TABLES OF THE TIDES
AT GLASGOW AND GREENOCK FOR 1879.

OBSERVATIONS.

In the Tide Table, if a blank, such as .... occurs upon any day, there is high water only once that day. It is to be observed that morning is supposed to commence immediately after midnight, and evening immediately after noon. Noon is denoted by 0h 0m. Having assumed 12 hours minutes as the time of full and change at Greenock, nothing more is necessary than to apply the time as under to the time given in the Greenock Table, and the result will be the time of High Water at each respective place.

PILOT BOARD.

The Hon. the Lord Provost of Glasgow, the Provost of Greenock, the Provost of Port-Glasgow, the Provost of Dumbarton, and the Provost of Rothesay, ex officiis

Appointed by the Clyde Trustees, under "The Clyde Navigation Consolidation Act, 1858."

John Hardie | Thos. Henderson | George Brown | Geo. W. Clark
Henry J. Watson | Leonard Gow | Rob. H. Dunn

Appointed by Greenock Harbour Trustees
Councillor Shankland, Wm. Neill, A. O. Leitch, D. Hendry

THE CITY OF GLASGOW.

The City Chamberlain estimated the population of the City and Suburbs, at Midsummer of 1877, as follows:—

Total population situated within the Parliamentary boundary, ...	538,000
Outside of the Parliamentary City, but now forming part of the Municipal City.	18,000
So that the Municipal City of Glasgow contained at Midsummer of 1877 a population of	556,000

We may therefore estimate the population of the City and its adjuncts thus—

MUNICIPAL CITY, MIDDLE OF 1877.

Estimated population, as previously stated, ...		556,000
SUBURBAN DISTRICTS, AT SAME DATE.
North Side of River—
Partick, Hillhead, and Kelvinside, ...	36,610
Maryhill, Milngavie, and Hogganfield, ...	20,060
Shettleston and Tollcross	7,750
		64,420
South Side of River—
Govan, ...	42,565
Pollokshields, Kinning Park, and Paisley Road,	21,555
Crosshill, Govanhill, Langside, and Cathcart ...	18,240
Shawlands, Pollokshaws, and Thornliebank, ...	13,525
		95,885
Thus the City of Glasgow, including its connected and closely contiguous Suburban districts, represented, in the middle of 1877, a united population of as nearly as may be, ...		716,305

[or it may be not unsafely placed at 720,000, or even at a figure somewhat higher.]

GLASGOW CORPORATION TRAMWAYS.

These Tramways, which have been constructed by the Corporation under the Glasgow Street Tramways Act, 1870, and the Glasgow Corporation Tramways Act, 1875, are leased to the Glasgow Tramway and Omnibus Company Limited for a term of 23 years from 1st July, 1871, and the agreement under which the lease is granted applies not only to the whole of the lines already authorised but also to any extension which may be made by the Corporation. By that agreement the Corporation are to borrow on their own security the capital required for construction and expenses, and the lessees are to pay the rate of interest actually paid by the Corporation, and their expenses of borrowing, management, &c., in addition to a sinking fund of three per cent. per annum. In lieu of any payment for pavement in streets not being turnpike roads, the lessees pay a fixed charge of £150 per annum per street mile. The lessees are also to set apart annually four per cent. on the monies spent on construction, as a fund for maintenance and renewals, the interest on which will be received by the lessees, and any balance at the end of the lease will revert to them.

BAILLIE'S INSTITUTION

Was founded by the late Mr George Baillie, writer in Glasgow, who divested himself in his lifetime of his whole fortune (£18,000) with its accumulations during twenty-one years from 11th Nov., 1863, to endow an Institution for the Self-culture of the operative classes in Glasgow, by means of Free Public Libraries and Reading Rooms, and for the Tuition and Training of their children in unsectarian schools. The Dean, Council, and Clerk of the Faculty of Procurators in Glasgow, are perpetual Preceptor, Patrons, and Directors of the Institution, which was incorporated by Royal Charter, dated 18th March, 1867.

The Society was instituted in the year 1806, and the sphere of its operations includes the Parliamentary boundary of the city of Glasgow situated on the south side of the river Clyde. The object of the Society is to afford pecuniary or other relief to the natives and old inhabitants of the Barony of Gorbals, who are of respectable character; have been in better circumstances, but reduced to a decayed and indigent state; and who, not being otherwise sufficiently provided for, stand in need of the Society's aid; but no one receives assistance from its funds who is in receipt of parochial relief. Advanced age, urgent necessity, and respectability of character are indispensable. Length of residence, next to nativity preferred, but applicants must have one or other of these qualifications Non-residence at the time of making application will not exclude from the benefits of the society. No one is allowed to participate in the benefits of the Society who is under fifty years of age, unless labouring under permanent bodily infirmity. The Treasurer supplies forms of application for aid.

GRAHAM CHARITABLE.

This Society was instituted in the year 1759, and was incorporated by Seal of Cause from the Magistrates and Town Council of Glasgow, upon the 2nd Jan., 1770. None are eligible as members of the Society except persons of the name of Graham and their descendants, or those married to individuals of that name, or their descendants. The entry-money to strangers is £5 5s, and to sons and other lineal descendants, and sons-in-law of members, £3 3s.

The managers are chosen annually in December

GLASGOW HOME FOR DESERTED MOTHERS,

(308 Renfrew street).

Established in 1873, and supported by Voluntary Contribution

The aim and object of this Home is to supply a desideratum, the want of which has been long experienced in this city and the West of Scotland, viz., to afford temporary shelter and maintenance to destitute and houseless mothers, with their helpless infants. Those only who have for the first time deviated from the paths of virtue, or who have been led astray, are eligible for admission. While resident in the Home a vigilant supervision is exercised over them. Much attention is paid to their moral and religious welfare, and every effort made to procure suitable situations for them. The infants are placed under the care of proper and trustworthy nurses, all of whom are under the oversight and supervision of the Matron.

The Home is managed by a Committee of ladies, assisted by a Board of gentlemen, and is under the general superintendence of a Matron.

Secretary, J. B. Kidston, 50 West Regent street

The object of this Institution is to afford assistance to natives, and widows, and families of natives of the City of Glasgow, who, from reverses of fortune or otherwise, have been reduced to necessitous circumstances; though not such casual or trivial relief, as is properly obtained from the funds destined by law for the support of the poor, but rather such more ample and efficient assistance, as may tend to secure comparative ease and independence to the parties on whom it is bestowed. It is composed of parties born within the Royalty or Parliamentary limits of the Burgh, though donations are received and invited from those who, though not natives, have been identified, by long residence or commercial connection, with the interests and prosperity of the city, and who, though not members, are enrolled in a separate class, titled donors. Legacies and bequests will also be received, and are invited from the opulent and generous either at home or abroad, who approve of its objects. A payment of £5 5s, either in one sum at entry, or by five successive yearly instalments of £1 1s, constitutes membership. Members and widows and families of members, are entitled to a preference in the distribution of the funds.

WEST OF SCOTLAND CONVALESCENT SEA-SIDE HOMES, DUNOON.

Promoted by Miss Beatrice Clugston, of Glasgow.

This Institution is designed for the necessitous and deserving of the industrial classes who have been in illness, to give them the benefit of the restorative influence of a short residence at the sea-side during convalescence. The Homes were formally opened in 1869, since which time nearly thirteen thousand patients have been quite restored to health. There is accommodation for 150 persons; and added to a generous diet, there is afforded the best medical advice and medicines, as also the use of superior hot and cold water baths. Each donor of £10, or annual subscriber of £1, is entitled to recommend one person annually for admission to the Homes.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.—Manager, D. MARSHALL LANG.

Moderate Rates of Premium, based on an equitable system of Assessment.

Claims liberally and promptly settled.

All Policies issued Free of Duty, and no Fees or Stamps charged.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.—Actuary, T. E. YOUNG.

The Life Funds, exceeding £550,000, are set apart by Deed of Settlement and Act of Parliament for the exclusive Security of Life Policy Holders, who possess in addition the Security of the General Assets of the Company, exceeding £1,000,000, and of the uncalled but fully-subscribed Capital of £2,250,000.

The Expenses of Management are limited by Deed of Settlement to a small per-centage on the Premium Income.

The Third Valuation was made on the 31st December, 1877, and while no provision was omitted to make the Reserve as strong as possible, the resulting Bonus was very satisfactory.

FIVE MILLIONS, FOUR HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-SIX THOUSAND POUNDS.

Annual Income nearly HALF-A-MILLION.

ASSURANCES on Lives are granted for any desired amount, either with participation in Profits, or at a lower rate of Premium without participation in Profits.

Profits are divided every fifth year, four-fifths thereof being appropriated to the persons Assured on the participating scale of Premiums.

At the Eight Divisions of Profits which have been made, Reversionary Bonuses amounting to £5,523,138 have been allotted.

The Claims paid to 31st December, 1877, amounted to £11,538,820, being £8,623,947 in respect of Sums Assured by Policies, and £2,914,873 in respect of Bonuses thereon.

Policies are granted under the terms of the Married Women's Property Act, 1870.

Loans are granted on Security of Life Interests and Reversions in connection with Policies of Assurance; also on Security of the unencumbered Policies of the Society, nearly to the extent of their Surrender value.

Attention is specially directed to the Revised Prospectus of the Society; to the New Rates of Premium, which are materially lower for young lives than heretofore; to the New Conditions as to extended limits of Free Travel and Residence; and to the Reduced Rates of Extra Premium.

Prospectus and Form of Proposal will be sent on application to the Actuary at the Office in London; or to the Society's Agents in Scotland, viz.:—

THIS OFFICE alone combines the advantages of Mutual Assurance with Moderate Premiums.

The PREMIUMS are so moderate that at most ages an Assurance of £1200 or £1250 may be secured from the first for the same yearly payment which would generally assure £1000 only.

The whole PROFITS go to the Policy-holders, on a system at once safe, equitable, and favourable to good lives—no share being given to those by whose early death there is a loss. The effect of reserving the surplus for the survivors (who will, however, comprise more than half the members) has been that Policies for £1000 have already been increased to £1400, £1600, £1800, and even in some cases they have been doubled.

The FUNDS are securely invested, chiefly on mortgage of lands and other non-fluctuating securities. The amount—above £3,300,000—is larger (notwithstanding the lowness of the Premiums) than in any Office in the Kingdom of the same age. The Increase on the previous year was over £227,000.

Full statements of the Principles and particulars as to the Financial Progress and Position of the Institution will be found in the Annual Reports; to be had at the LIFE DEPARTMENT.

This Company offers to the Public the security of an ample paid up Capital, and accumulated Fund of ONE MILLION AND A HALF STERLING, with an Annual Revenue of nearly £200,000 from the Life Branch alone. Four-Fifths of the Profits are appropriated to the Assured.

AMOUNT PAID FOR LIFE CLAIMS SINCE THE OFFICE WAS ESTABLISHED, UPWARDS OF SIX MILLIONS STERLING.

The Share of Profits may be added to the sum insured, and payable at the death of the Life—or its present value in cash may be received—or an equivalent reduction of the future Annual Premium obtained—at the option of the Assured.

Assurances can be effected, without participation in Profits, at considerably lower rates of Premium.

LOANS granted on Life Policies, on approved personal Security, and Advances made on the Security of Policies of adequate value.

NO CHARGE FOR MEDICAL FEES OR POLICY STAMPS.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Insurances are effected at the usual Rates of Premium. Manufactories and all Risks of a similar nature insured by special agreement, on the most favourable terms.

Losses by Explosion of Gas are made good by this Company.

Policies transferred from other Offices free of expense. Claims settled with promptitude and liberality.

OLIVER AND BOYD'S

Object-Lesson Cards.

I. ON THE VEGETABLE KINGDOM. Set of 20 Cards, 21s.
II. ON THE ANIMAL KINGDOM. Set of 14 Cards, 21s.
III. ON THE MINERAL KINGDOM. Set of 14 Cards, 21s.

The size of each Card is 20 by 13 inches, and each Set is enclosed in a Handsome Stained and Varnished Wooden Box.

THE great value of LESSONS ON OBJECTS as a means of elementary instruction is now so generally recognised, as to cause an increasing demand for appliances adapted to this mode of teaching.

These OBJECT-LESSON CARDS have been prepared to meet this demand. The subjects have been selected and the information condensed with much care. Their special feature consists in the subjects being illustrated by specimens of raw and manufactured materials attached to each Card, which give to the lessons a vivid and permanent interest.

The Object-Lessons on the Vegetable Kingdom illustrate the varied uses of certain Trees and Plants. Specimens of Leaves, Flowers, Nuts, Bark, Wood, and other substances attached to the Cards illustrate each subject. For example, No. 13 of the Vegetable Series consists of a lesson on the Cultivation and Uses of the Cotton Plant. To illustrate this subject, there are the following Objects:—

1. A real LEAF of the Cotton Plant, carefully dried.
2. A COTTON POD, containing Seeds and Cotton-Wool.
3. COTTON SEEDS as extracted from the Pod.
4. COTTON WOOL ready for use.
5. COTTON THREAD, as used for Sewing.
6. A Piece of MUSLIN, illustrating the finer Fabrics made from Cotton.
7. A Piece of FUSTIAN or MOLESKIN, showing the thicker kinds of Cotton Cloths.
8. A Piece of PRINTED CALICO, to illustrate Textile Decoration.
9. A Piece of BOOKBINDERS' CLOTH, as used for covering Books, &c.

The other Lessons are illustrated in an equally complete and interesting manner.

The Object-Lessons on the Animal Kingdom are designed to show the great value of Animal substances in the Arts and Manufactures, and to describe methods of preparation. The subjects are illustrated by pictures of the Animals referred to, and by specimens of Skins, Leather, Wool, Cloth, Hair, Fur, Silk, Feathers, Shells, &c.

The Object-Lessons on the Mineral Kingdom complete the Series on the three great natural kingdoms, and are intended as a sequel to the preceding. Though, from the nature of their subjects, of a somewhat more advanced character, they have been rendered, by means of illustrations and specimens, equally effective for elementary tuition. Samples of Ores and other mineral substances, wood-engravings and manufactured articles, illustrate the various subjects. An original Diagram, printed in colours, accompanies this series, and by a novel arrangement illustrates the source and related history of various mineral substances, and is intended to serve as an introduction to the study of Economic Geology.

TEACHERS will find these Cards of the greatest value in Elementary Classes. They have been already largely adopted both in this Country and in the Colonies; various School Boards have supplied them to the Schools under their control; and they have met with the approval of many eminent educationists.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

EARLY BONUS SCHEME (E.B.)

UNDER THIS SCHEME Ordinary Policies rank for Bonus after three years' full Premiums have been received, and in proportion to the number of Premiums after the third. They are payable one month after proof of death. Every fourth premium may stand over unpaid. At the end of three years, subject to the regulations in the Prospectus, the Policies become indisputable on the ground of errors or omissions: world-wide without extra charge; and not liable to forfeiture, but only to reduction in amount, in case of omission to pay the Premium.

DEFERRED BONUS SCHEME (D.B.)

UNDER THIS SCHEME Policies are issued at Rates which do not exceed, and in many cases fall short of, the Non-Profit Rates of other Offices. They share in the profits when the Premiums received amount, with Compound Interest, to the Sum assured. They are payable three months after proof of death. Policies issued at these very economical Rates practically receive a Large Bonus at the outset.

ADVANTAGES COMMON TO BOTH SCHEMES.

Policies Unchallengeable after Three Years; Travelling and Residence allowed in most parts of the World not within the Tropics; Nine-Tenths of the Profits Divisible; Special Provision made for keeping up and reviving Policies.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Almost all descriptions of Property insured on the most favourable conditions.

The Accumulated Fund was . . .	2,352,846

The large Sum of £4,052,327, has already been paid to the representatives of deceased Members.

PRINCIPAL FEATURES.

The Security is unquestionable.

The Society is entirely Mutual, and the whole of the Profits are divided among the Members. The Profits of the last Five years were £234,657. The Policies issued in 1831 and 1852 are now doubled in amount.

Non-Forfeitable Policies are granted on a new and improved plan. The Premiums under this plan are very moderate, and are payable in a limited number of years, instead of throughout life, and the Policies bear fixed Surrender values.

NOTES ON MARK AND LUKE. Second Edition. 2s 6d.
NOTES ON JOHN. 2s 6d.

"We spoke in strong commendation of the Author's Notes on Matthew, as having more fitness to the wants of those who have no knowledge of the Greek Scriptures than any other popular Commentary known to us. We retain our opinion of the peculiar value of his labours. This new volume is of the highest excellence for the discriminating use of the latest materials for exposition, and for the condensation and clearness with which it unfolds and applies the contents of the evangelists."—Nonconformist.

"We have already had occasion to notice, with extraordinary approbation, the first volume of this work, and we now hail with unmixed pleasure the appearance of the second. The one is worthy of the other, and the two present the best popular exposition of its class on the Gospels anywhere to be found."—British Standard.

"The reader has in these Notes all the best thoughts of modern writers on the Gospels judiciously arranged, so as to make one complete Commentary. As a plain, honest, and comprehensive exposition of St John's Gospel, we know of nothing we can recommend before this excellent work."—Wesleyan Times.

THE CHEAPEST ESTABLISHMENT FOR GOOD SUBSTANTIAL

FURNITURE

Of Artistic Design, Good Make, and Superior Finish, is

JOHN M. SIMPSON'S,

60 GREAT CLYDE STREET, GLASGOW.

"WHY DO YOU NOT QUOTE PRICES IN YOUR ADVERTISEMENTS?" This is a question I have often been asked by Customers, and my answer has always been—"Because I consider the practice in connection with Furniture has only a misleading tendency." Customers have repeatedly told me how disappointed and annoyed they have been by being misled with the quotations given in Advertisements. JOHN M. SIMPSON would Caution Buyers of Furniture against coming to the conclusion that because an article is advertised at what seems a Low Price, therefore it must be cheap; his opinion is that Quality is the True Test of Cheapness!

While refraining from quoting prices, J. M. S. can fearlessly assert that in no House in the Trade is a larger or more carefully-manufactured and finished Stock to be seen than at

60 GREAT CLYDE STREET, GLASGOW.

And it is a recognised fact that his Establishment is Unequalled for Moderation in Prices. Buyers of Furniture should certainly not purchase until they have seen his Immense Stock. All Goods Marked in Plain Figures, and every Article Guaranteed. Illustrated House-Furnishing Guide and Price-List Gratis on application, or Post Free for Two Stamps. All Goods Carefully Packed. No Charge for Packing. All Purchases above £20 Delivered 10 miles round the City per own Vans, or 40 miles per rail, Free of Charge.

EPPS'S
(BREAKFAST)
C O C O A.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr Epps has provided our breakfast-tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly-nourished frame."—The Civil Service Gazette.

DUNFERMLINE WATER WORKS.

In 1847 an Act of Parliament was procured, incorporating a Joint-Stock Company for supplying the town of Dunfermline with water. For this purpose large reservoirs were formed at Craigluscar, about 3 miles from Dunfermline, covering about 37 acres. But the supply not being satisfactory, the town acquired the whole works in 1865, by agreeing to pay three per cent. on the share capital of £13,350, and relieving the company of its debt of £7400. The Town, in 1868, expended about £10,000 in the construction of an additional store reservoir at Craigluscar, covering an area of about 12 acres, and in laying enlarged main pipes from the reservoirs to the town. In 1876 the Corporation got passed through a new Water Bill, by which the Burgh will obtain soon a plentiful supply of water from the river Devon. The cost of obtaining the Bill was nearly £2000, and the estimated expense of the new works is formed at £50,000. In July 1878 the Burgh borrowed £70,000 to defray cost of these works.

The gathering ground of these works is situated on the south slope of the Lomond Hills, and consists of about 2200 acres of hill pasture. It has an average elevation of about 1000 feet above the level of the sea. There are two storing ponds, covering about 40 acres, and having a capacity of 220 million gallons. The larger of these—Ballo Reservoir—is used for compensation purposes, storing up the winter floods so as to secure during the dry season a minimum flow of 750 gallons per minute in the Lothrie stream. The smaller one—Drumain Reservoir—stores the town's supply. The water, after passing through filtre-beds of sand and gravel, is conveyed by a cast-iron pipe for a length of eight miles through the parishes of Leslie, Kinglassie, and Dysart to Carbery, where there is a distributing reservoir holding 1½ million gallons, being 1½ days' supply to the towns of Gallatown, Sinclairtown, Pathhead, Dysart, Kirkcaldy, and Linktown, forming an aggregate population of 23,000. The water is distributed to the population by pipes passing through every street, so arranged as to be able to convey twice the average quantity per head, thus allowing for sudden and irregular demands, as in the event of fires. The total length of these distributing pipes is about 15 miles, and from these the water is supplied to the consumers by means of fire-plugs, street wells, and private pipes, of which latter every householder has a right to lay down one or more without payment. Mills and other works are charged at a fixed rate per 1000 gallons, the quantity consumed being ascertained by metre. The outlay for building, land, and contingent expenses, is £50,000, the interest of which is raised by a rate of 11d per pound on all householders, with a general rate of 3d per pound on property, and the mill and other special rates. The works, authorised to be made by an Act passed in July 1867, were begun in 1868, and finished in the spring of 1869—Provost Swan being the Chairman of the Commissioners, and John Sang, the engineer.

UNIVERSITY OF ST ANDREWS.

The University was founded by Bishop Wardlaw in May 1411; the College of St Salvator by Bishop Kennedy in 1456; and the College of Leonard, in 1512, by Archbishop Alexander Stuart and Prior Hepburn: and St Mary's by Archbishop Jas. Beaton in 1537. The two Colleges of St Salvator and St Leonard were united by Act of Parliament in 1747, and called the United College of St Salvator and St Leonard. The University now "consists," to quote the Calendar, "of three distinct corporations, viz.:—The United College of St Salvator and St Leonard, with its Principal and nine Professors; St Mary's College with its Principal, who is also Primarius Professor, and three Professors; and the University, comprising the members of both Colleges, and of which the senior Principal (senior according to priority in office) is president."

The session in the United College opens in the first week of November, and closes towards the end of April. In St Mary's College, it commences in the second week of November, and closes in the end of March.

The aggregate annual value of the prizes, bursaries, and scholarships at St Andrews is upwards of £2500.

LOCHLEVEN.

This Loch (in extent 3406 acres) is the property of Sir Graham Montgomery. There are three islands in it. Queen Mary's Island, on which the Castle stands, is near the town of Kinross, and measures 8 acres. Close adjoining it is a small island of about an acre, called Reed Bower; and towards the eastern side there is the island of St Serfs, measuring about 80 acres. On the latter in ancient times stood the Priory of Locnleven, distinguished as the place where Prior Winton resided, and where he wrote his well-known chronicles. The waters find their outlet at the east end. Authorised by an Act of Parliament, passed in the year 1826, extensive works were undertaken, as well to reclaim land around the Loch as to enable the mill-owners situated on the banks of the river to regulate the flow of water. A new cut of above three miles in length was made at a very low level, at the mouth of which powerful sluices were erected. By these means the permanent level of the loch has been reduced 4½ feet in height, while still another 4½ feet has been obtained by the mill-owners to form a large reservoir of water entirely under their control. Herein the rains of winter, which often ran down in devastating floods, are stored up and made useful as a power to drive machinery during the dry months of the year. The quantity of water thus stored up when the Loch is full is estimated at 600,000,000 cubic feet, equivalent to a supply of about 80 days. The experience of about forty years, however, has shown that, with the exception of extremely dry seasons, a regular supply of about 5000 cubic feet per minute has thus been given to the mill-owners. The works were executed under the superintendence of the late Mr Jardine, Civil Engineer, Edinburgh, who placed a rain gauge (the funnel being 7 inches in diameter) in the ground at the Sluice house.

A register of the rain falling there has been kept since 1842, from which the following abstract has been prepared:—

LOCHLEVEN FISHINGS.

The Loch is open for fishing from the 1st of January to the end of August. Previously to 1811 the fishing season included the month of September, but that being considered an improper arrangement the present dates were fixed upon. There is an Act of Parliament (Charles I., 28th June 1633), for the protection of the fish spawning in the streams within five miles of the Loch (as an additional means of protection, advantage is now taken of the Act 23 and 24 Victoria, Cap. 45, 23d July 1860), but the length of the fishing season is fixed by the proprietor. The Lochleven Angling Association Limited, the lessees of the fishing, let out boats, with one man, for rod fishings at 2s 6d an hour. There are twenty boats, viz., 1. Mary Beton; 2. George Douglas; 3. The Abbot; 4. Michael Bruce; 5. Sir Walter Scott; 6. Androwe Wyntowne; 7. Marie Courcelles; 8. Willie Douglas; 9. Levina; 10. The Clutha; 11. Margaret Plantagenet; 12. Lady Lochleven; 13. Jane Kennedy; 14. Agnes Strickland; 15. Mary Livingstone; 16. St Serf; 17. Mary Fleming; 18. Marie Stuart; 19. Lochleven Castle; 20. Mary Seton. No boats are let out on Kinross fast-day, which is the Thursday before the last Sunday of June.

THE LOCHLEVEN ANGLING ASSOCIATION (LIMITED).

Has been formed to lease from Sir Graham Montgomery, Bart., the fishings on the Loch, and to keep them open and unrestricted as hitherto to the angling community. Directors—Sir James Ramsay Gibson Maitland, of Cliftonhall and Barnton, Chairman; James Hunt, Esq. of Pittencrieff, Dunfermline; John Russel, Esq. of Mayfield, Provost of Falkirk; Geo. Worrall, Esq., Fleuchar Craig, President of Dundee Angling Club; Geo. Henderson, Esq. of Turfhills, Kinross; C. G. Sidney, Esq. Ex-Provost of Perth; Thos. Aitken, Esq., 5 Grosvenor Crescent, Edinburgh; R. Burns Begg, junr., Esq., Factor on the Kinross Estate; The Hon. George Waldegrave-Leslie, Leslie House; John Horn, Esq. of Thomanean, Kinross; and Thomas M. Tod, Esq. of Brackly, Kinross; Captain Charles Lamont of Eastbank, Kinross. Manager—G. W. Hall. Solicitor and Secretary—George Bogie, Solicitor, Kinross.

The following statutory terms of session are observed in Sheriff Courts:—Each Sheriff holds two Sessions in each year, called the Winter and Summer Session. The Winter Session commences on the 1st October, or the first Court Day thereafter, and ends on the last Court day in March, with a recess at Christmas not exceeding Fifteen days. The Summer Session commences on the 1st day of May, or the first Court day thereafter, and ends on the last Court day in July; but One Court at least must be held in the Spring vacation, and Two Courts at least in the Autumn vacation.

SHERIFF'S SMALL-DEBT COURTS.

The Sheriff holds Circuit Courts for Small-Debt Causes—

1st—At Blairgowrie on every second Saturday of January, April, July, and October. Wm. Shaw Soutar, Blairgowrie, Depute-clerk. This Court has jurisdiction over the parishes of Rattray, Kinloch, Kirkmichael, Blairgowrie, Alyth, and that part of the parish of Bendochy above Blairgowrie and north of the Ericht.

2d—At Coupar-Angus on the Monday immediately succeeding the second Saturday of January, April, July, & October. Robert Watson, writer, Coupar-Angus, Depute-clerk. This Court has jurisdiction over the parishes of Coupar-Angus, Collace, StMartins (excepting the lands of Friarton), Cargill, Meigle, that part of the parish of Bendochy below Blairgowrie and south of the Ericht, the lands of Kinnochtry in the parish of Scone, the parish of Caputh south of the Isla, those parts of the estate of Dunsinane in the parish of Abernyte, and the lands of North Ballo in the parish of Longforgan.

3d—At Crieff on every second Saturday of February, May, Aug., and November. John Ironside, solicitor in Crieff, Depute-clerk. This Court has jurisdiction over the parishes of Crieff, Strowan, Comrie, Monzievaird, Madderty, Fowlis-Wester, Monzie (exclusive of the lands of Logiealmond), Trinity-Gask, and that part of the parish of Muthill north of the Muir of Orchill.

4th—At Dunkeld on the first Saturday of April, August, and December. George Carphin, banker in Dunkeld, Depute-clerk. This Court has jurisdiction over the parishes of Logierait (exclusive of those parts in Rannoch and Strathtay), Moulin, Blair-Athole, Dunkeld, Little Dunkeld (with the exception of Grandtully, Sketewan, and Ballintaggart), Lethendy, Cluny, Caputh west of the Isla, Auchtergaven, Kinclaven, and the lands of Tullybeagles in the parish of Methven.

5th—At Aberfeldy on the Monday immediately succeeding the first Saturday of April, August, and December. Charles W. L. Forbes, solicitor in Aberfeldy, Depute-clerk. This Court has jurisdiction over the parishes of Weem, Dull, Fortingall, Killin, Kenmore, and that part of Logierait in Rannoch and Strathtay, and Grandtully, Sketewan, and Ballintaggart in the parish of Little Dunkeld.

6th—At Auchterarder on the last Monday of January, April, July, and October. A. G. Reid, solicitor, Auchterarder, Depute-clerk. This Court has jurisdiction over the parishes of Auchterarder, Dunning, Glendevon, Blackford, and Trinity-Gask.

7th—At Kincardine on every first Monday of February, May August, and November. Andrew Cree Stephen, writer, Kincardine, Depute-clerk. This Court has jurisdiction over the parishes of Tulliallan, Culross, Fossoway, and Muckhart.

8th—At Callander, on the first Saturday of June and December, summonses are issued by Walter Buchanan, solicitor Callander.

This Court has jurisdiction over the parishes of Callander, Balquhidder, Aberfoyle, Killin, and Port. Those portions of the parish of Kenmore which lie to the west of the burn of Auldvine, on the south side of Loch Tay, with a straight line across Loch Tay from the mouth of the former burn to the mouth of the latter burn. The portions of the parish of Weem, lying to the west of the said burn of Auldvine and Lawers, excepting the portions of the said parish situated in Glenlyon.

NOTE.—The other parishes and parts of parishes not included in the above, and attached to the Courts of Perth and Dunblane, continue so attached—that portion of the parish of Blackford north of the road leading from the Roman Camp at Ardoch to Auchterarder being attached to Perth, and that portion to the south of the said road being attached to the Court at Dunblane.

Power is given by the statute, on cause shown, to indorse cases from one district Court to another.

Five male and five female teachers.

This prison is under the direction of four Commissioners, appointed under the Prisons (Scotland) Act (1877), who have also a superintendence of all prisons in Scotland. The expense of the establishment is defrayed from the public funds. No prisoner is received whose sentence is less than nine months.

The penal department consisted of two wings at the opening of the prison, on 30th March, 1842. It has since been enlarged by the addition of a third wing in 1853, and of a fourth wing in 1859. It now contains separate accommodation for 719, and associated accommodation for 46, viz.—In the male department an hospital for sick to accommodate 10; as also an hospital for imbeciles and epileptics to accommodate 10; and in the female department hospitals for sick, for imbeciles, and for epileptics, to accommodate 30.

Male and female prisoners under sentence of not less than nine months' imprisonment, and convicts under sentence of penal servitude, are received—male convicts for detention during their probationary period of nine months, and female convicts for their whole sentence.

Imprisonment prisoners and convicts, while undergoing probationary confinement, are treated on the separate system; but in the case of female convicts over one year tried the discipline of the separate system is relaxed.

In 1859 a new prison was built to accommodate 58 juveniles tn the associated system of Parkhurst.

The juvenile prison is not now required, and has been adapted for the accommodation of 40 male and 18 female criminal lunatics

THE SAVINGS BANK OF THE COUNTY AND CITY OF PERTH.

Established in 1838, and certified under the Act of 1863.
The Right Hon. the Earl of Mansfield, chairman
Thomas Richardson, Esq., deputy-chairman
H. H. Norie, Esq., treasurer; Melville Jameson, Esq., secretary
W. A. Barclay, actuary and cashier; George C. Roy, accountant and clerk; James Soutar and James M. Crichton, check clerks; J. & R. Morison, accountants, anditors.

The Office, Tay Street, Perth, is open every day from 10 till 3 o'clock, except Saturday, when it shuts at 12.

Open on Saturday evening from 6 to 8 o'clock for receiving deposits ONLY.

Object of the Institution.

It is established for the safe custody and increase of small savings belonging to the industrious classes of the County and City of Perth; and among its other advantages the following may be mentioned:—

1. Any sum from 1s up to £150 will be received from individual depositors, provided not more than £30 is deposited by each in one year. Societies and Charitable Institutions of any kind may deposit to the extent of £100 in the year, and £300 in all; while Friendly Societies duly enrolled may lodge their whole funds without any limitation.

2. The whole or any part of the sums deposited may be withdrawn whenever required.

3. Interest is secured at a comparatively high rate. It is calculated on the accounts once a year, and added to the principal, by which Depositors derive the benefit of compound interest. Every sum of 5s and upwards gets the benefit of it.

4. The whole funds deposited in this Bank are specially exempt from Income Tax: and those of deceased Depositors under £50 are also exempt from Stamp and Residue Duty.

NOTE.—At the Annual General Meeting of the Trustees and Managers, held on 27th February, 1878, there were reported to be then 18,435 individual depositors, having a capital at their credit of, ...£423,234 7 4
Charitable Institutions or Societies 8,422 1 1

Showing the total accumulated capital of the Institution including the capital inserted for the District Banks, to be £431,656 8 5

SOCIETY OF SOLICITORS.

This Society was instituted in 1825, and is now incorporated by Royal Charter, dated 3d September 1857, into a body politic and corporate, by the name of "The Society of Procurators and Solicitors in the City and County of Perth." The main object of the Society was the establishment of a Law Library; and accordingly there has been formed an extensive collection of books, containing almost every work immediately relating to the profession. There is a standing committee of management appointed annually, consisting of the office-bearers and five members.

President—Wm. MacLiesh, Esq.
Vice-President—Alexander Graham, Esq.
Secretary and Treasurer—David Keay, Esq.

SHARP'S EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION—South Methven Street.

Mr John Sharp, late baker in Perth, bequeathed the residue of his estate as a fund for the promotion of education in connection with Perth and neighbourhood, leaving to his trustees to adopt such plan as seemed to them best adapted for the religious and intellectual upbringing of young children, and, in particular to make special provision for branches of education peculiar to girls.

The handsome and commodious building, opened on 10th September, 1860, is intended for the reception of about 450 children and is divided into senior, junior, infant, and industrial schools.

AUCHTERARDER

Is a Royal Burgh of great antiquity. The earliest notice we have of it occurs in the foundation charter of the Abbey of Inchaffray, by which the Earl of Strathearn, A.D. 1200, appropriated the church of Auchterarder to that house. King Alexander II., by charter dated 13th August, 1227, granted the teinds of his rents of Auchterarder to the said Abbey. It was the head burgh of Strathearn, possessing a common seal, and as such is recognised in two ordinances of Edward I. of England, issued during his usurpation of Scotland. The largest market was held on the 6th December (25th Nov. O.S.), in terms of statute of 1581; now on the first Wednesday of December.

REGISTRARS OF BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS.

Births must be registered within Twenty-One Days; one of the parents must, if possible, attend for this purpose; and, as the date and place of the marriage of the parents must be given, it is advisable that informants furnish Registrars with notes or extracts of marriage at the time of registering births.

Deaths within Eight Days. Informants, who ought in all cases to be the nearest relatives present at the Death, must attend at the Office of the Registrar to give the necessary information, and to sign the Register Books.

Marriage Schedules must be lodged with the Registrar within Three Days after the ceremony It is the duty of the officiating Minister to see that the particulars of the age, parentage, occupation, &c., of the contracting parties are set forth in the Schedule before he proceed to solemnise the marriage; and, after the ceremony is performed, to see that, along with himself, the parties and witnesses sign the Schedule.

Parents and Guardians must have Children Vaccinated within Six Months after the day of Birth and lodge a certificate (which the Vaccinator is bound to give), with the Registrar within three days after Vaccination stating that Vaccination has been successfully performed.

ASSOCIATION FOR IMPROVING THE CONDITION OF THE POOR.

Instituted 1869.

The objects of the Association are—1. By an apportionment of the town and neighbourhood into districts; and, by a regular system of visitation, to gain and keep up an accurate knowledge of the condition of the poor. 2. To encourage and judiciously relieve the deserving poor in such a way as to prevent them from becoming dependent on the Poor's Board. 3. To discourage idleness, vice, and out-door beggary, by denying relief to those who are either unwilling to help themselves, or who are already receiving aid from the Poor's Board or otherwise. 4. To educate those children whose parents are unable to do so. 5. To aid the unemployed of both sexes in obtaining employment. 6. By attention to the sanitary state of the dwellings of the poor, and generally by advice and assistance to ameliorate as far as possible their moral as well as material welfare.

The mode or principle of Assessment, for the current year, is as follows, viz., one-half of the assessment is leviable from the Owners, after deduction of 20 per cent. from the annual value of house property, in name of repairs, insurance, and public burdens, and 7½ per cent. from cultivated grounds and fishings, in name of public burdens. The other half of the assessment is leviable from Occupants, after a deduction of 12½ per cent., in the following proportions, viz.:—Occupants of cultivated grounds and fishings are rated at one-half of the rate of assessment leviable from the occupants of all other subjects. The assessment for the current year is—On Owners—9d per £. On Occupants—Class I., dwelling-houses, shops, warehouses, manufactories, &c., 9d per £; Class II., lands and fishings, 4½d per £.

ELMHILL HOUSE

Is an Establishment of a superior description, in connection with, and under the same management as the Royal Asylum. The rates of board and accommodation may be learned on application to the Superintendent.

In the Asylum, the rates of board for private patients vary with the accommodation required. Patients eligible for relief from Burnett's fund admitted at £27; Pauper Patients from the County of Aberdeen are admitted at £26 10s a-year. All Patients are furnished with Bedding by the Asylum. Pauper Patients are to be sent provided with sufficient Body-Clothes for present use—the supply being kept up by the Institution. Under the Scottish Lunacy Act of 1857, lunatics are admitted by an order from the Sheriff, and on two medical certificates. The order is granted only upon a petition subscribed by the party applying. The medical certificates must be in the form prescribed by the Act, and specify facts on which the opinion of insanity has been founded. The Sheriff's warrant having been obtained, and guarantee given for the regular payment of the Board quarterly, and in advance, the Patient will be admitted. The necessary forms may be obtained by application to the Superintendent at the Asylum. Before a Patient is brought to the Asylum, all the above-mentioned documents must be signed; and it is also requested that applicants ascertain whether or not the necessary accommodation can be afforded.

ASSOCIATION FOR IMPROVING THE CONDITION OF THE POOR.

Offices—M'Combie's Court.

Patroness—Her Majesty the Queen.

Formed in March, 1870, by a number of the leading gentlemen of Aberdeen, to ascertain, by means of house-to-house visitation, the wants and condition of the poorer classes; to assist, by counsel and material help where necessary, the struggling and deserving; to prevent pauperism and put down imposture.

The operations of the Association embrace the district lying within the Parliamentary boundary, which is divided into 14 sections, having each a Chairman and Secretary, and an average of 20 members.

The conditions of membership are a donation of Three Pounds, or an annual subscription of Five Shillings, and the work of the Association is conducted without reference to religious distinctions.

NAIRN.	CAITHNESS,
INVERNESS.	ORKNEY, AND
ROSS.	SHETLAND.

ABERDEEN:

BANFFSHIRE.

This County, which lies on the south of the Moray Firth, is bounded on the west by Moray and Inverness-shires, and on the east and south by Aberdeenshire. Its greatest length is 57 miles, and its greatest width (along the coast) is 34 miles, but its average width only 12 miles. Area, 686 square miles, or 439,040 acres. Population in 1871, 62,023. Parliamentary constituency, 2519. Valued rental for 1877-8, £217,316 12s 8d; 1878-9, £221,123 4s 5d.

Banffshire comprehends the districts of Boyne, Enzie, the greater part of Strathdeveron, Strathisla, Glenfiddich, Glenrinnes, Glenlivet, and Strathavon; and the civic parishes of Aberlour, Alva, Banff, Botriphnie, Boyndie, Cullen, Deskford, St. Fergus, Fordyce, Forglen, Gamrie, Grange, Inverkeithny, Marnoch, Mortlach, Ordiquhill, Rathven, Rothiemay. It contains also almost the whole of the parishes of Keith and Inveravon, and parts of Bellie, Boharm, Cabrach, and Gartly; and also very small parts of Cairney, Glass, Oldmachar, Newmachar, and Rothes.

The South of Banffshire is very mountainous, being enclosed, and partly occupied, by the highest group of mountains in Britain. Here the scenery is exceedingly wild, and often sublime in its loneliness and grandeur. The middle and northern parts of the county are very hilly, but frequent glens and wide straths occur, especially in the north; and these, being cultivated with the utmost care and skill, amply repay the labours of the husbandman. The principal crops are oats, barley, turnips, and potatoes. Great attention is paid to the breeding and rearing of cattle. The towns and villages of the inland districts of the county are Keith, Fife-Keith, Newmill, Aberchirder, Dufftown, Charlestown, and Tomintoul.

The great body of the population is, however, distributed along the coast, and chiefly in towns and villages, all more or less engaged in, and dependent upon, the valuable white, herring, and salmon fisheries on the coast. Banff herrings are highly esteemed in the foreign market. The coast towns are the Royal burghs of Banff and Cullen; the towns of Macduff, Portsoy, and Buckie; and the villages of Crovie, Gardenstown, Whitehills, Sandend, Portknockie, Findochty, Portessie, and Portgordon. The shipping and trade of these ports are considerable. The imports are chiefly coals, timber, manures, iron, and salt; and the exports, grain, cattle, fish, and whisky, &c.

WITH

An influential list of Lady Patronesses and Vice-Presidents

Committee of Management—Messrs Beedie, Pitgair; Donaldson, Auchip; Stevenson, Durn; Stephen, Culphin; Paterson, Auldtown; Scott, Towie-Barclay; Dean, Brangan; M'Donald, Kindrought; Forbes, Auchmore; Allan, Solicitor, Banff; Murray, Fauchfolds; Rust, Banff; Murray, Foundry; Simpson, Distiller; Leslie, Corskellie; Williamson, Netherwood; Shand, Ordens; Duncan, Balchers; Stevenson, Blairshinnoch; Barclay, Yonderton; Simpson, Duff House; Simpson, Hillend; Middleton, Banff. Messrs Hannay, Gavenwood; Bryson, Cullen House; and Longmore, Rettie, honorary and permanent members of committee. Mr Longmore, Rettie, Convener.

THE ROYAL BURGH OF BANFF,

Situated by rail 50 miles N. by W. of Aberdeen, and 38½ E. of Elgin, occupies the slope of a hill descending gradually towards the Deveron and the Moray Firth. From the sea, and from the east, more especially from the Banff (Bridge) Station, it presents a very interesting and picturesque appearance. Internally the town comprises several well built streets, which are adorned with many large and elegant modern buildings. It has always borne, and deservedly, the highest character for cleanliness and salubrity. Banff and its neighbourhood are associated with many historical events. It is probable that it possessed the privileges of a Royal Burgh before the time of William the Lion, and these privileges were confirmed by Robert Bruce and Robert II. The population in 1871 was 4018, showing a considerable increase during the ten years. The Municipal Constituency is 546. The Earls of Fife and Seafield have lately granted very eligible feus upon their lands adjoining the town. Plans of the proposed extension have been prepared by order of their Lordships, and already advantage has been taken of the facilities thus afforded for building towards the west; and at present there is an extension of villas towards the south, along the Sandyhill Road. The society is good, and the educational institutions are not surpassed by those of any town in the north. The Library of the Literary Society is extensive and well selected, while the Museum of the Scientific Institution is stored with articles of vertu from all parts of the world. Recently there has been added to the attractions of the burgh a Bath House with all the newest appliances, which, along with the natural amenities of the place, has had the effect of largely increasing the number of summer visitors. A handsome drinking fountain, designated the "Biggar Memorial," has also been erected on the site of the ancient Cross in Low Street. Tourists have of late years discovered that there are objects of interest and beauty in Banff and its neighbourhood worthy of being visited, and the railways from both north and south render the locality of easy access. Duff House, the principal seat of the Earl of Fife, is in the immediate neighbourhood. The hotel accommodation is excellent. Banff as a seaport has a good harbour and considerable shipping. The chief industries are the manufacture of woollen goods, leather, and tobacco; shipbuilding, ironfounding, distilling, brewing and printing. The fisheries also are important.

The Parliamentary burgh of Banff includes Macduff, a burgh of Barony, distant about half a mile on the east side of the Deveron, and with a population of 3403. Banff is one of the Elgin district of burghs, and its Parliamentary constituency is 1070.

M. E. Grant Duff, residing at York House, Twickenham, M.P. for the Burgh.

MORAYSHIRE.

This county may be considered as that part forming what may have been the home district of the ancient and extensive "Province of Moray." It is about 40 miles north and south, and 20 east and west. On the east it is bounded by Banffshire, and on the west by Inverness and Nairn shires; on the north it is washed by the Moray Firth.

The whole area is estimated at 531 square miles, or 340,000 acres. The population in 1871 was 43,598. The parliamentary constituency in 1875 is 1470. The value of property within the County, for the year 1878-79 is, including railways, but excluding Royal Burghs of Elgin and Forres, £186,706 11s.

The county is divided into the parishes of Alves, St. Andrews-Lhanbryd, Birnie, Dallas, Drainie, Duffus, Dyke, Edinkillie, Elgin, Forres, Kinloss, Knockando, Rafford, Rothes, Speymouth, New Spynie, Urquhart, and part of Bellie, Boharm, Cromdale, Inverallan, Keith, and Inveravon.

The lower part of Morayshire is exceedingly fertile, and in no district is farming better understood, or more successfully prosecuted. The rivers in the shire are the Spey, the Findhorn, and the Lossie. The scenery is varied, embracing every character of sylvan, marine, alpine, and champaign. It boasts of two royal burghs—Elgin, which is the head burgh, and Forres—besides the important villages of Findhorn, Lhanbryd, Burghead, Lossiemouth, Hopeman, Branderburgh, Rothes, Fochabers, Garmouth, Kingston, Grantown, &c.

The total strength of the Battalion, at 1st November, 1878, was 907; viz., 896 efficients, and 11 non-efficients. On 1st November, 1877, the strength of the Battalion was 920 men of all ranks.

CITY AND BURGH OF ELGIN.

This city is pretty centrally situated as regards the lower district of the county. It was made a royal burgh by William the Lion. Externally the scenery is in many points of view exquisitely fine, and internally the town relatively presents an appearance of wealth. The buildings—which of late years have been considerably added to—are generally tasteful, and throughout there is a considerable air of cleanliness. The parish church is conspicuous from its position and style of architecture. The hospital occupies a healthy site. The institutions of the place are varied and important, while the Morayshire Railway has the effect of virtually making it a seaport. Population in 1871, 7339; parliamentary constituency in 1877, 918. Elgin is the head of a parliamentary district of burghs, and is justly famed for the ruins of its once magnificent cathedral. The value of property, exclusive of railways, within the parliamentary boundaries for the year 1877-78, was £24,991 9s 1d. The Railway valuation was £813.

ROYAL BURGH OF FORRES.

Forres was enfranchised by William I., and consists of several streets, the principal extending east and west. In the centre of the principal street stands a handsome market-cross, much in the style of Sir W. Scott's monument in Edinburgh. Forres has no resident sheriff-substitute; but courts by the sheriff, justices of the peace, and bailies of the burgh, are regularly held in the court-house. There is a prison connected with the public buildings, and the whole is surmounted by an elegant spire, which has recently been supplied with illuminated glass dials. It is in Forres, which is the centre of the combined counties of Elgin or Moray and Nairnshires, that the member for these counties is elected. The scenery around Forres can scarcely be surpassed, from the variety of prospect afforded by the neighbouring ground, the windings of the Findhorn, &c.—and it is anticipated that villas of a superior order will soon grace the rising ground close to the town, and render Forres, now so easy of access by the Highland Railway, from Perth to this burgh, one of the loved spots of Scotland. From its sweet and balmy climate, the Forres district has long been known as the Montpelier of Scotland. This has been the cause of its being selected for the erection of a Hydropathic Establishment, which is one of the most complete and well conducted in the kingdom. To the east of the town is a storied obelisk, hitherto the reproach of antiquarian lore. Population, 3959. Constituency, 358; Revenue of Burgh taken from town's account of year 1876-77, £1,844 11s 4d. Distance from Inverness by upper Nairn road, 26½ miles; by lower

23½. Forres forms one of the Inverness District of Burghs. By rail the distance is 24¾ miles to Inverness. The Perth and Inverness section of the Highland Railway, opened in September 1863, has its junction with the Main Line at Forres; and the great traffic, which has even surpassed the expectations of its Directors, is likely to increase considerably the trade and importance of the town

GRANTOWN.

This village, founde in 1766, is nicely situated, and well and regularly built. In all these respects, and in point of cleanliness and salubrity, it is said to have no Scottish rival. The houses are not large; but are neat and substantial. The credit of this is due to the late Sir James Grant of Grant, the founder. The edifices are 170, and the inhabitants 1400. The material of which the houses are composed is a whitish, fine-grained granite. The place possesses three Banks, excellent Schools, and new Court-House and Public Offices, and an orphan asylum, and is specially constituted by Act of Parliament the seat of a court for adjudging claims under the Small Debt Act from part of Inverness-shire, in which the judges of that jurisdiction preside. Grantown has suddenly attracted the attention of tourists and visitors from all parts of the kingdom, from the interesting fact, that Her Most Gracious Majesty, accompanied by the Prince Consort and suite, paid a private visit to the village on the 4th September, 1860, and passed the night at the Grant Arms Hotel. Distance from Inverness, 34 miles; from Elgin 34 miles; from Forres, 22 miles; from Nairn, 23 miles.

NAIRNSHIRE.

This county is bounded on the west by Inverness-shire, south by Banffshire, north by the Moray Frith, and east by Moravshire, of which it anciently formed a part. It extends north and south 22 miles, and 15 east and west. Its area is 200 square miles, or 129,000 acres; 70,000 of these are tilled, 30,000 untilled, and 28,000 are unproductive. The following are the parishes into which the county is divided, viz.: Ardclach, Auldearn, Nairn, and part of Cawdor, Croy, Daviot, Dyke, Moy, Petty, and Urquhart.

The population in 1861 was 8372, exclusive of Ferrintosh (in the Parish of Urquhart, locally situated in Ross-shire), which in 1861, was 1294. The constituency is 246. The valued rental in 1674 was £15,162 Scots; according to the Valuation Roll of 1878-79, it is £35,765 0s 8d, including the railway valuation. Nairn is the only royal burgh in the county; but there are the villages of Cawdor and Auldearn. The county is under the same sheriff as Moray and Banff. It also joins Moray in sending a member to Parliament; but it has a separate sheriff-substitute, and is municipally and otherwise perfectly independent.

GEDDES—5th April, if Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday, or, if not, first Tuesday thereafter.

BURGH OF NAIRN.

Nairn is most pleasantly situated, and is generally considered as very healthy. It is much frequented by invalids and others on account of its pure air and advantages of sea-bathing, while it is provided with the best artificial baths in the North, whether taken cold, tepid, or hot. Nairn was regalised by William the Lion. Many of the inhabitants are fishermen, but it cannot be called a fishing-station in the larger sense of that term. It stands on the north bank of the river from which it derives its name, within a very short distance of its junction with the sea. For this reason it was anciently called Invernairn. Population in 1871, 4869—constituency, 395. Rental per Valuation Roll of 1878-79, £11,851 including railway valuation. Distance from Inverness by Campbelltown, seventeen and a-half miles; by the new or upper road, fifteen and a half miles; by Culloden Moor, Croy, and Cawdor, seventeen; and by railway, fifteen.

Telegraphist, W. D. Penny. Storm warning signals displayed on a pole at the point of the West Pier. A cone, point upwards, shows that a gale is probable, at first from the northward. A cone, point downwards, gale probable, at first from the southward. A drum alone shows that stormy winds may be expected from nearly opposite quarters successively. A cone and drum give warning of dangerous winds, the probable first direction being shown by the position of the cone—point up, above the drum, for northerly wind; point down and below the drum, for southerly.

INVERNESS-SHIRE.

This is the largest county in Scotland. From east to west it extends 85 miles, and 55 from north to south. It includes the extensive districts of Badenoch, Lochaber, Strathglass, Glenelg, Arisaig, the Aird, Lovat country, and Moidart, besides the most important of the Western Isles, including Skye, North and South Uist, Barra, Raasay, Harris, &c. St. Kilda is also part of Inverness-shire.

The face of the country is generally mountainous, and contains the highest eminences in Scotland. Among these are Ben Nevis, 4370 feet above the level of the sea; Cairngorm, 4090; Scarsough, 3414; and Mealfourvonie, 3060. The principal rivers are the Ness, the Nairn, the Findhorn, the Spey, the Lochy, the Oich, the Garry, the Glass, the Farrar, and the Beauly. The principal lakes are Loch Ness, Loch Oich, and Loch Lochy. These rivers and lakes abound in fish; and the districts, chiefly consisting of moor, yield abundance of the several sorts of game. The scenery almost everywhere is beautiful, and in many places grand. Of these descriptions are especially the parts between Beauly bridge and Aigas, along the line of the Caledonian Canal, the Falls of Foyers, the Pass of Inverfarigaig, &c.

Inverness-shire is well traversed with roads; while the Caledonian Canal, and the safe and convenient navigation afforded by the east and west seas, renders communication easy between it and all other parts of the world.

It contains the following parishes, and parts of parishes, viz.:—Alvie, Ardersier, Ardnamurchan, Barra, Boleskine and Abertarff, Bracadale, Daviot and Dunlichity, Dores, Durinish, Rothiemurchus, Glenelg, Harris, Inverness, Kilmonivaig, Kilmorack, Kilmuir, Kiltarlity, Kingussie, Kirkhill, Laggan, Moy, Petty, Portree, Sleat, Snizort, Strath, N. Uist, S. Uist, Urquhart and Glenmoriston, Abernethy, Cawdor, Inverallan, Croy, Duthill, Kilmailie, and Small Isles. These occupy an area of 4,255 square miles, or 2,723,501 acres.

The population in 1871 was 87,480. The old valued rental of the year 1690 was 53,888 pounds Scots—the new, as assessed to the property tax, county, £284,949 0s 4d, and burgh, £51,444 14s 10d. This is exclusive of charities and properties owned by persons whose income is under £100 a-year. The ordinary rental of the County for the year 1878-79 is £319,876 13s 5d. Highland Railway, £21,891; Great North of Scotland Railway Co., £2,524; and Caledonian Canal, £2248. Gross annual value of County, exclusive of Burgh, £346,539 13s 5d. The constituency is about 1700.

There is but one Royal Burgh in the shire; but there are the villages of Campbelton, Beauly, Kingussie, Fort-Augustus, Fort-William, Portree, Broadford, Lochmaddy, &c. All matters connected with its government are conducted at Inverness, and the officials there have jurisdiction over the whole county; but for the better administration of justice, the shire is divided into the districts of Inverness, Fort-William, Skye, and the Long Island, each being under the separate jurisdiction of a Sheriff-Substitute; and the three former, with Kingussie and Lochmaddy, are the polling places for county elections.

CALEDONIAN CANAL—(ORIGINALLY OPENED IN 1822.)

The Line of this grand national work passes through the Great Glen of Scotland, in which the extensive lochs—Ness, Oich, and Lochy—lie embedded, presenting to the tourist some of the most magnificent scenery in the world. Since the late improvements were executed, the route has become a favourite one with large craft passing westward from the Baltic, &c.

The Canal is sixty miles in length, of which thirty-eight are lake water, and twenty-two are cutting. There are twenty-nine locks on the line—the rise to the summit level in Loch Oich being about 100 feet above high water of ordinary neap tides. It can accommodate vessels not exceeding in dimensions, over all, viz.—Length, 160 feet—width, 38 feet—draught of water when at the standard level, 17 feet. Steam tugboats have been put on for tugging vessels through the lakes and estuaries on the line of the navigation.

The toll for passing along the Canal from sea to sea is rated the dead weight of cargo on the rates varying from 6d. to 1s. 6d. per ton, according to the nature of the cargo, the same rates applying to the first 100 tons of larger vessel, but being only 1s. per ton on so much of the tonnage as exceeds 100 tons; on unladen vessels, or vessels in ballast, the dues for passing wholly through the canal are 1s. per ton of the registered tonnage of the vessel, B.M. For less distances they are rated proportionally. Screw steamers are charged 1s 9d per ton; paddle steamers, 2s per ton.

The above is exclusive of a moderate charge for steam tugboats when they are used. Special duties are levied on steam passage boats and vessels loading or discharging cargoes in the Canal basin or Harbours.

The Canal Charge.—Through rates on Herrings, and Timber (not manufactured), are one shilling per ton of herring, or load of timber. Coals and salt, 6d per ton. Slates, 9d per ton.

Since 1st August, 1861, by Act of Parliament the following Duties have been levied on Passengers passing through the Caledonian and Crinan Canals:—

PER SWIFT PASSAGE STEAMERS.

30 and under 60 miles, 1st class, 1s., 2d class, 6d.; 30 and under — miles, 1st class, 6d., 2d class, 3d.

PER LUGGAGE STEAMER.

For each Cabin Passenger, above 30 and under 60 miles, 6d.; do., 30 miles and under, 3d. For each Steerage Passenger, above 30 and under 60 miles, 4d; do., 30 miles and under, 2d.

MARKETS AND FAIRS.

The BEAULY, or MUIR of ORD, has now become the most important cattle fair in the north of Scotland; and the days on which the market holds have been appointed, after much consideration, in the following manner, with the view of accommodating cattle dealers from the south and every other part of the country:—1st market holds on the Muir of Ord, on the third Thursday of January. 2d, on the third Thursday of February. 3d, on the third Wednesday and Thursday of March. 4th, on the third Wednesday and Thursday of April. 5th, on the second Wednesday and Thursday of May. 6th, on the third Wednesday and Thursday of June. 7th, on the second Thursday of July, for half bred sheep; and on the third Wednesday and Thursday, for sheep and cattle. 8th, on the Wednesday and Thursday before Falkirk, in August. 9th, on the Wednesday and Thursday before Falkirk, in September. 10th, on the Wednesday and Thursday before Falkirk, in October. 11th, on the Wednesday and Thursday before Edinburgh Hallow Fair, in November. 12th, on the Thursday after the third Wednesday in December —It is well to bear in mind that, at all the markets Wednesday is the principal day for the sale of sheep and lambs, and held exclusively for that purpose; Thursday for the sale of cattle, horses, sheep, pigs, &c.

INVERNESS MARKETS are held on Friday subsequent to Muir of Ord market

BALLALISTER.—Tuesday before the second Wednesday of June.

Ditto—Friday after the Beauly October market.

STRATHDEARN MARKETS hold at Freeburn—1st, for milk cows, upon Saturday after the 19th May; 2d, a lamb market, on Friday preceding the Campbeltown Lammas market, in the month of August: 3d, a cattle market, on Monday after third Tuesday of September; 4th, a cattle market, on the second day after the Beauly market in October.

Cattle Markets are held at NEWTONMORE on the Tuesday after Grantown in April and October.

The following Markets are held at KINGUSSIE:—Feeing, 12th May, if a Tuesday, or the First Tuesday after the 12th; Lambs, third Wednesday of August; Cattle, Tuesday after Grantown in September; Feeing, 12th November, if a Tuesday, or the First Tuesday after the 12th.

The GRANTOWN TRYSTS hold on the days specified in that list.

FORT-AUGUSTUS FAIRS — Monday preceding the second Wednesday of June; 20th September—if not, next Monday to the 20th September.

FORT-WILLIAM FAIRS—Second Wednesday of June and second Wednesday of November. Sheep and Wool market, on the Tuesday after the Inverness Great Sheep and Wool Fair.

CAMPBELLTOWN FAIR holds on the 12th of August, if it falls on any day from Tuesday to Friday—if on Saturday or Monday, the first Tuesday thereafter.

URQUHART FAIRS for the sale of black cattle, at Drumnadrochit; the first holds on Tuesday immediately preceding the Michaelmas Beauly market; the second on Tuesday immediately preceding Beauly Hallowmas fair; the third to be held in April; and the fourth for the sale of milk cows, in the first week of June; the days for the last two are not fixed.

BRIDGE of SPEAN MARKETS are held fourteen days before each of the September and October Falkirk Trysts, Monday being the most suitable day.

BURGH OF INVERNESS.

This ancient Royal Burgh, once solely on the south-east, now occupies considerable space on both sides of the Ness. The communication between these two natural divisions, previous to 1808, was carried on by means of a handsome stone bridge, erected in 1685, which, however, was borne down by the memorable flood of 24th January, 1849. Since 1808, with the exception of short interruptions, the town rejoices in the convenience of two bridges, and to these are now added a handsome foot bridge, which crosses the river at the upper end of Ness Bank. An elegant iron suspension bridge, opened in 1856, has been erected on the site of the old stone bridge. The south-east is still the business side of the town. Great improvements have taken place in Inverness within the last thirty years, in new buildings, upon the roads and walks along the banks of the Ness and principal thoroughfares of the town, and in providing for more efficient sewerage. In 1874 the Lindsay Act in its entirety was introduced into the burgh. The Gas and Water Company has proved of considerable utility. In the Parliament of 1875 a Bill was passed empowering the Corporation to buy up the Gas and Water Co., and to introduce water by gravitation from Loch Ashie. The stock of Gas and Water Co. was bought, and the work has been successfully carried out At the head of native useful institutions may be placed the Caledonian Bank, and the several Railway Companies—Highland, Sutherland, Duke of Sutherland, Sutherland and Caithness, and Dingwall and Skye—under one working management at Inverness. Several handsome new buildings have recently been erected, as the Caledonian Bank, the Railway Station, the Post-Office, the Castle and County Prison, the Burgh Court-house and Police Office, the Union Hotel (now the Highland Club), Station Hotel, the West Parish Church, the Free High Church and spire, the Free East Church, St. John's Episcopal Chapel, Union St., Lombard St., St. Andrew's Cathedral, Young Men's Christian Assoc. Buildings, Workmen's Club and Royal Hotel, and a handsome new Town Hall and Imperial Hotel are of this description. The Highland Railway Company have just built an elegant and commodious building for offices, &c., which cost about £12,000, besides extensive new workshops. Private edifices, too, of tasteful models, and elegant villas, are constantly springing up in the town and suburbs. There are several public walks in the neighbourhood. The Ness Islands form the principal walk in the summer months; but paths immemorially patent, and long the favourite resort of the inhabitants, have recently been shut up, by special arrangement with the Council.

The principal streets on the south-east side of the river are High Street, Bridge Street, Petty Street, Inglis Street, Church Street, Union Street, Academy Street, Chapel Street, Shore Street, Douglas Row, Bank Street, Rose Street, Castle Street, Drummond Street, and Lombard Street; and on the north-west, Huntly Street, Telford Street, Celt Street, Grant Street, Queen Street, Kessock Street, Telford Road, &c.

Inverness was erected into a Royal burgh by William the Lion. The old Royalty did not include many important parts of the town, the one side of some streets being within, and the other without the liberties—thus affording to violators of the law protection from the jurisdiction of the magistrates. By the Burgh Act, 1847, this is obviated, by extending the boundaries to the parliamentary royalty, as fixed at the passing of the Reform Bill in 1832. This extends from the Clachnaharry pier in a straight line to the upper angle of the Ness Islands. Crossing the Ness the line runs along Aultnaskiah burn, and across the Muirfield, to a point near the Poorhouse, thence in a line drawn due North to the sea, and thence to the first-mentioned point at Clachnaharry pier. For municipal purposes the royalty is divided into three different wards—1st, the west side of the river Ness, returning alternately two and three councillors annually; 2d, all south of a line drawn along the centre of Bridge Street, High Street, Petty Street, and the Millburn Road, returning alternately two and three councillors annually; 3d, all north of the line drawn along centre of Bridge Street, &c., returning alternately two and three councillors annually. The population of the burgh in 1871 was 14,463. The burghal constituency is 2026; and the valuation, £68,161 12s 10d.

For choosing persons to represent proprietors of heritages below the annual value of £20, at the Parochial Board, the town and parish are also very simply divided into the same number of wards.

The old Castle of Inverness—then called Fort-George, and destroyed by the Highland army in 1746—occupied the present site of the Castle and County Prison. Cromwell's Fort—now called "the Citadel"—is close by the harbour, the moat being filled up. On the west side of the town are the vitrified fort of Craig Phadaig, and the well-wooded and singularly-shaped hill of Tomnahurich, the summit and west side of which is a tastefully laid-out cemetery. At a distance of four miles south-east of the town lies the battlefield of Drummosie, or Culloden Moor, where ended the hopes of the Stuart line, and closed the opposition to the present reigning dynasty. At Clachnaharry, a monument is erected, commemorating a sanguinary affray between the Mackintoshes and Munroes in 1454.

STEAMBOATS.

INVERNESS, THE WESTERN ISLES, AND GLASGOW.

The steamers of Messrs David Hutcheson and Co., Glasgow, ply regularly during the year between Inverness and Glasgow, via Caledonian and Crinan Canals. In the summer months, there is daily communication, each way, by swift steamers. In connection with these, from Oban, the Company's steamers ply to Staffa and Iona, Glencoe, Skye and Gairloch, Stornoway, &c. Steamers carrying goods, as well as passengers, leave Inverness and Glasgow twice a-week (Mondays and Thursdays), during the whole year. Steamers likewise ply regularly (twice a-week in summer, and once a-week in winter) from Glasgow to Oban, Tobermory, Portree, and Stornoway, calling at the various intermediate ports in Mull and Skye; also, fortnightly at Gairloch, Ullapool, Lochinver, Lochmaddy, and Tarbert (Harris). Passengers and Goods from Inverness for these places change steamers at Oban.

Agents, Turner & Mackintosh, 17, Union St., Inverness; J. Murdoch, Fort William; Alex. Brown, Oban; John M'Donald, Tobermory; John Angus, Lochinver; K. Cameron, Ullapool; Wm. Lindsay and Co., Greenock; Don. M'Donald, Portree; John Harrold, Stornoway. Proprietors, D. Hutcheson and Co., 119, Hope Street, Glasgow.

The Dingwall and Skye Railway Company's steamers ply in the summer months daily between Strome Ferry and Portree; weekly between Strome Ferry, Stornoway, Gairloch, &c.; and monthly to Aultbea and Poolewe; and in the winter months three times a week, between Strome Ferry and Portree, weekly to Stornoway, fortnightly to Gairloch, and monthly to Aultbea, and Poolewe.

[m] In 1875 the Messrs Langlands, of Glasgow and Liverpool, got a steamer specially built for going by the Caledonian Canal from Leith to Liverpool, and vice versa. The steamer is the "Princess Beatrice," and leaves Liverpool every alternate Tuesday for Inverness, Aberdeen, and Leith, via the Caledonian Canal. On the return journey she leaves Leith every alternate Monday, calling at Dundee, Aberdeen, and Inverness. The "Princess Beatrice" is usually in Inverness every Thursday night. Agent at Inverness, D. Macpherson, 17, Union Street.

BEAULY.

This village, a Burgh of Barony, is situated on the north bank of the river of that name. It is, on the whole, a clean, regularly laid out, well-built little place, with a population of upwards of 900 souls. The road to it lies by Clachnaharry, Bunchrew, Phopachy, and Bogroy, and thence by Moniack and Beauly Bridge, or by Kirkhill and Beauly Ferry. The ferry is impassable by horses or carriages, but a boat plies for the use of foot passengers. In Beauly are the ruins of a Priory, founded by John Bisset of Lovat in 1230. At the Reformation, it reverted in trust to the Lovat family, but now forms part of the jurisdiction of "Woods and Forests." Beauly rejoices in good inns, which are much frequented by tourists visiting the unsurpassed scenery of the Falls of Kilmorack, the Dreim, Strathglass, the Chisholm's Pass, Prince Charlie's Cave in Glenstrathfarrar, and the ruins of Castle Spynie, and the vitrified forts, Dunmore, Dunaver, and Dunfion, besides Beaufort Castle, Belladrum (the seat of Mr. Merry), and the ruins of Kilchrist, the scene of the Macdonells burning the M'Kenzies alive; the beautiful Burn of Teanassie, Dunmore of Breachachy, anciently the stronghold of the M'Leans of Kilmorack; Reelig Burn, where thirty-six different varieties of ferns are to be found, besides other rare plants and trees; Tarradale House, the birthplace of Sir Roderick J. Murchison; Redcastle, the oldest inhabited house perhaps in all Scotland; the Ruins of Kilcoy Castle. At Culbirnie there is a Druid Circle in a complete state of preservation. Beauly is traversed by the great north road to Dingwall, Tain, and Wick. The Posting Establishments are unsurpassed in the North. It also possesses a safe and convenient harbour, and carries on a pretty extensive trade in grain, timber, coal, lime, &c. There is an Established, and Roman Catholic, Church in the village. The Free Church is at an inconvenient distance from Beauly, but one is proposed to be built, if a site can be got from the Lord of the Manor. Distance from Inverness by Moniack and Beauly Bridge, twelve miles; by Kirkhill and Beauly Ferry, nine and a-half miles. The Highland Railway Station is within half a mile of the village.

CAMPBELLTOWN.

The village of Campbelltown lies about a mile and a-half south of Fort-George. It is built without any regard to regularity, and affords qualifications for about twenty voters at the county election. Partly it is a fishing village, and is resorted to during the summer months as a bathing place, and by invalids in search of health, for its chalybeate waters. There are 8 hotels, and the Fort-George station of the Inverness and Nairn Railway is about a mile and a-half from the village, while its proximity to Fort-George brings it no inconsiderable number of visitors. Distance from Inverness, ten miles.

FORT-GEORGE.

Fort-George, on which are a moat, glacis, &c., is situated on a point of land east of Inverness, and opposite to Rosemarkie. The route eastward to it lies by Culloden, Castle-Stuart, the Church of Petty, Connage, and the village of Campbelltown. The ramparts are bomb-proof. The casemates are fitted as large barrack-rooms, and it is said that within the walls are accommodation for nearly 2000 men and officers. Distance from Inverness about twelve miles. The Royal Naval Coast Guard from Fraserburgh to Shetland, H.M.S. "Clyde," Aberdeen, and gun-boats to and fro', are supplied from the Divisional Ordnance stores and magazines at Fort-George.

FORT-WILLIAM.

Fort-William, situated at the head of Loch Linne, was built shortly after the Revolution, by the revolutionary general, Mackay. Like others of the same line of strongholds, it has outlived its original purpose. It is a small place, approaching the triangular rather than any other form. It is now dismounted, and has become the property of Mrs. Cameron Campbell, of Monzie, by purchase from the Government. The principal features in the works are a ditch, ravelin, and glacis. It contains a bomb-proof magazine, and accommodation for a limited garrison. It was assailed in 1745 by a part of Prince Charles Edward's army; but Cumberland's march on Inverness obliged the siege to be raised. As it has its name from King William III., the adjoining village was called Maryburgh, in honour of his consort, but this is a distinction practically laid aside. The village consists principally of three parallel lines of buildings, forming two streets, in which are several good hotels and shops. It contains 1500 inhabitants. Immediately on the south-east, Ben Nevis, the highest mountain in Scotland—ascertained, by recent Government survey, (1869) to be 4406 feet above the level of the sea, and its circumference at the base is supposed to exceed 24 miles—towers into the clouds. Accredited guides to its very summit may be had on any lawful day at any of the hotels. Between the fort and the mouth of the Caledonian Canal at Corpach, and, of course, at the disemboguement of the Lochy, are the ruins of Inverlochy Castle, still sufficiently interesting. On "the Craigs" in the neighbourhood, a monument is erected in commemoration of Ewen Maclachlan, for many years Master of the Grammar School, Old Aberdeen—a distinguished scholar, and compiler of a Gaelic dictionary. Distance from Inverness, 66 miles by the road.

KINGUSSIE.

This is the capital of the once renowned lordship of Badenoch. It is exactly by rail half-way between Inverness and Perth. It was all but inaccessible to the general public until that great undertaking, the "Inverness and Perth Junction Railway," now the "Highland Railway," opened up the Highlands through and through. This railway is turning out a good investment for the Shareholders, and it is having a great and lasting effect on the Highlands for good. It is not unlikely Kingussie may largely share in its benefits, from its position, nestled among the highest mountains in Scotland, and about fifty miles removed from the sea on all sides. It has already become a favourite resort for parties from the sea-side, in quest of change of air. The inhabitants, who seem anxious to encourage the residence of strangers among them, seem to be doing all they can to make the place as inviting as possible. They have unanimously adopted the necessary clauses of the Police Act, for the purpose of getting the village thoroughly drained, and pure spring water from the hills introduced, for both of which there are rare facilities. These movements are in the right direction, and, if properly carried out, ought to make Kingussie as healthy a little village as any in the kingdom. Evan Baillie, Esq. of Dochfour, Glenelg, &c., is the Superior, and much will depend on the encouragement he will give to these efforts of the inhabitants; but if fairly followed up, this village, beautifully situated on the banks of the Spey, and the centre of an extensive district of country, may yet become a place of considerable importance.

SKYE—PORTREE.

Skye is a judicial division of Inverness-shire, and Portree is the seat of court. It is reached by steamer from Oban, or by rail by Dingwall, Contin, Garve, Auchinault, Luib, Craig, & Jeantown, to Strome Ferry, and thence by railway steamer. It is called Portree—a contraction and corruption of "Port-an-Righ"—the king's haven or harbour—because James V. dropped anchor there, while making a progress round his kingdom. The bay is beautifully picturesque, and the town has lately rapidly risen in importance. Distance from Inverness, by Oban, about 210 miles; by Beauly, Dingwall, and Strome Ferry, 131; by Invermoriston and Sheil House, 109 miles.

FORT-AUGUSTUS, OR KILCUMMIN.

Fort-Augustus stands on the western extremity of Lochness, between the line of the Caledonian Canal and the mouth of the Tarff. The land routes to it from Inverness are, on the south of Lochness by Dores, 8 miles, the famous fall of Foyers, 16, and thence through Stratherrick—and on the north by Lochend, 7 miles, Drumnadrochit, in the beautiful Glen of Urquhart, 14, and Invermoriston, 27; and by steam through the Canal, which is lined by the most magnificent scenery imaginable. There is a small village here, formerly called Kilcummin, to which the name of the Fort is now common. It has long been famous for the salubriousness of the climate, and being situated in the middle of the great Glen of Scotland, and on the line of frequent steam communication between Glasgow and Inverness, it is one of the most convenient centres in the Highlands. It possesses a new and first-class hotel; and a mail steamer now plies every day between Fort-Augustus and Inverness—distance 33½ miles—in connection with the mail trains to and from the south. The fort, which was built in 1734, was of square construction, bastioned at the angles, and protected by a ditch, a covered way, and glacis. On the north is the rising ground, from which it was reduced by the Highlanders in 1745, after which it was re-built and strengthened by the Duke of Cumberland, who made it his head-quarters after the battle of Culloden. In 1876 the Fort and glacis, which had previously been purchased from the Government, was given by Lord Lovat to the Monks of the Benedictine Order, who, though suppressed in Scotland at the Reformation, were still maintained at the Scotch Abbey of St James, at Ratisbon, and who have now converted the old barracks into a large Monastery, and a commodious college for the sons of Catholic gentlemen. Of the four blocks of buildings between the bastions the northern has been changed into the College, the eastern into the Monastery, the western into the Hospitium, or Guest-house, and the southern has been removed to make way for a large church. The interior quadrangle is surrounded by very fine cloisters. The new buildings are handsome and imposing in the Early English style, whilst the bastions and other features connected with the military and historical associations of the place have not been destroyed.

The village and lands are now the property of the Right Hon. Simon Lord Lovat.

U I S T, &c.

The Parishes of North and South Uist, Harris and Barra, form a judicial district of the County, Lochmaddy being the seat of the Court, where there are County Buildings, Prison, etc. There is weekly steam communication with Glasgow by steamer "Dunara Castle," which calls at all the ports from Tarbert to Barra; and fortnightly calls are also made at Lochmaddy and Tarbert by steamer "Clydesdale." The mail service is performed by the "Dream," sailing packet of 40 tons, three times weekly, betwixt Dunvegan and Lochmaddy The Kelp manufacture, which was formerly extensively carried on in these islands, is fast declining. The lobster fisheries afford employment to a great number of the native boats, and there are also extensive cod and ling fisheries. The herring fishing is also an important one in its season during May and June, but is extensively carried on by boats from the east and Argyleshire coasts. Numbers of curers from the eastern fishing ports attend at the different ports during the season to carry on the fishery and curing of herring.

Population of the District in 1871, 15,937.

ROSS-SHIRE.

This county is of great extent, stretching from the shores of the Moray Frith on the east to the Atlantic on the west. The island of The Lews forms part of the county. On the south the county is bounded by Inverness-shire, and on the north by Sutherland. For judicial purposes the counties of Cromarty and Sutherland are joined to Ross, the sheriffdom bearing the title of Ross, Cromarty, and Sutherland. The same sheriff-depute presides over all; but each county is distinct in jurisdiction, except in regard to such parts of the county of Cromarty as are locally situate in Ross, which are subject to the jurisdiction of the officials of the sheriff courts at Dingwall and Tain. For other purposes they are separate.

Its length is 67 miles, and its breadth, 58; its area is 2774 miles, or 1,775,830 acres. Of these, 301,000 are productive, 545,000 are untilled, and 929,830 are irreclaimable. The valuation, exclusive of railways, amounts to £271,744 18s 9d; including railways, £293,714 18s 9d. This includes, likewise, the Burghs of Dingwall, Tain, and Fortrose.

The population in 1861 was 81,820. The constituency of the county in 1862 was 879.

Ross is popularly divided into districts, such as Ardross, Ardmeanach (Lord of Ardmeanach was a title of the old Earls of Ross, and was conferred by Mary Queen of Scots on Darnley, on the day of their marriage) or Black Isle, Kintail, Strathconon, Lochcarron, Lochalsh, Lochbroom, and The Lews. The parishes of the two counties are—Alness, Applecross, Avoch, Barvas, Contin, Cromarty, Dingwall, Edderton, Fearn, Fodderty, Gairloch, Glenshiel, Killearnan, Kilmuir Wester, and Suddy, Kilmuir Easter, Kiltearn, Kintail, Kincardine, Knockbain, Lochalsh, Lochbroom, Lochcarron, Lochs, Logie Easter, Nigg, Resolis, Rosemarkie, Rosskeen, Stornoway, Tain, Tarbat, Uig, Urquhart, and Logie Wester, and part of Urray.

Ross-shire has four royal burghs. Formerly it had five. Cromarty, once a royal burgh, resigned its charter and renounced its privileges. The remaining burghs are—Dingwall, Tain, Fortrose, and Rosemarkie—the last two, although under the same municipal government, are distinct burghs, each constituted by royal charter—besides the town of Stornoway, and the villages of Invergordon, Ullapool, Jeantown, Plocktown, Shieldaig, Alness, Cononbridge, Avoch, Maryburgh, Contin, Redcastle, Charlestown, Munlochy, Evantown, Ballintraid, Barbaraville, Dornie, Poolewe, &c.

By Act of Parliament, 8 and 9 Vict., cap. 99, Dingwall is declared the head burgh of the shire; but for the better and more expeditious administration of justice it is divided into the Easter, Wester, and Lews districts, at the head of which respectively are the towns of Tain, Dingwall, and Stornoway, each having a resident sheriff-substitute, and a sheriff-court.

BURGH OF FORTROSE.

Fortrose – of old the "Chanonry of Ross," and an Episcopal See of considerable importance, as well as the seat of law, divinity, and learning in these parts—was erected into a "free burgh" in favour of the reverend father in Christ, Thomas, Bishop of Ross, and united to the adjoining elder burgh of Rosemarkie, by James II., in 1455. Being a Bishop's Burgh, Fortrose, along with other ecclesiastical lands and villas, reverted to the Crown at the Reformation, and was, in consequence, enfranchised anew, and erected into an independent Royal Burgh in 1590, and again annexed to Rosemarkie in 1592, under the united name of the Royal Burgh of Fortrose. The Bishoprick of Ross was formed by King David I. between the years 1124 and 1128, at which period Macbeth, its first Bishop, appears on record. The Cathedral or Diocesan seal of Fortrose, now used as that of the united Burghs, is circumscribed in Saxon characters—Scapituli Scom Petri et Bonifacii de Rosemarkin. The cathedral church, dedicated to Saint Peter and Saint Boniface, stood at the Chanonry, now Fortrose. When entire, it consisted of choir and nave with aisles, eastern Lady Chapel and Chapter House at the north-east end. Its remains consist of the south aisle to chancel and nave and the detached Chapter House—all in the middle-pointed style. A large bell now hung on a wooden spire bears the name of Thomas Tulloch, Bishop of Ross, 1460, and an inscription intimating its dedication to the Virgin Mary and Saint Boniface. Rosemarkie was enfranchised by Alexander II., in or about 1216. The ancient Burgh seal of Rosemarkie has inscribed on it the figure of Saint Peter mitered in a shield. The circumscription is Sigillum est munæ Burge de Rosemarkiyn. The original church of Rosemarkie is ascribed to Saint Boniface, surnamed Queretinus an Italian, who, in the seventh or eighth century, is said to have come into Scotland for the purpose of inducing the church there to conform with the practices of the Church of Rome, and after founding churches in many parts of the country, to have settled in Rosemarkie and to have built there a church in which he was afterwards buried. The church was dedicated to him, and stood on the same site as the new church built in 1821. The town is regularly built, well lighted, and abundantly supplied with water. It is romantically situated on the shores of the Moray Firth, and, from the salubrity of the climate, and the beautiful walks in the neighbourhood and along the shore, possesses great attractions as summer and sea-bathing quarters. From the ridge of the hill, at the foot of which the burgh lies, a wide and varied panorama of mountain, hill, and sea stretches out before the eye. With a wide grassy enclosure, in the centre of Fortrose, there are the remains of a once grand and imposing Cathedral—the see of the Bishops of Ross. Between the two towns, which are distant about half-a-mile from each other, a long tongue of land, having a beautiful sandy beach, and fine level lawn—the public links—on both sides, terminated by a lighthouse of the second order, runs out into the Firth. A ferry connects the peninsula at this point with Fort George and the Inverness-shire coast. The Burgh having an independent revenue, besides a considerable income from various mortifications, left for the benefit of the poor, taxation is almost nominal. Living is cheap, and there is an excellent endowed Academy, besides several good schools. There is also a comfortable hotel, and sea-bathing quarters can easily be had. Fortrose likewise possesses a safe and convenient harbour. Distance from Inverness, about eleven miles, from Dingwall about fifteen, and from Cromarty about 9 miles. The fishing village of Avoch is within a mile and a-half. The population of the burgh by the census of 1871 is 1017. Constituency, 136. The annual value of real property within the Parliamentary boundary, for the year 1878-79 is £3,384 11s 7d. The comparative revenue for the same period is £322.

THE ISLAND OF LEWS.

This Island, next to Ireland, is the largest of the British isles, being 45 miles in length, 15 in average breadth, and 30 in extreme breadth. It has an area of 417,460 acres, and the population, according to the last census, was 23,443. It was acquired by Sir James Matheson of Achany, Bart., Lord Lieutenant for Ross-shire, in 1844, from the representatives of the late Earl of Seaforth, to whom he paid £190,000 for it, and since then he has expended large sums in improvements. On a height overlooking the town, and surrounded by tastefully laid out grounds, is Lews Castle, where the family spend a great part of the year — a modern building in the Tudor style. There is a glass Conservatory, with a colonade communicating with the Castle, erected by Mr Cranston, Birmingham, who has patenteed the plan. Generally the grounds about the Castle have been changed from rugged nature, to the most enchanting walks during summer, and over which tourists and the Stornowegians have free access to perambulate. The works about the Castle Grounds, peat works, and elsewhere, afford employment to the natives, who have vastly benefited by the proprietor's continued outlay in various parts of the Island. In no place is this more conspicuous than in the Town of Stornoway, where there is a commodious wooden wharf and stone pier, built by the Pier and Harbour Commission with money supplied by him at interest. A first class patent slip capable of drawing vessels of 1000 tons has also been erected by the present proprietor at a large cost, and he has munificently contracted with the post-office to carry the mails from Ullapool to the Lews five times a-week, for six months in summer, and three times a week during the rest of the year although at a considerable loss to himself; and through his untiring exertions and untiring sacrifices telegraphic communication has been obtained to Stornoway. The town has in other respects undergone great changes, the principal streets are paved with Caithness flags; gas and water have long ago been introduced, through the instrumentality, mainly, of the proprietor; and there are three water fountains, erected by the late Mrs Percival, Lady Matheson's mother, whose good deeds are wide spread. The fisheries are prosecuted with much success; and the annual exports, comprising fish, cattle, horses, sheep, and wool, are estimated at £150,000. The imports amount to an equal if not greater sum. The Island abounds in interesting remains of antiquity — the most remarkable being the druidical or sepulchral circles at Callernish, about 16 miles from Stornoway and two miles from Prince Arthur's Hotel, Garynahine — the duns or burgs of Bragor, and Carloway, and a number of ancient chapels. At Gress, about six miles from Stornoway, there is a cave upwards of 200 yards in length partially covered with stalactites, like the sparr cave of Strathaird, in Skye

The constituency, including the Stornoway votes, which count with those of the shires of Ross and Cromarty, is about 200.

CROMARTYSHIRE.

This is a county of small extent, comprising the eastern part of the Black Isle, or Ardmeanach, part of the district generally called Easter Ross, Coigach on the west coast, most part of the northern acclivity of Strathpeffer, and several detached pendicles widely distant from each other, but all locally situated within the county of Ross, in which, though claiming some institutions peculiar to other counties, it is municipally sunk. It has no sheriff of its own, nor even a substitute, but forming little more than a circuit in the itinerancies of the sheriff-substitute of Tain.

Owing to the strange intermixture of territory alluded to, it was impossible to give a list of parishes altogether distinct from those of the dominant shire. They are therefore included in that of the county of Ross. The ancient valuation of property was £12,896; but the modern is common to both counties. This is also the case as to the population. The area, but perhaps only of Cromarty proper, is computed at sixty-two square miles, or 39,696 acres. It has a joint parliamentary representation with Ross.

The second, Innes fair, is held on the first Wednesday of August, the day after the Invergordon. The third, Mary Anne fair, is held on the last Tuesday of October, the day before Culbockie market.

TOWN OF CROMARTY.

This town stands on the south side, and close to the entrance of the Cromarty Firth. Its streets are close and irregular. It has a safe and always accessible harbour, the bay being one of the finest in the kingdom, where vessels encountering storm in the Moray Firth or German Ocean always run, if they can take no nearer asylum. Cromarty, by the Reform Act, 1833, received the privilege of a civic constitution. The population is 1936, while the real property in 1843 was £3847. Distance from Inverness, by Kessock Ferry, 18 miles.

ORKNEY.

The Islands forming this County lie off the North Coast of Caithness, from which they are separated by the Pentland Firth, which is from 5½ to about 7 miles broad. They are 56 in number, of which 29 are inhabited. The principal inhabited Islands are:—The Mainland or Pomona, South Ronaldsay, Sanday, Stronsay, Westray, Shapinsay, Walls and Hoy, Rousay, Papa Westray, Burray, Græmsay, Egilsay, North Ronaldsay, Gairsay, Flottay, Veira, and Papa Stronsay.

The area of the Islands is about 244 geographical miles; the population in 1871 was 31,241: the Parliamentary constituency for 1878-79 is 1287. The old valued rent of Orkney, made in 1653 71, is £57,149 Scots, and the new valuation for 1878-79, is £64,064 19s 11d stg., exclusive of the burgh of Kirkwall. The county is now under the same Sheriff as Caithness and Shetland, and unites with the latter in sending a member to Parliament; but it has a separate Sheriff Substitute, and is otherwise entirely independent.

Kirkwall is the only Royal Burgh in Orkney; but Stromness is a Burgh of Barony, with a population of about 2000, and it has an excellent harbour, which was formerly much frequented by shipping.

There has been steam communication between Orkney, Aberdeen, and Granton for the last 36 years. The traffic has now so much increased that two steamers weekly are found insufficient in the summer months to carry all the stock and goods from Kirkwall and Lerwick. One of the steamers runs weekly on the passage during the winter. There is, besides, a daily mail steamer between Stromness and Scrabster Roads in Caithness, which also carries passengers, cattle, and goods, and for a number of years past there has been steam communication twice a-week, 'twixt Kirkwall and the North Isles, viz., Sanday, Stronsay, Westray, and Eday. Under the new "Orkney Piers and Harbour Act," a pier for the accommodation of steamers and sailing vessels is being erected at Scapa Bay; and to meet the ever-increasing traffic in fish and farm produce at Holm, a new pier has been erected at the village of St. Mary's there on the estate of Graemeshall. An excellent stone pier has also been built in the Island of Eday, and others are being projected both in the South and North Isles.

KIRKWALL

was a place of much importance during the Scandinavian dominion in the islands, and, on their annexation to the Scottish Crown in 1468, it was erected into a Royal Burgh by James III. It possesses some very interesting ancient structures. The Cathedral of St Magnus, founded by Ronald, Earl of Orkney, in 1137, in honour of Earl Magnus, and subsequently enlarged from time to time, is the most complete building of the kind in Scotland, and, together with the ruins of the Bishop's Palace, in which King Hakon of Norway died in 1263, and the ruins of the Earl's Palace, both in close proximity, forms a picturesque group, unsurpassed by anything of the kind in Scotland.

A Gas Company was started, and the town lighted with gas upwards of thirty years ago, and many improvements have lately been made in and around the Burgh. Tasteful and commodious houses are now springing up on its outskirts, and there is a handsome new iron pier to which the steamers can come at all tides. This Pier is being extended and converted into stone. A large fleet can ride at anchor, in complete security, in Kirkwall Bay, which is sheltered from the ocean on all sides.

The valuation of the burgh for 1878-79 is £9470 13s 10d, and the burghal constituency is 399, and the population in 1871 was 3434 Kirkwall is one of the Wick district of burghs represented by John Pender, M.P.

Cromwell's Fort is now used as a battery by the Kirkwall Volunteers. In the vicinity of the town there are several ruins of buildings belonging to the early inhabitants of the islands. Close to the farm house of Quanterness is a large "Picts house," and not far from it, on the western slope of Wideford Hill, one of a smaller size. Remains of large buildings and subterranean chambers, exist at the old house of Saverock; and, in the summer of 1870, the ruins of a large "Brough" or circular tower, surrounded by numerous smaller structures, in the form of chambers and connecting passages, was discovered at Lingrow, and excavated, and, being within half-an-hour's walk of Kirkwall, can easily be visited by tourists.

THE Shetland Isles are upwards of 100 in number, of which 23 are inhabited. The main islands are Mainland, Yell, Unst, Fetlar, Bressay, Whalsay, Fair Isle, and Foula. They lie between 59° 51′, and 60° 50′ N. lat., and between 1° and 2° W. long. Population in 1871, 31,608. The chief town is Lerwick, situated 200 miles north and east of Aberdeen, and 170 west of Bergen in Norway. Population in 1871, 3516. The old capital was at Scalloway, about six miles S.W. of Lerwick, where the ancient courts of the Fowd, or Chief Justice in the islands, were held, and where there are the ruins of an old castle built by Earl Patrick Stewart, of whose cruelty and oppression to their forefathers the people still speak.
