits or British liqueurs are of such a nature that the strength thereof cannot be ascertained by Sykes's hydrometer, section 13 of the Act 32 and 33 Vict. c. 103, enacts that, subject to any regulations which may be from time to time made by the Commissioners of Customs and the Commissioners of Inland Revenue respectively, British liqueurs may be warehoused by a licensed rectifier or compounder of spirits in any customs or excise warehouse under the provisions of the said Act, subject to the modifications following:—

(1.) The rectifier or compounder intending to warehouse any British liqueurs shall specify in the warehousing entry or note to be delivered by him under section 4 of 28 and 29 Vict. c. 96, in addition to the matters thereby required to be specified other than the strength of such British liqueurs, the actual number of gallons at proof of the spirits from which the British liqueurs contained in each cask were compounded; and as soon as any British liqueurs are warehoused, the proper officer of customs or excise at the warehouse shall take a sample from each cask containing such British liqueurs, and every such sample shall be examined, under the direction of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, by distillation or otherwise, and the strength of the British liqueurs ascertained by such examination, after making a deduction of five degrees from the degrees of such strength, shall, in the construction of the provisions of the said Act for the purposes of this section, be deemed to be the strength as denoted or indicated by Sykes's hydrometer.

(2.) If the quantity of spirits in any cask of British liqueurs shall, upon such examination as aforesaid, be found to be less than the quantity of spirits as specified in the warehousing entry or note, no drawback or allowance whatever shall be paid in respect of the British liqueurs contained in such cask.

(3.) British liqueurs warehoused in any customs or excise warehouse shall not be removed to any other warehouse or be delivered out otherwise than for exportation or for ships' stores directly from the warehouse on board the vessel in which the same are to be exported or used as stores.

Allowance is now made for the natural waste of spirits in warehouse; it being provided by the Act 27 Vict. c. 12, sec. 7, that duty shall be charged only on the actual quantity of spirits delivered from bond, unless there be reasonable ground for believing that the deficiency either in whole or in part has been the result of fraud.

5. WORTS (SOLIDIFIED) exported (Act 29 and 30 Vict. c. 64): for worts made and solidified by any licensed brewer for sale in the U. K., from malt or sugar, or malt and sugar on which full duties of excise and customs have been charged or paid, a drawback at the rate of the duty payable on one bushel of malt, with the addition of 1½*d. for every* 28 lbs. avoirdupois of such wort.

NOTE.—By the Act 32 and 33 Vict. c. 103, sect. 4, foreign spirits and wine of which an account has been taken by the proper officer of customs may, upon the prescribed bond being given, without payment of duty, be removed to any excise warehouse, and be removed from thence to any other excise or customs warehouse or for exportation, or for use as ships' stores, and may, upon payment of the proper duties of customs, be delivered for home consumption.

III. STAMP AND LEGACY DUTIES, ETC.

The following is a list of Stamp Duties according to the schedule of the Act 33 and 34 Vict. c. 97 (amended by 34 Vict. c. 34, and 34 and 35 Vict. c. 103), with the Duty on Policies of Insurance, Letters Patent, Patent Medicine, and Plate, and Inventory, Legacy, and Succession Duties, which remain under the former Acts. Generally, the items are given in the words of the schedule. New matter is put within brackets. When the sections are merely cited without the Act, they are the sections of 33 and 34 Vict. c. 97. All items in the schedule of the Act relating solely to England and Ireland are excluded. In the same session were passed the Acts 33 and 34 Vict. c. 98, Stamp Duties Management, and 33 and 34 Vict. c. 99, repealing certain enactments relating to the Stamp Duties.

The Act 33 and 34 Vict. c. 97, came into operation on 1st January 1871, and by § 3 the exemptions in other Acts in force are preserved.

The attention of the public may be directed to the following matters:—

1. The general deed duty, or duty on a deed, not otherwise charged, is reduced to 10s.

2. Progressive duty on words is not imposed.

3. Provisions are made for charging ad valorem duty on conveyances in respect of periodical payments or annuities.—(§ 72.)

4. An agreement for a lease for a term not exceeding 35 years is to be charged with the lease duty.—(§ 96.)

5. An instrument chargeable as a lease in consideration, in whole or in part, of produce or other goods—

Where it is stipulated that the value shall amount to or not exceed a given sum, ad valorem lease duty on such sum.

A statement in the lease in regard to the value of such produce or goods to be conclusive as to stamp duty, unless and until shown to be incorrect.—(§ 97.)

6. A notarial instrument is liable to the same duty as an instrument of seisin—to wit, 5s.

7. Any instrument specifically charged by any previous Act with the duty of 35s., is chargeable with the duty of 10s.—(§ 4.)

8. Instruments relating to the property of the crown, and to the private property of the sovereign, are liable to same duties as instruments relating to the property of the subject.—(§ 5.)

9. Instruments are to be so stamped that the stamp may appear on the face of the instrument, and cannot be applied to any other instrument written upon the same piece of material.—§ 7 (1.) Every instrument on the same piece of material is to be separately stamped.—§ 7 (2.)

10. Instruments relating to several distinct matters are to be separately stamped in respect of each.—§ 8 (1.) An instrument liable to ad valorem duty, if made for any other valuable consideration, is to be charged in respect of it, as if it were a separate instrument for such.—§ 8 (2.)

11. An appropriated stamp (by word on the face of it) cannot be used for an instrument of another description.—§ 9 (1.) An instrument of the description to which a stamp is appropriated is not to be duly stamped unless stamped with the stamp appropriated to it.—§ 9 (2.)

12. All the facts and circumstances affecting the liability of an instrument to ad valorem duty, or the amount of it, are to be fully and truly set forth. If not, penalty on person who executes and on person concerned in the preparation, £10.—(§ 10.)

13. Instrument chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect of money in foreign or colonial currency, the duty to be calculated on the value in British currency, according to the current rate of exchange at the date of the instrument.—(§ 11.)

14. Instrument chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect of stock or marketable security, the duty to be calculated on the value, according to the average price at the date of the instrument.—(§ 12.)

15. If the instrument contains a statement of the current rate of exchange, or average price, and is stamped accordingly, it is to be deemed duly stamped until statement shown to be untrue, and that the instrument is in fact insufficiently stamped.—(§ 13.)

16. The duties apply to instruments executed in the United Kingdom, and to instruments wheresoever executed, relating to property situated, or to any matter or thing done or to be done, in the United Kingdom.—(§ 17.)

17. No instrument, except in criminal proceedings, shall be pleaded or given in evidence, or admitted to be good, useful, or available in law or equity, unless it is duly stamped in accordance with the law in force when executed.—(§ 17.)

18. If any person registers an instrument not duly stamped, penalty £10.—(§ 22.)

19. Except where express provision is made to the contrary, all duties are to be denoted by impressed stamps only.—(§ 23.)

Interpretation of terms.—§ 45. The term "banker" means and includes any corporation, society, partnership, and persons, and every individual person, carrying on the business of banking in the United Kingdom.

The term "bank note" means and includes:—

(1.) Any bill of exchange or promissory note issued by any banker, other than the Bank of England, for the payment of money not exceeding £100 to the bearer on demand:

(2.) Any bill of exchange or promissory note so issued which entitles or is intended to entitle the bearer or holder thereof, without endorsement, or without any further or other endorsement than may be thereon at the time of the issuing thereof, to the payment of money not exceeding £100 on demand, whether the same be so expressed or not, and in whatever form, and by whomsoever such bill or note is drawn or made.

Bank Notes may be re-issued.—§ 46. A bank note issued duly stamped, or issued unstamped by a banker duly licensed or otherwise authorized to issue unstamped bank notes, may be from time to time re-issued without being liable to any stamp duty by reason of such re-issuing.

Penalty for issuing an unstamped bank note, £50.—§ 47. (1.) If any banker, not being duly licensed or otherwise authorized to issue unstamped bank notes, issues, or causes or permits to be issued, any bank note not being duly stamped, he shall forfeit the sum of £50.

For receiving, penalty £50.—(2.) If any person receives or takes any such bank note in payment or as a security, knowing the same to have been issued unstamped contrary to law, he shall forfeit the sum of £20.

Interpretation of term "bill of exchange."—§ 48. (1.) The term "bill of exchange" for the purposes of this Act includes also draft, order, cheque, and person at any time after the date thereof of any sum of money, and sent or delivered by the person making the same to the person by whom the payment is to be made, and not to the person to whom the payment is to be made, or to any person on his behalf.....1d.

BILL OF EXCHANGE of any other kind whatsoever (except a bank note) and PROMISSORY NOTE of any kind whatsoever (except a bank note)—drawn, or expressed to be payable, or actually paid, or endorsed, or in any manner negotiated in the United Kingdom, where the amount or value of the money for which the bill or note is drawn or made does not exceed £5.....0s. 1d.

Exceed.	£5,	not exceed.	£10..0s. 2d.

..	75	..	100..1s. 0d.

For every £100, and also for any fractional part of £100, of such amount or value.....1s. 0d.

Exemptions.—(1.) Bill or note issued by the Bank of England or Bank of Ireland.

(2.) Draft or order by a banker in United Kingdom upon another banker in United Kingdom, not payable to bearer or to order, and used solely for the purpose of settling or clearing any account between such bankers.

(3.) Letter written by a banker in United Kingdom to any other banker in United Kingdom, directing the payment of any sum of money, the same not being payable to bearer or to order, and such letter not being sent or delivered to the person to whom payment is to be made, or to any person on his behalf.

(4.) Letter of credit granted in United Kingdom authorizing drafts to be drawn out of United Kingdom payable in United Kingdom.

(5.) Draft or order drawn by the Accountant-General of the Court of Chancery in England or Ireland.

(6.) Warrant or order for the payment of any annuity granted by the Commissioners for the Reduction of the National Debt, or for the payment of any dividend or interest on any share in the Government or Parliamentary stocks or funds.

(7.) Bill drawn by the Lords Com-letter of credit, and any document or writing (except a bank note) entitling or purporting to entitle any person, whether named therein or not, to payment by any other person of, or to draw upon any other person for, any sum of money therein mentioned.

Interpretation of term "promissory note."—§ 49. (1.) The term "promissory note" means and includes any document or writing (except a bank note) containing a promise to pay any sum of money.

(2.) A note promising the payment of any sum of money out of any particular fund which may or may not be available, or upon any condition or contingency which may or may not be performed or happen, is to be deemed for the purposes of this Act a promissory note for the said sum of money.

Bills and notes purporting to be drawn, etc., abroad to be deemed to have been so drawn, etc.—§ 52. A bill of exchange or promissory note purporting to be drawn or made out of the United Kingdom is, for the purposes of this Act, to be deemed to have been so drawn or made, although it may in fact have been drawn or made within the United Kingdom.

Penalty for issuing, etc., any unstamped bill or note, £10; and the bill or note to be unavailable.—§ 54. (1.) Every person who issues, indorses, transfers, negotiates, presents for payment, or pays any bill of exchange or promissory note liable to duty and not being duly stamped, shall forfeit the sum of £10; and the person who takes or receives from any other person any such bill or note not being duly stamped either in payment or as a security, or by purchase or otherwise, shall not be entitled to recover thereon, or to make the same available for any purpose whatever.

One bill only out of a set need be stamped.—§ 55. When a bill of exchange is drawn in a set according to the custom of merchants, and one of the set is duly stamped, the other or others of the set shall, unless issued or in some manner negotiated apart from such duly stamped bill, be exempt from duty; and upon proof of the loss or destruction of a duly stamped bill forming one of a set, any other bill of the set which has not been issued or in any manner negotiated apart from such lost or destroyed bill may, although unstamped, be admitted in evidence to prove the contents of such lost or destroyed bill.

missioners of the Admiralty, or by any person under their authority, under the authority of any Act of Parliament, upon and payable by the Accountant-General of the Navy.

(8.) Bill drawn (according to a form prescribed by Her Majesty's orders by any person duly authorized to draw the same) upon and payable out of any public account for any pay or allowance of the army or other expenditure connected therewith.

(9.) Coupon or warrant for interest attached to and issued with any security.

a Interpretation of "conveyance on sale."—§ 70. The term "conveyance on sale" includes every instrument, and every decree or order of any court or of any commissioners, whereby any property upon the sale thereof is legally or equitably transferred to or vested in the purchaser, or any other person on his behalf or by his direction.

How ad valorem duty to be calculated in respect of stock and securities.—§ 71. (1.) Where the consideration, or any part of the consideration, for a conveyance on sale consists of any stock or marketable security, such conveyance is to be charged with ad valorem duty in respect of the value of such stock or security.

[Duty to be calculated on value of such stock or security according to the average price at the date of the instrument (§ 12). Money in foreign or colonial currency, the duty to be calculated on value in British currency according to current rate of exchange at the date of instrument (§ 11).]

(2.) Where the consideration, or any part of the consideration, for a conveyance on sale consists of any security not being a marketable security, such conveyance is to be charged with ad valorem duty in respect of the amount due on the day of the date thereof for principal and interest upon such security.

How consideration, consisting of periodical payments, to be charged.—§ 72. (1.) Where the consideration, or any part of the consideration, for a conveyance on sale consists of money payable periodically for a definite period, so that the total amount to be paid can be previously ascertained, such conveyance is to be charged in respect of such consideration with ad valorem duty on such total amount.

(2.) Where the consideration, or any part of the consideration, for a conveyance on sale consists of money payable periodically in perpetuity, or for any indefinite period not terminable with life, such conveyance is to be charged in respect of such consideration with ad valorem duty on the total amount which will or may, according to the terms of sale, be payable during the period of twenty years next after the day of the date of such instrument.

(3.) Where the consideration, or any part of the consideration, for a conveyance on sale consists of money payable periodically during any life or lives, such conveyance is to be charged in respect of such consideration with ad valorem duty on the amount which will or may, according to the terms of sale, be payable during the period of twelve years next after the day of the date of such instrument.

No higher duty than 10*s. on instrument for securing periodical payments.*—(4.) Provided that no conveyance on sale chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect of any periodical payments, and containing also provision for securing such periodical payments, is to be charged with any duty whatsoever in respect of such provision, and no separate instrument made in any such case for securing such periodical payments is to be charged with any higher duty than 10s.

How conveyance in consideration of a debt, or subject to future payment, etc.,

to be charged.—§ 73. Where any property is conveyed to any person in consideration, wholly or in part, of any debt due to him, or subject either certainly or contingently to the payment or transfer of any money or stock, whether being or constituting a charge or encumbrance upon the property or not, such debt, money, or stock is to be deemed the whole or part, as the case may be, of the consideration in respect whereof the conveyance is chargeable with ad valorem duty.

Property conveyed in separate parts, but sold for one price for the whole.—§ 74. (1.) Where any property has been contracted to be sold for one consideration for the whole, and is conveyed to the purchaser in separate parts or parcels by different instruments, the consideration is to be apportioned in such manner as the parties think fit, so that a distinct consideration for each separate part or parcel is set forth in the conveyance relating thereto, and such conveyance is to be charged with ad valorem duty in respect of such distinct consideration.

One price and purchase for two or more persons.—(2.) Where property contracted to be purchased for one consideration for the whole by two or more persons jointly, or by any person for himself and others, or wholly for others, is conveyed in parts or parcels by separate instruments to the persons by or for whom the same was purchased for distinct parts of the consideration, the conveyance of each separate part or parcel is to be charged with ad valorem duty in respect of the distinct part of the consideration therein specified.

Sub-sales before conveyance.—(3.) Where a person having contracted for the purchase of any property, but not having obtained a conveyance thereof, contracts to sell the same to any other person, and the property is in consequence conveyed immediately to the sub-purchaser, the conveyance is to be charged with ad valorem duty in respect of the consideration for the sale by the original purchaser to the sub-purchaser. (4.) Where a person having contracted for the purchase of any property, but not having obtained a conveyance, contracts to sell the whole or any part or parts thereof to any other person or persons, and the property is in consequence conveyed by the original seller to different persons in parts or parcels, the conveyance of each part or parcel is to be charged with ad valorem duty, in respect only of the consideration moving from the sub-purchaser thereof, without regard to the amount or value of the original consideration.

Sub-purchaser obtaining a conveyance from original seller in addition to conveyance from first purchaser.—(5.) Where a sub-purchaser takes an actual conveyance of the interest of the person immediately selling to him, which is chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect of the consideration moving from him, and is duly stamped accordingly, any conveyance to be afterwards made to him of the same property by the original seller shall be exempt from the said ad valorem duty, and chargeable only with the duty to which it may be liable under any general description, but such last-mentioned duty shall not exceed the ad valorem duty.

As to the sale of an annuity or right not before in existence.—§ 75. Where upon the sale of any annuity or other right not before in existence such annuity or other right is not created by actual grant or conveyance, but is only secured by bond, warrant of attorney, covenant, contract, or otherwise, the bond or other instrument, or some one of such instruments, if there be more than one, is to be charged with the same duty as an actual grant or conveyance, and is for all the purposes of this Act to be deemed an instrument of conveyance on sale.

Where several instruments, the principal instrument only to be charged with ad valorem duty.—§ 76. Where there are several instruments of conveyance for completing the purchaser's title to the property sold, the principal instrument of conveyance only is to be charged with ad valorem duty, and the other instruments are to be respectively charged with such other duty as

b AS TO DELIVERY ORDERS AND WARRANTS FOR GOODS.

§ 87. The term "delivery order" means any document or writing entitling any person or his assigns, or the holder thereof, to the delivery of any goods, etc., of the value of 40s. or upwards, lying in any dock or port, or in any warehouse in which goods are stored or deposited on rent or hire, or upon any wharf, signed by or on behalf of the owner of such goods, etc., upon the sale or transfer of the property therein.

§ 88. The term "warrant for goods" means any document or writing, being evidence of the title of any person or his assigns, or the holder thereof, to the property in any goods, etc., lying in any warehouse or dock, or upon any wharf, and signed or certified by or on behalf of the person having the custody of such goods, etc.

§ 90. The duty upon a delivery order is to be paid by the person to whom the order is given. Order may be refused until the amount of the duty is paid.

§ 91. (1.) Every document or writing in the nature of a delivery order is to be deemed to have been given upon a sale of, or transfer of the property in, goods, etc., of the value of 40s. or upwards, unless the contrary is expressly stated therein; and every person who—

(a.) Untruly states, or knowingly or willingly allows it to be untruly stated, in any such document or writing, either that the transaction to which it relates is not a sale or transfer of property, or that the goods, wares, or merchandise to which it relates are not of the value of 40s.;

(b.) Makes, signs, or issues any delivery order chargeable with duty, but not being duly stamped;

(c.) Knowingly or wilfully, either himself, or by his servant or any other person, procures or requires or authorizes the delivery of, or delivers, any goods, etc., mentioned in any delivery order which is not duly stamped, or which contains to his knowledge any false statement with reference either to the nature of the transaction, or the value of the goods, etc.,—shall forfeit the sum of £20.

Policy not good or available in law or equity unless duly stamped, and cannot be stamped after it is signed or underwritten by any person, except in two cases, to wit—a § 117. (1.) The term "insurance" includes assurance, and the term "policy" includes every writing whereby any contract of insurance is made, or agreed to be made, or is evidenced.

Penalty for not making out policy.—§ 118. Every person who—

(1.) Receives or takes credit for any premium or consideration for any contract of insurance, and does not, within one month after receiving, or taking credit for, such premium or consideration, make out and execute a duly stamped policy of such insurance;

Or making, etc., any policy not duly stamped, £20.—(2.) Makes, executes, or delivers out, or pays or allows in account, or agrees to pay or allow in account, any money upon or in respect of, any policy which is not duly stamped; shall forfeit the sum of £20.

Duty may be denoted by adhesive stamp.—§ 119. (1.) The duties imposed by this Act upon policies of insurance may be denoted by adhesive stamps, or partly by adhesive and partly by impressed stamps.

(2.) When the whole or any part of the duty upon a policy of insurance is denoted by an adhesive stamp, such adhesive stamp is to be cancelled by the person by whom the policy is first executed.

Penalty, £20.—(3.) In default of such cancellation, the person making the insurance shall forfeit the sum of £20.

(1.) Policy of mutual insurance may be stamped with additional duty, provided it shall not be underwritten at the time to an amount exceeding the sums the stamps already on it will warrant.—(Ibid., § 9.)

(2.) Policy made abroad may be stamped within two months after being received in the United Kingdom.—(33 and 34 Vict. c. 92, § 117.)

Alterations on the terms and conditions of a policy may be made after it is underwritten, if made before notice of determination of risk originally insured, and shall not prolong the period beyond six months in the case of a policy for less than six months, or beyond the period allowed by the Act in the case of a policy made for more than six months, and if the property of the articles insured remains the same; and no additional or further sums shall be insured.

Carriers by sea or other person who, for money paid as additional freight or otherwise, takes the risk of goods, etc., while on board ship, or engages to indemnify the owners of such goods, etc., from loss,—such shall be deemed a contract for a sea insurance.

Penalty of £100 is imposed on a person who shall become an assurer upon a sea insurance unless by policy duly stamped.—(30 Vict. c. 23, § 13.)

Penalty of £100 is imposed on a person who shall procure a sea insurance unless there shall be policy duly stamped.—(30 Vict. c. 23, § 14.)

Penalty of £100 is also imposed upon a broker, agent, or other person negotiating a sea insurance contrary to the Act, or writing an agreement for a sea insurance not duly stamped.—(Ibid., § 14.)

Penalty of £100 is imposed for issuing a document purporting to be a copy of a policy, if there shall not be a duly stamped policy existing at the time.—(Ibid., § 15.)

Broker, agent, or other person negotiating a sea insurance shall not have right to charge for his trouble, nor for the premium which he may have paid, unless there shall be a duly stamped policy. Money paid to such broker shall be held to be paid without consideration, and shall remain the property of the employer, his executors, or assigns.—(Ibid., § 16.)

For every £100, and also for any fractional part of £100, of the amount or value of the property settled or agreed to be settled.....5s.

Exemption.—Instrument of appointment relating to any property in favour of persons specially named or described as the objects of a power of appointment, created by a previous settlement, stamped with ad valorem duty in respect of the same property, or by will, where probate duty has been paid in respect of the same property as personal estate of the testator.

[Money in foreign or colonial currency, duty to be calculated on the value in British currency according to the current rate of exchange at the date of the instrument (§ 11). Stock or marketable security, duty to be calculated on the value according to the average price at the date of the instrument (§ 12).]

a As to settlement of policy or security.—§ 124. Where any money which may become due or payable upon any policy of insurance, or upon any security not being a marketable security, is settled or agreed to be settled, the instrument whereby such settlement is made or agreed to be made is to be charged with ad valorem duty in respect of such money:

Proviso as to policies.—Provided as follows—

(1.) Where, in the case of a policy of insurance, no provision is made for keeping up the policy, the ad valorem duty is to be charged only on the value of the policy at the date of the instrument.

(2.) If in any such case the instrument contains a statement of such value, and is stamped in accordance with such statement, it is, so far as regards such policy, to be deemed duly stamped, unless or until it is shown that such statement is untrue and that the instrument is in fact insufficiently stamped.

Provision for payment or transfer of money or stock settled.—§ 125. (1.) An instrument chargeable with ad valorem duty as a settlement in respect of any money, stock, or security is not to be charged with any further duty by reason of containing provision for the payment or transfer of the same money, stock, or security.

Reversionary property settled—Annuity by person in possession.—(2.) Where any money, stock, or security is settled or agreed to be settled by a person who has only a reversionary interest therein, and the instrument whereby such settlement is made or agreed to be made contains a covenant by the person entitled in possession to the interest or dividends of such money, stock, or security for the payment, during the continuance of such possession, of any annuity or yearly sum not exceeding interest at the rate of £4 per centum per annum upon the amount of value of such money, stock, or security, such instrument shall not be charged with any duty in respect of such covenant.

Where several instruments, one only to be charged with ad valorem duty.—§ 126. (1.) Where several instruments are executed for effecting the settlement of the same property, and the ad valorem duty chargeable in respect of the settlement of such property exceeds 10s., one only of such instruments is to be charged with the ad valorem duty.

(2.) Where a settlement is made in pursuance of any previous agreement, or articles upon which any ad valorem settlement duty exceeding 10s. has been paid in respect of the same property, such settlement is not to be charged with any ad valorem settlement duty.

(3.) In each of the aforesaid cases the instruments not chargeable with ad valorem duty are to be charged with the duty of 10s.

GENERAL EXEMPTIONS FROM ALL STAMP DUTIES.

(1.) Transfers of shares in the Government or Parliamentary stocks or funds.

(2.) Instruments for the sale, transfer, or other disposition, either absolutely or by way of mortgage, or otherwise, of any ship, or vessel, or any part, interest, share, or property of or in any ship or vessel.

(3.) Instruments of apprenticeship, bonds, contracts, and agreements entered into in the United Kingdom for or relating to the service in any of Her Majesty's colonies or possessions abroad of any person as an artificer, clerk, domestic servant, handicraftsman, mechanic, gardener, servant in husbandry, or labourer.

(4.) Testaments, testamentary instruments, and dispositions mortis causa in Scotland.

(5.) Bonds given to sheriffs or other persons upon the replevy of any goods or chattels, and assignments of such bonds.

(6.) Commissions granted to officers of militia, yeomanry, or volunteers.

(7.) Instruments made by, to, or with the Commissioners, or the First Commissioner of Her Majesty's Works and Public Buildings, for any of the purposes of the Act 15 and 16 Vict. c. 28.

The exemptions from duty in Acts not otherwise relating to stamp duties remain in force (§ 3).

INVENTORY DUTY.

PROPERTY LIABLE TO THE DUTY.—Generally—All personal property (heritable securities are personal property) belonging to the deceased in the United Kingdom, heritable securities, and personal bonds excluding executors.—(48 Geo. III. c. 149, a § 127. If a share warrant is issued without being duly stamped, the company issuing the same, and also every person who, at the time when it is issued, is the managing director or secretary or other principal officer of the company, shall forfeit £50.

b § 128. (2.) Every person who writes or executes any such request, authority, or notice, not being duly stamped, and every purser or other officer of any such company who in any manner obeys, complies with, or gives effect to any such request, authority, or notice, not being duly stamped, shall forfeit £20.

§ 38, etc.; 55 Geo. III. c. 184, Schedule, Part III.; 21 and 22 Vict. c. 56, § 9, 12, 13, etc.; and 16 and 17 Vict. c. 59, § 8.)

Personal Property—Absolute power of disposal.—Personal estate which a person, dying after 3d April 1860, shall have disposed of by will, under any authority enabling such person to dispose of the same as he shall think fit, shall be deemed personal or movable estate of the person so dying, for the purpose of payment of inventory, probate, or administration duty.—(23 Vict. c. 15, § 4.)

Indian Promissory Notes—Ships.—Indian Government promissory notes and certificates issued, or stock in lieu thereof, being assets of a deceased person, the interest of which shall be payable in London, registered in London, or enfaced in India for the purpose of such registration before the death of the owner; also Indian Government promissory notes, with coupons attached, in the same circumstances as to registration, and certificates issued, or stock created in lieu thereof, shall be personal estate, and bona notabilia in England of the deceased person (23 Vict. c. 5, § 1); also any ship, or any share of a ship, belonging to a deceased person, registered in any port in the United Kingdom, notwithstanding such ship at the time of the death may have been at sea, or elsewhere out of the United Kingdom, shall be deemed to be at the port at which she may be registered (27 and 28 Vict. c. 56), and liable to inventory, probate, or administration duty.

Specialty Debts.—For probate and administration duty, debts and sums of money due from persons in the United Kingdom to a deceased on obligation or other specialty, shall be estate and effects of the deceased within the jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Court of Probate in England or Ireland, in which the same would be if they were debts upon simple contract, without regard to the place where the obligation or specialty shall be at the time of the death.—(25 Vict. c. 22, § 39.)

Foreign Bonds and Stocks.—Documents of the debts of foreign governments and foreign companies which pass from hand to hand are property where the documents may be. Debentures or bonds by foreign companies and governments, and the title to stocks of foreign companies and governments, are property in this country, if in the possession of any person in this country, and can be sold in the market, and the title of the purchasers completed to them in this country.—See Attorney-General v. Bouwens, 4 Meeson & Welsby, 171.

Rents of Heritage.—If the deceased survive Whitsunday, one moiety of the rents of the crop of that year is personal estate. If he survive Martinmas, the whole rents of that crop fall into the executry. In addition, from and after 1st August 1870, the Act 33 & 34 Vict. 1870, c. 35, would seem to give the executor a proportion of the rents from the term preceding the date of death to the date of death. That Act would also seem to give a proportion of the term's rents of quarries, minerals, and houses, and also feu-duties current at the death. The executor's right to house rents would not therefore be to the half-year's rents current at death, but to a proportion only to the date of death.

MODES IN WHICH DUTY MAY BE PAID. When deceased domiciled in Scotland.—In the case of a person dying domiciled in Scotland, having personal property in Scotland, England, and Ireland, and also heritable securities excluding executors, and personal bonds excluding executors, duty in respect of the whole may be paid on the inventory required to be recorded in the Commissary Court; or inventory duty may be paid on the personal property situated in Scotland, including heritable securities made movable by the Act 31 and 32 Vict. c. 101, § 117, and duty may be paid on a "special inventory" of the heritable securities excluding executors and personal bonds excluding executors, and probate or administration may be obtained in England and Ireland in respect of the personal estate in these countries, and duty paid in respect of such on these instruments.

When deceased domiciled furth of the U. K.—In case of a person dying domiciled furth of the United Kingdom leaving personal estate in Scotland, England, and Ireland, an inventory must be given up in Scotland, probate or administration taken out in England and Ireland, and duty paid on such in respect of the property in each country.

Exemptions.—Inventory of the estate of any common seaman or soldier dying in service.

Additional inventory when duty on the whole estate does not exceed that already paid on former inventory.

RETURN OF INVENTORY DUTY.

The inventory duty and probate and administration duty are paid on the whole personal property, without deduction of debts; but the Act 5 & 6 Vict. c. 79, § 23, provides for a return being given on proof of the constitution and payment of the debts. This return must be claimed within three years; but the time will be prolonged on application to the Board of Inland Revenue. No return to be granted in respect of a voluntary debt due from a person dying after 28th June 1861, expressed to be payable on death of such person, or payable under an instrument which shall not have been bona fide delivered to the donee three months before the death of such person. (24 and 25 Vict. c. 92, § 3.)

Note.—Forms of inventory and additional inventory will be found in the Juridical Styles, vol. iii., App. pp. 8-11. Forms of inventories, and also regulations for return of inventory duty, may be obtained at the Office of the Solicitor, Inland Revenue, Edinburgh. Claims are to be lodged in the Solicitor's Office, Room No. 5, and Monday and Friday between 12 and 2 o'clock are the days for receiving claims from the claimants or their agents.

LEGACY DUTY.

Legacies, Annuities, Residues, etc.

	Duty p. ct
To Children or their descendants, or lineal ancestors	£1 0
Brother or sister, or descendants	3 0
Uncle or aunt, or their descend.	5 0
Grand uncle or aunt, or descend.	6 0
All other relations or strangers	10 0

The husband or wife of the deceased is not chargeable with duty. If the legatee's husband or wife is of nearer consanguinity than the legatee, duty is payable according to such nearer relationship. (16 & 17 V. c. 51, § 11.)

This duty is payable for every legacy out of the personal or movable estate, or out of or charged upon the real or heritable estate of the deceased, or out of any estate which he has power to dispose of, or out of any moneys to arise by the sale, mortgage, or other disposition of the deceased's real or heritable estate, or any part thereof: Also for the clear residue (after deducting debts, funeral expenses, legacies, and other charges first payable thereout) of the personal or movable estate, whether the title to such residue shall accrue by virtue of any testamentary disposition, or upon a partial or total intestacy: And also for the clear residue of the moneys to arise from the sale, mortgage, or other disposition of any real or heritable estate, directed to be sold, mortgaged, or otherwise disposed of by any will or testamentary instrument.

Annuities commencing to be payable on the death of persons dying after 19th May 1853, are valued for legacy duty according to tables annexed to the Succession Duty Act (16 and 17 Vict. c. 51); and annuities commencing to be payable previous to that date, by the tables annexed to the Legacy Duty Act (36 Geo. III. c. 52).

Duty is not exigible on legacies or residues under £20; but if a legatee take two or more legacies, under any testament, which shall together be of the amount of £20, each shall be charged with duty, though each or either may be separately under that amount.

Duty on legacies and residues in arrears, interest thereon at the rate of 4 per cent. is payable (31 and 32 Vict. c. 124, § 9).

Printed forms and regulations for payment of the legacy duty may be obtained gratis, on application at Legacy Duty Office, Inland Revenue, Edinburgh; and at the offices of distributors of stamps in the country.

SUCCESSION DUTY.

(17 and 18 Vict. c. 51.)

The duty commenced on the death of persons dying after the 19th May 1853, and seems to be imposed on all property, both heritable and movable, passing by death, not liable to the duty on legacies and successions to personal estate upon intestacy—the duty imposed by the Legacy Duty Acts.

The duty on HERITABLE PROPERTY is charged on the annual value, after allowance of the necessary outgoings (§ 22), as an annuity for the life of the successor (§ 21), which is to be valued by tables annexed to Act.

PERSONAL PROPERTY is liable to duty according to the value of the succession; and money charged on heritage—heritable securities—is charged as personalty (§ 1).

RATES OF SUCCESSION DUTY.

Lineal issue or lineal ancestor of the predecessor.....£1 per cent.

Brothers and sisters of the predecessor and their descendants, £3 per ct.

Brothers and sisters of the father or mother of the predecessor and their descendants.....£5 per cent.

Brothers and sisters of a grandfather or grandmother of the predecessor and their descendants..£6 per cent.

Any other person.....£10 per cent.

The husband or wife of predecessor is not chargeable with duty (§ 18), and if successor's husband or wife shall be of nearer consanguinity than the successor, duty is payable according to such nearer relationship (§ 11).

The following are also exemptions from the succession duty:—

1. Successions from the same predecessor, passing on any death, not amounting in principal value to £100 (§ 18). 2. Any succession of less value than £20 in the whole (ib.) 3. Legacies and personal property charged with legacy duty, in respect of the same acquisition (ib.). Duty on successions in arrear, interest thereon at the rate of 4 per cent is payable (31 and 32 Vict. c. 124, § 9).

Note.—Forms of the accounts may be obtained at the Legacy Duty Office, Edinburgh, and at the offices of distributors of stamps in the country.

GENERAL DIRECTION AS TO THE CANCELLATION OF ADHESIVE STAMPS.

§ 24. (1.) An instrument, the duty upon which is required, or permitted by law, to be denoted by an adhesive stamp, is not to be deemed duly stamped with an adhesive stamp unless the person required by law to cancel such adhesive stamp cancels the same by writing on or across the stamp his name or initials, or the name or initials of his firm, together with the true date of his so writing, so that the stamp may be effectually cancelled, and rendered incapable of being used for any other instrument, or unless it is otherwise proved that the stamp appearing on the instrument was affixed thereto at the proper time.

Penalty for neglect or refusal, £10.—(2.) Every person, who, being required by law to cancel an adhesive stamp, wilfully neglects or refuses duly to do so in manner aforesaid, shall forfeit the sum of £10.

Penalty for frauds in relation to adhesive stamps, or to any duty, £50 (§ 25).—Any person who—

(1.) Fraudulently removes or causes to be removed from any instrument any adhesive stamp, or affixes any adhesive stamp which has been so removed to any other instrument, with intent that such stamp may be used again;

(2.) Sells or offers for sale, or utters, any adhesive stamp which has been so removed, or utters any instrument having thereon any adhesive stamp which has to his knowledge been so removed as aforesaid;

(3.) Practises or is concerned in any fraudulent act, contrivance, or device not specially provided for, with intent to defraud Her Majesty, her heirs or successors, of any duty; shall forfeit, over and above any other penalty to which he may be liable, the sum of £50.

STAMPING INSTRUMENTS AFTER EXECUTION.

ARTICLES of CLERKSHIP. — Duly stamped articles in order to admission in inferior court may be stamped with duty to make up £60, and shall then be sufficiently stamped for admission into Court of Session, etc. (§ 42).

With this exception, articles of clerkship are not to be stamped after the expiration of six months from the date, except on payment of the penalties as follows:—

(1.) If brought to be stamped within one year after date, £10.

(2.) If so brought after one year and within five years after date; for every year, and also for any additional part of a year, elapsed since the date, £10.
(3.) In every other case, £50 (§ 43).

BILLS and NOTES having an impressed stamp of sufficient amount but improper denomination may be stamped. If not then payable, penalty £2; if payable, penalty £10. With these exceptions, not to be stamped after execution (§ 53).

CHARTER-PARTY.
Within seven days after first execution, penalty 4s. 6d.
After seven days, and within a month, penalty £10.
In any other case, cannot be stamped (§ 68).
If executed abroad, any party to it may, within ten days after receipt in United Kingdom, affix and cancel adhesive stamp (§ 67).

ATTESTED COPIES, or EXTRACTS of or from—
(1.) An instrument chargeable with duty;
(2.) An original will, testament, or codicil;
(3.) The probate or probate copy of a will or codicil;
(4.) Letters of administration, or a confirmation of a testament;
may be stamped within fourteen days after date of attestation or authentication, without penalty (§ 19).

FOREIGN SECURITIES.—The Board of Inland Revenue may at any time, without reference to date, allow them to be stamped without penalty upon being satisfied they were not made or issued, and have not been transferred, assigned, or negotiated, and no interest paid on them, within the United Kingdom (§ 115).

POLICY of INSURANCE made or executed out of the United Kingdom, but enforceable in the United Kingdom, may be stamped within two months after it has been first received in the United Kingdom, without penalty (§ 117, 2).

RECEIPT may be stamped with impressed stamp—
1. Within fourteen days after given, penalty £5.
2. After fourteen days, and within a month, penalty £10.
In any other case, not to be stamped (§ 122).

INSTRUMENTS as to which no express provision to prohibit.
Instruments on payment of duty and penalty of £10; if duty exceeds £10, also interest on it (§ 15, 1). Except where express provision to the contrary is made by this or any other Act, any unstamped or insufficiently stamped instrument may be stamped after the execution thereof, on payment of the unpaid duty, and a penalty of £10, and also by way of further penalty, where the unpaid duty exceeds £10, of interest on such duty, at the rate of £5 per centum per annum, from the day upon which the instrument was first executed up to the time when such interest is equal in amount to the unpaid duty.
And the payment of any penalty or penalties is to be denoted on the instrument by a particular stamp.
Proviso.—(2.) Provided as follows:—
Instruments executed abroad within two months after being received in United Kingdom without penalty.—(a.) Any unstamped or insufficiently stamped instrument, which has been first executed at any place out of the United Kingdom, may be stamped at any time within two months after it has been first received in the United Kingdom, on payment of the unpaid duty only.
Board may remit penalties within twelve months.—(b.) The Commissioners may, if they think fit, at any time within twelve months after the first execution of any instrument, remit the penalty or penalties, or any part thereof.
(See Note a.)
Unstamped or insufficiently stamped instruments produced in Court, if duty and penalty be paid to officer of Court, may be received in evidence.—§ 16. (1.) Upon the production of an instrument chargeable with any duty as evidence in any court of civil judicature in any part of the United Kingdom, the officer whose duty it is to read the instrument shall call the attention of the judge to any omission or insufficiency of the stamp thereon, and if the instrument is one which may legally be stamped after the execution thereof, it may, on payment to the officer of the amount of the unpaid duty, and the penalty payable by law on stamping the same as aforesaid, and of a further sum of £1, be received in a Instruments to have stamps impressed are received at the Cashier's Office, Inland Revenue, Edinburgh, to be stamped, if within two months of the first date (the solicitor may in certain circumstances receive them within evidence, saving all just exceptions on other grounds.

The officer of the Court to account for duties and penalties.—(2.) The officer receiving the said duty and penalty shall give a receipt for the same, and make an entry in a book kept for that purpose of the payment and of the amount thereof, and shall communicate to the commissioners the name or title of the cause or proceeding in which, and of the party from whom, he received the said duty and penalty, and the date and description of the instrument, and shall pay over to the Receiver-General of Inland Revenue, or to such other person as the commissioners may appoint, the money received by him for the said duty and penalty.

Commissioners to stamp instrument.—(3.) Upon production to the commissioners of any instrument in respect of which any duty or penalty has been paid as aforesaid, together with the receipt of the said officer, the payment of such duty and penalty shall be denoted on such instrument accordingly.

ADJUDICATION.

Doubts as to Sufficiency of Stamps may be removed.

The commissioners may be required to express their opinion as to duty. Mode and effect of proceeding.—§ 18. (1.) Subject to such regulations as the commissioners may think fit to make, the commissioners may be required by any person to express their opinion with reference to any executed instrument upon the following questions:

(a.) Whether it is chargeable with any duty:

(b.) With what amount of duty it is chargeable.

(2.) If the commissioners are of opinion that the instrument is not chargeable with any duty, such instrument may be stamped with a particular stamp denoting that it is not chargeable with any duty.

(3.) If the commissioners are of opinion that the instrument is chargeable with duty, they shall assess the duty with which it is in their opinion chargeable, and if or when the instrument is duly stamped in accordance with the assessment of the commissioners, it may be also stamped with a particular stamp denoting that it is duly stamped.

(4.) Every instrument stamped with the particular stamp denoting either that it is not chargeable with any duty, or is duly stamped, shall be admissible in evidence, and available for all purposes, notwithstanding any objection relating to duty.

(5.) Provided as follows:—

(a.) Instrument to be stamped according to opinion.—An instrument upon which duty has been assessed by commissioners shall not, if it is unstamped or insufficiently stamped, be stamped otherwise than in accordance with assessment of commissioners.

(b.) Securities without limit not to be adjudicated.—Nothing in this section contained extends to any instrument chargeable with duty, and made as a security for money or stock without limit.

(c.) Also instruments which cannot be stamped.—Nothing in this section contained shall be deemed to authorize the stamping after the execution thereof of any instrument prohibited by law from being so stamped.

Person dissatisfied may appeal.—§ 19. (1.) Any person who is dissatisfied with the assessment of the commissioners made in pursuance of the last preceding section may, within twenty-one days after the date of such assessment, and on payment of duty in conformity therewith, appeal against such assessment to Her Majesty's Court of Exchequer in England, Scotland, or Ireland, according to the country in which the case has arisen, and may for that purpose require the commissioners to state and sign a case, setting forth the question upon which their opinion was required, and the assessment made by them.

Mode of proceeding.—(2.) The commissioners shall thereupon state and sign a case accordingly, and deliver the same to the person by whom it is required, and on his application two months of the last date), on payment of the duty; if beyond that date, on payment of the duty and penalty. Persons applying will be furnished with a schedule, which, after being filled up, is to be presented, with the instrument, at the Cashier's Office, No. 3 Inland Revenue. The amount of duty sought to be impressed is to be inserted in the schedule by the applicant before being presented, and the duty is to be paid at the time of the application. Agreements liable to the duty of 6d. must be lodged within fourteen days of their date, in order to be stamped without penalty.

such case may be set down for hearing in the proper court.

(3.) Upon the hearing of such case (due notice of which is to be given to the commissioners) the court shall determine the question submitted, and, if the instrument in question is in the opinion of the court chargeable with any duty, shall assess the duty with which it is so chargeable.

(4.) If it is decided by the court that the assessment of the commissioners is erroneous, any excess of duty which may have been paid in conformity with such erroneous assessment, together with any penalty which may have been paid in consequence thereof, shall be ordered by the court to be repaid by the commissioners to the appellant, together with the costs incurred by him in relation to the appeal.

(5.) But if the assessment of commissioners is confirmed by court, the costs incurred by commissioners in relation to the appeal shall be ordered by the court to be paid by appellant to the commissioners.

The commissioners may call for and refuse to proceed without evidence.—§ 20. (1.) In any case of application to the commissioners with reference to any instrument, the commissioners may require to be furnished with an abstract of the instrument, and also with such evidence as they may deem necessary, in order to show to their satisfaction whether all the facts and circumstances affecting the liability of the instrument to duty, or the amount of the duty chargeable thereon, are fully and truly set forth therein, and may refuse to proceed upon any such application until such abstract and evidence has been furnished accordingly.

Affidavit not to be used otherwise. Person paying full duty relieved of penalty, etc., for omission to state truly in instrument—(2.) Provided that no affidavit or statutory declaration made in pursuance of this section shall be used against any person making the same in any proceeding whatever, except in an inquiry as to the duty with which the instrument to which it relates is chargeable; and every person by whom any such affidavit or declaration is made shall, on payment of the full duty with which the instrument to which it relates is chargeable, be relieved from any penalty, forfeiture, or disability he may have incurred by reason of the omission to state truly in such instrument any of the facts or circumstances aforesaid.

DENOTING STAMP.

DUPLICATES (§ 93).—CONVEYANCE ON SALE (§ 76).—SETTLEMENT (§ 126), etc. § 14. Where the duty with which an instrument is chargeable depends in any manner upon the duty paid upon another instrument, the payment of such last-mentioned duty shall, if application be made to the commissioners for that purpose, and on production of both the instruments, be denoted in such manner as the commissioners think fit upon such first-mentioned instrument. (See Note b.)

LICENSE TO SELL STAMPS.

Person selling stamps must have a license from the Commissioners of Inland Revenue. Applications for license may be addressed to the Comptroller-General of Inland Revenue for Scotland, at Edinburgh. License to specify Christian name and surname and place of abode, and specify shop or shops where stamps are to be sold. Bond to be granted. Not to sell but at shops a Instruments are received for adjudication at the Solicitor's Office, Inland Revenue Office, Edinburgh, on the same conditions as to duty and penalty as instruments to be stamped merely. The schedule (the duty to be impressed not being inserted), the instrument after execution, and an abstract giving the names and addresses of the parties to it, the substance of the provisions, particularly dates and sums, and a reference to the part of the deed on which each commences, are to be left at the Solicitor's Office, No. 5, on Mondays and Wednesdays, between 10 and 12 o'clock. Between 10 and 12 o'clock on Thursday following, a person, who can give explanation, must call on the Assistant Solicitor, No. 6; and he should be prepared to pay the proper duty and penalty, if any, to the Cashier, No. 3, Lobby.

b Instruments requiring to be impressed with the denoting stamp to render them valid may be lodged at the Solicitor's Office, No. 5 Inland Revenue, Edinburgh, between 10 and 12 o'clock on Monday and Wednesday. The principal instrument, as well as the subordinate instrument, must be lodged, and both must appear to be properly stamped.

licensed, and not hawk (33 and 34 Vict. c. 98, §§ 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11). Persons in the employment of the Post Office to sell postage stamps without license, and carry them about for sale (ib. § 12).

DISCOUNT ON THE PURCHASE OF STAMPS.

Upon the sale of stamps such discount shall be allowed to the purchaser thereof as the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury shall direct (33 and 34 Vict. c. 98, § 13).

[The Treasury have sanctioned the continuance for the present of the several rates of discount formerly granted, viz.:

Purchasers of stamps (except receipt, labels for medicines, and postage-stamps) at London, Edinburgh, or Dublin, under the value of £10 each, but to the value of £30 or upwards in whole, are allowed discount at the rate of 30s. per cent. (12 and 13 Vict. c. 80). The like discount is allowed to any person lodging at Edinburgh, paper or forms containing printed matter only, to be impressed with stamp duties under the value of £10 each, but to the value of £30 or upwards in whole.

To persons who at one time shall produce at the office of Inland Revenue in London (Edinburgh) or Dublin, paper to be stamped with, or shall purchase at the office in London, Edinburgh, of Dublin, stamps to the amount of £2 or upwards, or of any distributor of stamps at any place not within ten miles from the said offices, stamps to the amount of £1 or upwards, denoting any duty not exceeding 1s. on bills of exchange, drafts or orders, or promissory notes, or stamps, for denoting the duty of 1d. (except postage-stamps), an allowance shall be made of 10d. for every 20s. of the duties denoted by such stamps—(23 & 24 Vict. c. 111, § 3). No person selling such stamps shall charge for the paper whereon the same are impressed: penalty, £10 (17 & 18 Vict. c. 83, § 25).]

EXCHANGING SPOILED STAMPS.

STAMP DUTIES MANAGEMENT ACT, 1870 (33 and 34 Vict. c. 98.)

Allowance for Spoiled Stamps.—§ 14. The commissioners may make regulations regarding allowance for stamps spoiled in the following cases, viz.:—

Instruments not executed.—(1.) Inadvertently and undesignedly spoiled, obliterated, or by any means rendered unfit for the purpose intended:

Adhesive stamps.—(2.) Any never used nor affixed to any material, but inadvertently and undesignedly spoiled or rendered unfit for use:

Bills and Notes.—(3.) Signed by the drawer, but not delivered out of his hands to the payee, or any person on his behalf, or deposited with any person as a security for the payment of money, or in any way negotiated, issued, or put in circulation, or made use of in any other manner whatever, and which being a bill has not been accepted by the drawee, and does not bear any signature intended as or for the acceptance:

(4.) Signed by or on behalf of the drawer thereof, but which from any omission or error has been spoiled or rendered useless, although the same, being a bill of exchange, may have been presented for acceptance or accepted or endorsed, or, being a promissory-note, may have been delivered to the payee, provided that another completed and duly stamped bill or note is produced identical in every particular, except in correction of such error or omission as aforesaid, with the spoiled bill or note:

(5.) The following executed instruments—

(a.) Presentation to an ecclesiastical benefice not followed by institution:

(b.) Executed by any party thereto, but afterwards found to be absolutely void in law from the beginning:

(c.) Executed by any party thereto, but afterwards found unfit by reason of any error or mistake therein for the purpose originally intended:

(d.) Executed by any party thereto, but which, by reason of the death of any person by whom it is necessary that it should be executed, without having executed the same, or of the refusal of any such person to execute the same, or to advance any money intended to be thereby secured, cannot be completed so as to effect the intended transaction in the form proposed:

(e.) Executed by any party thereto, which, for want of the execution thereof by some material and necessary party, and his inability or refusal to sign the same, is in fact incomplete and insufficient for the purpose for which it was intended:

(f.) Executed by any party thereto, which, by reason of the refusal of any person to act under the same, or by the refusal or non-acceptance of any office thereby granted, totally fails of the intended purpose:

(g.) Executed by any party thereto, which, for want of enrolment or registration within the time required by law, becomes null and void:

(h.) Executed by any party thereto, which becomes useless in consequence of the transaction intended to be thereby effected being effected by some other instrument duly stamped:

(i.) Executed by any party thereto, which is inadvertently and undesignedly spoiled, and in lieu whereof another instrument made between the same parties and for the same purpose is executed and duly stamped:

Provided:—

(1.) Executed Instruments—

(a.) The instrument is given up to be cancelled:

(b.) The application is made within six months after the date of the instrument, or, if not dated, within six months after the execution by the person by whom it was first or alone executed. Except, 1. Where from unavoidable circumstances any instrument for which another instrument has been substituted cannot be given up to be cancelled within the aforesaid period, and in that case within six months after the date or execution of the substituted instrument; 2. Where the spoiled instrument has become void for want of enrolment or registration, and in that case within six months next after it has so become void; 3. Where the spoiled instrument has been sent abroad, and in that case within six months after it has been received back in any part of the United Kingdom:

(c.) No action has been brought or suit commenced in which the instrument could or would have been given or offered in evidence:

(2.) Unexecuted Instruments.—In the case of stamped material, not having any executed instrument written thereon, and of an adhesive stamp not affixed to any material, the application is made within six months after the stamp has been spoiled.

Misused Stamps.—§ 15. Stamp used of greater value than was necessary, or stamp inadvertently used for an instrument not liable to any duty, application within six months after the date of the instrument, or, if it is not dated, within six months after the execution. The instrument liable to duty to be restamped with the proper duty. The misused stamp to be cancelled and allowed as spoiled.

Allowance how to be made.—§ 16. The commissioners may give in lieu other stamps of the same denomination and value, or if required, and they think proper, stamps of any other denomination to the same amount in value, or, at their discretion, the same value in money, deducting the proper allowance on the purchase of stamps of the like description.

Stamps not wanted may be repurchased by the Commissioners.—§ 17. A stamp not spoiled or rendered unfit or useless for the purpose intended, but for which the person has no immediate use, the commissioners may, if they in their discretion think fit, repay the amount in money, deducting the proper discount. The stamp to be delivered up to be cancelled, and satisfactory proof to be given that it was purchased by him with a bona fide intention to be used, and that the applicant has paid the full value thereof without any deduction (except only the amount of such discount), and that the stamp was so purchased within the period of six months next preceding the application at the chief office or at one of the head offices, or from some person appointed to sell and distribute stamps or duly licensed to deal in stamps.

As to the exchange of Sea Policies of Insurance, see 30 Vict. c. 23, § 17. The cases for allowing are—

(1.) Where policy shall be inadvertently filled up in an incorrect or improper manner;

(2.) Or be obliterated or otherwise spoiled, and rendered unfit for use:

(3.) Or shall be filled up for some insurances which shall not be proceeded in, and the same shall not be signed by any underwriter.

Application must be made within six months after the policy shall be spoiled or become useless.

(See Note a.)

(a.) The Solicitor's Office, No. 5 in the Inland Revenue Office, Edinburgh, is open for the allowance of spoiled stamps every Tuesday and Thursday

IV. INHABITED HOUSE DUTY.

On each inhabited dwelling-house of the annual value of £20 or upwards, occupied as a farm-house by a tenant or farm-servant, or in which articles are exposed for sale, or in any shop being part of a dwelling-house, or which is licensed for the sale of liquors by retail, or which is occupied as a hotel, although not licensed for the sale of liquors, a duty of 6d. per pound; all others, 9d.

V. PROPERTY AND INCOME TAX.

from 12 noon to 2 P.M. The distributors of stamps also receive spoiled stamps for allowance.

A supply of forms of affidavits is kept by the solicitor and the distributors, and claimants may attend at the Solicitor's Office and have the affidavits filled up and taken; or they may get copies of the forms, and take the oath before a justice of the peace, and afterwards lodge the affidavits and the stamps with any of the above officers. If the claim be admitted at Edinburgh, a ticket is issued stating that application is to be made for the new stamps after the next Monday, and within six weeks from the date of the ticket. If the claim be lodged with a distributor, a ticket is issued stating that application is to be made for the said stamps after a specified date, and within six weeks from the date of the ticket. If application not made within that time, the claim will be forfeited.

The stamps must be presented for allowance within six months after being spoiled.

RATES OF POSTAGE AND CONDITIONS OF TRANSMISSION.

LETTERS.

The rate of postage to be prepaid on Inland (United Kingdom) Letters is—

For a letter not exceeding 1 oz.....1d.

Exceed.	1 oz.	but not exceed.	2 oz.	1½d.
..	2	..	..	4 ..	2d.
..	4	..	..	6 ..	2½d.
..	6	..	..	8 ..	3d.
..	8	..	..	10 ..	3½d.
..	10	..	..	12 ..	4d.

A letter weighing more than 12 oz. is liable to a postage of 1d. for every ounce. Example, 16 oz. would be 1s. 4d. Unpaid Letters are charged double, and deficient postage double the deficiency. Letters may not exceed in size 18×9×6 inches. On re-directed letters the charge for re-direction is the same whether prepaid or collected on delivery.

LATE LETTERS, posted at the provincial offices, must be paid by attaching the requisite number of postage stamps for the postage as well as for the late letter fee, and are in time if put into the Late Letter Box 15 minutes after the closing of the mail, with an additional penny stamp affixed, and with three additional stamps they are in time till 10 minutes before the despatch of each mail.

Letters, when once posted, cannot be given back upon any pretence whatever, but must be forwarded to the person to whom they are addressed.

Letters containing articles of a perishable or dangerous nature, or anything that might prove injurious to the other letters, are not forwarded, but sent to the Returned Letter Branch.

REGISTRATION.—Any inland letter, book-packet, &c., can be registered on the payment of a fee of 4d. in addition to the postage on such letter or packet. The full amount in stamps for postage and fee must be on the letter when presented for registration, and it must be presented half-an-hour before the closing of the box for the mail by which it will be sent, otherwise it is liable to a late fee of 4d. It is recommended that all letters of value, and letters containing coin, should be registered; as any letter discovered in course of transit containing coin is registered, and a fee of 8d. charged on it, which must be paid on delivery. A letter marked "registered" posted in any letter-box, instead of being presented for registration and a receipt obtained, is also charged a fee of 8d., any additional stamps on it above the postage being allowed for off that amount. For the rates of registered letters going abroad, see pp. 146–153.

POST CARDS.

Post Cards are for transmission between places in the United Kingdom only.

The front (or stamped) side is intended for the address only. There must be no other writing or printing on it, nor must there be any writing or printing across the stamp. On the reverse side any communication, whether of the nature of a letter or otherwise, may be written or printed, but such communication must not extend to the front side. Nothing whatever may be attached; nor may the Card be folded, cut, or otherwise altered. If any of these rules be infringed, the Card will be charged 1d. on delivery.

No Card other than one of those issued by the Government will pass under a halfpenny stamp, if (unless it be a Circular) it bear on it a written communication of the nature of a letter.

It is forbidden to forward by post any indecent or obscene print, painting, photograph, lithograph, engraving, book or card, or any other indecent or obscene article, or any letter, newspaper, publication, packet, or card having thereon any words, marks, or designs of an indecent, obscene, libellous, or grossly offensive character.

NEWSPAPERS.

All newspapers registered at the General Post-Office, London, printed and published in the United Kingdom at intervals not exceeding seven days, and on a sheet, or sheets, unstitched, may be sent by post, singly or in a packet, within the United Kingdom, for a postage of one halfpenny for each newspaper on each transmission, prepaid either by an adhesive stamp or by the use of a stamped wrapper. A packet containing two or more registered newspapers is not chargeable with a higher rate of postage than that chargeable on a book packet of the same weight. A newspaper posted unpaid, and a packet of newspapers posted either unpaid or insufficiently paid, will be charged with the unpaid rate applicable to book packets. The title and date of every publication must be printed at the top of every page, and it must be folded in such a manner that the title may be readily inspected. It must either have no cover, or be in a cover open at the ends, and contain no enclosure, except any supplement belonging to it. If it contain any other, such enclosure will be taken out and charged on delivery as an unpaid letter. A newspaper which has any letter, or any communication of the nature of a letter, written in it or upon its cover, will be charged as an unpaid or insufficiently paid letter. No packet of newspapers must exceed 14 lb. in weight, 2 feet in length, and 1 foot in width or depth.

Registration for inland circulation includes registration for transmission abroad. Newspapers for foreign countries and the colonies are subject to the same general regulations as for inland circulation; excepting that for foreign transmission a newspaper may be published at intervals of 31 days, and that it (but not its supplement) may be printed on sheets stitched together. It must be posted within eight days from the date of publication, including the day of publication. No packet of newspapers must exceed 2 feet in length, or 1 foot in depth or width. The rates of newspapers going abroad will be found in the list of Colonial and Foreign Postages, p. 146.

INLAND BOOK POST.

The rate of postage is one halfpenny for every 2 oz. or fraction thereof, and must be prepaid in stamps.

If not sufficiently paid, double the deficiency will be charged; and if sent unpaid, a double rate is charged. All letters or sealed enclosures in a book packet are forbidden. If this rule is infringed, the entire packet will be treated as a letter. If any letter is written on a book or its cover, it will be charged unpaid letter postage. (Entries, however, merely stating who sends the book, &c., or to whom it is given, are not regarded as a letter.)

A book packet may contain any number of separate books, maps, or prints, and any quantity of paper, vellum, or parchment, and may be either printed, written, or plain, or any mixture of the three;—further, all legitimate binding, mounting, or covering of the same, whether loose or attached; also rollers in the case of prints; markers, whether paper or otherwise, in books; in short, whatever is necessary for the safe transmission of literary or artistic matter, or usually appertains thereto; but every packet must be open at both ends, and put up in such a manner as to admit of the contents being easily withdrawn for examination; otherwise it will be treated as a letter.

Circulars require to be in identical terms, the whole or greater part of which must be printed, engraved, or lithographed, notwithstanding such may be letters or communications of the nature of a letter.

A book packet in dimensions must not exceed 6 inches in depth, 9 inches in width, 18 inches in length, and 5 lb. in weight.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN PATTERN POST.

The Pattern and Sample Post is restricted to bona fide trade patterns or samples of merchandise. Goods sent for sale, or in execution of an order (however small the quantity may be), or any articles sent by one private individual to another, which may not actually be patterns or samples, are not admissible.

The postage must be prepaid, either by adhesive stamps or stamped wrapper, or combination of both.

Patterns or samples, when practicable, must be sent in covers open at the ends, and so as to be easy of examination. But samples of seeds, drugs, and such like articles, which cannot be sent in covers of this kind,—but such articles only,—may be posted enclosed in boxes or in bags of linen, or other material, fastened in such a manner that they may be readily opened; or in bags entirely closed, provided such closed bags are transparent, so as to enable the officers of the Post-Office readily to satisfy themselves as to the nature of the contents. If this rule be infringed, the packet will be treated as a letter.

There must be no writing or printing upon any packet except the address of the person for whom it is intended, the address of the sender, a trade mark or number, and the price of the articles.

The limit of weight is not the same for all countries.

No packet is allowed to pass which might subject the officers of the Post-Office or the contents of the mail bags to injury.

PRINTED PARLIAMENTARY PAPERS may be sent by post in the United Kingdom at the rate of one halfpenny for every 2 oz. or fraction of that weight. There is no limitation as to weight. Papers must be without covers, or in covers open at the ends. The words "Parliamentary Proceedings" must be written or printed on the cover of the packet, otherwise it will be treated as an ordinary book packet. Prepayment is optional. Petitions and addresses forwarded to her Majesty pass free. Members of Parliament may receive petitions and addresses to her Majesty, or petitions to either House, free, if not exceeding 2 lb., and sent without covers, or in covers open at the sides.

POSTAGE STAMPS, WRAPPERS, AND ENVELOPES.

Postage labels are issued of the respective values of ½d., 1d., 1½d., 2d., 3d., 4d., 6d., 9d., 10d., 1s., 2s., and 5s.

Stamped Envelopes are made of four sizes—viz., 5¼ × 3⅜ in., 5¼ × 3 in., 4¾ × 2¾ in., and 4 × 2½ in., and are sold at 2s. 2d. per packet of 24.

Newspaper Wrappers bearing an impressed halfpenny stamp are sold at the rate of 4s. 4½d., 4s. 5d., or 4s. 5½d. per 100, according to size. But a discount of 1 per cent. is allowed on purchase of not less than £10 worth of either labels or wrappers.

It is no longer legal to use for postage any embossed or impressed stamp cut out or otherwise separated from any cover, paper, or card, on which it was embossed. Postage stamps are purchased from the public at the Money Order Office, G.P.O.; Branch Offices; and the Receiving-Offices, at a charge of ½d. on the value of 1s. 8d. and under, and 1d. on 3s. 4d. value, and so on, being at the rate of 2½ per cent.

POST-OFFICE TELEGRAPHS.

The charge for the transmission of messages by telegraph throughout the United Kingdom is one shilling for the first twenty words, and threepence for each additional five words or part of five words. The charge to Orkney and Shetland is 2s. for the same amount of words, and to Roche Point (in Ireland) 3s. from Great Britain, and 2s. from any place in Ireland. The names and addresses of the sender and receiver are not charged for. Telegrams may be repeated at the request of the sender, if he desires to adopt this extra security against risk of error, by being sent back from the office at which they are received to the office from which they are forwarded. The charge for repetition is one-half the ordinary tariff, fractions of threepence being reckoned as twopence. The cost of a reply to a telegram may be prepaid. Copies of a telegram directed to more than one firm or person in the same free delivery, will be delivered separately at an additional charge of threepence per copy. Telegrams may be redirected from town to town at an extra charge of one-half the ordinary tariff, fractions of threepence being reckoned as twopence. All numbers and fractions of numbers must be written in words, and will be charged for accordingly. For example, "365" should be written "three hundred and sixty-five," and when so written will be charged for as five words, and "⅜" should be written "three-eighths," and when so written will be charged as two words. The sums charged for the transmission of telegrams cover the costs of delivery by special foot messenger within the limit of one mile of the terminal telegraphic office, or within the limit of the town postal delivery of that office, when it is a head office, and the town postal delivery extends for more than a mile from it. When the addressee does not reside within the above-described limits, and the sender desires to have his telegram delivered by special foot-messenger, the charge will be sixpence per double mile or any part thereof. A sum of one shilling per double mile will be charged for the delivery of telegrams by cab, fly, or horse express. When the addressee does not reside within the above-described limits, and the sender does not desire to incur the cost of special delivery, his telegram will be delivered free of extra charge by the ordinary postal delivery next following on the arrival of his telegram at the terminal telegraphic office.

A list of post towns, with telegraph offices indicated, will be found at p. 154.

POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS, SAVINGS BANKS, AND GOVERNMENT ANNUITIES.

above which sum no single order can be granted. A money order must be presented for payment before the end of the second calendar month after that in which it was issued, otherwise a new order will be necessary, for which a second commission must be paid; and if not presented before the end of the twelfth month, the money will not be paid at all. Printed forms for making applications in case of miscarriage or loss of an order, or when it is desired to stop payment of an inland order, or when alteration in the name of the payee is required, or transfer of payment to another office, or repayment of the amount be required, may be obtained at any money-order office, and full instructions on the subject will be found printed at the back of the money order. Money orders are issued at all money-order offices in the United Kingdom to the following places abroad, and charged with commission as follows:—

For Sums not exceeding	£2	£5	£7	£10
	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.
If payable in Switzerland, Belgium, Denmark, North Germany, Egypt, Malta, Gibraltar, or Constantinople	0 9	1 6	2 3	3 0
At all other places abroad (including most of the Colonies) which transact money-order business with this country	1 0	2 0	3 0	4 0

The regulations are the same as for inland orders, but in most cases they do not lapse till the end of six instead of two months.

POST-OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS.—Every post-office, being a money-order office, which the Postmaster-General shall authorize to receive and repay deposits, will be open for that purpose during the same hours as are appointed for money-order business. Deposits of one shilling, or any number of pounds and shillings, will be received from any depositor, provided the sums deposited do not exceed £30 in any year, ending 31st December, and the total amount standing in the depositor's name does not exceed £150, exclusive of interest. Interest at the rate of £2, 10s. per cent. per annum allowed on every complete pound. When any depositor's principal and interest amount together to £200, all interest will cease so long as the balance of the account continues to amount to the said sum of £200. Any depositor wishing to withdraw the whole or part of his deposits, must apply on the form which he will procure at any post-office savings bank, and transmit it to the Postmaster-General, who will send him a warrant by post, payable at the post-office named in his application. Further regulations as to details are printed in the book which the depositor receives on making his first deposit, and an abstract of the Act will be found in the Almanac for 1862, p. 143.

GOVERNMENT ANNUITIES, ETC.—The Act 27 and 28 Vict. c. 43, empowers the Postmaster-General to insure the lives of persons of either sex for not less than £20, or more than £100; and also to grant immediate or deferred annuities on the lives of persons of either sex, of the age of ten years and upwards. Certain post-offices have been opened for the receipt of proposals, where full instructions for filling up and delivering the necessary forms may be obtained. See Post-towns, p. 154. For Table of Annuities and Assurance, see p. 87.

Postage to the Colonies and all Foreign Parts.

In the following Table, the route first specified is that by which a letter will be sent if not specially addressed. If, however, the letter is paid by postage stamps, it will be sent by the route with which the amount agrees; and if unpaid, although addressed by a route which requires pre-payment, it will not be returned to the writer if it can be sent by another route without the postage being paid.

No letter exceeding 50 grammes (a little more than 1¾ oz.), and containing any other enclosure than paper, is allowed to circulate in Germany by post. Such letters will be stopped at the frontier, and sent to the Customhouse for delivery as freight. Coin, watches, jewelry and other articles of value, which are liable to customs duties, are not permitted to circulate in Spain, and the circulation of coin, jewelry, and other articles of value is also prohibited in Belgium and Italy. A similar prohibition, on pain of forfeiture, is placed on the transmission of diamonds and other jewels to the Turkish empire, and of money and jewelry to Costa Rica.

Book and Pattern Post.—To the colonies and most foreign countries printed paper may be sent under the same regulations as the Inland Book Post, and the name and address of the sender may be written on the book; but to most foreign countries there must be no writing or manuscript marks except the name and address of the person to whom it is sent.

The following limitations of the Newspaper, Book, and Pattern Post must be adhered to—viz., A packet of newspapers, books, or patterns for Belgium, or countries via Belgium (Holland, Denmark, Sweden, and Switzerland excepted), must not exceed 8 oz. in weight; and for Portugal, Madeira, the Azores, or Cape de Verds, must not exceed 1 lb. To Denmark, and places via Denmark, Greece, the Ionian Islands, New South Wales, and Queensland, the weight must not exceed 3 lb. In every other case the limit is 5 lb.

A packet of patterns or samples sent to Portugal, Madeira, the Azores, Cape de Verds, France, or to Turkey, Syria, or Egypt, by French packet, must not exceed 18 inches in length, width, or depth; a packet to any other place abroad must not exceed 24 inches in length, or 12 inches in breadth or depth.

Samples of intrinsic value must not be sent to foreign countries except the United States.

Registration of Letters.—Letters may be registered to the colonies and some foreign countries for a fee of 4d., except when otherwise stated. To France, and countries via France, the registration fee is the same as the postage, which is therefore doubled. Book packets, etc., for the colonies may be registered as such, but for most foreign countries must be paid letter rates.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN POSTAGE.

SHIP-LETTERS, ETC.

Letters intended to be sent by private ship must be so addressed:—"By Private Ship,"—and if by a particular vessel, the name of the ship must be added. The ship postage, single rate, is generally 6d., with the following exceptions:—To Belgium, Belize, Canada, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward's Island, United States, and the British West Indies, 3d. every ½ oz., or part thereof; the Cape of Good Hope, Natal, St Helena, and Ascension, 4d. ½ oz.; to France, 3d. ½ oz.; to Norway, 6d. ½ oz.; to Holland, 8d. ½ oz., 1s. 4d. 1 oz., and 1s. 4d. for every additional oz. or part thereof. The following are the places to which letters can be sent unpaid:—Azores, Belgium, Belize, British West Indies, Canada, Cape de Verd Islands, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, Falkland Islands, France and Algeria, Gibraltar, Gold Coast, Holland, Hong-Kong, India, Madeira, Malta, Mauritius, Natal, New Brunswick, Newfoundland, Norway, Nova Scotia, Portugal, P. Edward Island, St Helena, Sierra Leone, and the United States,—all others must be prepaid. Letters for the Azores, Cape de Verds, Madeira, and Portugal, are chargeable on delivery with 8d. per ½ oz.; those for France and Algeria, 6d. ½ oz.; those for Norway, 8d. per ½ oz.; and those for the other places (except Holland, which are not chargeable with any addition), one extra rate each; but to all other places prepayment is compulsory. Unpaid letters inward are charged in the same manner as unpaid letters outward. Newspapers by private ship to the Azores, Cape de Verd Islands, Madeira, Norway, and Portugal, must be prepaid 2d. each, and to all other places 1d. each. Book packets and packets of patterns must be prepaid the packet rates of postage.

LETTERS for private soldiers, or seamen belonging to H.M. ships, whether serving on sea or on land, either in a British possession or foreign country, can be sent and received, under ½ oz., by direct packet or vessel of war for a postage of 1d.; but if any such letters have to pass through a foreign country, they are subject in addition to the foreign rate. Marines and seamen serving abroad are allowed to prepay such of their letters as are conveyed in their ship's bag with English postage stamps.

CHAP. 4. To amend the Stamp Act 1870, in relation to Foreign Securities, Mortgages of Stock, and Proxy Papers. March 30, 1871.

(1.) Repeals sections 113 and 114 of of last year's Act, and substitutes the two following provisions instead thereof:—(2.) "Foreign security" to mean every security for money by any foreign or colonial state, bearing date after 3d June 1862 (except an instrument chargeable with duty as a bill or note) which is made or issued in the United Kingdom; or which, the interest thereon being payable in the United Kingdom, is assigned, transferred, or in any manner negotiated in the United Kingdom. (3.) Penalty of £20 on any one who in the United Kingdom makes, issues, assigns, transfers, or negotiates any foreign security not duly stamped. (4 and 5.) Substitutes certain stamp duties on certain proxy papers and on mortgages for those laid on by the Act of 1870. See Table of Stamp Duties, p. 103.

* The abstracts have been made on the principle of abridging very considerably such provisions as regulate the conduct of official persons, who may be presumed to look for information to the Acts themselves; while those laws which affect the public in general have been abstracted with much anxiety to give a distinct though brief view of their application. The chapters affecting the appropriation of the revenue, and diplomatic matters, as well as the Mutiny and other annual Acts, though they may be said to apply to the inhabitants of Scotland as much as to the other citizens of the empire, are, for obvious reasons, omitted. The numbers within parentheses refer to the sections of the Acts.

INCOME TAX.

CHAP. 5. To make provision for the Assessment of Income Tax. March 30, 1871.

ANATOMY ACT (1832) AMENDMENT.

CHAP. 16. To amend the Act 2 and 3 Will. IV. c. 75, for regulating Schools of Anatomy. May 25, 1871.

Empowers the Secretary of State to vary the period for transmission of certificates of interment to district inspectors.

BANK HOLIDAYS.

CHAP. 17. To make provision for Bank Holidays, and respecting obligations to make Payments and do other acts on such Bank Holidays. May 25, 1871.

(1.) Enacts the following as bank holidays in Scotland, viz., New Year's Day, Christmas Day (and if either of these days falls on a Sunday, then the next following Monday), Good Friday, the first Monday of May, and the first Monday of August. All bills and notes due on any of these days to be payable on the following day, and to be noted and protested accordingly in case of non-payment. For the purposes of this Act the day next following a bank holiday shall mean the next following day on which a bill may be lawfully noted or protested. (2.) When the day for notice of dishonour, or for presentation for honour, falls on a bank holiday, such notice or presentation shall be made on the day next following such bank holiday. (3.) Obligation to pay or to do, if it falls on a bank holiday, shall be prestable on the following day. (4.) The Queen may by proclamation, from time to time, appoint a special day to be observed as a bank holiday; and the day so appointed shall be deemed to be a bank holiday for all the purposes of this Act. (5.) Any bank holiday settled by this Act may be altered by an order in Council, appointing another day to be observed as a bank holiday instead thereof. (6.) Applies to Ireland only. (7.) Short title, "The Bank Holidays Act, 1871."

JEWISH SUNDAY LABOUR.

CHAP. 19. For exempting Persons professing the Jewish Religion from Penalties in respect of Young Persons and Females professing the said Religion working on Sundays. May 25, 1871.

(1.) No penalty to be incurred for Sunday labour in respect of any work done in a workshop or in the tobacco manufacture by any young person professing the Jewish religion, provided that the workshop is in the occupation of a person professing the Jewish religion, is on Saturday closed until sunset, and is not open for traffic on Sunday; such workshop or manufactory being open on Sundays to officers duly authorized by the Factory and Workshop Act of 1867; provided also that the total number of hours of labour of such young person or woman in any one week, or day, or period of 24 hours, does not exceed the limits imposed by the Workshop Regulation Act of 1867. (2.) "Workshop" is here defined in the sense attached to it by the statute last quoted.

CUSTOMS AND INCOME TAX.

CHAP. 21. To grant Duties of Customs and Income Tax. May 25, 1871.

(1.) Short title, "The Customs and Income Tax Act, 1871." (2.) Tea duties, 6d. per lb. continued till 1st August 1872. (3.) Income tax raised to 6d. per pound from and after 6th April 1871. Duties in respect of occupation of lands, etc. (chargeable under schedule B of 16 and 17 Vict. c. 34), to be 2¼d. in Scotland. Reserves existing exemption in case of incomes less than £100 a year, and relief in case of incomes under £200 a year. (4 and 5.) Continue in force existing provisions applicable to customs duties and income tax. (6.)

Annual value of property as assessed for the year 1870–71 shall be annual value assessed under this Act. Commissioners to deliver duplicates and warrants. Assessments to be subject to increase or abatement like last year's. (7.) Inspectors and surveyors of taxes shall be the assessors in respect of duties under schedules A and B.

TRUSTEES—DEBENTURE STOCK.

CHAP. 27. To remove doubts as to the Power of Trustees to invest Trust Funds in Debenture Stocks. June 29, 1871.

(1.) When trustees are empowered to invest trust funds in the mortgages or bonds of a railway company or of any other description of company, such power shall, unless the contrary is expressed in the deed, be deemed to include a power to invest such funds in the debenture stock of a railway company, or such other company as aforesaid. (2.) "Trustees" to include executors and administrators, and any other persons holding funds in a fiduciary capacity. (3.) Short title, "The Debenture Stock Act, 1871."

POSTAGE DUTIES.

CHAP. 30. For the farther Regulation of the Duties on Postage. June 29, 1871.

(1.) Power to the Treasury to reduce the rates of postage on letters sent between places in the United Kingdom, and to regulate scale of weights, provided lowest rate of postage be not less than one penny. (2.) This Act to be construed as one along with the other Post Office Acts. (3.) Short title, "The Post Office (Duties) Act, 1871." (4.) Repeals certain statutory enactments upon any warrant inconsistent therewith and made under this Act coming into operation.

TRADES-UNIONS.

CHAP. 31. To Amend the law relating to Trades-unions. June 29, 1871.

(1.) Short title, "The Trades-union Act, 1871." Criminal Provisions.—(2.) Purposes of a trade-union not to be deemed unlawful by reason merely that they are in restraint of trade. (3.) Nor, on that account, shall they render void any agreement or trust. (4.) No agreement between members of a trade-union, as such, as to conditions on which they shall sell their goods, transact business, employ or be employed, shall be enforceable by a court of law; nor any agreement to pay trade-union subscriptions or penalties, or to apply trade-union funds to provide benefits to members, or to furnish contributions to non-members acting in conformity with the rules, or to discharge any fine imposed by any court of law; nor any agreement between one trade-union and another; nor any bond to secure performance of any of the above-mentioned agreements. But nothing herein shall be construed as making any of these agreements unlawful. (5.) The Friendly Societies Acts of 1855 and 1858, the Industrial and Provident Societies Act of 1867, and the Companies Acts 1862 and 1867, not to apply to trades-unions. Registered Trade-unions. — (6.) A trade-union may be registered on the application of seven or more members. Such registration to be void if any one purpose of the union be unlawful. (7.) Any trade-union registered under this Act may purchase or take upon lease, in name of its trustees, any land not exceeding one acre. For this purpose every branch of a trade-union shall be considered a distinct union. (8.) All real and personal estate whatsoever belonging to any trade-union registered under this Act shall be vested in the trustees for the time being appointed under this Act. On death or removal of trustees, property to vest in new trustees without any conveyance or assignment, except in the case of stocks and securities in the public funds, which must be transferred in the names of new trustees. In all suits relating to such property the trustees to be held as owners. (9.) Actions to be raised or defended by these trustees, or any other officer of such trade-union duly empowered in conformity with the rules thereof. Suits not to abate by death or removal of such trustees. Summons to be served by leaving it at the registered office of the trade-union. (10.) Responsibility of any trustee limited to funds actually received by him on account of trade-union. (11.) Treasurer and other officers of a trade-union must account to trustees or members. Action at law made competent to compel them to do so at the instance of the trustees. (12.) Any one who, by false representation, obtains possession of any money, books, papers, or any other effects belonging to a trade-union, or who wilfully withholds or fraudulently misapplies the same, shall be liable to be proceeded against (in Scotland) at the instance of the procurator-fiscal, or of the trade-union with his concurrence, so as to compel him to deliver up such books, etc., or repay such money, with a further sum of money not exceeding £20, and costs not exceeding 20s. On default of payment or redelivery, sentence of imprisonment may be pronounced, with or without hard labour, not exceeding three months. Lord Advocate's power reserved to proceed by way of indictment. Registry of Trade-union.—(13.) An application to register a trade-union, and printed copies of the rules, with a list of the titles and names of the officers, shall be sent to the registrar under this Act. Registrar, on being satisfied that regulations under this Act are complied with, shall register such trade-union and rules. No trade-union shall be registered under a name identical with that by which any existing trade-union has been registered, or so nearly resembling it as to deceive the members or the public. When a trade-union applying for registry has been in operation for more than a year, statement of receipts, funds, etc., to be delivered to the registrar. Certificate of registry to be issued, which shall be conclusive evidence that the regulations of this Act have been complied with. Secretary of State to make regulations respecting registry under this Act. (14.) Rules of every trade-union shall provide for matters specified in first schedule;* and a copy shall be deliverable to every person on payment of one shilling. (15.) Every trade-union registered under this Act to have a registered office, to which all communications and notices may be addressed. If in operation for seven days without such an office, penalty not exceeding £5 per day to be incurred. Situation of the office, and any change therein, to be communicated to registrar and recorded by him. Till such notice be given, the trade-union shall not be deemed to have complied with the provisions of the Act. (16.) Before the 1st day of June in each year, a general statement of the receipts, funds, and expenditure of every trade-union under this Act, shall be sent to the registrar, together with any alteration in the rules, under a penalty not exceeding £5 for each offence. False entry or wilful omission to be punishable with a penalty of £50 for each offence. (17.) Registrar of Friendly Societies to be registrar under this Act, and to lay before Parliament an annual report with respect to the matters transacted by him under this Act. (18.) Circulating false copies of the rules to be held a misdemeanour. Legal Proceedings.—(19.) In Scotland all offences and penalties under this Act shall be prosecuted and recovered by the procurator-fiscal of the county in the Sheriff-Court, under the provisions of the Summary Procedure Act, 1864. Summary orders under this Act may be made and enforced on complaint in the Sheriff-Court; all necessary jurisdiction and powers being conferred on the sheriffs and their substitutes. (20.) Applies only to England and Ireland. (21.) Appeals against any order or conviction under this Act to be made to the Court of Justiciary, as prescribed by 20 Geo. II. c. 43. All penalties to be enforced, on default of payment, by imprisonment not exceeding three calendar months. (22.) A person who is master, or father, son, or brother of a master, in the particular trade in connexion with which any offence under this Act has been committed, not to act as member of any court for the purposes of this Act. (23.) "Misdemeanour" to mean (in Scotland) crime and

* Of matters to be provided for by the rules of trade-unions registered under this Act.

1. The name of the trade-union and place of meeting for the business of the trade-union. 2. The whole of the objects for which the trade-union is to be established, the purposes for which the funds thereof shall be applicable, and the conditions under which any member may become entitled to any benefit assured thereby, and the fines and forfeitures to be imposed on any member of such trade-union. 3. The manner of making, altering, amending, and rescinding rules. 4. A provision for the appointment and removal of a general committee of management, of a trustee or trustees, treasurer, and other officers. 5. A provision for the investment of the funds and for an annual or periodical audit of accounts. 6. The inspection of the books and names of members of the trade-union by every person having an interest in the funds of the trade-union.

offence. "Trade-union" means such combination, whether temporary or permanent, for regulating the relations between workmen and masters, or between workmen and workmen, or between masters and masters, or for imposing restrictive conditions on the conduct of any trade or business, as would, if this Act had not passed, have been deemed to have been an unlawful combination, by reason of some one or more of its purposes being in restraint of trade. This Act not to affect any agreement between partners as to their own business, or between an employer and those employed by him as to such employment, nor any agreement in consideration of the sale of the goodwill of a business, or of instruction in any profession, trade, or handicraft. (24.) Trade-union Funds Protection Act of 1869 repealed, saving anything done or suffered under said Act.

CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT.

CHAP. 32. To amend the Criminal Law relating to Violence, Threats, and Molestation. June 29, 1871.

(1.) Where any violence, threat, or molestation is used to coerce a master to dismiss a workman, or to coerce a workman to quit employment, to prevent a master from offering or a workman from accepting any employment, to induce either a master or a workman to belong or not to belong to any temporary or permanent association or combination, to compel either master or workman to pay any fine or penalty imposed by any such association or combination, or to force a master to alter the mode of carrying on his business, or the number or description of persons employed by him—such violence, threat, or molestation shall be punishable by imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term not exceeding three months. Molestation defined. No person shall be liable to punishment for doing, or conspiring to do, any act on the ground that such act restrains, or tends to restrain, the free course of trade, unless such act be one of those specified in this section, and be intended to coerce as aforesaid. Legal Proceedings.—(2.) All offences under this Act shall be prosecuted under the provisions of the Summary Jurisdiction Acts, the court of summary jurisdiction in Scotland being that of the sheriff. (3.) Applies to England and Ireland only. (4.) Appeal, in Scotland, to the Justiciary Court, as prescribed by 20 Geo. II. c. 43. All offences under this Act to be prosecuted by the procurator-fiscal of the county. (5.) Any one who is a master, father, son, or brother of a master, in the particular manufacture, trade, or business in connexion with which any offence under this Act is charged to have been committed, must not act as judge. (6.) Defines Summary Jurisdictions Acts for Scotland as being the Summary Procedure Act of 1864. (7.) Repeals, under usual reservations, 6 Geo. IV. c. 129, and 22 Vict. c. 34; also 41st section of 24 and 25 Vict. c. 100.

PUBLIC HEALTH.

CHAP. 38. For amending the Public Health (Scotland) Act, 1867. July 13, 1871.

Preamble sets forth that the powers of assessment and borrowing contained in the Act 30 and 31 Vict. c. 101, are insufficient to enable the local authorities to execute the Act. (1.) Repeals subsection 3 of section 94 of said Act, and subsection 2 of section 95, except as to burghs with population of 50,000 or upwards. In lieu thereof, it is declared that where the provisions of the Act as to water for domestic use, or as to sewerage or drainage, or the erection of permanent hospitals in terms of section 39, shall have been, or shall be, put in force, the assessments specified in sections 93, 94, and 95 of the Act shall not in any year exceed 2s. 6d. in the pound, whether such rate be payable wholly by the owners or wholly by the occupants, or partly by the owners and partly by the occupants. Rate not to exceed 6d. where none of said enactments have been put in force. For the purpose of an assessment for water for domestic uses, the annual value of all manufactories within a burgh shall be ascertained in the same manner as the annual value of mines and minerals is directed to be ascertained in section 94 of the Act. If the local Act for police purposes does not make suitable and sufficient provision for a supply of water for domestic uses, or does not authorize an assessment to be levied for that purpose (as to which questions the decision of the sheriff, on a requisition made to him by ten inhabitants, shall be final), then such burgh shall be held to come under the provisions contained in sections 89 and 94 of said Act, and not those in sections 88 and 95. (2.) Section 39 of said Act shall be held to authorize the local authority to provide hospitals. Power given to borrow for that purpose. No member of local authority to be personally liable for money so borrowed, the bonds being to be taken on the security of the assessment only. (3.) The Public Works Commissioners may advance loans to the local authority for the purpose mentioned in section 39 of said Act and in this Act, subject to recommendation by Secretary of State. (4.) This Act to be construed as part of former Act. (5.) Short title, "The Public Health (Scotland) Amendment Act, 1871."

GASWORKS CLAUSES AMENDMENT.

CHAP. 41. To amend the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847. July 13, 1871.

(1.) This Act and the Act of 1847 to be construed as one Act. (2.) Short title, "The Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871." (3.) Except where specially enacted to the contrary, the provisions of this Act shall apply to every gas undertaking authorized by any Act hereafter to be passed, or by any provisional order under the Gas and Water Works Facilities Act of last year. (4.) Interpretation. General Provisions.—(5.) Gas and residual products not to be manufactured, and gas not to be stored, except upon the lands described in the special Act. If on other lands, the previous written consent is necessary of the owner, lessee, or occupier of every dwelling-house within 300 yards. (6.) Authorizes the sale of superfluous lands. (7.) Receipt of guardians sufficient in the case of a minor, idiot, or lunatic shareholder. (8.) Judicial factor to be appointed in order to enforce payment of arrears of interest, or principal, or principal and interest on mortgages due by the undertakers, where the whole amount due to the mortgagees is not less than £1000. (9.) Nothing in this Act shall exonerate the undertakers from indictment for nuisance, if they shall cause any. (10.) Any easement, right, or privilege, not being an easement of water, may be conveyed to the undertakers under the Lands Clauses Acts of 1845 and 1860. Supply of Gas to Owners and Occupiers of Premises.—(11.) Undertakers must, if required, supply gas to any premises situate within 25 yards from any main. Pipes on premises to be at the charge of the owner or occupier, also any such pipe as may be laid to a greater distance than 30 feet from any pipe of the undertakers. Owner or occupier desiring a supply of gas, shall serve notice to that effect. He may be required by the undertakers to make a contract for two years, for a payment not less than 20 per cent. on the outlay incurred by undertakers in providing pipe, and also to give security. (12.) Refers to schedule containing directions to test the quality of the gas, its illuminating power, and its purity from sulphuretted hydrogen. (13.) Undertakers may require consumer to use meters. (14.) Undertakers to supply meters, on security being given by the consumer for price or rent thereof. (15.) Meters not to be connected or disconnected with supply pipe without twenty-four hours' written notice to the undertakers. Penalty not exceeding 40s. on contravention hereof. (16.) Nature and amount of security to be given by owner or occupier may be settled by agreement, or by final determination of two justices on application of either party. (17.) Consumer must keep his meter in proper order, and in default thereof the undertakers may withdraw the supply. The undertakers to have access to remove, test, inspect, and replace meter, at their own expense if the meter turns out to be in proper order, and if otherwise, then at the expense of the consumer. (18.) Power to undertakers to let out for hire any meter and fittings thereto. Such meters and fittings not to be subject to landlord's remedy for rent, nor to be taken in execution, or in bankruptcy proceedings. (19.) Where the undertakers let out a meter for hire, they are bound to keep it in repair. In default of their doing so, no rent shall be due. Power to undertaker to remove, test, inspect, and replace any such meter at all reasonable times. (20.) Register of meter shall be prima facie evidence of the amount of gas consumed. If parties differ, such difference to be finally determined by two justices. (21.) Any officer of the undertakers may at all reasonable times enter any premises to inspect meters and fittings, and for the purpose of ascertaining the quantity of gas consumed or supplied. Forfeiture of a sum not exceeding £5 for hindering such officer. (22.) When a consumer ceases to require a supply, or when the undertakers are entitled to cut it off, the latter may, on twenty-four hours' written notice, enter the premises between 9 A.M. and 4 P.M. to remove all pipes, etc., repairing damage done by such removal. (23.) If a consumer neglects or refuses to pay, he may be summoned before a justice to show cause why payment is not made. If no good cause be shown, such justice may issue his warrant of distress for seizure and sale of such consumer's goods, to recover amount which may be proved before such justice to be due. Supply of Gas to Local Authorities.—(24.) Undertakers to supply gas to any public lamps within the distance of 50 yards from any of their mains, on requisition of local authority or road trustees. Price to be settled by agreement or arbitration. (25.) Gas supplied to public lamps shall be consumed by meter at the option either of the local authority or of the undertakers. If by meter, the undertakers shall supply it at the cost of party requiring it. Provision made for average meter indication. (26.) Instrument known as a street-lamp governor may be affixed to each public lamp, either by local authority or by undertakers. (27.) Differences between the undertakers and the local authority to be settled by arbitration under the Companies Clauses Act of 1845. Testing of Gas.—(28.) Undertakers to provide a testing place and apparatus. (29.) Local authority within any district to appoint a competent and impartial person to be a gas examiner. (30.) Where no examiner is appointed, or where the testing of the gas is imperfectly attended to, two justices, on the application of not less than five consumers, may appoint a gas examiner to test the illuminating power and purity of the gas. (31.) At the testing of the gas by the examiner, the undertakers may be represented by some officer; but such officer shall not interfere in the testing. (32.) Tests to be in accordance with rules in schedule. (33.) Gas examiner to report to the local authority or justices by whom he was appointed. (34.) Undertakers to give to gas examiner and his assistants, and to the local authority, access to the testing place, and shall afford all facilities for the execution of the Act, under penalty not exceeding £5 for default. Accounts.—(35.) Undertakers to send in to local authority, before the 25th of March in each year, an annual statement of accounts made up to 31st December in the preceding year, in form provided by schedule. Copies to be kept at undertakers' office, and to be sold to any applicant at a price not exceeding 1s per copy. Board of Trade may alter forms. 40s. per day payable by undertakers in default of compliance. Penalties.—(36.) Penalty of 40s. per day on default by undertakers to supply gas to any one entitled thereto. Same penalty for failure to supply public lamps. On proof that on any day the gas is under less pressure, of less illuminating power, or of less purity than it ought to be, the undertakers shall incur a penalty not exceeding £20, as the two justices, before whom the matter is heard, may determine. (37.) Where the gas examiner is appointed by the justices under section 30, the costs of the experiment, including the remuneration to the person making it, shall be paid according to the event. Wilful, fraudulent, or culpable injury to pipes or meters; fraudulent alterations on the index of a meter, and fraudulent abstraction or consumption of gas, are punishable with a penalty of £5, payable to the undertakers, who may, besides this, recover damages, and stop supply of gas until matter complained of be remedied. Knowledge of consumer to be inferred prima facie from existence within his control of artificial means of fraud. Recovery of Gas Rents.—(39.) Incoming tenants not liable to pay arrears due by outgoing tenants of the premises, unless such incoming tenant has made agreement to that effect with outgoing tenant to relieve him thereof. (40.) Gas rent and expenses recoverable in like manner as penalties under the Act. (41.) These are, moreover, recoverable in any court of competent jurisdiction. Legal Proceedings.—(42.) Several names and sums may be contained in one warrant. (43.) Warrant of distress to include costs. (44.) Prosecutions and recovery of penalties under this Act to be as directed by "The Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847." (45.) Notice by undertakers to any person shall be by delivery, or by being left at or posted to the usual or last known place of abode. If address be unknown, then the notice is to be affixed for three days to some conspicuous part of the premises. (46.) Liability to pay gas rent not to disqualify justices from acting.

CITATION AMENDMENT.

CHAP. 42. To amend the Process of Citation in Scotland. July 13, 1871.

Preamble sets forth the Act 1540, c. 75, entitled "The Ordour of Summounding of all Persones in Civill Actiones," whereby the affixing of "copies of letters or precepts" to the gate or door of a house after the officer has given six knocks and failed to get entrance thereto, was made a lawful and sufficient citation; also that great evils have arisen through the practice of that mode of citation, and that it is desirable to amend the process of citation in some other respects. (1.) Short title, "The Citation Amendment (Scotland) Act." (2.) No writ issued by any Small Debt Court in Scotland shall be legally served by being affixed to the gate or door of any house or premises, or, where the defender has removed from such premises, by being left in the hands of an inmate thereof, save as herein excepted. (3.) Where an officer of any Small Debt Court is satisfied that the defender is refusing access or concealing himself, or has removed within forty days, his dwelling-place for the time not being known, such officer may affix the writ to the door, or leave it in the hands of an inmate, and then send a registered letter containing a copy of the writ to the address thought likeliest, after diligent inquiry, to find the defender. Execution to state that the officer endeavoured to effect service at the defender's last known dwelling-place, and the circumstances that prevented it, and to be accompanied by post-office receipt for the registered letter. (4.) In all cases before the Small Debt Courts, and proceedings therein, it shall not, except in cases of poinding, sequestrating, or charging, be necessary for any officer to be accompanied by any witness or concurrent. (5.) Defender means any person named in the writ and called upon to answer. (6.) Nothing in this Act shall apply to the proceedings of any other courts than the Small Debt Courts of the Sheriffs and Justices of the Peace.

PROMISSORY OATHS.

CHAP. 48. To repeal divers Enactments relating to Oaths and Declarations which are not in force; and for other Purposes connected therewith. July 13, 1871.

This statute was passed with a view to the revision of the statute law, and the preparation of the revised edition of the Statutes now in progress. It expressly repeals Acts and part of Acts already virtually repealed.

PEERS' BANKRUPTCY DISQUALIFICATION.

CHAP. 50. For Disqualifying Bankrupts from Sitting or Voting in the House of Lords. July 13, 1871.

(1.) Short title, "The Bankruptcy Disqualification Act, 1871." (2.) Every peer who becomes a bankrupt shall be disqualified from sitting or voting in the House of Lords, or in any committee thereof. If he be a Scotch or Irish peer, he shall be disqualified from being elected to sit and vote in the House of Lords. (3.) A peer shall be deemed to have become bankrupt (in Scotland) when, on any petition for sequestration, a deliverance has been pronounced awarding sequestration of his estate. (4.) Provides for restitution of a bankrupt peer's privileges on determination of bankruptcy. (5.) The seat of a representative peer for Scotland or Ireland shall, unless his bankruptcy be determined within one year after the date of his becoming bankrupt, be vacated at the expiration of the year, and a new election be held to fill the vacancy. (6.) Any person who, being disqualified by this Act, sits or votes in the House, or attempts to do so shall be dealt with as guilty of a breach of privilege. (7.) The court having jurisdiction in the bankruptcy of a peer, shall cause the fact to be certified to the Speaker of the House of Lords, and to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery. Record of such certificate to be entered in the journals of the House. (8.) A writ of summons shall not be issued to any peer for the time being disqualified from sitting or voting in the House of Lords. (9.) The Act shall apply to any one who, being bankrupt before or after the passing of this Act, subsequently succeeds to a peerage before his bankruptcy has come to an end. (10.) This Act shall not by implication be held to deprive any peer of any privilege not hereby expressly taken away, or to qualify for a seat or vote in the House of Commons any one who would not have been qualified if this Act had not been passed. (11.) "Peer" in this Act means peer of the United Kingdom, or of any part thereof, or any other Lord of Parliament.

ECCLESIASTICAL TITLES.

CHAP. 53. To repeal an Act for preventing the assumption of certain Ecclesiastical Titles in respect of places in the United Kingdom. July 24, 1871.

The preamble refers to the enactments contained in the Ecclesiastical Titles Act of 1851 (14 and 15 Vict. c. 60). It then sets forth that no ecclesiastical title of honour or dignity, derived from any place within this realm, can be validly created, nor can any pre-eminence or coercive power be conferred, otherwise than under the authority of the Crown and the laws of the realm; but that it is inexpedient to impose penalties upon those ministers of religion who may, as among the members of the several religious bodies to which they respectively belong, be designated by distinctions regarded as titles of office, although such designation may be connected with the name of some town or place within the realm. (1.) Repeals the Act of 1851; provided that such repeal shall not be deemed in any way to sanction the attempt to confer any rank, title, precedence, authority, or jurisdiction on or over any subject of this realm, by any person or persons in or out of this realm, other than the sovereign thereof.

CRIMINAL AND DANGEROUS LUNATICS.

CHAP. 55. To amend the Law relating to Criminal and Dangerous Lunatics in Scotland. July 24, 1871.

(1.) Short title, "The Criminal and Dangerous Lunatics (Scotland) Amendment Act, 1871." (2.) When any person having been charged under indictment or criminal letters shall be ordered by the Court to be kept in custody until Her Majesty's pleasure shall be known, any order by the Crown in relation to the custody of such person may be renewed and varied from time to time. Liberation from custody upon certain conditions may be ordered by Secretary of State. If any of these conditions be broken, the Secretary of State may order re-apprehension, and the person so taken into custody shall revert to the same position as before, and be liable to detention accordingly. (3.) As to persons charged on indictment prior to Act 20 and 21 Vict. c. 71, and detained by reason of lunacy until farther orders of Court, or disposed of otherwise than by being placed at Her Majesty's disposal, the provisions of this Act shall apply. (4.) Provides for relief of lunatic department in General Prison at Perth from overcrowding, by authorizing criminal lunatics to be sent for treatment to any district asylum, or to any chartered or licensed asylum. (5.) Provides for removal to and from General Prison at Perth of any criminal lunatic. (6.) Sheriff may, on summary application, order removal of criminal lunatic from a local prison to an asylum. (7.) Sheriff may order re-conveyance of any such person from the asylum to the local prison. (8.) Provisions in 25 and 26 Vict. c. 54, sections 15 and 16, concerning lunatics charged with assault or any other offence inferring danger to the lieges, not to be read as limited to pauper lunatics.

DOGS.

CHAP. 56. To provide farther Protection against Dogs. July 24, 1871.

(1.) Stray dog deemed to be savage or dangerous may be taken possession of by any constable for detention till the owner has claimed the same and paid all expenses. When owner is known, a letter intimating the fact to be sent to him at his usual or last known abode. If the dog be unclaimed for three days, the chief officer of police may order it to be sold or destroyed. Money arising from sale is to be paid to account of the local rate; and any dog detained under this section is to be fed and maintained at the cost of the local rate. (2.) Any court of summary jurisdiction may take cognizance of a complaint that a dog is dangerous and not kept under proper control. The court may make a summary order to destroy it, under penalty of 20s. for each day the order is not complied with. (3.) If a mad dog, or a dog suspected of being mad, is found within the jurisdiction of a local authority, such authority may make, vary, or revoke an order placing such restrictions as they think expedient on all dogs not being under the control of any person during such period as may be prescribed in such order. Contravention of such order to infer a penalty not exceeding 20s. Due notice of such order to be published at the expense of the local rate. Provisions in section 1 to apply to any dog found at large in contravention of any order made in pursuance of this section. (4.) Penalties recoverable (in Scotland) under Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1864. (5.) Definition of terms. (6.) Reserves effect of local Acts. (7.) Short title, "The Dogs Act, 1871."

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANIES AMENDMENT.

CHAP. 58. To amend the Life Assurance Companies Act, 1870. July 24, 1871.

(1.) Provides as to payment into Court of Chancery, and orders as to sums deposited under section 3 of last year's Act. These orders to be made, altered, and revoked by the like authority, and in the like manner, as orders with respect to the payment into and out of Court of other money, also its investment, and the application of interest and dividends thereof. (2.) Amends clerical error in last year's Act. (3.) This Act to be construed as one with last year's Act.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES.

CHAP. 59. To amend "The Public Libraries (Scotland) Act, 1867," and to give additional facilities to the Local Authorities entrusted with carrying the same into execution. July 31, 1871.

(1.) Repeals sections 7 and 8 of the Public Libraries Act (Scotland), 1867. (2.) Incorporates with this Act, except in so far as expressly varied, the Commissioners Clauses Act, 1847, as to liabilities of the commissioners, legal proceedings by or against them, and mortgages to be executed by them. Sections 84, 86, and 87 are not incorporated herewith. (3.) Interpretation of terms. (4.) Magistrates and council, or the board, as the case may be, authorized to borrow to an extent not exceeding the capital sum represented by one-fourth part of the library rate of one penny per pound, capitalized at the rate of twenty years' purchase. (5.) A sum to be set apart annually, equal to at least one-fiftieth of the borrowed money, as a sinking fund for the extinction of capital sums borrowed under this and the former Act. (6.) Committee to make up in April of each year an estimate of the sums required to defray the interest of borrowed money, payment of sinking fund, and expense of maintaining the library, art gallery, or museum under their control, for the year from the following Whitsunday. This estimate to be reported to the magistrates and council or board for approval. (7.) A rate not exceeding a penny per pound of the yearly rental may be levied to cover the sum necessary for the purpose of defraying interest of borrowed money, payment of sinking fund, and expense of maintaining and managing the library, art gallery, or museum. Power also given to levy and assess such sum as may be necessary for the purchase of articles or things authorized to be purchased by the former Act. Rates to be so levied not to exceed rate authorized by the first recited Act. (8.) Accounts to be audited and published annually. (9.) Power to committee to make by-laws, subject to the approval of the magistrates and council or board; these by-laws to be also approved and confirmed by the sheriff, and to be published weekly for at least two weeks in a newspaper circulating in the district. (10.) Penalties and forfeitures to be recoverable by action in a small-debt court, before either the sheriff or justices of the district. (11.) Committee to sue and defend actions by their clerk. (12.) If a vacancy in the committee occurs during their term of office, the magistrates and council or board may elect a new member of committee in room thereof. (13.) Committee empowered to lend out books of the library for perusal by inhabitants of the district. (14.) Committee empowered to compile and print catalogues. (15.) Committee empowered to lend books for the use of inmates of industrial schools, training-ships, reformatories, barracks, and other similar institutions in the district. (16.) Short title, "Public Libraries Act (Scotland, 1867) Amendment Act, 1871."

ELECTION COMMISSIONERS' EXPENSES.

CHAP. 61. To amend the Corrupt Practices Commission Expenses Act, 1869. July 31, 1871.

(1.) Short title, "The Election Commissioners' Expenses Act, 1871." (2.) This Act to be construed with the Act of 1869. (3.) Where the parliamentary boundary of a city or burgh cuts a parish in two, the inner portion shall be deemed a parish by itself for the purpose of contribution towards payment of election expenses of election commissioners appointed with reference to such city or burgh. Separate rate to be made and levied in the same manner as the poor-rate. City or burgh parishes not to be liable for expenses of election commissioners appointed with reference to the county. As to case of parliamentary boundary of a city or burgh cutting a parish in two, the outer portion shall be deemed a parish by itself as to election commissioners' expenses incurred with reference to the county. (4.) Provides for raising money on default of local officer. (5.) Definition of terms. (6.) Duration of Act equal to that of the principal Act.

GLASGOW REGISTRATION BOUNDARIES.

CHAP. 68. To determine the Boundaries of the Barony and Regality of Glasgow for the purposes of Registration. August 14, 1871.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT BOARD.

CHAP. 70. For constituting a Local Government Board, and vesting therein certain functions of the Secretary of State and Privy Council concerning the Public Health and Local Government, together with the Powers and Duties of the Poor-Law Board. August 14, 1871.

This statute proceeds on the preamble that it is expedient to concentrate in one department of the Government the supervision of the laws relating to the public health, the relief of the poor, and local government. But from the qualifying words, "so far as such powers and duties relate to England," it would appear that the new board has no jurisdiction in Scotland. See also qualifying words in section 8. There are upwards of twenty statutes mentioned in the schedule; but of these only two include Great Britain and Ireland in their application.

BILLS OF EXCHANGE AT SIGHT.

CHAP. 74. To abolish Days of Grace in the case of Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes payable at Sight or on Presentation. August 14, 1871.

This statute proceeds on the preamble that doubts have arisen whether, by the custom of merchants, a bill of exchange or promissory note purporting to be payable at sight or on presentation is payable until the expiration of a certain number of "days of grace;" also that it is expedient that such bills and notes should bear the same stamp, and be payable in the same manner, as bills and notes payable on demand. (1.) Short title, "The Bills of Exchange Act, 1871." (2.) After this Act, every bill or note payable at sight shall bear the same stamp as, and be deemed for all purposes whatsoever to be, a bill or note payable on demand.* (3.) For the purposes of this Act, bill of exchange and promissory note to be as defined by the Stamp Act of 1870. (4.) A bill payable at sight, drawn between 1st January 1871 and the date of this Act, and stamped as a bill payable on demand, shall be admissible as evidence on payment of the difference of stamp duty.

RAILWAY REGULATION.

CHAP. 78. To amend the Law respecting the Inspection and Regulation of Railways. August 14, 1871.

(1.) Act to be construed as one with certain statutes partially repealed in schedule. (2.) Interpretation. Inspection of Railways.—(3.) Board of Trade may appoint an inspector of railways, with power to investigate the cause of any railway accident, and as a means to enable the Board to exercise its powers under various railway statutes; such inspector not to exercise any powers of interference in the affairs of any company. (4.) Power to inspector to enter upon and inspect any railway, its offices, stations, plant, and machinery. He may summon any one who is in the management or service of a railway company, and require answers to any questions he may put in the execution of his office. He may require and enforce production of all books, papers, etc., which he considers necessary for the due execution of his office. (5.) Provisions of Railway Regulation Act of 1842 (5 and 6 Vict. c. 55) extended to new works. Accidents.—(6.) Railway companies must make to the Board of Trade a return of all accidents which have caused, or were likely to cause, loss of life or personal injury; any collision when one of the trains is a passenger train, or any accidental leaving of the rails by a passenger train or part thereof. Return to be made in such form and with such particulars as the Board shall require. Penalty not exceeding £20 for each offence against the provisions of this section. (7.) Board of Trade may direct inquiry into accidents; and may make special provisions for full and formal investigation in serious cases, before a county court judge, stipendiary magistrate (sheriff or sheriff-substitute), or other persons named in the order, with the assistance of an inspector or other assessor. The court so constituted shall hold its investigation openly, and in such manner as they may think most effectual for the purpose of the investigation. Besides the ordinary powers of a court of summary jurisdiction, and of an inspector under this Act, such court may enter and inspect any place, may summon any parties before them for examination, may require any books and papers to be produced, and may administer oaths, or require a signed declaration. Person summoned, not being in the railway company's employment, to have his expenses paid. Result of inquiry to be reported to the Board of Trade. (8.) Applies to England only. Railway Statistics.—(9.) Every railway company shall make an annual return to the Board of Trade of its capital, traffic, and working expenditure, under a penalty not exceeding £5 for each day of default after the time specified. (10.) Any person making a false return under this Act is liable, if convicted on indictment, to fine and imprisonment. If the conviction be on summary trial, such offence to be punishable by fine not exceeding £50. Miscellaneous.—(11.) Any person failing to attend summons of inspector or court, or impeding them in the execution of their duty, shall incur a penalty not exceeding £10 for each offence. If the offence be refusal to make a return or produce a document, the penalty to be for each day that the default continues. Inspector or court, or any person summoned to their assistance, may detain any person impeding or obstructing them as aforesaid, till he can conveniently be taken before a court of summary jurisdiction, to be dealt with according to law. (12.) When a railway company, under a contract for carrying persons, animals, or goods by sea, procures the same to be carried in a vessel not belonging to the company, liability for loss of life or danger shall be as if the vessel had belonged to the company. (13.) Provides for the punishment of juvenile offenders for casting stones, etc., on railway carriages, etc. (14.) As to trespassers on a railway, section 23 of Railways Regulation Act of 1868 (see Almanac for 1869, p. 200) is to be read thus, "after having once received warning." (15) Interpretation. (16.) Repeals certain enactments. (17.) Act to begin on 1st November 1871.

* No days of grace are allowed when a bill or note is made payable on demand.

INDUSTRIAL AND PROVIDENT SOCIETIES.

CHAP. 80. To explain and amend the Law relating to Industrial and Provident Societies. August 16, 1871.

(1.) The rules of any industrial or provident society may contain powers to build, sell, mortgage, or lease, and prescribe the necessary forms. (2.) Refers to copyholds, and has no application in Scotland. (3.) Receipt under the seal of a society, countersigned by the secretary, being endorsed on the mortgage, shall be a sufficient discharge without reconveyance. (4.) Confirms all securities, deeds, etc., made or granted before the passing of this Act, and which would have been valid if made under this Act. (5.) Buying and selling land shall be deemed to be a trade within the meaning of the Industrial and Provident Societies Act of 1862; and this Act not to be construed as restricting the powers conferred by section 4 of the statute of 1867. (6.) Short title, "The Industrial and Provident Societies Act, 1871."

DEEDS ON DEATHBED.

CHAP. 81. To abolish Reductions ex capite lecti in Scotland. August 16, 1871.

No deed, instrument, or writing made by any person who shall die after the passing of this Act shall be liable to challenge or reduction ex capite lecti.

HOUSE OF COMMONS—POWER TO EXAMINE WITNESSES.

CHAP. 83. For enabling the House of Commons, and any Committee thereof, to administer Oaths to Witnesses. August 16, 1871.

The purpose of this Act is fully expressed in the title.

ARMY REGULATION.

CHAP. 86. For the better Regulation of the Regular and Auxiliary Land Forces of the Crown, and for other Purposes relating thereto. August 17, 1871.

The preamble of this statute sets forth the Royal Warrant, dated July 20, 1871, whereby all regulations regulating or fixing the prices at which any commissions in Her Majesty's forces may be purchased, sold, or exchanged, or in any way authorizing the purchase, or sale, or exchange for money of any such commissions from and after 1st November 1871, have been cancelled and determined.

PRELIMINARY.—(1.) Short title, "The Regulation of the Forces Act, 1871."

PART I. COMMISSIONS IN HER MAJESTY'S FORCES.—(2.) No punishment shall be inflicted for any purchase, sale, or exchange of commissions made previously to 1st November 1871. (3.) Every officer holding on that day a saleable commission, shall, on his retirement under certain circumstances, be entitled to receive from the commissioners appointed under this Act a certain price, to be estimated in terms of this Act. The circumstances under which such retirement shall entitle the officer to compensation, and the principle on which such compensation is to be calculated, are fully set forth. (4.) Commissioners empowered to consider the claims for compensation made by the officers of certain Indian regiments, viz., the 19th, 20th, and 21st Horse; and the 100th to 109th Foot, both inclusive. (5.) Parliament to defray all expenses incurred by the commissioners.

PART II. AUXILIARY FORCES.—(6.) After a certain day, to be named by the Queen in Council, all jurisdiction of lords-lieutenant of counties over the militia, yeomanry, and volunteers of England, Scotland, and Ireland shall revert to the Crown. From and after that day, the commission to all officers in these forces shall proceed from the Crown. Commissions, or first appointments, to the rank of cornet, ensign, or lieutenant therein, to be given by the Crown on the recommendation of lords-lieutenant of counties. (7.) The first class of the army reserve, the militia reserve, and the militia, shall consist respectively of such number of men as may from time to time be provided by Parliament. (8.) Men enlisted in the militia shall attend at headquarters for preliminary instruction for a period of not more than six months. (9.) When volunteers are assembled for training and exercise, the Mutiny Act and Articles of War shall apply as, by the Volunteer Act of 1863, they apply to volunteers on actual service.

PART III. SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.—As to Sale of Commissions.—(10.) The Crown to appoint "The Army Purchase Commissioners," whose salaries are to be fixed by the Treasury; and two of whom are to be a quorum. (11.) Commissioners may appoint clerks and servants. (12.) Commissioners are to ascertain the price of saleable commissions; they may examine witnesses, who are to be protected from any proceedings against them in respect of the testimony so given by them; nor shall any evidence taken by the commissioners be admissible against any person in any civil or criminal proceeding. The commissioners are to account to the Treasury for all they do under this Act. They are fully empowered, in the case of any officer applying for the price of his commission, to make such investigations as they may think necessary. (13.) The decision of the commissioners to be without appeal. As to Auxiliary Forces.—(14.) Militia returns to be made to such persons as may be prescribed by the Secretary of State. (15.) Orders as to the billeting and quartering of the militia may be made on the application of the colonel or other commanding officer for the time being.

PART IV. MISCELLANEOUS AND DEFINITIONS.—(16.) When the Queen by Order in Council declares that an emergency has arisen in which it is expedient for the public service that Government should have control over the railroads of the United Kingdom, the Secretary of State may, by warrant, empower any person to take possession in behalf of the Crown of any railroad and the plant belonging thereto. The railway directors, servants, and officers shall thereupon be subject to the Secretary of State's orders. Secretary's warrant under this section to be renewable from week to week. Compensation to the owners of the railway to be provided by Parliament. (17.) Militia and volunteer corps to acquire land for any necessary purposes approved by the Secretary of State. Part V. of Volunteer Act of 1863 extended to that effect. (18.) London trophy tax exempted from the operation of this Act. (19.) Definitions.

PEDLARS' CERTIFICATES.

CHAP. 96. For granting Certificates to Pedlars. August 21, 1871.

This is, with certain modifications, a reissue of last year's statute on the same subject (see Almanac for 1871, p. 184), which is hereby repealed accordingly, with the usual saving clauses, from and after 1st January 1872, when the present Act comes into operation. The changes introduced are as follows: (5.) An applicant for a pedlar's certificate must not only be a person of good character, but must also satisfy the chief officer of police that he has resided for one month previously within the police district, that he is 17 years of age, and in good faith intends to carry on the trade of a pedlar. The fee for a certificate is raised from 6d. to 5s. (6.) The police district for which the certificate is available is to be that in which it is taken out. Certificated pedlar to be deemed a "licensed hawker," for the purpose of the Markets and Fairs Clauses Act, 10 and 11 Vict. c. 14. (7.) Provides for the extension of the certificate by endorsement to other districts than that for which it was granted, on the same conditions as those of the original certificate, and payment of a fee not exceeding 6d. (13.) In room of the enactment at this place in last year's Act, this clause provides that a person shall not be exempt from the provisions of any Act relative to idle and disorderly persons, rogues, and vagabonds, by reason only that he holds a certificate under this Act, or assists or is accompanying a certificated pedlar. (15.) This section is modified thus: Reasons of refusal no longer require to be given in writing; the appeal is to be made to the court having jurisdiction in the place where the grant or endorsement was refused; the deposit of 5s. is no longer necessary. (16.) It is imperative on the court to deprive the pedlar of his certificate if the offence of which he is convicted be begging. Duties of Pedlars.—(17.) Clause as to apprehension of offending pedlar omitted; but (18.) re-enacts it, and provides for arrest of uncertificated pedlar. (20.) Penalties under this Act may be enforced by imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months. (21.) Fees, in Scotland, to be paid over to the collector of the police assessment. (22.) Chief officer of police may act by deputy.

CHAIN CABLES AND ANCHORS.

CHAP. 101. To amend the Law respecting the Proving and Sale of Chain Cables and Anchors. August 21, 1871.

(1.) This Act to be construed as one with 27 and 28 Vict. c. 27. (2.) This Act to come into operation on 1st July 1872. (3.) In Scotland the only corporations who are to hold the Board of Trade's license to test chain cables and anchors are the River Clyde Navigation Trust, the Municipal Corporation at Glasgow, and the Trustees of the Port and Harbour of Greenock. License may, by Order in Council, be directed to be granted to these and other bodies mentioned in the first schedule appended to this Act. (4.) Cost of testing machine to be a shipping purpose, for which Public Works Loan Commissioners may advance money. (5.) Specially provides the mode of testing chain cables. (6.) The Crown may, by Order in Council, alter the standard tensile and breaking strain of chain cables. (7.) Prohibits the sale of unproved chain cables and anchors. Penalty, not exceeding £50, recoverable before sheriff or justices. (8.) Public bodies mentioned above to purchase licensed testing machines. (9.) Repeals certain sections of former Act. (10.) Penalty not exceeding £100 for using unlicensed testing machines.

CUSTOMS AND INLAND REVENUE.

CHAP. 103. To amend the Law relating to the Customs and Inland Revenue. August 21, 1871.

PART I. Relating to the Customs.—(1.) All moneys, etc., received by or for the Commissioners of Customs to be paid into the Bank of England. (2.) Treasury to make rules for keeping accounts of customs revenue and appropriation thereof. (3.) Bank to keep an account of customs receipts in a book for inspection by the Accountant and Comptroller-General. (4.) Bank of England not to dispose of moneys, etc., otherwise than in accordance with rules of the Treasury. (5.) Applicable to the port of London only. (6.) Commissioners of Customs may close collectors' accounts. (7.) Customs duties, etc., payable to Exchequer account of Bank of England to be received under such regulations as the Treasury shall prescribe. (8.) Special provision declaring it to be felony to forge the name or handwriting of any Commissioner of Customs, or of any Accountant and Comptroller-General of Customs, or of any person acting for them, in order to obtain money from the Bank on account of the customs. (9 and 10.) Deposits and money formerly payable to the Receiver-General to be paid to Commissioners of Customs. (11.) The importer or exporter of goods shall describe the same in the entry in the manner required by any Customs Act, or in such other manner as the Lords of the Treasury or the Commissioners of Customs may direct. Exporter of goods for which no bond is required shall, within six days of the ship's clearance outwards, deliver to the proper officer a specification, in lieu of the shipping bill and customs bill of lading heretofore used. Form of specification given. Failure to comply punishable by a penalty of £5. (12.) Within six days after the final clearance of a ship in which any goods shall be exported, the master or owner shall deliver to the proper officer of customs a detailed manifest of the goods so shipped under a penalty of £5, recoverable from either master or owner. (13.) If any of the goods be not exported as per specification, this is to be notified to the proper officer within six days of final clearance, under a penalty of £5. (14.) Any person desirous of exporting warehoused goods liable to any duty of customs or excise, or entitled to any drawback, may, at his option, but subject to regulation, give a general bond in lieu of the separate bond required by section 120 of the Customs Consolidation Act of 1853. Notice to be given of the export of any goods under this bond, and such notice must have affixed to it an adhesive stamp, denoting duty equal to what would be payable on a separate bond. (15.) Notwithstanding section 118 of the Act of 1853, a ship arriving at any port of the United Kingdom, and being about to deliver her cargo at more than one port therof, may on first arrival obtain an entry outwards, and get a permit for the shipment of goods, other than spirits or tobacco, for exportation in such ship to the foreign destination for which such ship shall be entered outwards, and this before the whole of the goods imported in such ship shall have been discharged therefrom. (16.) Customs duty on malt brought from abroad, from the Channel Islands, or the Isle of Man, 24s. per quarter. (17.) Upon the importation of any article in the manufacture of which spirits shall be used, there shall be charged a duty equivalent to that which is chargeable upon the import of like quantity of spirit. (18.) Repeals certain Acts. (19.) Incorporates certain provisions with the Customs Act of 1853. (20.) This Act, so far as relates to the receipt, payment, and account of customs duties, to be deemed to have begun on 1st April 1871.

PART II. Relating to the Inland Revenue.—(21.) Repeals section 74 of 23 and 24 Vict. c. 114. (22.) Detailed regulations under which a distiller may remove yeast from wash, or may leave it in fermenting back. (23.) Distiller may make solid yeast. (24.) Officer commanding a regiment or battalion of militia, yeomanry, or volunteers may keep two horses free of duty, for service in such regiment or battalion. Any field-officer, surgeon, or adjutant of militia, or of artillery, engineer, or rifle volunteers, or any officer being a musketry instructor of engineer or rifle volunteers, or any officer of yeomanry cavalry, light horse, mounted rifle volunteers, or field batteries of artillery volunteers, may keep, free of duty, one horse for service in the corps to which he belongs. (25.) Repeals part of section 19 of Act 32 and 33 Vict. c. 14. (26.) An appraisement of property of a person deceased, for information of an executor or other person, required to record in any Commissary Court in Scotland an inventory of the estate, shall not be liable to the ad valorem stamp duty imposed by the Act 33 and 34 Vict. c. 97. (27 and 28.) Relate to Ireland. (29.) Makes retrospective the provision in 32 and 33 Vict. c. 24, whereby the necessity for a bond by printers and publishers of newspapers, under 60 Geo. III. c. 9, was repealed. (30.) Income-Tax Act Commissioner, holding a certificate to that effect from the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, shall be exempt from serving on juries. (31.) From and after 5th April 1871, every inhabited dwelling-house which, with household offices, gardens, etc., shall be worth £20 a year or upwards, occupied as an hotel, inn, or coffee-house, although not licensed for beer, ale, wine, or other liquors, shall be charged with a duty of 6d. on every 20s. of annual value.

FACTORIES AND WORKSHOPS.

CHAP. 104. To amend the Acts relating to Factories and Workshops. August 21, 1871.

(1.) Short title, "The Factory and Workshop Act, 1871." (2.) Various statutes to be construed as one Act. (3.) It is no longer to be the duty of the local authority to enforce the provisions of the Workshop Acts. That duty is henceforth to be performed by the inspectors of factories. (4.) Persons employed in gutting, salting, and packing fish immediately on arrival of the fishing-boats, to be exempted from the operation of the Factory and Workshop Acts. (5.) After 1st January 1872, no female under 16, and no child under 10 years, shall be employed in the manufacture of bricks and tiles, not being ornamental tiles. (6.) Enacts permanent modification contained in Schedule I. (7.) The following accidents only fall under the rule requiring notice to be given—viz., any accident causing loss of life; and any accident causing bodily injury, being produced by machinery, by explosion or escape of gas, steam, or metal, and preventing the person injured from returning to his work for 48 hours after its occurrence. (8.) Prosecution and recovery of offences and penalties to proceed summarily. Penalties payable into Exchequer. (9.) For proceedings under the Workshop and Factory Acts in Scotland, the court to consist of two or more justices, or the sheriff, or the provost or other magistrate of a royal burgh, or some other officer empowered by law to do alone or with others any act authorized to be done by more than one justice of the peace. Offences against these Acts to be prosecuted before such court at the instance of the inspector of factories, under the provisions of the Summary Procedure Act of 1864. The court may make orders on petition. Penalties may be enforced by imprisonment not exceeding three months. (10.) Government factories or workshops to be under the Acts, unless the contrary be ordered by the Secretary of State in case of any public emergency. (11.) Certain Acts repealed.

SCHEDULE I. PERMANENT MODIFICATION.—[1.] When a business depends on weather or the seasons of the year, making it necessary to employ young persons of 14 years and upwards, and women, for a longer period than is allowed by the Acts, the Secretary of State may allow such persons to be employed for a period not exceeding 14 hours in any one day; provided such employment shall be between 6 A.M. and 8 P.M., or between 7 A.M. and 9 P.M., or 8 A.M. and 10 P.M., as the case may be; provided also that they get an additional half-hour for a meal after 5 P.M.; and that they shall not be so employed for more than 96 days in any period of twelve months, or more than 5 days in one week. In the manufacture of bricks and tiles, other than ornamental tiles, if it be shown that, by reason of the nature of such manufacture, it is necessary to employ male young persons of 14 years and upwards, and women, at certain times of the year for a longer period than is allowed by the Acts, the Secretary of State may allow such persons to be employed between the 31st of March and 1st October in each year for a period not exceeding 14 hours a day; provided such employment shall be between 6 A.M. and 8 P.M., with half an hour extra after 5 P.M., and that such employment shall not be for more than three days in any one week. [ii.] Order of Secretary of State to specify time during which it shall be in force.

PETROLEUM.

CHAP. 105. For the safe keeping of Petroleum, and other substances of a like nature. August 21, 1871.

The preamble of this Act sets forth the expediency of consolidating and amending the law relating to the safe keeping of petroleum and other substances of a like nature. (1.) Short title, "The Petroleum Act, 1871." (2.) Interpretation. (3.) Petroleum, as defined by this Act, includes any rock oil, Rangoon oil, Burmah oil, oil made from petroleum, coal, schist, shale, or other bituminous substance, and any products of petroleum, or any of the above-mentioned oils. The Act applies to such petroleum so defined as, when tested conformably to directions in schedule,* gives off an inflammable vapour at a temperature of less than 100° Fahrenheit. (4.) Harbour authorities are to frame by-laws regulating the mooring of ships laden with petroleum, and the landing of their cargo. These by-laws are to be sanctioned by the Board of Trade. By-laws may be made by the Board on failure of the harbour authority to do so within a certain time after requisition. Breach of by-law to infer a penalty not exceeding £50 for each day that such contravention continues. (5.) Shipmaster or shipowner bound to give harbour authority notice that the ship carries petroleum. Penalty not exceeding £500, unless it be shown that neither shipmaster nor shipowner knew the nature of the goods to which the proceedings relate, nor could with reasonable diligence have obtained such knowledge. (6.) Where petroleum is kept at any place (except during the seven days next after it has been imported), or is conveyed by land or by water between any two places in the United Kingdom, or is exposed for sale, the vessel containing such petroleum shall have attached thereto a label in conspicuous characters, stating the description of the petroleum, with the addition of the words "highly inflammable," and the name of the consignee, or owner, or sender, or vendor. Penalty not exceeding £5 for contravention. (7.) Petroleum not to be kept henceforth without a license from the local authority for so doing. Penalty not exceeding £20 for each day during which petroleum is kept without such license. This does not apply to petroleum kept for private use or for sale, in separate glass, earthenware, or metal vessels, each containing no more than a pint, and securely stopped, and when the aggregate amount does not exceed 3

* Directions for testing petroleum to ascertain the temperature at which it gives off inflammable vapour.

The vessel which is to hold the oil shall be of thin sheet iron; it shall be two inches deep and two inches wide at the opening, tapering slightly towards the bottom; it shall have a flat rim, with a raised edge one quarter of an inch high round the top; it shall be supported by this rim in a tin vessel four inches and a half deep and four and a half inches in diameter; it shall also have a thin wire stretched across the opening, which wire shall be so fixed to the edge of the vessel that it shall be a quarter of an inch above the surface of the flat rim. The thermometer to be used shall have a round bulb about half an inch in diameter, and is to be graduated upon the scale of Fahrenheit, every ten degrees occupying not less than half an inch upon the scale.

The inner vessel shall be filled with the petroleum to be tested, but care must be taken that the liquid does not cover the flat rim. The outer vessel shall be filled with cold, or nearly cold, water; a small flame shall be applied to the bottom of the outer vessel, and the thermometer shall be inserted into the oil so that the bulb shall be immersed about one and a half inches beneath the surface. A screen of pasteboard or wood shall be placed round the apparatus, and shall be of such dimensions as to surround it about two-thirds, and to reach several inches above the level of the vessels.

When heat has been applied to the water until the thermometer has risen to about ninety degrees Fahrenheit, a very small flame shall be quickly passed across the surface of the oil on a level with the wire. If no pale blue flicker or flash is produced, the application of the flame is to be repeated for every rise of two or three degrees in the thermometer. When the flashing point has been noted, the test shall be repeated with a fresh sample of the oil, using cold, or nearly cold, water as before, withdrawing the source of heat from the outer vessel when the temperature approaches that noted in the first experiment, and applying the flame test at every rise of two degrees in the thermometer.

gallons. (8.) In Scotland, such local authority in a burgh means the town council, in other places the police commissioners or trustees exercising the functions of police commissioners, or the harbour authority within the jurisdiction of such authority, and to the exclusion of every other. When there is no local authority, then two or more justices, sitting as judges in the Justice of Peace Court, must act as such for the purposes of this Act. (9.) Regulates the mode of granting such licenses. They may be for a limited time, and subject to renewal or not in such manner as the local authority think necessary. To such license may be annexed such conditions for the safe keeping and testing the petroleum as the local authority may judge expedient. Any licensee violating any of these conditions shall be deemed to be unlicensed. Fee not exceeding 5s. for license. (10.) In case of refusal of license, or granting of it with conditions to which the applicant objects, appeal to be made within ten days by memorial to the Secretary of State, who is duly empowered to deal with the matter. (11.) Provides for the testing of petroleum by the officer of the local authority. Officer to certify the result, and the certificate so given shall be receivable in evidence, which the dealer may contradict by opposite evidence. (12.) Penalty not exceeding £20 for refusing information, obstructing the local authority or their officer making such inquiries. (13.) When any court of summary jurisdiction (any justice of the peace, sheriff, or sheriff-substitute) is satisfied by information on oath that there is reasonable ground to believe that any petroleum is being kept, sent, conveyed, or exposed for sale within the jurisdiction of said court in contravention of this Act, warrant for search and seizure may be granted. Penalty on obstruction not exceeding £20. (14.) The Queen may, by Order in Council, extend the application of this Act to any substance, which shall thereupon be dealt with as falling under the definition of petroleum contained in this Act. (15.) In Scotland all offences and penalties under this Act shall be prosecuted and recovered at the instance of the procurator-fiscal, or of any officer authorized in that behalf, by the harbour authority or local authority, under the provisions of the Summary Jurisdicton Acts, before a court of summary jurisdiction. Penalties exceeding £50 to be recovered and enforced in the same manner in which any penalty due to the Crown under any Act of Parliament may be recovered and enforced. Court of summary jurisdiction means in Scotland two or more justices of the peace, sitting as judges in a Justice of the Peace Court; a sheriff or sheriff-substitute; a provost or other magistrate of a royal burgh; or some other officer or officers for the time being empowered by law to do alone, or with others, any act authorized to be done by more than one justice of the peace. Penalties imposed under this Act by a court of summary jurisdiction in Scotland, may be enforced in default of payment by imprisonment for a term not exceeding three calendar months. (16.) Reservation of previons powers with respect to inflammable substances. (17.) Repeals the previous Petroleum Acts. (18.) Act to continue in force till 1st Oct. 1872, and no longer.

MERCHANT SHIPPING ACTS AMENDMENT.

CHAP. 110. To Amend the Merchant Shipping Acts. August 21, 1871.

Preliminary.—(1.) Short title, "The Merchant Shipping Act, 1871." (2.) This Act to be construed as one with previous Acts. (3.) And to begin on 1st January 1872. Registry (Part II. of Merchant Shipping Act, 1854).—See Almanac for 1855, p. 160. (4.) Every British ship, before registry, shall be marked to the satisfaction of the Commissioners of Customs as follows: Her name must be on each of her bows and on her stern, and the name of her port of registry also on her stern, in white or yellow letters, four inches long, and of proportionate breadth, on a dark ground. Official number and registered tonnage to be on the mainbeam. Scale of feet in Roman capitals six inches long to be on stem and stern post, the lower line of such letters or figures to coincide with the draught line denoted thereby. Board of Trade may exempt any class of ships from the requirements of this section. Inaccuracy in scale of feet to infer penalty not exceeding £100. Any owner or master of a ship who neglects to keep his ship marked as aforesaid, except when the alteration is duly made as provided by the statutes, or to escape capture by an enemy, shall incur a penalty not exceeding £100. No fishing vessel duly registered, lettered, and numbered as required by the Sea Fisheries Act of 1868, shall be required to have her name and port of registry marked under this section. (5.) Ship's draught of water, upon her proceeding to sea, to be recorded by person appointed by the Board of Trade for that purpose. This record to be kept and reported to the Board; also to be entered by the master in the official log-book. Penalty not exceeding £20 on failure to produce such entry to any principal officer of customs when required by him to do so. (6.) A ship shall not be described by any name other than that by which she is registered for the time. No change of name, except with leave of the Board of Trade. Ship which has ceased to be registered cannot, except with leave of the Board, be registered except by the name by which she was previously registered. Penalty not exceeding £100 incurred for contravention, and any principal officer of customs may detain the ship till the provisions of this section are complied with. Masters and Seamen (Part III. of Merchant Shipping Act, 1854)—(7.) Whenever, in any proceeding against any seaman or apprentice belonging to any ship for desertion or for refusing to join, it is alleged by one fourth of the crew, or by five of them if their number exceed twenty, that the ship is not in a fit condition to proceed to sea, or that the accommodation is insufficient, the court shall investigate that matter by evidence. If not satisfied that the allegation is groundless, they shall cause the ship to be surveyed. No seaman or apprentice charged with desertion shall have any right to apply for a survey under this section, unless previously to quitting the ship he has complained to the master of the circumstances so alleged in justification. Surveyor to be appointed by the court. If it be proved that the ship is in a fit condition to proceed to sea, or that the accommodation is sufficient, as the case may be, the survey shall be at the cost of the persons on whose allegation it was made, and may be deducted from wages. If the ship be not in a fit condition for sea, or if the accommodation be insufficient, the costs of the survey shall be paid to the Board of Trade by the master or owner. (8.) Any naval court may direct the survey of any ship which is the subject of an investigation before them. Safety (Part IV. of Merchant Shipping Act, 1854).—(9.) When a collision takes place between two vessels, the master of each vessel shall give the other the name of his ship, her port of registry, the ports whence and whither she is bound. Failure in this respect to involve same consequences as failure to render assistance. (10.) If complaint be made to the Board of Trade that any British ship is unfit to proceed to sea, the Board may order a survey at the cost of the person making the complaint, if such complaint turn out unfounded, and at the cost of the owner if otherwise. On such complaint and survey, the Board may declare the ship unseaworthy, and thereupon any principal officer of customs may detain her. Any shipowner dissatisfied with the decision of a surveyor under this section may (in Scotland) appeal to the sheriff, who may appoint one or more persons to survey such ship anew. The sheriff may make such order as to the detention or discharge of the ship, or as to payment of costs and damages, as to him may seem just. (11.) Every person who, having authority, as owner or otherwise, to send a ship to sea, sends her to sea in an unseaworthy state, shall be guilty of a misdemeanour, not punishable on summary conviction. (12.) Repeals certain enactments rendered useless by the present statute.

PREVENTION OF CRIME.

CHAP. 112. For the more effectual Prevention of Crime. August 21, 1871.

Preliminary.—(1.) Short title, "The Prevention of Crimes Act, 1871." (2.) Act to begin on 2d November 1871. Amendment of Penal Servitude Acts.—(3.) Any constable may, without other warrant than the written authority of the chief officer of police of the district, take into custody any convict holding a license under the Penal Servitude Acts, if it appears to such constable that such convict is getting his livelihood by dishonest means. Convict to be brought before a court of summary jurisdiction for adjudication on this charge, which, if proved, infers forfeiture of license. (4.) Penalty of imprisonment not exceeding three months, with or without hard labour, for any breach of conditions of such license, if committed by an act not in itself punishable, and if these conditions be other than those contained in schedule A of the Penal Servitude Act of 1864. (5.) Every license-holder under the Penal Servitude Acts must within 48 hours notify his residence, or any change thereof, to the chief officer of the district. If he changes his residence from one police district to another, he must notify this to the chief officer of police of both. Male license-holder must report himself once a month in such manner as such chief officer may direct. Failure to comply with the provisions of this section to be deemed an offence against this Act, upon conviction whereof the license may be forfeited at the discretion of the court. If the sentence of penal servitude has expired at the date of this conviction, or will expire within a year thereof, the license-holder may, for such offence, be punished with imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for such a term as, together with the unexpired sentence, will not exceed one year. Register of Criminals.—(6.) Register of criminals (in Scotland) shall be kept under the management of the secretary to the managers of the General Prison at Perth, or such other person as the Secretary of State may appoint. Returns to be made by jailers. Secretary of State to make regulations as to the photographing of prisoners. Punishment of Certain Offenders.—(7.) When a person is convicted on indictment of a crime, and a previous conviction of a crime is proved against him, he shall come under the operation of this Act for seven years after the expiration of his second sentence. He shall during that period incur a sentence of imprisonment not exceeding a year, with or without hard labour, if on being brought by a constable before a court of summary jurisdiction there are reasonable grounds for believing that he is getting his livelihood by dishonest means; or if, on being charged with an offence, he gives a false name or false address; or if he be found in such circumstances as to satisfy the court that he was about to commit, or aid in the commission of, any offence; or if he be found within private grounds or premises without his being able satisfactorily to account for his being there. (8.) When a person is convicted on indictment of a crime, and a previous conviction of a crime is proved against him, the court may subject him to police supervision for a period not exceeding seven years, as an addition to his sentence. A person subject to police supervision must report his residence and any change therein, in the same manner as a license-holder. See section 5, supra. Penalty for contravention to be imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a period not exceeding one year. (9.) Applies to England and Ireland only. (10.) Any one knowingly lodging or harbouring thieves or reputed thieves, or suffering them to assemble within his premises, or allowing stolen property to be deposited therein, shall be deemed guilty of an offence against this Act. Penalty not exceeding £10, with an alternative of imprisonment not exceeding four months, with or without hard labour. In Scotland such offender may also be required to find caution for his good behaviour during twelve months. Caution not to exceed £20; and alternative imprisonment for failure to find it, not to exceed three months. Any license for the sale of intoxicating liquors, or for keeping a place of entertainment, may be forfeited for the first offence against this enactment, and must be forfeited for the second, with a disqualification for two years to receive such a license again. Where two convictions have taken place within three years as to the same premises, no license shall be granted to any one in respect of those premises for a term not exceeding one year from the date of the last conviction. Failure to produce or deliver up license under this section to infer a penalty not exceeding £5. Conviction under this section to be subject to appeal as under 9 Geo. IV. c. 61. (11.) Any brothel-keeper who knowingly lodges or harbours thieves or reputed thieves, or permits them to meet in such brothel, or allows the deposit of stolen goods therein, shall be guilty of an offence against this Act. Penalty not exceeding £10 and in default of payment, imprisonment for a period not exceeding four months, with or without hard labour. Also, such offender may be required to find caution for good behaviour, as in preceding section. (12.) Any person convicted of an assault on a constable in the execution of his duty, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding £20, with an alternative of imprisonment not exceeding six months, with or without hard labour. He may also be sentenced to such imprisonment without the alternative of a fine. If he has been convicted of a similar assault within two years, he may be sentenced to a term of imprisonment not exceeding nine months, with or without hard labour. (13.) Penalty not exceeding £5 on any dealer in old metals who buys any metal, new or old, in any quantity at one time less than 112 lbs. if it be lead; or less than 56 lbs. in case the metal be either wholly copper, brass, tin, pewter, German silver or spelter, or the principal ingredient in a composite thereof. (14.) Where any woman is convicted of a crime, and a previous conviction of a crime is proved against her, any children of such woman under 14 years of age, under her care and without visible means of subsistence, shall be liable to be dealt with under the Industrial Schools Act of 1866. Amendment of Criminal Law in certain Cases.—(15.) Extends to Scotland the fourth section of the English Vagrancy Act, 5 Geo. IV. c. 83. Every suspected person or reputed thief frequenting any place of public resort, as defined by this Act, with attempt to commit felony, shall be deemed a rogue and a vagabond, and may be apprehended and committed to prison, with hard labour, for any time not exceeding three calendar months. In proof of such felonious intent, it shall not be necessary to prove any particular act against the person suspected; but he may be convicted, if, from the circumstances of the case and his known character as proved in court, it appears to the court that his intent was to commit a felony. This last word to mean in Scotland any of the pleas of the Crown, any theft punishable with penal servitude; also forgery and uttering. (16.) A chief officer of police may give authority in writing to a constable to search any house, shop, yard, warehouse, or other premises for stolen property, without specifying such property, if he has reason to believe generally that such premises are being made a receptacle for stolen goods. Full powers are given to such constable to seize any property he may believe to have been stolen. In the event of seizure, the person in whose premises it was made may be summoned before a court of summary jurisdiction to account for such property, unless previously charged with reset. Court may make an order to dispose of the property and award costs. The two cases specified in which such authority by a chief officer of police to a constable is lawful, are, 1*st*, Where the premises to be searched are, or within the preceding twelve months have been, in the occupation of any person convicted of receiving stolen property or of harbouring thieves; 2*dly*, When the occupier has been convicted of any offence involving fraud or dishonesty, and punishable by penal servitude or imprisonment. Legal Proceedings.—(17.) Offences against this Act in Scotland are to be prosecuted under the Summary Procedure Act of 1864, and a court of summary jurisdiction here means any justice of peace, sheriff, sheriff-substitute, or magistrate to whom jurisdiction is given by said Act. No conviction under this Act to be quashed for want of form. Penalties imposed under this Act in Scotland may, except when it is otherwise provided, be enforced by imprisonment not exceeding three months. (18.) A previous conviction may be proved in any legal proceeding whatever against any person, by producing a record or extract of such conviction, and by proving his identity with the person therein named. Form of extract regulated. (19.) Where proceedings are taken against any person for having received goods knowing them to be stolen, or for having in his possession stolen property, evidence may be given at any stage of the proceedings that there was found in the possession of such person other property stolen within the preceding period of twelve months. Such evidence may be taken into consideration for the purpose of proving that such person knew the property to be stolen which forms the subject of the proceedings taken against him. If, within five years prior to these proceedings, the accused has been convicted of any offence involving fraud or dishonesty, evidence of such previous conviction may be given at any stage of the proceedings, and may also be taken into consideration to show he knew the property in his possession to have been stolen. Written notice, of not less than seven days, is required in order to prove such previous conviction, which need not be set forth in the indictment. (20.) Definitions. (21.) Repeals "The Habitual Criminals Act, 1869," and part of the Penal Servitude Act of 1864. (22.) This Act not to affect the infliction of capital punishment in any case where capital punishment would have been inflicted if this Act had not passed.

ABSTRACTS OF LEADING CASES

IN THE SUPREME COURTS,

From the Beginning of the Winter Session 1870-71, to the End of the Summer Session 1871.*

SALMON FRY—PARR.

Blair v. Miller, Sept. 7, 1870.

[Justiciary—Perth Circuit.]

Parr come under the denomination "smolts or salmon fry" used in section 19 of the Salmon Fisheries (Scotland) Act, 1868 (31 and 32 Vict. c. 123).

The Court, on appeal from the sheriff, convicted a man under the above enactment of the offence of having on a certain day nine parr in his possession. The Act of 1862 (25 and 26 Vict. c. 97) and the Act of 1868 are, by section 2 of the latter, to be read as one Act; and the interpretation clause of the older Act defines salmon as including "salmon, grilse, sea trout, bull trout, smolts, parr, and other migratory fish of the salmon kind."

ALIMENT.

Hoseason v. Hoseason, Oct. 21, 1870.

A widow has no legal claim of aliment against the father of her deceased husband.

The Court were clear that such was the true reading of the authorities; distinguishing this from an old case in which the proprietor of an entailed estate had been held bound to support his daughter-in-law as the mother of his heir of entail.

SALE—DELIVERY—RISK.

Walls & Co. v. Anderson & Crompton, Nov. 15, 1870.

Goods sold and paid for, but remaining for the buyer's convenience in the seller's hands undistinguished from his other stock, being destroyed by an accidental fire, perish to the seller, who therefore still remains debtor for delivery.

* These Cases are abbreviated from the ordinary Professional Reports, and are strictly limited to points of general interest and practical importance.

Walls and Co. sold, at three different dates, three quantities of oil to Anderson and Crompton. These were paid for and duly invoiced to the buyers. For the buyers' convenience the oil remained subject to their order in the sellers' stores. It was not set apart or distinguished in any way from the remaining stock of the sellers. To save leakage, it was not put into casks, but kept in three tanks, which also contained unsold oil and undelivered oil of other customers.

Two of these three quantities, and part of the third, had been delivered, when an accidental fire consumed the sellers' whole stock, including 713 gallons, the residue of the last sale. The question was, whether this accidental destruction of the oil liberated the sellers from their obligation to deliver this remainder.

The Court (Lord Justice-Clerk dissenting) held that it did not, because the oil, not having been separated and set apart for the buyers, remained at the sellers' risk.

The Lord Justice-Clerk was of opinion that the above principle did not apply, because the evidence disclosed a case of delivery tendered and declined, and a new arrangement made for the oil remaining in store.

ALIMENT—ARREARS.

Drew v. Drew, November 17, 1870.

An alimentary fund, consisting of periodical terms of interest remaining unpaid in the hands of the debtor, is by such accumulation deprived of the alimentary character expressly attached to it by the deed of constitution, and so becomes attachable for the debts of its owner.

JURISDICTION—ENGLISH BANKRUPTCY.

Wilkie v. Cathcart & Cook, November 19, 1870.

The Court of Session will not inquire whether or not the English Courts have overstepped their jurisdiction in an adjudication of bankruptcy pronounced by them under the English Bankruptcy Act of 1861 (24 and 25 Vict. c. 134), which expressly declares that orders made in England shall be enforced in Scotland in the same way as if such orders had been made in Scotland, and vice versa.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Bute v. More, November 14, 1870.

[High Court of Justiciary.]

Keeping open shop on Sunday is an offence against the Acts 1661, c. 18, and 1606, c. 31, anent the profanation of the Sabbath, which statutes are to that extent not in desuetude. But no prosecution for this offence can proceed under the Summary Procedure Act of 1864.

SMALL DEBT ACT—SHERIFF-CLERK—REVIEW.

Manson v. Smith, February 8, 1871.

A sheriff-clerk-depute may not sign officially a small-debt summons in which he is himself pursuer; and the nullity thence attaching to the decree is pleadable by way of suspension in the Court of Session, notwithstanding the express provisions (sections 30 and 31) of the Sheriff's Small Debt Act (1 Vict. c. 41) declaring that no decree pronounced under its authority shall be reviewable on any ground or reason whatever, except by the Court of Justiciary, on certain grounds specified.

The Court (Lord Benholme dissenting) held that the nullity was such as to infer that the decree had not been pronounced under the authority of the Act.

JUDGMENTS EXTENSION ACT OF 1868.

Wotherspoon & Birrell v. Conolly, February 10, 1871.

The Court will not examine, even upon a plea of no jurisdiction, an Irish judgment registered for execution in this country under the provisions of the Judgments Extension Act of 1860; but under their statutory power of controlling such a judgment "in so far only as relates to execution" (section 4), they will, if they see cause, grant a sist to enable application to be made to the Court by whom such judgment was pronounced.

A cargo was shipped by a Glasgow firm, deliverable at Dublin. Owing to circumstances not material to the present point, there was a failure to deliver, and the cargo was sold in Glasgow. The Dublin consignee thereupon raised action in the Irish Court of Queen's Bench in respect of this failure, serving process upon a person in Dublin said to be (but this was denied) the Dublin agent of the Glasgow firm. Proceedings went on in absence, and judgment was pronounced in favour of the plaintiff. A certificate of this judgment was brought over to Scotland, and registered for execution under the statute.

The Glasgow firm thereupon presented this suspension on the ground that they were domiciled Scotsmen; that the mere fact of the contract being exigible in Dublin could not give the Irish Courts jurisdiction; and that there was no citation.

The Court were of opinion that this plea was in the first instance a question for the Court, whose jurisdiction was impeached, and over whom the Scotch Courts had no power of review, either on this point or on any other; that an English or Irish decree registered for execution in Scotland was no longer examinable as a foreign decree, but must receive such effect as it would have received in the territory within which it was pronounced. But if the remedy prayed for by the complainer existed in Ireland, it was competent under the statute, more especially under section 4th thereof, to sist procedure, so as to give the complainers time to make application to the Irish Court. Procedure was sisted accordingly for fourteen days.

WILL—NOTARIAL DOCQUET.

Reid and Others v. Henry, February 10, 1871.

A will, notarially executed, is bad if the notary does not write the docquet entirely with his own hand.

BILL OF LADING.

Pirie & Sons v. Warden and Others, February 11, 1871.

Indorsement of a bill of lading vests no right in the indorsee when made after delivery of the cargo to some one else; but this rule is subject to the limitation that the prior delivery of the cargo has been lawful.

In the present case, which was an action against the shipmaster at the instance of an onerous indorsee of the bill of lading, the Court held, on the evidence, that the prior delivery had been wrongful, and could therefore afford no bar to a demand for delivery, or for damages in respect of failure to deliver.

TRUSTEE—PERSONAL LIABILITY.

Lamond's Trustees v. Croom, March 8, 1871.

A trustee or executor who knowingly pays postponed creditors and beneficiaries, and leaves a preferable creditor unpaid, does so at his own risk; and in the event of an unexpected deficiency, must make good the creditor's claim, although he acted in good faith, and although the trust-deed contains the usual clause of immunity.

BANKRUPT—PREFERENCE—PENALTY.

Carter (Pendreigh's Trustee) v. M'Laren & Co., May 9, 1871.

[House of Lords.]

Reversal (see last year's Almanac, p. 208) mainly on the ground adopted by Lord Kinloch, who had dissented from the judgment in the Court below, viz., that the words "if no cause be shown to the contrary," do not confer any discretionary power on the Court to remit the penalty, if they are satisfied (as they were in this case) that the statutory offence had been committed.

REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE OF BRITISH INDIA.

The gross REVENUE of British India, during the year ending 31st March 1870, was £50,901,801, of which £24,578,390 was derived from Land Revenue, including tributes and contributions from native states, Forest, and Abkaree (spirits and drugs) revenues; £1,110,224 from Assessed Taxes; £2,429,185 from Customs; £5,888,707 from Salt; £7,953,098 from Opium; £2,379,316 from Stamps; £157,214 from the Mint; £711,698 from the Post-Office; £247,042 from Telegraphs (including £44,110 in England); £801,954 from Law and Justice; £287,549 from Police; £329,953 from the Marine Department; £74,889 from Education; £336,376 from Interest; from Miscellaneous sources (including England, £128,185), £1,575,167; Army—miscellaneous (including England, £22,182), £1,082,605; Public Works—miscellaneous, £957,714.

The EXPENDITURE during the year amounted to £50,782,412, besides £2,599,614 spent on Public Works Extraordinary; total expenditure, £53,382,026, as follows:—Repayments, allowances, refunds, and drawbacks, £465,094; Costs of collection of revenue from Land, £2,744,784; Assessed Taxes, £41,701; Customs, £181,456; Salt, £391,485; Opium, £1,820,683; Stamps, £113,475; Mint, £101,064; Post-Office, £688,483; Telegraph, £535,374; Allowances and assignments under Treaties, etc., £1,863,615; Allowances to District and Village Officers, £283,609; Charges, including interest on Debt and Public Works Ordinary, £40,004,525; Guaranteed Interest on Capital of Railway and other Companies in India and in England, deducting net traffic receipts, £1,547,064; Public Works Extraordinary, £2,599,614.

The excess of Income over Expenditure, excluding Public Works Extraordinary, was £118,669, and the excess of Expenditure, including Public Works Extraordinary, over Income, £2,480,945.

The gross revenue of India for the year ended 31st March 1871 was estimated at £51,017,396; the expenditure (including Public Works Extraordinary, £1,146,743) at £51,080,578; which would leave an excess of expenditure over income of £63,182.

PUBLIC DEBT OF THE UNITED KINGDOM AT 31ST MARCH 1870 AND 1871.

At 31st March 1870, the Funded Debt of the United Kingdom was—capital of Unredeemed Funded Debt (exclusive of capitals transferred to the names of the National Debt Commissioners on account of unclaimed stock and unclaimed dividends), £740,789,548; estimated capital of Terminable Annuities, £53,130,380—total, £793,919,928; and the Unfunded Debt was £6,761,500. Total of National Debt at 31st March 1870, £800,681,428. At 31st March 1871, the Funded Debt was—capital of Unredeemed Funded Debt, £731,309,237; estimated capital of Terminable Annuities, £57,969,885—total, £789,279,122; and the Unfunded Debt was £6,091,000. Total of National Debt at 31st March 1871, £795,370,122.

LOCAL TAXATION.

In a Report to the Treasury by the Right Hon. G. J. Goschen, M.P., the receipts for the purposes of local expenditure in each division of the United Kingdom in the year 1868 are given as follows:—England and Wales, £30,140,000; Scotland (estimated), £3,000,000; Ireland, £3,055,000; total for the United Kingdom, £36,195,000. The amount raised by taxation, direct and indirect, for local purposes was, in England and Wales, £20,550,000 (direct £16,200,000, indirect £4,350,000); in Scotland (estimated), £2,000,000 (direct £1,500,000, indirect £500,000); in Ireland, £2,567,000 (direct £2,284,000, indirect £283,000); total for the United Kingdom, £25,117,000, which is in the proportion of 16s. per head of the population of the United Kingdom. Of the receipts, £1,503,000 consisted of Government contributions (England, £1,225,000; Scotland, £200,000; Ireland, £78,000); and £5,987,000 was raised by loans (England and Wales, £5,500,000; Scotland, £250,000; Ireland, £237,000. The expenditure for local purposes in the year 1868 was, in England and Wales, £30,237,605; in Scotland, £2,512,667 (latest estimate, £3,000,000); in Ireland, £3,055,000; total local expenditure in United Kingdom, £36,292,605. The local expenditure of Scotland in 1868 is stated as follows:—Parochial boards for the relief of the poor, £1,002,803; county assessments, police, prisons, roads, etc., £210,000; turnpike trusts, £217,094; Edinburgh police, etc., £138,511; Glasgow police, etc., £130,473; other purposes, £813,786—total, £2,512,667.

If the amounts raised by taxation for public and local purposes be added together, the total taxation of the United Kingdom in the year ended 31st March 1871 would be about £95,062,000, or £3, 1s. per head of the population.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.

The real value of the total imports of merchandise into the United Kingdom was, in 1869, £295,460,214, and in 1870, £303,296,082. This shows an increase in 1870 of £7,835,868. The real value of the total exports of merchandise from the United Kingdom in 1869 was, British and Irish produce, £189,953,957; Foreign and Colonial produce, £47,061,095—total, £237,015,052; in 1870 it was, British and Irish produce, £199,640,983; Foreign and Colonial produce, £44,493,755—total, £244,134,738. This shows an increase in 1870 of £7,119,686. The total real value of imports into and exports from the United Kingdom in 1869 was £532,475,266; in 1870 it was £547,430,820, showing an increase in 1870 on the total of imports and exports of £14,955,554. In 1869 the real value of the total imports from foreign countries was £225,043,723; of the total imports from British Possessions, £70,416,491. In 1870 the real value of the total imports from foreign countries was £238,498,432; of the total imports from British Possessions, £64,797,650. The real value of the total exports to foreign countries in 1869 was £185,123,305; of the exports to British Possessions, £51,891,747. The real value of the total exports in 1870 as distributed between foreign countries and British Possessions has not yet been published, but the real value of British and Irish produce exported in 1870 to foreign countries was £147,792,032; of British and Irish produce exported to British Possessions, £51,848,951.

The number of sailing vessels registered at the end of 1870 in the United Kingdom, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands was 23,189, tonnage 4,577,855, and the number of steam-vessels 3178, tonnage 1,112,934—total, vessels 26,367, tonnage 5,690,789. The total number of registered ships belonging to the British Empire at the end of 1870 was 37,593, tonnage 7,150,841.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS OF BULLION AND SPECIE.

The computed real value of gold and silver bullion and specie imported into the United Kingdom during the year 1870 was, gold £18,806,728, silver £10,648,940, total £29,455,668; exported, gold £10,013,521, silver £8,906,169, total £18,919,690. The computed real value of such bullion and specie imported during ten months from January to October 1871 was, gold £18,731,729, silver £13,626,472, total £32,358,201; exported, gold £17,342,363, silver £10,399,940, total £27,742,303.

THE CUSTOMS.

The "Fifteenth Report of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Customs on the Customs," is for the year 1870. The Commissioners state that the recovery from the depressed condition of the three previous years, which was becoming apparent in the most important trades of the country in 1869, was well maintained during the first six months of 1870. It might have been expected that the war between France and Germany, which lasted over the latter half of the year, would have overthrown those calculations as to the trade of the year which were founded upon the experience of the former half; but, in fact, our trade profited to a considerable extent by the temporary withdrawal of the competition of the belligerent countries; and though there was a decline in our trade transactions with one of them, an actual increase took place during the year, as compared with 1869 and 1868, in our dealings with the other.

The total values of the British and Irish exports in 1870 (see Imports and Exports, p. 194, et seq.), exceeded by 5 per cent. (£9,687,026) those of 1869, and by 11 per cent. (£19,963,171) those of 1868, their amount (£199,640,983) being the highest to which the British and Irish exports have yet attained. The exports to British Possessions increased by 7·8 per cent. (£3,776,268), the exports to Foreign countries by 4 per cent. (£5,910,758) in 1870, as compared with 1869. In exportation to Foreign countries, the principal increases took place in the cases of Sweden, Mexico, Java, Chili, Denmark, Austria, Peru, Portugal, the United States, Norway, Belgium, and Japan. The value of the exports to the Foreign West Indies was more than double what it had been in 1869, being £3,961,733 as against £1,864,084. The exports to France increased from £11,438,330 to £11,643,139, or 1·8 per cent., the increase being due to the additional demand in France for articles specially applicable to the pressing wants engendered by the war. To estimate, however, the assistance given by this country to France during the war, by supplying her with articles of food, etc., it is necessary to take into account the Foreign and Colonial exports to France, which show on articles of food an increase in 1870 of £1,102,712. The exportation of British and Irish products to the United States was the greatest that has occurred, excepting that of 1866; it exceeded in value that of 1869 by 15 per cent., and that of 1860, the year before the American war commenced, by £6,668,329, or nearly 31 per cent. In Foreign and Colonial produce exported to the United States also there was a large increase in 1870,—£806,935, or nearly 37 per cent. The principal decreases in British and Irish products took place in the exportation to Germany, Italy, China, Turkey, and Brazil. The decrease in the case of Germany was over 10 per cent., but British goods to some extent must have reached Germany through Dutch and Belgian ports. The decrease in the case of Italy was 14 per cent. The value of British and Irish exports to British Possessions in 1870 was the highest ever attained, except in 1866. Nearly two millions of the increase was due to India alone, but the increase was shared in by every British Possession, excepting Australia, St Helena, Gibraltar, and the Falkland Islands. The great falling-off in the exports to Australia (£3,509,396, or 26 per cent.) is ascribed to the unusually large exportations of the previous year.

The value of our Foreign and Colonial exports in 1870 showed a decrease of £2,567,340. There was a considerable rise in the quantities of corn, coffee, bacon, cheese, rice, fruit, hides, silk manufactures, sugar, and quicksilver exported; but a falling-off in the quantities of cotton (raw), silk (raw), spices, spirits, tallow, tea, tobacco, wine, and wool.

The total value of our exports, British and Irish, and Foreign and Colonial, increased in 1870 by £7,119,686, or 3 per cent.

The value of our imports in 1870 shows, as compared with 1869, a smaller increase than the value of the exports,—an increase of £7,835,868, or 2·6 per cent. In 1869 the importations from Foreign countries fell off, while those from British Possessions largely increased. The reverse of this occurred in 1870, the value of imports from Foreign countries increasing by £13,454,709, or 6 per cent., and that of imports from British Possessions decreasing by £5,618,841, or nearly 8 per cent. There were considerable increases in the imports from the United States (£7,231,000, all accounted for by the article of cotton), France (£4,080,000), Russia (£3,885,000), Sweden (£2,000,000), Belgium (£1,855,000), Holland (£1,576,000), Peru (£889,000), Foreign West Indies (£631,000), and smaller increases in the imports from Portugal, the Argentine Confederation, Chili, and Western Africa. Of the increase in the case of France, £1,297,383 was due to cotton (raw) alone, of which there was a large exportation from France at the breaking out of the war, £580,000 to silk (raw), £1,910,000 to silk manufactures, £1,060,000 to sugar, £900,000 to brandy, and £690,000 to woollen manufactures. There was, however, a decrease in the majority of articles usually imported from France, and especially, as was to be expected, in articles of food. There was a falling-off in the values of imports from Prussia of £1,229,000, from the Hanseatic towns of £1,101,000, and proportionate decreases in the case of other divisions of Germany—in the aggregate, £2,949,000. There was a decrease in the value of imports from Egypt of £2,680,000, owing to the increased supply of cotton now obtained from the United States. The decrease in the value of imports from British Possessions in 1870 was more than accounted for by British India alone, the importation from which shows, as compared with 1869, a falling-off of £8,188,540.

In the value of Foreign merchandise, transhipped in the United Kingdom in 1870, there was an increase of £2,825,598, or nearly 35 per cent.

The total value of our Export, Import, and Transhipment trade in 1870 was £606,746,779, being an increase on 1869 of £29,277,981.

The net customs revenue was £21,912,220 in 1869, and £20,108,350 in 1870, showing a decrease of £1,803,870. The gross customs revenue was £22,229,748 in 1869, and £20,436,863 in 1870, showing a decrease of £1,792,885. The payments out of revenue, on account of drawbacks and repayments, were heavier in 1870 than in 1869 by £10,985. There was a loss by the repeal of the duty on corn (from which, during the portion of 1869 in which it was levied, £339,347 was obtained), and also a loss by the reduction of the sugar duties (£1,759,133), which, with the former, amounted to £2,098,480; and the actual falling-off in the revenue being only £1,792,885, there was an actual increase of £305,595, due to increased consumption of dutiable articles, in 1870. The Commissioners estimate that the increased consumption of sugar, due to the reduction of the sugar duties, yielded £212,358.

The gross receipt of customs revenue (amounting, without including the duty on customs goods delivered out of excise warehouses, to £20,369,699) was divided among the different ports as follows:—London, £10,017,682; Liverpool, £2,723,217; other ports in England, £3,131,902; ports in Scotland, £2,577,826; ports in Ireland, £1,919,072. The largest deficiency was in the revenue collected in the Scotch ports (£495,219, or 16 per cent.), the explanation of which is to be found in the reduction of the sugar duties,—the sugar trade of the Clyde having in 1869 paid more than two-thirds of the whole duty collected in Scotland. The falling-off at Liverpool (£435,153, or 13 per cent.), was also almost entirely owing to the reduction of the duty on sugar. In London the falling-off was £466,873, or 4 per cent. The receipts at other English ports, and at the Irish ports, showed in either case a decrease of 8 per cent.

The revenue from British spirits collected by the Customs Department in 1870, and handed over to the Inland Revenue Department, amounted to £1,888,415, being an increase on the previous year of £205,572. There was an increase in England of £118,088, in Ireland of £89,078, and a falling-off in Scotland of £1594.

The rate per cent. of the charges of collection on the gross produce of the customs revenue of the United Kingdom was £3, 7s. 10d. in 1870, being an increase upon the rate in the previous year, £3, 6s. 3d. The rate per cent. of collection on the net produce was £3, 9s. in 1870, against £3, 7s. 1d. in the previous year. The increase is ascribed to the abolition of the duty on corn, which was collected at a trifling cost.

The following Table (continuing tables in former Almanacs) shows the amount of customs revenue collected at the several ports of Scotland, at the three principal ports of England, and at the three principal ports of Ireland, in each of the years (ending 31st December) 1869 and 1870:—

INLAND REVENUE.

The Fourteenth Report of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue on the Inland Revenue is for the years ended 31st March 1870 and 1871. The accounts for the year ended in March 1871 could not, it states, be given with precision at the date of the Report, and their publication has been deferred until the exact figures are obtained. For the previous year the Report is in the accustomed form. At the outset the Commissioners observe that they are now able to exhibit the results of twelve months' experience of the new system of collection of income tax and of the taxes on establishments, which were the most important features in the budget of 1869.

The total net receipt from inland revenue for the year ended 31st March 1870 was £45,758,339. In the previous year it was £41,785,965. There was an increase of £1,402,376 on the excise; of £48,059 on stamps; of £1,036,858 on taxes; and of £1,485,081 on property and income tax: net increase, £3,972,374. This large increase is accounted for by an increase of £412,969 in the duty on home-made spirits; by the collection of the assessed taxes, excepting the inhabited house duty, in the shape of excise licenses; and by the operation of the 8th section of the Act 32 & 33 Vict. c. 14, which makes the land tax and inhabited house duty, and also the income tax (except when payable by way of deduction or in respect of assessments on railways) due in one sum at the beginning of the natural year, thus ensuring the payment into the Exchequer of nearly the whole of these duties in the last quarter of the financial year. The taxes on establishments were estimated at £1,113,000 for twelve months, and to produce £600,000 within the first quarter, ending on the 31st March. The actual yield was £1,269,887 in the year ending on 31st December 1870, and £1,150,757 within the first quarter. In house duty and land tax, the estimated addition to the income of the financial year by the new mode of collection was £950,000, and the result accorded almost to a fraction with this expectation. The income tax produced £10,044,000, being £684,000 more than the estimate, and this was mainly attributable to the new mode of collection. "The result therefore," the Report continues, "of the very remarkable reform in the assessment and collection of land and assessed taxes and income tax effected by the budget of 1869, was to bring into the Exchequer in the financial year 1869-70 £4,584,757 more than would otherwise have been obtained, and £1,234,757 more than was expected." The only important decrease not attributable to reduction of duty occurred in malt, the net receipt on which was £44,096 less than in the preceding year. In excise licenses, a reduction of 5217 in the number granted to retailers of beer and cider (not publicans) caused a loss of £15,859. This is accounted for by it having been made necessary for these traders to produce a certificate from the magistrates before an excise license can be granted. The principal decreases caused by repeal of duties occurred in the stage and hackney carriage duties, and in licenses to let horses and carriages for hire, £81,045; in tea licenses, £72,757; and in fire insurance duty, £575,793. All these results were as near as possible to the estimates of the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

As already stated, the exact figures for the year ended 31st March 1871 had not been ascertained when the Report was issued, but the accounts exhibited a continued prosperity. The receipt for excise was £1,128,000 and for stamps £418,000 above the estimate; the income tax realized the exact amount estimated, £6,350,000; the land tax and inhabited house duty yielded £125,000 less than the estimate, but this was to some extent attributable to arrears not collected and paid over by the 31st March. Under the head of excise, chicory, railways, sugar, and licenses showed an increase upon the preceding year; and in these duties the gross and net receipts generally agree very closely. The gross receipt was in the case of spirits £11,913,000, and in that of malt £7,152,000, against £11,426,000 and £6,726,000 in the preceding year. In the spirit and malt duties, however, considerable repayments are made. The highest gross receipt for each of these duties previously recorded occurred in the year 1866-67, when it reached, for spirits £11,579,000, and for malt £7,072,000. The payment into Exchequer on account of spirit duty was, in 1870-71, £460,000, and on malt duty £437,000 in excess of that in 1869-70. In stamps, the abolition of the newspaper stamp caused a loss of £50,000, and in 1869-70, £442,861 was received for fire insurance duty, which was repealed in October 1869. The receipts from stamps in 1870-71 did not, however, fall short of those of the previous year by more than half the amount above accounted for. There was a recovery under the other heads of duty; the principal increase, about £100,000, occurred in probate duty, and the greater part of it was furnished by two large payments, one of £46,500, and the other of £25,500, for property valued, in the first case, at £3,200,000, in the second, at £1,800,000.

I. Excise Duties.

The following Table exhibits the net receipts of the duties of excise in the United Kingdom in the years ended 31st March 1869 and 1870. The duties on railways and race-horses are levied in Great Britain only. The duty on stage carriages and that on hackney coaches was repealed from 1st January 1870. The former was levied only in Great Britain; the latter only in London.

Spirits.—The number of gallons of spirits charged with duty in the United Kingdom was, in 1868-9, 21,930,393; in 1869-70 it was 22,855,229—increase, 924,836 gallons. The number of gallons consumed as beverage was, in 1868-9, 21,107,922; in 1869-70 it was 21,980,678—increase 872,756 gallons. The number of gallons retained for consumption as beverage in 1869-70 was, in England, 11,591,699; in Scotland, 5,364,003; in Ireland, 5,024,976. The quantity of British spirits exported from the United Kingdom was, in 1868-9, 1,360,444; in 1869–70 it was 1,656,980; so that there was an increase of 296,536 gallons in 1869–70. The quantity of spirits methylated was 885,959 gallons in 1868-9; it was 977,469 in 1869–70. In 1868–9, the number of detections of illicit distillation, and of the removal of spirits without a permit, was, in England, 41, in Scotland 16, in Ireland 1841. In 1869–70, it was in England 40, in Scotland 5, in Ireland 2215. In the year ended 31st December 1852, the number of detections was, in England 509, in Scotland 124, in Ireland 2904. In the years 1868 and 1869 there was, after five years of progressive increase, a diminution in the quantity of British spirits consumed as a beverage. In the year 1869–70, however, the quantity upon which duty was paid for consumption rose again to nearly that of the year 1867, and showed an increase above the consumption of 1868-9 of 4·1 per cent. The consumption in 1869-70 exceeded that of 1868-9 by 352,383 gallons, or 3·1 per cent., in England; by 337,452, or 6·7 per cent. in Scotland, and by 182,921, or 3·7 per cent. in Ireland. The quantity of foreign spirits unenumerated, not being sweetened or mixed, entered for home consumption in 1869–70 was 150,000 gallons less than in the previous year. From the time of the introduction of this class of spirits as a substitute for ordinary British raw grain spirit up to 1869–70, there had been a steady increase in the quantity used. In the year 1870–71 the quantity of spirits entered for home consumption as beverage considerably exceeded that of any year since 1860. The increase was not confined to any part of the kingdom, but was spread over the whole. The proportion, however, was greatest in Ireland, and was greater in Scotland than in England. There had also been a small increase in the latter half of the year in the quantity of foreign plain spirits entered for home consumption. At the end of the year 1870–71, about 100 excise duty-free warehouses were used by the trade for the warehousing of foreign spirits and wines under the provisions of the Act of 1869. In 1870–71, the amount of duty received by the inland revenue on account of foreign spirits and wines was, in England, spirits £23,054, wines £4321—total £27,375; in Scotland, spirits £12,128, wines £3370—total £15,499; in Ireland, spirits £33,125, wines £7333—total £40,459; in the United Kingdom, spirits £68,308, wines £15,025—total £83,334. It is stated that the experiment of making spirit from beet-root, commenced in 1869 by a landed proprietor, is still being persevered with, but that further experience is necessary before the success of root-distillation in this country can be said to be established.

Malt.—The number of bushels of malt charged with duty in 1868-9 was 49,590,508; in 1869–70 it was 50,697,459—increase, 1,106,949. In 1870–71 there was a further increase in the quantity of malt brought to charge, which exceeded the return for any previous year by nearly two million bushels. Of malt, charged according to the weight of the grain steeped, in 1869-70, the quantity charged by gauge was 1,476,942 bushels; the charge by weight, 1,396,738 bushels. The average weight per bushel was 50$\frac{1}{16}$ lbs. The amount of duty surrendered was £10,877. This shows a considerable decrease—nearly one third—as compared with the previous year, in the quantity of malt charged by weight. There was again a considerable decrease in the year 1870-71. The manufacture of "malt for feeding animals" had entirely ceased in 1870.

Sugar used in Brewing.—In addition to the quantities of malt above given, there were used by brewers in 1868–9, 41,366,976 lbs. of sugar, and in 1869–70, 33,136,956 lbs. of sugar. This decrease is ascribed to the large production and moderate price of malt. The increase in the materials for producing beer in the year 1869–70 on the whole appears to have been insignificant. New regulations regarding the use of sugar in breweries are embodied in the Act 33 & 34 Vict. c. 32.

Chicory.—The quantity of chicory brought to charge in 1868-9 was 11,843 cwts.; in 1869–70 it was 12,525 cwts.—increase, 682 cwts. The stock in warehouse on 31st March 1870 was 11,000 cwts., being more than 3000 cwts. less than the stock in warehouse on 31st March 1869.

Licenses.—The gun license came into operation on the 9th August 1870, and up to 31st December 1870, 84,459 licenses had been issued. This license was originally intended as a substitute for the game license. But as such, it would, at £1, the amount proposed in the first instance, have involved a considerable sacrifice of revenue, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer readily yielded to the feeling which prevailed in favour of the retention of the game license, at the same time reducing the gun-license to 10s. Though shorn of its greatest recommendation—that it involved the abolition of a duty maintained rather for the preservation of game than for fiscal purposes—the duty is stated to have been generally acceptable. The small licenses repealed in 1870—the duty of £2 payable by a hawker on foot, the license paid by a maker of stills in Scotland and Ireland, the license on selling playing-cards, the licenses payable by paper-makers and soap-makers, the plate license on makers of watch-cases, the auction license for selling fish on the beach—all either involved a hardship to the traders concerned, or were difficult of collection. The whole amount of revenue lost by their repeal was about £33,000. The substitution of licenses for the articles formerly included under the head of assessed taxes was, in the opinion of the Commissioners, one of the most important and beneficial innovations in the budget of 1869. The Commissioners believe that the change has been not less satisfactory to the taxpayer than beneficial to the revenue; but a longer trial of the system is necessary to show to what extent it has been an improvement as regards the articles brought to charge.

II. Stamps.

The net receipt from stamps in the year ended 31st March 1870 was £9,275,965; in the previous financial year it was £9,227,906. The principal items in the year 1869-70 were as follows:—Deeds and other instruments, £1,686,942; bills of exchange and promissory notes, £719,750; probates of wills and letters of administration and testamentary inventories, £1,769,130 (Scotland, £151,856); legacy and succession duty, £2,953,591 (Scotland, £298,098); bankers' notes and composition for do., £133,452 (Scotland, £21,122); licenses and certificates, £133,097 (Scotland, £25,210). The receipt of the probate, legacy, and succession duties in 1869-70 was the largest on record. It was to be expected that the following year would exhibit diminished receipt. In 1870-71, however, the receipt for probate duty shows an increase of about £100,000 on the previous year. The legacy and succession duty in 1870-71 falls short of the previous year's duty by about £30,000.

III. Land and Assessed Taxes.

The net receipts of the land and assessed taxes in the years ended 31st March 1869 and 1870 in the United Kingdom, and also in Scotland, are shown in the following Table:—

IV. Property and Income Tax.

The net receipts from property and income tax in the years ended 31st March 1869 and 1870, appropriated to schedules, are shown in the following Table:—

The assessments for the year ended 5th April 1869 exhibited a moderate increase in comparison with those for the preceding year, the total amount of profits and property charged to duty being, for the year 1867–8, £386,542,000, and for the year 1868–9, £389,421,000, being an increase of £2,879,000. The whole of this increase was furnished by England, in which the improvement amounted to £3,226,000. In Scotland there was a decrease of £242,000, and in Ireland of £105,000. Under Schedule A there was an increase of £1,804,000, nearly the whole of which was derived from houses. The percentage of increase under Schedule A was—in England, 1·34; in Scotland, 1·56; in Ireland, 0·15. Under Schedule B there was a decrease of £200,000, attributable to an unusually large number of claims of exemption having been allowed during the year; in Scotland, however, there was an increase of £39,000, and in Ireland an increase of £14,000. Under Schedule C there was an increase of £1,100,000 arising from dividends on colonial and foreign loans, and on railways in India. The assessments under Schedule D showed, in England, an increase of £1,342,000, or 0·97 per cent.; in Scotland a decrease of £517,000, and in Ireland a decrease of £209,000. Upon railways there was an increase of £918,000 in England, of £7000 in Scotland, and of £24,000 in Ireland; upon mines, a decrease of £283,000 in England, and an increase of £17,000 in Scotland; upon fisheries, an increase of £31,000 in England; upon iron-works, an increase of £41,000 in England, and a decrease of £144,000 in Scotland; upon gas-works, a decrease of £24,000 in England. and an increase of £4000 in Scotland; upon canals, a decrease of £28,000 in England.

The assessments for the year ended 5th April 1870 exhibited an increase over those for the previous year of £8,741,000—the total annual value of property and profits charged to duty being £398,162,000. There was an increase, in England, of £7,959,000; in Scotland, of £734,000; in Ireland, of £48,000. Under Schedule A there was, in England, an increase of £58,000 on lands, and of £1,511,000 on houses; in Scotland, a decrease of £22,000 on lands, and an increase of £201,000 on houses; in Ireland, a decrease of £66,000 on lands, and an increase of £21,000 on houses. Under Schedule D there was an increase of £4,282,000 in England, of £470,000 in Scotland, and of £25,000 in Ireland.

In the year 1868-9, 250,358 persons—213,082 in England, 26,006 in Scotland, and 11,270 in Ireland—claimed abatement of taxation in respect of incomes of £100 and under £200 a year, being 12,423 more than in the preceding year; and the amount of income exempted from taxation in consequence of the abatement was, in England, £12,732,000; in Scotland, £1,540,000; in Ireland, £675,000—total £14,947,000. It is stated that at least 10,000 persons obtain repayment of duty under the same provision of the law, and this makes an addition of £600,000 to the amount of income relieved from duty.

The net receipt of property and income tax levied in Scotland was £714,453 in 1868-9, and £659,478 in 1869-70. The total obtained from land and assessed taxes and property and income tax in Scotland was £919,226 in 1868-9, and £865,931 in 1869-70.

The next Table shows the amount of property and income charged under each schedule of the Income Tax Act in Scotland and in the United Kingdom for the years ended 5th April 1868 and 1869, and the amount of duty in the United Kingdom:—

During the year ended 5th April 1870 the property and income tax was levied at the rate of 5d. per pound, subject to the abatement of the duty on £60 allowed on incomes under £200. In the previous year the duty was at the rate of 6d. per pound. It is stated that each penny in the pound produced, in 1867-8, £1,451,342; in 1868-9, £1,456,000; in 1869-70, £1,499,351. The produce in 1870-71 had not been ascertained, but was expected to be considerably above that of the preceding year.

THE POST-OFFICE.

The Sixteenth Report of the Postmaster-General on the Post-office is for the year 1869. His Seventeenth Report is for the year 1870.

The following Table shows the number of letters delivered; the number of book-packets, newspapers, and pattern-packets delivered; and the amount of money-orders issued, in each of the years 1869 and 1870, in England and Wales, Scotland, Ireland, and the United Kingdom:—

The number of inhabited houses in 1869 was, in England and Wales, 4,099,432; in Scotland, 411,606; in Ireland, 950,113; and in the whole of the United Kingdom, 5,461,151. The corresponding numbers for 1870 were—England and Wales, 4,245,901; Scotland, 419,365; Ireland, 960,352; United Kingdom, 5,625,618.

The increase in the number of letters delivered in 1870 was, in England and Wales, 3·8 per cent. on the number delivered in 1869; in Scotland, 2·8 per cent.; in Ireland, 3·4 per cent. There were, on an average, 31 letters to each person in England and Wales, 25 to each person in Scotland, 12 to each person in Ireland; 168 letters to each house in England and Wales, 198 to each house in Scotland, 68 to each house in Ireland. On book-packets, newspapers, and pattern-packets delivered, there was an increase in 1870 upon the number in 1869 of 21·9 per cent. in England and Wales, 17·7 per cent. in Scotland, and 8·3 per cent. in Ireland. Upon money-orders issued there was an increase in 1870 of 2·9 per cent. in England, 4·8 per cent. in Scotland, and 3·2 per cent. in Ireland. There had been, however, in 1869 a decrease of 4·3 per cent. in Scotland, which was attributed to the Banks in Scotland having in 1869 commenced issuing orders for small sums on their agents. Of the halfpenny post-cards, which were introduced at 1st October 1870, the number circulating in the United Kingdom during one week has been found to be about 1,668,000—1,374,000 in England, 167,000 in Scotland, and 127,000 in Ireland. 19,192 money-orders, of the amount of £74,124, were issued in the United Kingdom for payment abroad in 1869. In 1870, 24,674 such orders were issued, and their amount was £97,765. There was, therefore, in 1870, an increase of 5482 in the number, and of £23,641 in the amount, of orders so issued. 111,800 money-orders, of the amount of £509,943, were issued abroad for payment in the United Kingdom in 1869; in 1870 the number of such orders was 125,575, and their amount, £548,624. There was, therefore, an increase of 13,775 in the number, and of £38,681 in the amount, of such orders in 1870. The number of money-order offices in the United Kingdom increased from 4061 at the close of 1869 to 4090 at the close of 1870, when there were in England and Wales, 3087; in Scotland, 453; in Ireland, 550 money-order offices. The average amount of each money-order issued in 1870 was £1, 19s. 0¾d., and 4·19d. was the average amount of commission on each transaction.

The following Table shows the number of depositors in Post-office Savings Banks; the balance due to depositors; and the total number of depositors in post-office savings banks and old savings banks combined, in England and Wales, Scotland, Ireland, and in the United Kingdom, at 31st December of each of the years 1869 and 1870:—

The number of the depositors in post-office savings banks at the end of 1870, 1,183,153, showed an increase over the preceding year of 8·9 per cent. in England, 8·2 per cent. in Scotland, and 10·7 per cent. in Ireland. The balance due to depositors at the same period, £15,099,104, showed an increase of 11·3 per cent. in England, 14 per cent. in Scotland, and 16·3 per cent. in Ireland. The average amount of deposit to each depositor at the end of 1870, including interest, was £12, 16s. 1½d. in England, £7, 15s. 10½d. in Scotland; £16, 10s. 8¾d. in Ireland. The comparatively low average in Scotland was, no doubt (it is observed), a consequence of the facilities afforded in Scotland for the investment of small sums at interest in banks of unquestionable solidity. The total number of depositors in post-office savings banks and the old savings banks, 2,567,909, or one to every 12 persons, showed an increase of 103,399. The number of post-office savings banks in the United Kingdom at the close of 1870 was 4082, an increase of 35 on the number in 1869, and of 269 on the number in 1868. The number of post-office savings banks and old savings banks combined at the close of 1870 was 4578. The average amount of each deposit made in post-office savings banks in 1870 was £2, 16s. 1d., and the number of deposits received during the year was 2,135,993; the average amount of each withdrawal in 1870 was £6, 0s. 10d., and the number of withdrawals was 787,172. The charges of management in 1870 amounted to £67,945; in 1869 they were £62,060. The number of accounts opened during 1870 was 333,648, and the number closed was 236,280. The total sum standing to the credit of post-office savings banks on the books of the National Debt Commissioners at the close of 1870 was £15,305,040, the balance in hands of the Postmaster-General at the same time was £158,888—total sum applicable to payment of depositors (amount of deposits, £15,099,104), £15,463,928.

The following Table shows the number of Government Insurances in force, the amount of annual premium payable thereon, and the amount insured; also the number of Government Annuities subsisting; the amount received as purchase money, and the amount of the annuities, distinguishing between immediate and deferred annuities, at the close of 1869 and of 1870, for England, Scotland, Ireland, and for the United Kingdom:—

On account of the purchase of deferred annuities there was received in 1870 in annual or more frequent payments, in England, £2020; in Scotland, £111; in Ireland, £9; in the whole United Kingdom, £2140; and in single payments, in England, £6956; in Scotland, £160; in Ireland, £325.

The number of insurance policies effected with the Government increased from 1789 at the close of 1868 to 2480 at the close of 1870; the amount insured from £134,824 to £190,072. This gives an average insurance to each insurer of £76, 19s. 11d. in England, £66, 9s. 8½d. in Scotland, and £79, 12s. 8½d. in Ireland, at average annual premiums of £2, 17s. 5½d., £2, 0s. 7d., and £2, 12s. 8½d. respectively. The number of immediate annuities rose from 874 at the close of 1868 to 1532 at the close of 1870, the amount from £18,789 to £30,632. The number of deferred annuities rose from 160 at the close of 1868 to 238 at the close of 1870, and the amount from £2971 to £4677.

Returned Letters, Registered Letters, etc.—The total number of returned letters in the United Kingdom in 1869 was 3,854,738; in 1870 it was 3,792,894. In 1870, 3,328,893—68,386 more than in 1869—were restored to the writers; 104,695—29,259 less than in 1869—were re-issued to correct addresses; 147,082 were returned unopened to foreign countries; and 212,224 were destroyed or were in hand. In 1870, 11,505 letters were posted without any address, among which were 289 containing money to the aggregate amount of £3376. The number of registered letters passing through the post, including those containing coin and compulsorily registered, rose, in the United Kingdom, from 2,727,763 in 1869 to 3,005,994 in 1870, an increase of 10 per cent. Of the 3,005,994 registered letters in 1870 only 12 were lost, being at the rate of not quite one in every quarter of a million. 182,179 post-cards were received in the Returned Letter Office between 1st October, the date of the introduction of post-cards, and 31st December 1870. 864,210 book-packets, 21,683 pattern and sample packets, and 613,007 newspapers, were received at the Returned Letter Office in 1870; of which 510,020 book-packets, 13,061 pattern and sample packets, and 267,836 newspapers were received in the last three months of the year, after the changes introduced at 1st October had led to a more rigid adherence to the rules as to delivery.

Force, Expenditure, and Revenue.—The following Table shows the force or numbers of persons employed in the Post-office (distinguishing effective from pensioners or non-effective); the cost of collection and delivery, of management, and of money-order business; the cost of conveyance of mails (distinguishing conveyance by coaches, carts, and omnibuses from conveyance by railways and conveyance by ships and packets); and the total cost of the Post-office service in each of the years 1868, 1869, and 1870:—

In 1870 the cost of the manufacture of postage stamps, printing paper, etc., was £47,500 (being £22,500 more than in 1869); of stationery, £42,561; of buildings and repairs, rents, rates, taxes, fuel, and light, £110,223; of supply and repair of mail-bags and boxes, tolls, and ferryage, and other charges, £16,295; of the conveyance of mails over the Isthmus of Panama and in other foreign parts, £26,290.

The next Table shows the gross and net revenue of the Post-office (distinguishing the gross revenue from letters, book-packets, etc., the amount of commission on money-orders, and the produce of the impressed stamp on newspapers collected by the Inland Rev. Office) in the years 1868, 1869, 1870:

Year.	Gross Revenue from Letters, Book-Packets, etc.	Money Order Commission.	Gross Revenue Collected by the Post-office.	Impressed Stamp on Newspapers.	Total Postal Revenue.	Total Cost of Post-office Service.	Net Revenue.

1870	4664512	184093	4848605	80870	4929475	3435865	1493610

It is explained that the largely-increased cost of the Post-office service in 1869 was principally due to exceptional payments on account of the packet service. During the five years 1861-65, the average net revenue of the Post-office was £1,001,763; during the five years 1866-70, it was £1,407,046.

BIRTHS, DEATHS, AND MARRIAGES.

The Sixteenth Annual Report of the Registrar-General, dated March 1871, contains statistics of the Births, Deaths, and Marriages registered in Scotland during the year 1870.

The following Table shows the number of Births, of Deaths, and of Marriages registered in each Registration County, and in each Group of Registration Counties, in Scotland, in the year 1870, and also in the years 1868 and 1869, distinguishing the number of males and the number of females for the year 1870. For the population of the Registration Counties according to the Census of 1861, see the Almanac for 1865, pp. 223, 224. In most cases it differs slightly from the population of the civil or proper counties, by reason that parishes which lie partly within one county, partly within another, are held, for the purposes of the Registration of Births, Deaths, and Marriages, to lie wholly within the county in which the parish church is situated.

The number of Births registered in Scotland in 1870, 115,423, or 358 to every 10,000 persons of the estimated population, has only once been exceeded since the Registration Act came into operation, viz., in the year 1868, when 115,514 births were registered. It exceeded the number registered in 1869 by 2028. The average annual birth-rate of the ten previous years was 354 in every 10,000 persons. The increased rate in 1870 is ascribed to the great increase of marriages during 1870 and the latter part of 1869. In 1870 there was one birth for every 24 persons in the principal towns, one for every 26 in the large towns, one for every 28 in the small towns, one for every 25 in the town districts taken altogether; and only one birth for every 32 persons in the rural districts. The greatest daily number of births occurred, as usual, during the months of March, April, May, and June; the lowest number occurred during the months of November and December. Of the 115,423 children born during the year, 59,012 were boys, and 56,411 girls, being in the proportion of 104·6 boys to every 100 girls—a lower proportion than usual, the mean Scottish rate being 105·5 boys to every 100 girls.

Of the 115,423 births, 10,988 (9·5 per cent.) were illegitimate. As usual, the proportion of illegitimate births was lower in the town than in the rural districts. It was 9·4 per cent. of the births in the principal towns; 7·9 in the large towns; 9·2 in the small towns; but 10·1 in the rural districts.

The following Table shows the proportion per cent. of illegitimate births in each county, and in each registration group of counties, in each of the three years 1868, 1869, and 1870:—

The proportion of illegitimate births in the several divisions and counties of Scotland is thus seen to have been much the same in 1870 as in previous years, ranging from 3 per cent. in Shetland to 17·9 per cent. in Banff. Two counties, Shetland and Orkney, had less than 5 per cent. of illegitimate births; seven counties, Elgin, Banff, Aberdeen, Kincardine, Dumfries, Kirkcudbright, and Wigtown, had over 12 per cent.

The Deaths registered in 1870 (74,067, being 1722 less than in the preceding year) were in the proportion of 2·29 deaths in every 100 persons, or 229 deaths during the year in every 10,000 of the estimated population. The average death-rate of the ten previous years was 223 deaths in every 10,000 persons, so that the death-rate of 1870, though lower than that of the previous year, which was a year of high mortality, was above the average. The mean English death-rate is higher than that of Scotland, being 225 deaths in every 10,000 persons; it also was exceeded in 1870, the death-rate in England in 1870 being 233 in every 10,000 persons, or 2·33 per cent.

Of the 74,067 deaths, 48,296 occurred in the town districts, 25,771 in the rural districts. Among the town populations there were in every 10,000 persons 268 deaths, the deaths per 10,000 persons being 291 in the principal towns, 275 in the large towns, 224 in the small towns. In the rural districts there were only 180 deaths in every 10,000 persons. Put otherwise, there was one death for every 34 persons in the principal towns, one for every 36 persons in the large towns, one for every 44 in the small towns, one for every 37 persons in the town districts taken altogether; while there was only one death for every 55 persons in the rural districts. During the ten years, 1858–67, for every 10,000 persons in each of these districts there occurred annually 286 deaths in the principal towns, 250 in the large towns, 217 in the small towns, and 173 in the rural districts; that is, one in 35 persons died in the principal towns, one in 39 in the large towns, one in 46 in the small towns, and only one in 58 in the rural districts. In 1870, the death-rate was highest in the months of January and March, and lowest in the months of September and October.

The Marriages registered in 1870 (23,778, being 1705 more than in the previous year) were in the high proportion of 73 marriages in every 10,000 persons. The mean rate of the ten previous years was 70 marriages in a like population; and it was only during the prosperous years 1865 and 1866 that the marriage-rate in Scotland exceeded that of 1870. There were, in 1870, for every 10,000 persons, 99 marriages in the principal towns, 84 in the large towns, 69 in the small towns, and only 55 in the rural districts. During the ten years 1858–67, for every 10,000 persons there occurred annually 91 marriages in the principal towns, 79 in the large towns, 69 in the small towns, and 56 in the rural districts. It thus appears that the great increase of marriages in 1870 was almost confined to the principal and the large towns. It is observed that the number and proportion of marriages indicate very closely the state of prosperity of the country, and that therefore the great increase in 1870, nearly 8 per cent. upon the marriages of the previous year, shows unmistakably the people's belief in the industrial and commercial prosperity of the year. The greatest number of marriages took place in June, Dec., and Jan.; the least in May, April, March, and September.

Increase of the Population.—The excess of births over deaths in 1870 was 41,356. This, less the number of emigrants, would be approximately the increase of population; but there are no means of accurately ascertaining the number of emigrants. The probable whole number of Scottish emigrants, from ports at which there are emigration officers, was 23,447 in 1870. Deducting this from the number representing the excess of births over deaths, we have 17,909 as the increase of population in 1870. Estimating in the same way the increase since 1861, the population of Scotland at the close of 1870 would be 3,305,655. But this makes no allowance for the large migration to England and Ireland, the continent of Europe, and India, nor for the drafts to the army and navy. The population, at the middle of 1870, as estimated by the method adopted by the Registrar-General, was 3,222,837. [See below, "The Census of 1871," pp. 226-230.]

Of the children born in 1870 in these towns, 20,714 were boys, and 19,753 were girls; being 105 boys for every 100 girls. The birth-rate was highest in Greenock, where it was 4·98 per cent. of the population, and lowest in Perth, where it was 2·97 per cent. Of the 40,481 births in the eight towns, 3801, or 9·4 per cent., were illegitimate. The proportion of illegitimate births varied greatly in the several towns. In Greenock, where it was lowest, it was only 4·9 per cent., while in Dundee it was 11·2 per cent., and in Aberdeen 12·3 per cent. The births registered in the eight towns in 1870 were, both in number and in proportion to population, the highest ever registered in those towns. The greatest monthly numbers of births occurred in May, March, April, and June; the lowest in February, November, and December.

The deaths registered (28,493) were fewer by 2957 than in the previous year. In Aberdeen, however, the deaths in 1870 were 8 per cent. higher than in the previous year; but in that year the deaths in Aberdeen had been below the average, while in the other towns they were much above the average. It is remarked that, if waves of increased mortality spread slowly over the country from south to north, the low mortality of Aberdeen in 1869, and the increased mortality in 1870, is sufficiently accounted for. The death-rate in 1870 was lowest at Perth, where it was 2·23 per cent. of population, and highest at Greenock, where it was 3·35 per cent. Of 28,493 persons who died in the eight towns, 14,234 were males and 14,259 were females. Of the 28,493 persons, 11,844, or 41·6 per cent., were under five years of age; 3139, or 11·2 per cent., between five and twenty years of age; 8663, or 30·2 per cent., were between twenty and sixty; and 4847, or 17 per cent., were above sixty years of age. Out of every thousand children under five years of age, there died 55 in Perth, 75 in Edinburgh and in Paisley, 77 in Aberdeen, 91 in Leith, 96 in Glasgow, 106 in Dundee, and 108 in Greenock. Of the persons who died, there were, under five years of age, 29·6 per cent. in Perth, 33·5 per cent. in Edinburgh, 37·5 per cent. in Paisley, 37·7 per cent. in Aberdeen, 43·8 per cent. in Glasgow, 45·1 per cent. in Dundee, 47·1 per cent. in Greenock, and 47·4 per cent. in Leith.

The numbers and causes of death, at four periods of life (from birth to 5 years, from 5 years to 20, from 20 to 60, and from 60 upwards), in the eight principal towns of Scotland, during the year 1869, are shown in the subjoined Table:—

The next Table (in continuation of similar tables in the Almanacs for former years) shows the number of births, of marriages, and of deaths, registered in the eight principal towns of Scotland in each month of the year 1870, and in each of the first ten months of the year 1871, together with the mean temperature in each month, at Edinburgh, Glasgow, Aberdeen, Paisley, Greenock, and Perth (having for their mean position 56° 12′ N. lat., 3° 30′ W. long., and 124 feet above the sea-level). The aggregate population of these eight towns was 785,141 in 1851; it was 884,955 at the date of the census (7th April) of 1861 (viz., Glasgow, 395,503; Edinburgh, 170,444; Dundee, 91,064; Aberdeen, 73,900; Paisley, 47,427; Greenock, 43,894; Leith, 36,029; Perth, 26,094). It was estimated to amount to 977,288 in the middle of the year 1870.

The Quarterly Reports of the Registrar-General are accompanied by Meteorological Tables constructed by the Astronomer-Royal for Scotland, from observations made morning and evening at the stations, fifty-five in number, of the Meteorological Society of Scotland, having a mean latitude of 56° 30′ N., a mean longitude of 3° 40′ W., and a mean elevation of about 256 feet. The mean results, as applicable to Scotland as a whole, for the twelve months from October 1870 to September 1871, are shown in the three Tables which follow :—

Appended to the Report on Births, Deaths, and Marriages is the sixth Report by the Registrar-General on Vaccination in Scotland. The Report shows what proportion of the children whose births were registered in 1869 were vaccinated in terms of the Act 26 and 27 Vict. c. 108. From the vaccination returns for 1869 it appears that in that year 113,441 children were born. Of these, 87·504 per cent. were successfully vaccinated; 0·852 per cent. had their vaccination postponed from ill health or other causes; 0·324 per cent. were found insusceptible of vaccination. 8·876 per cent. died before vaccination could be performed; while 2·444 per cent. (2773 persons) were removed from the districts before vaccination could be enforced, or were otherwise unaccounted for. Deducting from the children born during the year the number who died before they could be vaccinated, it appears that, of the living children, 103,372 in number, the high proportion of 96·027 per cent. were successfully vaccinated. In addition to the number vaccinated, 99,265, 368, or 0·355 per cent., were found insusceptible of vaccination, and 966, or 0·935 per cent., had their vaccination postponed. The proportion of children who, by being removed from the district of their birth, or any other unknown cause, were not vaccinated, or not known to be vaccinated, was 2·710 in 1864, 2·584 in 1865, 2·610 in 1866, 2·497 in 1867, 2·461 in 1868, and 2·683 in 1869. It is remarked that the shortening of the time allowed to elapse between the birth of a child and the enforcement of vaccination to three or four months, under a penalty, would tend greatly to diminish the proportion of those who, through the migratory habits of their parents, are not vaccinated. As a proof of the slight danger to children involved in vaccination, it is stated that of the children vaccinated in 1868, the last year for which full particulars were available, 106,181 in number, two only died. The deaths from smallpox in the same year were only 15. For 1869 they are estimated at 100. Although the disease manifested the strongest tendency to break out as an epidemic in 1870, the successful working of the Vaccination Act is thought to have almost entirely limited its ravages to those unprotected by vaccination; and the deaths from smallpox during the year are confidently estimated at less than 150. It is thought probable that they were little above 100. The number of deaths from smallpox was 1309 in 1855; 1306 in 1856; 845 in 1857; 332 in 1858; 682 in 1859; 1495 in 1860; 766 in 1861; 426 in 1862; 1646 in 1863; 1741 in 1864; 383 in 1865; 200 in 1866; 100 in 1867; 15 in 1868; 100 in 1869; 150 in 1870—the numbers for the two last years being estimated. Smallpox is a disease which has periods of increase and of decline; but allowing for this, it is maintained that the figures given above show that the Vaccination Act, during the seven years of its operation, has had a most powerful influence in limiting the action of the disease. It is stated that the remarks of the registrars show how faithfully the people endeavour to comply with the requirements of the Act, and how well it is generally administered.

The next Table shows the population of England and Wales, estimated to the middle of each year, for the years 1868-70 (exclusive of the army and navy and merchant seamen abroad), and the number of births, deaths, and marriages registered during each of these years:—

The next Table shows the estimated population of Ireland, estimated to the middle of each year, for the years 1868-70 (exclusive of the army, navy, and merchant seamen abroad), and the number of births, deaths, and marriages registered in Ireland in each of these years:—

Years.	Estimated Population.	Births.	Deaths.	Marriages.	Years.
1869	5,536,217	145,659	89,573	27,277	1869
1870	5,516,674	150,151	90,695	28,835	1870

It is observed that, owing to the defective state of the registration of births, deaths, and marriages in Ireland, the foregoing figures are only an approximation to the real numbers.

THE CENSUS OF 1871.

The following Table shows the population of each county in Scotland, as ascertained by census in 1801, 1811, 1821, 1831, 1841, 1851, 1861, and 1871. The figures for 1871 are liable to correction by the revision now in progress at the Census Office, but may be considered sufficiently accurate for all useful purposes. The military in barracks were first included in 1841, and have been included in the subsequent enumerations; persons on board vessels in Scottish harbours or waters were first included in 1851, and have been included in the subsequent enumerations. The numbers for 1871 do not include the persons on board Scottish vessels at foreign ports and at sea, nor the persons on board Scottish vessels in English, Irish, or colonial ports. At the date of issuing the results of the census, no return had been received from the island of St Kilda, but an estimate of the population of that island has been included.

Between the census of 1861 and the census of 1871, 157,838 natives of Scotland emigrated from the ports of the United Kingdom at which there are emigration offices. The number of emigrants from the same ports in the previous decennial period was 183,620.

The next Table shows the rates per cent. of increase or decrease in the population of each county according to the decennial enumerations from 1801 to 1871. The sign — prefixed to a number (thus —4) denotes that the figures mark a decrease.

Between the census of 1861 and the census of 1871, the population of Scotland increased by 296,319 persons, of whom 151,785 were males, and 144,534 females. The rate of increase of the population during these ten years (9·7 per cent.) was very nearly the same which occurred in the decennial periods 1831-41 and 1841-51, and considerably higher than that of the decennial period 1851-61 (6·0) per cent.

The subjoined Table shows the population of each county in 1871, the number of separate families, the number of inhabited houses, the number of vacant houses, the number of houses building, the number of rooms with one or more windows, and the number of children above five and under thirteen years of age receiving education.

The Table which follows shows the population of the parliamentary burghs of Scotland, excluding seamen on board ships, as well in 1861 as in 1871, together with the number of separate families, the number of inhabited houses, the number of vacant houses, the number of houses building, the number of rooms with one or more windows, and the number of children above five and under thirteen years of age attending school in 1871. Two parliamentary burghs, Galashiels and Hawick, have been added since 1861.

The population of the eight principal towns of Scotland was 884,955 (407,839 males and 477,116 females) in 1861; it was 1,068,483 (501,772 males and 566,711 females) in 1871. There was thus an increase in ten years of 23·03 per cent. in the number of males, and 18·77 per cent. in the number of females—in all, of 20·96 per cent. in those towns. In the "large towns," viz., those which have a population between 10,000 and 25,000 each, there was in the same ten years an increase of 23·75 per cent. in the number of males, and 20·61 per cent. in the number of females—in all, of 22·09 per cent. In the small towns the increase in the ten years was, in the number of males, 7·78 per cent.; in the number of females, 7·29 per cent.—in all, 7·53 per cent. In the rural districts there was an increase in the ten years of 1·59 per cent. in the number of males, and 1·08 per cent. in the number of females—in all, 1·32 per cent.

EMIGRATION.

The "Thirty-first General Report of the Emigration Commissioners" is dated 2d May 1871.

In the fifty-six years from 1815 to 1870 inclusive, there left the United Kingdom 7,013,637 emigrants, of whom 4,472,672 went to the United States of America; 2,380,194 to British Colonies (viz., 1,391,771 to the North American Colonies, 988,423 to the Australian Colonies and New Zealand); and 160,771 to other places. The average annual emigration from the United Kingdom was 125,243 for the fifty-six years ending 1870; and 196,757 for the ten years ending 1870. The returns made to the Commissioners show that in no year since 1848 did the remittances from America, for assisting emigration of friends, amount to less than £332,172. They amounted to £1,404,000 in 1852, to £1,439,000 in 1853, to £1,730,000 in 1854, to £951,000 in 1856, to £534,476 in 1860, to £374,061 in 1861, to £383,286 in 1863, to £332,172 in 1864, to £481,580 in 1865, to £498,028 in 1866, to £543,029 in 1867, to £530,564 in 1868, to £639,335 in 1869, and to £727,408 in 1870. These returns are to be taken as approximately correct only, there being no means of ascertaining the total of the amounts remitted. For the twenty-three years from 1848 to 1870 inclusive, the total of the remittances from America is given as £16,334,311. £12,804 was remitted from Australia and New Zealand in 1870. Of the amount sent home from North America in 1870, no less than £332,638 was in the shape of prepaid passages to Liverpool, Glasgow, and Londonderry.

The following Table shows the number and the nationality of the emigrants from the United Kingdom in 1870, as compared with 1868 and 1869:—

Years.	English.	Scotch.	Irish.	Foreigners.	Not distinguished.	Total.
1868	58,268	14,954	64,965	51,956	6,182	196,325
1870	105,293	22,935	74,283	48,396	6,033	256,940

There was a decrease in the number of emigrants in 1870, as compared with the preceding year, of 1087; but the decrease was exclusively in the number of foreigners, which decreased by 17,356. As a large proportion of foreigners who emigrate through this country are Germans, it is natural to attribute the decrease in the number of foreign emigrants in 1870 to the war; but it is remarkable that the decrease took place, not in the six months during which the war was in progress, but in the six months which preceded it. The Irish emigration of 1870 exceeded that of 1869 by only 958 souls; the Scotch exceeded that of 1869 by only 376. But in the number of English emigrants in 1870 there was a striking increase: it exceeded the number of 1854 by more than 15 per cent., and that of 1869 by more than 16 per cent., and was by far the largest English emigration on record. Much of this increase is to be attributed to the exertions of associations and individuals who have undertaken to assist the emigration of deserving persons of the working class. Probably not less than 3000 persons were thus assisted to emigrate to Canada; and, moreover, 1368 artisans and labourers from the Government dockyards, with their families, got free passages to Canada on board Government ships. The increase in the English emigration in 1870 was 14,877. The English emigration was in 1870 nearly 41 per cent. of the total emigration; in 1869 it was 35 per cent.; in 1854 it was only 28 per cent. The Irish emigration was in 1870 only 36¾ per cent. of the whole; it was 39½ per cent. in 1869; and 47 per cent. in 1868. The proportion of the number of emigrants to the estimated population is still, however, much greater in Ireland than in England and Scotland. In Ireland this proportion is 1·33 per cent., in England it is ·48 per cent., in Scotland it is ·71 per cent.

The distribution of the emigrants in the year 1870 is shown in the next Table:—

Of the emigrants to North America in 1870, 231,370 in number, 221,591, or 95·77 per cent., went in steamers, and only 9779, or 4·22 per cent., in sailing vessels. The emigration to Australia and New Zealand was greater by 4256 than that of 1868, and greater by 2164 than that of 1869. The portion of this emigration conducted by the Commissioners was very small. It consisted of 126 emigrants, of whom 106 were female domestic servants, sent to New South Wales; and of 16 emigrants, of whom 10 were female servants, sent to West Australia.

The subjoined Table shows the number of emigrants from the United Kingdom in each of the years 1868, 1869, and 1870, distinguishing the countries to which they emigrated:—

Years.	To the North American Colonies.	To the United States of America.	To the Australian Colonies and N. Zealand	To other Places.	Total number of Emigrants.	Years.
1870	35,295	196,075	17,065	8,505	256,940	1870

Of the 256,940 emigrants in 1870, there sailed from English ports, 192,306; from Scotch ports, 23,781; from Irish ports, 40,853. Of the 23,781 who sailed from Scotch ports, 98 were English, 16,788 were Scotch, 540 were Irish, and 6345 were foreigners. 23,402 sailed from Glasgow, and 379 from Greenock.

In the first quarter of 1871, the number of emigrants from the United Kingdom was 27,741, of whom 12,948 were English, 1798 Scotch, 8594 Irish, 3546 foreigners, 855 not distinguished. In the first quarter of 1870, the number of emigrants was 32,627.

THE POOR LAWS.

The "Twenty-fifth Annual Report of the Board of Supervision for the Relief of the Poor in Scotland," dated in August 1870, was presented to Parliament in February 1871.

Assessments.—During the three years ending in 1870, the progress of the change from voluntary contribution to legal assessment, as the means of raising funds for relief of the poor, has been as follows:—

Parishes Assessed.	August 1868.	August 1869.	August 1870.
First mode.....	763	769	769
Local usage.....	26	24	25
Total assessed.....	789	793	794
Parishes unassessed....	98	94	93

For the progress from voluntary contribution to legal assessment in previous years, from 1846, see Almanac for 1869, p. 274. An explanation of the several modes of assessment put in the option of parochial boards by the Act 8 and 9 Vict. c. 83, will be found in the Almanac for 1849, p. 151; but the power of assessing according to the second and third modes there described was taken away by the Act 24 and 25 Vict. c. 37. Of the 769 parishes assessed in the "first mode" in August 1870, 176 were assessed "with classification" of rates upon tenants and occupants in terms of the Act 8 and 9 Vict. c. 83, sect. 36; and 593 "without classification," that is, by an equal rate upon owners and occupants, in terms of the Act 8 and 9 Vict. c. 83, sect. 34.

During the year 1869–70, the parochial boards of 14 parishes resolved on a change in the mode of assessment or classification of occupants formerly adopted. In 8 of these parishes the Board of Supervision sanctioned the proposed change, and in 6 it declined to do so. Of the parishes in which it sanctioned the change, 3 adopted classification of occupants, 4 adopted an alteration in the classification previously in use, and 1 adopted the first mode pointed out in the statute instead of established usage. In some of the cases in which the Board withheld its sanction, its resolution was based upon formal or technical defects in the proceedings of the parochial board; in others, upon the ground that the change proposed would have been inequitable in its operation towards one or other of the several classes of ratepayers affected by it. One parish, in Perthshire, during the year exchanged the system of voluntary contributions for that of compulsory assessment.

From the Table given below at p. 238, it will be seen that there are 13 counties in which there are no unassessed parishes, namely, Banff, Bute, Clackmannan, Edinburgh, Elgin, Kirkcudbright, Linlithgow, Nairn, Ross and Cromarty, Roxburgh, Selkirk, Sutherland, and Wigtown; that there are 5 counties in each of which there is only one unassessed parish, namely, Berwick, Dumbarton, Inverness, Kinross, and Renfrew; that there are 5 counties in each of which there are only two unassessed parishes, namely, Caithness, Dumfries, Haddington, Kincardine, and Stirling; that there are 2 counties in each of which there are only four unassessed parishes, namely, Lanark and Peebles.

The county which has the largest number of unassessed parishes is Forfar, where 35 parishes are assessed, 18 unassessed.

Receipt and Expenditure.—The sum received from all sources for the relief and management of the poor was—in the year 1867–8, £842,893; in the year 1868–9, £892,711; and in the year 1869–70, £908,063. The sum expended during the year ended 14th May 1870, for the relief and management of the poor (including £4409 expended on buildings not being authorized poorhouses, and £82,246 expended on authorized poorhouse buildings), was £905,045. In the preceding year the expenditure for the same purposes was £931,274. There was thus a decrease in the expenditure of £26,229.

In the following Table are shown the amount and details of the poor-law expenditure in each of the three years ended 14th May 1868–70, together with the rate per head of the population, and the rate per cent. on the annual value of real property assessed to the property and income tax in 1843; also the averages of the same items for the last ten years:—

A similar table, including the period between February 1846 and May 1866, will be found in the Almanac for 1868, p. 263. According to the annual value of real property as returned in 1856, the rate per cent. on real property for each of the three years is considerably lower than that obtained by taking the annual value returned in 1843. For 1868 (year ended 14th May), it is £7, 7s. 6½d.; for 1869, £7, 19s. 2d.; for 1870, £7, 14s. 8½d. The rate per cent. for 1870 on the annual value of real property, as estimated for 1859,—a nearer approach to the true percentage for this year than either of the rates already given,—would be £7, 0s. 5½d., or £1, 12s. 10¾d. per cent. greater than in 1856, when similar returns were available. But the rate per cent. of the expenditure for 1870 on the annual value of real property for that year, as returned by the inspectors of poor, is only £5, 8s. 3d.—£1, 12s. 2¼d. less than the rate per cent. of expenditure for the same period, calculated on the estimated annual value for 1859 as above stated, and 5s. 11¾d. less than the rate per cent. of the expenditure for 1869, calculated on the annual value of real property as returned by the inspectors of poor for the year 1869. Comparing the year ended on the 14th of May 1870 with the year ended on the 14th of May 1869, it will be seen that there is a decrease of £4683 on the relief of the poor on the roll or registered; a decrease of £2165 on the relief of the casual poor; an increase of £3144 on management expenses; an increase of £1732 on medical relief; a decrease of £23,434 on buildings: and of £823 on law expenses. On the whole, there is a decrease of £26,229; there is a decrease of 2d. on the rate per head of population, and of 5s. 7½d. on the rate per cent. on real property, according to the value returned in 1843. There is a decrease under every head except "medical relief" and "management." It is stated that a detailed return produced in evidence before the Select Committee of the House of Commons on the Scotch Poor Law shows that a considerable portion of the expenditure returned under the head of "management" has been erroneously placed by inspectors under that head.

The subjoined Table exhibits the amount of the expenditure in each of the ten years 1861–70, for the relief of the poor on the roll or registered, and of the casual poor, together with the yearly increase or decrease and the average allowance to each pauper on the roll or registered:—

Period.	Relief of poor registered and casual.	Increase.	Decrease.	Average allowance to each pauper on the roll.
Year ending	£	£	£	£ s. d.
14th May 1861	555,352	14,587	..	5 9 1½
14th May 1862	573,592	18,240	..	5 10 4
14th May 1863	589,133	15,541	..	5 12 11
14th May 1864	602,520	13,387	..	5 13 3
14th May 1865	604,209	1,688	..	5 16 2½
14th May 1866	614,913	10,704	..	6 1 5½
14th May 1867	626,694	11,780	..	5 18 10
14th May 1868	662,186	35,491	..	6 1 1½
14th May 1869	684,656	22,470	..	6 5 1½
14th May 1870	677,807	..	6,848	6 5 7
Average, 1861-70....	619,106	14,389	..	5 17 4

There was thus an increase in the average allowance to each pauper on the roll or registered, and relieved in course of the year, of 5½d. as compared with the immediately preceding year. Notwithstanding this, the rate of expenditure per head of the population, and the rate of expenditure per cent. of the valuation—for the first time since 1860—both show a decrease as compared with these rates of expenditure in the immediately preceding year. A similar Table, including the period from 1st February 1846 to 14th May 1860, will be found in the Almanac for 1868, p. 264.

Numbers of the Poor.—The number of registered poor on the 14th of May 1869 was 79,290, being a decrease of 1044 upon the number at the same date in the immediately preceding year. The number of registered poor who died or ceased to receive relief during the year ending on the 14th of May 1870 was 24,984, making the whole number of poor relieved by order of the parochial boards, and admitted by their respective parishes to be properly chargeable to them, 104,274, being a decrease on the previous year of 1110. The number of casual poor relieved during the year was 44,613, being a decrease on the preceding year of 7528. The number of adult casual poor relieved on the 1st of January 1870 was 3658, or 729 more than on the same day in 1869; on the 1st of July 1870, the number was 2962, being 295 more than on the same day in 1869. The whole number of registered and casual poor, returned as relieved during the year ended on the 14th of May 1870, was 148,887, showing a decrease of 8638 on the number for the previous year (157,525). There was a decrease to some extent in the numbers of the poor under every head except the casual poor relieved on 1st January and 1st July, lunatics, and orphan and deserted children.

The next Table shows the numbers and classes of poor relieved and refused relief in Scotland, the numbers removed to England, Ireland, or to other parishes, the number of insane or fatuous poor, and the number of pauper orphans or deserted children, during each of the three years ended 14th May 1870, and the average numbers for the ten years 1861–70 :—

Period.	Number of registered poor relieved during the year.	Number of registered poor who died or ceased to receive relief.	Number of poor on register at date. A similar Table, including the period from May 14, 1847, to May 14, 1866, will be found in the Almanac for 1868, p. 265.

Year	1867-8.	1868-9.	1869-70

The following Table shows the number of both Registered and Casual Poor relieved on the 1st of January, the 14th of May, and the 14th of August 1870; also the number of their dependants:—

Year 1870.	Relieved on Jan. 1.			Relieved on May 14			Relieved on Aug. 14.

An average of the three periods gives as the number of the registered poor 21,929 adult males with 20,330 dependants, and 57,239 adult females with 25,901 dependants—total, 79,168 adults with 46,231 dependants; as the number of casual poor, 1281 males with 1308 dependants, and 1968 females with 1807 dependants—total 3249 adults with 3115 dependants.

Poorhouses.—The number of poorhouses on 1st August 1870 was 63 (with accommodation for 14,179 inmates), for 379 parishes, having a population of 2,049,833. The number of poorhouses in progress was 2, for 14 parishes, having a population of 51,359; so that, when the latter are completed, there will be 65 poorhouses, for 393 parishes, having a population of 2,101,192. The Board during the year approved of the rates for boarding paupers belonging to 123 parishes in those poorhouses of other parishes or combinations to which it appeared that they might most advantageously be sent. The approval of such rates, however, has to be asked for every year. There are 157 parishes, with a population of 377,968, which have a right to send paupers to poorhouses belonging to other parishes; but some of these are in combinations for proposed poorhouses, or propose to have poorhouses of their own. The population to which poorhouse accommodation was available was therefore 2,427,801. There was poorhouse accommodation for 14,194 at 1st July 1868; for 14,423 at 1st July 1869; for 14,179 at 1st July 1870. The explanation of diminution in 1870 as compared with 1869 is, that some poorhouses were found to be overcrowded, and the number of inmates which they were authorized to admit was consequently reduced. The number of poor receiving in-door relief was 9811 at 1st Jan. 1868; 9426 at 1st Jan. 1869; 9447 at 1st Jan. 1870; 8798 at 14th May 1868; 8346 at 14th May 1869; 7928 at 14th May 1870; 8798 at 1st July 1868; 8386 at 1st July 1869; 7984 at 1st July 1870. The number of poor who received in-door relief during the half-year ended 31st December 1869 was 20,754, of whom 11,307 were discharged, or died during the half-year. There were 9527 on the sick-list during the half-year, and 1180 died. The number of lunatics who were inmates of poorhouses during the half-year was 1331; the number of children at school at 1st January 1870 was 1254. In the half-year ended 30th June the number of inmates in poorhouses was 21,067, of whom 13,083 were discharged or died; the number on the sick-list was 10,509, of whom 1369 died; the number of lunatic inmates was 1329; and the number of inmates at school at 1st July 1870 was 1155. The average weekly cost per head of inmates of all the poorhouses of Scotland for food, fuel, clothing, light, and all other necessaries of maintenance, was, for the half-year ended 31st December 1869, 2s. 11¾d.; it was the same in the half-year ended 30th June 1870. The average weekly expenditure per head of inmates for whom there was poorhouse accommodation, on account of salaries of officials, feu-duties, insurance, repairs, etc., was 9d. in the first half-year, and 9¼d. in the second; on account of estimated rent it was 7¾d.; on account of medical attendance, medicine, etc., it was 1¾d. in both half-years. The poorhouses in progress at 3d August 1870 were the Kirkintilloch Combination (3 parishes, with population, in 1861, 18,175), which will accommodate 90 inmates; and the Lanark Combination (11 parishes, with a population of 33,184 in 1861), in the case of which the plans had not, at the date of the Report, been approved by the Board.

Complaints of Inadequate Relief.—The number and disposal of the applications made to the Board of Supervision, complaining of inadequate relief, in each of the three years 1868–70 are shown in the following Table:—

YEAR.	Number of applications.	Dismissed on information contained in schedule.	Dismissed after being remitted.	Refused, not in receipt of parochial relief.	Refused as informal or incompetent.	Withdrawn or stopped by death.	Ground of complaint removed.	Minute issued declaring that applicant had just cause for action.
1869-70....	529	379	46	20	2	2	80	..

The number of such applications from the time when the Board was formed, 1845, up to 1870—a period of twenty-five years—has been 14,638. Of these 7878 were dismissed on information contained in the schedule; 2271 were dismissed after being remitted; 558 were refused because the parties were not in receipt of parochial relief, and 121 as being informal or incompetent; 101 were withdrawn or stopped by death; in 3677 the ground of complaint was removed; and in 30 the Board issued a minute declaring that the applicant had just cause of action.

Applications to Sheriffs.—The number of applications to Sheriffs in the year 1869-70, on the ground that relief had been improperly refused, was 847. In the preceding year it was 781. It is explained, however, that these figures fall short of the actual numbers, as in several sheriff-courts no complete record is kept. The number of such applications in which Sheriffs felt called upon to grant interim orders of relief during the year 1869-70 was 418: in the preceding year it was 475. The number of applicants admitted to the roll of paupers, by final order of the Sheriff, during the year 1869-70, was 218: in the preceding year it was 171. The average annual number of such interim orders during the 10 preceding years was 381; of such final orders, 121.

Prosecutions.—The number of prosecutions under the Act 8 and 9 Vict. c. 83, §§ 79 and 80, during the year 1869-70, was 93; of convictions, 51. In the previous year, the prosecutions were 73; the convictions, 46. The average annual number of such prosecutions during the 10 preceding years was 104; of convictions, 62.

Medical Relief.—The Board report that they had completed the arrangements for the twenty-second distribution of the parliamentary grant of £10,000 in aid of medical relief to the poor. The number of parishes which resolved to comply with the conditions annexed to the grant was 730; of these 711 established their claims. In the preceding year 709 parishes established their claims. The sum expended on medical relief, during the year ending on 14th May 1870, was £35,516, which is equal to 2·78 pence per head of the population in 1861. The population of the 730 parishes and combinations that resolved to comply with the conditions annexed to the grant, is 2,888,997, and of the 157 parishes that did not so resolve, 173,297. The sum expended on medical relief by the former was £34,556, being equal to about 2·87 pence per head of the population: the sum expended by the latter was £960, being equal to about 1·27 pence per head of the population of these parishes.

The Public Health Act.—During the year the Board considered applications from 8 parishes or districts to determine, in terms of the 5th section of the Public Health Act, the local authority within these places, and disposed of these applications. Under the 6th section of the Act, the Board determined that, for the purposes of the Act, the whole of the parish of New Kilpatrick should be held to be situated in the county of Stirling, and that the whole of the parish of Keith should be held to be situated in the county of Banff. In terms of the 8th section, it approved of by-laws for regulating the duties of sanitary inspectors in two parishes; and, as empowered by the 62d section, it confirmed rules and regulations respecting common lodging-houses in 47 parishes or districts. It made such alterations as seemed necessary in the by-laws and rules and regulations above referred to, and only sanctioned them ad interim, and under reservation of its power to require further alterations. As empowered by section 59, it approved in three places of the sum payable per night, according to which it is ascertained whether a house, or part thereof, is a common lodging-house, being raised from 4d. to 6d. In one instance, it was asked to approve of the reduction of the sum from 4d. to 2d., and refused its approval. It approved, in terms of section 24, of sewers being laid down in four districts by the local authority. It also gave its consent, in terms of section 44, to regulations being made in the parish of St Quivox for houses or parts of houses let in lodgings or occupied by members of more than one family, such houses or parts of houses not being common lodging-houses in the sense of the Act. Five occasions arose for exercising its powers under the 30th section, in consequence of local authorities having resolved to give consent to the establishment within burghs of one of the noxious trades enumerated in that section. In each case its inspecting officer made a local inquiry. The Board determined, in two instances, that the resolution of the local authority was right, and in the others that it was wrong.

The number of parishes in which, during the year ended 14th March 1870, money was received or expended under the Act was 373; in the year preceding it was 357. The total receipts were £13,477; of which £9614 was derived from assessment, £41 from penalties, £279 from authors of nuisances, and £3542 from other sources. The total expenditure under the Act amounted to £24,156. £7617 had been expended upon drainage; £8791 on water supply; £1610 on removal of nuisances; and £6135 on other purposes, including salaries. The sums stated do not represent the whole receipts and expenditure in Scotland for sanitary purposes, as in many places important sanitary operations have been carried on under the provisions either of local Acts or of the General Police Acts and none of these operations are embraced in the returns under the Public Health Act.

Vaccination.—The number of persons vaccinated by the vaccinators appointed in terms of the Vaccination Act, during the half-year ended 31st December 1869, was 1821, of whom 1786 (or 0·05 per cent. of the population) were vaccinated successfully, 35 unsuccessfully: the number of cases certified to be insusceptible was, on the ground of constitutional insusceptibility, 12; on the ground of previous successful vaccination, 136. The number of persons vaccinated during the half-year who were not in receipt of parochial relief was 1175. The number of persons vaccinated by the vaccinators appointed in terms of the Vaccination Act during the half-year ended 30th June 1870, was 2141, of whom 2090 (or 0·06 per cent. of the population) were vaccinated successfully, 51 unsuccessfully: the number of cases certified to be insusceptible was 16 on the ground of constitutional insusceptibility, 139 on the ground of previous successful vaccination. The number of persons vaccinated during the half-year who were not in receipt of parochial relief was 1014. The number of defaulters under the 18th section of the Act reported by registrars, for the year ended 30th June 1870, was 4098; the number of persons vaccinated in terms of the same section, during the same year, was 1047. There were, in the year ended 30th June 1870, 15 prosecutions under the 25th section of the Act, but in none of these was a penalty adjudged. The figures given above refer exclusively to vaccinations performed by the vaccinators in their official capacity. Dr Husband, Superintendent of the Central Vaccine Institution for the collection and redistribution of vaccine lymph, reports that he received during the year 2446 tubes charged with vaccine matter, making, with 393 previously on hand, 2839. He distributed to vaccinators of parishes, in reply to 336 applications, 1336 tubes; to other medical practitioners in Scotland, 215 tubes; to surgeons of the army and navy stationed in Scotland, 40 tubes; to superintendents of vaccination in India, 733 tubes; to medical practitioners in England, 89 tubes; and to medical men in the West Indies, 36 tubes, and in America, 10 tubes—in all, 2459. Except in a few instances, practitioners out of Scotland were supplied at the cost price of 6d. per tube. The stock remaining in hand was 380 tubes.

Lunatic Poor.—Of the 6227 lunatic poor in receipt of relief on 14th May 1870, there were 4788 in asylums and poorhouses, and 1439 residing with relatives or other parties in private dwellings. The total cost of the lunatic poor during the year ended on 14th May 1870 was £125,662; the total number relieved during the year was 7608, and of these 3510 were males, 4098 females.

Number of Poor and Amount of Expenditure in each County.—The next Table shows the number of permanent and casual poor in each county (distinguishing the number of assessed and unassessed parishes) relieved during the years ended on 14th May 1869 and 14th May 1870, and the amount of money expended for their relief during the same period, distinguishing the amount for permanent poor from the amount for casual poor:—

Of the 104,274 poor on the roll or registered, during the year 1869-70, 31,668 were males, and 72,606 were females. Of the 44,613 casual poor relieved during the year, 20,031 were males, and 24,582 females.

Church Collections, Voluntary Contributions, and Mortifications.—The whole sum derived from church collections in assessed parishes during the year ending 14th May 1870, was £23,442, of which £10,999 is stated to have been expended on relief of the poor. Of this sum, however, £175 was handed over to the parochial boards. It would appear, therefore, that the sum of £10,823 derived from church collections was actually applied by the kirk-sessions to the relief of persons in their parishes who required assistance. "But these funds," the Report intimates, "are generally employed to afford aid to persons who have fallen into temporary difficulties, with a view to prevent them from becoming chargeable to the parish as paupers; and it is probable that few of the persons so assisted have also been chargeable to the funds raised by assessment." The whole amount derived from voluntary contributions and church collections for the relief of the poor (not including the sum expended by kirk-sessions in assessed parishes) in 1870 was £15,955. The corresponding amount in 1867 was £16,488, and in 1868 £16,898. The amount derived from mortifications and all other sources (assessments, voluntary contributions, and church collections excepted) in 1870 was £41,058. The corresponding amount was, in 1868, £53,719; and in 1869, £48,243.

Paupers in the United Kingdom.—The following Table shows (1.) the number of paupers (exclusive of vagrants) in receipt of relief (distinguishing out-door from in-door) in the unions and parishes under boards of guardians in England and Wales, on the 1st of January in each of the three years 1869-71; (2.) the number of paupers in receipt of relief (distinguishing out-door from in-door) in unions in Ireland at the close of the first week of January in each of the same years; and (3.) the number of paupers and their dependants (exclusive of casual poor) in receipt of relief in parishes in Scotland, on the 14th of May in each of the three years 1868-70.

The total amount of poor-rates received in England in 1870, including receipts in aid of poor-rates, was £12,044,012 (the annual value of rateable property being £102,497,301), and the amount expended in actual relief of the poor was £7,644,307. The total amount of poor-rates received in Ireland in 1870, including receipts in aid of poor-rates, was £817,901, and the amount expended in the relief and management of the poor was £814,445.

REPORT ON THE SCOTCH POOR LAW.

A Select Committee of the House of Commons was appointed in 1869 to inquire into the operation of the Poor Law in Scotland, and whether any and what amendments should be made therein. The Committee was reappointed in 1870, and again reappointed in 1871, and its Report was finally settled on the 30th June 1871. The Committee consisted of twenty-one members: Mr Craufurd (chairman), the Lord Advocate, Sir Robert Anstruther, Mr Anderson, Mr Armitstead, Mr Cameron, Sir Edward Colebrooke, Mr Ellice, Mr Crum Ewing, Mr Orr Ewing, Mr Fordyce, Mr Gordon, Mr John Hamilton, Mr Loch, Mr Mackintosh, Mr M'Lagan, Mr Miller, Sir Graham Montgomery, Mr Parker, Mr Arthur Peel, and Sir David Wedderburn. A draft-report, submitted by the Chairman, though largely amended, was the basis of the Report which was ultimately agreed upon.

The Committee, at the outset, state that they do not consider it necessary to enter upon the question whether the existence of a Poor Law is not in itself an evil so great as to be only removable by the total abolition of the law. The facts disclosed in the inquiries carried on by the Commission which was appointed in 1843 are, they say, decisive against leaving the support of the poor to a large extent dependent on private and precarious charity. The Poor Law Act of 1845, however, did not introduce a new pri ciple. Its principle is that upon which a claim to relief had been allow in Scotland from 1579, viz., that persons either wholly or partially disabl on account of age or infirmity, so as to be incapable of working or earni for themselves a sufficient maintenance, are entitled to parochial reli The main objects of the Act of 1845 were to regulate the mode of raising t funds to meet the legal claims, and the mode of administering them. It pr vided the pauper with greater facilities for enforcing his claim to relief, t giving him an appeal to the sheriff in case of relief being refused, and appeal to the Board of Supervision in case of the relief offered being inad quate in amount. It provided for the raising of funds for the relief of t poor by assessment; and where recourse was had to assessment, it tran ferred the collection and management of the funds to a new body, called t Parochial Board. It established a central authority, the Board of Superv sion, whose functions are to secure, as far as possible, uniformity in the a ministration of the law by the local boards, and to protect the interests the pauper. It required each parish to appoint an inspector of the poo with the whole charge of looking after the poor under the control of th local board, and who, though appointed by the local board, is dismissabl only by the Board of Supervision; and it required parishes to provid medical relief, clothing, and education as part of poor relief. It also mad provision for the erection of poorhouses, and for the care of lunatic paupe (who are now, however, under the charge of the Board of Lunacy), and fo the relief of all persons legally entitled to parochial relief, although the have no settlement in the parish to which they apply, recourse being give to the relieving parish against the parish of settlement. It fixed the tim for acquiring an industrial settlement at five years' continuous residence such settlement being lost, however, if the pauper, during any period of fiv years after acquiring it, has not resided in the parish of settlement for a least one year. The Committee state that the general results of the Ac have, according to the testimony of the most competent witnesses, been de cidedly beneficial as regards the condition of the paupers. The allowance are better and more certain than they were under the old law. As regard the people, they say the Act has, by the operation of a legal assessment, i a great measure transferred the burden of maintaining the pauper from th poorer to the richer classes. It is conceded, however, they observe, by th greatest admirers of the Act, that it has had the effect of creating a grea amount of improvidence among the poor.

The Committee state, that immediately after the passing of the Act ther was a great and rapid increase in the number of registered poor. It increase from 69,432 on 1st February 1846 to 74,161 on 14th May 1847, to 77,730 o 14th May 1848, to 82,357 (the highest number it has ever reached) on 14t May 1849. The number of the dependants of the registered poor was, o 14th May 1847 (when their number was returned for the first time) 31,84 on 14th May 1848, 34,547; on 14th May 1849, 36,603. The total number registered poor and their dependants had therefore risen from 106,010 o 14th May 1847 to 118,960 on 14th May 1849. It is not, however, to be assume the Committee observe, that this increase arose solely from the operation the Act. The great mass of this pauperism existed at the time the Act wa passed, and was only brought into evidence by the Act, which altered th mode and shifted the burden of relief. Moreover, the years 1847, 1848, an 1849, and especially the last, were exceptional years; and it is only from 185 that the statistics relative to the poor can fairly be counted of value in re ference to the normal condition of the country. Previous to that year ther is no reliable account of the casual poor and their dependants. Starting fro 1850 then, on 14th May of that year, the number of registered poor wa 79,031, the number of their dependants, 35,124, the number of adult casu poor, 4267, the number of their dependants, 3308; total of registered poor an dependants, 114,159; total of casual poor and dependants, 7575; total of a classes receiving relief, 121,730, being 4·256 per cent. of the population. O 14th May 1869, the registered poor numbered 80,334, their dependants, 48,00 the adult casual poor, 3690, their dependants, 4036; total registered poor an dependants, 128,339; total casual poor and dependants, 7726; total of all class receiving relief, 136,065, being 4·250 per cent. of the population. Taking next the two decennial periods, 1850-59 and 1860-69, the numbers of each class receiving relief, and their average proportions to the population, were as follows:—

YEARS.	Registered Poor.		Their Dependants.		Total Registered Poor and Dependants.		Casual Poor and Dependants.		Total Poor.
	No.	Per cent.	No.	Per cent.	No.	Per cent.	No.	Per cent.	No.	Per cent.
1860-69	78,308	2·498	42,763	1·377	121,071	3·875	7726	·229	128,797	4·104

It appears, then, that the general average percentage of all classes relieved is almost stationary, that the percentage of registered poor has diminished sensibly, that the percentage of casual poor has slightly diminished, and that the percentage of dependants of the registered poor has increased in a marked degree. Of the increase in the dependants of the registered poor the Committee failed to get a satisfactory explanation. The increase in the number of poorhouses may account for some portion of it, as it was stated in evidence that the distinction between paupers and their dependants is not so carefully maintained with regard to the out-door poor as in the case of the inmates of poorhouses. It may be accounted for to some extent by the practice of giving out-door relief to able-bodied women with more than one illegitimate child, and in proportion to the number of children; and to some further extent by an increased number of desertions of wives and families. There is some doubt whether the statistics of the relative numbers of registered poor and their dependants for years previous to 1855 can be relied upon; but from that year, at any rate, they are sufficiently trustworthy, and a comparison of the statistics of 1855 with those of 1869 shows that the number of adult paupers was absolutely less in the latter year than in the former.

The passing of the Act of 1845 was also followed by a great and rapid increase of the expenditure for the relief of the poor. The total expenditure in the year ended 1st February 1846 (the last year under the old system) was £295,232; in the year ended 14th May 1847 it was £433,915; at the end of the first ten years, 14th May 1856, it was £602,823; ten years later, at 14th May 1866, it was £739,314; at 14th May 1869, it was £821,184 (these figures being all exclusive of outlay on buildings). The Committee observe that the increase in the expenditure, like the increase in the number of the poor, has been in some degree only apparent—part of it being due to the transference of the burden from voluntary and charitable sources to a public legal assessment; and that, moreover, during the ten years previous to 1st February 1846, the charge had been yearly increasing at a rapid ratio—the total increase being from £171,042 to £306,044, £135,000, or 79 per cent. Again, taking 1850 as the proper starting-point, the expenditure in that year (exclusive of buildings) was £534,353. The corresponding expenditure in 1860 was £643,303, or 20 per cent. more; the corresponding expenditure in 1869 was £821,184, a further increase of 28 per cent. It should be noted, however, that a very large portion of these increases was due to the cost of pauper lunatics, which was £40,000 at 1850, had risen to £87,490 at 1860, and to £124,812 at 14th May 1869. Apart from the cost of pauper lunatics, the increase in the expenditure in the ten years 1860-69 was only 25 per cent. Of the expenditure, the relief of the registered and casual poor absorbs nearly 80 per cent.; management costs between 10 and 11 per cent.; buildings nearly 6 per cent.; medical relief 4 per cent. The law expenses only amount to a little over 1 per cent. The Committee entertain little doubt that the increase of expenditure represents an improvement in the material condition of the poor, though the increase in the rate of allowances made may be to some extent attributable to a rise in the cost of living.

The Committee are of opinion that the constitution of the paroch boards is not such as to secure an effective check on the expenditure. T low qualification has been known to bring persons to sit on the board w are related to paupers, and this tends to favour increased allowances, opposition to the application of the poorhouse test. There is no compuls audit of the board's accounts. In parishes partly burghal and partly ru the Boards are unwieldy in size, and the management falls practically i the hands of the chairman.

They state that the evidence in regard to the Board of Supervisio favourable to its constitution, and to the influence which it has had upon management of the Poor Law. But it has no powers of initiation; it acts o when set in motion by the local boards, or by the complaint of a pau It appears to have secured a considerable amount of uniformity in the ministration of the law, but it has no power to vary or recall any min either under the 60th or the 74th section of the Act, and the Committee thi that, in this respect, its power should be increased, and that still grea uniformity and an additional check upon expenditure might be obtained means of more frequent inspection by the superintendents, coupled with efficient system of audit. The Committee think it would be advantage to abolish the jurisdiction of the sheriff, and to leave to the parochial bo the decision upon claims for relief, subject to appeal to the Board of Sup vision. At present the secretary of the Board acts as arbiter, by consent, cases of settlement where the parties can agree as to the facts. The Co mittee think that this practice might advantageously be made part of t statutory duty of the Board. They do not, however, think it clear that cases where the facts cannot be agreed upon, their proof could be establish more cheaply before the Board of Supervision than before any other tribun A better plan would be to make actions on questions of settlement com tent only in the Sheriff Court, with an appeal to the Court of Session o special case.

The Committee doubt whether advantage would accrue from any m terial change in the law of settlement; but there are one or two defects the law which require correction, the chief of which is, that a person w has acquired a settlement by five years' residence, loses it if during a period of five years he has not resided in his place of settlement continuou for a year—so that he may lose his settlement before he can have acquir a settlement elsewhere. The practical result is to throw many paupers ba on the parish of their birth at the close of a long life spent in other parts the country. The evil is aggravated by the division of most of our larg towns into two or more parishes—so that a change of residence within t same town may prevent a settlement being acquired, or defeat it after it h been acquired. It was suggested to the Committee that no person sho lose a settlement once acquired until he had been absent long enough acquire a fresh settlement; and that in all towns consisting of more than o parish, all the parishes should be formed into one combination. The Co mittee state that there is much difference of opinion as to whether any furth extension of the area of chargeability and management would lead to sat factory results. They think it desirable that the Board of Supervisi should have power to dissolve any combination that may have been form which shall be proved to their satisfaction not to work advantageously. present this can only be done by Act of Parliament.

Some of the witnesses examined before the Committee complained of t incidence of the assessment for the relief of the poor. The Act of 1845, to certain extent, retained the principle of the old Scotch law, that every o should contribute to the relief of the poor according to his means and su stance, two out of the three modes of assessment provided by the Act maki the assessment fall in part on means and substance. But by an Act of 18 the assessment upon means and substance was abolished, and now the asses ment must be levied one-half upon the owners, and the other half upon t tenants or occupants of lands and heritages rateably according to t annual value of such lands and heritages. Under the Act of 1845, ho ever, parochial boards have the power to divide the various occupants lands and heritages into classes, and to impose different rates on the sever classes, subject to the approval of the Board of Supervision. And so necessary was it found that such a classification should be made, that, by the Act of 1861, classification was made compulsory in all parishes in which, by the Act, assessment on means and substance was exchanged for assessment on lands and heritages only. There can be little doubt, it is observed, that a fair classification, when attainable, greatly tends to equalize the rate, and, in a rough fashion, to secure that each ratepayer shall contribute according to his ability. But the adoption of a classification, and the nature and degree of that classification, depend upon the parochial board, and therefore upon the particular interest predominant in the board. The Board of Supervision may veto a classification, but has not the power to compel parochial boards to classify, nor power to alter a classification once it has been adopted, though found to be inequitable. On the other hand, parochial boards have no power to alter or vary a classification once it has been established without the consent of the Board of Supervision. This being the state of the law as to assessment, it was suggested to the Committee, with a view to a fairer distribution of the burden of supporting the poor, first, that mortgagees and proprietors of feu-duties and ground-annuals should contribute to the poor-rate; second, that the machinery of the income-tax should be used to bring the wealth of the country, of every kind, into direct contribution. The Committee observe, upon the former of these proposals, that it could not equitably be entertained as regards existing charges, and that, as regards future encumbrances, it would give in practice no relief to the proprietor; moreover, that if persons, such as mortgagees of land, only indirectly connected with the assessable district, were to be taxed, it would be only just to give them a share in the management of poor-law matters in the district, while the leading principle of the law is that the poor-rate is a local burden involving local responsibility and management. Upon the other proposal, the Committee remark, that it would be unjust to holders of stocks or securities who are connected by residence with more than one parish to tax them to the full amount of their income in each; also that commercial profits are frequently derived from transactions only partially connected with the neighbourhood in which the merchant resides, and extending to different parts of the United Kingdom and to foreign countries. They are of opinion that the attempt to carry out any such plan of assessment would lead ultimately to the levying of a national rate. The system of assessing on means and substance, while it existed, was a fertile source of contention and difficulty; and from its nature they think it must be so. They observe that the principle of assessing income for local taxation, if sound, would be applicable to other local charges as well as to the poor-rate. But were it applied only to the poor-rate, and the machinery of the income-tax used for levying the tax, they fear that the result would be to endanger the income-tax itself. As to a national rate, to allow local authorities to draw on Imperial funds for the relief of the poor, would, in their opinion, be liable to abuse. They suggest, however, as a means of alleviating the inequalities incident to the present mode of assessment, that the Exchequer might make grants to the parochial boards for special purposes, as it already does in the matter of medical relief; and that it might contribute towards the support of pauper lunatics as it now does towards the expense of the police. They think that the assessment should be levied, not, as, under the 37th section of the Act of 1845, it is at present, on the net rental—the ascertaining of which is attended with much trouble and inconvenience—but, as other local assessments are, on the gross rental; that the Board of Supervision should have greater power to require proper classification; and that, with a view to the adoption of an equitable classification, the parochial boards should be so constituted as to give a fair share of representation to the various classes of occupants. All exemptions should be abolished, and all real property, of whatever kind, whether private or public, including Crown property, should be brought under assessment.

In conclusion, the Committee submit the following recommendations for the amendment of the Poor Law:—

Constitution of Parochial Boards in Rural Parishes.—The number of owners sitting at the parochial board without election to be reduced by raising the present qualification of £20. Occupiers of lands and heritages to be also members of the parochial board without election; the qualification in value, in their case, to be not less than shall be fixed in the case of owners. All ratepayers who are not members of the parochial board, as at present, to elect representatives: the number to be fixed in each case by the Board of Supervision. No member of the kirk-session to be, as such, a member of the board. No one to be elected as representative unless he be assessed to the poor, and pay assessment to the parish. Elected members to remain in office for three years; one-third, as near as may be, going out of office each year. The Board of Supervision to have power to make rules for conducting elections, as they have now in burghal parishes. Absent heritors may be represented at the board by their factors or agents. No mandates to be allowed otherwise.

Constitution of Parochial Boards in Burghal Parishes.—Nomination by kirk-session to be abolished. Managers to remain in office for three years; one-third, as near as may be, going out of office each year.

Constitution of Parochial Boards in Parishes partly Rural and partly Burghal.—Same as in burghal parishes.

Combinations.—In all towns consisting of more than one parish, the parishes to be combined. The terms of combination, and all other questions arising out of it, to be determined by the Board of Supervision. The parochial board to consist of managers elected as in burghal parishes, a certain number being elected by each parish in the combination, the proportion to be settled with the approval of the Board of Supervision, and a certain number to be nominated by the magistrates of the burgh.

Assessment.—Section 37 of the Act of 1845 to be repealed. All exemptions from assessment to be abolished, except on the ground of inability to pay. Greater power to be given to the Board of Supervision to require proper classification under provisions of the 36th section of the Act of 1845. The valuation assessors to furnish the Board of Supervision every year with a copy of the valuation roll for each parish. The Board of Supervision to publish the total amount of valuation in each parish in their annual reports. A portion of the amount expended on the relief of pauper lunatics to be repaid by the Treasury, on a certificate from the Board of Lunacy that the expenditure has been properly incurred.

Superannuations.—The parochial board to be empowered to superannuate inspectors of poor, and governors and matrons of poorhouses, subject to the approval of the Board of Supervision.

Audit and Accounts.—An annual official audit to be required in every parish, to be conducted by auditors appointed by the Board of Supervision according to rules to be framed by them, and with a right of appeal to the Board in the event of any sums being disallowed by the auditor. An annual grant to be made for audit. All parochial boards to publish annually an abstract of their accounts as audited, together with a list of the poor and their allowances, in a form to be approved by the Board of Supervision.

Poorhouses.—Every parochial board to provide poorhouse accommodation in one or other of the ways permitted by sections 60, 61, or 65 of the statute, unless exempted on application by the Board of Supervision. Inmates of poorhouses to be placed under greater restriction as to egress and ingress, and to be subject to punishment for repeatedly absconding from the poorhouse, and for making away with the clothing of the house. Governors and matrons of poorhouses not to be removed, except with the approval of the Board of Supervision.

Relief.—Jurisdiction of sheriff to hear appeals against refusal of relief to be abolished. Appeal to be made to the Board of Supervision instead, and the Board to be empowered to order relief to be given if they are not satisfied with the grounds of refusal. The inspector to be made primarily responsible for the consequences of any refusal of relief. No woman whose disability arises wholly from her having illegitimate child or children, to be relieved except in a poorhouse. On complaint made by any ratepayer or ratepayers assessed upon one-fifth of the assessable property in a parish, the Board of Supervision to be empowered to disallow or reduce the allowance of a pauper. Paupers required to remove to their own parish to be entitled to appeal to the Board of Supervision, as they now can on the ground of inadequate relief; and in such cases the Board to determine whether the requirement to remove is reasonable and proper, or not.

Medical Relief.—Every parochial board to be required to appoint a medical officer at a suitable salary, exclusive of the cost of medicines; regard being had to the population and extent of the parish and the number of paupers. Medical officers not to be removed from office, except with the approval of the Board of Supervision. The parliamentary grant in aid of medical relief to be placed on the same footing as it is in England and Ireland (i. e. half the cost to be paid by government. At present there is a fixed payment of £10,000 a year). Every parochial board to be required to have, and furnish with requisite medicines, a dispensary at or in the vicinity of the residence of their medical officer, and to publish in their annual accounts a statement of medicines so supplied.

Children.—No orphan or deserted child above two years of age to be retained in a poorhouse for a longer period than three months, except upon certificate of medical officer that its health would suffer from removal. Such children to be boarded as far as possible in rural districts, and with persons of their own religion. All pauper children under 13 years of age to be made to attend school regularly.

Settlement.—No residential settlement to be lost until a new one is acquired. In all cases of disputed settlements in which the parties agree upon the facts, and refer the case to the arbitration of the Board of Supervision, it shall be the duty of the Board to give a decision, and such decision shall be final.

Miscellaneous.—Section 80 of the Act of 1845 to be amended so as to make it apply to the mothers as well as the fathers of legitimate children. Prosecutions under this section, and claims against fathers of illegitimate children, to be conducted at the instance of the procurator-fiscal. Claims against relatives of paupers to be sued for as ordinary debts. The acceptance of relief to be declared to operate, ipso facto, as a disposition in security of advances omnium bonorum both present and subsequently acquired. Parochial boards to be made bodies corporate; to have power, in certain cases, to take land under the Lands Clauses Acts, and to obtain loans from Public Works Loans Commissioners. Shootings and deer-forests in the occupation of owners to be assessed for the poor at the yearly value at which they might be reasonably expected to let for sporting purposes. The laws relating to vagrants at present in force in towns, under the General Police Act, to be extended to counties. In order to enable the Board of Supervision to carry out these amendments, and to make a more frequent and close inspection of parishes, the number of general superintendents to be increased. The Board of Supervision to have full power at any time to recall or vary any minute or order made in exercise of its powers.

LUNACY.

The "Thirteenth Annual Report of the General Board of Commissioners in Lunacy for Scotland" is dated 24th February 1871.

The total number of the insane in Scotland, on 1st January 1870 (exclusive of unreported lunatics placed in private dwellings and maintained from private resources, of whom the Lunacy Commissioners have no official cognizance or control), is shown in the first Table:—

It appears from these figures, that of the 7571 insane persons in Scotland, on the 1st January 1870, of whom official cognizance was had, 1295 were maintained from private sources; 6227 by parochial rates; and 49 (criminal lunatics) at the expense of the State. On the 1st of January 1869, the corresponding numbers were 1240, 6020, and 50. There was thus, in 1869, an increase of 55 in the number of private patients, an increase of 207 in the number of paupers, and a decrease of 1 in the number of criminal lunatics. The Commissioners estimate the number of unreported insane at nearly 2000, of whom the greater number belongs to the classes little removed from pauperism. In 1869, there was, in royal and district asylums, an increase of 36 in the number of private patients, and 384 in the number of pauper patients; in private asylums, a decrease of 1 private and 253 pauper patients; in parochial asylums, an increase of 102 pauper patients; in lunatic wards of poorhouses, an increase of 1 pauper patient; in training schools for imbeciles, an increase of 6 private and 4 pauper patients; in the lunatic department of the Central Prison at Perth, a decrease of 1 female patient; and in private dwellings, an increase of 14 private and a decrease of 31 pauper patients.

Since 1st January 1858, the number of lunatics officially known to the Board has risen from 5794 to 7458. There has, since the same date, been an increase of 2081 in the numbers in royal and district asylums, a decrease of 442 in the private asylums, an increase of 288 in the parochial asylums and lunatic wards of poorhouses, an increase of 23 in the lunatic department of the Central Prison at Perth, and a decrease of 286 in the number left in private dwellings. These figures show that, of the increase in the number of patients in public and parochial asylums, 2369, only 728 is due to the diminution of the numbers accommodated in private asylums and private dwellings. There has been since 1858 an increase of 1664 in public and parochial asylums ascribable to the growth of lunacy, or, at any rate, to the increased number of lunatics in asylums. The cost incurred for the accommodation of this number, calculated at the average rate of £150 per head, amounts to £249,600.

Excluding the inmates of idiot-schools, who are not certified as lunatics, the number of pauper lunatics in asylums and poorhouses was, on 1st January in each year, 4224 in 1868; 4494 in 1869; 4728 in 1870. The number of pauper lunatics in private dwellings, on 1st January in each year, was 1521 in 1868; 1500 in 1869; 1469 in 1870. The number of private insane in asylums, on the 1st January in each year, was 1158 in 1868; 1128 in 1869; 1163 in 1870. There were, of the private insane single patients under the sheriff's order, or the sanction of the Board, 28 on 1st January 1868; 35 on 1st January 1869; 49 on 1st January 1870. Since 1st January 1858, there has been an increase of 1775 in the number of pauper lunatics placed in establishments, and an increase of 151 in the number of private patients similarly disposed of. On the other hand, there is a decrease of 315 in the number of pauper lunatics in private dwellings, and an increase of 29 in the number of private single patients under the sheriff's order or sanction of the Board. The results of 1869 give an increase of 234 pauper, and of 35 private patients in establishments. In the absence of trustworthy information as to the number of private patients living with relatives or others, without intimation given to the Board, the Commissioners are unable to compare the total number of the private insane and the total number of the pauper insane; but, of the two classes resident in establishments, at 1st January 1870, 20 per cent. were private, and 80 per cent. pauper. The proportion at 1st January 1858 was 25 private to 75 pauper. In other words, a fourth of the patients in asylums at 1st January 1858 were maintained from private sources, and at 1st January 1870 only a fifth.

The number of pauper lunatics intimated in 1869 was 1516, of whom 1451 were sent to asylums, and 65 left in private dwellings. The number intimated in 1868 was 1413, of whom 1301 were sent to asylums, and 112 left in private dwellings. The numbers of those sent to asylums given above, however, do not include cases intimated in previous years and disposed of in private dwellings, in which removal has become necessary, and they do include a certain number of patients already in asylums who have lapsed into pauperism, and are then reported by inspectors of poor. On an average of the seven years 1863–69, of every 100 intimations 91·5 were sent to asylums, and 8·5 were left at home. The almost invariable cause of removal being dispensed with is congenital idiocy, or dementia of long standing; but of the cases sent to asylums many are already in a hopeless state, or have been incurable from the first.

The Commissioners remark that, when the results of the years from 1858 to 1868 are massed together, considerable discrepancies are shown in the different counties. As a rule, the proportion of patients exempted from removal to asylums is much higher in poor and thinly-populated districts, such as Caithness, Inverness, Orkney, Ross, Shetland, and Sutherland, than in those which are wealthy and populous. In all Scotland the average number of exemptions has hitherto been 11·5 per cent. of the intimations, a higher ratio than is found in the more recent years, owing to the large number of intimations of chronic cases which followed the institution of the Board. In Lanarkshire the average ratio has been 3·9 per cent., in Caithnessshire 45·8 per cent. The total number of intimations during the years 1858–69 was 14,701; 6770 were of male, 7931 of female lunatics. 6063 males were sent to asylums, 707 left in private dwellings; 6945 females were sent to asylums, and 986 left in private dwellings.

The number of orders granted by sheriffs for the reception of lunatics into asylums, and of transfers and sanctions of admission granted by the Commissioners, or by warrant of the Secretary of State, for the years 1868, 1869, and 1870, is shown in the following Table:—

Private.....	431	502	486
Pauper.....	1440	1927	1598
Totals.....	1871	2429	2084

The total number placed in asylums was 1716 in 1868; 1903 in 1869; and 1788 in 1870.

Admissions, Recoveries, Deaths.—During the year 1870, the admissions into establishments (excluding transfers) were 1788,—815 males and 973 females; the recoveries were 843,—375 males and 468 females; the deaths, 541,—259 males and 282 females. The statistics show a preponderance of admissions and recoveries in April, May, June, July, and August, and of deaths in November, December, January, February, March, April, and May. The seasons affect admissions less from any specific action of the weather than from the facilities or the reverse presented for locomotion. The results both of 1870 and of the five years 1866-70 show a greater tendency to death among female than among male patients in summer, and a less one in winter. The proportion of female recoveries is at all seasons considerably more favourable than that of the male recoveries.

Number of Single Patients.—The number of pauper lunatics registered as single patients on 1st January 1869 was 1501. The number of new patients registered during the year 1869 was 128; of these, 65 were intimated by inspectors of poor, and 63 were removed from asylums. The number removed from the register during the same year was 160; of whom 43 were sent to asylums, 82 died, 16 recovered, and 19 were removed from the poor-roll. The cases on the register during the year numbered 1629, and there were 1469 on the register at 1st January 1870.

The expenditure for pauper lunatics in each of the years 1867, 1868, and 1869, is shown in the following Table :—

YEARS.	In Public Asylums.	In Private Asylums.	In Parochial Asylums and Poorhouses.	In Private Dwellings.	For certificates, cost of transfer, etc.	Total.
1867	£69,319	£7,879	£20,310	£15,151	£4526	£117,186
1869	85,418	4,422	21,327	15,508	5032	131,709

The total number of days of relief to lunatic paupers during the year 1869 was 2,223,864, which is equivalent to the maintenance of 6093 patients during the whole year. The total number of days of relief in 1868 was 2,141,945. There was thus in 1869, as compared with 1868, an increase of 81,919 days, equivalent to an increase of 224 patients maintained during the year. In the money expenditure of 1869, there was an increase of £6288 over that of 1868, due partly to the increased number of pauper lunatics, and partly to the greater proportion under treatment in asylums.

The subjoined Table (in continuation of similar Tables in former Almanacs) shows for each county, and for the whole of Scotland, the number of pauper lunatics chargeable on the 1st January 1870, the total expenditure on account of pauper lunatics, and the average daily expenditure (exclusive of the cost of medical certificates, of transport to asylums, etc.) for each pauper lunatic, during the year 1869 :—

In Berwick, Nairn, Orkney, and Sutherland, the number of pauper lunatics has decreased since 1858. In Haddington, Kincardine, Renfrew, Ross and Cromarty, Roxburgh, and Selkirk, there has been little change; but, generally, there has been a large increase, which (it is observed) is probably due, first, to the influence of an increasing urban population, and, secondly, to the increased amount of asylum accommodation. To the increase of 203 in 1869, the counties of Aberdeen, Ayr, Edinburgh, Forfar, Lanark, Perth, and Renfrew contributed 170.

In only one county, Nairn, has there been a decrease in the expenditure since 1858. In the whole of Scotland, the total expenditure has increased more than a third (not including the interest of the money expended in the erection of district asylums) since 1858—from £80,652 to £131,709. This increase has been in a considerably higher ratio than the increase in the number of pauper lunatics, which was 4737 on 1st January 1858, and 6276 on 1st January 1869; and is chiefly ascribable to the greater proportion of patients now accommodated in public asylums. The total number of patients relieved during 1869 was 7284, and the average number of days of relief to each patient in all Scotland was 305.

In 1869, the average daily cost per head of pauper lunatics in public and district asylums was 1s. 4¾d.; in private asylums, 1s. 5½d.; in parochial asylums, 1s. 2½d.; in licensed wards of poorhouses, 11¾d.; and in private houses, 7d.—general average, 1s. 2¼d.

The Table which follows (in continuation of Tables in previous Almanacs) shows the result of the treatment of lunatics in public asylums, in private asylums, in parochial asylums, and in lunatic wards of poorhouses, during the year 1870:—

The average annual mortality in the ten years 1861-70 was, in public asylums, males 8·8 per cent., females 7·6 per cent.; in private asylums, males 9·5 per cent., females 8·4 per cent.; in parochial asylums, males 11·4 per cent., females 9·0 per cent.; and in lunatic wards of poorhouses, males 9·4 per cent., females 8·0 per cent. The average annual mortality among pauper lunatics in private dwellings in the years 1861-69 was, males 5·5 per cent., females 5·7 per cent. Eleven deaths from accident or violence occurred in asylums in 1870, namely, five from intentional suicide, two from unintentional suicide, two from choking, one during artificial feeding, and one from a kick by another patient. One of the suicidal cases was that of a patient who was absent on leave. Fractured bones and dislocations occurred in 26 cases, from falls, or from struggles with other patients or with attendants.

The number of voluntary patients in asylums in 1870 was 45; in 1869 it was 35. The number of patients discharged from asylums on probation in 1870 was 148; of these 40 were finally discharged as recovered, 3 died, 21 remained insane under the care of friends, 24 had been returned to asylums, and 60 were still on probation. The number of escapes during 1870 was 121;

79 of the escaped lunatics were recovered within 24 hours, 26 within a week and 9 after a week; 7 were not recovered during the currency of the sheriff's order.

The number of persons sent to asylums, at the instance of the procurator fiscal, as dangerous lunatics, was 36 in 1868, 20 in 1869, 30 in 1870. In 13 additional cases, in 1870, the sheriff accepted the guarantee of the inspector of poor for the safe disposal of the patient. During 1870, there were admitted into the lunatic wards of the General Prison at Perth, 9 patients—4 male, 5 female; 1 male patient was discharged therefrom recovered; 2 male and 4 female patients were discharged unrecovered on the expiry of their sentences. Those discharged unrecovered were transferred to local prisons from which 4 were sent to asylums; 1 was handed over to the superintendent of police; and 1 to the care of the parochial authorities. The Commissioners repeat, what they have stated in previous reports, that some steps are necessary for the discharge, on probation if considered desirable, from the lunatic department of the General Prison of those patients who have ceased to be insane, or whose insanity is not likely to recur; and they suggest that measures should also be adopted for the removal to such an establishment of those patients who on experience are regarded as too dangerous to be inmates of ordinary asylums.

During 1870, 28 pauper lunatics were removed from Scotland because they had no settlement in the country; 7 were sent to England, and 21 to Ireland. 7 private patients were removed from Scotland; 4 were sent to England, 1 to Ireland, 1 to France, and 1 to Jamaica.

The number of lunatics reported as under judicial factors at 31st March 1870 was 285, of whom 158 were in asylums, 96 in ordinary dwellings, and 31 in places not named.

At 1st January 1871, the number of patients in public and district asylums was 4513, males 2238, females 2275—private patients 937, paupers 3576; the number in private asylums was 338—males 130, females 208; the number in parochial asylums was 544—males 214, females 330; the number in lunatic wards of poorhouses was 630—males 263, females 367.

PRISONS.

The "Thirty-second Report on Prisons in Scotland, being (in continuation of the Reports of the late General Board of Prisons) the Tenth Annual Report of the Managers appointed under the Prisons (Scotland) Administration Act 1860," is dated on 10th February 1871, and is for the year 1870.

Managers.—The Managers are the Sheriff of Perth, the Inspector of Prisons for Scotland, and the Crown Agent in Scotland, all ex officiis, along with a Stipendiary Manager and Secretary to the Managers appointed by Her Majesty.

Custody of Convicts and Management of the General Prison.—The General Prison for Scotland at Perth contains a prison proper, or Penal Department, and an establishment for the criminal lunatics of Scotland, or a Lunatic Department. The Penal Department is constituted for the reception of (i.) Prisoners sentenced to imprisonment by the courts of law in Scotland. Such prisoners, sentenced to nine months' imprisonment and upwards, are removed from local prisons to the General Prison, under the statutory powers of the Managers, unless the sentence contains a clause specially declaring that the prisoner shall not be removed to the General Prison. Prisoners sentenced to shorter periods can be removed to the prison by the Secretary of State under his statutory powers, should an occasion occur for the exercise of these powers: (ii.) Convicts under sentence of transportation or of penal servitude: these are removed to the prison by order under the hand of the Secretary of State. Owing to the increase of the number of prisoners throughout Scotland, the practice of the immediate removal to the General Prison of offenders sentenced to nine months and upwards has been in some measure suspended in the case of male prisoners. Since June 1870 it has been found expedient not to remove to the General Prison prisoners under sentences shorter than one year; an exception being, however, made of the Prison of Glasgow on account of its overcrowded state.

The Lunatic Department is constituted for the reception of (i.) Persons who, by judgment of the criminal courts, have been placed at Her Majesty's disposal on the ground of insanity, either at the time when they committed the offence charged against them, or at the time of trial; and (ii.) Prisoners who have become insane while undergoing punishment. A portion of the County Prison of Ayr is at the Secretary of State's disposal for the reception of female convicts sentenced to penal servitude. In the Penal Department of the General Prison there are cells for 342 males, and for 373 females, in all for 715 persons; exclusive of the hospitals, which on an average contained, in 1870, 8 males and 12 females, in all 20 persons. There was thus accommodation for 735 persons. The daily average number of prisoners throughout the year 1870 was 697. In the Lunatic Department of the General Prison there are apartments for 40 males and 18 females, in all for 58 persons: the daily average number throughout the year was 48. There were cells in the Prison at Ayr, at the disposal of the Secretary of State, for 96 female convicts: the daily average number throughout the year was 87.

The buildings of the General Prison are described as being in perfect condition. The Managers have made no estimate for new works since the year 1868, and have made none for the financial year 1871-72. The prison continues to be in a sound sanitary state, maintaining the condition of those who enter it in health, and favourable to the recovery of the unhealthy.

The System of Discipline.—There was no alteration during the year in the system of discipline pursued in the prison. For the purposes of order, regularity, and general good conduct it had been found very effective.

Prison Population.—The average daily number of criminal prisoners in the prisons of Scotland was, in 1868, males 1538, females 1019—total 2557; in 1869, males 1626, females 1064—total 2690; in 1870, males 1644, females 1093—total 2737. Between 1849 and 1861, the daily average had fallen from 3143 to 2083. Since 1861, however, it has shown an almost uniform tendency upwards, until, in 1870, it reached 2737. In 1870, however, the ratio of increase had somewhat subsided. The increase in 1869 over the number in 1868 was 133; the corresponding increase for 1870 over 1869 was 47. But in the first quarter of 1870 there was an increase of 178 over the numbers of the first quarter in 1869, and in the third quarter a corresponding increase of 57, indicating that in both these quarters there was an acceleration of the rate of increase. In the second quarter there was a decrease of 11, and in the fourth quarter a decrease of 36. It is observed that a decided tendency to acceleration in the rate of decrease was shown in the numbers on the last day of the year, being 158 less than those of the last day of 1869. Attention is called to some of the local variations contributing to these fluctuations in the numbers. While, taking all the prisons, there was in the June quarter a decrease of 11, there was in that quarter in the Prison of Paisley a decrease of 40. It is pointed out, however, that a new prison, larger than that previously used, had been opened at Greenock, and that in the June quarter there was an increase of 36 in the inmates of the Greenock Prison. In the September quarter there was in Paisley a decrease of 78, while the increase in Greenock was only 19; and in the December quarter there was in Paisley a decrease of 67, and in Greenock an increase of 27. In the Prison of Edinburgh there was a decrease of 82 in the June quarter, while there was a slight increase in the other quarters, viz., March 26, September 9, December 19. In the Prison of Glasgow there was a fluctuation on a far greater scale. In each quarter, except the last, there was a large increase, viz., March 153, June 116, September 90. In the December quarter there was a decrease of 17; and the numbers on the last day of each year showed a decrease in 1870 of 147. At the beginning of the December quarter the number of inmates of Glasgow Prison was 742, and at the end of the quarter the number was 484, being a decrease of 258. It is observed that this cannot indicate a corresponding decrease of crime, and that, were it not otherwise known, the figures would show that certain classes of offenders in the district usually punished by imprisonment have been subjected to other punishments or to no punishment. In this it is said that the local authorities had been influenced by certain exigencies. The prison had for some time been overcrowded; and though new works were in progress, these had for the time rather diminished than increased the availability of the premises. There had also been much sickness among the prisoners. The Managers feel precluded from discussing the policy adopted by the Bench of the district with regard to offenders; and they do not indicate how it has affected the condition of crime and morality in the district coming under its influence. The overcrowding caused by the increase of numbers fell upon the local prisons —the General Prison admitting only the number it could properly hold. The period elapsing between sentence and reception in the General Prison had been throughout the year on an average six months; while no prisoners sentenced to nine months' imprisonment only had been admitted to it. The effect of passing six months in local prisons had been that many of those received into the General Prison were suffering from scrofula, which Dr Christison ascribed to errors in diet, in exercise, or in both together—to the diet not being liberal enough, and the exercise being insufficient or faulty in kind in the local prisons from which those persons had been brought. Looking to the fluctuations of the prison population during the last thirty years, the Managers were of opinion that the overcrowding of the prisons should be met, not by an enlargement of the prisons, but by some temporary expedient. It had been suggested that the Prison of Paisley might, by alterations, be so increased in capacity that it might have fifty cells at the disposal of the Government; also that the Prison of Wakefield, in Yorkshire, might be available for the reception of Scotch convicts. It was calculated that, with 70 additional cells at their disposal, the Managers would have immediate accommodation for every long-sentenced prisoner.

Miscellaneous.—No escape and no suicide had been reported from any Scotch prison during the year 1870. Two convicts had escaped from Dundee Prison in 1869, one of whom had in that year been captured. The other was recaptured in 1870. Works were being carried on at Dunoon to make certain police cells there suitable for the detention of prisoners under short sentences, in terms of the Summary Procedure Act 1864, but their completion had not been reported. The Prison of Nairn, enlarged so as to contain cells for eight prisoners instead of five, and the new Prison of Greenock, containing 60 cells, with improved and increased subsidiary accommodation, whereas the old prison had only 33, had been sanctioned as legal prisons during the year 1870. Works for the enlargement of the Prison of Dunblane had been completed before the end of the year, but the prison having only two attendants—the keeper and his wife—before granting the usual order, the Secretary of State has called the attention of the County Board to the necessity of appointing an additional male officer; and, at the end of the year, the matter remained unsettled. The Secretary of State had similarly required the County Board of Banff to appoint a male officer, in addition to the keeper and his wife, the only attendants, to the Prison of Banff, as a condition of assenting to their proposal that the Prison of Keith should be closed; and this matter also remained unsettled at the end of the year. Works for the improvement of the Prison of Glasgow, upon plans sanctioned by the Secretary of State, were in progress; works for the enlargement of the Prisons of Campbeltown and Inveraray had been completed, and the preliminary steps had been taken to obtain the Secretary of State's order authorizing them as legal prisons.

Finance.—The expenditure of moneys voted by Parliament for Prisons in Scotland for the year 1870, of which the Managers were able to give an account, stood thus: current expenses of the General Prison, including repairs, £23,955; current expenses of Managers, £1810; expense of removals of convicts and prisoners, £1677; expense of female convicts in the Prison of Ayr, £2335; total, £29,778. The Managers had not obtained the statement for 1870 of the amount refunded by the Treasury to County Boards on account of the maintenance of convicted prisoners who had either been tried by jury or convicted on sheriff's warrants. The amount thus refunded in 1869 was £5551, viz.:—Aberdeen, £244; Argyll, £48; Ayr, £297; Banff, £31; Berwick, £67; Bute, £67; Caithness, £22; Clackmannan, £65; Dumbarton, £56; Dumfries, £74; Edinburgh, £836; Elgin, £50; Fife, £206; Forfar, £460; Haddington, £72; Inverness, £176; Kincardine, £56; Kinross, £10; Kirkcudbright, £17; Lanark, £1289; South Lanark, £67; Linlithgow, £116; Nairn, £5; Orkney, —; Peebles, —; Perth, £246; Renfrew, £374; Ross and Cromarty, £49; Roxburgh, £65; Selkirk, £19; Stirling, £333; Sutherland, £45; Wigtown, £59; Zetland, £13.

JUDICIAL STATISTICS OF SCOTLAND.

The First and Second Reports on the Judicial Statistics of Scotland, issued under the "Judicial Statistics (Scotland) Act, 1869," are for the years 1868 and 1869, and are prefaced by an explanatory statement, dated 15th December 1870, concerning the establishment and arrangement of the Scotch Department of Judicial Statistics. Mr Burton, the head of the department, states that in 1868 he was consulted by the Government on the practicability of uniting this department, which it was then in contemplation to establish, with the office held by him of Stipendiary Manager under the Prisons Act; and that, as the collecting and digesting of that portion of the judicial statistics which affects prisons and their inmates had been the most laborious part of his duty as Stipendiary Manager of Prisons, he thought it not unreasonable, provided that a sufficient staff was put at his service, that he should be expected to undertake the additional duties connected with the collection of judicial statistics. It was accordingly settled that the new department should be put under his charge. The organization of the department was forthwith proceeded with; and in 1869 the Act under which the reports are issued was passed to make provision for the collection of the statistics. The branch of the statistics relating to prisons is placed first in the reports, because, being the result of sixteen years' experience, and having been thoroughly revised in connexion with the new arrangements, it has been brought to a state of completeness which, Mr Burton observes, other branches can be expected only to reach by degrees. Neither for the year 1868 nor for the year 1869 has Mr Burton's scheme of the statistics been fully wrought out. Full returns for these years could scarcely be looked for; but Mr Burton anticipates that, once fairly in motion, the filling up of the annual schedules by those who have to make returns will become a work of comparatively easy routine.

I. Prisons.

The statistics of prisons were formerly stated for the twelve months ending on the last day of June, and the last year for which they were issued was the year ending 30th June 1868 (see Almanac for 1870, pp. 236–239). The statistics are now stated for the year ending on the last day of December. The subjoined Table gives a comparative statement of the numbers of criminal prisoners in Scotland, as well in the year ending 30th June 1868 as in the years ending 31st December 1868 and 1869:—

XI. Average daily number in confinement	2,551	2,560	2,690

The average daily number of criminal prisoners in Scotland, which in 1840 was 1940, was on the increase from 1840 to 1849, when it rose to 3143; was decreasing from the year 1849 to 1861, when it was 2083; was again on the increase from 1861 to 1864, when it was 2457; it decreased in 1865, and still further in 1866, when it was 2394; and since 1866 it has been decidedly on the increase. In 1869, however, it was still considerably below the point which it reached in 1849. In 1868 the daily average was 1541 males and 1019 females—total, 2560; in 1869 it was 1628 males and 1062 females—total, 2690.

The following Table shows, for the year 1868, (1) the number of criminal prisoners in each of the prisons in Scotland (thirty-eight in number) in which, during that year, the average number in custody was 5 or upwards; (2) the average duration of the confinement of each prisoner; and (3) the net yearly cost per head: also, for the year 1869, the same particulars for the prisons (thirty-nine in number) in which, during that year, the number in custody was 5 and upwards; and the corresponding averages of the sixty-seven prisons of Scotland for these years:—

The number of criminal prisoners in Scottish prisons at the close of 1867 was 2535, at the close of 1868, 2442. The number of prisoners received during the year, not including cases of recommitment of the same individual, was 19,118 in 1868, and 19,486 in 1869. The number of criminal prisoners at the close of 1869 was 2612.

In the sixty-seven prisons of Scotland (including the General Prison), there were, in 1869, 3114 cells or rooms for criminal prisoners (1843 for males and 1271 for females) during night or night and day, and 30 cells or rooms (16 for males and 14 for females) for use by day only. The average daily number of criminal prisoners was, in the first quarter of 1868, 2564 (males 1550, females 1014), in the first quarter of 1869, 2585 (males 1568, females 1017); in the second quarter of 1868, 2541 (males 1527, females 1014), in the second quarter of 1869, 2713 (males 1633, females 1080); in the third quarter of 1868, 2623 (males 1586, females 1037), in the third quarter of 1869, 2760 (males 1681, females 1079); in the fourth quarter of 1868, 2497 (males 1486, females 1011), in the fourth quarter of 1869, 2703 (males 1621, females 1082). The number of revenue prisoners in Scotland, imprisoned until payment of fine or penalty, was, in 1868, 72 (69 males and 3 females); in 1869, 54 (48 males and 6 females).

In 1868 the number of escapes from prisons was 3, the number of recaptures 4; in 1869, the number of escapes was 5, and the number of recaptures 4. There was 1 case of suicide in a Scottish prison in 1868, and 2 cases in 1869.

Number of Civil Prisoners.—The average daily number of civil prisoners in the prisons of Scotland was, in 1868, 76 (72 males and 4 females); in 1869, 88 (83 males and 5 females). The number of civil prisoners received during 1868 was 766 (737 males and 29 females); in 1869 it was 810 (762 males and 48 females). 38 in 1868 and 44 in 1869 were imprisoned for fines or forfeitures of £8, 6s. 8d. and under; 364 in 1868 and 366 in 1869 for debts above £8, 6s. 8d. and under £20; 213 in 1868 and 241 in 1869 for debts of £20 and under £50; 60 in 1868 and 65 in 1869 for debts of £50 and under £100; 54 in 1868 and 52 in 1869 for debts of £100 and upwards; 37 in 1868 and 42 in 1869 for other causes, including in meditatione fugæ and ad factum præstandum. 10 civil prisoners (8 males and 2 females) consented to work in 1868, and 6 (2 males and 4 females) in 1869. The total number of civil prisoners, including those in custody at the beginning of the year, was 827 (796 males and 31 females) in 1868, 882 (831 males and 51 females) in 1869. There were in the prisons of Scotland in 1869, 149 cells or rooms for civil prisoners (127 for males and 22 for females) during night or night and day, and 22 cells (20 for males, 2 for females) for use by day only.

IV. Courts of Civil Jurisdiction.

The Judicial Statistics for 1869 contain the statistics of the Court of Session and of the Sheriffs' Courts for that year. Among the matters which come within the scope of the department, but which it was unable to overtake for 1869, are the following:—Appeals to the House of Lords; the business before the Lyon King-at-Arms; the business before the Sheriff in Chancery; and the business of the Commissary Courts, of the Corporation Courts, and of the Justice of Peace Courts. The returns that were obtained for 1869 are to a great extent imperfect.

(1.) Court of Session.

In four out of the five Courts of the Lords Ordinary from which returns were received from the year 1869 (no returns from one Court, office mark R.R.) the number of causes initiated prior to, and in dependence at, the commencement of the year was 733, whereof 673 were initiated by summons, 17 by petition, and 43 by writ other than petition or summons. Of 326 of these causes, as to which information has been given, 1 was initiated in 1830, 1 in 1838, 1 in 1841, 1 in 1843, 1 in 1850, 1 in 1853, 3 in 1856, 5 in 1857, 2 in 1858, 2 in 1859, 5 in 1860, 5 in 1861, 7 in 1862, 4 in 1863, 10 in 1864, 12 in 1865, 16 in 1866, 50 in 1867, and 199 in 1868. The number of causes initiated in the four Courts in 1869 was 824, whereof 712 were initiated by summons, 56 by petition, and 56 by writ other than summons or petition. The number of causes in dependence during the year was, therefore, 1557. The number of final judgments pronounced within the year was 668, the number of causes taken out of Court otherwise than by final judgment was 341; and the number of causes in dependence at the close of the year was, therefore, 548 (508 initiated by summons, 7 by petition, and 33 by writs other than summons and petition). Out of 587 of the 668 final judgments, as to which information has been given, there were 449 in which judgment was for the pursuer or other promoter, in 371 with costs, in 72 without costs, while in 6 the costs were paid from a common fund; 136 in which judgment was for the defender or respondent, in 101 with costs, in 34 without costs, while in 1 the costs were paid from a common fund; and there were 2 mixed judgments, the pursuer getting costs in the one case, and the defender in the other. Of the 668 cases in which final judgment was given, 571 were initiated by summons, 44 by petition, 53 by writ other than summons or petition. In 12 of these cases judgment passed upon the verdict of a jury, in each of the 12 cases the jury's verdict was upon the merits of the whole cause, and in each case the verdict was for the pursuer. 279 of the 668 final judgments were on closed record, and 389 on procedure not requiring a closed record. In two Courts for which information is given, in which the number of final judgments was 315, the number of interlocutors pronounced before the judgments was 821 in procedure requiring a closed record, of which 250 were before closing record, 571 after closing record, and 392 in procedure not requiring closed record. The number of weeks which elapsed between closing record and pronouncing judgment in 136 cases of which information was obtained was, in 1 case, 1; in 1 case, 3; in 4 cases, 4; in 3 cases, 5; in 5 cases, 6; in 3 cases, 7; in 2 cases, 9; in 4 cases, 10; in 2 cases, 11; in 5 cases, 12; in 4 cases, 13; in 2 cases, 14; in 11 cases, 15 and under 20; in 15 cases, 20 and under 25; in 33 cases, 25 and under 50; in 22 cases, 50 and under 100; in 5 cases, 100 and under 150; in 2 cases, 150 and under 200; in 2 cases, above 200; and in 10 cases the processes were out of the office. The longest period which elapsed between closing record and final judgment in any of those cases was 243 weeks.

In the Inner House (no returns from one office of the First Division, office mark M.) the number of causes returned as initiated prior to, and in dependence at, the commencement of 1869 was 133, of which 83 were initiated by summons, 7 by petition, and 43 by writ other than summons or petition. Of these causes, 1 was initiated in 1853, 3 in 1856, 1 in 1859, 1 in 1861, 1 in 1862, 2 in 1863, 3 in 1864, 4 in 1865, 8 in 1866, 25 in 1867, and 84 in 1868. The number of causes returned as initiated within the year 1869 was 443, of which 217 were initiated by summons, 60 by petition, and 166 by writ other than petition or summons. The number of causes in dependence during the year was, therefore, 576. The number of final judgments pronounced in those causes within the year was 380, the number taken out of Court otherwise than by final judgment was 82, and the number of those causes in dependence at the end of the year was, therefore, 114 (60 initiated by summons, 6 by petition, and 48 by writ other than summons or petition). The number of causes in dependence in the Second Division (for which there are full returns) during 1869 was 326, the number of final judgments pronounced within the year was 229, the number of causes taken out of Court otherwise than by final judgment was 32, and the number in dependence at the end of the year was 65. Of the 380 final judgments, 168 were for the pursuer or other promoter, 94 with costs, 68 without costs, while in 2 the costs were paid out of a common fund, and in 4 the costs were otherwise disposed of. 153 were for the defender or respondent, 131 with costs, 21 without costs, the costs in 1 being otherwise disposed of. 59 were mixed judgments, in 5 of which the pursuer got costs, in 5 the defender, while in 10 the costs were paid out of a common fund, and in 39 the costs were otherwise disposed of. Of the 380 causes in which final judgment was given, 187 were initiated by summons, 57 by petition, 136 by writ other than summons or petition; 1 was initiated in 1853, 1 in 1856, 1 in 1859, 1 in 1861, 1 in 1862, 2 in 1863, 1 in 1864, 3 in 1865, 12 in 1866, 37 in 1867, 146 in 1868, and 174 in 1869. In 29 of the 380 judgment passed upon the verdict of a jury; in each of these the jury's verdict was upon the merits of the whole cause; in 12 the verdict was for the pursuer, in 14 for the defender, and 3 were mixed verdicts; 1 of the 29 was initiated in 1867, 18 in 1868, 10 in 1869. No information was obtained as to the period which elapsed in the causes in which there was final judgment in the Inner House between closing record and final judgment. Of the 380 final judgments, 141 were pronounced in proceedings initiated in the Inner House, 211 in proceedings brought from the Outer House, and 28 in causes not included in these classes. In 157 of the causes brought from the Outer House, the Divisions pronounced judgment on decisions of the Lords Ordinary; 85 of these were adhered to, 6 were repeated, but the grounds of decision were altered, 36 were reversed, and 30 were partially adhered to and partially reversed.

The number of registration appeals in 1869 was 24, all of which were disposed of; and there was 1 election petition.

Information as to the number of applications for cessio bonorum was got only from one office of the Second Division: 5 were entered within the year; in 2 protection was granted or decree made for the pursuer, 2 were taken out of Court, and 1 was in dependence at the end of the year.

The business of the Teind Court, and of the Bill-Chamber, and also Exchequer procedure, are not included in the statistics of the Court of Session for 1869.

(2.) The Sheriff Courts.

No returns were received for 1869 for the Sheriff Courts from Peterhead, Dumfries, Leith, Dundee, Forfar, Inverness, Kirkcudbright, Glasgow, Nairn, Perth, Jedburgh, and Dornoch, and the returns for some other districts are in some degree imperfect.

The returns which were received show that, in Sheriff Ordinary Courts, there were 1035 causes in dependence at the beginning of the year, of which 724 had been initiated by summons, and 311 by petition or otherwise than by summons; 1 of the 1035 had been initiated in 1853, 1 in 1861, 4 in 1862, 3 in 1863, 8 in 1864, 21 in 1865, 41 in 1866, 149 in 1867, and 807 in 1868. 4096 causes were initiated in the year 1869, 2796 by summons, 1300 by petition or otherwise than by summons. The total number of causes in dependence in Sheriff's Ordinary Courts in 1869, as shown by the returns, was, therefore, 5131. 3411 of these causes were disposed of by judgment of the Sheriff-Substitute during the year, and 809 were taken out of Court otherwise than by final judgment; leaving 911 causes in dependence at the end of the year (605 initiated by summons, 306 by petition or otherwise than by summons). Of the 3411 judgments, 621 were pronounced on proof led, and 2790 without leading proof. 2991 of the judgments were for the pursuer or other promoter; of these 2110 were decrees in absence; 2113 were with costs, 852 without costs; in 15 the costs were paid from a common fund, and in 11 they were otherwise disposed of. 374 of the judgments were in favour of the defender or respondent; of these 6 were decrees in absence, 292 were with costs, 81 without costs, and in 1 the costs were otherwise disposed of. 46 of the judgments were mixed; in 17 of these the pursuer, in 3 the defender, got costs; in 8 the costs were paid from a common fund, and in 18 the costs were otherwise disposed of. Of the causes in which final judgment by the Sheriff-Substitute was given in 1869, 1 was initiated in 1862, 6 in 1864, 7 in 1865, 19 in 1866, 69 in 1867, 442 in 1868, and 2867 in 1869. The number of interlocutors in those causes before judgment was 8801; the number of pleadings and other documents (exclusive of productions) was 6762. Of 720 judgments upon closed records for which information was obtained, 59 were pronounced in 1 week after closing record, 31 in 2 weeks, 41 in 3 weeks, 27 in 4 weeks, 49 in 5 weeks, 28 in 6 weeks, 31 in 7 weeks, 30 in 8 weeks, 19 in 9 weeks, 31 in 10 weeks, 20 in 11 weeks, 23 in 12 weeks, 13 in 13 weeks, 12 in 14 weeks, 10 in 15 weeks, 15 in 16 weeks, 16 in 17 weeks, 9 in 18 weeks, 8 in 19 weeks, 53 in 20 and under 25 weeks, 37 in 25 and under 30 weeks, 30 in 30 and under 35 weeks, 22 in 35 and under 40 weeks, 25 in 40 and under 45 weeks, 13 in 45 and under 50 weeks, 6 in 50 and under 55 weeks, 4 in 55 and under 60 weeks, 13 in 60 and under 65 weeks, 3 in 65 and under 70 weeks, 9 in 70 and under 75 weeks, 3 in 75 and under 80 weeks, 7 in 80 and under 85 weeks, 4 in 85 and under 90 weeks, 2 in 90 and under 95 weeks, 1 in 95 and under 100 weeks, and 16 in 100 weeks or upwards after closing record. In 1921 causes in which expenses were taxed, the amount of the costs as taxed was £12,431 (1st scale, £1876; 2d scale, £7967; 3d scale, £2588). The number of appeals from Sheriff-Substitutes to Sheriffs at the commencement of the year was 62; the number received during the year was 790—total appeals, 852. 742 of the appeals were decided during the year, 26 were otherwise taken out of Court, and there were 84 in dependence at the end of the year. The Sheriff-Substitute's judgment was reversed in 133 cases, affirmed in 486 cases, otherwise disposed of in 123 cases. Of 597 appeals decided, 225 were decided in 1 week after the reception of the appeal by the Sheriff, 87 in 2 weeks, 76 in 3 weeks, 49 in 4 weeks, 23 in 5 weeks, 29 in 6 weeks, 22 in 7 weeks, 9 in 8 weeks, 11 in 9 weeks, 9 in 10 weeks, 12 in 11 weeks, 17 in 12 and under 15 weeks, 19 in 15 and under 20 weeks, 9 in 20 weeks or upwards after the reception of the appeal.

In the Sheriff Small Debt Courts, for which returns were received, the number of causes in dependence at the commencement of the year 1869 (those causes only being included which had been moved in during the previous year) was 255; the number enrolled for the first time during the year was 30,292; the number of causes brought into Small Debt Courts from Ordinary Courts was 23; the number of causes in which there had been no proceedings in 1868, but which were revived by re-enrolment during 1869, was 136—total of causes in dependence during 1869, 30,706. During the year 25,306 causes were disposed of by decree; 4696 otherwise than by decree; and 149 causes, there having been no proceedings in them during the year, were taken off the roll—total of causes disposed of in 1869, 30,151; total of causes in dependence at the end of the year, 555. The total amount of debts claimed in the causes decided by decree was £99,378; of this amount, £68,063 was disposed of by decree in absence; £85,442 consisted of claims for debt, £3273 of damages, £7760 of claims made in sequestrations for rent, and £2901 of other claims. The amount decerned for was £82,804, viz., in decrees allowing the full claim, £75,467; in decrees allowing part of the claim, £7018; otherwise £318; the amount claimed but not decerned for was £16,573, viz., in decrees disallowing the whole claim, £10,427; in decrees disallowing part of the claim £6145. In respect of £60,935 of the £75,467 decerned for in full, and £3768 of the £10,427 disallowed in full, decree was made in absence. Of the 25,306 decrees pronounced, 18,174 were decrees in absence, viz., for pursuers, 16,985; for defenders, 726; otherwise decided, 463; 7132 were decrees in foro, viz., for pursuers, 5604; for defenders, 1401; otherwise decided, 127. On decrees in absence there were, during 1869, 324 reponings at the defender's instance, in 92 of which, involving a sum of £616, the decree was reversed; and 118 at the pursuer's instance, in 64 of which, involving a sum of £301, decree was subsequently given in the pursuer's favour. The amount of fees returned as received in the Small Debt Courts in 1869 was £3679, and the total amount returned of costs awarded was £5836, viz., to pursuers, £5598; against pursuers, £235; otherwise awarded, £2, 18s. The number of cases returned as conducted by agents was 6878, viz., for pursuers, 4686; for defenders, 733; for both, 1459.

In the Sheriff Debts Recovery Courts, for which returns were received, the number of causes in dependence at the commencement of the year 1869 was 192; the number enrolled for the first time during the year was 2794; the number of causes in which there had been no proceedings during 1868, but which were revived by re-enrolment during 1869, was 28—total of causes in dependence during 1869, 3014. During the year 2161 causes were disposed of by decree; 570 otherwise than by decree; and 73 causes, there having been no proceedings in them during the year, were taken off the roll—total of causes disposed of in 1869, 2804; total of causes in dependence at the end of the year, 210. The total amount of debts claimed in the causes decided by decree (including Glasgow, £12,879) was £48,371; of this amount, £32,327 was disposed of by decree in absence. The amount decerned for was £40,874, viz. in decrees allowing the full claim, £36,265; in decrees allowing part of the claim, £4344; otherwise decided, £265. The amount claimed but not decerned for was £7496, viz., in decrees disallowing the whole claim, £5050; in decrees disallowing part of the claim, £2445. In respect of £28,739 of the £36,265 decerned for in full, and £1417 of the £5050 disallowed in full, decree was made in absence. Of the 2161 decrees pronounced, 1483 were decrees in absence viz., for pursuers, 1389; for defenders, 49; otherwise decided, 45; 678 were decrees in foro, viz., for pursuers, 516; for defenders, 150; otherwise decided 12. On decrees of absence there were, during 1869, 67 reponings at the defender's instance, in 14 of which, involving a sum of £281, the decree was reversed; and 22 at the pursuer's instance, in 18 of which, involving a sum of £271, decree was subsequently given in the pursuer's favour. The amount of fees returned as received in the Debts Recovery Courts in 1869 was £434 and the total amount returned of costs awarded was £2021, viz., to pursuers £1704; against pursuers, £315; otherwise awarded, £1, 12s. 6d. The number of causes returned as conducted by agents was 1628, viz., for pursuers, 918 for defenders, 172; for both, 538. The number of reponings was 80; viz., at the pursuer's instance, 32; at the defender's instance, 48. Of the 678 primary decrees in foro, 88 were made by the Sheriff, 590 by the Sheriff-Substitute; there were in 2 of these notices of appeal to the Court of Session, and in 166 notices of appeal from the Sheriff-Substitute to the Sheriff. The number of appeals from the Sheriff-Substitute to the Sheriff, including which were in dependence at the commencement of the year, was 172; the Sheriff-Substitute's judgment was affirmed in 110 causes and altered in 52; 10 appeals were in dependence at the end of the year. The whole number of appeals to the Court of Session entered by notice during 1869 was 8; in 2 the judgment was affirmed, in 1 it was altered; 2 appeals were withdrawn, and 2 were in dependence at the end of the year.

The number of applications for cessio bonorum in dependence in the Sheriff Courts at the commencement of the year was 17; the number entered during the year was 115—total, 132. Of these, 86 were disposed of by extracted protection or decree for the pursuer; 30 were decided otherwise or removed out of Court, and 16 were in dependence at the end of the year.

V. Judicial Records.

The number of bankruptcies in dependence in Scotland at the commencement of 1868 was 1880, the number awarded during the year, 606—total, 2486. The number wound up and disposed of in 1868 was 410, viz., recalled, 4; concluded by final division and discharge, 214; by composition, 161; by deed of arrangment, 13; otherwise wound up, 18. The number in dependence at the commencement of 1869 was 2076; the number awarded during the year was 589—total, 2665. The number wound up and disposed of in 1869 was 371, viz., recalled, 1; concluded by final division and discharge, 166; by composition, 164; by deed of arrangement, 19; otherwise wound up, 21. The number in dependence at the end of 1869 was 2294.

In the 166 bankruptcies concluded by final division and discharge in 1869, the amount of gross estates, per inventory and valuation by trustees, was £514,432; the amount of the debts was £2,045,712 (viz., secured or preferable, £131,498; unsecured, £1,914,213); the amount of the sums recovered by the trustees during the period of the sequestration was £434,920; the amount of expenses was £80,253 (viz., allowances to bankrupts, £1602; trustees' commission, £13,425; law expenses, £16,810; miscellaneous expenses—ordinary, £9757; extraordinary, £38,658); the amount divided among the creditors was £354,713 (viz., secured creditors, £131,498; unsecured, £223,214). There was one over-payment by a trustee of £45, 9s. 3d. The time between awarding and discharge in 12 cases was 6 months and under a year; in 33, a year and under 18 months; in 26, 18 months and under 2 years; in 39, 2 years and under 3; in 19, 3 years and under 4; in 11, 4 years and under 5; and in 26 it was 5 years and upwards.

Of the 589 bankruptcies awarded in 1869, 131 were awarded by the Court of Session, 458 by Sheriffs of counties; the number of bankrupts concerned was 650, 535 in sole sequestrations, 115 in joint or partnership sequestration. There were 291 discharges of bankrupts in 1869, 164 by composition (1 in the Court of Session, 163 in the Sheriff Court), and 127 without composition (9 in the Court of Session, 118 in the Sheriff Court). There were 242 discharges of trustees, viz., on division of funds, 8 in the Court of Session, 158 in the Sheriff Court; without division of funds, 2 in the Court of Session, 19 in the Sheriff Court; on composition, 1 in the Court of Session, 53 in the Sheriff Court; on deed of arrangement, 1 in the Sheriff Court. There were besides 7 resignations of trustees, all in the Sheriff Courts, and 4 removals of trustees, all in the Court of Session.

(2.) Judicial Factories.

The number of bonds by judicial factors at 30th September 1868 was 836; in the year ended 30th September 1869, 111 bonds were lodged with the accountant—total bonds in accountant's hands during year ended 30th September 1869, 947; of which 491 were by factors loco tutoris, 52 by factors loco absentis, 404 by curators bonis. In 106 cases the estate was wound up or the appointment recalled; the number of bonds remaining at 30th September 1869 was therefore 841. In the year ended 30th September 1869, 838 accounts were rendered, 108 were not rendered as not being due before the 30th September, 1 due at that date had not been rendered at 31st December 1869. The personal estate dealt with by judicial factors, ascertained and estimated, was £2,127,992; the value of the lands and heritages under their charge was not ascertained. The revenue of estates under judicial factors in the year ended 30th September 1869 was £217,687; the expenditure was £99,395, viz., on maintenance of wards £76,078, factor's commission £13,000, accountant's charges £1368, law agent's charges £8947.

(3.) Judicial Records kept at Edinburgh.

At the Register of Deeds Office, the number of entries in the presentment book in 1869 was 2283, of which 2090 were entries of original writs, and 193 second extracts of writs previously recorded. The fees received amounted to £4326, viz., office fees £2238, stamps £1443, clerk's writings £538, miscellaneous fees £106.

The number of protests entered in 1869, in the register of protests on bills and notes, was 538; the number of persons protested against was 728; the amount of the sums protested for was £38,612.

The number of certificates entered under 31 and 32 Vict. c. 54, in "The Register for English and Irish Judgments," was 21, of which 15 came from England, and 6 from Ireland.

At the Register of Adjudications Office, the number of entries in the presentment book in 1869 was 814; of which 553 were mercantile sequestrations, 8 were for recovery of specified debts, and 253 came under neither of these categories. The amount of the specified debts was £17,472. The fees received during the year amounted to £298.

At the Register of Inhibitions Office, the number of entries in the presentment book in 1869 was 1177; of which 580 were mercantile sequestrations, 144 were for recovery of specified debts, and 453 came under neither of these categories. The fees received during the year amounted to £410.

At the Register of Hornings Office, the number of entries in the presentment book in 1869 was 224, and the fees received amounted to £36.

The business which passed through the Bill-Chamber in 1869 was as follows:—Suspensions, interdicts, and liberations, 159; bills for loosing arrestments, 10; petitions for sequestration under Bankrupt Act, 165; appeals in sequestration cases, 43; discharges in favour of trustees' bankrupts, 48; confirmations, 104; cessios, 1; bills for letters of diligence, 210; fiats or warrants of imprisonment on expired charges, 225; extract decrees, 52; bonds of caution in suspensions, interdicts, and loosing arrestments, 88—total, 1105. The number of interlocutors pronounced by Lords Ordinary officiating on the Bills in suspensions, interdicts, and loosing arrestments was 422.

POLICE.

The Thirteenth Annual Report of Colonel John Kinloch, Her Majesty's Inspector of the Constabulary of Scotland, is for the year ending 15th March 1871, and is dated 24th April 1871.

The police forces of all the counties, and of burghs exceeding 5000 inhabitants, are reported efficient in numbers, but 7 small burghs are still inefficient, viz., Ardrossan, Blairgowrie, Kelso, Kirriemuir, Maxwelltown, Pulteneytown, and Wick. These burghs, the Inspector remarks, might, with advantage, unite with their respective counties, as 23 other burghs have done. The burghs of Macduff in Banffshire, and Stranraer in Wigtownshire, united with their respective counties during the year: on the other hand, the burgh of Port-Glasgow, after being united with the county of Renfrew, again began to maintain a police of its own.

Changes in the Police Force.—The number of changes in the police force reported during the year was 528. In county forces there were 5 deaths, 90 resignations, 140 dismissals, and one officer was superannuated. In the burgh forces, there were 28 deaths, 216 resignations, 179 dismissals, while 8 officers deserted, and one was superannuated.

Extra Duties of the Police.—The extra duties performed by the police are:—1. Inspection of weights and measures. This now appears to be a part of the regular duties of the chief constables of counties and of superintendents of burghs. 2. Inspection of common lodging-houses. This the Inspector considers a proper police duty, as it gives the constables opportunities of seeing and knowing strangers who arrive and stay in their districts, and whom they might not otherwise find out. 3. The constables now render valuable services in reporting cases of cattle disease that occur in their respective beats. When the disease becomes prevalent, however, and numerous cases occur, extra men should be temporarily employed, as otherwise the regular police duties may be neglected. The fitness of the constables for this duty greatly differs, those who have been accustomed to look after cattle being naturally more efficient than the others. In Argyllshire, Berwickshire, and Haddingtonshire, some of the police officers, sergeants, and constables have been appointed inspectors under the "Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act." In the two latter counties they receive a small remuneration from fines levied under the Act. 4. Last year the police were called on to render returns under the "Workshops Act" for all persons employed in trades, which occasioned heavy work in the headquarters police offices in large and populous counties, where the staff of officials and clerks is limited, and only sufficient for the ordinary amount of police duties. In some counties and burghs, officers, sergeants, and constables have been appointed "sanitary inspectors" under the "Public Health (Scotland) Act." The Inspector observes that in burghs these duties can in general be advantageously undertaken and performed by the police. But in counties it is different, many of the beats being very extensive, and the ordinary duties of the constabulary as much as they can well perform. In most instances, however, the resident sergeant or constable has been allowed to act as "sanitary inspector," and receive a small sum for performing the duties of that office, subject to the approval of the chief constable. In two counties the chief constables had accepted an appointment of this description, and in another the chief constable had been appointed "sanitary inspector" for six towns and parishes in different parts of his county. Most of these appointments having been made recently, the Inspector does not yet feel able to report on the propriety or expediency of their being undertaken by officers at the head of police forces, divisions, or sections.

Vagrancy.—The number of vagrants, tinkers, and unlicensed hawkers, reported by the county constabulary in the year 1870-71, was 71,339: viz., in Aberdeenshire, 437; in Argyllshire, 1806; in Ayrshire, 17,147; in Banffshire, 330; in Berwickshire, 737; in Buteshire, 80; in Caithness-shire, 842; in Clackmannanshire, 659; in Cromarty, 134; in Dumbartonshire, 2443; in Dumfriesshire, 7984; in Edinburghshire, 2803; in Elginshire, 624; in Fifeshire, 7029; in Forfarshire, 2118; in Haddingtonshire, 1951; in Inverness-shire, 1262; in Kincardineshire, 365; in Kinross-shire, 349; in Kirkcudbrightshire, 1311; in Lanarkshire, 5346; in Linlithgowshire, 1914; in Nairnshire, 175; in Peebles-shire, 760; in Perthshire, 4206; in Renfrewshire, 1227; in Ross-shire, 440; in Roxburghshire, 2102; in Selkirkshire, 1119; in Stirlingshire, 1897; in Sutherlandshire, 516; in Wigtownshire, 1226. There was an increase in 16 counties, and a decrease in 16. The total number reported, 71,339, was less by 3416 than the number reported in the preceding year. 40,286 were males; 26,638 females; and 14,360 were children. Of children the number reported was less by 582 than in the preceding year. The Inspector says that the slight decrease which took place in the number of cases of vagrancy reported is to be accounted for partly by the length and severity of the winter, and partly by the fact that during the last ten weeks of the year, from 1st January to 15th March 1871, many of the persons hitherto reported as vagrants have been certified pedlars, under the "Pedlars Act" of 1870, and therefore with their wives and children legally authorized to wander over the country. A "Vagrancy Act" for Scotland, he observes, appears now to be more called for than before.

Pedlars Act.—The Pedlars Act of 1870 having only come into operation on the 1st January 1871, the Inspector says that it may appear premature to report an opinion of what may be the ultimate consequences of it. But from the reports he had at the date of the Report received from the heads of police, both of counties and burghs, it was evident that the Act required considerable amendments to make it possible to carry it out in a satisfactory manner in Scotland. From returns, he had learned that in the first ten weeks of 1871, from 1st January to 15th March, 12,500 pedlars' certificates had been granted, and 9332 endorsed. Of the certificates granted, the majority, 7127, had been granted in cities and burghs, where pedlars are not required, pedlars carrying on their trade almost entirely in the villages and rural districts of the country. The greater number of the pedlars from the towns are unknown to the county constabulary, but some had been identified as convicted thieves and notoriously bad characters, who had obtained certificates, and got them endorsed in burghs and counties where they were not known. Of the 7127 pedlars certified in cities and burghs, there were certified in Glasgow 2564, in Edinburgh 1304, in Dundee 440, in Aberdeen 390, in Kilmarnock 273, in Perth 235, in Stirling 186, in Hamilton 146, in Dunfermline 132, in Dumfries 128, in Greenock 119, in Paisley 117, in Hawick 111, in Inverness 100, and in every other burgh a greater or less number. 12,500 was the number of pedlars' certificates granted up to 15th March. The number had increased after that, and was increasing. The Inspector observes that as a great number of the pedlars are accompanied by women and children who travel under protection of the "certificate," the number of persons wandering about the country under cover of the Act is likely to be very great. Many of them are beggars, vagrants to all intents and purposes; but the police cannot interfere with them.

Salmon-fishing Protection.—During the year the number of convictions for breaches of the Tweed and other salmon-fishing Acts, was greater by 89 than in the previous year, and the amount of the fines and expenses of prosecutions increased by £276, 12s. 9d. 123 persons were convicted of salmon-poaching in the county of Dumfries, and fined to the amount of £340, 10s., including expenses. In Berwickshire, 55 persons were convicted of salmon-poaching on the Tweed and its tributaries, and fined £136: in Peeblesshire, 72 persons were convicted of the same offence, and fined £267; in Roxburghshire, 73 perpersons were convicted, the fines amounting to £228; and in Selkirkshire, 24, the fines amounting to £48. The total number of convictions was 347, and the fines inflicted, with expenses, amounted to £1021, 11s. 6d.

Burghs united with Counties.—The following burghs (twenty-four in number) have united with their several counties, in terms of the 61st section of the Act 20 and 21 Vict. c. 72:—Burntisland, Campbelton, Cromarty, Cupar-in-Fife, Dingwall, Dunbar, Dysart, Forres, Fraserburgh, Huntly, Inverurie, Jedburgh, Lanark, Kirkcaldy, Macduff, Maybole, Musselburgh, Nairn, Newburgh, Portobello, Rutherglen, St Andrews, Stranraer, Wishaw. [Of these burghs, four (Fraserburgh, Huntly, Maybole, and Portobello) are burghs of barony; one (Wishaw) is a burgh by adoption of the Police Act; the other nineteen are royal burghs.

Burghs merged in Counties.—The following burghs (three in number) have merged into their several counties, and been formed into separate police districts, in terms of the 58th section of the Act 20 and 21 Vict. c. 72:—Peterhead, Thurso, Falkirk.

New Burghs formed into Separate Police Districts.—The following newly-created burghs, under Police Acts (three in number), have been formed into separate police districts, under the 58th section of the Act 20 and 21 Vict. c. 72:—Bathgate, Broughty Ferry, Dunoon.

Cities and Burghs (with more than 5000 inhabitants each) reported efficient.—The police of the following cities and burghs (thirty-two in number), having each a population of more than 5000 inhabitants, was reported "efficient" by the Inspector:—Aberdeen, Airdrie, Alloa, Arbroath, Ayr, Brechin, Dumbarton, Dumfries, Dundee, Dunfermline (the royal burgh), Edinburgh, Elgin, Forfar, Galashiels, Glasgow, Govan, Greenock, Inverness, Hamilton, Hawick, Johnstone, Kilmarnock, Kirkintilloch, Leith, Maryhill, Montrose, Paisley, Partick, Perth, Port-Glasgow, Rothesay, Stirling.

Burghs (with less than 5000 inhabitants each) reported efficient.—The police of the following burghs (five in number), having each a population of less than 5000 inhabitants, was reported "efficient":—Annan, Banff, Haddington, Helensburgh, Renfrew.

Burghs (with less than 5000 inhabitants each) reported inefficient.—The police of the following burghs (seven in number), each having a population of less than 5000 inhabitants, was reported "inefficient":—Ardrossan, Blairgowrie, Kelso, Kirriemuir, Maxwelltown, Pulteneytown, Wick.

Police Force in Counties.—The following Table shows the numbers of the police force in each county in Scotland, the amount of population to each constable, and the yearly pay of the chief constable:—

The number of constables in counties in 1870-71, 1084, was 21 more than in the year preceding, or 1 to 1702 inhabitants. The number of constables in burghs in 1870-71, 1919, was 13 more than in the year preceding, or 1 to 606 inhabitants. The whole number of constables in counties and burghs in 1870-71 was 3003, or 1 to 1001 inhabitants, according to the census of 1861 (excluding Orkney and Shetland).

REFORMATORY AND INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS.

The Fourteenth Report of the Inspector appointed, under the provisions of the Act 5 and 6 Will. IV. c. 38, to visit the certified Reformatory and Industrial Schools of Great Britain, is dated in May 1871. It is for the year 1870.

Reformatory Schools.—The number of institutions certified under the Act 17 and 18 Vict. c. 86, in Great Britain, for the reformation of young offenders, on the 31st December 1870, was 64, viz., 44 (36 in England and 8 in Scotland) for boys only; 20 (15 in England and 5 in Scotland) for girls only. Of these 64 reformatories, 54 were Protestant (43 in England and 11 in Scotland), and 9 were Roman Catholic (7 in England and 2 in Scotland); 1 in England (the North-Eastern in Northumberland) received boys of both denominations. Of the 54 Protestant reformatories, 38 were for boys (31 in England and 7 in Scotland), and 16 for girls (12 in England and 4 in Scotland). Of the 9 Roman Catholic reformatories, 5 were for boys (4 in England and 1 in Scotland), and 4 for girls (3 in England and 1 in Scotland). The number of young offenders under sentence of detention in reformatories in Great Britain at the close of the year was 6248 in 1868, 6478 in 1869, and 6562 in 1870. The admissions for the year 1870 were 1612, viz., 1292 boys and 320 girls. Of those under sentence of detention at the close of the year, 9 were in prison, 112 were at large, having absconded, and 1008 (891 boys and 117 girls) were out on license, preparatory to discharge; so that the number of actual inmates of reformatory schools was 5433 (boys 4315, girls 1118).

The following Table shows the number of Certified Reformatories in Scotland, the number of young offenders admitted into them under sentence of detention (exclusive of transfers or re-admissions), and the number of young offenders under sentence of detention in them on the 31st of December in each year, together with the number of criminal offenders under sixteen years of age committed to prison for each of the years 1868-70:—

Years.	No. of Certified Reformatories.		No. of Offenders admitted under sentence of detention.		No. of Offenders under detention on 31st December.		No. of Offenders under 16 committed to prison.
	Boys.	Girls.	Boys.	Girls.	Boys.	Girls.
1868	8	6	247	88	1054	300	1201
1870	8	5	245	63	1071	280	....

Of the 1292 boys received in 1870 into the reformatories of Great Britain, 22 were under 10 years of age, 202 between 10 and 12, 442 between 12 and 14, and 626 above 14. Of the 320 girls received, 4 were under 10, 47 between 10 and 12, 113 between 12 and 14, and 156 above 14 years old. 682 boys and 247 girls had not been convicted before, 406 boys and 59 girls had been once previously in prison, 139 boys and 12 girls twice, 39 boys and 2 girls three times, 17 boys four times, and 9 boys 5 times or upwards. The Inspector protests against the system of sending children to reformatories for first offences, usually of a trifling sort, as involving a misapplication of public money, as tending "to increase rather than lessen the number of quasi-criminals who are candidates for such treatment," and as involving a risk of corruption rather than of reformation for those who have only played with crime when they are associated with those who have been fully initiated into it. The discharges for the year were—boys, 1243; girls, 278; total, 1521. Of these numbers, 50 boys and 13 girls died; 29 boys and 6 girls were discharged as having absconded and become free by expiration of sentence; 21 boys and 3 girls were discharged on account of disease; 15 boys and 2 girls as incorrigible. Of the remaining 1128 boys, 26 enlisted in the army, 184 went to sea, 151 emigrated, 360 were placed in service or employment in Great Britain, and 407 were placed out with the aid of relatives. Of the remaining 254 girls, 6 emigrated, 142 were placed in service or employment in Great Britain, and 106 were placed out with the aid of relatives. The increase in the number of deaths (63 as compared with 43 in 1869) was chiefly due to a severe outbreak of epidemic disease at Kingswood, and to deaths from consumption and scrofulous disease on board the "Cornwall" and "Clarence" ships. For 57 of the schools, containing 4200 inmates, the death-rate was only ·5 per cent.

As the result of past operations, the Inspector reports, that of 2970 boys and 770 girls discharged from reformatories in the years 1867-69 (2378 boys and 561 girls from English, 592 boys and 209 girls from Scotch reformatories), 102 boys and 21 girls absconded; 63 boys and 30 girls were expelled or discharged on account of disease, 53 boys enlisted, 544 boys went to sea, 298 boys and 15 girls emigrated. 1910 boys and 704 girls were placed in service in Great Britain, either direct from the schools, or through their relatives. Of the 2970 boys, 76 have since died, and 23 of the 770 girls. 2894 boys and 747 girls were left to be reported on. 1954 boys (or 67·5 per cent.) and 511 girls (above 68·5 per cent.) were doing well; 92 boys (3·2 per cent.) and 84 girls (11·2 per cent.) were of doubtful or indifferent characters; 494 boys (17 per cent.) and 83 girls (11·1 per cent.) had been convicted of crime; and 354 boys (12·3 per cent.) and 69 girls (9·2 per cent.) were unknown. These averages, the Inspector observes, give an inadequate view of the results of the operations of the majority of the schools, for which the proportion of those doing well is much higher, especially in England.

The number of persons reconvicted during the year 1870 after detention in a reformatory school was—in England, 435, of whom 385 were males and 50 females; in Scotland, 142, of whom 116 were males and 26 females.

The next Table shows the names of the Reformatories certified in Scotland, the date of their certification, the average number of inmates, and the average cost of each inmate, during the year 1870:—

The total expenditure for 1870 amounted to £123,015. This included rent, £2603, cost of disposal £6015, building expenses £10,377, and industrial loss £51. Deducting the cost for buildings as being exceptional, counting in the cost for disposal and industrial loss as being expenses incurred in carrying out the purposes for which the schools are maintained, but deducting the amount of industrial profit, which in 1870 was £14,980, it appears that the average net cost per head for the year 1870 was:—English boys' schools, £18, 17s. 9d.; English girls' schools, £17, 17s. 10d.; Scotch boys' schools, £17, 1s. 3d.; Scotch girls' schools, £13, 13s. 6d. The cost per head for food, in the year 1870, averaged, for boys, England, £7, 0s. 11d.; for boys, Scotland, £6, 11s. 1d.; for girls, England, £6, 6s. 5d.; for girls, Scotland, £5, 4s. 6d. The cost per head for clothing averaged, for boys, England, £2, 6s. 9d.; for boys, Scotland, £2, 17s. 1d.; for girls, England, £1, 14s. 3d.; for girls, Scotland, £1, 3s. 10d. The industrial profit per head averaged, for boys, England, £2, 11s. 6d.; for boys, Scotland, £2, 6s.; for girls, England, £3, 1s. 3d.; for girls, Scotland, £2, 12s. 9d.

The following Table shows the ordinary charges, the extraordinary charges, the total receipts, the sums received from parliamentary grants, and the payments from rates for the Reformatories in Scotland, certified under the 17 and 18 Vict. c. 86, during the year 1870:—

The total receipts of reformatory schools in Great Britain in 1870 amounte to £129,694, made up as follows:—Treasury payments, £84,422; subscri tions, legacies, etc., £8599; contributions from rates, £19,372; contributio from voluntary associations, £650; sundries, £1668; profit on industrial d partments, £14,980.

Certified Industrial Schools.—The number of Certified Industrial Schools i Great Britain increased in 1870 from 82 to 91. Eight new schools were cert fied during the year, seven in England and one in Scotland (at Aberdeen), an of four schools removed to improved premises, one, formerly associated wit another school, obtained a separate certificate. Two schools in Scotland, th Paisley and Perth schools for girls, removed to improved premises during th year.

The number of children under order of detention at the close of 1870 wa 8788 (boys, 6598; girls, 2190). There were under order of detention in Pro testant schools in England, 3191 boys, 751 girls; in Roman Catholic school in England, 962 boys, 487 girls: in Protestant schools in Scotland, 2134 boys 804 girls; in Roman Catholic schools in Scotland, 311 boys, 148 girls. 230 boys and 95 girls, however, were out on license, and 157 boys and 26 girls were ab sent from the schools, having absconded and not been recovered; the num bers actually in the schools at the close of 1870, therefore, were 6211 boy and 2069 girls, with 30 boys and 37 girls whose sentences were expired and who were retained until employment could be found for them. Th number admitted during the year, omitting transfers, was 2599—in England 1271 boys and 324 girls; in Scotland, 789 boys and 252 girls. The discharge for the year amounted to 1139—boys 871, girls 268. Of these, 95 died (boy 62, girls 33); 47 had absconded and not been recovered (boys 45, girls 2) 48 (boys 36, girls 12) were committed to reformatory schools; 13 (11 boys an 2 girls) were discharged on account of disease, and 46 (24 boys and 22 girls on special grounds. 41 boys and 8 girls emigrated, 44 boys enlisted in th army, 78 were sent to sea, and 530 boys and 189 girls were placed in service o situations, or returned to friends who found employment for them. The aver age mortality was nearly 1¼ per cent.—nearly double that in reformator schools, which, the Inspector thinks, may be attributable to the early age a which the children are subjected to the confinement and monotonous routine o the school diet and discipline. About half the deaths occurred in the Scotch schools (45 on an average of about 2900 inmates); Aberdeen losing 7, the Glas gow schools at Mossbank, Rotten Row, and Abercrombie Street 18, Greenock 4, and Newton-Stewart 3. Of the 2599 children admitted in 1870, 128 boys an 108 girls were from 6 to 8 years old; 414 boys and 156 girls between 8 and 10 691 boys and 157 girls between 10 and 12; and 817 boys and 128 girls betwee 12 and 14 years old. 164 of the children were illegitimate, 398 had lost both and 843 one, of their parents, 340 had been deserted by their parents, and 16 had one or both parents criminal. Thus, of the 2559, only 689 had both parents living. The number of children discharged from industrial school during the years 1867-69, was 1729 (boys 1341, girls 388), exclusive of 110 boy and 10 girls who were committed to reformatories. 1030 boys and 351 girls wer placed in or assisted to employment in England; 22 boys and 2 girls emigrated; 86 boys were sent to sea, and 37 enlisted; 57 boys and 18 girls were specially discharged as diseased or unsuited to the schools; 109 boys and 17 girls absconded, and were not recovered. 33 boys and 11 girls have died, 906 boys and 269 girls are known to be doing well, 93 boys and 45 girls are of doubtful character, 92 boys and 10 girls have been convicted of crime, and 217 boys and 53 girls have been lost sight of. Of the boys now alive, 7 per cent. have been convicted; 7 per cent. are of doubtful character; 69 per cent. are doing well; and 16½ per cent. are returned as unknown. Of the girls now living, 2½ per cent. have been convicted, 12 per cent. are "doubtful," 71 per cent. are known to be doing well, and 14 per cent. are "unknown." The Inspector remarks upon the large proportion of cases which have been lost sight of, observing that the public has a right to know what fruits the money paid from the Treasury for each individual, amounting usually to £70 or £80, and sometimes to above £100, has produced. He thinks it must be acknowledged that the results reported are not so encouraging as might be expected, relating as they do to children taken from the very poor rather than from the criminal class, taken very young, and, as a rule, innocent of any greater crime than begging, or wandering about in idleness and destitution.

The total expenditure upon industrial schools in 1870, including rent, disposal, cost of building, and industrial loss (£47), was £188,778. The receipts amounted to £193,534, of which £92,962 was derived from the Treasury, £21,129 from rates, £59,309 from subscriptions, legacies, etc., £3701 as payment for voluntary inmates, and £7902 from industrial profit. In schools where the inmates are entirely lodged and boarded, the average cost per head in the 19 English schools, for boys only (excluding the three schoolships), for maintenance, was £17, 13s. 8d.; in the 13 English schools for girls only, £15, 9s. 11d.; in 6 mixed English schools for boys and girls, £12, 19s. In Scotland (excluding the two school-ships) the average cost per head for boys' schools was £11, 12s. 6d., girls' schools, £12, 2s., and mixed schools, £10, 12s. 1d. The sums received by the Treasury during the year from the parents of children under detention, and for Scotch industrial schools from parochial boards, were—for reformatory schools, £3295; for Industrial Schools, £4539; total, £7835.

The following list of schools in Scotland, certified under the Act 17 and 18 Vict. c. 74, shows also the average attendance and the total ordinary expenditure of each in 1870:—

Industrial School (1867), average attendance, 33 boys, 26 girls; cost £523;—Stirling Industrial School (1868), average attendance, 32 boys and 14 girls; cost £337. In addition to the above, there are two schools for which no particulars are given, the Edinburgh Burghal Industrial School, Poorhouse, Forrest Road (1856), and the Govan Parochial School, Govan Poorhouse (1854).

EDUCATION.

The Report of the Committee of Council on Education shows that the expenditure in Scotland, during the year ended 31st March 1870, from the grants of the Committee of Council on Education, was, on schools connected with the Established Church, £61,379 (being an increase on the previous year of £8227); on schools connected with the Free Church, £36,179 (being an increase of £3958); on schools connected with the Episcopal Church, £4699 (being an increase of £447); on Roman Catholic schools, £4243 (being an increase of £1222). For the estimated expenditure in the year ending 31st March 1872, see p. 294. The expenditure from the beginning of the grants in 1839 to the 31st March 1870, was, on schools connected with the Established Church, £785,079; with the Free Church, £561,584; with the Episcopal Church, £66,133; on Roman Catholic schools, £39,741.

The expenditure in Great Britain during the year ended 31st March 1870, was £840,335. The expenditure in Great Britain from 1839 to 31st March 1870, was £11,863,078. On schools connected with the Church of England it was £6,976,695; on British and Foreign Society schools, £1,098,820; on Wesleyan schools, £549,766; on Roman Catholic schools in England and Wales, £448,057; on Parochial Union (or workhouse) schools, £78,083; on inspection and administration, £1,245,821.

The number of daily schools in Great Britain to which annual grants were made, visited by her Majesty's inspectors in the year ended 31st August 1870, was 10,214, containing 14,158 departments under separate teachers. There were 1,654,210 scholars present at the inspection; the daily average attendance throughout the year was 1,355,911; 1,375,612 having made the requisite number of attendances (200 times or 100 days, and in the case of 60,585 half-timers, 100 times) were qualified to bring grants to the schools, 285,001 (being under six) without individual examination, and 1,090,611 (above six years of age) on passing a satisfactory examination in reading, writing, and arithmetic; 887,041 were actually presented for examination, and 627,227 passed the prescribed test without failure in any one of the three subjects. There were on the registers of the inspected day-schools 1,949,026 children, of whom 493,507 were under six years of age, 1,257,969 were between six and twelve, and 197,550 were above twelve. The inspectors visited 735 schools which do not comply with the conditions on which annual grants are made, and found 46,094 scholars present on the day of inspection. The night-schools examined were 2580 in number; 76,937 scholars above twelve years of age were, on an average, in attendance in these schools each night; 93,591 were qualified for examination by having made 24 attendances during the night-school session of (at least) 40 nights; 75,985 night-school scholars were actually examined, and out of every 100 examined, 92 passed in reading, 85 in writing, and 82 in arithmetic. The inspectors found 14,966 certificated teachers in the aided schools which they inspected in the year ended 31st August 1870. There were, at 31st December 1870, actually employed in teaching in Great Britain, 15,230 certificated teachers; 1213 assistant teachers, and 17,937 pupil-teachers. The inspectors visited 45 training colleges, having 2600 students in preparation for the office of schoolmaster or schoolmistress in February 1870. The number of students at normal schools or training colleges in February 1871 was 2933.

The expenditure under the Commissioners of National Education in Ireland, during the year 1870, was £431,265. The number of schools in operation at the close of the year was 6806. The average daily attendance of children for the year was 359,199; while the total number of children at any time on the rolls for the year was 998,999, of whom it was estimated that 74,237 belonged to the Established Church, that 807,330 were Roman Catholics, that 110,189 were Presbyterians, and 7243 of other persuasions. 7·44 per cent. were Episcopalians, 11·02 per cent. were Presbyterians, 80·82 per cent. were Roman Catholics, and 0·72 per cent. of other persuasions.

On the 31st December 1870, 1602 certificated teachers (1102 male and 500 female) and 1885 pupil-teachers (1148 male and 737 female) were employed in teaching in schools connected with the Church of Scotland; 697 certificated teachers (492 male and 205 female) and 969 pupil-teachers (641 male and 328 female) were employed in teaching in schools connected with the Free Church in Scotland; 100 certificated teachers (49 male and 51 female), and 172 pupil-teachers (78 male and 94 female) were employed in teaching in schools connected with the Episcopal Church in Scotland; 87 certificated teachers (24 male and 63 female), and 201 pupil-teachers (61 male and 140 female), were employed in teaching in Roman Catholic schools in Scotland. The whole number of certificated teachers employed in Scotland was 2486 (1667 male and 819 female); of pupil-teachers 3227 (1928 male and 1299 female).

In 1870 the expenditure of Church of Scotland Normal Schools was £8274, of which £7549 was granted by the Privy Council; that of Free Church Normal Schools £8368, the grant being £8286; that of the Episcopal Normal School £920, the grant being £619. The number of students resident, in February 1871, was:—In Church of Scotland Normal Schools, 276 (140 male and 136 female); in Free Church Normal Schools, 317 (132 male and 185 female); in the Episcopal Normal School, 25 (all female). There quitted the Church of Scotland Schools at the end of 1870, 104 students (52 male and 52 female). There quitted the Free Church Normal Schools 114 students (31 male and 83 female). There quitted the Episcopal Normal School 11 students (all female).

There were actually inspected in Scotland (on account of annual grants), between the 1st September 1869 and the 31st August 1870, 1251 schools (including infant and evening schools), containing 1357 departments connected with the Established Church, having 133,232 children present at examination, 1592 certificated teachers, 1 assistant teacher, and 1844 pupil-teachers; 527 Free Church schools, containing 604 departments, having 63,311 children present at examination, 713 certificated teachers, 1 assistant teacher, and 976 pupil-teachers; 90 Episcopal Church schools, containing 105 departments, having 12,004 children present at examination, 106 certificated teachers, and 176 pupil-teachers; 65 Roman Catholic schools, containing 107 departments, having 13,198 children present at examination, 88 certificated teachers, and 207 pupil-teachers. (The results given are not to be taken as complete accounts of each denomination, being those of actual inspection only between 1st September 1869 and 31st August 1870.) There were also visited during the same period, for simple inspection only, 68 Established Church schools, containing 70 departments, having 4933 children present at examination; 13 Free Church schools, containing 14 departments, having 858 children present at examination; 14 Episcopal Church schools, containing 14 departments, having 827 children present at examination; 2 Roman Catholic schools, containing 3 departments, having 359 children present at examination.

The following Table shows the percentage of children above six years of age presented for examination, who passed under each of the six standards of the Revised Code, in the year ended 31st August 1870, both for England and Wales and for Scotland:—

Of the registered number of day-scholars in the schools inspected over 6 years of age, in the year ended 31st August 1870, 56·08 per cent. were presented for individual examination in Scotland, and 61·79 per cent. in England and Wales; 46·18 per cent. passed without failure in any one of the three subjects in Scotland, and 42·55 per cent. in England and Wales. In Scotland, although inspection and examination are conducted according to the Revised Code, grants continue to be paid under the Code of 1860. By Minute, dated 5th July 1869, the Committee of Privy Council extended to 30th June 1872 the period within which grants may be paid to elementary schools in Scotland under the Code of 1860. The number of children presented for examination under the Revised Code in Scotland in the year ended 31st August 1870, was 121,457; the average number in attendance upon the schools being 203,522.

MILITARY SERVICES IN SCOTLAND.

The following sums for Military Services in Scotland appear in the Army Estimates for the year ending 31st March 1872:—

THE SCIENCE AND ART DEPARTMENT.

The Eighteenth Report of the Committee of the Privy Council on Education upon the Science and Art Department is for the year 1870. The number of persons who, during the year, attended the schools, museums, and other institutions receiving aid from the parliamentary vote, considerably exceeded those of 1869. The number of persons receiving instruction in science applicable to industry increased from 24,865 in 1869 to 34,283 in 1870, or upwards of 37 per cent. The number of persons instructed in art increased from 157,198 to 187,916, or 19·5 per cent. The lectures at the South Kensington Museum were attended by 27,761 persons. At the Royal School of Mines there were 17 regular and 124 occasional students; at the Royal College of Chemistry, 121 students; at the Royal School of Naval Architecture, 40; and at the Metallurgical Library, 24 students. The evening lectures at the Royal School of Mines were attended by 2574 artisans and school teachers; and 243 science teachers attended special courses of lectures provided for their instruction. At the Royal College of Science, Ireland, there were 17 regular and 21 occasional students; and 1152 persons attended the courses of lectures delivered in connexion with the department in Dublin. The attendance at the evening popular lectures which were delivered in the Edinburgh Museum of Science and Art, in 1869-70, was 1195. The total number of persons who received instruction as students, or by means of lectures, in connexion with the Science and Art Department in 1870, was upwards of 254,000, a total exceeding that of the previous year by 67,000, or nearly 36 per cent. The museums and collections under the superintendence of the department in London, Dublin, and Edinburgh, were visited in 1870 by 1,847,929 persons, showing an increase of 49,087 on the number in the preceding year. The attendance at the Art and Educational Libraries, and at the Library of the Royal Dublin Society, reached a total of 30,053 in 1870, being 1809, or 3·7 per cent. more than in 1869. The returns of the number of visitors at various local Art and Industrial Exhibitions to which objects were contributed from the South Kensington Museum, including the Working Men's International Exhibition at Islington, was upwards of 816,000 as against 338,000 in the previous year. The expenditure of the department during the financial year 1870-71, exclusive of the vote for the Geological Survey, was £184,796, or £17,326 less than in 1869.

The area surveyed for the Geological Survey of the United Kingdom in 1870 was 4618½ square miles, or 447⅛ more than in the previous year. 3161 square miles were surveyed in England, 681½ in Scotland, and 776 in Ireland. The area surveyed in Scotland in 1870 was less than the area surveyed in 1869 by 57¾ square miles. The survey of the mineral fields of Scotland was actively carried on in 1870. The great coal basin of the Clyde was nearly surveyed, and the surveys of the coal field of Renfrew, Dumbarton, and Stirling were completed. In the southern counties the survey was advancing towards the sea and the English border. The western part of Wigtownshire has been surveyed; also the north-eastern half of Kirkcudbright, and the north-western half of Dumfriesshire. The survey of Peeblesshire has been completed, and the work is being continued into Selkirkshire. 19 maps were issued by the Scotch branch of the survey in 1870—17 on the scale of six inches to a mile, and 2 on the scale of one inch to a mile. The six-inch maps were for parts of the coal-fields of Ayrshire, Dumfriesshire, Lanarkshire, Renfrewshire, and Dumbartonshire, and for the mineral districts of Leadhills and Wanlockhead. The one-inch maps included the northern half of Ayrshire, with the eastern parishes of that county, the southern parts of Lanarkshire, and the northern part of Dumfriesshire. The expenditure on the Geological Survey in the financial year 1870–71 was £19,797; the expenditure of the Scotch branch of the survey was £2838.

The Edinburgh Museum of Science and Art, during 1870, acquired numerous objects of interest by gift or purchase, both for its industrial and its natural history collections; and considerable progress was made, in the natural history division, with the systematic arrangement of the educational specimens. Three new catalogues, respectively descriptive of the minerals, the geological specimens, and the British Foraminifera, were issued in 1870. The number of visitors to the Museum in 1870 was 286,951, being 12,327 less than in 1869. There were admitted, free of charge, by day, 120,500; in the evenings, 154,525; the number admitted on pay days was 11,926, and the amount of the admission fees was £298. The average attendance during the year was, on pay days, 80, and on free days, 1677. The expenditure on the Museum in the year ended 31st March 1871, was £8229; viz., salaries and wages, £1962; purchase of specimens, £2490; repairs, fittings, etc., £1428; fuel and light, £1038; travelling expenses, £171; police, £650; incidents, £306; house rent, £180.

The number of Science Schools—which, in 1869, was 523, with 24,865 persons under instruction—was, in 1870, 793, comprising about 2200 different classes, with 34,283 under instruction. 16,515 students of these classes came up for examination in May 1870, besides 1207 self-taught students and pupils of classes not under certificated masters. The examinations were held at 570 centres, of which 65 were in London. The number of teachers who received payments according to results was 746; the average payment to each was about £27; and the sum paid (£20,115), was at the rate of 11s. 8d. for each person under instruction. Prizes and medals (3108 in number) to the value of £998 were awarded on the results of this examination. Grants amounting to £567 were made towards the purchase of apparatus, diagrams, and examples. The latest returns, made in April 1871, showed that the number of Science Schools had increased to 943, of which 642 were in England, 50 in Scotland, and 251 in Ireland, irrespective of the Navigation Schools, which do not send up pupils for examination, and therefore receive no payments on results of instruction from the parliamentary vote. In those schools there were 2684 classes, with 38,015 students.

The following is a list of the Science Schools in Scotland, with the number of individuals under instruction in each in 1870. The schools marked by an asterisk have been established since May 1870:—

Aberdeen: Mechanics' Institute, 52; *Aboyne: Coul Parish School; Alexandria: Mechanics' Institute, 47; *Annan: Parish School; *Auchinblae: Free Church School; Baillieston: Crosshill School, 10; Banton: Public School, 18; *Bathgate: Academy; Beith: New Street U. P. School, 45; *Bervie: School-room; Brechin: Burgh School, 20; *Burntisland: Kirk Wynd School; *Dalkeith: The Academy; Dingwall: The Academy, 10; Dumbarton: Burgh Academy, 144; Dundee: High School, 121; Edinburgh: Established Church Training College, 68; Watt Institution, School of Art, Free Church Training College, and 15 Buccleuch Place, 575; Fortrose: Mechanics' Institute, 8; *Fraserburgh: Mid Street Academy; *Gartsherrie: Works School; Glasgow: Secular School, 132; Andersonian University, 1270; Established Church Training College, 60; Mechanics' Institute, 936; Port Dundas School, 32; St George's School, 44; Inverness: Royal Academy, 40; School of Science and Art, 21; *Johnshaven; Johnstone: Working Men's Institute and Quarrelton Parish School, 45; Kilmarnock: East George Street Academy, 91; Princes Street New Academy, 57;

School of Art, 13; Kirkwall: Grammar School, 37; *Langholm: Parish School; *Lasswade: District School; Leith: School of Art, and High School, 39; Navigation School and Chemical Laboratory, 294; St James's School, 35; *Linlithgow: Sessional School; Lumphanan: Parochial School, 17; *Montrose: Academy and Town Hall; *Musselburgh: Ladies' School; Newhills: Stoneywood School, 11; Paisley: George Street, 42; School of Science and Art, 28; *Peterhead: St Peter's Street Academy; Rothesay: Academy and Thompson's Institution, 10; Stirling: School of Art; Tarbat: Parochial School, 61; *Torphins: Parochial School.

At the National Art Training School during the year ended 31st July 1870, 40 students in training and 19 national scholars received allowances of from 10s. to 40s. per week; 6 students in training received appointments as masters in local schools of art. 13 students gained certificates of the third grade (giving qualification as instructors in schools of art). In addition to the students maintained, 156 were instructed gratuitously. The whole number of students in the year was 994, and the fees paid amounted to £2623. There are now 117 schools of art, giving instruction to 20,290 students, an increase in the year of 426. Ten new schools of art were established during the year. The number of night classes increased from 249 in 1869 to 352 in 1870; the number of students attending them from 9322 in 1869 to 12,119 in 1870. The number of schools for the poor in which drawing is taught increased from 1064 in 1869 to 1359 in 1870; and the number of children taught drawing in these schools from 120,928 in 1869 to 147,243 in 1870. 386 teachers of elementary schools obtained certificates for drawing at the examination of the schools in November 1870, being 110 more than in the previous year.

COURTS OF LAW IN SCOTLAND.

The Fifth and final Report of the Commissioners appointed to inquire into the Courts of Law in Scotland is upon—(1) the constitution and jurisdiction of the Court of Justiciary, the supreme criminal court in Scotland, and the administration of the criminal law generally, apart from matters of police, which were dealt with in the Fourth Report; (2) procedure in the Sheriff Court in civil causes; (3) the official staff, not judicial, connected with the courts of law and justice, and their salaries, the admission of notaries public, and other matters. The Commission issued in the first instance, dated 2d October 1868, was revoked by a subsequent Commission, dated 18th November 1868, by which the following were appointed commissioners, viz.:—Lord Colonsay (chairman); the Right Hon. John Inglis, Lord Justice-General of Scotland; the Right Hon. Sir W. Page Wood (now Lord Chancellor Hatherley); the Right Hon. George Patton, Lord Justice-Clerk of Scotland (since deceased); Sir James Shaw Willes, Knight, one of the justices of the Court of Common Pleas; the Hon. Lord Barcaple, one of the judges of the Court of Session (since deceased); Edward Strathearn Gordon, Esq., then Lord Advocate, now Dean of the Faculty of Advocates; Sir Edward Colebrooke, Bart., M.P.; Sir Roundell Palmer, Knight, Q.C.; James Moncreiff, Esq., Q.C. (now Lord Justice-Clerk); George Sclater Booth, Esq., then Secretary of the Treasury; Andrew Rutherfurd Clark, Esq. (now Solicitor-General of Scotland); Hugh Barclay, Esq., Sheriff-Substitute of Perthshire; James Campbell, Esq., Sheriff-Substitute of Edinburgh; William Smythe, Esq., of Methven; Archibald Orr Ewing, Esq., Dean of Guild of Glasgow; George Harrison, Esq., Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce, Edinburgh; James Adam, Esq., Advocate; Alexander Burn Shand, Esq., Advocate; Thomas Graham Murray, Esq., W.S.; Charles Morton, Esq., W.S.; James Webster, Esq., S.S.C.; John Boyd Baxter, Esq., President of the Council of Procurators in Scotland; and Adam Paterson, Esq., Writer, Glasgow. By a royal warrant, dated the 23d and sealed the 29th April 1869, George Young, Esq., then Solicitor-General for Scotland, now Lord Advocate, was added to the Commission. [For an abstract of the previous Reports, see Almanac for 1871, pp. 291-306.]

(1.) Administration of the Criminal Law.

At present the Court of Justiciary, the supreme criminal court in Scotland, consists of seven of the Judges of the Court of Session—the Lord Justice-General, the Lord Justice-Clerk, and five of the ordinary judges, appointed by separate commissions, to act in the Court of Justiciary. The Commissioners recommend that all the judges of the Court of Session should be Commissioners of Justiciary. This, it is observed, is in harmony with the recommendation previously made by them in regard to the Court of Session, that all judges should be made competent to undertake any judicial business which is ready to be disposed of, it being left to the Court to say which judge should devote himself for the time to any particular class of business. The criminal work not being so considerable as to make it necessary that all the judges should be engaged in it, one of the advantages of making all judges available for it is that the Court would be able to make the arrangements for it most conducive to its satisfactory performance.

The Commissioners received many suggestions for alterations in criminal procedure. They consider the defects alleged against the procedure now in use as in most cases rather theoretical than practical, but think that in some particulars there is room for improvement.

Various objections were stated to the present mode of taking the declarations of accused persons. On the apprehension of the accused he is brought before a magistrate, the charge against him is read, and he is asked whether he has any statement to make, being cautioned at the same time that he need not speak unless he chooses, and that any statement which he makes may be used as evidence against him. He is not allowed to have the advice of an agent or of any friend, but must take upon himself the responsibility of making or declining to make a statement. It was urged upon the Commissioners that it is unfair to the accused not to allow him communication with friends or with his agent before his declaration is taken. An innocent person accused, it was said, is apt to be excited and unable to give an accurate account of the facts; or, if conscious of circumstances which have suggested suspicion against him, is not unlikely to deny them, or to give inaccurate explanations: and the fact of his having made erroneous statements is afterwards used against him with great effect. It was not asserted, however, that declarations had been the means of obtaining convictions against innocent persons; it was admitted, at the same time, that they were often powerfully effective in obtaining convictions; and it was not denied that, if communication with an agent were allowed, the result would almost invariably be that the accused would decline to make any statement. The Commissioners are of opinion that it would be unfortunate if effect were given to this objection. The objection pushes beyond its legitimate application the theory that no man is bound to criminate himself. Moreover, the opportunity of making a declaration leads, they say, not unfrequently to the liberation of persons erroneously suspected, and to the detection of the true offender. Objections were also stated to the taking of declarations without the presence of a magistrate, and to examining the accused repeatedly with a view to, or at least with the result of, trapping him into false statements. Such proceedings as these the Commissioners condemn as highly objectionable; but they believe that these were of rare occurrence at any period, and that they have been long ago effectually put down by the Court, which has declared pressure by questioning to be foreign to the purposes of initial examination of persons accused, and declines to admit as evidence any declaration at the taking of which a magistrate was not present, and which has not been proved to have been made voluntarily and freely, and after due warning given to the accused. The Commissioners are unanimously of opinion that it should not be competent to examine the accused as a witness.

The objections urged against the present system of precognition and investigation previous to trial are disclosed in a series of suggestions relative to this subject made by one of the Commissioners, which, in effect, recommend procedure now in use in the criminal system of England. They are as follows:—1*st*, that the witnesses ought to be examined in presence of a magistrate; 2*d*, that the accused person ought to be present at their examination; 3*d*, that the accused person ought to be allowed to provide himself with the assistance of a law-agent and counsel if he think fit; 4*th*, that the room in which examinations are taken should not be deemed an open court, and that the magistrate should have power to order that no person shall have access, when he thinks it most conducive to the ends of justice; 5*th*, that the magistrate ought to have power to adjourn the inquiry, and to commit the accused person to prison for further examination as often, and for such period at a time, not exceeding ten days at any one time, as he shall judge necessary or proper for the ends of justice; 6*th*, that when the prosecutor has finished the examination of all his witnesses, the magistrate shall afford the prisoner an opportunity of making any statement he thinks proper, and shall see that any statement he makes is taken down as nearly as possible in his own words; 7*th*, that it shall be declared not lawful for a magistrate to commit an accused person to prison, except in his presence, and upon evidence taken before himself or some other magistrate; 8*th*, that, after being committed to prison in order to trial, or liberated without such commitment, the person accused ought to be entitled to a copy of the precognition on payment of the cost thereof; 9*th*, that the judge at the trial ought to be furnished with a copy of the precognition. At present the preliminary examination of witnesses is made by the procurator-fiscal without the presence of the accused or any person representing him; as a rule, the witnesses are not put on oath; and the accused is not acquainted with the statements of the witnesses. The procurator-fiscal goes to the place where the offence has been committed, or where the persons likely to be able to throw light upon it reside, and there takes his precognition. The sheriff takes part in the investigation only in cases of delicacy and difficulty; but the procurator-fiscal consults him in all difficulties, and where necessary brings the witnesses before him for examination. The majority of the Commissioners are of opinion that accused persons are sufficiently protected by the present system of inquiry, and that the suggestions above stated should not be adopted. The procurators-fiscal perform their duty as impartial officials, and the precognitions taken by them may be relied upon as disclosing the whole truth of the case, in so far as it can be ascertained by a skilled and unprejudiced inquirer. The combined effect of the first two suggestions would necessarily be to increase greatly the length and the expense of the preliminary investigation, and to cause no small inconvenience to the public. The witnesses would have to be brought to the town where the magistrate resides, there to be examined in public—at much inconvenience to themselves, and expense to the public; and besides the public examination before the magistrate, the procurator-fiscal would have to make a preliminary inquiry as careful as that which he makes at present. In the larger towns the sheriff-substitute's time is in general fully occupied at present; the burgh magistrates and the justices of the peace are, as a rule, not well qualified for conducting the sort of inquiry that must take place; there are no stipendiary magistrates; and if the two proposals referred to were adopted, a considerable increase in the number of sheriff-substitutes would be inevitable. The staff of the procurators-fiscal also must be greatly increased. The third proposal, that the accused should be allowed to provide himself with counsel and agent, would practically be available only for the rich. At present no accused person is undefended at his trial; the labour of defending accused persons falls upon the junior members of the legal profession; but it would be impossible to throw upon these gentlemen the additional labour which the new system would involve, unless the cost of the defence were to be paid for by the State. Upon the fourth proposal it is observed that it would necessarily lead to examinations being conducted in public. A magistrate ought not to be placed in the position of having to exercise a power of excluding the public, and this power would prove practically inoperative. The Commissioners admit that there are some advantages attending on the preliminary investigation being conducted in public, especially where prosecutions are carried on at the instance of private parties; but when prosecutions are under the charge of officials of education and position, who act under a sense of public duty, they think it on the whole best for the ends of justice, and most for the advantage of accused persons generally, and especially of persons unjustly accused, that those examinations should not be public. They think that the publication of the evidence would be apt to create prejudices in the minds of those who would have to serve as jurymen. They add that the accused has it in his power to suggest the examination of any witnesses who, he thinks, may exculpate him; and that, in addition to the guarantees for fairness which the position of the local officials affords, the examinations taken are submitted to Crown counsel in Edinburgh, with whom the ultimate decision upon them rests. Upon the fifth suggestion they remark that it merely expresses the subsisting practice, except that incarceration previous to commitment very rarely lasts for more than one period of seven or eight days. Of the sixth suggestion also, they say that it involves no essential change in the subsisting practice. It amounts merely to a formal invitation to the prisoner to make a second declaration before trial; and this he may now voluntarily do if he pleases. They do not understand it to be proposed that this should supersede the existing declaration taken from the accused when ignorant of the facts that can be proved against him, and when he has no agent or counsel to advise him, and they would regard it as a misfortune that the existing declaration should thus be superseded. They do not attach much importance to the eighth suggestion, that the accused should be present when he is committed for trial. The issue of a warrant for his apprehension is what materially imperils his reputation and character, and this must of necessity be done in his absence. Moreover, once committed, if for a bailable offence, he can at once be bailed; and, if he thinks he is unlawfully detained, he can apply to the Court of Justiciary for liberation. They add, that if the prisoner at commitment is to be entitled to get a copy of the precognitions, he should get it free of expense, as in general prisoners would be unable to pay the cost of a copy. But they think that the service of the indictment, accompanied by a list of the witnesses fifteen days before the trial, and the assignment of professional advisers, if he is unable to pay for a defence, sufficiently provide for the interest of the accused. They do not think the ninth suggestion, that the judge at the trial should be supplied with a precognition, necessary, seeing that the precognition has not been got up by a private party, that a judge in Scotland has not to charge a grand jury, and has no duty to perform but at the trial. In conclusion, they add that they feel quite satisfied that the impartiality of the initial investigation would be destroyed were counsel and agent to attend throughout on behalf of the accused. The proceedings would inevitably become litigious, and the procurator-fiscal unconsciously, but effectually, would degenerate into a litigant from his present position of representing the interests of all parties. Practically, they believe, the proposed scheme would be more adverse to accused persons than the system now prevailing.

With respect to the form of the indictment on which accused persons are to be tried, it was suggested—(1) that the syllogistic form now in use ought to be abolished; (2) that the charge ought simply to set forth the criminal act with which the prisoner is charged; (3) that the major premiss, in which the prosecutor gives a name to the crime, and the conclusion for the pains of the law, should be omitted as superfluous, and the former also mischievous; (4) that a discrepancy between the libel and the evidence with respect to time and place ought not to be fatal, if it appear that the criminal act charged was in fact committed by the prisoner. And with respect to matters accessory to the indictment, it was suggested (1) that, except in cases of murder, rape, and fire-raising, and possibly also bigamy, perjury, and fraud, the inducie need not exceed four days, and in the excepted cases eight days; (2) that the service of lists of witnesses and assize, and the libelling of productions, ought to be dispensed with in all cases. It was also suggested that many of the provisions of the Act 14 and 15 Vict. c. 100, might be adapted and applied to Scotland. These suggestions were made independently of the scheme of preliminary investigation already explained; but were stated therewith as part of the general scheme of alteration of our system of administering criminal justice; and they derive support, in theory at least, from allowing the accused from the first to know the details of the case against him. Even in that view, however, a large majority of the Commissioners are adverse to those suggestions. It is not averred that the present form of indictment leads to a miscarriage of justice; its form and effect are well understood; and the Commissioners think the form proposed to be substituted for it not applicable to the Scotch criminal system as now administered. They advise, however, that some superfluous words of style should be struck out of indictments; and that the declarations of the accused, and previous convictions, if any, should be referred to in the inventory of productions, instead of being described in the body of the indictment. They add that it might be convenient, when the relevancy of the libel is under discussion, before the jury is sworn, to permit amendments of the libel to be made by addition as well as by deletion (which is allowed at present), if the accused consents, or if the Court is satisfied that the proposed addition would not make substantial alteration on the charge, or be prejudicial to the accused in his defence. They think it would not be expedient to permit alterations of any kind to be made on the libel after the jury has been sworn, and while the trial is in progress. The Commissioners are of opinion that all objections personal to jurors should be stated before the jury are sworn, and that no verdict should be set aside on the ground that one of the jurors was a minor.

Several witnesses had expressed an opinion that an appeal ought to be permitted from the determination of any question of law by a single judge. If it were meant to give prosecutor and prisoner an appeal as a matter of right, the Commissioners would reject this proposal without hesitation; but they had more doubt as to whether a judge should not have power to reserve questions of law. They think it unnecessary, however, to extend the power of reservation beyond its present limits.

In consideration of the slight line of demarcation which often separates robbery from theft, the Commissioners recommend that power to try cases of robbery should be given to the sheriff. A majority of the Commissioners are of opinion that the penal power of the sheriff should not be extended so as to enable him to pass sentences of penal servitude. At present the highest sentence the sheriff can award is one of two years' imprisonment.

When a criminal case is tried by the sheriff with a jury, the forms of procedure, so far as the accused is concerned, are substantially the same as in the Court of Justiciary. The Commissioners recommend that, as nearly as possible, they should be made identical. The minutes of proceedings kept by the sheriff-clerk should be kept in the short form now in use in the Court of Justiciary. They recommend that the jury in the Sheriff Court should consist of six common and three special jurors, and that the verdict of the majority should be taken as at present. At present there are three forms by which the proceedings of inferior courts can be brought under review of the Court of Justiciary, viz., advocation, suspension, and appeal. They recommend the substitution for all these of a simple note of appeal. They also recommend that, where appeals have been taken to the High Court on the admission or rejection of evidence, in cases in which a verdict has been given by a jury, the Court should have power given to it to decide upon the materiality of the evidence improperly admitted or rejected, so that acquittal of the appellant or quashing of the conviction should not follow as matter of course from sustaining the appeal. In summary trials in some of the Sheriff Courts, and almost universally in the Justice of Peace Courts, the provisions of the Summary Procedure Act of 1864 are in use; and under that Act there is no obligation upon the judge to keep a note of the evidence or of objections to his rulings—there is no provision for a review either upon the evidence or the law. The Commissioners are of opinion that this should be altered; that a note of the evidence and of objections and answers should be taken in all cases in which either party desires it, and that provision should be made for having a case stated for the opinion of the court of review. The Commissioners state that, where a party sentenced by the sheriff or justices to imprisonment obtains interim liberation upon bail, he in practice escapes from the rest of the imprisonment—a considerable time elapsing before the suspension is disposed of, and the Court of Justiciary, when it is refused, granting no warrant of reincarceration even for the remainder, if any, of the unexpired term of imprisonment. They recommend that the Court should have power to provide for the full term of imprisonment being undergone when they do not grant suspension.

(2.) Procedure in Civil Causes in the Sheriff Court.

The Commissioners, having in their Fourth Report recommended that the jurisdiction of the Sheriff Court should be extended to various matters now competent only in the Court of Session, further suggest that the forms and proceedings in both Courts should be made as nearly as possible identical. There ought to be only two sessions in the Sheriff Court as in the Court of Session, to be called the Winter and Summer Sessions—the former continuing from the first court-day in October until the first court-day in April, with a recess not exceeding fifteen days at Christmas; and the latter from the first court-day in May till the last court-day in July. There should be one ordinary court held during the spring vacation, and two during the autumn vacation, on days to be fixed by the sheriff. For the forms of initiatory writ in use in the ordinary court, the Small-Debt Court, and the Certain Debts Recovery Court respectively, there should be substituted a single form applicable to all courts. No objection to citation or execution should be sustained where the defender appears.

To supersede the necessity for a full record, it is recommended that when the defender's minute of defence has raised a substantive case, such as a counter-claim or an alleged discharge of the debt, the pursuer should be enabled to add to the record a minute in replication. It should also be competent to specify more particularly on the original writ, by way of adjustment, the grounds of action. The record being thus made up, the sheriff should declare it closed without the consent of parties being necessary. The sheriff should have power to order a record to be made up by condescendence and answers, and this should be done in the manner provided by the Court of Session Act (1868). Both the sheriff-substitute and the sheriff should have power at any stage of a cause prior to final judgment to open up the record, and to permit any statement of fact or plea in law to be added, upon such condition as to expenses as he may think reasonable. The provisions of section 29 of the Court of Session Act (1868) should be extended to the Sheriff Court, and there should be power also, under proper precautions, to enlarge the conclusions of the summons, so that justice may be done even when the parties have originally mistaken their rights. In taking proofs, the sheriff should have the power of dictating the evidence to a shorthand writer, who should be paid, in the first instance, by the parties equally. Both the sheriff-substitute and the sheriff should have power to order additional proof at any time before final judgment. Proofs ought to be taken, as nearly as may be, continuously, and every cause in which the taking of a proof has commenced ought to have a preference over all causes which, at the commencement of the proof, stood behind it on the roll. Section 15 of the Act of 1853 having proved unavailing for the purpose for which it was intended, it is recommended that it should be repealed; and that it should be left to any party who considers he has an interest to do so to force on the suit, and, if his adversary be in default, to have recourse to his right to have the cause disposed of on the ground of such default. The Commissioners, in their Fourth Report, recommended that in cases of pecuniary claims not exceeding £50, there should be no appeal to the Court of Session. They further recommend that in other cases the appellant should not be entitled to the expenses of the appeal unless the Court of Session shall find that the cause is of the value of £50, or is otherwise a fit and proper cause for appeal.

The Commissioners say that, if the changes suggested in the procedure of the ordinary Sheriff Court be carried out, it will be unnecessary to maintain the system which prevails under the Debt Recovery Act. They think that the prohibition of procurators practising in the Small-Debt Court, without leave of the Court, should be repealed; and that the sheriff should, in giving judgment, determine whether the attendance of a procurator was necessary and the amount of his remuneration—which, however, should not exceed 10s. 6d. for any one diet, or a guinea for each case. This being done, they think the small-debt jurisdiction might safely be extended to £20. The sheriff should have power to grant interim decree in small-debt actions. It should be in the power of a sheriff or sheriff-substitute, sitting in the Small-Debt Court, with consent of parties, after pronouncing decree, to grant a case for the opinion of the Court of Session. His findings in fact would be final.

It is recommended that if an insolvent is prepared to surrender his whole means to his creditors, he should be entitled to do so, and to crave decree of cessio bonorum as soon as he is charged to pay any civil debt on which imprisonment may follow, protection against imprisonment, or liberation being granted him upon caution being found for his production when required.

(3.) Officials not Judicial attached to Courts of Law.

Under this head the Commissioners make a good many recommendations as to the duties and remuneration of the staff of the Supreme Courts. They recommend that there should be a prohibition of engaging in private practice in the case of the principal, and depute, and assistant clerks of the Supreme Courts, and judges' clerks, the commissary clerk of Edinburgh, and all sheriff-clerks, and salaried deputes in districts warranting a salary suitable for exclusive services; the auditor of the Court of Session and his clerk; the principal and assistant extractor and their subordinates; the accountant of Court, the accountant in bankruptcy, and their assistants and clerks; the Bill-Chamber clerk and his assistants and clerks. The principal clerks of Session should have committed to them the superintendence of the judicial staff; and the staff of each department should not be fixed by statute, but should be open to readjustment by the Treasury from time to time. They approve of the present mode of appointing procurators-fiscal and of the conditions on which they hold office; but they should be paid by salary, from whatever source derived, for the portion of their work the cost of which at present falls upon the counties. Procurators-fiscal paid by salary, and sheriff-clerks and their deputes, when prohibited from private practice, should be entitled to retiring allowances. As to the admission of notaries-public, they are of opinion that no examination is necessary in the case of persons who have been admitted as writers to the Signet or solicitors of the Supreme Courts, or procurators under the Procurators Act; but that the Court should be empowered to make, and should make, new regulations as to applicants who are not so qualified; regard being had to their knowledge of conveyancing and all other business which notaries-public may carry on. The requirement of caution, being useless and not demanded in the case of other professional men, should be dispensed with.

The Report is signed by all the members of the Commission.

The Lord Advocate (Mr George Young, Q.C.) dissents from the recommendations contained in the Report upon the following points:—1*st*, As to the number of Commissioners of Justiciary. He is satisfied that to increase the number to thirteen would not be beneficial. The business of the Court of Justiciary is so trifling in amount that it can hardly be said to afford the present number of judges any considerable experience in criminal business, and if the number were increased, the experience of individual judges would be reduced. 2*d*, As to declarations of persons accused. He does not think it fair in itself, or required by the ends of justice, to deny an accused person access to his friends, or to a law-agent, until after he has been examined before a magistrate. 3*d*, As to precognition and commitment for trial. His opinion is hostile to the system of secret investigation which now prevails in Scotland. He does not think it right in itself, or required by the ends of justice, that a person should be committed to prison upon evidence taken behind his back (not even in presence of a magistrate) and studiously concealed from him. Public justice would be promoted by adopting in substance the suggestions upon this point put before the Commissioners. [See supra, p. 281.] The apprehensions stated in the Report he considers fanciful. They are not warranted by the experience of England, to which it seems legitimate to appeal. 4*th*, As to indictments. He concurs in the suggestions submitted to the Commission. [See supra, p. 283.] The form of indictment now in use is not only clumsy, but inconvenient. It is not attended with any advantage whatever. The inducia (fifteen days) appears to him to be excessive, and it will be more obviously so if trials are to take place at stated sessions. To furnish a prisoner with a list of assize is a mere superfluity, and causes much practical inconvenience. A list of witnesses will be unnecessary only if the prisoner is present at the precognition. 5*th*, As to giving the Court power to reserve points. He is in favour of this power being given. He cannot concur in any of the objections to it, and least of all in the objection, that it would be necessary to provide for the meetings of the High Court being held immediately after each Circuit. Mr A. B. Shand and Mr Charles Morton concur in the Lord Advocate's dissent. The Solicitor-General (Mr A. R. Clark, Q.C.) concurs in it upon the third, fourth, and fifth points. Mr Justice Willes also concurs in the dissent upon the third, fourth, and fifth points. As to the second point, he cannot go so far as to say that the present practice is unfair, and thinks it superior to the English practice in respect of allowing and inviting (though not compelling) the accused to make a preliminary statement either before the precognitions are taken, or without his being at the time of this statement informed of their contents. As to the rest of his second point, he concurs with the Lord Advocate. "The first point of the Lord Advocate's dissent," he adds, "I do not venture upon." Mr J. B. Baxter concurs in the fourth article of the Lord Advocate's dissent, with these exceptions:—He thinks (1) that a short statement of the mode of committing the crime charged should be stated in the indictment; and (2) that a copy of the indictment, and list of witnesses and productions against the accused, should be served upon him a short time before the trial. He also concurs in the fifth point of the Lord Advocate's dissent.

Sir Edward Colebrooke dissents from the Report "in so far as it does not recommend that in criminal cases the prisoner, before being committed for trial, should be confronted with the witnesses, and have the privilege of employing an agent." He is also of opinion that, in cases of sudden death, the inquiry should be conducted by a magistrate, and in important cases the examination should be public.

Sheriff Campbell, Mr George Harrison, and Mr J. B. Baxter dissent from the Report in so far as it does not recommend that the power of pronouncing sentences of penal servitude in criminal causes should be extended to the sheriff.

APPEALS FROM THE COURT OF SESSION TO THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

The number of appeals from the Court of Session, presented to the House of Lords, in the year 1870, was 22, of which 9 were in matters of real property, 11 in matters of personal property, 1 in matters of real and personal property, and 1 in matters of a miscellaneous kind. 6 causes were withdrawn, and 7 causes were dismissed for want of prosecution.

The number of judgments delivered in 1870, including causes heard in previous sessions and standing over for judgment, was 31. In 17 causes the judgment appealed from was affirmed; in 5 the judgment appealed from was varied; in 1 the judgment appealed from was reversed in part; in 1 the judgment appealed from was reversed; and in 7 the judgment appealed from was reversed with a declaration or finding. The number of causes heard during the session of 1870, including causes standing over for judgment, was 31. The number of effective causes remaining for hearing was 16. The amount of fees was £1175.

CIVIL SERVICES IN SCOTLAND.

The Estimates for Civil Services for the year ending 31st March 1872 contain the following sums for Scottish purposes:—

I. PUBLIC WORKS AND BUILDINGS.—Royal Palace: Holyrood Palace, for fitting up the Argyll rooms, £911; repairs, maintenance, payment of feu-duty, and fitting up rooms for the High Commissioner of the Church of Scotland, £972. Marischal College, Aberdeen: For fitting up laboratory, £109. Royal Observatory, Edinburgh: For providing a new equatorial, £2780; for works connected with the fitting thereof, £282; for furniture and fittings for the official residence of the Astronomer-Royal, £254. Total, £3316. Edinburgh Castle: For providing glazed frame and enclosing slab, upon which the regalia of Scotland are placed, and for strengthening the railing, £90. Total for buildings in Scotland, £13,621, being an increase of £2483 upon the previous year. Sheriff Court Houses: Towards defraying, in pursuance of the Act 23 and 24 Vict. c. 79, one-half of the expense of erecting or improving court-houses or offices for the Sheriff Courts in Scotland, and for the expense of maintaining courts so erected or improved, £14,583 (viz., for payments on the completion of new buildings, £10,263; for defraying the expense of maintenance and repair under the 16th section of the Act, £4320). The following are the new court-houses contributed for, and the vote required for each in 1871-72: Aberdeen (original gross estimate, £22,654), £4000, of which £2000 was a revote; Campbelton (original gross estimate, £3000), £490, a revote; Forfar (original gross estimate, £9876), £742, including a revote of £421; Greenock (original gross estimate, £8962, revised gross estimate, £14,197), £300, being a revote; Selkirk (original gross estimate, £5551, revised gross estimate, £7995), £400; Stranraer (original gross estimate, £6000), £2000; Stirling (towards the purchase of site, estimate £3662), £1831; Lerwick (original gross estimate, £1800), £500. Glasgow University Buildings: Grant in aid of the new buildings, £20,000. [Fourth instalment. The amount of aid from public funds is to be limited to £120,000, and the payment to be spread over six years.] Industrial Museum, Edinburgh: Extension of the halls and completion of the western section of the museum (£1500 of first vote revoted, the total estimate being £53,336), £12,000. Post-Office and Inland Revenue Buildings: Glasgow Post-office, for providing increased accommodation, £2500, including a revote of £1909. Ordinary maintenance and repairs of post-offices in Scotland, £1765. Towards providing accommodation for Aberdeen, Colchester, and Rochester, in case of sites being obtained, £3000 (amount for each not stated). Ordinary maintenance and repair of Inland Revenue buildings in Scotland (Edinburgh and Glasgow), £855; furniture and fittings for ditto, £388. Total, £1243. Portpatrick Harbour: £400, being £318 more than in the previous year. Anstruther Harbour: completion of Eastern Pier, £6000; other works, £1000. Total £7000.

II. Salaries and Expenses of Public Departments.—Factory Departments: Allowance to the inspectors for increase of travelling expenses attending the transfer to them of factories in Ireland, Scotland, and the district formerly under the inspection of Mr Horner, £200. Inspector of Mines (under the Act 5 and 6 Vict. c. 99): Salary, £700; travelling and incidental expenses, £10; total, £710. Inspectors of Coal Mines (under the Act 23 and 24 Vict. c. 151): Salaries of six inspectors (at £800 a year each), £4800; salary of one inspector (at £700 a year), £700; salaries of five inspectors (at £600 a year each), £3000; travelling and personal allowances, £3800; incidental expenses, including law charges and arbitrations, £700: total, £13,000, being an increase of £366 on the previous year. [There are two inspectors for Scotland, but the sums applicable to them are not distinguished.] Inspectors and Commissioners of Salmon Fisheries: Three commissioners for Scotland at £3 per day when actually employed, £600; additional remuneration to one of the English inspectors and one of the Scotch commissioners for inquiring into the effects of recent legislation on salmon fisheries in Scotland, £80; travelling expenses of commissioners, £100; travelling expenses for temporary commissioners of inquiry in Scotland, £20; incidental expenses of commissioners, £30: total, £830, being £370 less than in the previous year. Inspectors of Constabulary: One inspector for Scotland, £700: travelling expenses of inspector, £250; incidental expenses, £37: total, £987. Agricultural Statistics, Great Bri- tain: £16,500, being the same amount as in the previous year. Civil Service Commission: Assistant Examiners in London, Edinburgh, Dublin, and the provinces, £5000. Patent Office: Allowance in lieu of fees abolished by the "Patent Law Amendment Act" (15 and 16 Vict. c. 83) to the Lord Advocate of Scotland, £850; to the clerk to the Lord Advocate of Scotland, £300: total, £1150. Registrar of Friendly Societies: Scotch registrar's salary, £150; allowance for a clerk, £50; stationery, £15: total, £215. Printing and Stationery: Edinburgh Gazette:—duties in connection with the Gazette to be performed by a clerk in the office of Exchequer (see below). The balance-sheet of the Edinburgh Gazette for the year ended 31st March 1870, showed an expenditure of £1452, and £3607 of receipts—balance in favour of the Gazette, £2154. Office of Woods, Forests, and Land Revenues: Pay of persons temporarily employed in Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Channel Islands, etc., £500. Legal Expenses: Agents' bills, costs of local inquiries, and other law costs, Scotland, £600. Office of Works and Public Buildings, Scotland: Assistant surveyor for Scotland (rising by £25 a year from £900 to £1000), £975; four clerks (one rising by £15 a year from £250 to £400, two rising by £10 a year from £130 to £250, and one rising by £10 from £120 to £200), £1012: total, £1987, being an increase of £65 on the previous year. The Queen's and Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer in the Exchequer in Scotland, Civil Branch [for Legal Branch, see below, p. 292]: Queen's and Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer, £1000; two second-class clerks (at £315, rising by £15 to £500), £925: seven third-class clerks (at £100, rising by £10, and after eight years' service £15, a year to £300), £1234; one clerk for business of Edinburgh Gazette, £200; two doorkeepers (at £80, rising by £2, 10s. to £90), £180: total, £3539, being an increase of £256 on the previous year. [The salary of the clerk in charge of the business connected with the registration of joint-stock companies is now provided for in this vote.] Incidental Expenses: For arranging and indexing the Exchequer Records, at the rate of £120 a year, £120; for occasional extra clerks, £235. Office of the Lord Lyon: The Lyon King-at-Arms, £500; five heralds (at £25 each), £125; five pursuivants (at £16, 13s. 4d. each), £84: total, £709, being the same amount as in the previous year. Incidental Expenses: Postages, £10. Salaries and other charges formerly on the Hereditary Revenue: Secretary to the Bible Board, £600; law agent, £240; law charges, bond stamps, etc., connected with the Bible Board, £100: total for Bible Board, £940; Her Majesty's Limner, £97 Her Majesty's Historiographer, £184; Her Majesty's Clockmaker, £16; allowance to person having charge of the Regalia, £45; expenses connected with the Regalia, £30: total, £1312, being the same as the amount granted in the previous year. Fishery Board, Scotland: 1. Salaries: Secretary, £524; first clerk (at £240, rising by £10 a year to £320), £160; second clerk (at £170, rising by £10 a year to £230), £115; third clerk (at £130, rising by £5 a year to £160), £80; fourth clerk (at £90, rising by £5 a year to £120), £60; messenger, £35; porter, £30. [A moiety of the salaries of this office, excepting that of the secretary stated above, is paid out of the funds of the Board of Manufactures, Scotland.] General inspector at Leith, £261; assistant inspector at Greenock, £210; officers at Banff, Peterhead, Glasgow, Leith, Wick, and Fraserburgh (at £160 each, rising by £10 every five years to £180 each a year), £1092; officers at Findhorn, Rothesay, Shetland Isles, Eyemouth, Lybster, Anstruther, Greenock, Cromarty, Helmsdale, and Buckie (at £130 each, rising by £10 every five years to £150 each a year), £1500; officers at Lochcarron, Orkney, Inveraray, Montrose, Stornoway, Fort-William, Campbelton, Ballantrae, Wick, and Lochbroom, at £100 each, rising by £5 every two years to £120 each a year), £1250; civil engineers, £100; commander of the "Vigilant" cruiser, £200; commander of Her Majesty's steam-vessel "Jackal," £100; fishery police sergeant, Tarbert, £70; commanders of gunboats, £50: total of salaries, £5837, being a decrease of £395 on the previous year. IV. Education, Science, and Art.—Public Education: The sum proposed to be voted for Public Education in Great Britain for the year ending 31st March 1872, is £1,458,402, being an increase of £543,681 upon the sum voted in the previous year. The sums distinguished as applicable to Scotland are £44,100 for grants in augmentation of the salaries of certificated schoolmasters and schoolmistresses (under articles 55, 96–99, 143, 150 of the Code of 1860); £60,900 for grants to pay the stipends of pupil-teachers, and gratuities to the schoolmasters and schoolmistresses instructing them (under articles 102–132 of the Code of 1860); £200 for stipends to assistant teachers (under articles 134–141 of the Code of 1860); £700 for stipends to teachers in night schools (under articles 156–162 of the Code of 1860); £100 for grants to industrial classes in connexion with elementary day schools (under articles 151–155 of the Code of 1860); £585 for poundage on post-office orders: total, £106,585, being an increase of £20,115 on the votes of the previous year. It is explained that the estimate for public education in Scotland made for the year 1870-71 proved to be considerably below the sum required for the expenses of the year; and that the large increase in the number of certificated masters and mistresses and pupil-teachers employed in schools in Scotland on the 31st December 1870, as compared with the number employed in the preceding year, made it necessary to provide for even a larger expenditure in 1871-72 than that which occurred in the preceding year. There were, in public schools in Scotland, 2406 certificated masters and mistresses, and 2859 pupil-teachers at the close of 1869; 2486 certificated masters and mistresses, and 3227 pupil-teachers at the close of 1870. The inspection and examination of schools in Scotland have been conducted since 31st March 1864 according to the Revised Code; but, pursuant to successive Minutes of the Committee of Privy Council, grants have continued to be paid according to the Code of 1860, to allow time for measures to be taken upon the Report of Her Majesty's Commissioners appointed to inquire into the schools in Scotland. The sums applicable to Scotland for inspection, pensions under the Code of 1860, the building and furnishing of school premises, and the maintenance of training colleges, are not distinguished in the Estimates. [For particulars relative to years ended 31st March and 31st August 1870, see above, p. 274.] Science and Art Department.—1. Schools of Science and Art: The sum proposed to be voted on account of grants in aid to Schools of Science and Art in the United Kingdom, etc., in the year ending 31st March 1872, is £87,830. The estimate includes provision for 43 science schools, 12 art schools, and 13 art night-classes in Scotland, which in 1870 gave instruction to 8530 persons, and for 16 science schools in Scotland established since May 1870, of which, when the estimate was prepared, the number of students under instruction could not be given with accuracy. [For particulars relative to Science and Art Schools in Scotland during the year 1869-70, see above, p. 277.] 2. Edinburgh Museum of Science and Art: Director (at £500, rising by £25 to £600), £600; keeper of Natural History Museum, £100; scientific superintendence and clerical assistance, £100; curator and housekeeper (at £200, rising by £10 to £250), £250; assistant in Natural History Museum (at £120, rising by £10 to £200), £200; assistant in the Industrial Museum, (at £120, increasing by £10 to £200), £140; two clerks (at £60, rising by £10 to £120 each), £182; head porter, £79; seven attendants, porters, and messengers, £410; housemaid, £26; purchase of specimens for Museum and books for Library, £2350; for ordinary repairs, fittings, etc., £1200; fuel, light, providing security against fire, cleaning, etc., £1370; advertisements, printing, and incidents, £625; travelling expenses, £200; police, £400; occasional assistance, £300; temporary house-rent during the erection of new buildings, expenses of moving, etc., £300: total, £8824, being an increase of £50 upon the previous year. The Fifth Report of the Warden of the Standards on the proceedings and business of the Standard Weights and Measures Department of the Board of Trade is for the year ended 31st March 1871. It states that the ordinary business of the department consists in the comparison and verification of the local standards of weights and measures in use in the United Kingdom, and their periodical verification. Between 31st March 1859 and 31st March 1871, 7301 avoirdupois weights standards were verified for the first time, and 10,730 reverified; 389 troy weights standards were verified for the first time, and 814 reverified; 859 standard measures of capacity were verified for the first time, and 5920 reverified; 99 standards of length were verified for the first time, and 538 reverified; 446 standard bullion weights were verified for the first time, and 200 reverified; 233 sets of standard weights and measures were verified for the first time, and 1167 reverified; the total number of standards (excluding gas-holders) verified for the first time was 9094, and the total number reverified, 18,202. The number of gas measures verified for the first time was 172. There is no legal provision for the reverification of gas measures, but one was reverified in 1870. Of the standards verified for the first time, 5219 of the avoirdupois weight standards were substituted to replace old standards worn out or lost; also 55 of the troy weight; 49 of the standard measures of capacity; and 15 of the standards of length. Before 13th August 1859 there was no legal provision for the official reverification of local standards in Great Britain, and there was no such provision in Ireland till 28th August 1860. Since these dates, in Great Britain and Ireland, copies of the standard weights must, to be legal, be compared or reverified every five years, and copies of the standard measures every ten years. It is stated that the number of official reverifications in the department is being diminished by the continued practice of transferring the inspection of weights and measures from boroughs to the counties, the law authorizing the local reverification of all the remaining sets of copies of county standards with one of the county sets, which shall have been duly reverified in the department. In many counties, too, an illegal practice exists of comparing with a set of standards verified by the department, the standards used in each county district, and verifying after previously readjusting them. There is no authority, the Warden observes, for the local reverification of any standard which has been altered since its verification in the department; on the contrary, it is expressly enacted by section 5 of the Weights and Measures Act of 1835, that all copies of the standards which shall have been worn and mended shall be sent to the department to be reverified.

The numbers of standards presented for inspection which were rejected as requiring readjustment were as follows:—Standards of avoirdupois weights in 1869–70, 79; in 1870–71, 87: of troy weights, in 1869–70, 3; in 1870–71, 13: of bullion weights, in 1869–70, 24; in 1870–71, 47: standards of capacity, in 1869–70, 49; in 1870–71, 89: standards of length, in 1869–70, 16; in 1870–71, 11: gas measures, in 1869–70, 2; in 1870–71, 4. The total number of standards rejected in the former year, 173, was 11 per cent. of the whole number verified, and the total number rejected in 1870–71, 251, was also 11 per cent. of the number verified.

Although a considerable number of local standards, which had not been reverified as required by law, and had consequently become illegal, have been sent to the department for reverification during the past two years, at the close of the year 1870–71 there remained 2 counties and 47 boroughs in England, 4 counties and 14 burghs in Scotland, and 12 counties in Ireland which were without legal standards of weight, and 2 counties and 32 boroughs in England, 8 counties and 11 burghs in Scotland, and 4 counties in Ireland which were without legal standards of measure through neglect of reverification. In Scotland the counties of Banff, Bute, Cromarty, and Linlithgow, and the following burghs—Ayr, Annan, Anstruther, Burntisland, Dunfermline, Kirkcaldy, Brechin, Montrose, Berwick, Lanark, Pollockshields, Renfrew*, Tain, and Falkirk*—were without legal standards of weight (avoirdupois); the counties of Argyll, Banff, Bute, Cromarty, Inverness, Peebles, Perth, and Selkirk, and the following burghs—Ayr, Burntisland, Dunfermline, Kirkcaldy, St Andrews, Brechin, Montrose, Berwick, Lanark, Pollockshields, and Renfrew—were without legal standards of measure.

It is stated that a draft bill for carrying into effect the recommendations of the Standards Commission for increasing the powers of the Standards Department of the Board of Trade, the abolition of troy weight, the permissive introduction of the metric system into the country, and an improved system of local verification and inspection of weights and measures (see Almanacs 1870 and 1871) together with a consolidation of the laws relating to weights and measures, has been prepared, and is under the consideration of the Government. This bill deals with the subject of weights and measures only, as distinct from all matters relating to the gas-measuring standards and the provisions of the Sale of Gas Acts, which it is proposed to deal with afterwards in a separate Act. In connexion with the bill introduced by private members into the House of Commons in the session of 1871, for the compulsory exclusive adoption of the metric system after a specified date, an estimate is given of the proportion of the number of persons upon whom such a compulsory provision would press directly,—those, namely, whose weights and measures are liable to inspection,—to the number of persons using weights and measures upon whom it could only act indirectly, and to the whole population. Under the Act 5 and 6 Will. IV. c. 63, sec. 28, all those persons are liable to have their weights and measures inspected who are the proprietors of any "shop, store, warehouse, stall, yard, or place whatsoever wherein goods are exposed or kept for sale, or weighed for conveyance or carriage." This provision is construed as not being applicable to wholesale dealers. From materials contained in the census returns of 1861, it is calculated that, in the United Kingdom in 1861, out of a population of 28,927,485, 1,333,679 persons were engaged in trades subject to inspection, and 3,627,998 engaged in trades and manufactures requiring the use of weights and measures not liable to inspection. It is observed that, in some trades liable to inspection of weights and measures—among tailors, for example, and among persons engaged in the cotton manufacture—weights and measures are not used at all by a large proportion of the trades, and that this tends to reduce the number of those who, as the law as to inspection stands at present, would be directly affected by a compulsory enactment.

The first steps towards carrying out the recommendations of the Standards Commission have been taken, in the legalisation by Orders in Council, in pursuance of section 6 of the Standards Act 1866, of 84 new secondary standards of weights and measures—2 of foreign postal weights, 20 of coin weights (including their metric weights), 23 of decimal grain weights, 30 of liquid measures of capacity, 4 of gas measures, 5 of measures of length (with subdivisions). There are now 63 standards of avoirdupois weights, 45 standards of troy weights, 45 standards of measures of capacity, and 5 standards of measures of length—total of legal standards, 158. The legalization of two additional standards of length, the chain of 100 feet and the chain of 66 feet, each decimally divided, had been recommended by the Commission, but their construction had not been completed. By the proposed abolition of troy weight, the number of legal standards would be reduced to 115. The number of metric standards proposed to be legalized is as follows: weights 23, measures of capacity 16, measures of length 6—total (exclusive of gas measures) 45.

* Those marked thus have no legal standard troy weights.

SPIRITS.

The number of gallons of proof spirits distilled in the United Kingdom in 1870 was 30,220,268, viz., in England, 7,479,422; in Scotland, 14,483,744; in Ireland, 8,257,102. The number of gallons on which duty was paid was 23,452,240, viz., in England, 9,466,579; in Scotland, 7,656,685; in Ireland, 6,328,976; the amount of duty so paid (at ten shillings a gallon) was £11,726,120, viz., in England, £4,733,289; in Scotland, £3,828,342; in Ireland, £3,164,488. The number of gallons consumed was 22,613,490, viz., in England, 11,940,803; in Scotland, 5,501,987; in Ireland, 5,170,700. The number of gallons removed from England to Scotland was 4624 duty free, 5589 duty paid; from England to Ireland, 108,232 duty free, 6932 duty paid; from Scotland to England, 1,894,924 duty free, 1,706,359 duty paid; from Scotland to Ireland, 640,049 duty free, 16,765 duty paid; from Ireland to England, 432,753 duty free, 1,124,193 duty paid; from Ireland to Scotland, 19,694 duty free, 56,579 duty paid. The number of gallons delivered duty paid from distillers' stocks was 4,818,052, viz., in England, 3,498,202; in Scotland, 1,139,861; in Ireland, 179,989. The number of gallons put into bond in the year ended 31st December 1870 was 25,070,001, viz., in England, 3,898,660; in Scotland, 13,183,199; in Ireland, 7,988,142. The number of gallons in bonded stores on the 31st December 1870 was 16,941,149, viz., in England, 2,008,068; in Scotland, 6,447,638; in Ireland, 8,485,443. The number of gallons permitted from distillers' stocks and duty-free warehouses for exportation in 1870 was 1,374,422, viz., in England, 437,416; in Scotland, 804,463; in Ireland, 132,543. These figures show the spirits exported as merchandise, for use in ships' stores, and mixed with foreign spirits, as furnished by the Customs Department. The quantities permitted from distillers' stocks no longer show the export trade of the country, as spirits permitted to Customs warehouses may now be taken out for home consumption. The number of gallons of British Compounded Spirits permitted from rectifiers' stocks to Customs warehouses for exportation, ships' stores, and home consumption in 1870 was 492,749, viz., in England, 175,453; in Scotland, 316,095; in Ireland, 1201.

The number of gallons of home-made spirits retained for consumption as beverage only, in Scotland, was 3,511,793 in the first three quarters of 1864; 3,391,837 in the first three quarters of 1865; 3,786,460 in the first three quarters of 1866; 3,500,632 in the first three quarters of 1867; 3,358,426 in the first three quarters of 1868; 3,645,553 in the first three quarters of 1869; and 3,837,907 in the first three quarters of 1870.

The supply of methylic alcohol by the Excise was discontinued from the 1st January 1869. The number of gallons of methylated spirits sent out by persons licensed to sell the same in 1870, under 18 and 19 Vict. c. 38, was 671,188, viz., in England, 421,908; in Scotland, 240,275; in Ireland, 9005.

The number of gallons, at proof strength, of foreign and colonial spirits received into rectifiers' stocks for rectification in 1870 was 184,267, viz., 156,112 gallons of foreign spirits and 28,155 gallons of colonial spirits. In England 67,626 gallons foreign spirits and 25,087 gallons colonial spirits were received into rectifiers' stocks; in Scotland, 88,486 gallons foreign and 3068 gallons colonial. 421,633 gallons of proof British brandy were permitted out of rectifiers' stocks, viz., in England, 362,146 gallons; in Scotland, 54,491 gallons; in Ireland, 4996 gallons.

LICENSED BREWERS AND VICTUALLERS.

In the year ended 30th September 1870, the number of persons licensed to sell beer in Scotland was, 79 brewers, 12,644 victuallers—total, 12,723. The number of victuallers who brewed their own beer was 123; the number of bushels of malt consumed by brewers was 1,731,454, by victuallers 301,372.

There were exported from Scotland in the year ended 30th September 1870, 58,792 barrels of beer, of the declared value of £270,567; in the year ended 30th September 1869, there were exported 70,371 barrels, of the declared value of £323,703. Of the 58,792 barrels exported from Scotland in the year ended 30th September 1870, there were sent 4572 barrels to British India (continental territories), of the declared value of £20,601; 1561 barrels to Singapore, of the declared value of £6303; 406 barrels to Ceylon, of the declared value of £1637; 6654 barrels to Victoria (Australia), of the declared value of £34,601; 2614 barrels to New South Wales, of the declared value of £12,878; 495 barrels to New Zealand, of the declared value of £2369; 2038 barrels to British North America, of the declared value of £6465; 7410 barrels to British West Indies, of the declared value of £28,343; 5298 barrels to Foreign West Indies, of the declared value of £27,386; 5132 barrels to the United States of America, of the declared value of £30,094; 2712 barrels to Chili, of the declared value of £12,442; 2592 barrels to Peru, of the declared value of £12,224; 5244 barrels to Brazil, of the declared value of £21,976; 3691 barrels to Uruguay, of the declared value of £16,432; 3915 barrels to the Argentine Republic, of the declared value of £17,370.

The following Table (in continuation of similar tables in former Almanacs) shows the number of persons in each Excise Collection in Scotland licensed as Brewers and Victuallers to sell beer, distinguishing Victuallers who brew their own beer, and the quantity of malt consumed by each class, in the year ended 30th September 1870:—

	Year 1869.	Year 1870.
	Bushels.	Bushels.
England	44,211,245	47,339,742
Scotland	2,309,142	2,660,202
Ireland	2,879,875	3,175,538

The total number of bushels of malt made in the year 1869 was 53,175,842, and the amount of duty charged thereon was £7,210,528. The quantity of barley imported into the United Kingdom in 1870 was 7,217,327 cwts., equivalent to 2,020,852 quarters.

FISHERIES.

The Herring Fishery of the year 1870 was the greatest ever known upon the coast of Scotland. The highest totals reached before were those of the years 1862 and 1867. The fishing of 1870 exceeded that of 1862 by 35,704½ barrels, and that of 1867 by 29,070½ barrels. This, it is observed, shows that the herrings are not leaving our coasts, as was apprehended by some, and that the immense catch which annually takes place has no sensible effect upon the future supply. The catch of 1870 was a very large increase upon that of the previous year. In 1869, the number of barrels cured was 675,143; of barrels branded, 244,522½; of barrels exported, 381,333½. In 1870, the corresponding numbers were—barrels cured, 833,160½; barrels branded, 299,381½; barrels exported, 530,558. In 1870, compared with 1869, there was therefore an increase of 158,017½ barrels cured, 54,859 barrels branded, 149,224½ barrels exported. And the fishing of 1869 was considerably above the average of the five previous years. The fees received for branding (under the Act 21 and 22 Vict. c. 69) amounted to £4075 in 1869; to £4154 on the average of the ten years 1859–68; to £4989 in 1870. The probable production of the brand fee was estimated by the Parliamentary Commission of Inquiry of 1856 at £3500.

The Cod, Ling, and Hake Fishery of the year 1870 produced 145,288¾ cwt. cured dried, and 9945 barrels cured in pickle, as compared with 135,585¼ cwt. cured dried, and 10,319 barrels cured in pickle in 1869. There was thus an increase of 9703½ cwt. cured dried, and a decrease of 374 barrels cured in pickle. There was exported in 1870, 56,400½ cwt. cured dried, being an increase of 4536 cwt. upon 1869. The number of fish taken in 1870 was 4,699,802, being 504,330 more than in the previous year.

The following Table shows the number of boats, decked or undecked, employed in the shore curing herring, and cod and ling fisheries, in the several districts of Scotland in the year 1870; the number of fishermen and boys by whom manned; the number of fishcurers and coopers; with the estimated value of boats, nets, and lines:—

Besides the 48,395 fishermen, curers, and coopers employed in 1870, it is estimated that 41,395 other persons were employed in the fisheries in the same year. The tonnage of the boats was 103,946.

The number of barrels of herrings salted or cured in the several districts, during the year 1870, was as follows: Leith, 217; Eyemouth, 31,102; Greenock, 10,213½; Ballantrae, 1030; Glasgow, 7404; Rothesay, 18,304; Inveraray, 21,510; Campbelton, 6396; Fort-William, 885; Loch Carron and Skye, 817½; Loch Broom, 297; Stornoway, 159,180; Shetland Isles, 4200; Orkney Isles, 20,328½; Wick, 83,601½; Lybster, 24,099; Helmsdale, 20,607; Cromarty, 5402; Findhorn, 16,311; Buckie, 5461; Banff, 26,404; Fraserburgh, 147,728; Peterhead, 155,342; Montrose, 51,352; Anstruther, 14,968½.

The number of cod, ling, or hake taken, whether by vessels or by open boats, in the several districts, in the year 1870, was as follows: Ballantrae, 38,254; Inveraray, 2650; Campbelton, 82,269; Fort-William, 34,490; Loch Carron and Skye, 21,649; Loch Broom, 30,777; Stornoway, 297,464; Shetland Isles, 2,913,816; Orkney Isles, 566,273; Wick, 57,558; Lybster, 6885; Helmsdale, 36,051; Cromarty, 116,296; Findhorn, 35,321; Buckie, 94,667; Banff, 77,162; Fraserburgh, 107,966; Peterhead, 39,070; Montrose, 43,759; Anstruther, 26,485; Leith, 70,440.

REPORT OF THE COAL COMMISSION.

The Report of the Royal Commissioners appointed to inquire into the several matters relating to Coal in the United Kingdom was issued in August 1871. The Commission under which the inquiry took place was dated 28th June 1866, and the Commissioners were the Duke of Argyll (chairman), Sir Roderick Impey Murchison, Bart., K.C.B., Sir William George Armstrong, K.C.B., Mr Henry Hussey Vivian, M.P., Mr George Thomas Clark, Mr Joseph Dickinson, Mr George Elliott, M.P., Mr Thomas Emerson Forster, Mr John Geddes, Mr Robert Hunt, Mr Joseph Beete Jukes, Mr John Hartley, Dr John Percy, Mr Joseph Prestwich, Professor Andrew Crombie Ramsay, and Mr John Thomas Woodhouse. The Commissioners distributed themselves into five committees, a separate branch of the inquiry being assigned to each committee; a sixth committee was named for the selection of maps; and on 16th March 1870 a seventh committee, consisting of Sir W. Armstrong, Mr Woodhouse, and Professor Ramsay, was appointed to draft the General Report of the Commission. Mr J. F. Campbell was secretary to the Commission.

An important subject of investigation was to determine the maximum depth to which it is possible to work coal; and, in connexion with this, the only circumstance necessary to be considered was the increase of temperature which accompanies increase of depth. In this country the temperature of the earth is constant, at a depth of about 50 feet, at 50 degrees Fahrenheit; and the rate of increase of the temperature of the strata in the coal districts of England is, in general, about one degree of Fahrenheit for every 60 feet of depth. The air at the working faces of the coal is always humid, and often saturated with moisture—the deepest collieries, however, appearing to be the driest. Dr Burdon Sanderson, who was appointed by the Commissioners to inquire into the maximum temperature of air which is compatible with healthful human labour, formed a decided opinion that labour is not practicable in moist air of a temperature equal to that of the blood, namely, 98 degrees, excepting for very short intervals. This opinion was in harmony with other medical evidence received by the Commissioners. The depth at which the temperature of the earth would amount to 98 degrees is about 3000 feet. When what is called the "long-wall" system of working coal is used, a difference of about 7 degrees appears to be obtained between the temperature of the air and that of the strata at the working faces, and this represents a further depth of 420 feet; so that, supposing that system used, the depth at which the temperature of the air would become equal to that of the blood would be 3420 feet. As great capital would be required for sinking pits to coal at an extreme depth, it would be necessary to work a large area of coal from each sinking, and the air-courses must be of great length; so that no appreciable effect upon the temperature can be expected from increased ventilation. Looking, however, to possible expedients which the future may elicit for reducing the temperature, the Commissioners considered it might be assumed that a depth of 4000 feet could be reached.

Although, in many instances, waste in working coal is reduced to a minimum, it was ascertained that coal is wasted to a very considerable extent by bad working and carelessness. Under favourable systems of working the loss is about 10 per cent., but in a very large number of cases it amounts to 40 per cent. of the amount which is actually used. In addition to this, much coal is sacrificed to the necessity for leaving coal for barriers, for the support of buildings, and for other objects. The waste and loss from these causes varies in different districts. Accepting for each district the estimate of waste formed by the Commissioner by whom it was reported upon, excluding all beds of coal of less than one foot in thickness, and adopting 4000 feet as the limit of practicable depth in working, the Commissioners have presented the following estimate of the quantities of available coal contained in the known coal-fields of Great Britain and Ireland:—

It is also estimated that there are in the known coal-fields, at depths exceeding 4000 feet, after the necessary deductions are made, 7,320,840,722 tons of coal (all in England), which, were it available, would raise the total to 97,528,126,210 tons. The determination of the extent of the tracts of available coal, which, from geological considerations, can be shown to exist under the Permian, New Red Sandstone, and other superincumbent strata, was left to Professor Ramsay and Mr Prestwich for England, Professor Geikie for Scotland, and the late Professor Jukes, who was succeeded by Professor Hull, for Ireland; and, after deducting 40 per cent. for loss and other contingencies, the estimate for England and Ireland amounted to 56,273,000,000 tons. This raises the quantity of available coal in the United Kingdom to 146,480 millions of tons. Professor Geikie's report for Scotland contains no estimate. Professor Geikie states that the only areas of Permian Sandstones known to him in Scotland are in Ayrshire, at Ballantrae, at Loch Ryan, at Thornhill, at Dumfries, at Annandale, and in the Solway district; and that there is no prospect of finding workable coal except in the first and perhaps the last. In the Ayrshire district the thickness of the superincumbent rocks in the centre of the Permian basin is probably more than 2000 feet, and the coal seams would not be everywhere found in a workable condition, owing partly to a thinning away of the coals, and partly to the destruction caused by the igneous rocks; but there can hardly, he says, be any doubt that many square miles of ground containing workable coal remain untouched in the centre of the district.

The Commissioners state that Mr Prestwich formed the conclusion that there is the highest probability of a large area of productive coal measures (not included in the estimates given above)—a continuation of the valuable Belgian coal-field—existing under the secondary rocks of the south of England; but that this view was controverted by Sir Roderick Murchison. Mr Prestwich, they say, has shown that the thickness of the overlying rocks is not likely to exceed 1000 or 1200 feet; and he considers that it may be inferred that the coal basins beneath them have a length of 150 miles, with a breadth of 2 to 8 miles. The existence of this coal being still a question of theory, no attempt has been made to estimate its quantity.

In attempting to form an opinion as to what the future consumption of coal is likely to be, it was necessary to consider whether at present coal is wasted by carelessness or neglect of proper appliances for its economical consumption; and the conclusion arrived at was, that the progress of economy in using coal is not likely to operate in future with greater effect than it has hitherto done. For some time past in our manufactures there have been constant efforts to economise coal; and in some branches of trade the limits of a beneficial economy appear to be reached. The present consumption of coal for domestic use is generally estimated at one ton per head of the whole population; and the Commissioners think it probable that this rate per head will continue constant, because, though more economical methods of using coal in dwellings will probably be introduced, the increasing wealth of the country will cause coal to be more liberally used. As regards the exportation of coal, the Commissioners say there is reason to think that it will not increase much further, being likely to be checked by the development of the enormous coal-fields of North America, India, China, Japan, and other countries.

The quantity of coal raised in the United Kingdom in 1869 was 107,299,634 tons, of which 10,233,135 tons were exported, and 97,066,499 tons retained for home consumption. The total coal raised was 3 tons 17 cwts. 1 qr. 19 lbs. per head of the population.

In connexion with the probable duration of our coal-fields, the Commissioners state that, in 1865, Professor Jevons estimated that our consumption of coal was every year increasing by about 3½ per cent. of the previous year's consumption, and that this ratio of increase has since been nearly maintained. Professor Jevons showed that every improvement to effect economy of consumption had, in the case of the steam-engine, produced an increase instead of a decrease in the quantity of coal used for steam-power, by making steam-power more extensively available. He maintained that the same effect must result from economies in the use of coal for all other purposes, and that, therefore, the introduction of economies would have no effect in diminishing consumption. Assuming, then, that our population and productive industry continued to make progress at the rate observed previous to 1865, he calculated that there would be an annual consumption of 2607 millions of tons of coal at the end of a century. If the consumption increased at the rate assumed by him, the whole quantity of coal found to be available would be exhausted in 110 years. The Commissioners observe that the results involved in Professor Jevons's reasonings are so prodigious, that few persons will be found to accept his theory without considerable qualifications. It had been pointed out to them by Mr Price Williams, that Professor Jevons's conclusions at all events required modification to meet the fact that the rate of the annual growth of the population is diminishing. From 1811 to 1821 the rate of increase was 16 per cent.; between 1861 and 1871 it had fallen to 11¾ per cent. Mr Price Williams maintained that the rate of increase of the consumption of coal per head of the whole population was likewise diminishing. From 1855 to 1859 the yearly increase in the consumption of coal averaged 0·035 tons per head of the population; from 1859 to 1865 it averaged 0·145 tons per head; while from 1865 to 1869 it averaged only 0·0463 tons per head. A rapid increase in the annual consumption of coal, and a rapid increase in our population, have, in his opinion, both resulted from the abnormal development of our commercial activity, consequent upon the introduction of steam-power; and the annual increase in either case has passed through a maximum point, and is diminishing. Assuming the rates of decrease observed in the growth of the population and in the increase of the yearly consumption of coal per head of the population to be permanent, Mr Price Williams calculated that our coal supplies would be exhausted in the year 2231—in 360 years. The population of the United Kingdom in said year would, on this view, be 131,700,000, and the consumption of coal, 612,800,000 tons. A century hence, the annual consumption of coal would be 274 millions of tons. Another calculation, founded on arithmetical instead of geometrical increase in the rate of the consumption of coal, is given by the Commissioners. Simply adding for each year a quantity equal to the average annual increase of the fourteen years ending in 1869 (3 millions of tons), it is found that the consumption at the end of 100 years would be 415 millions of tons per annum, and that the estimated quantity of available coal would be consumed in 276 years. Making the assumption, which is the extreme opposite to that of Professor Jevons, that the population of the country and the yearly consumption of coal per head will both remain constant, or merely oscillate without advancing, our available coal would represent a consumption of 1273 years at the rate of 115 millions of tons per annum.

It is estimated that, beneath the Permian and other newer strata, at depths exceeding 4000 feet, there are 41,144,300,400 tons of coal (all in England)—29,341,649,067 tons at depths of between 4000 and 6000 feet (at which latter depth the temperature of the earth would be 150 degrees Fahrenheit), and 15,302,741,333 tons at depths of between 6000 and 10,000 feet, at which maximum depth the temperature of the earth would be 215 degrees Fahrenheit, or 3 degrees above the boiling-point of water at the sea-level. Of the 7320 millions of tons returned as being at greater depths than 4000 feet in the known coal-fields, 5922 millions lie between the limits of 4000 and 6000 feet in depth, and the remaining 1397 millions between 6000 and 10,000 feet. The total quantity of coal returned as lying at depths exceeding 4000 feet is over 48,465 millions. Supposing the whole of this found available, the 360 years deduced as the period of duration of our coal supplies from Mr Price Williams's calculations, would be raised to 433 years; the 276 years, based on an increasing consumption in arithmetical ratio, to 324 years; and the 1273 years, computed on the supposition of non-increasing consumption, to 1695 years.

The Commissioners remark, that the duration of our coal must be subject to contingencies, which cannot in any degree be foreseen. The rate of consumption may be thrown back by adverse causes affecting our national prosperity, or it may be accelerated by new discoveries or new developments of industry. All that is certain is, that if the present rate of increase be indefinitely continued, even in an approximate degree, the progress towards the exhaustion of our coal will be very rapid. Of course the production of coal could not continue in full operation (as all the calculations given above assume that it would) until the last remnant was used. Coal must first become scarce and dear, and this must diminish consumption and prolong duration. The absolute exhaustion of it is a stage that will probably never be reached. A time must be anticipated when, owing to the high cost of working coal, it will be more economical to import part of our coal than to raise the whole of it from our residual beds. Other countries would be in a position to supply our deficiencies, for North America alone possesses tracts of coal-bearing strata, as yet almost untouched, of 70 times the area of our own. It may well be doubted, however, the Commissioners observe, whether the manufacturing supremacy of the country can be maintained after the importation of coal has become a necessity.

The general report of the Commission is signed by the Duke of Argyll, Mr Hussey Vivian, Sir W. G. Armstrong, Professor Ramsay, Mr Woodhouse, Mr Hunt, Mr Prestwich, Mr Dickinson, Mr Geddes, Mr Hartley, Mr Forster, Mr Clark, and Dr Percy. A note from Mr Elliott is appended to the report, stating that he agreed with the other Commissioners, except as to the propriety of introducing that part of the calculation of Professor Jevons which seems to imply the possibility of the exhaustion of our coal in 110 years; and Sir Roderick Murchison adds his earnest protest against the statement made upon the probable existence of coal-fields under the Cretaceous and other secondary rocks in the south of England. Sir Roderick is of opinion that the existence of any productive coal-fields in this quarter is in the highest degree improbable.

COALS, CINDERS, AND CULM.

The following Table (in continuation of tables in former Almanacs) shows the number of tons of coals, cinders, and culm shipped at the ports of Scotland coastwise, and the number of tons and declared value of coals, cinders and coke, and culm, exported from Scotland in each of the years 1869 and 1870:—

The 52 banks, on the 20th November 1870, had 52 unpaid and 170 paid officers. The amount of security given by the unpaid officers was £14,150, by the paid officers £36,765. The salaries and allowances of the paid officers amounted to £10,375. The annual expenses of management, inclusive of all payments and salaries, amounted to £13,240, being at the rate of 6s. 11d. per cent. on the capital of the banks. The total amount invested with the Commissioners for the Reduction of the National Debt (exclusive of the surplus fund) was £3,809,422; the balance in the hands of the treasurers, £27,922; the surplus fund in the hands of the Commissioners, £2868. The average rate of interest paid to depositors was £2, 19s. 4d.

The following Table shows the number of Savings Banks in each province of the United Kingdom, the number of accounts remaining open, and the total amount owing to depositors, as well on the 20th November 1869 as on the 20th November 1870:—

The number of Savings Banks which, under the provisions of 26 Vict. c. 14, or otherwise, had been closed in the United Kingdom, and had transferred their funds, or any part thereof, to Post-office Savings Banks, up to 20th November 1870, was 155 (138 in England and Wales, 6 in Scotland, and 11 in Ireland). The number of depositors' balances on 20th November previous to date of notice of these banks to close, was 147,716 (143,600 in England and Wales, 2034 in Scotland, and 2082 in Ireland). The amount of such balances was £3,449,882 (£3,377,410 in England and Wales, £19,944 in Scotland, and £52,527 in Ireland). The number of accounts transferred to Post-office Savings Banks was 77,059 (76,461 in England and Wales, 238 in Scotland, and 360 in Ireland). The amount of the accounts transferred (viz., by transfer certificates, excluding £197,260 estimated to have been paid in cash by about 9910 of the depositors in these closed banks to the Post-office Savings Banks) was £1,878,503 (£1,867,831 in England and Wales, £634 in Scotland, and £10,037 in Ireland). The amount of compensation paid to officers of these closed banks, under the Act 26 Vict. c. 14, was £28,038.

SHIPPING OF SCOTLAND.

The number of sailing vessels, of and under 50 tons, registered in Scotland, on the 31st day of December 1870, was 788, tonnage, 25,181; above 50 tons, 1927, tonnage, 702,761. The number of steam vessels, of and under 50 tons, was 153, tonnage, 3889; above 50 tons, 429, tonnage, 205,253.

Of sailing vessels there were registered at Aberdeen 233, tonnage, 96,694; at Arbroath, 72, tonnage, 10,932; at Ardrossan, 91, tonnage, 10,310; at Ayr, 49, tonnage, 9636; at Banff, 127, tonnage, 16,787; at Campbelton, 27, tonnage, 1501; at Dumfries, 84, tonnage, 10,724; at Fraserburgh, 3, tonnage, 447; at Inverness, 143, tonnage, 10,217; at Irvine, 24, tonnage, 3695; at Kirkcaldy, 24, tonnage, 2909; at Kirkwall, 42, tonnage, 2473; at Lerwick, 80, tonnage, 3355; at Montrose, 100, tonnage, 17,728; at Peterhead, 76, tonnage, 10,410; at Stornoway, 22, tonnage, 1325; at Stranraer, 41, tonnage, 3036; at Troon, 9, tonnage, 2644; at Wick, 69, tonnage, 6956; at Wigtown, 44, tonnage, 2303; on the River Clyde: at Glasgow, 557, tonnage, 280,844; at Greenock, 340, tonnage, 116,900; at Port-Glasgow, 27, tonnage, 12,159—total, 924, tonnage, 409,903; on the River Forth: at Alloa, 31, tonnage, 8140; at Borrowstounness, 40, tonnage, 6034; at Grangemouth, 42, tonnage, 8812; at Granton, 6, tonnage, 700; at Leith, 105, tonnage, 22,364—total, 224, tonnage, 46,050; on the River Tay: at Dundee, 161, tonnage, 43,489; at Perth, 46, tonnage, 4418—total, 207; tonnage, 47,907.

Of steam vessels there were registered at Aberdeen 19, tonnage, 5250; at Ardrossan, 7, tonnage, 731; at Ayr, 6, tonnage, 1352; at Campbelton, 3, tonnage, 337; at Dumfries, 1, tonnage, 46; at Inverness, 1, tonnage, 25; at Irvine, 1, tonnage, 15; at Kirkcaldy, 6, tonnage, 608; at Kirkwall, 3, tonnage, 122; at Lerwick, 1, tonnage 64; at Montrose, 2, tonnage, 40; at Peterhead, 4, tonnage, 1081; at Troon, 1, tonnage, 133; at Wick, 1, tonnage, 44; at Wigtown, 1, tonnage, 284; on the River Clyde: at Glasgow, 335, tonnage, 147,418; at Greenock, 33, tonnage, 2473; at Port-Glasgow, 12, tonnage, 1394—total, 380, tonnage, 151,285; on the River Forth: at Alloa, 9, tonnage, 339; at Borrowstounness, 1, tonnage, 31; at Grangemouth, 17, tonnage, 5368;

The number of sailing vessels entered coastwise in Scotland, in 1870, was 10,509 (10,452 British, 57 Foreign); tonnage, 780,921 (774,646 British, 6275 Foreign): the number cleared coastwise was 13,597 (13,570 British, 27 Foreign); tonnage, 998,195 (993,372 British, 4823 Foreign). The number of steam vessels entered coastwise was 7772 (all British); tonnage, 1,743,304: the number cleared coastwise, 7509 (all British except one of 1011 tons); tonnage, 1,725,550.

The number of sailing vessels entered inwards from the Colonies in Scotland, in 1870, was 491 (457 British, 34 Foreign); tonnage, 287,052 (273,363 British, 13,689 Foreign): the number cleared outwards for the Colonies was 616 (596 British, 20 Foreign); tonnage, 390,680 (382 216 British, 8464 Foreign). The number of steam vessels entered inwards from the Colonies was 38 (all British); tonnage, 35,133: the number cleared outwards for the Colonies was 81 (all British but 1 of 1780 tons); tonnage, 65,102.

The number of sailing vessels entered inwards from Foreign ports in Scotland, in 1870, was 5050 (1690 British, 3360 Foreign); tonnage, 879,598 (370,534 British, 509,064 Foreign): the number that cleared outwards for Foreign ports was 5810 (2031 British, 3779 Foreign); tonnage, 974,792 (394,623 British, 580,169 Foreign). The number of steam vessels entered inwards from Foreign ports was 1047 (919 British, 128 Foreign); tonnage, 500,668 (453,153 British, 47,515 Foreign): the number cleared outwards was 1185 (1043 British, 142 Foreign); tonnage, 543,819 (490,843 British, 52,976 Foreign).

The subjoined Table shows the number and tonnage of sailing and steam vessels entered and cleared in Scotland in the Coasting, Colonial, and Foreign Trades, in the year 1870:—

No colonial-built vessels were registered at the ports of Scotland in 1870, but 5 foreign-built vessels were registered, tonnage 1215 tons.

The following Table shows the number and tonnage of vessels entered and cleared from and to foreign countries and British Possessions, at the three chief ports of Scotland, four chief ports of England, and three chief ports of Ireland, in 1870:—

From a return of the number and tonnage of vessels above 50 tons, built in each port of the United Kingdom, it appears that, during the year 1870, there were built at Aberdeen 12 vessels, aggregate tonnage, 6305; 6 sailing vessels (4 of wood, 1 of iron, and 1 composite), and 6 steamers (5 of iron and 1 of wood). At Alloa, 2 wooden sailing vessels of 692 tons. At Arbroath, 2 sailing vessels (of wood), tonnage, 248. At Ayr, 1 sailing vessel (of wood), of 593 tons. At Banff, 13 sailing vessels (of wood), aggregate tonnage, 2282. At Borrowstounness, 3 sailing vessels (of wood), aggregate tonnage, 1127. At Dundee, 12 vessels (3 sailing vessels, 2 of wood and 1 composite, and 9 steam vessels, 6 of iron and 3 of wood), aggregate tonnage, 6319. At Fraserburgh, 1 sailing vessel (of wood), of 76 tons. At Glasgow, 98 vessels, aggregate tonnage, 81,949; 27 being sailing vessels (24 iron, 3 composite), and 71 steamers (all of iron). At Granton, 1 sailing vessel (of wood), of 295 tons. At Greenock, 19 vessels, aggregate tonnage, 21,180; 6 being sailing vessels (5 of wood, 1 composite), and 13 steamers (of iron). At Irvine, 2 sailing vessels (of wood), tonnage, 291. At Kirkcaldy, 2 vessels, 1 a sailing vessel (of wood) and 1 a steamer (of iron), aggregate tonnage, 1536. At Kirkwall, 1 sailing vessel (of wood), tonnage, 92. At Montrose, 3 sailing vessels (of wood), tonnage, 602. At Perth, 5 sailing vessels (of wood), tonnage, 611. At Peterhead, 6 sailing vessels (of wood), tonnage, 763. At Port-Glasgow, 33 vessels, tonnage, 15,565; 12 being sailing vessels (of iron), and 21 steamers (19 of iron and 2 of wood). At Wigtown, 1 wooden sailing vessel of 173 tons.

CALEDONIAN CANAL.

The Sixty-sixth Report of the Commissioners of the Caledonian Canal is for the year ended 30th April 1871, and states that the navigation of the Canal suffered no injury or impediment from frost or flood during the year, but that it was exposed to some interruption from a scarcity of water at the summit level in Loch Oich. For ten years there had been an unfailing supply of water in that loch; but in June 1869 the depth of water in the shallows opposite Invergarry, and in the Laggan cutting, was reduced for a time from its standard level of 17 feet to 12 feet. Again, in September 1870, that depth was reduced to 7 feet; and at the end of June 1871 the depth did not exceed 8 feet. The lock-gates, walls, and other works of the Canal had been maintained in a state of high efficiency during the year, and several improvements had been effected, and, especially, more extended accommodation had been provided for the traffic at Banavie. Dredging had been carried on wherever it was required. It was possible that dredging might have to be applied on a great scale to the shallows at Loch Oich. The receipts from the Canal during the year amounted to £7826, being an increase of £883 upon the amount received in the previous year (£6943). The receipts of 1871 included £826, the value of certain land sold by the Commissioners as Bona; on the other hand, the receipts of 1870 included £528, the price of timber on the banks of the Canal. The expenditure in the year ended 30th April 1871 amounted to £6526, which was more by £219 than the expenditure in the preceding year (£6306). The receipts in the year 1870-71, therefore, exceeded the expenditure by £1300; the surplus in the preceding year had been £637. Of the expenditure of 1870-71, £642 is to be set down to extra works and improvements. The tonnage dues on shipping during the year 1870-71 exceeded by £651 those of the preceding year; but other branches of the revenue showed a decrease of £90, of which £54 was due to the diminished receipts upon shore and anchorage dues. The blockade of the ports of the Baltic and the Elbe having discouraged the fisheries in 1870, the number of fishing-boats which passed through the Canal in 1871 fell to 421 from 512, the corresponding number in the preceding year. The balance of the Commissioners at the Bank of Scotland, at 30th April 1871, was £2993. In the year 1870-71, the number of through passages from the east to the west sea was 914; in the previous year it was 589. The number of passages from the west to the east sea was 743; in the previous year it was 555. The number of passages on parts of the Canal was 246; in the previous year it was 265. The number of passages by steamers was 586; in the previous year it was 595. The total number of passages made on the Canal was 2489; in the preceding year it was 2004. In the year 1870-71, the tonnage dues on vessels navigating on the Canal amounted to £5216; in the preceding year it was £4564; and the transit tolls on passengers amounted to £504; while in the preceding year they amounted to £512.

CRINAN CANAL.

The navigation of the Crinan Canal was interrupted for a few days in the winter of 1870-71 by a severe frost, but had otherwise been efficiently maintained. It is observed that the finances of the Canal may be regarded as prosperous. The receipts of the Canal and harbour in the year ended 30th April 1871 amounted to £4814, being an increase of £782 upon the amount in the preceding year (£4032). The expenditure in the year 1870-71 amounted to £4122, a decrease of £1029 upon the amount in the preceding year (£5152); but the expenditure of 1869-70 included the payment of £414, the balance of the old Crinan Canal account, which for some years had been in course of payment at the rate of £250 a year, and also £522 in satisfaction of unsettled claims, besides the cost of extensive repairs and improvements. The balance due by the Commissioners to the Bank of Scotland, at 30th April 1871, was £658, having been £1335 at the same date in the preceding year, and it was being met by the accruing revenue of the current year. Considerable repairs have been made during the year in different parts of the Canal.

THE ORDNANCE SURVEY.

The Report of Major-General Sir Henry James on "the progress of the Ordnance Survey to the 31st December 1870," is dated 1st April 1871. The survey, which, from its commencement at the end of last century, had been conducted under the Board of Ordnance and the War-Office, was, in 1870, transferred to the Board of Works. At the date of the Report, the survey was proceeding, in England, in Flintshire, Denbighshire, and Cheshire, Essex, and Sussex. In Scotland, the survey of Argyllshire (on the mainland) had been finished, and also that of Caithness; so that there remained to be surveyed of the mainland of Scotland, only the mountainous parts of Sutherland, Ross, and Inverness. In Ireland, the survey of which has been completed, the revision of the survey for the valuation department was proceeding in the county of Carlow, in the city of Londonderry, and some small towns in Kildare.

The area surveyed in England up to the end of 1870 was 19,784 square miles (the area of the country being 58,000 square miles); of which 1399 square miles was surveyed in 1870.

The area surveyed in Scotland up to the end of 1870 was 22,815 square miles (the area of the country being 30,000 square miles); and of this 1883 square miles had been surveyed during 1870. The following counties in Scotland had been surveyed:—Aberdeen, Ayr, Banff, Berwick, Bute, Clackmannan, Dumbarton, Dumfries, Edinburgh, Elgin, Fife, Forfar, Haddington, Kincardine, Kinross, Kirkcudbright, Lanark, Linlithgow, Peebles, Nairn, Perth, Renfrew, Roxburgh, Selkirk, Stirling, Wigtown; and the survey was in progress in Argyll, Caithness, Inverness, Ross and Cromarty, and Sutherland.

The plans of parishes in Scotland on the 1-2500 scale had been published for the cultivated portions of the counties of Ayr, Banff, Berwick, Bute, Clackmannan, Dumbarton, Dumfries, Forfar, Kincardine, Lanark, Linlithgow, Nairn, Peebles, Perth, Renfrew, Roxburgh, Selkirk, Stirling; and the publication was in progress for Aberdeenshire, Argyllshire, Elginshire, and Inverness-shire. The area published in 1870 was 562 square miles; and the total area published on this scale amounted at the end of the year to 8953 square miles.

The six-inch maps had been published of the following counties in Scotland, viz., Ayr, Berwick, Bute, Clackmannan, Dumbarton, Dumfries, Edinburgh, Forfar, Fife, Haddington, Kincardine, Kinross, Kirkcudbright, Lanark, Linlithgow, Peebles, Perth, Renfrew, Roxburgh, Selkirk, Stirling, Wigtown, and the Isle of Lewis; and the maps of Aberdeenshire, Argyllshire, Banffshire, Inverness-shire, and Nairnshire were in progress of engraving. The area published during 1870 was 508 square miles, making a total area of 15,441 square miles published on this scale.

Of the one-inch map of Scotland, four sheets, including 1007 square miles, were published during 1870, making the area published on this scale 10,565 square miles.

The survey of the towns in Scotland was completed in 1868. The maps of towns in Scotland are on the 1-500 or ten-feet scale, excepting those of the following places:—Ayr, Cupar, Dalkeith, Dumfries, Dunfermline, Edinburgh, Haddington, Kirkcaldy, Kirkcudbright, Linlithgow, Musselburgh, Selkirk, St Andrews, Stranraer, Wigtown. The maps of the towns enumerated have been engraved on the five-feet scale. The map of Aberdeen, drawn on the 1-500 scale, had not been published at the date of the Report.

Among special services performed by the survey during 1870, it is stated that two volumes of the series of National MSS. of Scotland had been published. The documents for the third and last volume of the series had been received. A revision of the 1-500 scale plan of Dundee, to include buildings recently erected, had been undertaken at the desire of the Police Commissioners of the burgh, and was in progress. The cost, estimated at £668, was to be paid by the Commissioners.

The sale of the Ordnance Maps of Scotland (including £366, the value of those supplied to public departments, and under the provisions of the Copyright Act), during the year 1870, yielded the sum of £1485 (viz., one-inch maps, £151; six-inch maps, £379; 1-2500 scale maps, £597; 5-feet and 10-feet plans of towns, £95; and National MSS. of Scotland, £262).

AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS.

In his Report prefixed to the Agricultural Returns of Great Britain for the year 1870, Mr Fonblanque states that the number of returns obtained in 1870, 529,150, was less by 11,676 than the number for 1869, the decrease, which occurred nearly altogether in England, being chiefly due to a greater number of occupiers of more than one farm having made one return for all their farms instead of separate returns for each farm.

A classification of holdings, according to their acreage, was in 1870 made for the first time. In England 54 per cent. of the holdings, in Wales 48 per cent., and in Scotland 57 per cent. do not exceed 20 acres. In English counties, the highest proportion of holdings not exceeding 20 acres occurred in the West Riding of York, where it reached 64 per cent., and the lowest was 35 per cent. in Cumberland and Westmoreland. The highest percentage of holdings between 20 and 100 acres was 48 per cent. in Westmoreland, and the lowest was 19 per cent. in Wilts. Of holdings above 100 acres, the percentage was as high as 35 per cent. in Northumberland, and as low as 7 per cent. in Lancaster. In Wales the percentage of holdings not exceeding 20 acres was as high as 68 per cent. in Flint, and as low as 24 per cent. in Brecon; of holdings between 20 and 100 acres, Brecon showed 60 per cent. and Flint only 24 per cent.; of holdings above 100 acres, Radnor contained 21 per cent., and Merioneth and Flint only 8 per cent. In Scotland the proportion of holdings not exceeding 20 acres was lowest in Ayr, where it was only 27 per cent., and highest in Sutherland, where it was 95 per cent.; the proportion of holdings between 20 and 100 acres was highest in Stirlingshire, where it was 43 per cent., and lowest in Sutherland, where it was 3 per cent.; and of holdings above 100 acres, the highest proportion was 52 per cent. in Haddingtonshire, the lowest 2 per cent. in Sutherlandshire. The quantity of land under each class of holdings was not ascertained, but it is estimated that, although the number of holdings not exceeding 20 acres amounted to 54 per cent. of the total number of holdings, the probable quantityof land held by that class of occupiers was not quite 9 per cent. of the total acreage returned. The proportion of holdings between 20 and 100 acres was 28 per cent., and the probable quantity of land held about 26 per cent. of the total acreage. The proportion of holdings above 100 acres was 18 per cent., and the probable quantity of land held under such holdings was about 65 per cent. of the total acreage returned.

An attempt was also made in 1870 to ascertain, both as regards grass under rotation and permanent pasture, the acreages intended for hay and not for hay. The results obtained were as follows:—1. Of grasses under rotation, in England 1,525,271 acres were for hay, and 1,241,506 acres were not for hay; in Wales, 205,346 acres were for hay, and 192,936 not for hay; in Scotland, 338,616 acres were for hay, and 1,001,209 acres not for hay; in Great Britain, 2,069,233 acres were for hay, and 2,435,651 acres not for hay. Estimating the average yield of hay per acre at one ton, and the average price of hay at £4 per ton, the hay obtained from grass under rotation is found to be of the value of £8,280,000. Of permanent pasture there were returned in England, 2,647,448 acres as for hay, and 7,032,763 acres as not for hay; in Wales, 319,835 acres as for hay, and 1,107,814 acres as not for hay; in Scotland, 99,868 acres as for hay, and 865,128 acres as not for hay; in Great Britain, 3,067,151 acres as for hay, and 9,005,705 as not for hay. Estimating the average yield at 18 cwt. per acre, and the average price at £3 per ton, the estimated average value of hay grown from permanent pasture is found to be £8,280,000. The total average quantity of hay grown, both from sown grasses and permanent pasture, is therefore 4,830,000 tons, and its estimated value about £16,560,000.

The returns of horses in Great Britain were made upon a new principle in 1870, so that no comparison can be made between them and those for the preceding year. The returns in 1870 were confined to the number of horses exempt from duty, that is, horses used solely for agriculture and by market gardeners, unbroken horses, and mares kept only for breeding. The number of horses for which licenses were issued in 1870 could, of course, be otherwise ascertained. The number of horses returned in 1870 was, in England, 977,707; in Wales, 116,131; in Scotland, 172,871—total for Great Britain, 1,266,709. Of this total 965,515 were used solely for agriculture and by market gardeners, and 301,194 were unbroken horses, and mares kept for breeding, the latter amounting to 38,141. In England and Wales the number of licenses issued in 1870 was 770,306, and in Scotland it was 70,902—total for Great Britain, 841,208. The agricultural returns and the licenses issued, therefore, show a total of 2,107,709 horses; but as some horses used partly in agriculture and liable to duty may have been included both in the agricultural returns and in the number of licenses, and as two or more licenses may have been taken for the same horse upon changes of ownership, some deduction must be made from this total. The number of horses in Great Britain may probably be taken at 2,050,000. The number of horses returned in Ireland was 531,306, which makes a total for the United Kingdom of 2,581,306 horses.

The following Table shows the number of agricultural holdings not exceeding 5 acres, from 5 to 20 acres, from 20 to 50 acres, from 50 to 100 acres, and above 100 acres; also the proportion per cent. which the holdings not exceeding 20 acres, above 20 and not exceeding 100 acres, and above 100 acres respectively bear to the whole number of holdings, for each county of Scotland, for each division of Great Britain, and the totals for Great Britain :—

In Great Britain there were 23,957 acres under flax in 1870, against 20,923 in 1869. In Scotland there were 1399 acres under flax in 1870, against 1306 in 1869. In Ireland there were 194,893 acres under flax in 1870, against 229,178 acres in the previous year. There were, in 1870, twenty counties in Scotland in which flax was more or less grown, but only twelve counties in which the land under this crop amounted to 12 acres. There were, in 1870, 18 acres under flax in Aberdeenshire, 114 in Ayrshire, 11 in Berwickshire, 120 in Dumbartonshire, 17 in Edinburghshire, 167 in Fifeshire, 13 in Haddingtonshire, 302 in Lanarkshire, 108 in Linlithgowshire, 18 in Renfrewshire, 30 in Roxburghshire, and 444 in Stirlingshire.

The following Table shows the total of acreage under all kinds of crops, bare fallow, and grass, the acreage of bare fallow, and of grass, clover, etc., under rotation, and permanent pasture not broken up in rotation (exclusive of heath and mountain land), and the percentage of acreage under corn crops, green crops, bare fallow, and grass, in the years 1869 and 1870, in each division of the United Kingdom; and the corresponding totals for the United Kingdom (including the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands):—

The next Table gives the abstract of live stock returned, and the proportionate number of live stock to every 100 acres under crops, fallow, and grass in each division of the United Kingdom, and the totals for the United Kingdom (including the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands); also the number of persons from whom returns were obtained for the years 1869 and 1870. In Great Britain only horses used for agriculture, unbroken horses, and mares kept solely for breeding are included in the returns. In Ireland all descriptions of horses are included.

A summary published by the Board of Trade, in anticipation of the Agricultural Returns for 1871, shows that in 1871, in Great Britain, there were under wheat 3,575,996 acres, being 75,453 or 2·2 per cent. more than in 1870; under barley, 2,387,719 acres, being 15,680 or 0·70 per cent. more than in 1870; under oats 2,719,308 acres, being 43,992 or 1·6 per cent. less than in 1870; under potatoes, 628,287 acres, being 40,626 or 6·9 per cent. more than in 1870. Also that the number of cattle in Great Britain, in 1871, was 5,339,332, being 63,985 or 1·2 per cent. less than in 1870; of sheep, 27,132,898, being 1,264,691 or 4·5 per cent. less than in 1870; and of pigs, 2,499,889, being 328,751, or 15·1 per cent. more than in 1870.

THE EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN, YOUNG PERSONS, AND WOMEN IN AGRICULTURE.

The Fourth Report of the Commissioners on the Employment of Children, Young Persons, and Women in Agriculture (1867), appointed "for the purpose of ascertaining to what extent, and with what modifications, the principle of the Factory Acts can be adopted for the regulation of such employment, and especially with a view to the better education of such children," is confined to Scotland—the work of the Commissioners in connexion with England having been completed in their previous reports. It is not intended that the inquiry shall be extended to Ireland. The leading principles of the Factory Acts are the protection of the young from excessive labour; and the requirement of a certain amount of school attendance for children between the ages of 8 and 13 earning wages, no one under the age of 8 being allowed to be employed. The Commissioners were Mr Hugh Seymour Tremenheere and Mr Edward Carleton Tufnell; and Mr F. H. Norman, M.A., Mr George Culley, B.A., Mr J. Henry Tremenheere, Mr Robert Boyle, M.A., and Mr C. Walter Campion acted under them as Assistant-Commissioners. The Commissioners state that the general result to be gathered from the evidence and reports of the Assistant-Commissioners in regard to the education of the young corresponds entirely with the results of the inquiry of the Education Commission for Scotland in 1866. (See Almanac for 1868, pp. 300–322). While there exists almost invariably among the labouring classes in the rural districts in Scotland a remarkably high tone of feeling on the subject of education, there is a large minority even among the native Scotch children growing up with very imperfect education, and, for the practical purposes of life, with none at all; and a large proportion of the children of the fast-increasing Irish population are in the same condition. This imperfect state of education arises, in some cases, from the poverty, but, in most cases, either from the entire indifference of the parents, or from the want of sufficient thoughtfulness, arrangement, and management, quite within the parents' means and opportunities. Upon the question of compulsory school attendance there has been, the Commissioners observe, a considerable maturing of public opinion in Scotland since 1866; and now the country in general is prepared for a measure of compulsion such as would be in harmony with the habits of the population in the rural districts, though in districts where education has been well attended to a feeling still prevails against legislative interference, and a fear that it might weaken the sense of parental responsibility in regard to education. Four out of the five Assistant-Commissioners have reported a strong feeling as existing in favour of compulsion in some suitable form. In general, it may be said that, for children old enough to be employed at farm work, a half-time system prevails already; but the teachers complain greatly of irregularity of attendance, and find that those children whose education is backward when they are first set to work, never attain to a fair proficiency. Mr Norman, who reported on Aberdeenshire and the neighbouring counties, was the only Assistant-Commissioner who came to the conclusion that it was not desirable to introduce the principle of the Factory Acts; his reasons being, that the means of education were abundant and fairly taken advantage of, and that there was a half-time system as rigorous as public opinion would sanction already in operation. Mr Culley from the same premises drew an opposite conclusion, thinking it desirable to compel careless parents, the minority, to conform to the present practice of careful parents, the majority. His proposal, the only definite proposal upon this subject contained in the report, is, that school attendance should be compulsory for 8 months in the year for children between 6 and 10 years of age, and for 4 months in the year for children between 10 and 13; any child of 12 able to pass in the 5th standard of the Revised Code to be relieved of the obligation to further attendance, and any child of 9 able to pass in the 4th standard to rank as a child of 10. The Commissioners state that it clearly appears that, in regard to the employment of women, no abuse exists in Scotland calling for the intervention of the Legislature.

THE SALMON FISHERIES OF SCOTLAND.

The Report of the Special Commissioners appointed to inquire into the effect of recent legislation on the Salmon Fisheries in Scotland (Mr Frank Buckland, M.A., Inspector of Salmon Fisheries for England and Wales, and Mr Archibald Young, Advocate, Commissioner of Scotch Salmon Fisheries) is dated July 1871.

The Commissioners came to the conclusion that the general effect of recent legislation has been beneficial, but that the Acts of 1862 and 1868 are, in many respects, susceptible of improvement. They found that, while Scotland was divided into 120 fishery districts, there are not above 30 district boards constituted and working, a reason for which is to be found in the smallness of many of the districts and the poverty of the fishings. They found, moreover, that several district boards, after having been constituted, had been allowed to lapse, in consequence of a neglect of the triennial election provided for by the Act of 1862. They found a very general wish among those connected with salmon fisheries that Government inspectors should be appointed, whose duty it should be to enforce the law, the provisions of which, in the large majority of fishery districts, there being no district boards, are not carried out, and to advise with district boards where they exist; to prepare annual statistical accounts of the fisheries, with suggestions for their regulation and improvement; to counteract local influences where these interfere with the impartial application of the law; to give advice, where required, as to the form, position, and construction of salmon ladders and passes, and the opening up of natural obstructions. There are inspectors of fisheries in England and Wales and in Ireland, and it was felt that the Scotch fisheries, being of great value, were entitled to similar superintendence. They also found that the constitution of the district boards did not meet with general approval; and that there was a desire that their powers should, as regards some matters, be amplified or defined.

They report that the observance of the weekly close-time has, in many parts of Scotland, been very imperfect; and that the non-observance of it by fixed engines has been more frequent than by net and coble. In the case of bag-nets, where the observance of it is at times made impracticable by the weather, it might be made imperative, when this has happened, to slap the nets for the number of hours appointed at some other time in the same week. In the case of stake-nets, the same sort of difficulty might be obviated by making the close-time for them run from the first low water after the statutory period for the commencement of close-time.

The principal conclusions arrived at by the Commissioners were as follows:—

That the present period of 168 days' annual close-time is, upon the whole, suited to the majority of the salmon rivers in Scotland, but that power should be given to the Secretary of State to make it longer than 168 days in certain cases. That breaches of the annual close-time by owners or occupiers of fixed nets should be punished as severely as breaches of the weekly close-time, which they cannot be under the existing Acts. That salmon caught with the rod during the extension of time for angling should not be sold or exposed for sale, and that increased powers should be given for searching for unclean and unseasonable fish. That the weekly close-time should be increased to forty-eight, or at least to forty-two hours—from 6 A.M. or from noon on Saturday till 6 A.M. on Monday—and, as means conducive to its observance, that the penalties should be made heavier, that the watchers should be more numerous, and the assistance of the county police made available, that the boats should be fastened with chain and padlock, and the oars locked up, during its continuance. That no stake or bag nets should be allowed within half a mile of the mouth of any river, and that in certain cases they should be removed to a distance of two miles; that no fixed engine should be permitted between the mouths of rivers that fall into the sea close together; that some restriction should be put upon the number of stake and bag nets along a certain stretch of coast; that the junction of stake and bag nets should be prohibited; that the present position and number of fixed engines should be officially registered; and that no farther additions to their number should be allowed. That the provisions of the by-law (Schedule G, Act 1868) relating to the construction and alteration of mill-dams or lades or water-wheels, should be more stringent; that the 56th clause of the "Tweed Fisheries Act, 1857," as to the regulation of mill-dams and caulds, should be adopted; and that gratings, or smolt-proof hecks, or wire network, with meshes not exceeding 1 inch measured round the mesh, should be placed at the entrance to every intake lade during the time that the smolts are migrating to the sea. That the existing regulations with regard to hecks should be strictly carried out, and that some limit should be put to the almost total absorption of water by mill-lades. Paragraph 2 of Schedule G has in practice been found insufficient. That increased powers should be given to district boards for removing or making easily passable natural obstructions to the ascent of salmon to the upper spawning grounds. They should have compulsory powers for doing this, subject to the sanction of the Home Office, they paying the expense. Where the obstructions serve no industrial purpose, they think the proprietors' right, grounded only on the argument of amenity, should give way to the public interest. The boards should have to pay only the actual expense of making passes in cases where the main current of the water is not interfered with. That artificial obstructions may, in the great majority of cases, be made passable for salmon, without interfering with the industries of the country, and that this may be done either by constructing new ladders or passes, or by altering those that already exist but are not efficient. That, in any future Act, power should be given to the Secretary of State, under certain conditions, to combine some of the smaller adjacent districts into one large district, or to separate too large a district into one or more smaller ones, and that district boards should not be allowed to lapse, but should remain in office until their successors are appointed. That Government inspectors should be appointed for Scotland, to visit and report upon the salmon fisheries annually, to advise district boards, and to enforce the provisions of the Salmon Fishery Acts in those districts where boards have not been constituted. That the Secretary of State should have power, under certain conditions, to alter the regulations with regard to the meshes of nets. That it should be more clearly defined how far the 6th clause of the 6th section of "The Salmon Fisheries (Scotland) Act, 1862," affects the by-laws of the Commissioners. That the meaning of the term "fixed engine" should be distinctly defined in any future Act. That licenses upon boats, nets, and rods are in some cases desirable. That the Secretary of State should be empowered, after due inquiry, to alter the existing estuary lines, on application of the district board, or, where there is no board, of two proprietors, and also to re-adjust the boundaries between sea and river where there is no estuary. Where there is no estuary, or a small one, the distance within which the law relating to estuaries should be applicable should be fixed within a maximum limit of two miles on each side of the river mouth. That the clauses relating to the pollution of rivers in the existing Acts require to be amended and made more stringent, and more capable of practical application by district boards. That increased powers should be given for the protection of rivers, and that the county police should assist in prosecuting and punishing breaches of the Salmon Acts. That "parr" should be more distinctly protected than at present under the 19th section of the Act of 1868. That certain additions should be made to the offences specified in the 15th section of "The Salmon Fisheries (Scotland) Act, 1868," viz., the setting up and using any fixed net within a river or estuary; the fishing for salmon in any intake, tail-lade, or other artificial watercourse connected with any mill or manufactory; the fishing for salmon with any rake, or drag-hook, or similar engine; and that there should be a fixed minimum as well as a maximum penalty for offences—the minimum to be one-fourth of the maximum. Also that landing-nets should be placed among prohibited instruments for the capture of salmon. The sheriff, or a justice or magistrate, should have power to grant a search-warrant on summary application on the oath of any person having reason to suspect any person of having foul fish in his possession. That a clause should be introduced to modify the over-fishing by net and coble, practised on some of the larger Scotch rivers. That means might be adopted in many of the Scotch salmon rivers so to manage the storage and distribution of water as to counteract the prejudicial effects upon the fisheries of the improved system of land drainage. Many of our salmon rivers have either the main stream or some of its tributaries connected with lochs, and the heavy rainfall of the wet months might, without much difficulty, be stored up in the lochs, and let out in the dry season at times when the salmon cannot ascend the rivers.

WRECKS AND CASUALTIES.

The number of wrecks, casualties, and collisions from all causes on and near the coasts of the United Kingdom (in waters within 10 miles from the shores of the United Kingdom, in waters within any bays or estuaries, in waters around any outlying sandbanks which are dry at low water, in the seas between Great Britain and Ireland, and between the Orkney and Shetland and Western Islands and the mainland of Scotland) reported in 1870 was 1502; 612 less than the number reported in 1870, less than the number reported in any year since 1864, less by 360 than the average of the five years 1866–70 (1862). In the wrecks, casualties, and collisions of 1870, 774 lives were lost on 124 vessels; in those of 1869, 933 lives were lost on 211 vessels. The returns since 1861 show that about 1 out of 12 casualties results in loss of life. Few gales of remarkable force and duration occurred during 1870. The most serious gale of the year occurred on 12th October, the direction of the wind being from S.E. westerly to N.W., and 99 wrecks and casualties are reported to have occurred on that and the following day. The number of ships lost or damaged in the 1502 casualties of 1870 was 1865—729 less than in 1869—and their tonnage was upwards of 404,000 tons; 1552 of those vessels are known to have belonged to Great Britain and its dependencies, and 271 to have belonged to foreign countries, while the country and employment of the remaining 42 are unknown. Of the British vessels 1101 were employed in the coasting trade, and 451 in the (over-sea) foreign and home trade. 14 of the foreign vessels were employed in the British coasting trade. The number of collisions in 1870 was 361, and of wrecks and casualties other than collisions, 1141. Of these 1141, 411 resulted in total loss, and 730 in partial damage; while the average of the 10 years 1861–70 was—total loss, 508$\frac{9}{10}$; partial damage, 818$\frac{1}{2}$. Of the 411 total losses, 160 are said to have been caused by stress of weather, 77 by inattention, carelessness, and neglect, 63 by defects in the ships or their equipments; of the other 730 casualties, 350 were caused by stress of weather, 154 by inattention, carelessness, and neglect, and 74 by defects in the ships or their equipments. In the last ten years 528 ships appear to have been lost, and 586 to have been damaged, from defects in the ships or their equipments. Of the 361 collisions, 73 resulted in total loss, and 288 in partial damage; the averages of the ten years 1861–70 being—total loss, 79$\frac{1}{2}$; partial damage, 293$\frac{1}{2}$. Of the 1865 vessels lost or damaged in 1870, 69 were rigged as ships, 195 were steamships, 481 schooners, 276 brigs, 234 barques, 199 brigantines, and 124 smacks, the remainder being small vessels rigged in various ways. 790 of them did not exceed 100 tons burthen, 659 were from 100 to 300 tons, 304 from 300 to 600, and only 112 were above 600 tons burthen. Of the 1502 casualties of all kinds, 701 occurred on the east coast (from Dungeness to Duncansbay Head), 148 on the south coast, 412 on the west coast (from the Land's End to the Mull of Cantyre), 46 on the north and west coast of Scotland (from the Mull of Cantyre to Duncansbayhead, including Orkney and Shetland, the Hebrides, etc.), 163 on the Irish coast. 795 happened when the wind was at force 6 or under, that is to say, when it did not exceed a strong breeze in which the ship could carry single reefs and top-gallant sails, 141 with the wind at forces 7 and 8, that is, with a moderate to fresh gale, and 492 with the wind at force 9 and upwards, that is to say, from a strong gale to a hurricane. The number of lives lost in 1870 (774) was less than the number lost in any year since 1865. Of the 124 vessels on which they were lost, 99 were laden, 18 in ballast, and it is unknown whether the others were laden or light; 111 were entirely lost. 105 lives were lost in vessels that foundered, 112 through collisions, 467 in vessels stranded or cast ashore, the remaining 90 from various causes.

Of wrecks and casualties, other than collisions, which occurred to British vessels abroad—on the coasts of the Channel Islands and the British possessions abroad, on the coasts of foreign countries, and at sea—the number reported in 1870 (some of which may have occurred in the previous year) was 1068; 626 vessels, of which 427 belonged to the United Kingdom and 199 to British possessions, totally lost, and 442 vessels, of which 360 belonged to the United Kingdom and 82 to British possessions, partially damaged. Of British vessels lost or damaged in collisions abroad, the number reported was 140; 32, of which 21 belonged to the United Kingdom and 11 to British possessions, totally lost, and 108, of which 90 belonged to the United Kingdom and 18 to British possessions, partially damaged. The tonnage of the 658 vessels totally lost was 224,699 tons—United Kingdom 183,067 tons, British possessions 41,662 tons; the tonnage of the 550 vessels partially damaged was 214,750 tons—United Kingdom 187,897 tons, British possessions 26,853. The number of lives imperilled in the 1208 vessels lost or damaged was 18,330, and the number of lives lost—on 174 of the vessels—2255, viz., on vessels belonging to the United Kingdom 1940, on vessels belonging to British possessions 315. Of the 1208 vessels, 84 were of 50 tons or under, 151 of between 50 tons and 100, 470 of between 100 tons and 300, 268 of between 300 tons and 600, 118 of between 600 tons and 900, 62 of between 900 tons and 1200, and 55 of 1200 tons or upwards; 126 were steamships. The number of foreign vessels reported as totally lost on the coasts of the Channel Islands and the British possessions in 1870 was 39, tonnage 12,932; the number partially damaged was 25, tonnage 8773, of which 7 were damaged in collisions. The number of lives imperilled in the 64 vessels was 666, and 16 lives were lost on 4 of the vessels. The loss of life reported in 1870 was 649 above the average of the three preceding years, the increase being due to the loss of H.M.S. Captain, and of the steamship City of Boston.

The sums paid by the Board of Trade, out of the Mercantile Marine Fund, for providing apparatus for saving life on the coasts of the United Kingdom in 1870 was £11,249; the expenditure on this account in the sixteen years 1855-70 had been £126,619, besides £1181 paid by the Admiralty on account of life-belts. At the end of 1870 there were on the coasts of the United Kingdom 284 sets of rocket and mortar apparatus provided by the Board of Trade (43 in Scotland). The rocket apparatus formerly at Lerwick was removed to Muchals in the Aberdeen district in 1870. The number of life-boats in 1870 was 257, of which 223 belonged to the National Life-Boat Institution, and 34, of which 6 were subsidized by the Board of Trade, were under other management (31 life-boats at stations in Scotland). 547 stations (33 in Scotland) were supplied with Captain Ward's life-rockets for the use of the coast-guard. The number of volunteer life-brigades at the end of 1870 was 9, and the number of volunteer life-companies 131; 2 of the brigades and 27 of the companies were in Scotland. The number of lives saved on or near the coasts of the United Kingdom in 1870 was 4654—384 being saved by life-boats, 271 by rocket and mortar apparatus, 559 by luggers and coast-guard and other boats, 541 by ships and steamboats, 2488 by ships' own boats, and 411 by other means.

ROADS.

The following Table shows the principal contents of the statutory abstract of the income and expenditure of the Turnpike Trusts in Scotland, between Whitsunday 1869 and Whitsunday 1870. There were no turnpike trusts in the following counties:—Aberdeen, Argyll, Bute, Caithness, Haddington, Inverness, Kirkcudbright, Nairn, Orkney, Peebles, Ross and Cromarty, Selkirk, Sutherland, and Wigtown.

The aggregate balance in the hands of treasurers at Whitsunday 1869 was £108,545; the aggregate balance due to treasurers at the same date was £9712. During the year 1869–70, the revenue derived from fines was £0; from incidental receipts, £14,747; from money borrowed on security of tolls, £404. The expenditure for manual labour was £73,193; for carriage of materials, £9827; for materials for surface repairs, £20,061; for land purchased, £22; for damage done in obtaining materials, £544; for tradesmen's bills, £5557; for salaries of treasurers, £1669; for salaries of clerks, £4154; for salaries of surveyors, £7923; for law charges, £1630; for interest of debt, £24,084; for annuities, £100; for improvements, £20,753; for watering roads, £716; for debts paid off, £15,450; for incidental expenses, £9287. The amount of bonded or mortgage debts was £1,106,812; of floating debts, £13,613; of unpaid interest, £619,651; of balances due to treasurers at Whitsunday 1870, £9566. The arrears of tolls for the current year of the account amounted to £1361; the arrears of other receipts for the current year, to £3251; the arrears of former years to £4493; and the balances in the hands of treasurers at Whitsunday 1870, to £102,904.

Tolls	£850,355	£833,336
Total receipts	927,128	898,289
Repairs	540,705	514,591
Improvements	32,262	14,965
Interest of debt	87,288	84,565
Total expenditure	928,091	893,952
Bonded debt	3,113,723	2,883,280
Unpaid interest	332,225	301,778

The total receipts of the Turnpike Trusts in South Wales, in 1869, were £35,942 (of which £23,196 were from tolls); the total expenditure, £35,388 (of which £20,696 were for repairs; £20 for improvements; £11,485 for annuities in payment of debts).

The total receipts of the Highways (58,555 miles in length) of the several parishes, etc., in England and North Wales, for the year ending 31st December 1869, so far as the same are included in the districts (336 in number) formed under the Acts 25 & 26 Vict. c. 61, and 27 & 28 Vict. c. 101, were £796,866 (viz., rates or assessments, £762,456; from Turnpike Trusts, £6465; money borrowed, £18,282; other receipts, £9662). The total expenditure was £763,572 (viz., manual labour, £295,998; team labour, £115,149; materials, £197,115; tradesmen's bills, £27,504; improvements, £31,820; salaries and common charges, £72,567; payments to Turnpike Trusts, £12,527; other payments, £10,890).

THE POSTAL TELEGRAPH SYSTEM.

In a letter to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, dated 3d June 1871, Mr Scudamore reported that it was then impossible to make a final financial statement for the telegraph branch of the Post-office. It was necessary to wait for the completion of large works of construction and reconstruction, and for such a settlement of the business into its normal position as would enable him to say what (within reasonable limits) the permanent establishment should be. The telegraph revenue, however, which in July 1869 he had estimated at £673,838 for the first year, and which, at the same rate, would have been £786,144 for the first fourteen months, had been, for the fourteen months ended 31st March 1871, £798,580—that is, it had slightly exceeded his estimate. He added that, in the first eight weeks of the financial year 1871-72, the gross business of the telegraphs had been 23 per cent. better than it was in the corresponding eight weeks of the previous year, and that in May 1871 it was 29½ per cent. better than it was in May 1870. About the working expenses he was unable to speak with precision. Throughout the fourteen months large gangs of men had been engaged at one and the same time in putting in order the property handed over to the Government by the telegraph companies and constructing fresh lines (the cost of which two operations is chargeable to capital), and in ordinary maintenance work; and the analysis of the accounts for the fourteen months was not sufficiently advanced to enable him to state positively the exact proportions in which the total sum expended should be distributed between capital and revenue. He thought, however, he could state with safety that the true working expenses for the fourteen months did not exceed £470,000. In July 1869 he had estimated the working expenses for the first year at £360,000, which would give £420,000 for fourteen months. This estimate had been exceeded, partly because the scheme originally contemplated had been extended, and partly because for some time, when a large portion of the staff employed by the department was but imperfectly trained, a more than normal cost had had to be incurred in order to provide adequately for the work. Mr Scudamore added that, though the expenditure increased as the revenue increased, it did not increase in the same proportion. At very many stations, if the business were doubled, there would be no increase of cost. The net revenue earned in the fourteen months, on Mr Scudamore's statement, would be £328,000—a sum (it was observed) undoubtedly more than sufficient to cover the interest on the capital. In a subsequent report, dated 26th June 1871, the capital expenditure on account of the telegraphs was estimated at £7,518,955, viz., payments already made, £6,998,960; payments to be made, £519,995. The sum authorized to be raised by the Act of 1869 was £7,000,000. Mr Scudamore stated that this sum had been exceeded through it having been found expedient to do very much more than was originally contemplated. He observed that, in comparing the outlay with the revenue for the first fourteen months, it should be borne in mind that only 1007 postal telegraph offices were open during the whole of that period; that several of the new works had been productive only for a small portion of it; that the war kept down the revenue; and that of the new circuits, which would immediately and largely increase the revenue, only small portions were, at the date of the Report, earning money. As an illustration of the extent to which speed of transmission increases the telegraph business, he stated that, on Dundee being put into direct communication with London, the messages were doubled in the first week, and that they had since gone on increasing. The number of postal telegraph offices open at the end of May 1871 was 2383, and the number of railway stations at which telegraph business was transacted on behalf of the Postmaster-General at the same date was 1828.

THE TRUCK SYSTEM.

The Commissioners appointed by the Truck Commission Act, 1870, to report upon the Truck system and the laws relating thereto, were Mr C. S. C. Bowen and Mr A. C. Sellar, and Mr R. S. Wright was Secretary to the Commission. Truck, properly speaking, is the custom of paying workmen's wages in goods, or otherwise than in coin; but the sense of the word has been enlarged to include a variety of practices which bear oppressively upon workmen. The principal practices described under this name by the Commissioners are the following:—A system of charging poundage—a discount of sixpence or a shilling per pound—on advances made to workmen upon their wages before they are payable; a system of making such advances on condition that the greater part shall be exchanged for goods at a shop or store kept by the employer; a system of making advances by means of "lines" or orders upon the employer's store for goods to a certain value; and a system, much rarer than those already mentioned, and always found in conjunction with one or other of them, of putting pressure upon workmen to spend their wages, even when not received in advance, in purchases from the employer's store. All those practices are found in Scotland; and, excepting in Shetland (where, though money values are in use for purposes of account, all transactions between employer and employed are on the footing of barter), excepting also that some of the deductions from wages authorized by the Truck Act—for medical attendance, for education of children, for house-rent, fuel, and some other purposes—are pretty commonly made, no other forms of truck exist there. The other forms of it described by the Commissioners are confined to a few trades in England. There is a system in one or two trades of obliging workmen to take their raw material—of course at a high and usually at an exorbitant price—from the employer; there is also a system, chiefly found in the hosiery trade, of charging weekly rents for the use of implements (called in the hosiery trade frame-rents); and there is, in the watch manufacture of Lancashire, a practice among those masters who do not keep provision-shops, of obliging the workmen every now and then to buy watches or other trinkets, to be paid for by deductions from their wages.

All the forms of truck enumerated have one thing in common—the master makes a profit out of the workman. The workman alleges that the profit is excessive, and that truck, even in those forms which in some respects are convenient for him, diminishes his command of money to an unreasonable extent. The Commissioners declare themselves satisfied that, under every form of truck, the workman's complaints are, in the main, well founded. The shop profits are very large. It was estimated by one witness examined by them that, in the coal and iron trades of Wales, in which the shop system is in operation, the masters have, in respect of wages paid to their workmen, an advantage of 10 per cent. over masters in the same trades in the north of England where that system does not prevail. They were assured by several witnesses that there were works in Wales which could not be carried on without the aid which the shop supplied to them, by enabling the employer to pay the greater part of his wages in provisions and other articles bought on credit, and retailed to the workmen at a high profit. Where the system of poundage prevails the employer's profit is as great as where a store is kept, or even greater. The percentage charged upon advances is the same for however short a time an advance is made, and is therefore often as much as 200 or 300 per cent. per annum. With the shop system, great care is taken to prevent the workmen from "sloping" with their advances—carrying their money, that is, away without spending part of it at the store; they seem to be expected in general to spend at the store about three-fourths of every advance. Where "lines" are used, the possibility of "sloping" is, of course, excluded. In England, though "slopers" are sometimes threatened with dismissal, their usual punishment is the refusal of future advances; it is only in the more depressed trades in England that the workman is made to feel that his employment depends upon his spending his advances at the shop. But in Scotland, in the coal and iron trades of the west, to which truck in Scotland is nearly confined, the Commissioners found that severe pressure was put upon workmen to make them deal at the store, and that whether they got advances or not. Severity, they say, has been more common at the smaller works than at the larger, and they believe that it has often been used without the employer's sanction. Against the quality of the articles supplied by the shops or stores the Commissioners have little to say; the articles have generally been good though high-priced; in rare cases they have been high-priced and bad. The number of hands affected by the shop or poundage system has been estimated at 155,000, and the Commissioners think this estimate under rather than above the mark.

The Commissioners state that the system of making advances between pay-days, upon which the shop and poundage systems mainly depend, is necessitated by the length of the interval between the pay-days. In Wales the pays take place at intervals of one to two or even three months; and though advances are made regularly every fortnight, which, in theory at least, the workmen are free to spend as they please, only the most provident men are able to live upon this system without either getting additional advances, the greater part of which they have to take in the shape of goods, or running into debt. In the coal and iron trades of Scotland advances are found to be necessary with a system of fortnightly payments. Improvidence must be the cause of this; and the truck system was by several witnesses defended on the ground that it put checks upon improvidence and self-indulgence which were beneficial to the workmen and to their families. The Commissioners observe, however, that the truck system directly tends to produce improvidence; and that, though, in cases where spirits are not supplied by the stores, it may, by restricting the workman's supply of money, diminish his periods of intemperance, it is essential to the growth of prudent and frugal habits that the workman should have the command of his money, that he should be familiar with the use of money, and have the responsibility of spending it. They accordingly recommend that the legislature should, wherever possible, enforce a system of weekly pays, and that poundage on advances should be prohibited. To put an end to the grievances of the trades which suffer from stoppages or off-takes from wages, they further propose that such off takes shall no longer be allowed, except for medical and educational purposes, for friendly societies, and savings banks. As the dependence of the workman puts great difficulties in the way of any legal provisions being efficacious, they recommend that the duty of enforcing the law be committed to a public official, in Scotland to the procurator-fiscal. They also advise that the penalties for violation of the Truck Act should be made more severe, and they suggest various alterations in detail with a view to improving the working of the law. They recommend that lead-mining, the watch trade, chairmaking, and the building trades, railway and other contractors' works, in all of which they found abuses existing, be put under the law against truck, and that provision be made for extending the protection of the law, when found necessary, to workmen in other trades.

RAILWAYS.

At 31st December 1870 the amount of railway capital authorized was, in England and Wales, £493,276,790 (£361,285,734 by shares, and £131,991,056 by loans); in Scotland, £71,702,241 (£52,943,148 by shares, £18,759,093 by loans); in Ireland, £31,199,351 (£23,734,490 by shares, and £7,464,861 by loans); in the United Kingdom, £596,178,382 (437,963,372 by shares, £158,215,010 by loans). At the same date, the amount of stock and share capital received was, in England and Wales, £321,527,345 (ordinary, £194,591,487; guaranteed, £26,454,358; preferential, £100,481,500); in Scotland, £45,638,745 (ordinary, £19,754,991; guaranteed, £9,514,745; preferential, £16,369,009); in Ireland, £20,808,144 (ordinary, £14,935,672; guaranteed, £219,217; preferential, £5,653,255); in the United Kingdom, £387,974,234 (ordinary, £229,282,150; guaranteed, £36,188,320; preferential, £122,503,764). The amount of capital raised by loans and debenture stock at the same date was, in England and Wales, £118,642,110 (by loans £71,842,935, by debenture stock £46,799,175); in Scotland, £16,873,552 (by loans £14,002,592, by debenture stock £2,870,960); in Ireland, £6,418,777 (by loans £4,868,252, by debenture stock £1,550,525); in the United Kingdom, £141,934,439 (by loans £90,713,779, by debenture stock £51,220,660). The total of stock and share capital received and capital raised by loans and debenture stock at 31st December 1870 was, in England and Wales, £440,169,455; in Scotland, £62,512,297; in Ireland, £27,226,921; in the United Kingdom, £529,908,673. The amount of subscriptions by railway companies to other companies at the same date was, in England and Wales, £15,015,079; in Scotland, £1,715,202; in Ireland, £339,499; in the United Kingdom, £17,069,780.

In the year ended 31st December 1870 the total gross receipts of railway companies from all sources were, in England and Wales, £38,122,161 (passenger traffic and mails, £16,332,174; goods traffic, £20,358,964; miscellaneous, £1,431,023); in Scotland, £4,825,264 (passenger traffic and mails, £1,780,652; goods traffic, £2,872,285; miscellaneous, £172,327); in Ireland, £2,130,718 (passenger traffic and mails, £1,189,085; goods traffic, £883,910; miscellaneous, £57,723); in the United Kingdom, £45,078,143 (passenger traffic and mails, £19,301,911; goods traffic, £24,115,159; miscellaneous, £1,661,073. The total working expenditure (including all expenses) was, in England and Wales, £18,227,739; in Scotland, £2,400,853; in Ireland, £1,086,933; in the United Kingdom, £21,715,525. The net receipts were therefore, in England and Wales, £19,894,422; in Scotland, £2,424,411; in Ireland, £1,043,785; in the United Kingdom, £23,362,618. The number of miles of railway constructed up to the close of 1870 was, in England and Wales, 11,043½; in Scotland, 2519; in Ireland, 1975; in the United Kingdom, 15,537½. In the United Kingdom the total capital received by railway companies, including loans and debenture stock, up to the end of 1870, was at the rate of £34,106 per mile of railway constructed; the gross receipts from passenger traffic and mails in 1870 were 42·82 per cent. of the total gross receipts; the total gross receipts from passenger traffic, mails, and goods traffic, were at the rate of £2794 per mile of railway constructed, and at the rate of 5s. 1½d. per train mile; the total working expenditure was 48 per cent. of the total receipts; and the net receipts were 4·41 per cent. on the total capital received (including loans and debenture stock).

The following Table shows, for the year 1870, for each of the principal railways of Scotland, the amount of stock and share capital received; the amount of ordinary capital; the amount raised by loans and debenture stock; the total of stock and share capital received and capital raised by loans and debenture stock (all exclusive of lines leased to and worked by each company); the total receipts from all sources from all the lines worked by each of these companies; and the net receipts, after deduction of all working expenses, from the same:—

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Law of Hypothec.—A return to an address of the House of Commons, dated 27th March 1871, bearing the name of Mr Loch, shows the number of petitions for sequestration for rent of agricultural subjects presented from February 1869 (when a similar return was made), to the date of the return, for each county of Scotland; the number of such petitions on which warrants of sale were granted; and the number of cases in which the amount of rent in arrear was more than £100, between £50 and £100, between £25 and £50, between £10 and £25, and below £10. The total number of petitions for sequestration in the period above mentioned was 623, but of these 43 were for sequestration in security of rent to become due. The number of petitions in each county of Scotland was as follows:—Aberdeen, 62; Argyll, 31; Ayr, 64; Banff, 24; Berwick, 15; Bute, 3; Caithness, 15; Clackmannan, 3; Cromarty, 0; Dumbarton, 2; Dumfries, 27; Elgin, 33; Edinburgh, 5; Fife, 21; Forfar, 34; Haddington, 7; Inverness, 15; Kincardine, 20; Kinross, 1; Kirkcudbright, 17; Lanark, 49; Linlithgow, 7; Nairn, 12; Orkney, 4; Peebles, 3; Perth, 45; Renfrew, 8; Ross, 39; Roxburgh, 9; Selkirk, 4; Shetland, 2; Stirling, 27; Sutherland, 0; Wigtown, 15. Upon 203 out of the 623 petitions, warrants for sale were granted. Of the 580 cases in which the sequestration was for arrears of rent, there were 167 in which the arrears exceeded £100; 147 in which the arrears were between £50 and £100; 135 in which they were between £25 and £50; 96 in which they were between £10 and £25; and 35 in which they were below £10.

Gun Licenses.—The number of gun licenses issued from 1st April 1870 to 31st March 1871 was 93,679, viz., in England, 83,048; in Scotland, 7615; in Ireland, 3016: the amount of duty received up to the same date, £46,839, viz., in England, £41,524; in Scotland, £3807; in Ireland, £1508. The number of cases reported to the Excise of guns used without license up to the same date was 965, and the number of prosecutions 710. The number of gun licenses issued in Scotland between 1st April and 31st December 1870 was 6571.

The Game Laws.—The number of persons proceeded against summarily for game offences in England in 1870 was 12,703, of whom 10,600 were convicted and 2103 were discharged. 9089 persons were convicted for trespassing in the day-time in pursuit of game; 522 for night-poaching and destroying game; 75 for illegally selling or buying game; and 914 under the Poaching Act (1862). The number of persons tried on indictment for being out armed taking game and assaulting gamekeepers was 95, of whom 59 were convicted and 36 were discharged.

Harbours and Passing Tolls, etc., Act, 1861.—A return of the proceedings of the Public Works Loan Commissioners under this Act shows that loans have been granted in terms of the Act by the Commissioners to the following places in Scotland:—Aberdeen (for extension of north pier at entrance of harbour, and new pier or breakwater south-east of entrance), £100,000 at 3½ per cent.; Dundee (for new lighthouses at Buddonness and improvement of Craig light), £5000 at 3½ per cent., of which £1120 has been repaid; Greenock (for a pier and tidal harbour), £100,000 at 3½, of which £44,641 has been repaid, and (for extension of Albert Harbour), £40,000 at 5 per cent., of which £29,470 has been repaid; Kirkwall (for extension of pier), £11,000 at 3½ per cent., of which £2047 has been repaid; Leith (for dock, lock, and entrance basin), £100,000 at 3½ per cent., of which £17,517 has been repaid, and £123,000 at 5 per cent., of which £14,628 has been repaid; Pulteneytown Harbour (for construction of breakwater, jetty, etc.), £60,000 at 3½ per cent., of which £2812 has been repaid. Applications for loans had been refused by the Commissioners in the case of the following places in Scotland:—Fraserburgh, Girvan, Inverkeithing, Port-Glasgow, Rothesay, and Stornoway.

The Army Estimates.—The number of officers, non-commissioned officers, and rank and file of Her Majesty's land forces (exclusive of Her Majesty's British forces on the East Indian establishment, 62,924 in number) provided for in the Army Estimates for the year ending 31st March 1872, was 135,047 (viz., officers 6645, non-commissioned officers 9943, drummers and trumpeters 2803, rank and file 115,656). This includes the depots in the United Kingdom of regiments in India (consisting of 218 officers, 445 non-commissioned officers, 209 drummers and trumpeters, 5513 rank and file—in all, 6385 men); the general and departmental staff (viz. general staff, 87 officers; chaplain's department, 77; medical department, 613; and control department, 476); and 75 officers, 439 non-commissioned officers, 2 drummers and trumpeters, and 77 rank and file—in all, 593 men—employed in various establishments connected with the army. The strength of the regiments on the British establishment, provided for in the estimates, including the depots in the United Kingdom of regiments in India was 133,201 (viz., 5317 officers, 9504 non-commissioned officers, 2801 drummers and trumpeters, and 115,579 rank and file). The number of horses provided for (exclusive of officers' horses) was 15,210. The number of officers, non-commissioned officers, and rank and file of the reserve forces, for which provision was made in the Army Estimates for 1871-72 was, militia (including permanent staff), 134,037; yeomanry cavalry (including permanent staff), 15,773; volunteers (not including staff), 170,671; army reserve, class 1, 9000; class 2, 30,000. The estimated charge was for effective services, £13,554,200 (viz., regular forces, £5,735,500; reserve forces, £1,653,900; control establishments and services, £4,804,000; works and buildings, £983,000; and various other services, £377,000); and for non-effective services, £2,297,500—total, £15,851,700; from which, however, was to be deducted the estimated Exchequer extra receipts, £1,154,000; making the net charge for army services in 1871-72, £14,697,000. The estimated charge for the reserve forces was distributed between the forces as follows:—militia pay and allowances, £957,300; yeomanry cavalry, £81,700; volunteer corps, £485,700; army reserve corps, £129,200. The estimate for the volunteer corps was made up as follows:—pay, etc., of 291 adjutants of volunteer corps, £81,130; pay, etc., of sergeant-instructors, £57,710; capitation grants to volunteer corps, etc. (34,005 artillery volunteers at 30s.; 136,666 light horse, engineers, and rifle volunteers at 20s.; and 113,761 extra efficients at 10s.), £302,560; miscellaneous charges £44,250.

The Navy Estimates.—The number of officers, seamen, boys, and marines proposed to be voted for the service of Her Majesty's navy for the year ending 31st March 1872, was 61,000 (or 59,800, deducting 1200, the number of the officers and crews of Indian troop-ships), viz., 47,000 officers, seamen, and boys for the fleet and coastguard service, and 14,000 marines. The estimated charge was £9,756,356, made up as follows:—for effective services, £7,807,946; for non-effective, £1,775,260; for conveyance of troops, £173,150. On the 1st December 1870, the number of ships in commission effective for general service was 115 (viz., 11 armour-plated line-of-battle ships, 4 armour-plated frigates and corvettes, and 29 other frigates or corvettes, 71 sloops and smaller vessels, 1 of them armour-plated), all steamers. There were also in commission 9 armour-plated first reserve ships (late coastguard district ships, all steamers); of gunnery and training ships, stationary, receiving, and depot ships (including royal yacht), surveying vessels, troop ships, store ships, and drill ships for the royal naval reserve, there were 46 (29 sailing vessels and 17 steamers), exclusive of Indian troop ships; and of tenders (including late coastguard cruisers) there were 71 (30 sailing vessels, and 41 steamers). There were in all 241 vessels (59 sailing vessels, and 182 steamers, 25 of the latter being armour-plated) in commission. The number of steamships afloat on 1st January 1871 was 354 (screw 291, paddle 63); of steamships building 25 (screw 24, paddle 1). The number of armour-plated steamships afloat at 1st January 1871 was 46; 31 of iron, 15 of wood (viz., 2 first class, iron, 6 second, iron; 5 of iron, and 4 of wood, third class; 3 of iron, and 5 of wood, fourth class; 4 of iron, fifth class; 2 of wood, sixth class; 3 iron and 2 wooden unclassified sloops and gunboats; 5 iron and 1 of wood, special, with turrets; 3 iron floating batteries, and 1 of wood); the number of armour-plated steamships building at the same date was 9, all special ships, with turrets, and all of iron. The number of steamships from which the machinery had been removed afloat (effective sailing vessels) at 1st January 1871 was 19 (1 floating battery, of wood, 2 ships of the line, 2 frigates, 2 block ships, 1 sloop, 9 gunboats, and 2 mortar ships). The total number of steam and sailing vessels at 1st January 1871 was 398.

CHRONICLE, 1870-71.

1870. December 21. Six British vessels seized and scuttled on the river Seine by the Germans. The necessities of war were pleaded, and reparation was afterwards made.

25. Mont Cenis Tunnel pierced, after more than 13 years of unremitting toil.

27. The river Tiber overflowed its banks and inundated several streets in Rome, causing great destruction of life and property.

1871. January 1. The connexion between Church and State in Ireland severed.

2. Amadeus, second son of Victor Emmanuel II., King of Italy, entered Madrid amid great enthusiasm, and was proclaimed King of Spain under the title of Amadeo I.

11. In the vicinity of Le Mans, the German Army, under Prince Frederick-Charles and the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg, defeated the French Army of the West, under General Chanzy, and captured the town of Le Mans.

13. Great sorties from Paris repulsed by the Germans.

17. A conference of the signatories to the Treaty of 1856 met at the Foreign Office, London, under the presidency of Earl Granville, to consider the views of Russia in regard to that treaty. After various adjournments, a new treaty was signed, by which the clauses in the former one respecting the neutralization of the Black Sea were abrogated.

18. William I., King of Prussia, proclaimed Emperor of Germany in the Salle des Glaces, Versailles, in presence of the German princes, and surrounded by representatives of the various regiments of the army.

19. A sanguinary battle at St Quentin between the French Army of the North and the First German Army. The latter captured the town and 10,000 prisoners.

19. A great but unsuccessful sortie from Paris against the Crown Prince's Army.

23. M. Jules Favre arrived at Versailles, the headquarters of the Emperor of Germany, to negotiate for the capitulation of Paris.

25. Capitulation of Longwy, after a bombardment of nine days by the Germans. 4000 prisoners and 200 guns taken.

28. Paris capitulated, having been invested for 132 days, and an armistice signed by Count Bismarck on the part of Germany, and M. Jules Favre on that of France—the Army of Paris to remain in the city as prisoners of war, and the inhabitants to pay a war contribution of 200 million francs.

February 5. Fifty railway waggons laden with provisions arrived in Paris, bearing the inscription:—"Gifts from the city of London to the city of Paris."

6. The surrender of Belfort sanctioned by the French Government. The place had been invested by the Germans from Nov. 2, 1870; and the troops marched out with arms and baggage.

9. The third session of the eighth Parliament of Queen Victoria opened by Her Majesty in person.

13. The French National Assembly met at Bordeaux.

13. Garibaldi resigned his command of the French Army of the Vosges.

16. Mr Cardwell, Secretary of State for War, brought before the House of Commons the Government scheme of army re-organization.

17. M. Thiers elected by the Assembly of Deputies at Bordeaux to be chief of the executive power of the French Republic.

18. The French Republic recognised by Great Britain, Austria, and Italy.

26. The preliminaries of peace between Prussia and France signed at Versailles—France engaging to pay a fine of five milliards of francs (£200,000,000 sterling), and to renounce in favour of the German Empire the fifth part of Lorraine, including Metz and Thionville, and the whole of Alsace, with the exception of Belfort. These preliminaries of peace were ratified by the National Assembly at Bordeaux on March 1.

March 1. Thirty thousand German soldiers entered Paris by the Champs Elysées, and proceeded to the Place de la Concorde, with drums beating and banners flying. They evacuated the city two days afterwards.

17. Entry of the Emperor of Germany into Berlin on returning from the French campaign.

18. Communist insurrection at Paris. The mob shot Generals Clement Thomas and Le Comte.

20. The ex-Emperor of the French arrived at Dover on being released from Wilhelmshöhe.

21. H.R.H. the Princess Louise-Caroline-Alberta and the Marquess of Lorne married at Windsor.

April 2. Engagement near Paris between the troops of the National Assembly and the Communists, which resulted in the defeat of the latter.

3. The eighth Census of Great Britain and Ireland taken.

9. Paris bombarded by the troops of the National Assembly.

15. Shock of earthquake experienced over a considerable portion of the west coast of Scotland.

May 1. The third London International Exhibition of Works of Art and Industry opened by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales in state.

6. Treaty signed by a Joint High Commission at Washington, by which the various differences that have arisen between the United States and Great Britain are referred to arbitration.

10. The definitive Treaty of Peace between France and Germany signed at Frankfort.

16. The Column in the Place Vendôme, Paris, destroyed by the Communists.

23. Montmartre, Paris, captured by the Government forces.

24. Severe fighting in the streets of Paris between the Communists and Government troops, when the Tuileries and several of the most important public buildings were burnt by the former.

27. Monseigneur Darboy, Archbishop of Paris, and other sixty-three "hostages," shot by the Communists at Paris.

29. Surrender of the last of the Paris insurgents.

June 8. The National Assembly at Versailles, by a large majority, abrogated the laws exiling the Bourbon Princes.

16. The victory of the Germans over the French in the war of 1870–71 celebrated by the triumphal entry of the German Army into Berlin amid immense enthusiasm.

July 2. Arrival of King Victor Emmanuel II. at Rome, on the removal to that city of the government of the kingdom of Italy.

12. Riot by Irishmen at a New York Orange demonstration—38 persons killed and 63 wounded.

17. The Army Regulation Bill rejected by the House of Lords, by a majority of 25. This decision, however, was rendered nugatory by the issue of a Royal warrant, dated July 20, cancelling all regulations which authorized the purchase or sale of commissions in the Army. For thus over-riding their decision, the House of Lords, on July 31, by a majority of 80, passed a vote of censure on the Government.

26. Annual Show of the Highland and Agricultural Society of Scotland opened at Perth.

August 2. The British Association for the Advancement of Science met at Edinburgh, under the presidency of Professor Sir William Thomson.

9. The hundredth anniversary of the birth of Sir Walter Scott celebrated at Edinburgh, Glasgow, and elsewhere, with great enthusiasm.

* No returns have been received from Dudley. The numbers of electors given are those of England, Wales, and Ireland, in 1868: and of Scotland in 1871. The boroughs of Beverley and Bridgewater in England, and Cashel and Sligo in Ireland, although now disfranchised are included in the above table.

† In the abstract of the Census of Ireland, 1871, presented to Parliament, the Parliamentary Boroughs are not distinguished from the Counties.

Speaker, Right Hon. JOHN EVELYN DENISON.

THE MOST ANCIENT ORDER OF THE THISTLE.

The Most Ancient Order of the Thistle appears to have been projected by King James V. about 1540, but he died before the design could be carried out. It was renewed by King James VII., who created eight Knights in 1687. After an abeyance of fifteen years, the Order was restored by Queen Anne in 1703. It consists of the Sovereign, and sixteen knights. The badges are, The Star, of silver, inscribed with the motto, Nemo me impune lacessit; The Jewel, or figure of St Andrew, suspended from a green riband; and The Collar, of gold.

THE MOST HONOURABLE ORDER OF THE BATH,

Established in 1399, was revived by King George I. in 1725, enlarged in 1815, and enlarged and remodelled in the month of April 1847. It consists of the Sovereign, of a Great Master (being a Prince of the Blood Royal, descended of the body of King George I., or other exalted personage named by the Sovereign), and of one thousand one hundred and forty-eight Companions or Members, divided into the three classes following, each class being subdivided into two sections, Military and Civil: 1st, Knights Grand Cross, seventy-five in number, of whom not more than fifty shall belong to the military division, being officers of or above the rank of Major-General in the army, or Rear-Admiral in the navy; 2d, Knights Commanders, one hundred and eighty-three in number, of whom not more than one hundred and twenty-three shall belong to the military division, being officers of or above the rank of Colonel in the army, or Captain in the navy; 3d, Companions, eight hundred and ninety in number, of whom (except under special and temporary exigencies) not more than six hundred and ninety shall belong to the military division, being officers of or above the rank of Major in the army, or Commander in the navy, whose services shall have been marked by the especial mention of their names in despatches. The qualification of members of the civil divisions of each of these three classes is no otherwise limited than that, by their personal services to the Crown or by the performance of public duties, they shall have merited the Royal favour; and that no person shall be appointed to one class who is not qualified for the other and higher classes. Honorary members, being foreigners, may be appointed in such numbers as the Sovereign shall think fit. For each class and division, appropriate insignia are appointed by the Statutes of the Order, enacted by Her Majesty the Queen, and published in the Edinburgh Gazette of 1st June 1847. Enlarged June 1861.

THE VICTORIA CROSS, OR ORDER OF VALOUR.

This naval and military decoration was instituted by an instrument under the sign-manual of the Queen, dated the 29th of January 1856, "for the purpose of rewarding individual instances of merit and valour." It is ordained that the distinction shall be styled "The Victoria Cross;" that it shall consist of a Maltese cross of bronze, with her Majesty's royal crest in the centre, and, on an escroll underneath, the inscription "For Valour;" that the Cross shall be suspended from the left breast by a blue riband for the navy, and by a red riband for the army; that the names of those upon whom her Majesty may be pleased to confer the decoration shall be published in the London Gazette; that any one who, after having received the Cross, shall again perform an act of bravery, which if he had not received such Cross would have entitled him to it, shall have such farther act recorded by a Bar attached to the riband by which the Cross is suspended, an additional Bar being added for every additional act; that the Cross shall be awarded to those officers or men only who have served the Queen in the presence of the enemy, and have there performed some signal act of valour or devotion to their country; that with the view of placing all persons on a perfectly equal footing of eligibility for the decoration, neither rank nor long service nor wounds nor any other circumstance or condition whatsoever, save the merit of conspicuous bravery, shall be held to establish a sufficient claim to the honour; and that every warrant officer, petty officer, seaman, or marine, or non-commissioned officer or soldier who shall have received the Cross shall be entitled to a special pension of ten pounds a year, each additional bar carrying with it an additional pension of five pounds a year.

THE MOST EXALTED ORDER OF THE STAR OF INDIA.

This order of knighthood was instituted by the Queen, in February 1861, and enlarged and remodelled in March 1866, by letters patent under the great seal, in order to afford to the princes, chiefs, and people of the Indian Empire, a public and signal testimony of Her Majesty's regard; to commemorate Her Majesty's resolution to take upon herself the government of the territories in India; and to enable Her Majesty to reward conspicuous merit and loyalty. The order is to be called "The Most Exalted Order of the Star of India." It is to consist of the Sovereign, a Grand Master, and one hundred and seventy-five Ordinary Companions or Members, divided into three classes: 1. Twenty-five Knights Grand Commanders; 2. Fifty Knights Commanders; 3. One hundred Companions; together with such Extra and Honorary Knights as the Sovereign may appoint. The Sovereign shall be the King or Queen regnant of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. The Grand Master, first and principal Knight Grand Commander of the Order, shall be the Viceroy and Governor-General of India for the time being. The Sovereign may confer the dignity of a Knight Grand Commander of the Order upon such native princes and chiefs of India as shall have entitled themselves to the Royal favour, and upon such British subjects as have, by important and loyal services rendered by them to the Indian Empire, merited such Royal favour. No person shall be nominated a Knight Commander, or a Companion, who shall not, by his conduct and services in the Indian Empire, have merited the Royal favour.

THE SOVEREIGN.

Grand Master, THE VICEROY AND GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF INDIA for the time being.

Extra Knights Grand Commanders, The Prince of Wales.
H. R. H. the Duke of Edinburgh.

THE MOST DISTINGUISHED ORDER OF SAINT MICHAEL AND SAINT GEORGE

Was instituted in 1818, for natives of the Ionian Islands and of Malta, and for such other British subjects as should be distinguished in connexion with the said islands, or with H.M. service in the Mediterranean. By certain statutes, bearing date 4th December 1868, Her Majesty was pleased to enlarge and reorganize the Order, so as to extend it to such natural-born subjects of the Crown of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland as might be persons of conspicuous merit, or have rendered important services to the Crown, within or in connexion with any of Her Majesty's colonial possessions; and a supplementary statute, bearing date 3d April 1869, ordains that naturalized foreigners may be admitted in like manner as if they were natural-born subjects of the British Crown. The Order consists of the Sovereign, of a Grand Master (being a Prince of the Blood Royal descended of the body of King George I., or other exalted personage named by the Sovereign), and of one hundred and eighty-five Members, divided into three classes, viz.: 1st, Knights Grand Cross, twenty-five in number; 2d, Knights Commanders, sixty in number; 3d, Companions, one hundred in number.

REGULATIONS FOR THE GRANTING OF COMMISSIONS IN THE ARMY.

I.—First Appointments.

Sub-Lieutenants.—1. A commission as sub-lieutenant in the army may be given:—

(a) To a successful candidate at a competitive examination in general subjects, to be held under such regulations as may be issued from time to time by the Secretary of State.

(b) To a student from the University of Oxford, Cambridge, Durham, London, Dublin, Edinburgh, St Andrews, Glasgow, Aberdeen, or the Queen's University, Ireland, who has passed "Responsions" at Oxford, the "Previous Examination" at Cambridge, or the corresponding examination at the other universities, under such regulations with respect to the age and manner of the selection of such candidates as may be issued from time to time by the Secretary of State.

(c) To the cadets styled "Queen's cadets," to those styled "Indian cadets," and to the pages of honour. These cadets and pages of honour shall pass such a qualifying examination in general subjects as may be fixed from time to time by the Secretary of State.

(d) To a non-commissioned officer who is recommended for promotion by the Commander-in-Chief, and who shall pass such a professional examination as may be fixed from time to time by the Secretary of State.

2. Sub-lieutenants, in order to qualify for the rank of lieutenant, shall be required to serve satisfactorily for twelve months with a regiment, and after such service (except in the case of non-commissioned officers promoted to be sub-lieutenants), to go through such a course of study and to pass such a professional examination as may be fixed from time to time by the Secretary of State.

3. Sub-lieutenants shall be removed from the service for moral or physical unfitness, or if they fail to pass satisfactorily through the prescribed course of study. They shall (except in the case of non-commissioned officers promoted to be sub-lieutenants) be required to pass the professional examination for the rank of lieutenant within three years, failing to do which they shall be removed from the service. Their time for retirement on full or half pay shall be reckoned from the date of their commissions as lieutenants; and in fixing the date of such commissions, such portion of their service as sub-lieutenants may be allowed as their conduct and qualifications may merit, according to regulations to be issued from time to time by the Secretary of State.

4. Sub-lieutenants appointed to a cavalry regiment, who are not qualified for service in the cavalry, may be transferred to the infantry.

Appointment from the Militia.—5. A commission as lieutenant in the army may be given to a lieutenant of one of the regiments of militia, under such regulations as to age or otherwise as may be issued from time to time by the Secretary of State. The officer shall pass a professional examination similar to that which will be required of a sub-lieutenant in the army before he receives a commission as lieutenant.

II.—Promotion.

Lieutenants.—6. A sub-lieutenant in the army may receive a commission as lieutenant—

(a) If he has been promoted to the rank of sub-lieutenant, from the rank of non-commissioned officer, after a satisfactory service of not less than twelve months as a sub-lieutenant.

(b) In the case of other sub-lieutenants, after a satisfactory service of not less than twelve months with a regiment, and after having gone through a course of study, and passing a professional examination as laid down in article 2.

Captains.—7. A qualified lieutenant shall be eligible for promotion to the rank of captain after two years' service in the army. In the case of officers entering the army after the 26th August 1871, this service shall date from the date of their commissions as lieutenants; in the case of other officers, from the date of their first commissions.

Majors.—8. A qualified captain shall be eligible for promotion to the rank of major after six years' service in the army. In the case of officers entering the army after the 26th August 1871, this service shall date from the date of their commissions as lieutenants; in the case of other officers, from the date of their first commissions.

Lieutenant-Colonels.—9. A qualified officer holding the substantive rank of major shall be eligible for promotion to the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

General Rules.

10. Every promotion shall be made upon the recommendation of the Commander-in-Chief, with the approval of the Secretary of State.

11. Succession to vacancies shall be regulated as follows:—

(a) If a vacancy shall arise (1) by the promotion of an officer to the rank of major-general; (2) by the death of an officer; (3) by an officer becoming supernumerary; or (4) by an officer being promoted to fill a vacancy in another regiment or corps. The promotions in the several ranks necessary to fill the vacancy shall, unless it shall be expedient that the vacancies be otherwise filled, be given to the senior qualified officer of of each lower rank in the regiment or corps, except in the case of promotion to be lieutenant-colonel, in which case the vacancy shall be filled by a qualified officer to be selected by the Commander-in-Chief, with the approval of the Secretary of State:

(b) If a vacancy shall arise from any other cause, it shall be filled by a qualified officer of the army, who shall be selected by the Commander-in-Chief with the approval of the Secretary of State.

12. No selection shall be made in succession to any vacancy caused by the retirement of an officer until such retirement shall have been completed, and shall have appeared in the London Gazette.

13. Officers below the rank of field-officer shall not be recommended for promotion unless they shall have previously passed such professional examination as may be fixed from time to time by the Secretary of State. Officers serving with their regiments at distant foreign stations may be provisionally promoted to vacancies previous to passing such examination, but such promotion shall be cancelled should the officer fail in his examination. Captains now in the service may be appointed majors without examination if specially reported to and approved by the Commander-in-Chief as having proved their efficiency for the rank of major.

14. Lieutenants shall be required to pass the professional examination for the rank of captain within five years from the date of their commission as lieutenants, failing to do which they shall be removed from the service, and may receive a sum not exceeding one year's pay, provided that in cases of exigency the Secretary of State may enlarge the time allowed for their examination. Officers now in the service who received their first commissions before the 26th day of August 1871 shall not be liable to the provisions of this article.

SECTION II.—ENGLAND.

ENGLAND AND WALES.

EXTENT, ETC.—The length of England and Wales, from Portland Bill, Dorsetshire, in lat. 50° 31′ N., to Berwick-on-Tweed, in lat. 55° 46′ N., is 363 miles; the extreme breadth, from the North Foreland, Kent, in long. 1° 26′ E. to the Land's End, Cornwall, in long. 5° 41′ W. is 320 miles. The area of England is 50,922 square miles, or 32,590,397 acres; that of Wales, 7398 square miles, or 4,734,486 acres; that of England and Wales, 58,320 square miles, or 37,324,883 acres. Of the 52 counties into which they are divided, England contains 40, Wales, 12. The number of parishes in England and Wales in 1871 was 14,793. The annual value of real property assessed under the Property and Income Tax Act in 1815 was, in England and Wales, £51,898,423; in 1851, £94,809,106; in 1861, £114,053,538; in 1865, £131,341,499; in 1867, £110,696,900;* in 1869, £117,907,336. The net annual value of property in England and Wales assessed to the Poor's Rate was £71,840,271 in 1856; £100,612,734 in 1868; £102,497,301 in 1870. The gross estimated rental in 1870 was £120,473,488.

POPULATION, ETC.—The population of England and Wales (including the soldiers, sailors, and merchant seamen at home, belonging to England and Wales) from 1801 to 1871, as ascertained by decennial census, is shown in the following Table:—

1811..10,454,529	1831..14,051,986	1851..18,054,170	1871..22,704,108

There emigrated from England and Wales 649,742 persons between the census of 1861 and the census of 1871.

The next Table shows the rates of increase per cent. in each decennial period:—

1811–1821....18	1831–1841....14	1851–1861....12

1801...1,575,923	1821...2,088,156	1841...2,943,945	1861...3,739,505
1811...1,797,504	1831...2,481,544	1851...3,278,039	1871...4,259,032

The area of each county in acres, the annual value of the real property assessed under the Property and Income Tax Act in 1864-5, and the numbers of inhabited houses, and of the population (exclusive of the army, navy, and merchant seamen abroad) in 1871, and the names of the lords-lieutenants, are shown in the Table on the next page:—

* The assessments on quarries, mines, ironworks, fisheries, canals, railways, gasworks, etc., were transferred from Schedule A to Schedule D from 5th April 1866.

Education.

UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD.

This ancient University consists of a union of Colleges and Halls devoted to the purposes of study and education, and incorporated under the style or title of "The Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Oxford." There are at present twenty Colleges, each having a mansion for the residence of members of the foundation, and for the reception of students. These Colleges may be said to be an institution peculiar to England, as none exist in foreign universities, nor even in Scotland. They are bodies corporate, independent of the University, being governed, as to their own concerns, by their respective statutes; and each has in connexion with it numerous valuable fellowships, scholarships, and exhibitions. The five Academical Halls at Oxford are places in which students reside, under discipline and instruction, and pass through the curriculum to their several degrees in precisely the same manner as the student inmates of the Colleges. The term Hall, however, implies also a Society, and in this sense there is an important difference between Halls and Colleges, inasmuch as the former are not incorporated, have no endowments for fellows, and have all their property held in trust for them by the University. The recent foundation of the Keble College was established in 1870 from funds collected by private subscription, and suitable buildings have been erected. In pursuance of the Oxford University Act, 1854, two Private Halls have been instituted for the purpose of affording a cheaper education than is to be had at the Colleges. The scholars are subject to the laws of the University, partake of its privileges, and are admissible to its degrees in the same way as the other students.

By a recent decree of the authorities at Oxford, students may be admitted members of the University without belonging to any College or Hall. Such students are called Scholares non ascripti, or unattached students, and keep terms by residing at Oxford, either with their parents or in licensed lodging-houses. They are under the control of certain delegates.

There are four terms for academical exercises in each year, but for many Professors' lectures and some other purposes, the third and fourth together count as only one. Two of the four can be kept by six weeks' residence, and two by three weeks'. The ordinary residence in the College extends to twenty-six weeks in the year. Candidates for admission to the University are required to pass a preliminary examination.

The degrees conferred by the University upon students are those of Bachelor and Master in Arts, and of Bachelor and Doctor in Music, and in the three superior faculties of Civil Law, Medicine, and Divinity. Twelve terms of residence are required for the degree of B.A., and for the position of Student of Civil Law or of Medicine. No further residence is necessary for any degree. Thus the education of a young man at Oxford is spread over about three years; but in the case of candidates for the higher honours, a degree is seldom taken in less than four years.

Candidates for the degree of B.A. are required to pass three distinct examinations—viz., 1. Responsions before the masters of the schools; 2. First Public Examination before the moderators; 3. Second Public Examination before the public examiners. For this last there are four schools called the schools of Literæ Humaniores, Scientiæ Mathematicæ et Physicæ, Scientia Naturalis, and Jurisprudentia et Historia Moderna. At the responsions, candidates are examined in Latin and Greek grammar, one Latin and one Greek author, arithmetic, and either Euclid or algebra. The examination is conducted partly in writing, partly viva voce.

Candidates at the first public Examination are examined either in logic or in algebra, together with three books of Euclid, in the four Gospels in Greek, and in one Latin and one Greek author at the least, there being a higher examination both in Classics and Mathematics for candidates for honours.

As a general rule, every candidate is required to pass the Second Public Examination both in the classical school and also in some one of the other three schools. In the classical school he is examined in divinity and in one Latin and one Greek author at the least. The term "Divinity" comprises the four Gospels and the Acts of the Apostles in Greek, the Old and New Testaments, the Thirty-nine Articles, and the Evidences of the Christian Religion. In the mathematical school candidates are examined either in the first six books of Euclid or in the first part of algebra. In the school of natural science they are examined in the principles of mechanical philosophy, chemistry, physiology, and further in some one of the particular sciences dependent on mechanical philosophy. In the school of law and modern history every candidate must offer himself for examination in English history and law. In all the schools there are examinations for honours as well as the ordinary or "pass" examination. A fifth school of theology has recently been instituted.

For the degree of M.A., no further examination or exercise is required; but a B.A. cannot obtain the degree of M.A. until the expiry of the twenty-sixth term from his matriculation, provided he has had his name on the books of some College or Hall during that period.

In January 1841 there were on the books 5515; in 1851, 6060; in 1861, 6389; in 1871, 8236.

The number of students who matriculated in 1870 was 569. The number who graduated in Arts was 624.

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE.

This University, like that of Oxford, is a union of Colleges or Societies devoted to the study of the liberal arts and sciences. There are seventeen such Colleges at Cambridge, each being a body corporate, maintained by the endowments of benefactors, and governed by its own laws, but controlled by the paramount statutes of the University.

The terms of the academical year are three,—viz., 1. Michaelmas, beginning on the 1st of October and ending on the 16th of December; 2. Lent, extending from the 13th of January to the Friday before Palm Sunday; and 3. Easter, commencing on the Friday after Easter-day, and closing on the last Friday but one in June. Students are admitted, either by a personal examination before the tutor and some of the College officers, or by sending to the tutor a recommendatory certificate from some M.A. of the University, stating the qualifications, etc., of the person applying for admission, and at the same time transmitting the caution-money, which varies from £10 to £50, according to the social status of the candidate. If this certificate be deemed satisfactory, the student is admitted, and his name placed on the boards which hang in the butteries of the several Colleges. The day after the division of any of the terms is the time fixed for matriculation, i.e., enrolment of the student's name in the University books. At Cambridge, as at Oxford, persons may be admitted as students, and have degrees conferred upon them, without the necessity of their being members of any College or Hall.

Undergraduates are required to give a constant attendance on lectures, and, yearly or half-yearly, undergo an examination in those subjects to which their attention has been devoted. By this course they are prepared for those public examinations which must be passed before the degree in Arts can be obtained. What is called "The Previous Examination" is held towards the end of the Michaelmas term, and is open to all who have kept two terms at least, and entered upon their third. The subjects of this examination are, one of the four Gospels in Greek, Evidences of Christianity, Latin and Greek Grammar, one Greek and one Latin author, the Elements of Euclid, and Arithmetic. No student can be examined for the degree of B.A. who has not previously kept eight terms; and a B.A. "may be admitted ad incipiendum in artibus at any time after three academical years have passed from the completion of his Bachelor's degree. The inceptors in every year become complete Masters of Arts by creation on the Commencement Day, i.e., on the last Tuesday but one in June." No one has a vote in the Senate until after creation.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON.

Unlike other universities, this confers its degrees upon the results of its examinations only. It was founded in 1836 "for the purpose of ascertaining, by means of examination, the persons who have acquired proficiency in literature, science, and art, and other departments of knowledge," by the pursuit of a regular and liberal education at University College and King's College, London, or at any of the other colleges and houses of learning named in the royal charter; "and of rewarding them by academical degrees and certificates of proficiency, as evidence of their respective attainments, and marks of honour proportioned thereto." But by later charters, students from any or no college are admissible to all examinations but those in Medicine and Surgery.

There are two examinations for matriculation in each year; one commencing on the second Monday in January, and the other on the last Monday in June; they are held at the new University Buildings, Burlington Gardens, London, and also, under special arrangement, in various cities, towns, and colleges, of the United Kingdom and the Colonies. Candidates must produce a certificate showing that they have completed their sixteenth year. The subjects of the examination which they must pass are—Mathematics, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Greek, Latin, English, French or German, and Outlines of English History and Modern Geography. The matriculation fee is £2.

For each of the degrees of B.Sc. and B.A., two examinations besides the one at matriculation require to be passed—the first on the third Monday in July, and the second on the fourth Monday in October. The fee payable at each examination is £5. No candidate is admitted to the examination for the degree of M.A. until after the expiration of one academical year from the time of his passing that for B.A., nor unless he can show evidence that he has completed his twentieth year. A fee of £10 is exacted for the M.A. examination.

The highest degree in the Faculty of Arts in this University is D. Lit., or Doctor of Literature. A candidate who is only B.A. must pass two examinations at an interval of at least a year; but Masters of Arts who have taken their degree in classics need pass only the second examination. The former of these is in the Greek and Latin classics generally, with prose composition in Greek, Latin, and English, and in history to the end of the eighteenth century; the second examination is in the English language, literature, and history, and either (or both) the French or the German language and literature, as well as in any one of the following subjects:—Anglo-Saxon, with Icelandic; Sanskrit; Arabic; Hebrew, with Syriac. These examinations are conducted by means of printed papers. A fee of £10 is payable at each examination.

The degree of D.Sc. (Doctor of Science) is open to all Bachelors of Science of two years' standing; who may elect to be examined in any one of sixteen branches of science. The fee is £10.

By the late Reform Act, the University of London returns one member to serve in Parliament; the constituency (about 1400) is composed solely of "Members of Convocation;" which comprises all graduates of certain standing who have chosen to secure their privileges by payment of a trifling fee.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, LONDON, Founded 1826.

Re-incorporated by Act of Parliament, passed 24th June 1869.

The purpose of the foundation of this College, as expressed in the Act, is, "To afford, at a moderate expense, the means of education in Literature, Science, and the Fine Arts, and in the knowledge required for admission to the medical and legal professions; and, in particular, for affording the means of obtaining the education required for the purpose of taking the degrees now, or hereafter to be, granted by the University of London." The subjects taught are at present classed under (I.) The Faculty of Arts and Laws, (II.) The Faculty of Science, and (III.) The Faculty of Medicine, and are specified below. Students are admitted without previous examination. Evening classes also are conducted by some of the Professors, so that the benefits of College tuition are extended to gentlemen engaged in business pursuits during the day. The session commences early in October, and terminates towards the end of June. In connexion with University College, and occupying portions of its buildings, there is a school for boys under fifteen years of age.

KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON,

Was founded in 1828, upon the following fundamental principle:—"That every system of general education for the youth of a Christian community ought to comprise instruction in the Christian religion as an indispensable part, without which the acquisition of other branches of knowledge will be conducive neither to the happiness of the individual, nor to the welfare of the state." The subjects taught are enumerated below, and are comprised under the following departments:—I. General literature and science; II. The applied sciences; III. Theology; IV. Medicine. In the first-named department, new students are subjected to an examination, that it may be ascertained whether they are competent to take advantage of the College classes. The course of study pursued in department II. is practical in its nature, and is designed "for the large class of young men who, in after life, are likely to be engaged in commercial and agricultural pursuits, or in professional employments, such as civil and military engineering, surveying, architecture, and the higher branches of manufacturing art." The whole course occupies three years. Candidates for admission as students in theology must be twenty-one years of age, and be recommended by the clergyman of their parish; they must also pass an examination in Greek, Latin, English literature, the Church Catechism, etc. The course must be continued for at least six terms (two years) before students can offer themselves for final examination. No degrees are conferred by King's College, but its students are privileged to graduate at the University of London.

The academical year consists of three terms, as at Cambridge; and students are admitted at the commencement of each term.

There is accommodation within the walls of the College for only a limited number of matriculated students.

Classes for evening instruction are conducted from October to March and from April to July in each year.

King's College School (for boys from eight to sixteen years of age) consists of two divisions—viz., the division of Classics, Mathematics, and General Literature; and the division of Modern Instruction.

DURHAM UNIVERSITY.

This University was founded in 1832, and incorporated by royal charter in 1837, for the purpose of securing to the inhabitants of the north of England a sound, yet not expensive education. The system of uniting domestic discipline with efficient lectures and instruction is maintained here in somewhat the same manner as at Oxford and Cambridge. With the view of placing the advantages of such a system within the reach of persons of limited means, a Hall, named after Bishop Hatfield, was opened in 1846. All the arrangements of this Hall are made on an economical scale, and students in every Faculty are received in it as in the College—are subject to the same discipline, under the same tutors, and, for the most part, are eligible to the same endowments. In the year 1870 a regulation was passed by which students are admitted to be members of the University without becoming members of any College, Hall, or House. The house or lodging in which they reside must be approved by the Warden and Proctors, and in all matters of University discipline, tuition, and eligibility to endowments, they are placed upon the same footing as students of the College or Hall.

The academical year at Durham consists of three terms, viz., Michaelmas, Epiphany, and Easter. The qualifications of students to enter on the course of education pursued in the several Faculties of Arts, Theology, Physical Science, and Medicine, are ascertained by examination before admission.

For the degree of B.A., or the licence in Theology, a residence of two years is required, the period of residence in the year being eight months in the former case, and six months in the latter. Terms kept by students in Theology are allowed to count in part towards the degree of B.A., and vice versâ. A graduate may proceed to the degree of M.A. when he is of the standing of nine terms from his admission to that of B.A.

No student is obliged to attend the services of the Episcopal Church unless he belongs to that church; and no religious test or subscription is required from any member of the University except he be studying in the Faculty of Theology.

The College of Medicine at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, which has for many years been in connexion with the University, is now a college of the University; and the year of residence in Arts at Durham hitherto required of candidates proceeding to degrees in Medicine or Surgery may now, at their option, be spent either in Durham or at Newcastle.

In addition to the School of Physical Science in the University, a College of Physical Science has recently been founded at Newcastle-upon-Tyne by the joint co-operation of the University and the leading landed proprietors and employers of skilled labour in the north of England. Professors of Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, and Geology, have been appointed, and the college was opened early in October 1871. All information respecting the college may be obtained from the secretary, Mr Theo. Wood Bunning.

SECTION III.—IRELAND.

EXTENT, ETC.—The length of Ireland, from Cork Harbour, in lat. 51° 51′ N., to Malin Head, Donegal, in lat. 55° 23′ N. is 244 miles; the breadth, from Howth Head, Dublin, in long. 6° 5′ W. to Slyne Head, Galway, in long. 10° 11′ W. is 168 miles. Its area is 31,754 square miles, or 20,322,641 acres. It is divided into four provinces, and subdivided into 32 counties. The annual value of real property assessed under the Property and Income Tax Act was £11,767,810 in 1854, £12,893,829 in 1860, £13,876,913 in 1866, and £12,852,446 in 1869.* The net annual value of property assessed to the Poor's Rate was £11,614,296 in 1851, £12,280,029 in 1860, and £13,153,498 in 1869. Dublin, the capital, including the suburbs, had in 1871 a population of 295,841.

POPULATION, ETC.—The population of Ireland (excluding men in the army and the navy) in each decennial period from 1801 to 1871 is shown in the following Table:—

1811....5,937,856	1831... 7,767,401	1851....6,552,385	1871..5,402,759

There emigrated from Ireland 1,231,308 persons between the census of 1851 and the census of 1861, and 866,626 between 1861 and 1871.

The next Table shows the rates of decrease per cent. between 1841 and 1851, 1851 and 1861, and 1861 and 1871, in each of the four provinces of Ireland, together with the religious professions of the population, as ascertained by the census of 1871.

Scotland.

EXTENT AND POPULATION.

THE length of the mainland of Scotland, from the Mull of Galloway, in Wigtownshire, in lat. 54° 39′ N. to Dunnet Head, in Caithness-shire, in lat. 58° 40′ N. is 278 miles; the breadth, from Buchan-ness, in Aberdeenshire, in long. 1° 47′ W. to the most westerly point in Ross-shire, in long. 5° 52′ W. is 150 miles. The area, including the islands, is 30,685 square miles, or 19,639,377 statute acres; of which 152,967 are inland waters and fresh-water lakes.

The number of counties is thirty-three; the number of parishes in 1861 was 883. The old valued rent of the counties, as ascertained in 1674, was £3,656,408 Scots, or £319,281 sterling [see the Almanac for 1857, pp. 252, 253]; the new valued rent of the counties, in 1858-9, was £8,883,935, exclusive of the annual value of the real property in the royal and parliamentary burghs, amounting to £3,952,586 [see the Almanac for 1861, pp. 335, 337].

The following Table shows the number of parishes in each county; its area in square miles; the gross amount of property and profits assessed to Property and Income Tax for the year 1869–70; and the population in 1871.

Counties.	No. of parishes.	Area in square miles.	Gross amount of property assessed under Schedule A.*	Gross amount of property assessed under Schedule B.	Gross amot. of profits charged under Schedule D.	Population in 1871.

LIST OF THE PEERAGE OF SCOTLAND,

AS IT STOOD ON THE 1ST MAY 1707; ORDERED TO BE LAID BEFORE THE HOUSE OF LORDS 22D DECEMBER 1707.

[By this document, commonly called The Union Roll, it is understood that the order of precedence among the Peers of Scotland is regulated; and, with certain amendments, it is that called at all elections of their representatives, though it cannot be looked on as a complete list, such as should exclude claims to Peerages not entered in it. By the Act 11 and 12 Vict. c. 52, it is ordered that, until otherwise directed by the House of Lords, the Lord Clerk Register, or the Clerks of Session officiating at elections in his name, shall not call the title of any Peerage on The Union Roll in right of which no vote has been received or counted since the year 1800. It is farther provided by the Act 14 and 15 Vict. c. 87, that after every election the titles of Peerages in right of which no vote has been received or counted for fifty years or upwards, shall be transmitted to the Clerk of Parliament, and on an order to that effect being issued from the House of Lords such titles shall not be called at future elections, until the House of Lords shall otherwise direct.

The Roll, as originally framed, contained 154 Peers; namely, 10 Dukes, 3 Marquesses, 75 Earls, 17 Viscounts, and 49 Barons; and there have been subsequently enrolled 9 Peers; namely, 1 Duke, 2 Marquesses, 1 Earl, and 5 Barons. These are distinguished by the letters ad. and a date (that of their enrolment) placed after their names. The dates of the creations have been prefixed; Peerages which are attainted, extinct, or dormant, are printed in italics; the date of the attainder, extinction, or abeyance, being added; and an asterisk * has been placed after the names of those who are likewise Peers of England, of Great Britain by special creation (all Peers of Scotland being, in terms of the Act of Union, Peers of Great Britain), or of the United Kingdom.]

SECT. III.—EDUCATIONAL AND LITERARY ESTABLISHMENTS.

THE UNIVERSITIES OF SCOTLAND.

The four Scottish Universities—at St Andrews, Glasgow, Aberdeen, and Edinburgh—were in the year 1858 completely reorganized and as far as possible assimilated. The Universities (Scotland) Act of that year made "provision for the better government and discipline of the Universities of Scotland, and improving and regulating the course of study therein." Since then the Universities have possessed a nearly uniform constitution, and each is now governed by three internal bodies, called respectively the General Council of the University, the University Court, and the Senatus Academicus. The official Heads of each University are:—the Chancellor (who nominates a Vice-chancellor for conferring degrees in his absence), chosen for life by the General Council; the Rector, chosen every three years by the matriculated students; and the Principal (at St Andrews, Senior Principal) or resident Head of the University, who is President of the Senatus.

The General Council consists of the Chancellor, who is President of the Council; the Rector, who is President of the University Court; the Principal, Professors, and Graduates (those possessing merely honorary degrees are excepted) of the University; as well as four Assessors nominated to sit in the University Court by the Chancellor, Rector, General Council, and Senatus. Failing the Chancellor, the Rector presides; whom failing, the Principal or Senior Principal; whom failing, the senior Professor present.

The University Court is a court of appeal from the Senatus, and consists of the Rector, Principal, and Assessors. In Edinburgh, two additional members of the Council and Court are the Lord Provost of the city, and an Assessor nominated by the Town Council; and in Glasgow, one additional member is the "Dean of Faculties"—an extra representative of the Senatus.

The Senatus Academicus, which consists of the Principal and Professors, is entrusted with the superintendence of the teaching and discipline, and the administration of the revenues and property of the University.

Two members of Parliament are now returned by the four Universities; one representing Edinburgh and St Andrews, the other Glasgow and Aberdeen. The electors are the members of the General Councils. The Vice-chancellor is empowered to superintend the election. The Vice-Chancellors at Edinburgh and Glasgow are the Returning Officers.

Each University has certain endowments with which to reward its distinguished students. They are awarded in the form of Prizes (Class and University); Bursaries and Scholarships or Fellowships. Of Bursaries the most are to be found at Aberdeen, while Edinburgh possesses the greatest number of valuable Scholarships and Fellowships. Prizes are awarded on competitive examination. Bursaries and Scholarships differ from each other in this, that while the former are bestowed (many of them now on competitive examination) with the view of benefiting students in the course of their curriculum, the latter point more to its natural termination,—being offered for competition to advanced students, to induce them, if possible, to prosecute their studies after graduation. Nearly all the Scholarships in the four Universities are confined to students who have passed the three ordinary examinations necessary for a degree in Arts. Most of the Bursaries likewise belong to the Faculty of Arts, although each of the other three Faculties has some peculiarly its own.

Open to all the Scottish Universities are—

I. THE SIX FERGUSON SCHOLARSHIPS,

Founded by the Trustees of the late John Ferguson, Esq. of Cairnbrock. They are of the value of £80 each per annum, and each is tenable for two years. Three are offered for competition every year,—one in Classics, one in Mathematics, and one in Mental Philosophy. The competitions take place in Glasgow in the month of October, and are open to all who have taken the M.A. degree in one of the Universities in Scotland within two years immediately preceding; or who have passed the last of the ordinary examinations for that degree within the same period, and who have not already gained one of these scholarships. The Scholarships are adjudged upon the report of the Examiners. Candidates are enrolled, not later than 1st September, at the office of the Trustees, 66 George Square, Glasgow, where all necessary information may be obtained.—Secretary, M. S. Tait.

II. THE SHAW FELLOWSHIP IN MENTAL PHILOSOPHY,

Founded in 1867 by contributors to a Memorial of Sir John Shaw, Bart. It is of the annual value of £160, tenable for five years, and is in the patronage of the Senatus Academicus of the University of Edinburgh. It is destined for the encouragement of the study of Logic, Metaphysics, Moral Philosophy, and the History of Philosophy, studies in which the Scottish Universities have long been celebrated in Europe. It is awarded after competitive examination on these subjects, and is open to graduates in Arts of any of the Scottish Universities, and to those who have passed the examinations for that degree, of not more than five years' standing at the time of the competition.

The different professorial chairs are distributed (except at St Andrews, where Law is not taught) under the four Faculties of Arts, Medicine, Law, and Theology.

The degrees conferred by each of the Universities are the following:—Master of Arts (M.A.), Bachelor of Medicine (M.B.), Master in Surgery (C.M.), Doctor of Medicine (M.D.), Bachelor of Laws (LL.B.),* Bachelor of Divinity (B.D.), and the two purely honorary degrees of Doctor of Laws (LL.D.) and Doctor of Divinity (D.D.); together with some which are confined to Edinburgh, Bachelor and Doctor in Natural and Physical Science, Doctor in Mental Science (Sc. B. and Sc. D.)

In the chairs of the Faculty of Arts are taught the leading branches of liberal education, required as a preparatory discipline for the professional Faculties. The province of the other three Faculties — Medicine, Law, Theology—is special, namely, to train for the learned professions.

It is in the Faculty of Arts that we find the fundamental part of a University education:—viz., Latin and Greek; Mental Philosophy, including Logic and Metaphysics, and Moral and Political Philosophy, with which department English Literature is conjoined; and Mathematics, with the various branches of Experimental Physics. A degree in Arts is a pass to any of the other three Faculties. The possession of it exempts from all preliminary examination on general subjects any one desirous of entering the Medical or Legal professions or the Church, since the standard maintained in such preliminary examinations is below that of the degree.

To obtain the degree of Master of Arts entails a University course of Four Winter Sessions, or (in the case of certain entrance examinations being passed)

* Bachelor of Laws is not conferred at St Andrews.

Three Winter Sessions. Attendance on the classes of Humanity (Latin), Greek, Logic and Metaphysics, Moral Philosophy, Rhetoric and English Literature, Mathematics, and Natural Philosophy, is required. The examinations to be gone through are in the three Departments of Classics; Mental Philosophy; and Mathematics (including Natural Philosophy and Experimental Physics). These three examinations may be all passed at the conclusion of the curriculum; or any one or two of them at an earlier period—provided, however, that the classes corresponding to the subjects of examination shall have been previously attended. When a student has passed all three examinations he may take his degree, or, with a view to attaining greater distinction, delay for a time doing so. Those who graduate with Honours are named in alphabetical order in Classes of the First and Second rank; and Honours may be taken in each of the three Departments—Classics, Mental Philosophy, Mathematics and Physics,—or in a fourth, Natural Science.

By Act of Parliament, dated 1861, the examination of Parochial and Burgh Schoolmasters in Scotland is entrusted to the Universities. The country is divided into four districts, and one is allotted to each University:—

1. District of Aberdeen, comprising the counties of Aberdeen, Banff, Caithness, Elgin, Nairn, Inverness, Kincardine, Orkney and Shetland, Ross, Cromarty, and Sutherland.

2. District of St Andrews, comprising the counties of Clackmannan, Fife, Forfar, Kinross, and Perth.

3. District of Glasgow, comprising the counties of Ayr, Argyll, Bute, Dumbarton, Dumfries, Kirkcudbright, Lanark, Renfrew, and Wigtown.

4. District of Edinburgh, comprising the counties of Berwick, Edinburgh, Haddington, Linlithgow, Peebles, Roxburgh, Selkirk, and Stirling.

THE UNIVERSITY OF ST ANDREWS,

The most ancient of the Scottish Universities, was founded in 1411 by Wardlaw, Bishop of the diocese. Two years later, on petition of James I., the Bishop, and others, the foundation, with benefactions annexed to it, was sanctioned, and privileges and immunities were secured to it, by Papal bull of Benedict XIII. From the first there existed the Faculties of Arts, Theology, and Canon Law. In 1430, a pedagogium was erected for the Faculty of Arts. The University has undergone numerous changes of constitution. In the sixteenth century it came to comprise three distinct corporate colleges:—1. St Salvator's College, founded in 1455; 2. St Leonard's College, founded in 1512; 3. The College of St Mary, founded in 1537.

In 1747, the colleges of St Salvator and St Leonard were united by Act of Parliament, and called the United College of St Salvator and St Leonard. The University now "consists," to quote the Calendar, "of three distinct corporations, viz.:—The United College of St Salvator and St Leonard, with its Principal and nine Professors; St Mary's College with its Principal, who is also Primarius Professor, and three Professors; and the University, comprising the members of both colleges, and of which the senior Principal (senior according to priority in office) is also president."

The session in the United College opens in the first week of November, and closes towards the end of April. In St Mary's College, it commences about ten days later, and closes in the end of March.

St Leonard's College Hall was opened in 1861 as a residence for students attending College. The new building is capable of accommodating upwards of 30. The charge for board, etc., during the session, is from £60 to £70; and the hall is also open during the months of May, June, and July, for which the charge is from £30 to £40. The establishment is superintended by a Warden, who, along with a tutor, assists students in preparing for their classes. The students have their meals in common.

The General Council meets twice a year, on the last Thursday of March and the last Thursday of November. The election of Rector takes place every third year, on the last Thursday of November.

The aggregate annual value of the prizes, bursaries, and fellowships at St

Andrews is about £2000. The two colleges possess between them the patronage of nine livings of the Church of Scotland.

In 1871 the number of students who matriculated was 173; the number who graduated was 26—viz.: in Arts, M.A., 12; in Divinity, 3; in Laws, 3; in Medicine, 8. Members of the General Council, 1233. The number of those who voted for the M.P. returned in December 1868 was 1126.

THE UNIVERSITY OF GLASGOW

Was founded by Bull of Pope Nicholas V., obtained by King James II. at the instigation of Bishop Turnbull in 1450. From the beginning it taught Canon and Civil Law, Theology, and the Arts, and was empowered to confer degrees in all Faculties. In its earlier days, its educational labours were carried on near the cathedral, in a building now in ruins, still pointed out as the "Old Pedagogy;" while the General Congregations of the University and of the Faculties met in the chapter-house of the cathedral. In 1459, James, first Lord Hamilton, granted the site of the late buildings to the Faculty of Arts, which thenceforward grew in importance.

In 1577, King James VI. granted increased funds in a charter called the Nova Erectio.

By this charter provision was made for the support of a Principal, who was to teach Theology, and three Regents in Philosophy. From this small beginning the University continued to prosper till the era of the Restoration, at which time it had, besides the Principal, eight Professors and Regents in Theology, Medicine, and Arts. The restoration of the Episcopal Church deprived it of a considerable portion of its revenues, and in consequence several of the Professorships fell into abeyance, but after the Revolution it began again to prosper. In the first twenty years of last century, six new Professorships were founded, and another in 1760. The remaining twelve Professorships have been founded during the present century.

Among the eminent men who have adorned this University during the last and present centuries, may be mentioned the names of Hutcheson, Adam Smith and Reid, Black and Cullen, Robert Simson, John Millar, Moor and Sandford.

The University occupied the site which it has lately quitted, for upwards of four hundred years, and its late buildings for upwards of two hundred years. In 1864 these buildings and adjacent lands were sold, and extensive and handsome new buildings, designed by Mr G. Gilbert Scott of London, have been erected on an admirable site in the west end of Glasgow. The new buildings, of which the foundation-stone was laid by the Prince and Princess of Wales in October 1868, and which were formally opened for the purposes of the University on the 7th November 1870, are estimated to cost, when completed, upwards of £350,000; and in aid of their erection subscriptions have already been received, chiefly in Glasgow and the neighbourhood, to the amount of above £145,000.

The winter session commences on the first Tuesday of November, and ends on May 1st. The Medical classes open a week earlier, and close in the beginning of April. There is also a Medical summer session from the beginning of May till the end of July.

The Exhibitions, Scholarships, and Bursaries, founded in this University, amount in annual value to about £3600. The most valuable of these are the Snell Exhibitions, ten in number, and each £108 in annual value, the object of which is to assist Scottish students in prosecuting their studies in Oxford University. These exhibitions have been held by not a few who afterwards became distinguished, among whom may be mentioned Adam Smith, Sir William Hamilton, the present Archbishop of Canterbury, and the present Lord President of the Court of Session.

The University Library contains an extensive and valuable collection of books, which is always increasing by donations and by a grant of £707 per annum from the Treasury as compensation for the loss of the Stationers' Hall privilege.

The Hunterian Museum was founded by the eminent William Hunter, M.D., who, by his will dated 1783, bequeathed to the University his valuable collection of books, manuscripts, coins, paintings, anatomical preparations, zoological and mineral specimens, and archæological relics.

The number of matriculated students in the session 1870–71 was:—In the Faculty of Arts, 772; Divinity, 71; Medicine (summer, 19), 320; Law, 116: total, 1279.

Matriculated Students, in voting for the Rector, are divided into four nations:—

Natio Glottiana (those born in Lanarkshire); Natio Transforthana (those born in the counties lying north of the Forth); Natio Rothseiana (those born in the counties of Renfrew, Bute, or Ayr); Natio Loudoniana (those not already included).

This election takes place every three years on the 15th (or 16th, if the 15th be a Sunday) of November.

The number of those who graduated in 1871 was 156—viz.: D.D., 5; B.D., 6; LL.D., 6; M.D., 25; M.B., 46; C.M., 34; M.A., 34.

The General Council meets twice a year, on the Wednesday immediately preceding the opening, and on the Wednesday immediately preceding the closing of the winter session.

Members of the General Council on the Register for 1871, 2526; the number who voted for the M.P. at the election in November 1869 was 2026.

THE UNIVERSITY OF ABERDEEN

Was, until 1860, two Universities and Colleges. The one, the University and King's College of Aberdeen, was founded in 1494 by Elphinstone, Bishop of the diocese, and sanctioned by a Papal bull obtained by James IV.; the other, Marischal College and University of Aberdeen, was founded in 1593, under a charter ratified by Parliament, by George Keith, Earl Marischal.

The Universities (Scotland) Act, 1858, includes (as mentioned in the preamble) "The union of the two Universities and Colleges of Aberdeen;" which union the Commissioners appointed by Parliament dated from Sept. 15, 1860. Among the other Scottish Universities, that of Aberdeen now ranks from the foundation of 1494. It consists now of but one University, having its classes for Arts and Divinity in what was King's College, and its classes of Law and Medicine in what was Marischal College. Both Colleges had classes in all four Faculties.

In the election of Lord Rector, the matriculated students are divided according to their birthplace, into four "nations"—Mar, Buchan, Moray, and Angus; and each nation chooses a procurator to vote for the Rector; and, in case of a tie, the Chancellor (failing him, the Principal) has a casting vote.

In Arts, the session commences on the Tuesday before the last Monday of October, and closes on the first Friday of April. In Divinity, the session commences on the second Monday of December, and closes on the last Friday of March, or first Friday of April. In Law, the session extends from the first Monday of November to the end of March. In Medicine, the winter session commences in the last week of October, and extends over six months; and the summer session commences on the first Monday of May, and extends over three months. The General Council meets twice a year—on the Wednesday after the second Tuesday of April, and on the Wednesday after the second Tuesday of October. The number of Matriculated Students in the winter session of 1870-71, was 550; in the summer session of 1871, 141. The number who graduated in 1871 was 118—viz.: M.A. 25; M.D. 15; M.B. 34; C.M. 34; B.D. 9; D.D. 1.

The registered members of the General Council for the year 1871 numbered 2039. The number who voted at the election in November 1869 was 1710.

THE UNIVERSITY OF EDINBURGH.

This, though the youngest of the Scottish Universities, annually enrols the largest number of students. Although formally founded by James VI. in 1582, and entitled Academia Jacobi VI., it originated in a bequest made in 1558 by Reid, Bishop of Orkney, of 8000 merks Scots to the Town-Council of Edinburgh, for the erection of a College. The money was long retained by the Abbot of Kinloss. After a delay of five years, the Council, on the faith of ultimately obtaining the bequest, purchased a part of the present site of the University—but there seem to have stopped short. Queen Mary lent her assistance, granting a charter of presentation to some confiscated church property; but no building was commenced until 1581, 23 years from the date of the bequest. In the following year, King James incorporated the University by Royal Charter; increasing therein the grants of Queen Mary. Its poverty, from deficiency of endowments, has always been a serious embarrassment to the University of Edinburgh.

The title of the Edinburgh University to the various rights, privileges, and immunities possessed by the other Universities of the kingdom, rests on an Act of the Scottish Parliament in 1621, and on subsequent ratifications made in the Treaty of Union and in the Act of Security.

The work of teaching began in 1583, under Robert Rollock, who was called Regent. Other Regents were subsequently appointed, and Rollock became Principal. For a considerable time, each of the Regents taught all branches of learning, and a student was carried through his whole course by the same teacher.

The University of Edinburgh is celebrated as a school of Medicine. Its medical fame, which rose under Dr Alexander Monro in 1720, has been—perhaps still is—second to no other in Europe. It is also celebrated in Mental Philosophy, as well as in Mathematics and Physics.

Until 1858, the Town-Council had a large share of the patronage of the University. Now, the filling up of such chairs as the Town-Council were patrons of is in the hands of seven Curators—four of them elected by the Town-Council, and the remaining three by the University.

The University Library contains about 140,000 volumes. It has ceased to possess the right of books from Stationers' Hall, and the sum of £575 is paid annually as a compensation.

The aggregate annual value of the Fellowships and Scholarships at the Edinburgh University (all founded since 1858) is about £1400. Four of these are given for eminence in Classics; four in Mental Philosophy; six in Mathematics and the Experimental Sciences; and two in Divinity. There are upwards of ninety Bursaries in connexion with the Faculty of Arts, of the aggregate annual value of above £2000; and twenty-four in the Faculty of Divinity, worth annually nearly £400. The SYME FELLOWSHIP was founded in 1871, in memory of the late Professor Syme, by the contributors to the "Syme Memorial" and the Association for the better Endowment of the University of Edinburgh. It is of the annual value of £100, and is tenable for two years; but in certain circumstances an additional year's tenure may be granted. It is founded for the encouragement of the study of Surgery, and is open to Bachelors of Medicine of the University of Edinburgh of not more than three years' standing, who passed the M.B. examination creditably. The patronage is in the hands of the Senatus Academicus, and the Fellowship is to be conferred on the candidate who gives in the best thesis on a surgical subject showing evidence of original research, or practical talent. The thesis may be either that for the degree of M.D., or a special one. The Examiners are the Professors of Anatomy, Clinical Surgery, and Surgery, and one of the additional Examiners in Medicine. The first appointment is to be made in 1874.

Women are admitted to the study of Medicine in this University under the following regulations:—1. The instruction of women for the profession of Medicine shall be conducted in separate classes confined entirely to women. 2. The professors of the Faculty of Medicine shall for this purpose be permitted to have separate classes for women. 3. Women not intending to study Medicine professionally may be admitted to such of these classes, or to such part of the courses of instruction given in such classes, as the University Court may from time to time think fit and approve. 4. The fee for the full course of instruction in such classes shall be four guineas; but in the event of the number of students proposing to attend any such class being too small to provide a reasonable remuneration at that rate, it shall be in the power of the professor to make arrangements for a higher fee, subject to the usual sanction of the University Court. 5. All women attending such classes shall be subject to all the regulations now, or at any future time, in force in the University as to the matriculation of students, their attendance on classes, examination, or otherwise.

The present University building is a large, modern, quadrangular edifice, covering the sites of the birthplace of Sir Walter Scott, and the "Kirk o' Field," the scene of the murder of Darnley. The architect was Mr Adam, who also designed the Register House. The foundation-stone was laid in 1789; but, from want of funds, the building remained only half completed till after 1815. It is still unfinished. A magnificent dome (of the original design) above the grand entrance has never been erected; and several of the plans of Mr Adam were supplanted by those of Mr Playfair as to the interior of the quadrangle, which is very splendid, and in the Grecian style. The accommodation in the present buildings, however, is very inadequate to the growth of the University under the Universities Act (1858), and it suffers seriously in consequence.

There are two sessions: the winter session opening in the beginning of November, and closing in the end of April; and the summer one, opening in the beginning of May, and closing in the end of July. In the winter session all the four Faculties are assembled; in summer only those of Law and Medicine, with tutorial classes in Arts.

The number of matriculated students for 1870–71 was 1768. The number matriculated for 1871–72 is higher than on the corresponding day of the session 1870-71, being the largest attendance for considerably over forty years.

For the degree of M.A. there are three examinations (for particulars see University Calendar) in April and October. The Public Ceremonial of Graduation in Arts, Divinity, and Laws and Science is in April, and in Medicine in August. Those who graduated in 1871, after Examination, numbered 236,—viz., in Arts (M.A.), 56; Medicine, 154,—viz., M.D. 23, M.B. 70, C.M. 61; Law (LL.B.), 6; Divinity (B.D.), 14; Science 5,—viz., in Natural Science 3, Physical Science 1, and in Mental Science 1.

The General Council meets twice a year, on the first Tuesday after the 14th of April, and on the last Friday of October. The membership of the Council is about 3650; the number of those who voted at the election of the M.P. in December 1868 was 3263.

HIGHLAND AND AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY OF SCOTLAND,

INSTITUTED IN 1784—ESTABLISHED BY ROYAL CHARTER 1787.

Candidates for admission must be proposed by a member, and are elected at the half-yearly general meetings in January and June. The ordinary subscription is £1, 3s. 6d. annually, which may be redeemed by one payment, varying according to the number of previous annual payments, from £12, 12s. to £7. 1s. Proprietors farming the whole of their own lands, whose assessment on the valuation roll does not exceed £500 per annum, and all tenant-farmers, office-bearers of local agricultural associations, resident agricultural factors, land stewards, foresters, agricultural implement makers, and veterinary surgeons, none of them being also owners of land to an extent exceeding £500 per annum, are admitted on a subscription of 10s. annually, which may be redeemed by one payment, varying, according to the number of previous annual payments, from £5, 5s. to £3. According to the charter, no member who homologates his election by paying his first subscription can retire until he has paid in annual subscriptions, or otherwise, an amount equivalent to a life composition. Members of the Society receive the Transactions on application, and are entitled to apply for district premiums—to report ploughing matches for the medal—to attend shows free of charge, and to exhibit stock and consult the chemist at reduced rates. Present number of members above 4000.

THE BRITISH FISHERIES SOCIETY.

RE-INCORPORATED BY "THE PULTENEY HARBOUR ACT, 1857."

[This Society was originally incorporated in 1786 by Act of Parliament, by the name and style of "The British Society for Extending the Fisheries and Improving the Sea Coasts of this Kingdom," to enable the members, when incorporated, to subscribe a joint-stock, and therewith to purchase lands, and build thereon free towns, villages, and fishing stations in the Highlands and Islands of Scotland, and for other purposes. The Society accordingly acquired an extensive property at Pulteneytown, on the Bay of Wick, and founded a settlement, at which they erected a harbour about the year 1806, for the accommodation of vessels used in the coasting trade, particularly in connexion with the herring fishing; and a new outer harbour, with alterations on the old one, was completed in 1834. In the session of Parliament 1857 an Act was obtained incorporating the Society of new, and conferring special powers for the erection of an additional harbour in the Bay of Wick, according to plans prepared by Messrs Stevenson, engineers, for the farther accommodation of boats frequenting the herring fishing, and to serve as a harbour of refuge for vessels overtaken by the heavy gales common on the east coast. In the session of Parliament 1862, another Act was obtained to authorize the Society to construct piers or breakwaters, and other works in connexion with Pulteney Harbour, and to amend the Act relating thereto. The works contemplated by the Act of 1857 were never commenced; but the breakwater authorized by the last Act was contracted for in 1863; the work of its formation is now proceeding rapidly upon plans prepared by Messrs Stevenson, and it already affords shelter to the shipping.]

SECTION X.

CHIEF MAGISTRATES AND TOWN-CLERKS OF THE CITIES, BURGHS, AND TOWNS RETURNING MEMBERS TO PARLIAMENT,

WITH STATISTICAL NOTICES.

[In the following list are given statistics of 81 towns—namely, 64 Royal Burghs sending representatives to Parliament; 2 Royal Burghs which do not send representatives to Parliament; and 15 Towns which are not Royal Burghs, but send representatives to Parliament, under the provisions of the Reform Acts 1 & 2 Wm. IV. c. 65, and 31 & 32 Vict. c. 48. These 15 Parliamentary Burghs (distinguished in the following pages by *) are, Airdrie, Cromarty, Falkirk, Galashiels, Greenock, Hamilton, Hawick, Kilmarnock, Leith, Musselburgh, Oban, Paisley, Peterhead, Port-Glasgow, and Portobello. At the Union of England and Scotland, there were 70 Royal Burghs in Scotland, but four of them in the county of Fife—Auchtermuchty, Earlsferry, Falkland, and Newburgh—which had not for some time sent members to the Scottish Parliament, were not included in the classes of burghs then formed to send representatives to the British Parliament. Their constituencies, in terms of the Act 1832, now vote in the election of a representative in Parliament for the county of Fife. Besides these four, there are other two Royal Burghs (distinguished in the following pages by †) which had (as burghs) a parliamentary representation from the Union till 1832, viz. Peebles and Rothesay. Their constituencies now vote in the election of representatives for the counties within which they are situated. The population and inhabited houses are given according to the census of 1871; the value of real property is that within the parliamentary boundaries, as ascertained under the Valuation of Lands and Heritages Act (17 and 18 Vict. c. 91.)]

Notes.—(a) The Liferent Annuities are stated at the amounts as restricted by the Act, being three-fourths of their original amounts, and the sum set down as principal is the assumed value as at 1838.

(b) £385,035, 16s. 8d. is the amount of Debt in respect of which Bonds of Annuity (of 3 per cent.) were issued. The Debts ranked on the City's Estate amounted to £391,812, 13s. 7d., of which £6776, 16s. 11d. was paid by composition, or provided for otherwise than by Bonds of Annuity. The Debts ranked were exclusive of £13,119 due to the College, and secured on the Ale-duty, and of £228,374, 9s. 8d. due to the Treasury, and secured on the Leith Harbour and Docks Estate, with regard to both of which the Act made special provision.

(c) The rate of interest set down in these cases is 4 per cent., which has been the general rate.

(d) Under the Act 33 and 34 Vict. cap. 87, the Annuity of £4200 was redeemed, as at Martinmas 1870, by payment to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners of £56,500, and this sum was advanced to the Corporation by the Public Works Loan Commissioners, to be repaid by half-yearly instalments within ten years, with interest at 3½ per cent. per annum. The three temporary annuities, of £600 each, lapsed in the year 1866.

SECTION III.

EDUCATIONAL ESTABLISHMENTS.

HIGH SCHOOL OF EDINBURGH, Regent Road.

The date of the foundation of the High School is unknown, but it appears to have existed as early as the beginning of the twelfth century. From that time to the Reformation, "the Grammar School of Edinburgh," as it was then called, was under the control of the Canons of Holyrood. In 1598 it was remodelled on a more comprehensive plan, and from the patronage vouchsafed to it by James VI., it received the name of Schola Regia Edimburgensis. The course of study has since, from time to time, been extended and improved, so as to meet the advancing demands of the age. Although at first a merely classical seminary, it now furnishes systematic instruction in all the departments of a Commercial as well as of a Liberal Education. The English Language and Literature, including Reading, Orthography, Recitation, Grammar, and Composition, together with the History of Great Britain, form prominent parts of the system; while the entire curriculum of study—which occupies six years—embraces the Latin, Greek, French, and German languages, History, Geography, Physiology, Chemistry, Natural Philosophy, Zoology, and Botany, with Writing, Arithmetic, Algebra and Geometry, Drawing, Fencing, Gymnastics and Military Drill. There is a Library containing nearly 7000 volumes selected by the Rector and Masters, to which all the pupils have access.

The High School originally stood in the Old Town, near the site of the present Infirmary. It was rebuilt on nearly the same spot in 1777. As this situation had become unsuitable, from the great extension of the city northwards, and as the accommodation had proved inadequate to the rapidly increasing number of pupils, the present splendid structure was founded in 1825, on the south slope of the Calton Hill, which was deemed more convenient for the inhabitants of the city. The edifice, which cost £30,000, and was designed by the late Thomas Hamilton, architect, was completed in 1829.

The main building, 270 feet in length, has a magnificent hexastyle Doric portico in the centre, which is united to the wings by two corridors, the entablatures of which are supported by twelve columns, also of the Doric order. There is ample accommodation for conducting the various branches of study. The playground, a portion of which is roofed over, is spacious, extending to nearly two acres, and commands a picturesque view of the ancient city and surrounding country.

Patrons—The Magistrates and Town Council of Edinburgh.

EDINBURGH ACADEMY, Henderson Row.

The Edinburgh Academy, which was established in 1824, and incorporated y royal charter from George IV., is under the superintendence of a Board f fifteen Directors, three of whom are elected annually from the body of ubscribers. The education is conducted by a Rector, who exercises contant supervision over all the classes, besides instructing those under his mmediate care; four Classical Masters; a Master of French; a Master of Jerman; two Mathematical Masters; a Master of English and Elocution; nd Masters of Writing, Fencing, Drawing, Fortification, and Military and Civil Engineering. Each class is taught in the classical department by the ame master exclusively for the first four years. At the commencement of the ifth it comes under the tuition of the Rector, assisted by the same master, and ontinues under them during the sixth and seventh years. In the three junior lasses all the boys in each class are instructed together in the various branches. But for the fourth and subsequent years of the course, each class is separated into two Divisions: one of these—"The Classical School"—is adapted for boys destined for the learned professions, or who desire a thorough classical training; the other—"The Modern School"—is intended for boys who are to enter upon the civil or military service, or upon mercantile pursuits. The other branches (with the exception of German, which is introduced in the fifth year) are begun with the youngest class, and are continued without interruption during the whole course. The complete course extends to seven years, and combines a thorough classical education with systematic instruction in English, French, and German, Writing, Ancient and Modern History, Geography, and the various branches of Mathematics. There are certain additional classes which are recognised as voluntary. The Academy is situated to the N.E. of the Royal Circus. It is a handsome building, after a design by Mr Burn, and cost upwards of £14,000.

FETTES COLLEGE, Comely Bank.

Sir William Fettes, Bart., of Comely Bank, who was born in 1750, and died in 1836, left the residue of his estate for an endowment for the education, maintenance, and outfit of young persons whose parents have died without leaving sufficient funds for that purpose, or who, from innocent misfortune during their own lives, are unable to give suitable education to their children. For the purposes of the endowment, a building called "The Fettes College" has been erected on the grounds of Comely Bank, part of the trust property, according to plans by David Bryce, Esq., R.S.A., architect, and was opened in October 1870. The number of boys to be admitted on the foundation, and maintained and educated in the College at the expense of the endowment, is not at any one time to exceed fifty; but such a number of boys as the Trustees may from time to time determine, will be received as day scholars, or boarders, from whom such fees will be exacted as shall be fixed by the Trustees. For the accommodation of non-foundationers, a Boarding-House, capable of receiving thirty boys, was opened at the same time as the College, under the charge of one of the assistant-masters. The system adopted is that of the English Public Schools, and the education given is in the full sense of the word liberal, and includes English, Latin, Greek, Modern Languages, Mathematics, scientific and artistic instruction.

THE EDINBURGH MERCHANT COMPANY SCHOOLS.

1. THE EDINBURGH EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION

(FOR YOUNG LADIES), WEST END OF QUEEN STREET.

This Institution was founded in 1695 by the Company of Merchants, and Mary Erskine, widow of James Hair, druggist in Edinburgh, as an hospital for girls, and was known as the Merchant Maiden Hospital. The Governors were incorporated by an Act of Parliament in 1707. The original edifice was in Bristo Street; but having become insufficient for its object, the foundation-stone of a new building was laid in Lauriston in 1816; and the erection, which was designed by Mr Burn, was completed in 1818, at the cost of £12,250. Up to 1870 this building continued to be used as an hospital for the board and education of the foundationers, but in that year it was converted, under a provisional order, into a day-school, and opened as such in September 1870. It having been sold to the governors of George Watson's Hospital, the governors of this institution purchased extensive buildings in Queen Street for the purposes of the institution, and they were opened in October 1871. Upwards of 1200 young ladies are now attending the institution, which provides a high-class education, the course of study embracing English, French, German, Latin, literature, writing, arithmetic, book-keeping, algebra, mathematics, physical science, drawing, vocal music, pianoforte, drill, calisthenics, dancing, and needlework. The governors had the right of presentating thirty-four foundationers to the hospital, but the provisional order directs that this number be reduced to twenty, and that at least one-fourth of these—as well as of presentations belonging to private parties—shall be elected by competitive examination from girls attending this and the other Merchant Company Schools. Girls attending the institution may obtain, by competition, benefits estimated as worth £700—viz., 1. A presentation to the foundation, valued at £50 a year, and tenable for six years, equal to £300; 2. A bursary on leaving the institution of £25 a year, and tenable for four years, equal to £100; 3. And thereafter a scholarship of £100 a year, tenable for three years, equal to £300. Besides the above benefits, a number of school bursaries are awarded at the end of each session, equal in value to the cost of the successful competitor's class-fees for the following year.

The foundationers are maintained in boarding-houses rented by the governors, with the exception of those who are boarded in families in Edinburgh. When admitted to the foundation, the girls must be of the age of nine and under that of sixteen years. A number of the presentations were formerly limited to the daughters or grand-daughters of such as are or were of the order or calling of merchant burgesses of Edinburgh, or ministers thereof, or suburbs of the same, or have been benefactors to the hospital or governors of the same; but the provisional order removes this limitation, and declares that the patrons shall be at full liberty to present such girls as they consider most suitable. On leaving, the girls receive £9, 6s. 8d. each.

2. GEORGE WATSON'S COLLEGE-SCHOOLS.

(1.) For BOYS.—Lauriston.

George Watson, born at Edinburgh about 1650, served an apprenticeship to a merchant in the city, and, after a short residence in Holland, entered into the service of Sir James Dick, a wealthy trader in Edinburgh. This employment he gave up in 1695, on being appointed accountant to the Bank of Scotland. He died in April 1723, and by his will bequeathed £12,000 to endow an hospital for the maintenance and instruction of the male children and grandchildren of decayed merchants in Edinburgh; and by the statutes of his trustees a preference was given to the sons and grandsons of members of the Edinburgh Merchant Company. An hospital for the board and education of the foundationers was founded in the year 1738, and opened in June 1741, and it continued to be used for this purpose until 1870, when the governors of the four hospitals connected with the Merchant Company, taking advantage of the powers given by the Endowed Institutions (Scotland) Act, applied for and obtained provisional orders empowering them to convert the hospital into day-schools, and they were opened as such in September 1870. This building was, however, sold to the corporation of the Royal Infirmary in 1871, and the building formerly called the Merchant Maiden Hospital was acquired for and is now being occupied as George Watson's College-Schools for Boys. There are about 1100 pupils. The design of the schools is to provide boys with a liberal education, qualifying them for commercial or professional life, and for the universities, etc. The course of study includes English, Latin, Greek, French, German, writing, arithmetic, book-keeping, algebra, mathematics, drawing, vocal music, botany, natural history, natural philosophy, chemistry, drill, gymnastics, fencing and dancing. The provisional order directs that the number of foundationers shall be reduced to sixty, and that at least one-fourth of these shall be elected by competitive examination from boys attending this and the other Merchant Company Schools. Boys attending the College-Schools may obtain, by competition, benefits in all estimated as worth £700—viz., 1. A presentation to one of the foundations of this or Daniel Stewart's Institution, valued at £50 a year, and tenable for six years, equal to £300; 2. A bursary on leaving the schools of £25 a year, and tenable for four years, equal to £100; 3. And thereafter a scholarship of £100 a year, tenable for three years, equal to £300. Besides the above benefits, a number of school bursaries are awarded at the end of each session, equal in value to the cost of the successful competitor's class-fees for the following year.

The foundationers are maintained in boarding-houses rented by the governors, with the exception of those who have been boarded in families in Edinburgh. When admitted as foundationers, they must be of the age of nine and under that of fourteen years. On leaving, each foundationer is allowed £7 for clothes; he receives for five years £10 annually; and on attaining the age of twenty-five, a further sum of £50 to enable him to commence business.

(2.) For YOUNG LADIES.—George Square.

The governors have also, in virtue of power given them in the provisional order, established a school for girls called George Watson's College-Schools (for Young Ladies). The course of study is the same as that of the Edinburgh Educational Institution for Young Ladies (see before), and girls attending the school may obtain by competition the same benefits as those attending that institution. The number of pupils is upwards of 500.

Governors. Thomas Knox, Master of the Merchant Company, Preses, the twelve Assistants and the Treasurer of the Merchant Company, and Bailies Cousin and Marshall, Treasurer Colston, Councillors Wilson and Rowatt, Rev. Dr. Wm. Robertson

3. DANIEL STEWART'S INSTITUTION (FOR BOYS), DEAN.

Daniel Stewart of the Exchequer, who died in 1814, left the residue of his property, amounting (after the erection and endowment of a free school in his native parish of Logierait) to upwards of £13,000, to accumulate for the purpose of building and endowing an hospital for the maintenance and education of boys, the children of honest and industrious parents, whose circumstances in life do not enable them suitably to support and educate their children at other schools. Taking advantage of the powers given by a provisional order obtained in 1870, the hospital was opened as a day-school in September of that year. This institution provides boys with a superior education, and the course of study is similar to that in George Watson's College-Schools (for Boys). Instruction is also given in Technical Education. The provisional order directs that the number of foundationers shall be reduced to forty, and that at least one half of them shall be elected from the day scholars of this institution, George Watson's College-Schools, and James Gillespie's Schools. Boys attending the institution have the same benefits open for their competition as those attending George Watson's College-Schools for Boys.

The boys, on admission to the foundation, must be of the age of nine and under that of fifteen years.

Governors, Thomas Knox, Master of the Merchant Company, Preses; the Treasurer and twelve Assistants of the Merchant Company

4. JAMES GILLESPIE'S SCHOOLS (FOR BOYS AND GIRLS), BRUNTSFIELD LINKS.

This institution was founded by James Gillespie of Spylaw, merchant and tobacconist in Edinburgh, who, by his will dated in the year 1796, destined the greater part of his property to the endowment of a charitable school, and of an hospital for the aliment and maintenance of old men and women. The edifice, which was designed by Mr Burn, was founded in 1801, and opened in 1802. The free school was founded in 1801, and opened in 1803. Up to 1870 the hospital continued to be occupied by the old persons, of whom about 40 were maintained in it. In that year the governors obtained a provisional order empowering them to convert the hospital into day-schools, and it was opened as such in September 1870. About 1200 boys and girls are now being educated in the schools. These schools are established as primary schools, and the course of instruction includes English in all its branches, writing, arithmetic, vocal music, and drill. The boys are also taught mechanical drawing, and the girls sewing and knitting. Boys and girls attending these schools may obtain by competition the same benefits as pupils of the other Merchant Company Schools.

Those entitled to the benefits of the hospital as aged foundationers are, persons belonging to Edinburgh and its suburbs above the age of 55; failing these, persons from Leith, Newhaven, and other parts of Mid-Lothian; whom failing, persons from any part of Scotland at the age of 55. By the provisional order, the governors have power, instead of maintaining the foundationers in the present or any other building, to allow them a pension of not less than £10 and not exceeding £25. The buildings formerly occupied as the free school and teacher's house have been converted into a boarding-house for the residence of those who wish to live under the protection of the governors.

SECTION V.

BENEVOLENT & CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

GEORGE HERIOT'S HOSPITAL, LAURISTON.

George Heriot was born at Edinburgh about the year 1563. He followed his father's trade of a goldsmith, and in 1597 was appointed goldsmith to Anne of Denmark, the queen of James VI. Shortly afterwards he was nominated jeweller and goldsmith to the king, and when the court was removed to London, in 1603, Heriot followed in its train. He died there February 12, 1624, having, by a will dated in the previous year, bequeathed the residue of his property, amounting to £23,625, to the erection of an hospital, "for the mainetenance, releife, bringing upp, and education of poore fatherlesse boyes, freemen's sonnes of the towne of Edinburgh."

The foundation stone was laid July 1, 1628, but owing to the civil war and other causes, the building was not opened till April 11, 1659. The expense of the erection exceeded £30,000 sterling.

The management is vested in the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Town Council of the city, and in the Established Clergy of Edinburgh,—in all fifty-four in number.

One hundred and eighty boys are maintained in the Hospital. They are not admitted under the age of seven, nor above the age of ten; they leave at fourteen. (This arrangement is at present undergoing certain modifications.) They are taught English, French, Latin, and Greek, writing, arithmetic, book-keeping, geography, mathematics, drawing, vocal music, and dancing. Those who manifest talents and a desire for the learned professions are sent to the University of Edinburgh, with an allowance for four sessions of £30 a year; ten out-door bursaries of £20 a year are likewise bestowed on deserving students in the College. On leaving the Hospital the boys are provided with clothes and suitable books; such of them as become apprentices for five years or upwards, receive £50, divided into equal annual payments during the term of their apprenticeship, besides a sum of £5 at the end of their apprenticeship as a reward for good behaviour. Those who are apprenticed for a shorter term than five years, receive a correspondingly less allowance than £50. One of the teachers resides in the House, all the others are non-resident. The House Governor also resides in the House.

The annual revenue of the Hospital in 1870 amounted to upwards of £17,100.

THE HERIOT FOUNDATION SCHOOLS.—Inspector, F. W. Bedford, LL.D., D.C.L.

By Act of Parliament (6th and 7th William IV. cap. 25), the Governors of the Hospital were empowered to erect, from the surplus revenues, elementary schools within the city, for educating, free of all expense, 1*st*, The children, in poor circumstances, of deceased burgesses and freemen; 2*d*, The children of burgesses and freemen who are unable to provide for their support; and, 3*d*, The children of poor citizens and inhabitants of Edinburgh residing within the boundaries of the city. They were also empowered "to allow to any of the boys, in the course of their education at such schools, being sons of burgesses and freemen, such uniform fixed sum of money in lieu and place of maintenance, and such uniform fixed sum for apprentice fee, after their education at the said schools is completed, as shall be determined." There are now thirteen Heriot Schools, namely, eight juvenile and five infant schools, attended by upwards of 3400 boys and girls.

JOHN WATSON'S INSTITUTION, Dean.

In the year 1759, John Watson, writer to the signet, bequeathed the residue of his estate to certain Trustees, by them to be applied "to such pious and charitable uses within the City of Edinburgh as they shall think proper." By a deed, dated in 1764, they destined the revenue of the property to "the pious and charitable purpose of preventing child-murder" by the erection of a Foundling Hospital. From doubts of the expediency of such an institution, no measures were taken for its erection; and in the year 1822 an Act of Parliament was obtained, empowering the Trustees to establish and endow "an hospital for the maintenance and education therein of destitute children, and bringing them up to be useful members of society; and also for assisting in their outset in life such of them as may be thought to deserve and require such aid."

The edifice, which was designed by Mr William Burn, was founded in 1825, and completed in 1828. About 100 children are maintained in it; when admitted, they must have completed the seventh year of their age, and be under the age of nine. They are not retained after the age of fourteen. They are instructed in reading, writing, arithmetic, etc.

The establishment is under the management of fifteen directors,—the Keeper and Deputy-keeper of the Signet, the Treasurer of the Institution, and twelve Commissioners of the Writers to the Signet. The fund, which in 1781 amounted to less than £5000, has been accumulated by the care and attention of the Trustees, and now, including the grounds and buildings, exceeds £132,800.

TRINITY HOSPITAL.

Forty-two persons were formerly maintained within the Hospital, who, upon its demolition in 1845, received pensions of £26 a year each. Those elected since that period receive £20 a year each. One hundred and twenty others have an annual allowance of £10 each. The benefits of the endowment are destined to "burgesses, their wives or children, not married, nor under the age of fifty years." Ten others have pensions of £10 each, out of the funds mortified to the Hospital by the late William Lennie, Esq.

THE ORPHAN HOSPITAL, Dean.

This Institution was projected in 1727 by Andrew Gairdner, merchant in Edinburgh; and in 1733 a house was hired, and thirty children received into it. In 1735 an edifice was erected near the Trinity College Church; but by the increase of the city this situation being rendered unhealthy, the present building was founded in June 1831, and finished in October 1833, from the designs of the late Mr Thomas Hamilton.

About ninety boys and girls, including boarders, are maintained in the Institution, the benefits of which are not confined to any district of Scotland. When admitted they must be of the age of seven and not above ten years: they are taught reading, writing, arithmetic, and geography. The Hospital originated and has been maintained almost solely from the charity of the public. Day boarders are now received into the Hospital at £16 per annum for boys, and £14 for girls.

THE MAIDEN HOSPITAL, Meadows,

FOUNDED BY THE CRAFTSMEN OF EDINBURGH AND MARY ERSKINE.

This Institution was founded in 1704, by the Freemen of the Incorporated Trades, and by Mary Erskine, widow of James Hair, druggist. The governors were incorporated by statute in 1707.

The management is in the Deacons of the thirteen Incorporations, two Trades Councillors, two persons of the name of Erskine, the Preses of the Society of Barbers, and nine persons elected by the other Governors,—in all, twenty-seven. Forty-eight girls are maintained in the Institution. Those eligible for admission are, "the children or grandchildren of craftsmen, which failing, any others presented by the incorporations,"—the girls being children belonging to one of the Incorporations of the city of Edinburgh or Society of Barbers. They are required, when admitted, to be of the age of seven, and under that of eleven years: they are not retained above the age of seventeen. They are instructed in the English language and grammar, in French, German, and music, in writing, arithmetic, geography, history, sewing, and laundrywork. On leaving, each girl receives £5, 11s. and a Bible.

Governors, Convener Daniel Robertson, Earl of Mar, Mr Erskine; the Deacons of the Thirteen Incorporations, viz., Thomas Robb, Thomas Field, Daniel Robertson, Robert Leggatt, jun., Thos. CAUVIN'S HOSPITAL, Duddingston.

This Institution was founded by Louis Cauvin, Teacher of French in Edinburgh, and afterwards Farmer at Duddingston, who died in 1825, bequeathing his property for the erection and endowment of "an Hospital for the relief, maintenance and education of the sons of respectable but poor teachers; the sons of poor but honest farmers; whom failing, the sons of respectable master-printers or booksellers, and the sons of respectable servants in the agricultural line." This settlement was explained and modified, and the Governors incorporated, by a parliamentary statute in 1827.

The management is in the survivor of certain individuals nominated by the founder, and others assumed by them, and in the following ex officio trustees, viz., the Lord Provost of the City, the Principal of the University, the Rector of the High School, the Ministers of Duddingston, Liberton, and Newton, the Proprietor of the estate of Niddrie, and the Factor of the Duke of Abercorn.

The Institution, which is situated at Duddingston, was opened in 1833. Twenty-six boys are maintained in it. They are required, when admitted, to be of the age of six, and not more than eight years; and are retained for six years. They are taught the ordinary branches of education, and Latin, Greek, French, and Mathematics.

Governors, Andrew Scott, W.S.; Wm. Law, Lord Provost of Edinburgh; Sir Alex. Grant, Bart., Principal of the University of Edinburgh; Rev. John A. H. Paton, Minister of Duddingston; Rev. John Stewart, Minister of Liberton; Rev. Malcolm Macgregor, Minister of Newton; Jas. Donaldson, LL.D., Rector of the High School of Edinburgh; Andrew Wauchope, Proprietor of the lands of Niddrie; John Ord Mackenzie, W.S., Factor for the Duke of Abercorn; David Scott, Meadowfield, Duddingston; John Gordon, 3 Bellevue Crescent, Edinburgh; Thos. DONALDSON'S HOSPITAL, Glasgow Road.

This Hospital was founded by James Donaldson of Broughton Hall, printer, who died at Edinburgh in October 1830, bequeathing the greater part of his property, amounting to about £200,000, to trustees, for the endowment and erection of an hospital for the maintenance of poor boys and girls, after the plan of the Orphan Hospital in Edinburgh and John Watson's Institution.

The building can accommodate 150 boys and 150 girls: it contains at present 209 children (120 boys and 89 girls), of whom 83 (49 boys and 34 girls) are deaf and dumb. Those eligible for admission are declared to be, "1st, Poor children of the name of Donaldson or Marshall, if appearing to the governors to be deserving; 2d, Such poor children as shall appear to be in the most destitute circumstances and the most deserving of admission." None are received whose parents are able to maintain them. The children are clothed and maintained in the Hospital, and taught such useful branches of a plain English education as will fit the boys for trades and the girls for domestic service. The age of admission is from six till nine, and that of leaving the Hospital fourteen years.

The building, which occupies a commanding position at the west end of the city, is a large and beautiful quadrangular structure, in the Elizabethan style, from a design by the late W. H. Playfair.

THE CHALMERS HOSPITAL, LAURISTON.

George Chalmers, plumber in Edinburgh, who died March 10, 1836, bequeathed the greater part of his fortune, estimated at about £30,000, for the erection and endowment of an Hospital "for the Sick and Hurt."

The management of the charity is in the Dean and Faculty of Advocates. After allowing the fund to accumulate for some years, in conformity with the will of the founder, the trustees erected an Hospital at Lauriston, which was opened for patients early in 1864. Number treated in 1870—in-door patients, 176; out-door, 2228.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

JOHN WATT'S HOSPITAL.

The late Mr John Watt, merchant in Leith, by his trust-disposition and settlement, dated in 1827, bequeathed the residue of his means and estate to trustees, with directions to expend such part thereof as they might consider proper in the erection of an hospital in Leith, to be called, "John Watt's Hospital," for the reception and maintenance of men and women in destitute circumstances of 55 years of age and upwards, in the following order of priority: 1st, Persons of the name of Watt; 2d, Natives of the parish of South Leith of whatever name; 3d, Persons of whatever name who have constantly resided in the parish of South Leith, at least ten years preceding their admission; and 4th, Natives of, or persons who have constantly resided in the city of Edinburgh or county of Mid-Lothian; provided such persons are not pensioners or in receipt of an allowance from any charitable institution except the Parochial Board of South Leith. The trustees acquired what was formerly the Golf House and Ground at the south-west corner of Leith Links, and built an Hospital, which was opened in the beginning of 1862.

Trustees and Governors, Rev. James Grant, D.D., R. M. Weir, Rev. W. Stevenson, D.D., G. A. M'Laren, Rev. James Mitchell, D. A. Paterson, Alex. Dunsmure, Robt. Mowbray, G. B. M. Wyse, Geo. MEMORANDUM.

Penalties for acting as a Solicitor, etc., or as a Conveyancer, without having an Attorney Certificate.

By 33 and 34 Vict. cap. 97, § 59, it is enacted that every person who, in any part of the United Kingdom, directly or indirectly, acts or practises in any Court as a solicitor, etc., or as a notary public, without having in force at the time a duly stamped certificate, or who, on applying for such certificate, does not truly specify the facts and circumstances upon which the amount of duty chargeable upon his certificate depends, shall forfeit the sum of £50, and shall be incapable of maintaining any action or suit for the recovery of any fee, reward, or disbursement on account of any act done or taken by him in any such capacity.

By section 60 of the same Act, it is enacted that every person who (not being a serjeant-at-law, barrister, or a duly certificated solicitor, etc.), either directly or indirectly, for or in expectation of any fee, gain, or reward, draws or prepares any instrument relating to real or personal estate, or any proceedings in law or equity, shall forfeit the sum of £50. The term "instrument" in this section does not include wills or other testamentary instruments, agreements under hand only, letters or powers of attorney, and transfers of stock containing no trust or limitation thereof.

Total in 5 Years .	£5,713,813 7 3

giving an annual average of new business during the period of £1,142,762, 15s. 5d., the first and last years of the period being above the average.

The proposals made to the Company during the period, and from which these assurances were selected, amounting to no less than £7,151,170, 16s. 5d., contained in 11,221 proposals, of which 9190 were accepted, represented by the total of £5,713,813, 7s. 3d, shown above.

The Deaths during the quinquennial period gave rise to the following claims, which were duly paid:—

Claims.		Sums Assured.		Bonus Additions.
1866	...	£314,376 3 10	...	£48,693 4 8
1867	...	306,561 13 6	...	46,190 13 0

EIGHTH DIVISION OF PROFITS.

The Profits of the Company were divided for the eighth time in 1870, when the large sum of £331,591, 18s. was allocated to the Policy-holders. The mode of division is fully stated in the Company's prospectus, which can be obtained on application at the Company's Offices or Agencies. Previous periods of division were, 1835, 1840, 1845, 1850, 1855, 1860, 1865, and 1870. The next division will be in 1875.

THE ADVANTAGES, as compared with other Offices, are:—

A greatly Larger Original Assurance for the same Premium, with the prospect, to good lives (for whom exclusively the whole Profits are reserved), of eventually receiving very considerable additions.

Thus, a Policy for £1200 or £1250 can in most cases be had, from the first, for the premium charged elsewhere for £1000 only; while the effect of reserving the surplus has been that Policies for £1000, which have shared at three Investigations, have already been increased to £1400, £1600, and some even to £1800.

Examples of Annual Premiums for £100 at Death, with Profits.

AGE.	25	30	35	40	45	50
Payable during Life	£1 18 0	2 1 6	2 6 10	2 14 9	3 5 9	4 1 7
Limited to 21 Years.	£2 12 6	2 15 4	3 0 2	3 7 5	3 17 6	4 12 1

EXAMPLE.—A person aged 30 may secure £1000 at death (with right to Profits) by a yearly payment, during life, of £20, 15s. This Premium, if paid to any other of the Scottish Mutual Offices, would secure a Policy for £800 only instead of £1000.

At age 40 the same sum of £1000 (entitled, of course, to Profits) may be secured by twenty-one yearly Premiums of £33, 14s. 2d., being nearly the same as most Offices require during the whole term of life.

FINANCIAL POSITION.

THE REALIZED FUNDS exceed £1,850,000, the increase in the last two years having been £266,000. Notwithstanding the lowness of its rates, no office of the same age has as large a Fund, or shows so large an increase from year to year.

Annual Reports, with full information, may be had on application.

NORTH BRITISH AND MERCANTILE

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

I.—LIFE INSURANCE BRANCH.

THE LIFE DEPARTMENT consists of Two Branches—LIFE INSURANCE, and the GRANTING OF ANNUITIES.

Nine-Tenths of the Profits of the Life Insurance Branch are appropriated to the Participating Policy-holders every Five Years.

The next Division of Profits will be made as at 31st December 1875.

The Fund which was Divided on account of the Profits of the Life Department for the last Quinquennial Period 1865-1870, amounted to £182,274 5 2

The Accumulated Funds, specially invested to meet the obligations of that Department, and which, in terms of "The North British and Mercantile Insurance Company's Act, 1870," are not liable for any obligations of the Fire Department, amounted, (exclusive of the Paid-up Capital), as at 31st December 1870, to £2,075,193 7 7

The Life Premiums and Interest for the year 1870 were 360,625 18 9

THE PREMIUMS are Moderate, and are framed to suit all contingencies connected with Life.

New Special Rates, Civil and Military, for India, Ceylon, China, etc.

II.—ANNUITY BRANCH.

Annuities of all descriptions granted on most favourable terms.

Tables of Rates, and every information, may be had at any of the Chief Offices or Agencies of the Company.

LIFE ASSOCIATION OF SCOTLAND.

Claims & Bonuses paid, £1,843,375. Funds, £1,350,000.

SYSTEM OF BONUSES

Peculiar to this Institution.

In Class A.—The Cash Bonuses are allocated every year to Policy-holders of five years' standing who have paid six years' premiums, and are applied in part payment of the next due premiums. The Bonuses thus virtually become A Life Annuity to the Policy-Holder. The Original Outlay required for a Policy has thereby, after the 6th year's payment, been reduced to 25, 30, or 37½ per cent. less than the usual amount, according to the dates of the Policies.

In Class B.—The PROFITS are allocated every five years in the form of Additions to the Sums Assured. Further, they are not frittered away in the usual comparatively small Bonuses to all the Assured, whether dying early or late, but are reserved for those who do not die before the average period. At each of the Divisions in 1865 and 1870, the Bonus declared for every year's Premium paid was the large sum of £4 per £100, or £40 per £1000, and payable with the Sum Assured, if the Policy-holder attain the average period of persons of the same age.

NON-FORFEITABLE PREMIUM SYSTEM,

By This Plan the whole Sum Assured is payable at the death of the person named, whenever it may happen, but the premiums are payable only during 10, 15, 20, or 30 years, if he live so long: but further,

If the policy-holder discontinue the Assurance at any time after two payments, he will receive, in exchange, a Paid-up policy for as many 10ths, 15ths, 20ths, or 30ths, of the original policy as he has paid premiums. The great advantages of this system are obvious. By each payment the policy-holder secures unfailingly and finally a proportionate part of the policy, whether or not he elect to go on with the remaining payments. The policy-holder is thus if, from omission, inability, or any other cause, he discontinue the payments for his policy. Such policies are unusually valuable; and when taken in Class B, in which there are no restrictions as to Occupation or Residence, they are really not liable like ordinary Assurances to be lost or affected by any act or omission, or by the manner or cause of death.

Absolute Bonds for the Sums Assured payable on death,

The ASSOCIATION transacts every description of LIFE ASSURANCE and ANNUITY BUSINESS; and also secures ENDOWMENTS, payable at any period of Life, as PROVISIONS for OLD AGE. Its business has been carefully selected and steadily progressive; and it has been derived exclusively from the legitimate Home connexions of the Office, without amalgamation with any other Company. The FUNDS are securely INVESTED, and of ample AMOUNT.

FIFTH DIVISION OF PROFITS.

At the FIFTH DIVISION OF PROFITS, on 14th June 1871, REVERSIONARY BONUS ADDITIONS at the rate of £1 : 10s. per cent. per annum on the SUMS ASSURED were made to all POLICIES effected on the PARTICIPATION SCALE for the WHOLE TERM OF LIFE. Copies of the Valuation Report and Balance-Sheet may be had on application.

NINE-TENTHS (90 per cent.) of the PROFITS are given to the ASSURED. POLICIES effected during 1872 will rank for FOUR YEARS' REVERSIONARY BONUS ADDITIONS at the Sixth Division of Profits at Christmas 1875.

NON-FORFEITURE POLICIES.

The PREMIUMS on these POLICIES are limited to TEN, FIFTEEN, or TWENTY Yearly Payments, and they secure EQUIVALENT AMOUNTS of ASSURANCE without risk of forfeiture. Policies may be effected on this Scheme either with or without participation in Profits, and either for Sums payable at Death or for ENDOWMENT-ASSURANCES payable during Life.

LOANS are granted on LIFE INTERESTS, REVERSIONS, or other approved SECURITY. LIFE ANNUITIES secured on favourable terms.

Principal Features and System of Business.

Policy-holders on the ordinary Profit Scale may have their share of the Bonus so applied as to render the sum assured payable during lifetime. A Policy thus becomes a means of subsistence in old age as well as a family provision in the event of early death.

Indisputable Whole-World Policies are granted free from all conditions as to Travel, Residence, or Occupation. Specimen copies of these documents may be had on application.

After four years' premiums have been paid, a fair cash value is allowed for the surrender of all ordinary Policies.

Policy-holders can at all times promptly have permanent Advances to the extent of the surrender value of their Policies on the security thereof. No charge being made beyond interest and stamp.

After five years' membership an annual premium may be suspended at interest during convenience.

FIRE INSURANCE.

The Premiums in this Branch exceed £931,728. Nearly every description of Property insured at moderate rates.

LIFE INSURANCE.

The Premiums received in 1870 were £268,984, and the Annuities payable amounted to £58,495. The Fund accumulated to meet these Liabilities is £2,296,177. The Liability of Proprietors is unlimited.

BONUSES on Life Policies are GUARANTEED when the Insurance is Effected.

THE ANNUITY Rates are extremely liberal, and every facility given to purchasers as to place and time of payment.

CLAIMS UNDER POLICIES have at all times been properly adjusted and paid, and have exceeded £7,500,000 sterling. This test, and the present revenue, are conclusive evidence of the satisfactory way in which the business of the Company is conducted.

THE Capital of the Bank is £10,000,000 sterling, in 100,000 Shares of £100 each. The sum of £20 has been paid on each share, so that the paid-up Capital is £2,000,000 sterling. The Reserve Fund is £1,000,000.

The Bank has above three thousand five hundred partners, whose names are registered at the Stamp Office, and are printed with the Annual Report of the Directors.

Current Accounts are received on the same principles as those observed by the London Bankers. Every person connected with the establishment signs a Declaration of secrecy as to the accounts of individuals. No Christmas Boxes or other gratuities are allowed to be taken by the Officers of the Bank. The Bank takes the agency of Joint-Stock Banks, Private Bankers, and other parties residing at a distance. Strong rooms are provided for the security of Deeds and other property lodged by the Customers of the Bank. Parties who are desirous of having Current Accounts, without being under the necessity of keeping a balance, are charged a small commission, proportionate to the amount of their transactions.

Sums of £10 and upwards are received on deposit at interest, and are re-payable upon demand, without notice. For these sums Receipts are granted, called Deposit Receipts. These Receipts are not transferable, nor can Cheques be drawn against them. When paid, the Depositor must either attend in person, or sign the printed form at the back of the receipt. If the money is withdrawn within a month, no interest is allowed. Parties may lodge money upon an Interest Account who have no Current Account, and those who have Current Accounts may transfer any portion of their Balance to an Interest Account.

CIRCULAR NOTES are issued for the use of Travellers, payable in the principal Towns on the Continent of Europe, also in Asia, Africa, and North and South America. No expense whatever is incurred, and when cashed no charge is made for commission. Letters of Credit are also granted on the same places. They may be obtained at the City Office in Lothbury, or at any of the Branches.

This Fund is for the Mutual Guarantee of Bank Officials employed in the United Kingdom.

The subscription for Membership is £1 per cent. on the amount of the Guarantee. Payment may be made either in one sum or by five equal annual instalments, but when payment is thus deferred five per cent. on the full subscription must be added to each instalment, until the whole be paid.

An entrance fee, at the rate of £2 per £1000, is also charged to members admitted since the 30th June 1870, at which date 4280 policies had been issued, and the roll of existing members numbered over 3400.

A special form of policy is issued to the Banks in Scotland in conformity with the law and usage of the country.

Members may, under ordinary circumstances, go from one Bank to another without prejudice to their guarantees, provided their old employers will, at the time of leaving, surrender their policies.

Policies issued to 30th November 1871, 5218.

Manager—ANDREW PATERSON, C.A., 76 George Street.

Law-Agents—MURRAY, BEITH, & MURRAY, W.S., 43 Castle Street.

Auditor—THOMAS MARTIN, C.A., 49 Castle Street.

DEPOSITS AND DEBENTURES.

THE ASSOCIATION receives Money on DEPOSIT or DEBENTURE BOND, at Rates varying from 3 to 4½ per cent., according to the market value of money at the time. If preferred a uniform Rate of Interest will be given on Deposits for fixed periods of from one to five years, on terms to be arranged. The Debenture Bonds will be granted for three, five, or seven years.

SAFETY OF DEPOSITS AND DEBENTURES.

The ASSOCIATION lends its Funds on HERITABLE PROPERTY only, and at rates corresponding to the market value of money. All the Loans are repayable by instalments, which adds greatly to their safety, any depreciation which might take place in the value of the security being more than met by the gradual diminution of the Loan. The risk arising from the Investments of the Company is thus small, and comparatively high rates can thus be given for Deposits. In addition to the fact that the Loans are all secured on Heritable Property only, Depositors have the further guarantee of the Company's large subscribed Capital.

LOANS.

Loans are granted on Security of Land, Houses, and every description of Heritable Property.

The Loans are repayable in periods of from four to sixteen years. If desired, part only may be made repayable by instalments—the remainder bearing interest, payable half-yearly.

Borrowers can pay off their Loans at any time, either in whole or in part; or the period of repayment can be altered to one more suitable.

THE SCOTTISH PROPERTY INVESTMENT COMPANY was established in 1849. Conducted on liberal, yet safe and economical principles, it rapidly acquired, and has ever since retained, the confidence of the public. It soon became, and still continues to be, the largest and most influential Company of the kind in Scotland. Since its commencement it has advanced for the purchase of property upwards of £800,000. The Directors have ample Funds on hand to meet the requirements of 1872, and they invite applications for loans on their usual easy terms. No Commission charged, and no Interest charged on advances until the money is paid.

The Candidates will be examined in English Grammar and Composition, Arithmetic, Latin, Grammar, Construing, and Prose Composition. Boys over thirteen years of age will also be examined in Greek, French, and Geometry. Allowance will be made for age, and sound elementary training will be considered very important.

The successful Candidates will be required to reside in the College, and will be admitted in the month of September following their election.

In the case of Scholars, the Entrance-Fee will not be exacted; so that the actual annual cost for each Scholar, giving credit for the amount of the Scholarship, will be £45.

Copies of the Papers set at the last Scholarship Examination will be supplied by Mr Jackson, Fettes College, on receipt of eight stamps.

ANDERSON EXHIBITION.

This Exhibition, of the annual value of £100, and tenable for four years, has been founded by Mr Anderson of Moredun, with the view of enabling the holder, after leaving Fettes College, to proceed to the University of Oxford or Cambridge. All Boys who have been educated at Fettes College for a period of not less than four years will be entitled to compete. The first Competition will take place at the end of the Summer Term 1876; so that Boys entering the College on or before September 1872, and attending regularly thereafter, will be eligible for this competition.

In the year 1875, and annually thereafter, there will be offered for competition two Exhibitions to the University of Edinburgh, of the annual value of £60 each, tenable for four years. One of such Exhibitions will be open for competition among the Foundationers alone; and the other among the Foundationers and such of the other pupils as have attended the College regularly for not less than four years.

In addition to these exhibitions, the Trustees propose to establish others, not necessarily attached to the University of Edinburgh, but intended to enable or aid the holders to proceed to any University, English or Scottish, that they may prefer. The details and conditions of these additional exhibitions have not yet been settled.

FELLOWSHIPS.

The two Fellowships to be founded in the University of Edinburgh, in terms of the original Prospectus, Article 28, cannot, of course, become available for several years to come. The Trustees in the meantime reserve to themselves the adjustment of the Regulations and Conditions on which they are to be bestowed and held.

Parents or Guardians will receive full information as to all the College arrangements, on applying to the Head Master.

PRESENTATIONS, BURSARIES, AND SCHOLARSHIPS.

EDINBURGH EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION FOR YOUNG LADIES.
GEORGE WATSON'S COLLEGE-SCHOOLS FOR BOYS.
GEORGE WATSON'S COLLEGE-SCHOOLS FOR YOUNG LADIES.
DANIEL STEWART'S INSTITUTION.
JAMES GILLESPIE'S SCHOOLS.

COMPETITIONS FOR PRESENTATIONS TO FOUNDATIONS, BURSARIES, AND SCHOLARSHIPS, UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF PARLIAMENT.

Boys attending George Watson's College-Schools for Boys, Daniel Stewart's Institution, and James Gillespie's Schools, are entitled to compete for at least one-half of the Presentations, as they become vacant, of Daniel Stewart's, and at least one-fourth of those of George Watson's Trusts. GIRLS attending the Edinburgh Educational Institution, George Watson's College-Schools for Young Ladies, or James Gillespie's Schools, are entitled to compete for at least one-fourth of the Presentations of the first of these Trusts.

Parliamentary authority has been obtained to found the following Bursaries and Scholarships, to be also awarded on Competitive Examination, viz.:—

I.—FOR BOYS.

5 SCHOLARSHIPS OF £100 A YEAR, TENABLE FOR 3 YEARS.

II.—FOR GIRLS.

3 SCHOLARSHIPS OF £100 A YEAR, TENABLE FOR 3 YEARS.

Thus, Boys who attend George Watson's College-Schools for Boys, Daniel Stewart's Institution, or James Gillespie's Schools; and Girls who attend the Edinburgh Educational Institution, George Watson's College-Schools for Young Ladies, or James Gillespie's Schools, may obtain, by Competition, benefits in all estimated as worth £700, viz.:—

I. A Presentation to one of the Foundations, valued at £50 a year, which for 6 years is	£300	0	0
II. A Bursary on leaving the Schools of £25 a year for 4 years,	100	0	0
III. And thereafter a Scholarship of £100 a year for 3 years, .	300	0	0
	£700	0	0

Besides the above Benefits, a number of School Bursaries are awarded at the end of each Session, equal in value to the cost of the successful Competitors' class-fees for the following year.

The next Competition for Presentations to the Foundations, and the first Competition for Bursaries, will take place in July 1872.

In terms of the authority of Parliament, a Chair of "COMMERCIAL AND POLITICAL ECONOMY, AND MERCANTILE LAW," has been endowed in the University of Edinburgh, of which Dr W. B. Hodgson is the Professor, to complete the Commercial Side of Education given in the Schools. The Governors receive 12 free Tickets for this Class each Session, and which will be awarded to the most meritorious Pupils who have attended George Watson's College-Schools for Boys, and Daniel Stewart's Institution.

Parents and Guardians intending to send Children to these Institutions should, in order to prevent disappointment, put themselves in early communication with the Head-Masters.

By Order of the Merchant Company and Four Boards of Governors.

"WONDER OF THE AGE."

1000 NEWSPAPERS RECOMMEND THEM.
For their Names see Graphic, Sept. 16, 1871.

Standard says—"The 'Waverley' will prove a treasure."
Court Journal says—"The 'Owl' Pen for fine writing is unsurpassed, and is par excellence the Ladies' Pen."
Sun says—"The 'Phaeton Pen' creates both wonder and delight."
Somerset County Gazette says—"These pens are a luxury for the million."

DR J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

From LORD FRANCIS CONYNGHAM, Mount Charles, Donegal, 11th Dec. 1868.

"Lord Francis Conyngham, who this time last year bought some of Dr J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne from Mr Davenport, and has found it a most wonderful medicine, will be glad to have half-a-dozen bottles sent at once to the above address."

"Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he received a despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Manilla, to the effect that Cholera has been raging fearfully, and that the ONLY remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE."—See Lancet, 1st December 1864.

CAUTION.—BEWARE of PIRACY and IMITATIONS.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. PAGE WOOD stated that Dr J. COLLIS BROWNE was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the story of the Defendant, FREEMAN, was deliberately untrue, which he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See Times, 13th July 1864.

Sold in Bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming Medical Testimony accompanies each bottle.

Sole Manufacturer:—J. T. DAVENPORT,
