PREFACE.

In bringing before the Public the result of another year's labour, the Publishers feel confident that the New Edinburgh Almanac will be found to maintain, in every respect, the reputation it has hitherto enjoyed. Deeply impressed with the importance of accuracy in a Work professing to be a National Record, they have not spared the most minute labour in the collection and arrangement of its materials, nor have they omitted any opportunity (frequently at great expense) of making such additions and improvements as might extend its usefulness. When the Almanac first appeared four years ago, it was every where received with the most flattering commendation; and the endeavour to improve each succeeding volume has been rewarded by a corresponding increase of public patronage. It is therefore with no ordinary feelings of gratification that the Publishers find their Work considered, in the highest quarters both in this and in other countries, not only as a standard authority on every subject connected with Scotland, but even as a General Register for England, Ireland, the various European States, and the distant dependencies of the British Empire.

The Acts of Parliament relative to Scotland have been accurately abridged, as in former years, with a careful eye to those alterations of the law in which the public at large, as well as the legal profession, are interested. Among other important subjects they will be found to embrace the following :—A Reform of the Law of Evidence ; Regulations as to Oyster Fishings ; Alterations of the Law relative to Entailed Estates ; Regulations for the Building and Cleaning of Chimneys ; Alterations in the Privileges of Friendly Societies ; New Regulations affecting Dealers in and Manufacturers of Tobacco ; the Methods in which the Additional Duties and Taxes imposed during the Session are to be levied ;

the Arrangements for putting in Practice the New Penny Postage System ; a Series of Limitations and Regulations applicable to the Clergy of the Episcopal Church, &c. There is also a very important Statute for the Regulation of Railways, and an Act which has not yet acquired the interest it must shortly excite, organizing the machinery for taking the Census in the year 1841.

The Reports and other Parliamentary Papers have also been selected, as formerly, with an anxious regard to such as were most likely to be useful. Besides the usual Abstracts of the Public Finance Accounts, and of those of the Board of Trade, they include, in some cases with little abridgment, the interesting Reports of the Committees of the House of Commons on Import Duties, on Banks of Issue, on the Health of Towns, and on the Supreme Courts of Scotland, besides ample notices of a variety of other matters.

To the Noblemen, Gentlemen, and Public Officers, who have honoured them with communications, the Publishers again offer their respectful thanks. They continue to solicit the earliest information relative to any changes in the Lists : and as the types of every page of the volume are kept standing, alterations or additions can be readily made.

TWEEDDALE COURT, EDINBURGH,
17*th December* 1840.

It is with regret that the Proprietors feel themselves obliged to complain, that elaborate articles prepared for this work, at great labour and expense, have been unwarrantably adopted in other publications. So long as such appropriation was confined to trifling cases, they did not deem it to be worthy of notice : but, since similar attempts have lately been made on a larger scale, they have resolved, in justice to themselves, to use the legal means of vindicating their rights.

PART FIRST.

The Kalendar,

AND INFORMATION CONNECTED THEREWITH.

PRELIMINARY OBSERVATIONS ON THE KALENDAR.

THOUGH the Astronomical portion of Oliver & Boyd's New Edinburgh Almanac is specially designed for popular use, it may, in the absence of the Nautical Almanac, be found serviceable to the Astronomer and the Navigator.

All the computations are adapted to mean time at Edinburgh, or longitude 0h. 12m. 43 sec. W.; latitude 55° 57′ 20″ N. Mean Time is that which is shown by a well-regulated clock; Apparent Time that indicated by a sundial. The column called Equation of Time shows the difference between mean and apparent time: when it is headed "Clock before Sun," the mean is earlier than the apparent noon; and to obtain apparent time, the equation must be subtracted from the mean time: when the column is headed "Clock after Sun," the mean is later than the apparent noon, and to obtain apparent time, the equation must be added to the mean time. To reduce apparent into mean time, add the equation when the clock is before the sun; subtract it when the clock is after the sun.

The rising and setting of the centre of the sun are calculated for the latitude of Edinburgh, at the level of the sea, allowance being made for parallax and refraction. The phases of the moon, although calculated for Edinburgh, may be easily adapted to any meridian, by adding or subtracting the difference of the longitude in time, according as the place is east or west of Edinburgh. The declination, parallax, semi-diameter, right ascension, and logarithmic distance of the sun, the equation of time, and the places of the principal planets, are computed for the instant of mean noon. The semi-diurnal arcs of the planets are used in ascertaining the times of their rising and setting: thus, to find the approximate time of rising, subtract the arcs from the times of southing; and to find that of setting, add the arcs to the times of southing.

The time and the depth of the high tide at Leith are computed from manuscript tables deduced from FORMULÆ investigated in the second and fifth volumes of the Mécanique Céleste of La Place. The depths, as shown by signal, are 1 foot 6 inches less than those computed. The times, though calculated for Leith, will be found sufficiently correct for the other ports on the Firth of Forth, as well as for Berwick, Dundee, Holy Island, and London Bridge, as the winds frequently cause a wider difference than that which exists between the times at those places and Leith; but when greater accuracy is required, recourse should be had to the table at page 19.

The time of high water at Granton Pier may be assumed the same as at Leith; and the depth of high water at the Victoria Jetty will be obtained by adding six feet six inches to the depths calculated for Leith.

The rising and setting of the moon, corrected for parallax and refraction, are computed for Edinburgh, at the level of the sea.

All the results have been carefully checked by means of differences and by frequent independent calculations, so that it is hoped no error of importance will be found.

NOTE.—When the time is between noon and midnight, it is indicated by the letter a. or A.; and when between midnight and the following noon, by the letter m. or M.

* In using this Table take from the Kalendar the time of High Water at Leith; add to it the time opposite the place required when the sign + is prefixed; subtract it when the sign — occurs. Thus the time of High Water at Leith in the morning of January 9 is 3h. 31m.; the time in this table opposite Liverpool is — 2h. 58m.; and by subtracting this from the former is obtained 0h. 33m. the time of the morning tide at Liverpool.

Farmer's and Grazier's Kalendar.—In fresh weather the plough may be set in m tion. Turn over stubble-lands intended for green crops or summer fallows. Fro will correct wet ploughing; but this operation should seldom be performed unless th soil is moderately dry. During frost apply composts; manure may be taken distant fields, and deposited in large heaps or scattered on the surface. Thras grain, so as to afford ample supplies of straw for littering courts. This and the fo lowing month constitute the chief season for converting straw into manure.——Devo attention to live stock, by affording shelter and supplying food at regular hours. Ke fatting cattle dry, and give them stored roots during frost. Cows require succule roots, or food prepared by steam or hot water, to yield milk copiously. Shelter nev dropt lambs, and give their dams roots, hay, and bruised grain, or lintseed cake. Ew will not produce fat lambs at this season without nutritious food.

Gardener's Kalendar.—When the frost is not severe, trench, manure, and turn up i ridges all vacant ground, and prepare hotbeds. In open and dry weather, sow in mil exposures, for a succession, a few early-frame pease, common beans, short-topped r dishes, lettuces, carrots, onions, spinach, and curled parsley, protecting them from th frost by mats or straw; and, in hotbeds, sow cauliflowers, melons, cucumbers, sma salading, early cabbages, and kidney-beans. Plant, prune, and train standard an wall fruit-trees, gooseberry, raspberry, and currant bushes. Edge beds, form ne flower-gardens, and shelter from frost tender evergreens, tulips, ranunculuses, &c. P choice dahlias, placing them in a stove or hotbed. Air and keep dry carnations an stage auriculas. Plant snowdrops, crocuses, gladioluses, irises, &c.

Farmer's and Grazier's Kalendar.—Frost being a powerful agent in obtaining mould for covering seeds, plough grass and other lands intended to produce a crop. Whether turnip be folded or carried from the field, plough the land as the crop is removed, and wheat-sowing may follow. Beans and oats may be sown; but it is only rich dry soils which can be seeded so early with prospect of success. In mild weather thorn hedges may be dressed, and new ones planted. Lay up stores of seed-corn, put implements into working trim, and execute many little jobs, that no interruption may be experienced in sowing-time.——Animals about to bring forth merit particular attention,—the supply of milk and strength of offspring being affected by the dam's treatment previous to birth. Keep calves warm, clean, and dry; give hay and sliced roots in addition to liquid food to such as are rearing.

Gardener's Kalendar.—Make ready all the ground intended for early crops; and when the weather is favourable, continue to sow every fortnight pease, beans, onions, spinach, savoys, lettuces, celery, cauliflowers, carrots, parsnips, and radishes, as directed in the kalendar for the preceding month. Cut early kidney-potatoes for seed, and put them into the stove or hotbed in order to start them for planting out. Clean shrubberies, roll walks and lawns, and plant out evergreens and shrubs of all kinds, particularly roses. Put cuttings into rich light soil in well-sheltered borders, and plant stocks of the common wild rose for standards on which to bud the Chinese and other fine varieties. Protect all tender plants from the effects of frost, and air greenhouse and stage auriculas and polyanthus frames. Top-dress all fine auriculas and polyanthuses in pots or boxes. Strike dahlias from roots in hotbeds, and sow balsams, cockscombs, tricolors, amaranths, sensitive and ice plants, as well as other tender annuals. Plant carnation-layers, ranunculuses, anemones, and bulbous roots, and divide the roots of herbaceous plants.

Farmer's and Grazier's Kalendar.—Continue preparations for seedtime. Finish wheat-sowing about the middle of the month. Sow beans, oats, and barley as soon as the weather and soil admit,—reserving cold wet lands till the season advances. The seeds of clover and ryegrass will succeed amongst autumnal-sown wheats, without harrowing or rolling the surface. Particular fields intended for barley or potatoes may receive a second ploughing. Prepare composts and manures for turnip. This is the best time for planting hedges.——In altering the diet of fatting animals, always let the change be to one more nutritious. Part of the fatting cattle may be allowed bruised grain or lintseed cake, which will quickly fit them for the shambles. If scarcity of turnip render a richer substitute necessary for advanced cattle intended for grass, give a small allowance, and plenty of straw. Ewes will lamb freely on arable farms, and seldom require any kind of food but grass and turnip.

Gardener's Kalendar.—The principal crops of vegetables should be put into the ground this month. Sow asparagus, celery, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, beets, brocoli, spinach, onions, Dutch turnips, carrots, pease and beans, savoys, parsnips, and turnip-rooted radishes. Plant red cabbage, sea-kale, kidney-beans, and cauliflowers from frames; and sow cucumbers and melons in hotbeds. Finish pruning, dress borders and strawberry beds. This is the best time to graft fruit-trees, and the China, perpetual, moss, and rosette roses, on the common brier or blush China rose, and to propagate them by layers. Pot dahlias that have pushed, and also cuttings from the offsets, placing them in a moderate heat. Protect tender plants and blossoms, and sow polyanthus, auricula, and almost every kind of perennial, biennial, and annual seeds.

Farmer's and Grazier's Kalendar.—This is the most important seed-month, and a favourable opportunity should be lost to sow grain crops. Harrow and roll clov and ryegrass sown amongst wheat, to ensure the seed germinating. Store the resid of the turnip crop, to preserve the bulbs and prevent the exhaustion of soil. Drain lan intended for green crop where previously neglected. Potatoes may be planted in favou able situations. Finish planting thorn hedges.——On store farms, this is the chi lambing season, and the shepherd's utmost attention is necessary. Cease folding tu nip, and either feed sheep on stored roots, or restrict them to grass. Fatting lamb-ho require good pasture, being unable to eat turnip freely, from shedding teeth. Whe there is a scarcity of keep at the homestead, lean cattle may be allowed to roam over pe manent pastures. Seedling grasses will seldom admit of being depastured with cattl Gardener's Kalendar.—Sow whatever was omitted last month, and plant out suc of the pot-herbs as are ready for that purpose. Continue to sow and plant ou rhubarb, artichokes, asparagus, nasturtiums, sea-kale, Dutch turnips, German green and small salading. Earth up pease, tie up lettuces, and in very dry weather wat seedling beds. Finish the grafting of fruit-trees, and train and clean walks an edgings. Sow annuals, biennials, and perennials. Plant evergreens, and propagate l cuttings jasmine, lavender, sage, rosemary, rue, &c. and all the woody kitchen shrub Sow dahlias, carnations, pinks, hollyhocks, Cape, Brompton, and German stocks, Chi asters, and all kinds of hardy annuals. Destroy the green fly on roses, and preserve th bloom of stage auriculas from sun and rain. Top-dress all flowers in pots by removin withered leaves, and put in fresh earth. Hoe and rake gravel walks, cut box-edging and mow grass plots.

Farmer's and Grazier's Kalendar.—Conclude the sowing of grain crops; and, with the advance of the season, use early varieties. From necessity, barley and pease may be sown up to the end of the month; but early-sown spring crops are generally the most valuable. Be diligent in preparing soils for potatoes and turnip; and by judiciously using harrow and roller, endeavour to retain moisture, and produce a fine tilth. Finish potato-planting. Give a second ploughing to summer fallow, and never allow vegetation to make progress at this season on its surface.——Fatting cattle may be continued on well-kept Swedish turnip and potatoes. When there is a sufficiency of grass, and the soil becomes dry, stock pastures with all descriptions of cattle. In cold and wet evenings, shelter milch cows and fat cattle in courts. Wean early calves, and turn late ones out to pasture.

Gardener's Kalendar.—Sow capsicums, cauliflowers, carrots, lettuces, spinach, Knight's marrow-fat pease, cucumbers, red beet for pickling, and a full crop of kidney and French beans. Transplant cabbages, winter-greens, lettuces, cauliflowers, and celery. Hoe and stake pease, water newly planted crops, and propagate aromatic plants by slips or cuttings. Plant out dahlias, if there be no appearance of frost, and protect from wind and rain choice tulips, ranunculuses, and anemones. Propagate herbaceous plants by dividing the roots; wallflowers, sweet-williams, lychnis, and rockets, by slips; and China roses, calceolarias, mimuluses, heliotropiums, &c. by cuttings. Put out into the open border calceolarias, pelargoniums, fuchsias, salvias, the verbena melindris, with other greenhouse plants; also Neapolitan violets, and such other hardy annuals as were sown last month. Sow biennials and perennials, if formerly omitted.

Farmer's and Grazier's Kalendar.—This is the month for sowing turnip. Put Swedes into the earth between 20th May and 10th June. All other varieties may be sown in course of the month. Drilled crops require attention. Weeds are most easily destroyed when young; and as a general rule, use hand and horse hoes as soon as the crops admit of the operations. Earth up early-planted potatoes. Haymaking commences in early situations. Mow grasses before the plants seed; remove the crop quickly from the ground, and soon afterwards carry it to the stack.——Cattle may be best soiled this month, but the practice is seldom followed, and has little to recommend it beyond making manure. Sheep-shearing becomes general. Fleeces are proportionate to the treatment of animals; and every progression or falling off in condition may be traced in the quantity and quality of wool.

Gardener's Kalendar.—Continue sowing the vegetables directed last month, and also turnips for autumn use. Plant out brocoli, cabbages, savoys, celery, cauliflowers in shady borders, leeks, lettuces, cucumbers for pickling, and kidney-beans. Watering is requisite in dry weather both evening and morning; and also the hoeing of potatoes, cabbages, and pease. Thin out onions, leeks, carrots, parsnips, and early turnips. Gather and preserve kitchen-herbs. Shade and air melon-plants, and strike by cuttings double-wallflowers, rockets, scarlet lychnis, and stocks. Transplant annuals, biennials, and perennials, and seedling pinks into a bed. Lift all hyacinths, tulips, and other bulbs that have ceased flowering. Cut off the foliage an inch above the stem, and before putting by lay them in sand a fortnight. Re-pot auriculas, polyanthuses, &c. Mow and roll grass walks and plots once a-fortnight during this and the other summer months.

Farmer's and Grazier's Kalendar.—Conclude haymaking from artificial grasses. Single out turnip, and let hand and horse hoes be in constant requisition, with a view of improving the crops and benefiting succeeding ones. Work fallows thoroughly with plough, harrow, and roller, carefully removing root-weeds by the hand,—atmospheric influence being generally insufficient to accomplish their destruction. Execute draining, and apply lime and lime-composts when such operations are necessary. Hand-weed grain crops.——In warm weather fatting cattle and milch cows are the better of sheds, to shelter them from the sun. Throughout summer examine flocks daily, to preserve them from the attack of flies, and use the common remedies for the prevention and destruction of maggots.

Gardener's Kalendar.—In this month prepare all unoccupied plots of ground for autumn and winter crops. Sow turnips, French beans, lettuces, and black Spanish radishes. Plant out brocoli, cauliflower, savoys, leeks, and winter cabbages, and earth up celery. Lift full-grown winter onions, and prepare mushroom spawn. In fine weather, gather medicinal flowers and sweet herbs when in bloom, dressing them in the shade for winter use. Divest wall-trees, espaliers, and standards, of all superfluous shoots. Continue to water in dry weather, and gather all kinds of seeds as they advance to maturity. Propagate evergreens, roses, and other shrubs, by laying the young wood. Inoculate flowering and other shrubs, bud roses in cloudy weather, and divide the roots of double primroses, polyanthuses, and auriculas. Lay or pipe carnations and pinks, take up anemones and ranunculuses, and put in cuttings of pansies, calceolarias, dahlias, Chinese chrysanthemums, geraniums, &c.

Farmer's and Grazier's Kalendar.—Conclude hand and horse hoeing turnip. Apply manure to the fallows, and immediately plough it into the soil, putting the ridges into proper form, and clearing out water-courses, to guard against wet weather. Thrash out the residue of the grain, to extirpate rats and mice before the new crop is stacked. In mountain districts haymaking from natural grasses engages the attention of store-farmers. In low situations corn-harvest will occupy all hands.——Lambs not separated from their dams last month must be weaned and put on the best pastures. On lowly-situated arable farms get in ewes for early lambing. In high districts select and prepare the stock which is to be sent to market in the course of autumn.

Gardener's Kalendar.—Sow onions, early cabbages, and parsley, for the succeeding year; and lettuces, spinach, brocoli, and cauliflowers, to stand the winter. Earth celery; hoe and thin turnips; transplant brocoli, savoys, and cauliflowers, and the principal crop of celery into trenches for blanching. Cut those herbs which are adapted for distillation or for winter use. Make mushroom-beds, propagate kitchen-herbs by slips, and take up all onions, garlic, and shallots that are withered in the stem. Continue to bud on fruit-trees, roses, and bushes, so long as the bark rises freely and the weather is cloudy. To obtain new varieties, sow auricula, polyanthus, and anemone seeds, and mignonette to blow in winter; as also the seeds of tulips, hyacinths, irises, and all the other bulbous-rooted flowers. Support and thin dahlias to improve their bloom. Shift tender exotics and hardy green-house plants into fresh pots. Keep the ground clear of weeds; and continue to water plentifully.

Farmer's and Grazier's Kalendar.—This may be considered the harvest month. Engage plenty of assisting hands for this important season. Guard against shaking winds by reaping before the juices have left the straw; and to avoid sprouting, keep cut crops always standing in an upright position. When the crop is fit for stacking, carry it by day and by night, and cover the stacks as soon as they are built. Prudent farmers provide stores of ropes and thatch before harvest commences. Hand-weed turnip where necessary. Finish fallows; and such as are wet and coldly situated may be sown with wheat.—On arable farms, weaned lambs and ewes for early lambing may be allowed to depasture stubbles and seedling grass. The breeders, rearers, and feeders of stock will meet at the different markets, and make arrangements for their customary changes of animals.

Gardener's Kalendar.—The operations of this month are not very numerous. Sow vegetable seeds for a spring-crop, and plant brocoli, cauliflowers, savoys, German greens, leeks, lettuces, celery, and perennial aromatic and pot herbs. Hoe winter-spinach and turnips, earth up celery and cardoons, weed cauliflowers and young onions, prick out cabbage-plants, gather ripe seeds, and make mushroom-beds. Plant cuttings of gooseberries, currants, and raspberries, and also strawberries, taking out all the old stools which have twice produced fruit. Continue to divide and transplant biennial and perennial flower-roots; lay almost every kind of shrubs; and put in cuttings of evergreens, China roses, and flowering shrubs. Crocuses, snowdrops, Persian irises, dog's-tooth violets, fritillarias, crown imperials, narcissuses, and most of the other bulbous roots, may now be planted. All the rooted pinks and carnations may be planted out. Sow hardy annuals to stand the winter, and trench up ground in which to plant tulips and hyacinths during October or November.

Farmer's and Grazier's Kalendar.—Harvest being finished, employ the plough in preparing soils for wheat. Commence with the wettest lands, and only defer sowing such as are dry and situated in an early climate. Use the common preventatives for smut immediately before scattering the seed, and never sow unless there be sufficient moisture in the soil to effect germination. A good deal of thrashing is commonly requisite for supplies of cash, straw, and seed-wheat. Gather the potato crop, and carefully secure it from frost.——Unless there is abundance of grass, fatting cattle and sheep should be supplied with turnip on the pastures. Towards the middle of the month remove fatting cattle to the courts, and shelter milch cows during night. Keep weakly calves warm, and allow them a portion of nourishing food.

Gardener's Kalendar.—Sow radish, lettuce, and carrot seeds; also early pease and beans in a warm exposure. Plant horse-radishes, lettuces, early cabbages, and other greens neglected last month, in sheltered situations; also cauliflowers, mint, and tarragon in frames, for winter use. Earth up savoys and cabbages as high as the leaves. Take up carrots and parsnips, cut off their tops, and bury them in dry sand. Crop the tops of parsley, to make fresh leaves for winter. Plant all deciduous trees and shrubs. Commence pruning, taking the vertical branches in fruit-trees, and cutting obliquely to prevent rain from lodging; also roses, honeysuckle, and other flowering shrubs. Protect dahlias, young carnations, and layers, from sudden frost; and, about the end of the month, begin to plant hyacinths, tulips, ranunculuses, and anemones. In favourable weather, transplant hardy fibrous-rooted plants, intermixing them in the borders, to keep up a succession in the flowering season.

Farmer's and Grazier's Kalendar.—Conclude potato harvest. Finish wheat-sowing, although this grain may be sown any time on rich dry soils up to the middle of March. At this season, as newly ploughed land receiving rain seldom becomes dry, sow wheat from day to day as the soil is turned over. Store turnip to use in frosty weather; and wheat may be sown where the crop is removed. Form lime-compost for applying in spring and summer. This is the best time for draining soils intended for green crop and fallow. Dress hedges and ditches.——Sheep intended to be fatted should be folded on turnip, and allowed dry fodder. Lamb-hogs will thrive best with an allowance of turnip on pastures. To all flocks apply the salves and lotions in common use. Cattle of all descriptions should receive fodder and shelter during night and such as are fatting ought to be shut out from the pastures.

Gardener's Kalendar.—Although hazardous, early pease and beans may be sown in a warm border; if neglected, most vegetables recommended in the last two months may still be planted, earthed up, &c., taking care to protect them from frost. Force sea-kale, rhubarb, and asparagus. Prune and plant fruit trees and bushes; and finish flowering shrubs and trees. Transplant seedling stocks, and suckers taken from the roots of the pear, codling, plum, and quince trees, to prepare them for budding or grafting different fruits upon; also stocks of the tree-rose, for budding upon them the garden and Chines varieties. Shelter choice flowers. To make the colours of the tulip distinct, the compost ought to be changed every alternate year; an operation which should be performed this month. Tulip-soil should be one-third of fresh, light, turfy loam; one third of fine sand; and one-third of sandy peat, or leaf-mould. Take up dahlia roots whenever the bloom is nipped by frost, and keep them in sand free from damp.

Farmer's and Grazier's Kalendar.—Continue to plough stubbles. Store turnip in mild weather. A great deal of straw will be requisite; and regulate thrashing, so that there may be enough to last throughout the season. As general winter employment, in mild weather dress ditches and repair fences, drain, and add by every possible means to the stores of compost and putrescent manure. During frosty weather bring forward materials for drains and composts, and remove all heavy commodities which require a firm surface for transport.——Cattle of every description should now be in winter quarters, and receive winter fare. Separate the weak from the strong. Have a constant supply of water to store cattle, and apportion their litter and food so that they may last until the arrival of the grass season. Give fatting cattle at all times as much as they can eat, commencing with globe turnip, and proceeding with food of increasing richness.

Gardener's Kalendar.—Prepare for future operations, by digging, manuring, or trenching vacant ground, and collecting dung, leaves, and turf, to make compost. In mild weather, a few early pease and radishes may be sown in a warm border, and small salads and cucumbers in hotbeds. Cover with fern, straw, litter, or mats, all such plants as are likely to be injured by the frost, either in the open ground or in frames, admitting free supplies of air when the weather is favourable. Plant and prune all kinds of trees and bushes, taking care to stake the trees that are newly planted. In pruning roses, remove the old wood, curtail the young straggling branches, adding good store of decayed manure. Fine auriculas, polyanthuses, and carnations must now be treated with great care.

FAIRS, CATTLE-MARKETS, & TRYSTS IN SCOTLAND.

WHEN the appointed day happens to fall on Saturday, Sunday, or Monday, the fair is generally deferred till the Tuesday following. Fairs which are held according to the Old Style are distinguished by the letters o s placed after the day indicated. In some parts of the country the difference between the Old and New Styles is computed to be eleven, in others twelve days,—the Old being reckoned to be so much later than the New Style. In an action before the Sheriff of Banffshire, on the 10th April 1839, it was determined that the difference was eleven days. By the act 24th Geo. II. c. 23, which established the New Style, it was ordained, "That the meetings of the Court of Session, and terms fixed for the Court of Exchequer, and the holding of all markets, fairs, and marts, which are either fixed to certain nominal days or depending upon the beginning or any certain day of any month, shall not be continued, according to the nominal days or the beginning of any month, to be computed according to the new calendar; but that the said Courts, and all markets, fairs, and marts, shall be holden according to the same natural days, according to which the same should have been kept in case this act had not been made,—that is to say, eleven days later than the same would have happened, according to the nominal days of the said new supputation of time; by which the commencement of each month, and the nominal days thereof, are anticipated or brought forward by the space of eleven days." It was remarked by the Sheriff, that "the practice observed by the Court of Session has been in exact conformity to this view. By the section of the statute referred to, the sittings of that Court and the holding of markets are in precisely the same situation. Previous to 1752, the Court of Session sat on the 1st day of November, and rose on the last day of February. In 1752, in terms of the statute, it commenced and ended its sittings eleven days later, that is, it sat on the 12th of November 1752, and rose on the 11th of March 1753. And the same practice has been followed ever since, down to the present time, since 1800 equally as in the preceding century. Even, therefore, if there had been any doubt (the Sheriff saw room for none) as to the true import of the enactment, there could," he said, "be no hesitation in following this practical interpretation of it, adopted and acted upon by the Supreme Court."

PART SECOND.

Information in Commerce, Agriculture, Law, Chronology, and Statistics.

SECTION I.—MEASURES AND WEIGHTS, WITH OTHER USEFUL TABLES.

IMPERIAL STANDARD MEASURES.

I.—MEASURE OF LENGTH.

Inches.
12.	1	Foot.
36.	3	.....	1	Yard.
198.	16½	.....	5½	.....	1	Pole or Perch.
7920.	660	.....	220	.....	40	.....	1	Furlong.
63,360.	5280	.....	1760	.....	320	.....	8	.....	1	Mile.

The hand = 4 inches; the English ell = 45 inches; the pace = 5 feet; and the fathom = 6 feet. The geographical degree = 20 nautical leagues, or 69·121 miles. In land measure, the chain of 100 links = 66 feet.

II.—MEASURE OF SURFACE.

Sq. Inches.
144.	1	Sq. Foot.
1296.	9	.....	1	Sq. Yard.
39,204.	272¼	.....	30¼	.....	1	Sq. Pole.
1,568,160.	10,890	.....	1210	.....	40	.....	1	Rood.
6,272,640.	43,560	.....	4840	.....	160	.....	4	.....	1 Acre.

And 640 acres make 1 square mile.

III.—MEASURES OF CAPACITY.

I.—GENERAL MEASURE OF SOLIDITY.

1728 cubic inches = 1 cubic foot
27 cubic feet = 1 cubic yard

The ton measurement = 8 barrel bulk, or 40 cubic feet.

II.—MEASURE FOR LIQUIDS, CORN, AND DRY GOODS.

Cubic Inches.	Wat. lbs. av.
8.665	$\frac{5}{16}$	1	Gill.
34.659	1¼	4	.....	1	Pint.
69.318	2½	8	.....	2	.....	1	Quart.
277.274	10	32	.....	8	.....	4	.....	1	Gal.
554.548	20	64	.....	16	.....	8	.....	2	.....	1	Peck.
2218.19	80	256	.....	64	.....	32	.....	8	.....	4	..... 1 Bush.
17745.5	640	2048	.....	512	.....	256	.....	64	.....	32	..... 8 ..... 1 Quarter.

The peck, bushel, and quarter, are used for dry goods only. There are besides, the coom = 4 bushels; the wey or load = 5 quarters; and the last = 2 loads or 10 quarters.

The heaped measures were abolished in 1835.

IV.—MEASURES OF WEIGHT.

I.—AVOIRDUPOIS OR COMMERCIAL WEIGHT.

Troy Grains
27.34375	1 Dram.
437.5	16	1 Ounce.
7000.	256	16	1 Lb.
98000.	3584	224	14 ...	1 Stone.
196000	7168	448	28 ...	2	1 Qr.
784000	28672	1792	112 ...	8	4 ...	1 Cwt.
15680000	573440	35840	2240 ...	160	80 ...	20 ...	1 Ton.

FLOUR WEIGHT.—1 peck = 14 pounds; 1 boll = 140 pounds; 1 sack = 280 pounds, or 2½ cwt.; 1 barrel = 196 lbs.

II.—TROY WEIGHT.

Grains.
24.....1 Pennyweight.
480.....20	1 Ounce.
5760....240	12	1 Pound.

This weight is used in weighing gold, silver, platina, &c. The fineness of gold is expressed in carats and grains, the pound or other weight being divided into 24 carats, and the carat into 4 grains. Thus the carat pound is the 24th part of the troy pound, or 10 dwts., and the carat grain the 96th part, or 60 troy grains. The standard fineness of gold coin is 22 carats; that is, the pound or other weight should contain 22 parts of pure gold and 2 of alloy. The mint-price of gold is £3, 17s. 10½d. per ounce; and hence the full weight of a sovereign is 5 dwts. 3.274 troy grains; but the sovereign of 5 dwts. 2¾ grains is a legal tender, and the half sovereign in proportion. Wrought gold has two legal standards; one is 22 carats, the same as the coin, and the other 18 carats. The latter, which was instituted in 1798, is used chiefly for watch-cases and rings.

The fineness of silver is expressed in ounces and pennyweights; the standard fineness is 11 oz. 2 dwts. of pure metal and 18 dwts. of alloy, making together 1 pound troy. Prior to the recoinage in 1816, a pound of standard silver was minted into 62 shillings, and was thus issued at 5s. 2d. per oz.; but although the market price of standard silver bullion has for many years varied little from 5s. per ounce, the new coin is minted at 5s. 6d. per oz., as 66 shillings are coined from a pound of bullion. The act of 1816, however, declares "that silver coins shall be a legal tender for 40s. only at one time," and "that gold coins shall be in future the sole standard measure of value and legal tender for payment, without any limitation of amount."

Wrought silver has two legal standards; one is the same as that of the coin, and the other 8 dwts. better, or 11 oz. 10 dwts. The latter, which is called new sterling, is seldom used.

Diamond Weight.—Diamonds are weighed by carats, 151½ of which make one ounce troy; this carat is therefore equal only to 3⅙ troy grains.

Pearl Weight.—The troy ounce contains 600 pearl grains, and hence one pearl grain is 4-5ths of a troy grain.

Apothecaries' Weight.—20 troy grains make 1 scruple, 3 scruples make 1 dram, and 8 drams make 1 ounce. The ounce and pound are the same as in troy weight. This weight is used in medical prescriptions only.

TABLES FOR CONVERTING OLD MEASURES INTO IMPERIAL.

EQUALISATION TABLE.

Scottish Measures of Length.—5920 feet = 1920 ells = 320 falls = 8 furlongs = 1 mile = 5929.568 imp. feet, or 10 Scots miles = 11¼ imp. miles nearly.—Chain of 100 links = 74.120 imp. feet.

Scottish Measure of Surface.—5760 ells = 160 falls = 4 roods = 1 acre = 54937.15 imp. sq. ft., or 23 Scots acres = 29 imp. acres nearly.

Scottish Measures of Weight.—Troyes or Dutch weight, 4096 drops = 256 oz. = 16 lbs. = 1 stone = 17.391885 lbs. avoird. Tron weight (variable). In Edinburgh, 1 pound = 1.374667 lbs. avoird.

Scottish Liquid Measure.—128 gills = 32 mutchkins = 16 chopins = 8 pints = 1 gallon = 3.00651 or about 3 imp. galls.

Irish Measures.—11 Ir. miles = 14 imp. miles.—30¼ Ir. acres = 49 imp. acres.

English Wine Measure.—32 gills = 8 pints = 4 quarts = 1 gallon; 252 galls. = 6 tierces = 4 hhds. = 3 puncheons = 2 pipes or butts = 1 tun.

1 wine gall. = .83311 imp. gall. or 6 wine galls. = 5 imp. galls. nearly.

English Ale Measure.—8 pints = 4 quarts = 1 gallon; 216 galls. = 24 firkins = 6 barrels = 4 hhds. = 3 puncheons = 2 butts = 1 tun.

1 ale gallon = 1.01704 imp. galls., or 59 ale galls. = 60 imp. galls. nearly.

Linlithgow Dry Measure.—1024 lippies=256 pecks=64 firl.=16 bolls=1 chalder, =for wheat, 7.986048, and for barley, 11.650240 imp. quarters. Hence 2 wheat bolls = 1 imp. quarter, and 11 barley bolls = 8 imp. quarters nearly.

English or Winchester Dry Measure.—64 pts. = 32 qts.=16 pottles = 8 galls. = 4 pks. = 1 bushel; 80 bushels = 20 cooms = 10 quarters = 2 loads = 1 last; 1 Winchester bushel = 7.75558 imp. galls., and hence 32 Win. bushels or quarters = 31 imp. bushels or quarters nearly.

SECTION II.—FIARS-PRICES OF SCOTLAND.

STATE OF THE FIARS-PRICES

OF THE SEVERAL COUNTIES OF SCOTLAND FOR CROPS AND YEARS 1833 TO 1839 INCLUSIVE.

The Fiars are the average prices, yearly ascertained by the Sheriff, with the help of a jury, of the several kinds of grain of the growth of his county, in the preceding crop. Their origin is obscure: it has been referred to the year 1627, when, it is said, they were for the first time ascertained in the county of Haddington; but they appear to have been struck in other counties in the end of the previous century. The forms of procedure are regulated by the Acts of Sederunt, 21st December 1723, and 29th February 1728.

The Tables have been prepared from authentic documents in the Teind Office by an Accountant of experience, and their accuracy may be relied on. The average is that of the whole period of Seven Years; but in a few cases, distinguished by an asterisk, that of Six Years only. Where blanks of more than one year occur, no average is stated, the Fiars not having been regularly struck.

The Grain is computed by the Imperial Quarter—the Meal by the Boll of 140 Imperial Pounds.

GOVERNMENT ANNUITIES, per Act 10th Geo. IV. cap. 24.

This act empowers the Commissioners for the Reduction of the National Debt to grant Annuities on lives and for terms of years certain; but no person can be appointed the nominee for any life annuity who shall be under the age of 15 years, nor can any annuity certain be purchased for less than 10 years. These annuities are payable half-yearly and are transferable; but life annuities cannot be transferred in parts or shares. No sum less than L.100 of stock (or money equal to L.100 of 3 per cents.) can be transferred or paid in the first instance; but additions may be made to any annuity already purchased, by transferring not less than L.20 of 3 per cents., or other stock or money equivalent thereto. Upon the death of any nominee, a sum equal to one-fourth of the annuity depending upon the life of such nominee, over and above all arrears, will be payable to those entitled thereto, or their executors, &c. provided the same shall be claimed within two years after such decease. Annuities are also granted on joint lives, and for deferred terms, &c. The following Tables have been deduced from the Commissioners' Tables for single lives and terms of years certain.

Life Annuities, which L.100 (Money) will purchase when the 3 per cents., ex dividend, are at the following prices:—

The inventory-duty is paid, in the first place, on the whole succession without deduction of debts; but the act 55th Geo. III. c. 184, § 51, provides for a return being given on proof of the debts being paid, so as to confine the duty to the net balance. This repayment must be claimed within three years; but the time will be prolonged on cause shown. If there be any omission in the inventory, an additional one must be lodged.

Legacies, Annuities, Residues, &c.

To	Duty per cent.
Children or their descendants, or lineal ancestors of the deceased	£1 0 0
Brother or sister, or their descendants	3 0 0
Uncle or aunt, or their descendants	5 0 0
Grand uncle or aunt, or their descendants	6 0 0

This duty is payable for every legacy out of the personal or moveable estate, or out of or charged upon the real or heritable estate of the deceased, or out of any monies to arise by the sale, mortgage, or other disposition of the deceased's real or heritable estate, or any part thereof: Also for the clear residue (after deducting debts, funeral-expenses, legacies, and other charges first payable thereout) of the personal or moveable estate, whether the title to such residue shall accrue by virtue of any testamentary disposition, or upon a partial or total intestacy: And also for the clear residue of the monies to arise from the sale, mortgage, or other disposition of any real or heritable estate, directed to be sold, mortgaged, or otherwise disposed of by any will or testamentary instrument.

Annuities are valued for legacy duty by the Northampton Table, 4 per cent.

Duty is not exigible on legacies or residues under £20; but if a legatee take two or more legacies under any testament, which shall together be of the amount of £20, each shall be charged with duty, though each or either may be separately under that amount.

N.B.—Printed forms and regulations regarding all the succession-duties will be obtained gratis, on application at any stamp-office.

EXCHANGE OF SPOILED STAMPS.

The Commissioners of Stamps are authorized, by Act 53d Geo. III. cap. 108, to cancel and to give new stamps in lieu of such signed stamps (except policies of insurance, and bills and notes presented, delivered, or issued), as shall be found to have been void in law from the beginning, or such other stamps, as owing to any error therein, —to the death of any person whose signature shall be necessary thereto, —to the refusal or want of signature of some material party,—or to any of the other causes described in said act, shall be incomplete and insufficient for the purpose intended. All such stamps (whether signed or unsigned), if belonging to parties resident in Edinburgh, or within ten miles thereof, must be brought for exchange within six months after the same shall have been spoiled. If the parties reside elsewhere in Scotland, signed stamps must also be presented within six months after having been spoiled; but if unsigned twelve months are allowed.

Parties in Edinburgh must make affidavit as to the reasons of presentment at the head-office; but if resident in the country, the affidavit may be made on unstamped paper before any Justice of Peace. The office of the Solicitor of Stamps is open for the examination of claims every Tuesday and Thursday, from twelve until two. On the claim being passed, a certificate is given, stating that application must be made for the new stamps after Thursday se'ennight, and within six weeks, otherwise the claim will be forfeited. CANALS.

1. The CALEDONIAN CANAL.—This great national work extends from Inverness, on the north-east, to Corpach, near Fort-William, on the south-west, intersecting Scotland from sea to sea. Its entire length is 60½ miles, of which 37½ pass through Lochs Ness, Oich, and Lochy, and there are 23 miles of cutting. The canal is 120 feet wide at the top, 50 at the bottom, and the present depth of water is 15 feet, which, by a further deepening of the summit-level, can be increased to 20 feet; with 28 locks, admitting the passage of ships of 1000 tons burden, or 32 gun frigates. Within a mile of the sea-basin at Corpach there are 8 connected locks, called Neptune's Staircase, each 180 feet in length, and 40 feet in breadth. The bridges are of cast-iron, and swing horizontally. The summit-level is in Loch Oich, which is about 95 feet above ordinary high-water at Inverness. Acts for the construction of the canal were passed in 1803 and 1804 (43d Geo. III. cap. 102, 44th Geo. III. cap. 62), the navigation was opened in 1822, and the total expenditure to the 1st of May 1840 was £1,029,040, 8s. 6¾d. The present rate of tonnage-duty levied on sailing-vessels or steam-boats is one farthing per ton per mile. It is in contemplation to grant a lease of the canal free of rent, for 99 years, to a joint-stock company, an act for this purpose having been passed on the 4th of August 1840.

2. The FORTH and CLYDE, generally called the GREAT CANAL, though commenced in 1768 (8th Geo. III. cap. 73), was not finally completed till 1790. Its whole length, from Grangemouth, near the mouth of the Carron, to Bowling Bay, on the Clyde, is 35 miles, and including the branch to Port-Dundas, in the vicinity of Glasgow, 37½ miles. The highest point is 156 feet above the level of the sea. Its medium width at the surface is 56 feet, at the bottom 27 feet, and the depth of water 9 feet. In all there are 39 locks, each admitting vessels 68½ feet long by 19¾ broad. The canal is supplied with water by 8 reservoirs covering 721 acres. There are swift iron boats on the canal for the conveyance of passengers, which travel at the rate of 8 miles an hour. An act was obtained in May 1836 to form a branch to the Clyde, opposite to the river Cart, which was completed in 1840, and has been opened for the conveyance of coal and ironstone. The proprietors are incorporated as the Forth and Cart Junction Canal Company, with a capital of £10,000.

3. The EDINBURGH and GLASGOW UNION CANAL was projected in 1817 (57th Geo. III. cap. 56; 7th Geo. IV. cap. 45), begun in 1818, and finished in 1822, at an expense of nearly £400,000. It commences at Port-Hopetoun Basin, near Edinburgh, and joins the Forth and Clyde Canal at Port-Downie, near Falkirk, being 31½ miles in length. In its course it is carried by extensive aqueducts over the Water of Leith, the Almond, and the Avon, and passes through Prospecthill Tunnel, cut out of the solid rock for 696 yards; preserving one level to within a mile of its junction with the Forth and Clyde Canal, where it falls at once, by a series of 11 locks, 110 feet. Its width at the surface is 40 feet, at the bottom 20, and the depth of water is 5 feet.

4. The CRINAN CANAL in Argyllshire was begun in 1793 (33d Geo. III. cap. 104; 45th Geo. III. cap. 85), and opened in 1801. The sum expended upon it amounted to upwards of £180,000. It is about 9 miles in length, and the summit-level is 62 feet above the tideway. There are 15 locks, each 96 feet long, 24 broad, and 12 deep, admitting ships of 160 tons burden. By means of this canal a direct communication is formed between Loch Fyne and the Western Ocean, so as to avoid the difficult and circuitous navigation round the Mull of Cantire. The number of passengers conveyed by steam-boats along the canal in 1835 was 11,344; in 1836, 17,862; in 1837, 21,406; in 1838, 11,506; in 1839, 19,672.

5. The MONKLAND CANAL was begun in 1770 (10th Geo. III. cap. 105), and since 1792 has undergone various improvements. Its length, from Woodhall, about two miles south-east of Airdrie, to the basin at Glasgow, is 12 miles, and it communicates, by a lateral cut, with the Forth and Clyde Canal at Port-Dundas. By means of 4 double locks at Blackhill, near Glasgow, and 2 single locks, of 11½ feet each, near Airdrie, the canal is raised 113 feet above that of the Forth and Clyde, and 273 above the level of the sea. It is 35 feet wide at the surface, 26 at the bottom, and has 6 feet water. Light iron passage boats have been established, which, during the year 1839, conveyed upwards of 70,000 passengers between Glasgow and Airdrie. By means of an extensive basin lately formed, accommodation has been afforded for shipping coals and iron by the canal from the Wishaw and Coltness and Monkland and Kirkintulloch Railways.

6. The GLASGOW, PAISLEY, and JOHNSTON CANAL commences at Port-Eglinton, near Glasgow, passes Paisley, and terminates at Johnston, a distance of 11 miles. It is 28 feet broad at top, 14 at bottom, and 4½ feet deep. The navigation was opened in 1811, and light iron passage boats were established in 1831. The number of passengers conveyed during the year ending 30th September 1840, was 396,248, besides 76,393 tons of goods, metals, and minerals.

7. The ABERDEENSHIRE CANAL was begun in 1796 (36th Geo. III. cap. 68), and completed in 1807, at a cost of nearly £44,000. It commences in the tideway of the harbour at Aberdeen, and, proceeding in a line nearly parallel to the course of the Don, terminates at Port-Elphinstone, near the burgh of Inverury. The entire length is 18¼ miles. The surface-width is 23 feet, and depth 3¾ feet; it has 17 locks, and its highest level is 168 feet above low-water mark.

RAILWAYS.

1. The first public railway in Scotland was that formed between KILMARNOCK and TROON, a distance of 9½ miles, to connect the port of Troon on the coast, near Ayr, and the collieries in the neighbourhood, with the town of Kilmarnock and the north-eastern part of Ayrshire. The act for the formation of this railway, or rather tram-road, was passed in the year 1808 (48th Geo. III. cap. 46). An act was obtained in 1837 (7th and 8th Wm. IV. and 1st Vict. cap. 105) to enable the Company to raise a farther sum of money, to alter and amend the line, &c.

2. The MONKLAND and KIRKINTULLOCH RAILWAY connects the rich coal-district in the parishes of Old and New Monkland, within 10 miles of the city of Glasgow, with the Forth and Clyde Canal near the town of Kirkintulloch. The act was obtained in 1824 (5th Geo. IV. cap. 49); the original capital was £32,000, which was increased £20,000, by an act in 1833 (3d and 4th Wm. IV. cap. 114), and by an act passed in 1839 the capital stock of the Company was increased to £124,000, for the purpose of relaying the line with heavy rails, and otherwise providing for the increasing traffic. The undertaking is now in full operation, and has a large trade in coals and ironstone.

3. The BALLOCHNEY RAILWAY COMPANY was incorporated in 1826 (7th Geo. IV. cap. 48), in order to form a railway from the termination of the Monkland and Kirkintulloch Railway, in the parish of New Monkland, about 4 miles eastward into the interior; where it separates into two branches, —the one embracing the coal and ironstone mines, situated to the south, and the other those to the north of Airdrie Hill. The capital of this company was originally £18,000; but power was acquired in the session of 1835 (5th and 6th Wm. IV. cap. 97) to increase it to £28,000; and by an act passed 1st July 1839, the capital was farther increased to £70,000, for the purpose of improving the railway, and providing for the increasing traffic. By means of this railway the rich deposits of coal and ironstone of the parish of New Monkland are transported to the extensive and rapidly increasing ironworks on the side of the Monkland and Kirkintulloch Railway, and to Glasgow and other places of consumption or shipment; and it is yearly extending its connexions with the circumjacent mineral fields.

4. The GARNKIRK and GLASGOW RAILWAY COMPANY obtained their first act in 1826 (7th Geo. IV. cap. 103), which was altered and amended in 1827, 1830, and 1838 (7th and 8th Geo. IV. cap. 88; 11th Geo. IV. cap. 125; and 1st and 2d Vict. cap. 60). The railway was begun in 1827, and opened in 1831. It is 8¼ miles in length, and cost upwards of £80,000, exclusive of depôts, buildings, and machinery. It is the first railway executed in Scotland with double lines of rails throughout, calculated for general trade with locomotive engines, a number of which ply regularly on it, with separate trains for passengers, goods, and minerals; and the traffic in these between Glasgow and Airdrie and neighbouring places is very considerable, and is rapidly increasing. The annual revenue, in 1832, was under £7000, and in 1840 it exceeded £14,000. The railway starts from St Rollox, in the north-east quarter of Glasgow, and joins the Monkland and Kirkintulloch Railway at Gartsherrie. By means of the latter, and the Ballochney and Slamannan railways, a continuous line is formed from Glasgow, through the very important mineral districts of Coatbridge and the Monklands, to the Edinburgh and Glasgow Union Canal at Causewayend, near Linlithgow. The Slamannan Railway Company opened their line in July 1840, and have established trains for passengers and goods from Glasgow to the Union Canal, a distance of twenty-five miles, and thence by boats or coaches to Edinburgh.

5. The WISHAW and COLTNESS RAILWAY, for which an act was passed in 1829 (10th Geo. IV. cap. 107), will extend from the termination, in the parish of Old Monkland, of the Monkland and Kirkintulloch Railway, southward to the estates of Wishaw, Coltness, and Allanton, which are supposed to contain the largest and finest beds of coal in Scotland. About 4 miles of the north end has been in operation some years; and the line was entirely completed in the course of 1840. The original capital was £60,000, and there was power to borrow £20,000 more. By an act passed in 1839, the capital was increased to £120,000.

6. The SLAMANNAN RAILWAY, for the construction of which an act was obtained in 1835 (5th and 6th Wm. IV. cap. 55), extends from the eastern termination of the Ballochney Railway to the Union Canal, not far from Linlithgow, a distance of about 12½ miles. The main object of the undertaking is to traverse a country supposed to abound in minerals, and to transport the produce eastward and westward. The capital is £86,000, which, by an act passed in 1839, was increased to £140,000. In the session of 1837 (7th and 8th Wm. IV. and 1st Vict. cap. 94) the company obtained power to form a branch to the town of Bathgate, in the vicinity of which there are very rich mines of limestone. The main line was opened for passengers in July 1840. It will be of particular advantage to Edinburgh, by the introduction of a large supply of excellent coal.

7. The DUNDEE and NEWTYLE RAILWAY was begun in 1826 (7th Geo. IV. cap. 101; 11th Geo. IV. and 1st Wm. IV. cap. 60; 6th and 7th Wm. IV. cap. 102), and opened in 1832. It is 10½ miles in length, and cost upwards of £100,000. Passing through a hilly country, there are three inclined planes on the line, wrought by fixed steam-engines; it is carried through a tunnel 340 yards in length. Its summit level is about 500 feet. The number of passengers along the line before the railway was opened was estimated at 4000 a-year. The number by the railway for the year ending 30th April 1840, was 71,004, and the traffic in goods for the same period, 43,192 tons. Until 1834, when locomotive engines were introduced, the carriages were drawn by horses. Branches are now open to Coupar-Angus and Glammis, in pursuance of acts passed in 1835 (5th and 6th Wm. IV. cap. 84 and 92).

8. The EDINBURGH and DALKEITH RAILWAY was constructed under the sanction of acts passed in 1826, 1829, and 1834 (7th Geo. IV. cap. 98; 10th Geo. IV. cap. 122; 4th and 5th Wm. IV. cap. 71). It extends from Edinburgh to the South Esk, near Newbattle, a distance of 8¼ miles, with branches to Leith, Dalkeith, and Fisherrow, in all nearly 15 miles. About 100,000 tons of goods and 300,000 passengers are annually conveyed on it. It has been open since July 1831, and pays the proprietors about 4 per cent. per annum, on a capital of £150,000. The Duke of Buccleuch constructed a branch to the town of Dalkeith at his own expense, chiefly with the view of connecting with Edinburgh his extensive coalfields on the south side of the Esk; which branch he lets to the Company.

9. The POLLOC and GOVAN RAILWAY.—The formation of this Railway was authorized by two acts of Parliament, passed in the years 1830 and 1831 (11th Geo. IV. cap. 62; and 1st and 2d Wm. IV. cap. 58). It connects the mineral fields on the south-east of Glasgow with that city; and possesses the advantage of terminating at the harbour on the level of the quay. The portion of this railway authorized by the second act, and which terminates at Rutherglen, was completed in 1840. The capital stock of the company is £46,000.

10. The EDINBURGH, LEITH, and NEWHAVEN RAILWAY.—An act was obtained in 1836 for making this railway (6th and 7th Wm. IV. cap. 131). It will commence at the east end of Princes Street Gardens, and proceed by a tunnel under St Andrew Street, &c. to the foot of Scotland Street, and thence to Trinity Pier, in nearly a straight line. The whole length of the railway to Trinity will be 13,000 feet, or about 2½ miles; that of the tunnel about 2800 feet. More than one half of this line has been contracted for, and operations are rapidly proceeding. It was originally intended to make a branch to the Harbour and Docks of Leith; but by an act passed in 1839 this branch is abandoned. The capital is £100,000.

11. The PAISLEY and RENFREW RAILWAY.—This railway was executed for the purpose of forming a direct communication between Paisley and the river Clyde, at Renfrew Ferry. It is 3¼ miles long, with a rise of about sixteen feet upon the whole distance. The act for its formation was obtained in 1835 (5th and 6th Wm. IV. cap. 85). It was opened in May 1837, and is now in full operation. The capital is £23,000.

12. The ARBROATH and FORFAR RAILWAY.—This railway has been made for the purpose of forming a direct communication between the town of Forfar, situated in the central part of Strathmore, and the seaport of Arbroath; it also connects with the Dundee and Arbroath Railway. The act of Parliament was obtained in May 1836 (6th Wm. IV. cap. 34); five miles were opened for traffic on 3d September 1838, and the whole line on the 3d of January 1839. The length is 15¼ miles, with a rise upon the whole distance of about 220 feet. The estimated expense of the railway, exclusive of carriages, engines, &c. is £70,000. A second act was obtained in 1840 for increasing the capital stock of the Company to £120,000. The number of passengers who have travelled on this railway, from its opening on the 3d of January to the 24th of October 1840, is 176,882. The traffic in goods, for the same period, amounts to 76,086 tons.

13. The DUNDEE and ARBROATH RAILWAY.—An act of Parliament was obtained in 1836 (6th Wm. IV. cap. 32) for the formation of this railway. The capital of the company is £100,000. The line is 16¾ miles long, and is nearly level throughout. It was opened between Arbroath and Craigie on 6th October 1838, to the Rood Yards of Dundee on the 3d June 1839; and to Trade's Lane, at the harbour of Dundee, on 1st April 1840.

14. The GLASGOW, PAISLEY, and GREENOCK RAILWAY.—The act for the formation of this railway was passed in 1837 (7th and 8th Wm. IV. and 1st Vict. cap. 116). Commencing from the south end of Glasgow Bridge, it proceeds to Paisley, and running nearly parallel to the Clyde, with a branch to Port-Glasgow, the line, which is 22½ miles in length, will terminate at Greenock near the harbour. The total capital is £533,333. The portion between Glasgow and Paisley, common with the Glasgow and Ayr Railway, was opened on the 14th July 1840, from which time to the 12th October the number of passengers was 144,251; the amount of income, about £4920. The whole line is expected to be opened about Christmas 1841. A new act was obtained in 1840 for extending the line, making new branches, and effecting other improvements on the railway; including the erection of a pier opposite Dumbarton.

15. The GLASGOW, PAISLEY, KILMARNOCK, and AYR RAILWAY.—The line from Glasgow to Paisley is common to and was executed at the joint expense of the Glasgow and Greenock and the Glasgow and Ayr Railway Companies. Near Dalry the line separates into two branches,—one running direct to Kilmarnock, and the other passing by Kilwinning, where it joins the Ardrossan Railway, —Irvine, where it communicates with the town and harbour,—Troon, to the harbour of which it communicates by a branch,—and terminating on the quay at Ayr. An act was obtained for this railway in 1837 (7th and 8th Wm. IV. and 1st Vict. cap. 117). The works were begun in May 1838, and that portion of the line between Ayr and Irvine was opened in August 1839, and the whole line between Glasgow and Ayr on the 12th August 1840. Passengers from 12th August to 10th October, 129,103; income for same period, £9008. The line from Glasgow to Ayr extends 40 miles, and the Kilmarnock branch, the works on which are begun, about 11 miles. The estimated expense is £625,000. By an act passed 4th June 1840, the time for completing the line to Kilmarnock was extended, and power given to make a branch from the Kilmarnock line at High Monkcur to the Ayr line at Kilwinning, so as to facilitate the trade between Kilmarnock and Ardrossan.

16. The EDINBURGH and GLASGOW RAILWAY.—The act of Parliament (1st & 2d Vict. cap. 58) for making this railway received the royal assent on the 4th of July 1838. It will commence at the Haymarket of Edinburgh, pass by Winchburgh, Linlithgow, and Falkirk, and terminate in George Square, Glasgow. Its length will be about 46 miles. With the exception of the inclined plane on approaching the city of Glasgow, the steepest gradient is 1 in 880. The capital stock of the company is £900,000, with power to borrow £300,000 additional. The works on the great viaduct in the Almond valley were begun in October 1838, and the railway is expected to be completed in 1841.

17. The ARDROSSAN AND JOHNSTON RAILWAY.—By an act passed on 23d July 1840, the management of this railway was separated from that of the Glasgow, Paisley, and Johnston Canal, and the proprietors incorporated, with a capital of £80,000. A junction between it and the Ayrshire Railway at Kilwinning has now been effected.

The Post-office do not convey packages exceeding 16 ounces in weight inland, except in the case of Parliamentary papers, and other privileged documents, mentioned below. The above are the charges on all letters posted and delivered in the United Kingdom, without regard to distance; and there is no difference in the case of letters posted and delivered within the boundaries of the old Penny Post-offices in towns. The rate of postage is affected by the weight entirely, and not by the number of sheets or enclosures.

tter is posted, or whatever colony it is rected to. In the case of East India tters, this rate applies only to those assing by the Falmouth packets, and ience overland, and not to those pass-ig in the first place through France. here is no limitation to any particu-ar weight.

N.B.—The East India Packet Post huts on the fourth Saturday of every nonth.

and so on progressively.

N.B.—When letters are not specially marked by the sender, with the words "by ship," or "by private ship," not prepaid, they are liable to be sent by packet, and charged packet rates.

FOREIGN LETTERS—NOT BY PRIVATE SHIP.

N. B.—When a place is printed in italics, the prepayment of the postage to it is optional; all the other foreign postages must be prepaid.

SINGLE RATES OF POSTAGE on letters to and from the places following, viz.:—Frontiers of France, 10d.; Spain via Falmouth, 2s. 2d.; United States, 1s. —Via Falmouth; Malta and the Ionian Islands, 1s.; Greece, Syria, and Egypt, 2s. 5d.—Greece, Turkey, and Mediterranean, via Marseilles, if addressed by French packet, 2s. 8½d.; Malta, Ionian Islands, and Egypt, via Marseilles, British packet or monthly closed mail, 1s. 8d.; Germany, via France, 1s. 4d. (daily); Holland and Belgium, by London packet, 1s. 6d.; Denmark, Sweden, and other parts of the North of Europe, by London packets, every Tuesday and Friday, 1s. 10d.; Sweden and Norway, via Hull, during summer only, every Saturday, 1s. 8d.; Switzerland, Germany, Italy, Greece, Turkey, and Egypt, if not directed via France, 1s. 10d. —Lisbon, or any other port in Portugal, 1s. 9d.; Madeira, 1s. 10d.; Cuba, Columbia, and Mexico, 2s. 3d.; Brazil, 2s. 9d.; Buenos Ayres, and other ports on the continent of South America, except Columbia, Brazil, or Mexico, 2s. 7d. St Domingo, Martinique, Guadaloupe, St Thomas, St Croix, St Martin, and any other foreign island in the West Indies, as to which there is no rate before authorized, 1s. 5d.

N.B.—Besides the periods of departure above mentioned, the following days for closing the packet mails have to be attended to, viz.:—Brazil packet, 1st Tuesday of each month; Leeward Islands and Jamaica packet, 1st and 15th of each month; Mediterranean packet, every Saturday; Greece and Malta, every 2d Saturday of the month; Egypt, every 4th Saturday.

It will be observed that the above are single rates of postage only, viz. on letters not exceeding ½ oz. When a letter exceeds that weight, the scale is in the same ratio as that of inland postage, and can be easily estimated. Thus, when the weight exceeds ½ oz. and does not exceed 1 oz. two postages are payable; when it exceeds 1 oz. and does not exceed 2 oz. four postages; when it exceeds 2 oz. and does not exceed 3 oz. six postages, and so on, adding two postages when the oz. is exceeded. In letters passing to and through France, as to which the French postage may be charged, there is a single rate of such French postage for every ¼ oz. the letter weighs.

PARLIAMENTARY PAPERS, ADDRESSES AND PETITIONS TO HER MAJESTY, PETITIONS TO PARLIAMENT, AND OTHER PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.

Printed Parliamentary papers may be sent by post from place to place in the United Kingdom, or to the colonies by the packets, and the proceedings of colonial legislatures sent by packet may be received—at the following rates:—If not exceeding 4 oz. 1d.; if exceeding 4 oz. and not exceeding 8 oz. 2d.; if exceeding 8 oz. and not exceeding 12 oz. 3d., and so on. N.B.—The privilege as to the colonies does not embrace the Mediterranean packet conveyance to India. There is no limitation as to weight. Papers must be without covers, or in covers open at the sides, and must have no enclosures or writing other than the address. In papers passing inland, prepayment is optional. Petitions and addresses forwarded to her Majesty pass free. Members of Parliament may receive petitions and addresses to her Majesty, or petitions to either house, free, if not exceeding 32 oz., and sent without covers, or in covers open at the sides.

The Treasury are authorized by the Act to give exemption in certain cases from the restrictions as to weight, and the exemption has been, in the general case, granted to those public offices the correspondence of which, under the old regulations, was franked by a franking officer, without restriction as to weight. For a list of these, see Almanac for 1838, pp. 91, 92. The Lord-Advocate, Solicitor-General, and Crown Agent for Scotland, and the Insolvent Court of Ireland, have been added to the list.

NEWSPAPERS.

Stamped British newspapers pass free from one place to another. When addressed to a person residing within the limits of the post-town where it is posted, or the suburbs, a postage of 1d. is charged on a paper. British and colonial newspapers pass free to and from the colonies by the Falmouth packets,—the privilege includes papers to and from the East Indies by the Mediterranean packets. When the conveyance is by private ship, the postage is 1d. Foreign newspapers received in Britain, and British newspapers sent to foreign countries, are liable to a postage of 2d., unless there be a reciprocity treaty with the foreign Post-office, when they pass free. The exemption, however, is only total in the case of Post-office conveyances. When the papers are sent by private ship, they pay a postage of 1d. All newspapers must be without covers, or in covers open at the sides, and must have no other writing on them but the address, and no enclosure. It is recommended by the Post-office, to avoid confusion from the accidental removal of the covers, that the address be written, not only on the cover, but on some exposed part of the newspaper. All newspapers sent out of the kingdom must be posted within 7 days after publication.

MISCELLANEOUS REGULATIONS.

Use of Post-office Covers and Stamps.—Letters, newspapers, and parliamentary papers, may be pre-paid by affixing post stamps, or enclosing in stamped covers bearing the proper rate of postage. Covers and stamps may be used together to make up the postage,—thus, a penny cover with a penny stamp affixed to it, making a postage of 2d., will carry a letter exceeding ½ oz., but not exceeding 1 oz. Any number of stamps of any denomination will be admitted, provided the whole cover the postage. Thus, 32 penny stamps will carry a packet exceeding 15 oz., and not exceeding 16 oz. In such cases, however, it is more convenient to use the higher denomination. When a letter exceeds 1 oz., as each additional postage amounts to 2d., the proper quantity of penny stamps used must make up an equal number. It is recommended by the Post-office, for the convenience of sorting the letters, that the stamp should be on the side of the letter where the address is, and on the right hand upper corner. Where there is not a sufficient number of stamps in the case of letters inland, the difference is treated as an unprepaid postage, and charged double. Thus, if a letter exceeding ½ oz., but not exceeding 1 oz., be posted with only a penny stamp, a charge of 2d. is made on delivery. Postage stamps are applicable to letters going abroad. In this instance there is no double postage charge to make up deficiency, but, in cases where pre-payment is not optional, if there be a deficient stamp on a foreign letter, it is returned through the dead-letter office. Colonial letters deficiently stamped are charged full postage. Covers and stamps are sold by all postmasters and letter-receivers. The stamps must be sold at the amount they represent as postage. The covers are sold at 25 per cent. additional.

Transmission of Money, and Money Orders.—In the case of letters containing coin, the practice of entering the addresses, and taking receipts at delivery, has been discontinued. In the transmission of small sums, the use of the money order office is recommended, where an order from any one Post-office on any other, for any sum not exceeding £2, may be obtained for 3d., and for a sum between that and £5, for 6d. In the case of very small sums, the transmission of an equivalent value in Post-office stamps may be had recourse to. Where bank-notes or drafts to bearer are sent, it is recommended that they be cut in two, the halves being sent by different posts. In the case of bank-notes and post-bills, a note of the numbers and amounts should be preserved.

Re-direction.—When a letter (by reason of the person it is addressed to having removed or otherwise) is re-directed, it incurs a new inland postage according to its weight, but though the new postage should not be paid on re-posting the letter, it will be charged on delivery only with the lower rate of a pre-paid letter, and not with the double rate to which letters not pre-paid are liable. When newspapers from abroad are re-directed, they pass free if unopened, but if opened, they are charged with letter postage, according to the weight.

Cautions.—There is a prohibition in the act against transmitting explosive materials by post. Articles which have hard or sharp edges should be carefully packed in some durable and soft substance, to prevent them from destroying their own envelopes and damaging the other letters and parcels. Brittle articles (especially glass vessels containing liquids) should not be sent by post, as the pressure of stamping will destroy them. Letters to hot climates should be wafered—not sealed, as the wax is liable to be melted.

For additional information on the Post-office Regulations, see, in the abridgment of statutes passed during last session of Parliament, that of 3 & 4 Vict. ch. 96, p. 118-120.

SECTION VI.—LAW AND LEGISLATION.

[For a Digest of the Statutes regulating the Election of Members of the House of Commons, and of Magistrates and Town-councils in Burghs, see pp. 113 and 115 of the New Edinburgh Almanac for 1838. A more condensed abridgment will be found at p. 130 of the Almanac for 1839.]

STATUTES AFFECTING SCOTLAND,

(1.) Existing proceedings stayed on defendant's producing to the Court a certificate that the publication is by authority of either of the Houses of Parliament. (2.) Future prosecutions for publishing any parliamentary paper are to be stayed on production, in the Court, of a copy of the paper, with an affidavit verifying its correctness. (3.) In case of an action for publishing any extract from or abstract of any parliamentary paper, the paper may be given in evidence on the general issue, and if the jury are of opinion that the publication was without malice, a verdict of not guilty must be entered. (4.) The Act not to affect the privileges of Parliament.

(2.) An addition of 4d. per gallon to be charged on spirits imported after 15th May, or then in bond. (3.) An addition of 4d. per gallon to be paid on all spirits hydrometer proof, distilled after 15th May, or then in stock, or in warehouse and thence taken out for consumption or removal to England. (4.) Five per cent. addition to be made to drawbacks on goods exported, or otherwise becoming entitled to drawback, subsequently to 15th August. The drawback may be allowed for an earlier exportation, if the Commissioners be satisfied that the 5 per cent. additional duty has been paid. (5. and 6.) The additional duties to be under the usual management, and to be levied and appropriated as the original duties. (7.) Persons who, before the 15th, may have sold articles on which the addition is chargeable, to be delivered on or after that day, may add the amount of the additional duty to the price. (8.) In each assessment for assessed taxes for the year commencing 6th April 1840, and subsequent years, an addition of 10 per cent. to be made on the gross sum. No fractional part of one penny of the addition to be payable. (9.) Addition to be levied through the existing machinery. (10.) The assessors, or in their default the surveyors and inspectors, are to certify the addition on each assessment to the Commissioners, and the addition added to the previous amount is to be levied in the same manner, subject to increase or diminution from surcharges or appeal. (11.) The regulations of former acts, for collecting, &c., to be in force so far as applicable. (12.) Act not to apply to windows opened subsequently to 5th April 1835, under the exemption of the 4th and 5th Wm. IV. c. 75. (13.) The duty on carriages kept for hire, by persons licensed to let post-horses, and so used that the duties on the horses are paid by ticket, reduced to £3 after 6th April 1840.

* The abstracts have been made on the principle of abridging very considerably such provisions as regulate the conduct of officials, who may be presumed to look for information to the Acts themselves; while those laws which affect the public in general have been abstracted with much anxiety to give a distinct though brief view of their application. The chapters affecting the colonies, the management and appropriation of the revenue, and diplomatic matters, as well as the Mutiny and other annual Acts, though they may be said to apply to the inhabitants of Scotland as much as to the other citizens of the empire, are, for obvious reasons, omitted. The numbers within parentheses refer to the sections of the Acts. Where sections are passed over, they do not apply to Scotland, or are not considered of so much general importance as to render their abridgment necessary.

(1.) Previous Acts repealed, except as to penalties already incurred. (2.) Manufacturers and dealers to enter their premises with the Excise officer of the survey, distinguishing each room, &c., by its number or letter. In default £100 to be forfeited, with all tobacco and snuff found on premises not entered or marked. (3.) (2.) On the granting of such lease, the Canal Commissioners relieved of farther duties and responsibility. (3.) He also, unless such consent be produced, orders notice in the Edinburgh Gazette and another newspaper 3 times, at intervals of 14 days. On production of publication, accompanied by intimation if an heir be known, otherwise, with a declaration that none is known, the Sheriff resumes consideration, and institutes necessary inquiry. After hearing an heir for his interest, if any appear, the Sheriff pronounces his decision, authorizing, qualifying, or refusing. (4.) On authority being interposed, the heir may execute charter or lease. (5.) The recording of a feu charter in the General Register of Sasines, without infeftment, completes the title, which goes to successors in office without renewal. (6.) The parties holding such feus or leases in trust, are not entitled to dispose of, assign, or burden them, all deeds in contravention being null, (7.) nor can they direct them to any purpose different from that for which they are bestowed. If they be so diverted, or left 5 years unemployed, the heir in possession may petition the Sheriff to declare the right forfeited, and restored to the entail. The Sheriff, after ordering intimation and notice for 3 Sundays on the church-door, may hear parties (including inhabitants of the parish) and decide. A decree of forfeiture becomes a title by registration in the general register.

The following offences are, at discretion, punishable with transportation for life, or a period not less than 7 years, or by imprisonment, not less than 2, or more than 4 years,—forging or being connected with the forging of dies or plates for postage stamps; forging imitations of stamps; having forged dies or plates in possession, or stamping paper with them; uttering or having in possession forged stamps, and fraudulently making use of the government dies or plates. (23.) The following offences render the party liable to a penalty of £20, with costs. Fraudulently removing the stamp or impression from any letter, &c., to fix it on another; fraudulently using a stamp so removed; erasing any name, date, &c., on a stamp, for the purpose of defrauding the revenue; and being concerned in "any other fraudulent act, contrivance, or device whatever, not specially provided for by this or some other act," with design to defraud the Post-office. (24.) Refers to Ireland. (25.) Licenses to deal in Post-office stamps and corresponding bonds not liable to duty. § 26-28 provide for the manufacture of paper for covers, &c. (29.) The following offences as to such paper render the party liable to transportation for 7 years, or imprisonment at discretion, for a term not less than 2 years; making, without proper excuse, any mould or other instrument for making the words, letters, devices, &c. peculiar to such paper, or machinery for working in the threads; making paper with letters, devices, threads, &c., intended to make it pass for that of the covers or stamps; having in possession, without lawful excuse, paper designed to pass for that of the covers or stamps; and causing any of the marks or devices of the Post-office to be imitated on any description of paper. (30.) Persons unlawfully getting possession of Post-office paper in the course of preparation, are liable, at discretion, to be imprisoned for a period not more than 3 years, or less than 6 months. (31.) In the case of treaties with the Post-office of a foreign country, for collecting and accounting for the British postage on letters sent thither, the Postmaster-general may receive the postage, both British and foreign, in one sum. He may in the case of letters from abroad, whether there be a treaty with the country whence they come or not, charge the foreign postage in addition to the British, accounting with the foreign country. It is optional to the sender of a letter to a foreign country to which a treaty extends, to pay the British and foreign postage at once, or to send the letters unpaid, or to pay the British postage only. Subject to this enactment, the Postmaster-general may cause the postage of all letters sent abroad to be paid or stamped on being posted. (32.) The foreign postage mark is conclusive evidence of its amount, and such foreign postage is recoverable by the authorities in the same manner as British postage. (33.) The Postmaster-general may, on authority of Treasury warrant, charge postage in the following cases where none has been hitherto authorized: on letters conveyed by post between places in the colonies, or conveyed by packet between one part of the British dominions and another, or between the British dominions and foreign parts, or between one foreign port and another. In like manner, postage may be charged on letters conveyed by vessels to or from the colonies, or between any of the colonies, or between any of the colonies and a foreign port, or on letters brought by the master of a vessel to a colonial Post-office. (34.) Refers entirely to places out of the kingdom. (35.) In the case of inward-bound vessels,—owners, consignees, shippers, and charterers, may have their letters free at the port of arrival, and at any other place, on payment of postage as in prepaid letters, provided the quantity to any one person do not exceed 6 oz., except in the case of a vessel from Ceylon, the Mauritius, the East Indies, or the Cape, when an owner, charterer, or consignee, is entitled to 20 oz. The owner, charterer, or consignee must be described as such in the address, and in the case of owners, shippers, or consignees of goods, it must appear on the manifest that they have goods on board. Individuals are entitled to receive such privileged letters before the master delivers the others to the Post-office. All ship-letter gratuities payable by law to masters must be paid to the Post-office by the parties receiving the letters, besides any postage that may be chargeable. (36.) Allowance authorized to masters of vessels,—in the coasting-trade, at the rate of 2s. 6d. per 100 for letters and newspapers; in vessels to the East Indies, 1d. per letter and ½d. per newspaper. In other vessels, outwards and inwards, 2d. per letter. Masters outward bound must receive letter-bags and deliver them without delay. Each master inwards must collect and seal up letters, address the package, and send it to the first Post-office he can communicate with, making declaration at the port where the vessel reports. Vessels are not to break bulk or make entry till all letters are delivered at the Post-office, unless in the case of letters privileged, as per § 35, or otherwise, or where quarantine regulations interfere. Customhouse-officers may search for and seize unposted letters, earning a moiety of the penalties. Where there is an overweight of letters of the kind privileged, as per § 35, the surplus may be seized and taken to the Post-office, where a sum is given for them according to Treasury regulations, limited to 2s.6d. for each. (37.) The penalty of 7th Wm. IV. and 1st Vict. c. 36, § 6 (see Almanac for 1838, p. 124), on masters going to the East Indies, &c. refusing to take letter-bags, extended to masters of all vessels outward bound, and the penalty of 7th Wm. IV. and 1st Vict. c. 34, § 24 (ib. p. 123), made applicable to masters neglecting to make declaration of ship-letters to the Post-office. The corresponding regulations of the above Acts, as to custom-house officers, are extended to their duties under this Act. (38.) Treasury and Postmaster-general authorized to make regulations as to money orders (see p. 97). (39.) The Postmaster-general, with consent of the Treasury, may appoint a register of letters, either charging an additional sum for registration or not. Registration not to render the Post-office liable for losses. The times and method of posting and delivery of such letters, and the payment of rates on them, are subject to regulation by the Postmaster-general. § 40-44 as to the transmission of addresses, petitions, and newspapers, will be found embodied in p. 96. (45.) The Postmaster may examine papers uncovered or open at the sides, to see that they are in the terms of the regulations, and, in the case of newspapers, to ascertain the language, and see if they are stamped. In the case of any breach of regulations, newspapers are charged with treble the postage on letters of the same weight, except foreign newspapers not in the language of the countries whence they came, which pay simple letter postage. Papers inconsistent with the regulations, addressed abroad, may either be stopped or charged with the treble duty, unstamped papers being sent to the Stamp-office. (46.) In all questions as to what is privileged as a newspaper or otherwise, the decision of the Postmaster-general, with concurrence of the Treasury, is final. (47.) When it is shown that, in any country, the newspapers of that country addressed to the United Kingdom pass free, and that British papers pass free to it inwards, the Postmaster-general, with consent of the Treasury, may reciprocate; and where a postage is charged, he may charge a corresponding one. There is always, however, on newspapers conveyed by private vessels, a sea-postage of 1d., payable at posting, on those transmitted from this country. (48.) When circumstances alter, the usual rate of 2d. on the newspaper communication with any foreign country may be resumed. (49.) British newspapers may be sent to the colonies through a foreign country, and colonial papers may be sent to Britain through a foreign country, or to a foreign country through Britain, free, or at such rates as may be fixed by the Postmaster-general and Treasury. (50.) Newspapers must be posted within seven days after publication (which is ascertained by the date of the paper), otherwise they are liable to be detained or charged letter postage. (51.) Newspapers brought into the kingdom may be re-directed, where parties have changed their abode, without any charge, if they are unopened, but if they are opened, letter postage is charged. (52.) Masters of private vessels are allowed 1d. for each newspaper conveyed outwards or inwards. (53.) Regulations as to the letters of soldiers and sailors, which, if not exceeding ½ oz., may be transmitted to any part of the world on postage of 1d. The regulations resemble those previously in force (see Almanac for 1838, p. 123). Where the 1d. is not pre-paid, in the case of such letters coming from abroad, 2d. is charged on delivery. (54.) When such soldiers' or sailors' letters are conveyed by private ships, the gratuities to the masters must be paid besides the postage. (55.) The privileges do not extend to any foreign rates of postage. (56.) All privileges of exemption not specified in the act to cease. (57.) The Postmaster-general may, on a Treasury warrant, increase the postage to be charged in the case of letters or papers not pre-paid or duly stamped, and may reduce any postages. (58.) With regard to foreign and colonial letters or newspapers, and other printed papers, the Treasury may, at any time, regulate by warrant the amount of postage on them according to a scale of weight. (59.) Treasury warrants regulating postages, must be gazetted, and laid before both houses, if sitting, within fourteen days, otherwise within fourteen days after the re-assembling. The rates are leviable, however, immediately on their being gazetted. (60.) Letters not pre-paid, must be paid by the person to whom they are addressed on delivery to him; but if he refuse to receive, or be dead, or is not to be found, the writer or sender is liable. (61.) The Treasury may alter the rate of gratuities to ship-masters, and may appoint gratuities to pilots, seamen, or others fetching letters. (62.) Individuals are prohibited from sending combustibles by post. (63.) Postmaster-general and Treasury may make regulations as to the form, size, dimensions, and enclosures of letters. (64.) In the case of disputes as to the limits of a post-town, the Postmaster-general may definitively fix them, by a writing under his hand. (65.) Any Post-officer may detain a letter suspected to contain contraband goods, and transmit it to the Commissioners of Customs, who, in presence of the person it is addressed to, or, in his absence on notice in writing to him, may open and examine. If found to contain contraband goods, it may be detained,—otherwise it must be handed or forwarded to the person it is addressed to. (66.) In indictments for offences, the words "Her Majesty's Postmaster-general" are a sufficient specification, without giving his name. (67.) The Postmaster-general to be a body corporate, for the purposes of holding property and its transference to his successors. (68-73.) Repeal of Acts, Interpretation clause, &c.

RAILWAYS.

CHAP. 97. An Act for regulating Railways. August 10.

(1.) After two months from passing of act, no railway, or portion of railway, is to be opened until one calendar month after notice in writing to the Board of Trade. (2.) A company neglecting notice forfeits £20 for every day the railway is used until a month has elapsed after notice. (3.) The Board may require every railway company to deliver returns in a prescribed form, "of the aggregate traffic in passengers, according to the several classes, and of the aggregate traffic in cattle and goods respectively, on the said railway, as well as of all accidents which shall have occurred thereon, attended with personal injury; and also a table of all tolls, rates, and charges, from time to time levied on each class passengers, and on cattle and goods conveyed on the said railway." Such returns must be made within 30 days after requisition, the company forfeiting £20 for every day of default. The returns are to be required in like manner and at the same time from all the companies, unless the Board specially exempt any company, entering the reasons on their minutes. (4.) An officer making a false return is guilty of a misdemeanor [an offence punishable with fine or imprisonment]. (5.) The Board may authorize a person to inspect any railway, who, on producing his authority (if required), must have access to the line, and the stations, works, buildings, engines, and carriages. No person is eligible as inspector who has, within the year, been a director or paid officer of a railway. (6.) Any person interrupting an inspector, on conviction before a Justice, forfeits a sum not exceeding £10, and is liable in default to imprisonment not exceeding three months, terminating on payment. (7.) Copies of all by-laws, orders, and regulations, made before the passing of the act, certified as the Board may direct, must be laid before the Board within two months after the passing of the act, otherwise they cease to be binding. (8.) By-laws, &c. which were not in force at the passing of the act, and those made after its date annulling such as were then in force, cannot come in force until two months after a certified copy has been laid before the Board, unless before that period the Board signify its approbation. (9.) The Board may disallow any by-law, &c., giving intimation which, in the case of a by-law in operation, must fix a period for its cessation. Disallowance abolishes a by-law, except as to penalties incurred under it. (10.) Provisions in existing railway acts, requiring concurrence of Justices or others, not members of the companies, to by-laws, &c. repealed. (11.) When the Board finds that provisions of railway acts, or of this act, are neglected, and that their enforcement is expedient, they are to certify the case to the Lord Advocate, who is authorized to institute proceedings, in such form as the party aggrieved, or authorized to sue for penalties, might have had them. A case is not to be certified until twenty-one days after notice to the company. (12.) No legal proceedings are to be had against companies under the authority of the Board, except on such certificate, and within one year after the offence. (13.) An officer or agent of a railway company, or special constable, and assistants, may seize any engine-driver, guard, porter, or other servant of the company who is drunk on the railway, or breaks the regulations, "or shall wilfully, maliciously, or negligently do, or omit to do, any act whereby the life or limb of any person passing along or being upon the railway, &c., shall be or might be injured or endangered, or whereby the passage of any of the engines or trains shall be or might be obstructed or impeded," and bring him, with any person who may be assisting him, before a Justice, without warrant. The Justice is bound, on complaint on oath, to adjudicate summarily, awarding either imprisonment with or without hard labour for not more than two months, or a fine not exceeding £10, with imprisonment for default, as above, but terminable on payment. (14.) If the Justice think fit, however, he may commit the person for trial at the Quarter Sessions, remanding him or taking bail with or without securities. The Sessions may imprison with or without hard labour for not more than two years. (15.) Any person doing any thing "to obstruct any engine or carriage using any railway, or to endanger the safety of persons conveyed in or upon the same," is liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, not exceeding two years. (16.) Any one wilfully obstructing a railway officer in execution of his duty, or trespassing on the railway stations or works and refusing to quit on the request of an officer, may be seized and brought before a Justice, by whom he is, on conviction, to be adjudged in a penalty not exceeding £5, or in default to imprisonment not exceeding two months, terminable on payment. (17.) Proceedings are not to be quashed for informality, or removed into the higher courts. (18.) Provisions in railway statutes, giving Justices the power of settling disputes, as to the privilege of openings in the ledges or flanches of railways for effecting communication with branch railways, are repealed (19.), and the authority, in this respect, is transferred to the Board of Trade. (20.) The notices, &c. required to be sent to the Board of Trade, are to be delivered or sent by post to the Board, viz. The "Lords of the committee of Privy Council appointed for Trade and Foreign Plantations." All documents signed by one of the secretaries are to be held as issuing from the Board, and service on a railway company may be by delivery to a director, or the secretary or clerk, or the clerk or officer at a station. (21.) Interpretation clause: The word "Company," to include the proprietors of a railway, whether a corporation or individuals.

All expenses not otherwise provided for by the act are to be deemed incurred in the business of the General Register-office. (3-9.) Refer solely to England. (10.) The Registrar-general is to send a copy of the act, with a sufficient number of forms and instructions, to the Sheriff of each county, and the chief magistrate of each royal burgh. (11.) The Sheriffs in counties, and chief magistrates in burghs, are each to appoint in writing under the hand of their clerk, the schoolmaster or other fit person, in each parish or place, to take the requisite accounts, the sheriff and town officers delivering the forms, &c. On 1st July 1841, each enumerator so appointed is to take an account in writing of the name, sex, age, and occupation of every living person who abode in his locality on the night of Wednesday 30th June, "and shall also ascertain which of such persons were born in the parish and county or stewartry, in which they shall then be dwelling, and also take an account of the occupied houses, and of the houses then building, and therefore uninhabited, and also all other uninhabited houses within their district; and in such account the enumerators shall distinguish those parishes and places, or parts of parishes and places, which are within the limits of any city or burgh returning, or contributing to return, a member or members to serve in Parliament, or Royal Burgh." The account is to be exhibited to the minister of the parish for his correction and approbation, and observations, and the enumerator is to sign it. (12.) The Sheriffs and Magistrates are to appoint times, not sooner than the 8th, or later than the 31st July, for the enumerators to attend with the returns. The enumerators must receive notice, and make a declaration to the correctness of their accounts. The Sheriffs and Magistrates may examine the enumerators on any pertinent matters, "especially as to the distinct population of parts of parishes not wholly contained in one and the same county, or partly included in any Parliamentary burgh or royal burgh," and direct their clerks to indorse the returns with the names of the counties and districts. Sheriffs &c. may, if they think fit, direct enumerators to verify their returns before a Justice, and transmit the schedule before the 31st July, to be indorsed as above. (13.) Sheriffs and Magistrates are, before 1st September 1841, to send the original accounts, along with a list of the parishes and places in their jurisdictions from which no returns have been made, to the Home Secretary. An abstract by the Commissioners is to be laid before both houses within 12 months after 1st September, or if Parliament be not sitting, within 14 days of its resumption. (14.) The keeper of every prison, hospital, or charitable institution, as determined on by the Commissioners, is to act as enumerator of his establishment, and conform with the regulations. (15.) The Commissioners are to take the best means for obtaining returns of persons who, on the night in question, are houseless, travelling, or on ship-board. (16.) The Commissioners are to prepare a table of remuneration to enumerators and others employed, which, when approved by the Treasury, is to be laid before both houses, on or before 1st May 1841, or within 14 days from its resumption, as per § 13. (17.) Refers solely to England. (18.) Sheriffs and Magistrates are to allow sheriff and town clerks, for each parish or local return, 1s., and to the "sheriff's officer or town officer who shall distribute the schedule to the schoolmasters and others, for the like," 2s. 6d., and to the enumerators, the allowances in the Commissioners' table. The Sheriff or Magistrate orders payment by the collector of the land-tax. (19.) Every registrar or enumerator wilfully making default, or a false declaration, forfeits a sum not exceeding £5, or less than £2. (20.) Enumerators are authorized to ask all such questions as are directed in the instructions of the Commissioners, with the approval of a Secretary of State; and every person refusing to answer, or wilfully giving a false answer, forfeits a sum not exceeding £5, nor less than £2, at the discretion of the Justice or Magistrate before whom he may be brought. (21.) Forfeitures and penalties, if not immediately paid, are to be levied by distress and sale, and if sufficient distress be not found, the Magistrate is to award imprisonment for four weeks, terminable on payment. Penalties go, one half to the informer, the other half to the land-tax, to be applied to the expenses of the census.

Year.	Counties.	Burghs.	Total.	Year.	Counties.	Burghs.	Total.
1832	33,115	31,332	64,447	1837	45,083	37,708	82,791
1833	34,976	32,750	67,726	1838	46,480	36,381	82,861
1834	36,823	36,162	72,985	1839	47,209	35,312	82,521
1835	41,658	39,667	81,325	1840	48,244	36,477	84,721
1836	43,350	40,905	84,255

Of the 33,115 county electors in 1832, 3211 were on the roll of freeholders; the difference, 29,904 shows the number of county electors called into existence by the statute. The returns of the voters in burghs in 1833 being in some instances defective, the number stated for that year is below the truth.

SECTION II.—ENGLAND.

ENGLAND AND WALES.

EXTENT.—The length of England and Wales, from Portland Bill, Dorsetshire, in lat. 50° 31′ N., to Berwick-on-Tweed, in lat. 55° 46′ N., is 363 miles; the extreme breadth, from the North Foreland, Kent, in long. 1° 26′ E. to the Land's End, Cornwall, in long. 5° 41′ W. is 320 miles. The area of England is 50,387 square miles, or 32,247,680 acres;* that of Wales, 7425 square miles, or 4,752,000 acres; that of England and Wales, 57,812 square miles, or 36,999,680 acres. Of the 52 counties into which they are divided, England contains 40, Wales, 12. It is estimated that the cultivated acres in England are about 25,632,000; the uncultivated, 3,454,000; the unprofitable, 3,256,400; that in Wales the cultivated acres are 3,117,000; the uncultivated, 530,000; the unprofitable, 1,105,000.

POPULATION.—The progress from 1801 to 1831, as ascertained by decennial census, is exhibited in the following Table:—

	1801.	Inc. p.ct.	1811.	Inc. p.ct.	1821.	Inc. p.ct.	1831.
							Males.	Females.	Total.
England	8,331,434	14	9,538,827	18	11,261,437	16	6,376,627	6,714,378	13,091,005
Wales..	541,546	13	611,788	17	717,438	12	394,563	411,619	806,182
Totals	8,872,980	14	10,150,615	18	11,978,875	16	6,771,190	7,125,997	13,897,187

In 1831 the number of inhabited houses in England and Wales was 2,481,544, houses uninhabited, 119,915; and houses building, 24,759. In the same year the number of families in England and Wales was 2,911,874; of which chiefly employed in agriculture, 834,543; in trade, manufactures, and handicraft, 1,227,614; not comprised in these two classes, 849,717; the number of males 20 years of age was 3,394,690.

* It will be observed that the area assigned to the several counties in the Table at p. 245, amounts to no more than 31,770,615 acres; "no attempt," says the editor of the Population Returns, "to reconcile this apparent discrepancy (of one sixty-seventh part) has been deemed allowable."

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON, Founded 1836.

This Institution was erected by letters-patent, of date the 28th Nov. 1836, which confer on it the power of granting degrees in Arts, Law, and Medicine, under regulations to be determined by the University, with the approbation of the Secretary of State. By a second charter, dated 5th Dec. 1837, some of the powers granted in the first were modified, and two new members of Senate were named. The Senate is appointed "for the purpose of ascertaining, by means of examination, the persons who have acquired proficiency in Literature, Science, and Art, and of rewarding them by Academical Degrees, as evidence of their respective attainments, and marks of honour proportioned thereto." The right of nominating the Chancellor and Fellows is reserved in the Crown; the Vice-Chancellor is to be elected annually by the Fellows and Members of the Senate.

PART FOURTH.

Scotland.

EXTENT.

The length of the mainland of Scotland, from the Mull of Galloway, county of Wigtown, in lat. 54° 39′ N. to Dunnet Head, Caithness-shire, in lat. 58° 40′ N. is 278 miles; the breadth, from Buchan-ness, Aberdeenshire, in long. 1° 47′ W. to the most westerly point in Ross-shire, in long. 5° 52′ W. is 150 miles. The area, including the islands, is 32,167 square miles, or 20,586,880 acres; of which it is estimated that 5,485,000 acres are cultivated, 6,062,000 uncultivated, and 9,039,930 unprofitable. The number of counties is thirty-three; the number of parishes in 1831 was 948. The valued rent in 1677 was £3,804,221 scots; the annual value of the lands and houses in 1748 was estimated at £922,857 sterling; in 1815 it was assessed at £6,652,655.

CLIMATE.

The climate of Scotland is in a great measure determined by its position in the northern half of the temperate zone, modified by the waters of the Atlantic. The influence of this immense reservoir of heat and moisture extends throughout the whole land, the distance from sea to sea being nowhere sufficient to destroy its effects. Hence the extremes of heat and cold common to the same latitudes are never felt, the mean annual temperature of the kingdom being about 46½°. At Edinburgh it is 47·8°; winter being 38·6°; spring, 46·4°; summer, 58·2°; and autumn, 48·4°: the mean of the coldest month is 38·3°, of the warmest, 59·4°. At Sumburgh Head, in Shetland, the effect of the sea in mitigating the rigour of the cold in winter and of the summer heat is very perceptible; the mean of the year being 45·5°; of winter, 40°; spring, 43·29°; summer, 50·63°; and of autumn, 47·48°. The change produced by difference of elevation is considerable, the thermometer falling one degree Fahr. for every 70 or 80 yards of ascent. From a series of half-hourly observations made at Leith, it appears that the mean of any two hours of the same name does not vary one degree from the true mean, this being found about 9½ A. M., and 8½ P. M.

The barometer in Scotland has a considerable range, and its changes are often great and sudden. In the south and middle counties it is about 2·8 inches, whilst in the Orkneys it is said to be three inches.

The quantity of rain that falls at any place is much affected, both by its situation in a level or hilly district, and also by its nearness to the east or west coasts. The average of the whole country is calculated at 31 inches, that of the eastern counties being 26½, and of the western 37. At Edinburgh it is 23½, whilst at Glasgow it is 29·65 inches. The western coast, however, differs from the eastern more in the mode of distribution of the rain throughout the year, than even in its quantity; for, whilst the days of rain or snow in the first are 205, and of fair weather 160; in the second the fair days are 230, and the wet 135.

The prevailing winds in Scotland are from the west and south-west. There is little difference in this respect between the opposite sides of the island, the wind on both blowing about 230 days from westerly points, and 135 from easterly.

II. COMMERCE.

FISHERIES.—The Commissioners for the Herring Fishery, in their annual Report for the year ending 5th April 1839, state, that the fishery for that year has been the most abundant of any since the formation of the establishment; the quantity of herrings cured having been 555,559¾ barrels (each of 32 wine or 26⅔ imperial gallons), while 153,659½ barrels were branded, and 239,730½ exported, being an increase over the preceding year of 47,785 barrels in the quantity cured, of 12,107½ in the quantity branded, and of 4572½ in the quantity exported, notwithstanding the great decrease in the quantity exported to the West Indies since the emancipation of the negro population. The cod and ling accounts show that, in the same year, 85,279¾ cwts. were cured dried; 10,051½ barrels cured in pickle; and that 23,936¼ cwts. and 5093 barrels were found entitled to the official Stamp and Brand; while the quantity exported amounted to 26,701¾ cwts., and 150½ barrels. It is likewise shown that 11,357 boats, manned by 50,238 hands, were employed in the shore-curing department of the fishery; and that the total number of persons employed therein was 83,632; being an increase over the preceding year of 78 in the number of boats, but a decrease of 554 in the total number of persons employed. The Commissioners advert to the flourishing condition of the Fishery, evinced by the above statement, and to the increasing demand on the part of the public for herrings officially branded, and more especially to those marked as having been assorted after the Dutch plan: "indeed, they have good reason to know that the character of the Official Brand never stood higher than at present, in the estimation both of merchants and curers."

III. IMPORT DUTIES.

[Par. Paper, Commons, No. 601, Aug. 6, 1840.]

In last Session a valuable Report was presented to the House of Commons by the Select Committee appointed to inquire into the several duties levied on Imports, and how far those duties are for protection to similar articles, the produce or manufacture of this country, or of the British possessions abroad, or whether the duties are for the purposes of revenue alone. The evidence furnished to the Committee, and submitted by them to the House, is of so important a character, that it cannot be attentively examined without producing a strong conviction that great changes are urgently required in our Custom-house legislation.

The tariff of the United Kingdom presents neither congruity nor unity of purpose. The schedule to the Customs Consolidation Act (3d & 4th Wm. IV. c. 56) enumerates no fewer than 1150 different rates chargeable on imported articles, all others paying duty as unenumerated; and very few of such rates appear to have been determined by any recognised standard. There are cases where the duties levied are simple and comprehensive; others, where they fall into details both vexatious and embarrassing. Often the tariff aims at incompatible ends; the duties are sometimes meant to be both productive of revenue and for protective objects, which are frequently inconsistent with each other; hence they sometimes operate to the complete exclusion of foreign produce, and, in so far, no revenue can of course be received; and sometimes, when the duty is inordinately high, the amount of revenue becomes in consequence trifling. They do not make revenue the main consideration, but allow that object to be thwarted by an attempt to protect a great variety of particular interests, at the expense of the commercial intercourse with other countries. Whilst the tariff has been made subordinate to many small producing interests at home, by the sacrifice of revenue, in order to support those interests, the same principle of preference is largely applied, by the various discriminatory duties, to the produce of our Colonies, by which (as in the articles sugar and coffee) exclusive advantages are given to the Colonial interests at the expense of the Mother Country.

It appears from an analysis of the customs revenue for the year ending January 1840, by Mr Porter of the Board of Trade, that 17 articles, each yielding more than £100,000, produced 94½ per cent. of the whole, or £21,700,630 0 0

That 29 articles, each yielding between £10,000 and £100,000, produced 3$\frac{9}{10}$ per cent., or . . . 898,661 0 0

And that these 46 articles produced 98$\frac{2}{5}$ per cent., or . £22,599,291 0 0

That other articles, amounting to 144 in number, produced 1$\frac{3}{5}$ per cent., or 363,319 0 0

Showing that 190 articles, exclusive of about £80,000 collected upon 531 other articles, and excluding 147 articles, upon which an excess of drawback of £5398 was allowed, produced the total revenue of . . £22,962,610 0 0

It is shown that the 17 articles affording the largest amount of customs revenue, are articles of the first importance; namely, sugar, tea, tobacco, spirits, wine, timber, corn, coffee, butter, currants, tallow, seeds, raisins, cheese, cottonwool, sheep's wool, and silk manufactures; and that the interests of the public revenue have been by no means the primary consideration in levying the import duties, inasmuch as competing foreign produce is in some instances excluded and in others checked by high differential duties, levied for the protection of British Colonial interests; and in many cases, such differential duties do not answer the object proposed; for it appears, in the case of foreign clayed sugars, where it was obviously intended they should be excluded from the British market, that the monopoly granted to British Colonial sugars has so enormously raised the prices in our market, that they have lately come into consumption, though charged with a duty of 63s. per cwt., while our plantation sugars pay only 24s.

Another inconvenience which the differential duties create is, that they offer a premium for evading the intention of the legislature: foreign coffees are charged 1s. 3d. per lb.; colonial coffees only 6d.; while coffees imported from the Cape of Good Hope, pay 9d. Now, as the cost of sending, in an indirect way, coffee from foreign countries to the Cape, is only from ½d. to 1d. per lb., very large quantities are shipped from the Brazils and Hayti to the Cape, and thence re-shipped to England: the English consumer thus pays the increased duty, and the difference of freight, and the foreign coffee is not excluded from the British market, though it was obviously the purpose of the law to exclude it.

The effect of prohibitory duties, while they are wholly unproductive to the revenue, is to impose an indirect tax on the consumer, often equal to the whole difference of price between the British article and the excluded foreign article. The enormous extent of taxation so levied cannot fail to awaken the attention of the House. On articles of food alone, it is averred that the amount taken from the consumer exceeds the amount of all the other taxes; while the sacrifices of the community are not confined to the loss of revenue, but are accompanied by injurious effects upon wages and capital; diminishing greatly the productive powers of the country, and limiting our trading relations. The action of high and protective duties is somewhat similar. These impose upon the consumer a tax equal to the amount of the duties levied upon the foreign article, whilst they also increase, in a corresponding degree, the price of all the competing home-produced articles; but that increased price goes, not to the Treasury, but to the protected manufacturer. It is obvious that high protective duties check importation, and consequently are unproductive to the revenue; and experience shows that the benefit to the trader, the consumer, and the public revenue, are all sacrificed, when heavy import duties impede the interchange of commodities with other nations.

The inquiries of the Committee naturally led them to investigate the effects of the protective system on manufacture and labour. They find, on the part of the manufacturers, a growing conviction that the protective system is not, on the whole, beneficial to them. Several witnesses have expressed the utmost willingness to surrender any protection they have from the tariffs, and disclaim any benefit resulting from that protection; and the Committee, in investigating the subject as to the amount of such duties, report that it does not exceed half a million sterling. The prosperity of our own manufactures is not to be traced to benefits derived from the exclusion of foreign rival manufacturers, nor is neither is the competition of continental manufacturers to be traced to a protective system. The most vigorous and successful of the manufactures on the continent have grown, not out of peculiar favour shown to them by legislation, but from those natural and spontaneous advantages which are associated with labour and capital in certain localities, and which cannot be transferred elsewhere at the mandate of the legislature, or at the will of the manufacturer. The most prosperous fabrics are those which flourish without the aid of special favours. It has been stated, that the legislation of Great Britain, wherever it is hostile to the introduction of foreign commodities, is invariably urged by the foreign states that produce such commodities, as a ground and a sanction for laws being passed by them hostile to the introduction of products of British industry; and while, on the one hand, there is reason to believe that the liberalizing of the tariffs of Great Britain would lead to similar favourable changes in the tariffs of other nations, so it is seriously to be apprehended, that a persistence in our illiberal and exclusive policy will bring with it increased imposts on, or not prohibitions against, the products of British labour being admitted to other countries.

With reference to the influence of the protective system upon wages and the condition of the labourer, as the pressure of foreign competition is heavi on those articles in the production of which the rate of wages is lowest, so, it is obvious, in a country exporting so largely as England does, that other advantages may more than compensate for an apparent advantage in the money-price of labour. The countries in which the rate of wages is lowest are not always those which manufacture most successfully; and the Committee are persuaded that the best service that could be rendered to the industrious classes would be to extend the field of labour, and of demand for labour, by an extension of our commerce; and that the supplanting of the present system of protection and prohibition, by a moderate tariff, would encourage and multiply, most beneficially for the state and for the people, our commercial transactions.

The Committee farther recommend, that as speedily as possible the whole system of differential duties and restrictions should be reconsidered, and a change effected in such a manner that existing interests may suffer as little as possible in the transition to a more equitable state of things. They are persuaded that the difficulties of modifying the discriminating duties which favour the introduction of British colonial articles would be very much abated if the colonies were themselves allowed the benefit of free trade with all the world.

The Committee, in conclusion, report their strong conviction of the necessity of an immediate change in the import duties of the kingdom; and, should Parliament sanction the views which they entertain, they are persuaded, that by imposts on a small number of those articles which are now most productive, the amount of each impost being carefully considered with a view to the greatest consumption of the article, and thereby the greatest receipt to the customs, no loss would occur to the revenue, but, on the contrary, a considerable augmentation might be anticipated. This simplification would not only vastly facilitate the transactions of commerce, and thereby benefit the revenue, but would at the same time greatly diminish the cost of collection, remove multitudinous sources of complaint, and give an example to the world at large, which, emanating from a community distinguished above all others for its capital, its enterprise, its intelligence, and the extent of its trading relations, could not but produce the happiest effects; and consolidate the great interests of peace and commerce, by associating them intimately and permanently with the prosperity of the whole family of nations.

IV. BANKS OF ISSUE.

[Par. Paper, Commons, No. 602, Aug. 7, 1840.]

THE Select Committee of the House of Commons appointed last session to inquire into the effects produced on the circulation of the country by the various banking establishments issuing notes payable on demand, have not reported any opinion on the main subject of their inquiry; but they have submitted to the House a valuable body of evidence collected by them in the course of their investigations. They, in the first instance, examined several witnesses, who stated generally the evils which in the last few years had, in their opinion, been caused by the management of the circulation. These witnesses were Mr John Benjamin Smith and Mr Richard Cobden, both of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, and whose opinions are identified with the late Report of that body on the Currency; Mr William Rayner Wood of Manchester; Mr Richard Page, (said to be a writer on currency in the Times newspaper); Mr George Frederick Muntz, M. P. of Birmingham. The Committee then called before them Mr John Horsley Palmer and Mr George Warde Norman, two of the directors of the Bank of England, who gave detailed information as to the management of the affairs of the bank. After which they received the evidence of Mr Samuel Jones Loyd, the eminent London banker, and Mr Thomas Tooke, the well-known author of "Thoughts on High and Low Prices," both gentlemen who were known to have paid particular attention to the management of the Bank of England. The tendency of the evidence of these witnesses is in favour of the principle of subjecting the circulation of paper money to one controlling power;*

* Query 2872.—Do you concur in opinion with those who state that the predominant power of some central issuer, charged with the responsibility of maintaining the convertibility of its notes, is essential to the security and permanent convertibility of the paper currency?—One controlling power, constantly acting upon the paper issues of the country, seems to me to be quite essential; but I do not know that it is absolutely necessary that that controlling power should be vested in one of the issuers. It seems to me that, for the due regulation of the paper issues of the country, it is absolutely necessary that the legislature or the government should take some efficient measure for securing to the public an equal degree of security, as regards each of these paper issues; and, secondly, a regulation of the aggregate amount of those paper issues, in and the method generally suggested for effecting that object is the confining of the issues to one establishment,—either a National or Government Bank of Issue, managed by commissioners, or the Bank of England, after having separated its functions of issue from its functions of banking, or of using and distributing those issues in the conduct of the business of the country. It was the intention of the Committee to have received the evidence of parties acquainted with the management of the Joint Stock and Private Banks of Issue; but owing to the advanced period of the session to which their other labours had carried them they were obliged to postpone this branch of their inquiry.

The Committee mention that their attention had been directed to the principle by which it was stated, in the evidence taken before the Bank Charter Committee in 1832, that the bank was guided in the regulation of its issues. This principle is stated in Mr Horsley Palmer's evidence in the following questions and answers:—

Query 1142. Chairman.—As it was mainly your evidence given before the Bank Charter Committee in 1832 which contained the exposition of the principle by which in ordinary times the bank is guided in the regulation of its issues, will you have the goodness to restate that principle to the Committee?—I will restate it in as nearly the same words as I can. The principle, with reference to the period of a full currency, and consequently par of exchange, by which the bank has been guided in the regulation of its issues, always excepting special circumstances, has been to retain an investment in securities, bearing interest to the extent of two-thirds of their liabilities, the remaining one-third being held in bullion and coin; the reduction of the circulation, so far as may be dependent upon the bank, being subsequently solely affected by the foreign exchanges or by internal extra demand.

Q. 1143. Did you not also state it as desirable, in ordinary circumstances, that the securities should be retained at nearly the same amount?—Yes; the object of retaining a fixed amount of securities by the bank at the period alluded to and continuing it afterwards, so far as may be practicable, is to throw the action of the increase or decrease in the circulation upon the public, with reference to the state of the foreign exchanges, in the import or export of bullion.

Q. 1144. Are the answers which you have now given a fair exposition of the principles upon which the conduct of the bank has been regulated since the period of the renewal of its charter?—I should say certainly, always taking into consideration the extraordinary circumstances that have intervened.

The two directors, Mr Palmer and Mr Norman, admit that in several instances accordance with the fluctuations of the bullion; those points seem to me essential to the good management of the paper circulation. Whether those two points can be secured, consistently with a perfectly free action in all other respects between the various issuers in the country, giving no preference to one over the other, but leaving them to act with perfect freedom of competition, subject only to the general restraint requisite for the protection of public interests, is a question of great importance. I am not myself prepared with any plan which shall accomplish those requisites, but certainly have never seen any reason for thinking that that was impracticable. My own impression is, that if these objects were once recognised as objects which the public interest require, a plan to accomplish them may probably be devised.

Q. 2880.—If any such extensive change, as limiting the issues to one body only, were not carried into effect, what immediate modifications of the present system suggest themselves to you which would materially improve the present system of issues?—One may suggest an endless variety of measures, approaching more or less towards the application of a sound principle; the simplest and easiest step that you could take would be to require a monthly publication of the actual amount of their issues, both from the Bank of England, and from other issuers, and at the same time to require, what I think would be very useful, an annual or half-yearly report from the Bank of England to be laid before the Chancellor of the Exchequer, for the purpose of being submitted to Parliament, of the state in which the Bank then stands with regard to the circulation, and the nature of the measures which it has pursued since the preceding report.

Q. 2881.—If the country banks were left still banks of issue, do you think that it would be desirable that they should render public, not only the amount of their notes in circulation, but make the same returns as the Bank of England is required to make, namely, of the notes in circulation, deposits, securities, and bullion?—I am always disposed to look at the circulation as quite separate and distinct from banking business, and I should therefore, I think, be inclined to require only a statement of the amount of issues; and if I thought that bullion or coin were held by the country issuers to any extent, for the purpose of influencing the circulation, I should be inclined to require that; but I think that would be a nominal more than a positive return: I do not see the necessity of requiring the amount of deposits, or other heads, which belong to banking business.—(Evidence of Mr Samuel Jones Loyd.) since 1832 this rule has not been adhered to; and doubts have been expressed as to the soundness of its principle as applicable to the Bank of England, from its mixing up deposits and circulation; but as the directors conceive that this rule has received some sort of legislative sanction, they feel bound to adhere to it as nearly as circumstances will permit. The Committee, however, are clearly of opinion, that such an impression on the part of the directors ought not to prevent them from adopting any other principle of management which, upon mature consideration and experience, they may consider to be better adapted for the primary object of preserving, under all circumstances, the convertibility of their notes.

To the Report are appended weekly statements of the assets and liabilities of the Bank of England and Bank of Ireland from 1832 to 1840. Very full accounts are likewise given of the circulation of the other banks of issue in England and Ireland and of the Scottish banks. The following table is abridged from these accounts:—

V. HEALTH OF TOWNS.

[Par. Paper, Commons, No. 384, June 17, 1840.]

THE Select Committee of the House of Commons appointed to inquire into the circumstances affecting the health of the inhabitants of populous districts, after having carefully examined the matters submitted to them, and received the evidence of Dr Thomas Southwood Smith, Dr Neil Arnott, and a number of other parties, who officially, professionally, or otherwise, had possessed opportunities of judging of the condition of the people, and especially of the poorer classes,—report that sanatory regulations in many of the principal towns of the kingdom are most imperfect and neglected, and that hence result great evils, suffering, and expense to large bodies of the community. Before entering, however, into the subject of their inquiries, they direct the attention of the House to the great increase which has taken place of late years in the numbers of the town population. Thus, while the increase of population in England from 1801 to 1831 has been something more than 47 per cent., the augmentation of numbers in the great cities has been much more rapid, and in five of the most important provincial towns has very nearly doubled that rate; being in Manchester, 109 per cent.; Glasgow, 108; Birmingham, 73; Leeds, 99; and Liverpool, 100 per cent. It is also shown that the proportion of the humbler classes occupied as manufacturers or workmen, and living in towns, is, as compared with the labourers in rural districts, completely changed; that, in 1790, the latter class was to the former nearly as 2 to 1; and now the town workmen and manufacturers, instead of being one-half, are about double the number of rural labourers. It must be evident, that owing to this rapid increase in the population of great towns, the proportion of the humbler classes, of those with little leisure for education or improvement, will be augmented as the more wealthy and educated gradually withdraw themselves from these close and crowded communities, which thus more and more stand in need of some superintending paternal care.

The proportion of the people entirely occupied in labour is stated to be very different in different places; and considerable variations in the average state of the dwellings of the working classes, as might be expected, exist in different districts, arising sometimes from local causes,—as the nature of the soil or situation, or the vicinity of a stream, and in others from the custom of the place, the nature of the occupations of the people, efficient or neglected municipal regulations,—but the Committee believe that such a general resemblance will be found in towns similarly situated, that the same suggestions which would be applicable to one, might, with some variation, be beneficially extended to all.

The mortality and diseases of cities, and of different parts of the same city, vary greatly; and it is found, especially in London, from "a comparison of the several districts, that, cæteris paribus, the mortality increases as the density of the population increases, and where the density and the population are the same, that the rate of mortality depends upon the efficiency of the ventilation, and of the means which are employed for the removal of impurities."*

* "The records of the London Fever Hospital prove indubitably that there are certain localities in the metropolis and its vicinity which are the constant seats of fever, from which this disease is never absent, though it may prevail less extensively and be less severe in some years, and even in some seasons of the same year, than in others." This "is so clearly the case, that if you were to take a map, and mark out the districts which are the constant seats of fever in London, as ascertained by the records of the Fever Hospital, and, at the same time, compare it with a map of the sewers of the

The Committee then give an abstract of the principal points in the evidence ubmitted to them, dwelling particularly on the physical causes of fever, "one the most painful maladies," says Dr Southwood Smith, "to which the man being is subject," and than which "there is no disease which brings so uch affliction on a poor man's family." On this subject the evidence contains atements of the most melancholy and appalling nature. It is shown that werage, draining, and cleansing are greatly neglected in many places inhabited dense masses of the working classes; that these classes frequently inhabit mp cellars, and miserable houses built in narrow alleys or close unventilated urts, often with no thorough draught of air, and without any conveniences r cleanliness or decency; that in consequence, fevers, and other disorders of a tal and contagious nature, prevail to a very alarming extent, causing wide-read misery among the families of the sufferers, often entailing weakness and ostration of strength on the survivors, and becoming the source of great essure upon the more opulent classes, and upon the parishes. "That essure," Dr Southwood Smith states, "must continue, and the same large ms of money must be expended, year after year, for the support of families licted with fever, as long as these dreadful sources of fever which encompass habitations of the poor are allowed to remain. They would not, they uld not be allowed to remain if their nature were really understood, and if e ease with which the most urgent of them might be removed were known." Southwood Smith's evidence is corroborated by that of Dr Arnott, and by e Report of the Poor Law Commissioners, which states, "We have no doubt at, by proper sanatory police regulations, such as a board of health might cide upon, the typhoid fevers of London, and other places, might be made to sappear; and we think the remedial measures would cost less than it now sts to parishes and public charities to take care of the sick, and to provide the helpless orphans and widows of those who die."

Much of the evidence relates to the pauperizing influence of fever in the stern districts of London. Dr Southwood Smith states, that "it is utterly possible for any description to convey to the mind an adequate conception of filthy and poisonous condition in which large portions of all these districts nstantly remain;" and Returns made by him respecting the condition of enty Metropolitan Unions in these districts during the year 1838, "show t while one-fifth of the whole pauper population in the year in question was acked with fever, in Bethnal-Green the proportion was one-third, in White-apel it was nearly one-half, and in St-George-the-Martyr it was 1276 out of 7."

The same causes appear to produce the same effects in a greater or less degree all our large towns. Evidence of this is adduced in the case of Manchester, ere nearly 15,000 persons live in cellars; also in Liverpool, where upwards 39,000 persons live in dwellings of the same kind, the great proportion of ich are dark, damp, confined, ill ventilated, and dirty; in addition to which, out 86,000 of the working-classes live in rows of small houses in courts, chiefly uilt up at the sides and end, and having only one entrance, frequently under narrow archway; the rows of houses being also placed back to back, so as exclude the possibility of thorough ventilation. Independent of this faulty nstruction, the state of most of these courts is almost utterly neglected, with underground sewers, no attention to cleansing, no inspection, and the surface-tters frequently almost choked with filth. The great mortality of Liverpool then noticed, particularly from the prevalence of fever in these districts. ter which, the report bears:—"Your committee would pause, from the sad tements they have been obliged to make, to observe, that it is painful to ntemplate, in the midst of what appears an opulent, spirited, and flourishing mmunity, such a vast multitude of our poorer fellow-subjects, the instruments whose hands these riches were created, condemned, for no fault of their own, the evils so justly complained of, and placed in situations where it is almost practicable for them to preserve health or decency of deportment, or to keep mselves and their children from moral and physical contamination; to re-ire them to be clean, sober, cheerful, contented, under such circumstances, uld be a vain and unreasonable expectation."*

ropolis, you would be able to mark out invariably, and with absolute certainty, ere the sewers are, and where they are not, by observing where fever exists; so that can always tell where the Commissioners of Sewers have not been at work by the ct of fever." (Evidence of Dr Thomas Southwood Smith, Q. 8, p. 1.)

* The number of reckless and worthless characters in Liverpool is so considerable

With regard to Glasgow, the details are of the most melancholy and afflicting nature: Mr Jelinger C. Symons, one of the Assistant Hand-loom Weaver Commissioners, states, "that penury, dirt, misery, drunkenness, disease, and crime, culminate in Glasgow to a pitch unparalleled in Great Britain." And in another place, "I did not believe, until I visited the wynds of Glasgow, that so large an amount of filth, crime, misery, and disease, existed in one spot in any civilized country." Mr Symons was accompanied by the magistrates and the heads of the police, and describes the want of ventilation, sewerage, cleansing, and attention to the health of the poor in the lower parts of the town, as most grievous in its effects. The result is thus summed up:—"Such being the state of things in large districts of Glasgow, it is not surprising that the number of persons who died last year was 10,270, being at the rate of one in $24\frac{8}{10}$ to the whole population, or that out of that number 2180 died of typhus fever, which never leaves Glasgow." These melancholy details, which can scarcely be read without shuddering, are amply confirmed by Dr Cowan, who states, that the rate of mortality in Glasgow has increased most rapidly, and is thus given in round numbers: 1821, 1 in 39; 1831, 1 in 30; 1835, 1 in 29; 1838, 1 in 26;—thus showing the frightful increase from 1 in 39 to 1 in 26, in 17 years. It is also shown that the mortality in children under 10 years of age has risen from 1 in 75, in 1821, to 1 in 48, in 1839. "Fever," it is stated, "has been gradually increasing in Glasgow, and its victims constitute about 55 out of every 100 patients treated in our hospitals." "This increase has been during a period of great prosperity." Dr Cowan adds, "the mortality bill of 1837 exhibits a rate of mortality inferring an intensity of misery and suffering unequalled in Britain and not surpassed in any town we are acquainted with on the continent of Europe." Remedial measures are suggested by Dr Cowan in the following words:—"A few thousand pounds judiciously expended in opening up the districts most densely populated, and in other obvious ways, would greatly tend to alleviate the pressure of our heaviest municipal tax, the fever tax."

Besides the evils which appear to arise from the want of any regulations as to buildings and ventilation, and the deficiency in sewerage, cleansing, and other sanatory provisions, there appears to be some important improvement necessary referable to especial sources of illness in certain districts,—as the existence of burial-places in the midst of populous neighbourhoods,—local nuisances from some noxious business,—the dangerous state of low lodging-houses frequented by a wretched and migratory population, who often carry fever and other disorders into distant districts.

Independent of the physical evils arising from the causes adverted to, the committee are strongly of opinion that the discomfort of the habitations of the poor people in these great towns has a most pernicious effect on their moral feelings, induces habits of recklessness, and disregard of cleanliness, and all proper pride in personal appearance, and thereby takes away a strong and useful stimulus to industry and exertion. The gloomy and uncomfortable home leads also to dram-drinking,* and to quarrels between husband and wife; and their children are brought up amidst dirt and wretchedness, with the example of constant domestic disputes before them,—circumstances which counteract, in a great measure, those moral and religious impressions which they might otherwise receive from education where it is afforded to them.

The cost to the country arising from these combined causes must be enormous. It is estimated that every person in the Fever Hospital in Glasgow (12,895 in seven years) loses six weeks' employment, which, estimated at 7s. 6d. per week, would amount to £29,014 lost to the community, besides the cost of attendance and support. This has been calculated, where the patient recovers, at £1 per case, and adds £12,895 to the amount of loss; chiefly owing to the want of proper sanatory regulations. And it may be observed generally, that in proportion as the physical and moral condition of the working classes is injuriously affected as 1 in 45 of the whole population. The cost of these living on the public, and other than honest means, is calculated annually at no less than £700,000.—Report of Commissioners on Constabulary Force, 1838, p. 18.

* In the Official Circular issued by the Poor Law Commissioners on 9th March 1840, it is stated, p. 11, that nearly 24 millions (about four times the amount expended in poor-rates) is annually spent in ardent spirits, chiefly consumed by the labouring classes; and by a calculation made by Mr J. C. Symons, one of the witnesses before the Committee, it appears that the quantity of spirits consumed in England is 7½ pints per head; in Ireland, rather more than 15 pints; and in Scotland, 23 pints per head per annum.

by the causes alluded to, just in that proportion will their value to the community be diminished, and their cost to the kingdom increased. The property which the country has in their useful labours will be so far lessened, and the unproductive outlay necessary to maintain and restrain them so far augmented.

The remedies proposed are, general acts to facilitate regulations in building, sewerage, and local improvements, applicable to populous districts; also the establishment of boards of health and local inspectors. If such legislative enactments were passed, and if boards of health and district inspectors were appointed, there can be little doubt that the following subjects would soon attract attention, and if legislative aid were wanted, it would be promptly afforded:—1st, The custom of continuing burying-grounds, crowded with constant additions of corpses, in the midst of populous cities.* 2d, The importance of an ample and due supply of water within the reach and means of the humbler classes. 3d, Provisions to ensure some open spaces being preserved in the vicinities of crowded cities, calculated for public walks, essential to the health and comfort of the poorer classes. 4th, Some inspection and power of regulation of the humbler class of lodging-houses. 5th, Wherever local circumstances give the power, the establishment of public bathing-places for the use of the poorer classes.

As the unhealthiness of particular groups of buildings, and sometimes of a whole district, arises from the want of some local improvement, in the removal of some obstruction to ventilation or drainage, which cannot be effected at present without, in each spot, there be a special Act of Parliament for the purpose, the committee also recommend the introduction of a general Act (extending to all towns above a certain population) to facilitate such improvements.

The Committee, in concluding their Report, most earnestly recommend all those who by fortune, station, or trust, are placed in a position to assist in carrying out these views, to exert themselves to the utmost, and without delay, in aiding the improvements suggested in their several towns and neighbourhoods; and whilst earnestly desirous that legislative aid should be given, they suggest, that with zeal, energy, and perseverance, much might be done, even with the present imperfect powers, by individual and combined exertion, to lay the foundation of measures which would afterwards be extended and perfected to the permanent benefit of the community.

Irrigated Meadows in the Vicinity of Edinburgh.—The practice of spreading the water from the common sewers of the city over the low land in the neighbourhood, by the system of rose-draining, is not noticed in the Report, but it was the principal subject-matter of the evidence furnished by three witnesses, namely, Dr James Simpson; Mr J. R. Stodart, W.S., the Town-Treasurer; and Mr Miller, the proprietor of the irrigated grounds lying between Restalrig and the sea. Dr Simpson states, that the use of water from the common sewers, for the purpose of irrigation so near to the city, has been a very great cause of complaint, and that the majority of the medical profession are of opinion that the use of the foul water is injurious to the health of the inhabitants. "Some of the strongest men in the precincts complain of sickness and vertigo being ill when they are subjected to the nuisance." "I have one patient who was carried into an adjoining house, where it crosses, fainting, and who did faint." I thought the best test of the salubrity or insalubrity of this irrigated land, was to ascertain the state of health of the troops at Piershill, the cavalry barracks of Edinburgh, and the result was, I took Mr Tullogbi's Report of the sickness and mortality in all the cavalry stations for seven years, published lately, and took the mortality and sickness at Piershill, as I found it in the Adjutant-General's Office, for seven years; and I found that the admissions of the cavalry soldiers connected with these barracks, as compared with the soldiers in barracks throughout the kingdom, was greater in the proportion of 10 per cent. I infer that it was from that cause, because I could find no other." "Lately, about seven years ago, the Lord Advocate asked the opinions of the surgeons and physicians of the Queen for Scotland, with reference to the health of Holyrood, in consequence of this practice, and they gave it as their opinion, that it would not be a fit habitation for her Majesty on that ground." Dr Simpson farther states, that the system of irrigation complained of has been greatly extended of late years, in consequence of its increasing, almost to an incredible degree, the value of the land.—(Minutes of Evidence, pp. 119, 120.) Dr Simpson's evidence is generally corroborated by that of Mr Stodart.—(Ibid. pp. 120, 121.) Mr Miller, however, states, that although there was a considerable increase in the extent of irrigated meadows about eighteen or twenty years ago along the seashore, and at the distance of several miles from the city, there has, he thinks, been no increase between Restalrig and the city, nor in any situation within a mile and a half or two miles of the city. "I think I heard that Lord Moray's tenant had levelled an old sand-pit adjoining his meadows, and added it to them; but on the other hand, a piece was taken off those meadows about twenty years ago for a public road." "A very considerable portion, including all or most of that part nearest to the city, has been under irrigation quite beyond all memory." Again, on being asked if any portion had been irrigated for the first time within the last ten or fifteen years, Mr Miller states, "Within the last ten years certainly there has been no increase whatever of the meadows to the east of the city; within the last fifteen or sixteen, I think there has not been any increase. About twelve years ago, there were several fields added to the meadows, but a part of the old meadow was ploughed up, and has not been since irrigated."—"To the best of my knowledge, the whole of the irrigated meadows to the east of the city are considerably under 200 Scotch acres; they may a little exceed 200 Imperial acres; and of that quantity, perhaps forty or fifty acres may belong to different proprietors within two miles of the city, and the remaining portion, all of which is about two miles from the city, or from that to three miles, belongs to myself." As to the meadows to the west of Edinburgh, "They are of nothing like equal extent. I have very little acquaintance with them, but I believe there are only about fifty acres." Mr Miller further states, that though he has a residence within fifty yards of the main stream, and of a portion of the irrigated meadow, he has not experienced the slightest inconvenience from the alleged nuisance; "my family and servants have found it perfectly healthy at all times."—"Seventeen years ago, before repairing the house to make it fit for an occasional residence, I remember asking the late Dr Hamilton, senior, whether it was not possible, notwithstanding the general healthiness of the neighbourhood, that it might be unadvisable to live so very close to this stream, nearer in fact than almost any other house; he said that it was quite impossible that there should be the slightest injury to health from this cause." Mr Miller admits that he has sometimes perceived an unpleasant smell from the stream; but this has been chiefly in consequence of the very improper admission of gas water into it; there is very little smell of any other kind. He does not believe that there were any cases of cholera in Restalrig and its neighbourhood; or that fever has prevailed more in Edinburgh than in many other places; "never to any thing like the extent it has in Glasgow, where there are no irrigated meadows." Regarding the barracks at Piershill, he states, "I have made no investigation on this head myself, but am informed by a gentleman who has, that the barracks at Piershill are more healthy than any in Scotland, those in Edinburgh Castle excepted, and that the average cases of sickness and mortality in the cavalry barracks at Glasgow and Hamilton are 25 per cent. more than at Piershill."—(Ibid. pp. 181, 182.)

VI. SUPREME COURT OF JUDICATURE.

[Par. Paper, Commons, No. 332, May 28, 1840.]

THE Report of the Select Committee appointed to inquire into the Administration of the Law, with a view to ascertain whether the number of Judges may not be diminished, sets out by calling the consideration of the House to the constitution of the Court of Session, and the duties devolving upon the judges whether as members of that court or under separate commissions. The Court of Session, it is explained, consists of thirteen judges. The Lord President and the senior judges form the First Division of the court; the Lord Justice-Clerk and three senior judges form the Second Division of the court: these two divisions are termed the Inner House. The remaining five judges officiate in what is called the Outer House as Lords Ordinary, each sitting singly; the last appointed being more particularly occupied during the period of session in the "Bill-Chamber" or in those proceedings of the nature of injunction or stay of process, which require the more summary interposition of the court. The great majority of cases are brought in the first instance before one or other of the Lords Ordinary, the record is made up under his superintendence, and the case prepared for decision. It is then argued before him, and, in general, decided by him. From his judgment there lies an appeal to one or other of the divisions of the Inner House, whose decision is final, subject only to appeal to the House of Lords. There is no appeal from one division to the other, nor from one division to the whole court. But either division may require the opinion of the other judges; in which case, judgment is given according to the opinion of the majority of the whole court. The plaintiff or pursuer has it in his power to select, not only the Lord Ordinary before whom the cause shall in the first instance proceed, but also the division by which his judgment, if appealed from, shall be reviewed. The two divisions of the court are thus in all respects of equal and co-ordinate jurisdiction. The same (except as to a few cases) may be said of the Lords Ordinary, each having in himself the full jurisdiction of the Court of Session, and his judgment, if not brought under review of the Inner House, becoming the judgment of the Court, not subject to appeal even to the House of Lords, which is only permitted when judgment has been given by the court in one of its Inner Chambers. The court thus constituted has, in virtue either of original or appellate jurisdiction, cognizance of all civil matters, with the exception of those only which are reserved for the Small Debt Courts, and of the revenue cases, which are reserved for Exchequer. Its jurisdiction is exclusive as regards all questions of real property, and as to all other questions is subject only to this limitation, that no case under £25 value can be brought before it originally.

Recent statutes, by abolishing the Courts of Admiralty and the Consistory Courts, have thrown into the Court of Session the whole business which came before those courts respectively; besides which, the judicial business of the Court of Exchequer is now discharged by two judges of the Court of Session, sitting as Barons of Exchequer; while the supreme criminal jurisdiction devolves upon the Lord President as Lord Justice-General, the Lord Justice-Clerk, and five judges of the Court of Session in the Court of Justiciary. This court sits as occasion requires in Edinburgh, embracing there the criminal business of the three Lothians, with such other cases as from their importance are brought to Edinburgh for trial;—and in each year, during the vacations of the Court of Session, there are three spring circuits and three autumn circuits, with an additional winter circuit for Glasgow. The business of Exchequer, and, during vacation, that of the Bill-Chamber, which require constant attendance, are discharged in rotation by those judges who are not included in the Commission of the Court of Justiciary. Nor in this enumeration of the duties of the Supreme Judges must the business of the Teind Court (which relates to the stipends to the clergy) be overlooked, nor the still more important duty of presiding in the trial of civil cases by jury, where that course of procedure is resorted to.

The Committee next advert to the important change which was introduced into the proceedings of the Court of Session in 1825 by the "Scotch Judicature Act." One important object of that statute was to introduce such a change in the form of pleading as should clearly distinguish the parties' averments in point of fact from what they maintained in law, binding them down to a statement of facts which they should not be at liberty afterwards to withdraw or vary. Another was to substitute, as far as possible, viva voce argument for the written pleading which then almost universally prevailed. To these a provision was added, that the powers of the Ordinary and of the Court should be respectively exhausted by a single judgment. The operation of the new system is considered,—1*st*, As it affects the proceedings before the Lords Ordinary; and 2*d*, As it affects those before the Inner House.

1*st*, In reference to the Outer House, where cases amounting on an average between a half and two-fifths receive their final decision, it would appear that complaints exist as to certain parts of the procedure before the Lords Ordinary in preparing the record. This matter was brought before the Committee in so far only as it affected the time and labour necessarily bestowed by the Judge; and while they see no reason to withdraw the preparation of the case from his superintendence, they have no doubt that the system might, in many respects, be improved. The Committee do not suggest any particular alterations,—the improvement generally of the form of process not being before them; but they think that many of the evils for which a remedy is most required have arisen from this, that the form of process introduced in 1825 was not equally well adapted to all subjects of litigation on the one hand, and that the court, on the other, was so tied down by the statute as to prevent them from introducing by Acts of Sederunt such modifications as would be necessary in several important classes of cases. They are therefore of opinion that it would be proper to enlarge the power of the court in this respect, under condition, however, that no such Acts of Sederunt should come into operation till a certain time after they had been submitted to both Houses of Parliament. But leaving out of view at present any change in the mode of pleading, the Committee state, that with regard to the manner in which causes are heard and decided in the Outer House, the system has given general satisfaction to suitors, to the different departments of the legal profession, and to the public, and has gained entirely the confidence of the country; and this satisfaction appears to date from the commencement of the new system.

2*d*, The Committee are of opinion, however, that the system introduced in 182 has not been fully carried out in the proceedings of the Inner House, particularly as regards vivâ voce discussion. This, they allege, is shown by the circumstance that while a majority of the causes are now disposed of without that written argument which formerly in all cases was submitted to the court, it does not appear, as might naturally have been expected, that the time judicially occupied by the Inner Houses has increased. But they reprobate the opinion which has thence arisen in some quarters, that the number of judges in the Court of Session is too great for the business it has to discharge. Nothing, it is stated, can be more erroneous than to take the time publicly occupied by the judges in court as the criterion of their judicial labour. Under the former system, the judges had the written arguments of parties before them, and their views fully developed. From the perusal at home, therefore, of a cause so thoroughly prepared, a matured opinion was formed; and any argument at the bar was in a great measure superseded. Under the present system, where Cases are ordered, the result must be in a considerable degree the same. Even when there is nothing but the record and the note of the Lord Ordinary explanatory of the ground of his judgment, the judges still continue the same anxious study at home, "ferreting out" the arguments and authorities, and canvassing them only the more laboriously that they have not, as formerly, the assistance of the parties' written pleading. Although the quantity, therefore, of papers now submitted to the perusal of the judge, by the abolition, in a great measure, of written argument is much less, the difficulty of acquiring that mature knowledge of the cases which the former mode of discussion was calculated to ensure, is rather increased than diminished.

In considering the question of reduction, the Committee see no grounds on which to say that one division of the Inner House would be sufficient to discharge the whole civil business of the country, as this point must be viewed not with reference merely to the business of the Court of Session, or to the possible extension of its sittings, but likewise with reference to the judges who are occupied in the Court of Justiciary, both in Edinburgh and on the circuit; while the business of the Bill-Chamber, and occasional duties of the Exchequer must also be taken into account. The Committee are likewise of opinion that no alteration should be made in the number of judges of which a division consists. They agree in the opinion expressed by most of the witnesses, that three would be a disadvantageous number, from its not affording an authoritative majority, and that the existing number of four should be continued for the same reasons which have led to its being preferred in some of the courts in England. A reduction in the number of the Lords Ordinary is also deemed at present impossible, as it would appear from the evidence that the number of five judges is not more than sufficient for the discharge of the duties incumbent upon this part of the court. Upon the principal question therefore submitted to the Committee they report to the House that they are not prepared, under existing circumstances, to recommend any reduction in the number of judges. That opinion the Committee entertain at present, and with reference to the improvement which they trust will be effected by carrying still further the system of viva voce pleading.

The Committee, in concluding their Report, again advert to what they deem the inadequate and unsatisfactory discussion in the Inner House. They wish to be distinctly understood, however, that they do not refer this to any interference on the part of the judges of the Court of Session about the scrupulous discharge of their duties, as they see no ground to justify even the slightest imputation that these judges do not give the most conscientious consideration to the cases they are called on to decide. They ascribe it in a great measure to habits acquired, and to the practice established under the former system, which, as in all other cases of change, it may require some time to efface. They see no ground on which it could be maintained, that under any other system even that which they are inclined to recommend, the actual decision would be generally different from that pronounced under the present system; hey think that the result, as regards the confidence of the suitors, of the gal profession, and of the public, would be very different if there were a fuller va voce discussion. It is not alone necessary, they remark, that the decision ould be just in itself, but it is highly important that it should be felt that every ing which the professional advisers had to urge was fully heard. It is only by full viva voce discussion in court that the suitors can know that all the judges ave heard with attention, and given their own minds individually to the case. is after that form of discussion, carrying with it such advantages, that the dges' private consideration of the case becomes most useful. And, lastly, othing but a full statement in public of the grounds upon which the judgment sts, can show that no important view of the case has been overlooked by e court, or can secure that important object in judicial decision, namely, "to t down in the party the conceit of his cause," while it raises his opinion of the tience and solicitude of the judges. These advantages, the Committee think, ve not been attained to the extent that was looked for. They think dissatis-ction has been the consequence. It appears, too, that it has produced indirectly ry undesirable results, by influencing in some degree the form of making up e records, and introducing a form of statement different from that which was tended; because parties, while they were naturally anxious to have the case lly before the court, were at the same time distrustful of obtaining that object the Inner House by a full statement at the bar, and prepared their pleadings cordingly. An opinion is expressed in evidence that the hearing of causes has come more full and satisfactory than it had before been. Should this improve-ent progressively advance, the Committee cannot withhold the expression of eir hope that all just ground of complaint will be removed.

LIST OF THE PEERAGE OF SCOTLAND,

AS IT STOOD ON THE 1ST MAY 1707; ORDERED TO BE LAID BEFORE THE HOUSE OF LORDS 22D DECEMBER 1707.

[By this document, commonly called The Union Roll, it is understood that the order of precedence among the Peers of Scotland is regulated; and, with certain amendments, it is that called at all elections of their representatives, though it cannot be looked on as a complete list, such as should exclude claims to Peerages not entered in it.

It contained 154 Peers; namely, 10 Dukes, 3 Marquesses, 75 Earls, 17 Viscounts, and 49 Barons; and there have been subsequently enrolled 7 Peers; namely, 1 Duke, 2 Marquesses, and 4 Barons. These are distinguished by the letters ad. and a date (that of their enrolment) placed after their names. The dates of the creations have been prefixed; Peerages which are attainted, extinct, or dormant, are printed in italics; the date of the attainder, extinction, or abeyance, being added; and an asterisk has been placed after the names of those who are likewise Peers of England, Great Britain, or the United Kingdom.]

SECT. IV.—EDUCATIONAL AND LITERARY ESTABLISHMENTS.

UNIVERSITY OF ST ANDREWS.

THIS University was founded in May 1410 by Henry Wardlaw, bishop of the diocese, and confirmed by a Papal Bull, dated in 1411. The College of Saint Salvator was erected by Bishop Kennedy in 1456: that of Saint Leonard in 1512; and that of Saint Mary in 1537. In 1747, the Colleges of Saint Salvator and Saint Leonard were united by parliamentary statute.

The ordinary affairs of the University are administered by the Senatus Academicus, which consists of the Rector, two Principals, the Professors in St Mary's College, and the Professors of Humanity, Greek, Logic, Moral Philosophy, Natural Philosophy, Mathematics, Civil History, Medicine, in the United College. The Chancellor is appointed by the Senatus Academicus. The Rector is chosen annually by the Professors and Students Cives, whose choice is limited to the Professors of Divinity and Ecclesiastical History, and to the Principal of the United College.

In the United College the session begins on the Thursday previous to the "Bursar Trial" (which takes place on the first Tuesday of November), and closes on the last Friday of April: In St Mary's College, it commences about the end of November, and terminates in the beginning of April. The students of both colleges are required to attend divine worship every Sunday; and the students of St Mary's assemble every morning for prayers in the public hall.

In the United College there are twenty-two foundations for bursaries; their benefit is extended to seventy-five students; their aggregate value is about £900 a-year. There are fourteen of £20 each; four of £15; two of £14; about forty of £10; ten between £10 and £5; and one of £5. Of these bursaries twenty-one are given by general competition; eight bursaries are given by competition at the Madras School; seven are given by the University and the United College; and the rest by private Patrons. Sir Alexander Ramsay, Bart., is the Patron of the thirteen Ramsay bursaries, value £20 each, left for the benefit of young men of the names of Ramsay, Durham, Carnegie, and Lindsay. In St Mary's College there are seven foundations for bursaries; their benefit is extended to seventeen individuals; their aggregate annual value is about £200. There is one of £18; there are two of £15; ten between £15 and £10; three of £10; one of £7. The fees hitherto exacted for the degrees of A.B. and A.M. have been abolished.

MARISCHAL COLLEGE & UNIVERSITY OF ABERDEEN.

This University was founded by George, fifth Earl Marischal, by a charter dated 2d April 1593, and, in the same month, it received the sanction of the General Assemby, and in July was ratified by Parliament. The members appointed by the deed of foundation were, a Principal teaching classes, three Regents or Professors (to whom a fourth was soon afterwards added), six Bursars, and an Œconomus or manager of the public table; besides the higher officers of Chancellor, Rector, and Dean of Faculty, for regulating and controlling the property, discipline, and studies of the Seminary. By subsequent endowments the number of professorships has been increased to thirteen.

The session in the curriculum of Arts commences with an open competition for Bursaries on the last Monday of October, and ends on the first Friday of April. The average age at which students enter the College is fourteen. Previously to being enrolled as members of a class, those who intend to qualify for a degree must undergo an entrance-examination; daily examinations take place in all the classes; and towards the end of the Session each class is submitted to a public examination in the common hall. Candidates for the degree of A.M. are examined on all the branches of the curriculum, including the Evidences of Christianity, instructions in which are given to students of the third and fourth years. A weekly lecture on Practical Religion has been endowed since 1825. The fees for the complete course of four years' instruction in the Faculty of Arts do not exceed £23.

The Divinity Session extends from Christmas to the first Friday of April; the Session for Scots Law, from the first Monday of November to the first Friday of April; the Medical Session, from the first Monday of November to the third Friday of April; and courses of Botany and Conveyancing are given in summer.

The number of foundations for Bursaries is forty-five; the number of Bursaries 115; and their aggregate value about £1200 annually. There are two of the yearly value of £30; four of £26, 5s.; eight of £25; two between £20 and £15; two of £15; fourteen between £15 and £10; twenty-three of £10; forty between £10 and £5; twelve of £5; and eight under £5. About sixty-seven of these are open to public competition; of the rest the patronage is vested in societies and private individuals; the two of £30 are awarded by comparative trial for excellence in Mathematics to students who have studied that science for two sessions.

The number of graduates in arts in 1838 was 22; in 1839, 18; in 1840, 20.

SECT. III.—EDUCATIONAL ESTABLISHMENTS.

HIGH SCHOOL OF EDINBURGH.

A Grammar School, of Royal institution, existed in Edinburgh as early at least as 1519. But being on a limited scale, it was found inadequate for its purpose; and in 1578, by the enlightened zeal of the Clergy and Town Council, the HIGH SCHOOL was established on a more extended plan, bearing the name of Schola Regia Edinensis. The course of study has been extended and improved from time to time, so as to meet the intellectual demands of the country. Although essentially a classical seminary, it furnishes instruction in the various branches of a liberal education. The curriculum of study (which occupies six or seven years, the average age of entry being about nine) embraces the Latin, Greek, and French languages; English Grammar and Composition, History, Geography, and the Elements of General Knowledge; Writing, Arithmetic, and Mathematics.

An annual public examination takes place on the first Friday of August, in the presence of the Magistrates and Town Council, who are the patrons of the school, of the Clergy of the city, the Professors of the University, and other learned individuals. Prizes, consisting of gold and silver medals, and books, are then awarded for general scholarship and particular merits. The holidays extend from the examination to the 1st of October, when the school reassembles, and when the Rudiment or junior Latin class is formed for the year.

The educational establishment consists of a Rector and four Classical Masters; a teacher of French; a teacher of Arithmetic and Mathematics, and a teacher of Writing, with assistants. The quarterly fees are, in the Rector's class, £1; including Greek, £1, 5s.; in the four junior classes, £1; French, 10s. 6d.; Arithmetic, 7s. 6d.; Mathematics, 10s. 6d.; Writing, 7s. 6d.; attendance on the last four branches being optional.

The High School originally stood in the Old Town, on part of the ground called Kirk of Field, anciently belonging to the monastery of Black Friars. It was rebuilt on nearly the same spot in 1777. The situation having become inconvenient, from the great extension of the city northwards, a new structure was founded in 1825, on the south slope of the Calton Hill, to which the establishment was removed in 1829. This splendid edifice, erected at a cost of £30,000, was designed by Thomas Hamilton, Esq., architect. The main building, 270 feet in length, has a magnificent hexastyle Doric portico in the centre, which is united to the wings by two corridors, the entablatures of which are supported by twelve columns, also of the Doric order. There is ample accommodation for conducting the various branches of study according to the most approved methods of instruction. The playground is spacious, extending to nearly two acres, and commands a picturesque view of the ancient city and surrounding country.

Rector, A. R. Carson, LL.D., F.A.S. Scot. and F. R. S. E.
Masters, Samuel Lindsay, A.M., Benjamin Mackay, A. M., Wm. Pyper, A. M., James Boyd, LL.D.

EDINBURGH ACADEMY.

The Edinburgh Academy, which was established in 1824, is under the superintendence of a Board of fifteen Directors, three of whom are elected annually from the body of subscribers, and is conducted by a rector and four masters for the Latin and Greek classes, besides teachers for the English and French languages, and for Writing, Arithmetic, and Mathematics. Each class is taught in the classical department by the same master exclusively for the first four years. At the commencement of the fifth it comes under the tuition of the rector, assisted by the same master, and continues under them during the sixth and seventh years. The other branches, with the exception of French, are begun with the youngest class, and are continued without interruption during the whole course. The complete course extends to seven years, and combines a thorough classical education with systematic instruction in French, Writing, ancient and modern History, Geography, and the various branches of Mathematics. At the public annual examination of the pupils in the last week of July, prizes are awarded for eminence in the various departments of knowledge, and also for the best essays on literary and classical subjects, previously proposed for competition. The English department is conducted by an Englishman, and the French master is a native of France. Pupils are admitted at any period of the session. The Academy meets, after a vacation of two months, on the 1st of October. The school-fees amount to an average of ten guineas for the course of seven years,—those of the first or junior class being £7, and those of the seventh, £11, 10s. The academy is situate to the N.E. of the Royal Circus. It is a handsome building, after a design by Mr Burn, and cost the subscribers upwards of £14,000.

SECTION V.—BENEVOLENT AND CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

GEORGE HERIOT'S HOSPITAL.

George Heriot, the benevolent founder of this magnificent structure, was born at Edinburgh in the year 1563. Like his father, he was a goldsmith to trade. In 1597 he was appointed goldsmith to Anne of Denmark, the queen of James VI. Shortly afterwards he was nominated jeweller and goldsmith to the king; and when, on the death of Elizabeth, the court was removed to London, Heriot followed in its train. He died there February 12, 1624, having, by a will dated in the previous year, bequeathed the residue of his property, amounting to £23,625, to the erection of an hospital, "for the mainetenance, releife, bringing upp, and education of poore fatherlesse boyes, freemen's sonnes of the towne of Edinburgh."

The plan of the edifice was furnished by the famous Inigo Jones. Although the foundation-stone was laid July 1, 1628, the building was not opened for the reception of the boys till April 11, 1659, owing to the frequent civil commotions. It is believed that the expense of the erection exceeded £30,000.

The management of the Institution is vested in the Corporation, and in the Established Clergy of Edinburgh,—in all fifty-one in number.

One hundred and eighty boys are now maintained in the Hospital. When admitted they must have attained the age of seven, and be under that of ten; and they quit the establishment on completing their fourteenth year. They are instructed within the walls of the institution in the English, French, Latin, and Greek languages, in writing, arithmetic, book-keeping, geography, mathematics, drawing, practical mechanics, and sacred music,—their education being carefully adapted to their several capacities and prospects. Those who manifest talents and a desire for the learned professions, are sent to the University of Edinburgh with an allowance for four years of £30 a-year from the revenues of the Hospital: ten bursaries of £20 a-year are likewise bestowed on deserving students in the College. On leaving the Hospital the boys are liberally provided with clothes, and suitable books; such of them as become apprentices receive £10 annually for five years, besides a sum of £5 at the expiry of their indentures as a reward for good behaviour. By a recent enactment of the Governors, all the teachers have been allowed to become non-resident.

The annual revenue of the Hospital, which in 1776 was £1966, in 1839 amounted to £15,412.

GEORGE WATSON'S HOSPITAL.

George Watson, the founder of this Institution, was born at Edinburgh about the year 1650: he served an apprenticeship to a merchant in the city, and after a short residence in Holland, entered into the service of Sir James Dick, a wealthy trader in Edinburgh. This employment he quitted in 1695, on being appointed accountant to the Bank of Scotland. He died in April 1723, bequeathing the sum of £12,000 for the endowment of an hospital for the maintenance and instruction of the male children and grandchildren of decayed merchants in Edinburgh.

The edifice was founded in the year 1738, and opened in June 1741. About 80 boys are now maintained in it. When admitted they must be of the age of seven, and under that of ten years. They are instructed in the English, Latin, Greek, and French languages, in writing, drawing, book-keeping, arithmetic, mathematics, singing, and dancing. On quitting the establishment each boy is presented with £7, for the purpose of providing himself with clothes; he receives for five years £10 annually, and on attaining the age of twenty-five, a farther sum of £50. "Such as are found to have an extraordinary genius for letters" are allowed for their support at the University £20 a-year for four years, and £17 a-year during the two succeeding years.

The management of the Institution is vested in the Master, Treasurer, and twelve Assistants of the Merchant Company, five members of the Town-council, and in the Ministers of the Old and Greenside Churches.

The revenue of the Hospital, which in 1779 was about £1700 a-year, amounted in the year 1836 to £4670. During the same period the expenditure (including meliorations) was £4095; leaving a surplus of £575.

JOHN WATSON'S INSTITUTION.

In the year 1759, John Watson, writer to the signet, bequeathed the residue f his estate to certain Trustees, by them to be applied "to such pious and haritable uses within the City of Edinburgh as they shall think proper." By a eed, dated in 1764, they destined the revenue of the property to "the pious nd charitable purpose of preventing child-murder" by the erection of a oundling Hospital; and assigned the management of the charity to the Prinipal Keeper, Deputy-keeper, and Commissioners, of the Writers to the Signet. rom the doubts which were entertained of the expediency of such an institution, o measures were adopted for its erection; and in the year 1822 an Act of Parament was obtained, empowering the Trustees to establish and endow "an ospital for the maintenance and education therein of destitute children, and ringing them up to be useful members of society; and also for assisting in their tset in life such of them as may be thought to deserve and require such aid." The edifice, which was designed by Mr William Burn, was founded in 1825, id completed in 1828. About 120 children are maintained in it: when admitd, they must have completed the fifth year of their age, and be under the age of eight. They are not retained after the age of fourteen. They are instructed in reading, writing, arithmetic, &c.

The establishment is under the management of fifteen directors, the Keeper and Deputy-keeper of the Signet, the Treasurer of the Institution, and twelve Commissioners of the Writers to the Signet. The fund which in 1781 amounted to less than £5000, has been accumulated by the care and attention of the Keepers and Commissioners, and now, including the grounds and buildings, exceeds £132,800.

THE ORPHAN HOSPITAL.

This Institution was projected in 1727 by Andrew Gairdner, merchant in Edinburgh; and in 1733 a house was hired, and thirty children received into it. In 1735 an edifice was erected near the Trinity College Church; but by the increase of the city this situation being rendered unhealthy, the present building was founded on the 17th June 1831, and finished in October 1833, from the designs of Mr Thomas Hamilton, at a cost of nearly £16,000.

Eighty-six boys and girls are maintained in the Institution, the benefits of which are not confined to any district of Scotland. When admitted they must be of the age of seven, and not above ten years: they are instructed in reading, writing, arithmetic, and geography.

This settlement was explained and modified, and the governors incorporated by a parliamentary statute in 1827.

HOUSE OF INDUSTRY.—1801.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF THE QUEEN-DOWAGER.

In this Institution there were formerly three Schools ; but in consequence of the great increase of schools in the immediate vicinity, and other causes, there is now only one ; but that one is efficient, and contains nearly a hundred infants of both sexes. Teachers are still admitted as boarders, on very moderate terms, to be trained for other schools. In another department of the Institution, upwards of twenty women are daily occupied in spinning and knitting, and paid according to the quantity of work done. Other schemes of usefulness are in contemplation.

Mr Davis brings to his task advantages which have fallen to the lot of few Europeans. He resided twenty years at Canton, where he at length rose to be chief of the factory; he accompanied Lord Amherst's embassy to Pekin; and he ranks as one of the few Europeans who have ever really mastered the language and literature of China."—Quarterly Review.

THE ATHENÆUM

LONDON JOURNAL OF LITERATURE, SCIENCE, & ART,

PRICE FOURPENCE,

(A Stamped Edition, to go Free by Post, Fivepence.)

Persons intending to take in this Journal from the beginning of the New Year, are requested to give orders forthwith to their respective Booksellers, as, owing to delays in so doing, much inconvenience has heretofore arisen, and the Proprietors have more than once been compelled, at great cost, to reprint the January Numbers.

THE ATHENÆUM is the LARGEST LITERARY PAPER,

(Sixteen, occasionally Twenty-four, large 4to pages:)

It contains REVIEWS, with copious Extracts, of all important New Works, both ENGLISH and FOREIGN;

REPORTS (some exclusively and by authority) of all that is interesting in the Proceedings of the LEARNED and SCIENTIFIC SOCIETIES; with Abstracts of the more important Papers. Also, the METEOROLOGICAL TABLES kept by order of the President and Council of the Royal Society, and furnished exclusively to this Journal. AUTHENTIC ACCOUNTS OF ALL SCIENTIFIC VOYAGES AND EXPEDITIONS. CRITICISMS ON ART, Critical Notices of Exhibitions, New Prints, New Music, the Opera, Concerts, Theatres, &c. BIOGRAPHICAL NOTICES OF DISTINGUISHED MEN. ORIGINAL PAPERS AND POEMS. With Miscellanea—including all that is likely to interest the informed and intelligent.

The ATHENÆUM is so conducted, that the reader, however far distant, is, in respect to Literature, Science, and the Arts, on an equality with the best informed circles of the Metropolis—and the Annual Volume (complete in itself) is an invaluable present to friends abroad or in the Colonies.

 The Volume for 1840 (above 1000 pages), bound in cloth, price £1, will be ready on the 31st of December.

The ATHENÆUM is published every Saturday, but is also re-issued every Month, neatly stitched in a wrapper.

THE BRITISH LAND BIRDS COMPLETE.

Just published, handsomely printed in 3 vols 8vo, illustrated by 278 Wood-cuts and 22 Engravings, price £2, 16s. in cloth,

MACGILLIVRAY'S HISTORY of BRITISH BIRDS,

Indigenous and Migratory; including their Organization, Habits, and Relations; Remarks on Classification and Nomenclature; an Account of the principal Organs of Birds; and Observations relative to Practical Ornithology.

VOL. I. contains the Introduction, embracing an Outline of the Osseous, Digestive, and Dermal Systems of Birds, accompanied by illustrative Figures; also descriptions of the Pheasants, Partridges, Grouse, Ptarmigans, Pigeons, Finches, Sparrows, Linnets, Crows, Magpies, Starlings, &c. Sold separately, price 16s.

VOL. II. contains a detailed description of the forms and structure, and a full account of the habits and distribution, of the BRITISH SONG BIRDS properly so called, including the Dipper, Oriole, Thrushes, Larks, Pipits, Wagtails, Stonechats, Redstarts, Nightingale, Warblers, Titmice, and other Genera. Sold separately, price 16s.

VOL. III. contains detailed descriptions of the BIRDS OF PREY, Shrikes, Swallows, Woodpeckers, Cuckoos, Creepers, &c., and a systematic Index to the three volumes. This volume has been extended to 768 pages, so as to complete the series of Land Birds; and contains 95 Wood-cuts and 9 Engravings. Sold separately, price 24s.

"From the practical knowledge which I have acquired of the Birds of Europe, and more especially of those which inhabit Great Britain, either as constant residents or otherwise, I look on Mr Macgillivray's History of British Birds, Indigenous and Migratory, as the best work on British Ornithological science with which I am acquainted."—John J. Audubon, Feb. 10, 1838.

"An admirable work, undoubtedly embracing more science, and at the same time more nature, than any treatise on the same subject ever published."—L. M. Comstock, M. D., Hartford, Connecticut, U. S. A.

"Mr Macgillivray has not confined his labours to the study, the parlour, or the museum. On the contrary, he has followed them to their haunts, he has observed them at all seasons, at all hours, and in all weathers, he has shot them, he has measured, he has dissected, he has anatomized them, and now, after a pleasing, though toilsome and protracted labour of twenty years, he has given the results to the world. The accounts of the habits of birds are written with the freshness, distinctness, and form, which characterize the original observer. The chapters on Practical Ornithology have a dramatic terseness and spirit about them, which reminds us of Izaac Walton."—Spectator.

"This work unites the accuracy of scientific arrangement and anatomical illustration, with a freshness and felicity of description that mark the keen enthusiastic observer."—Quarterly Journal of Agriculture.

"The author has furnished not merely a valuable contribution to the ornithologist's library, but, to the lazier and less scientific student of nature, a most agreeable volume of summer and out-of-door reading. He is so pleasant a companion, that we are sorry to part company with him."—Athenæum, Aug. 17, 1839.

ERRO: A ROMANTIC POEM. By EDWARD NOYCE BROWNE.

"Worthy of Shelley's best moods, whom, in all that is pure and beautiful, Mr Browne closely resembles. The metre of the Poem is in the Spenserian stanza, which the author has studied in the original, and of which he has caught the spirit, tinctured however with the cadences of his favourite Shelley. His diction is studied, and evinces considerable power of language and its effects. The author of 'Erro' is a poet of no mean power, and will rise into excellence."—Dearden's Miscellany.

"The author of 'Erro' possesses genius."—Conservative Journal.

"We can trace poetic ability throughout the volume."—Old England.

NOTICES.

"We could not have believed it possible to add to the high estimation in which we have always held the most graceful artist of our age and country. Yet this series has enhanced it, and so we venture to affirm it will be with all who examine it. The prints are so full of beauty; so natural, and yet so abundant in grace; so freely conceived, and so admirably composed; the figures being so faultlessly grouped, and every detail so applicable and so fitting, that we must class the collection far above any book-illustrations of our time. The volume of old John Bunyan, so embellished, is worth a score of gaudily dressed quartos, that seem dwindled by a sense of their own worthlessness. The drawings, moreover, have been engraved as they ought to have been; it is absolutely refreshing in these days of stipple-poverty to find such men as Mitchell, Goodall, R. Graves, Sangster, Watt, and Stocks, engraving book-plates, and reminding us of the great old man whose pencil was so eloquent, whose conceptions were akin to inspiration, and who has left us a store of pictorial lessons as great in extent as they are wonderful for wisdom. Mr Seeley has entitled himself to the gratitude of all who love art, by raking up these hidden treasures and placing them where tens of thousands may learn from them."—Art Union, Dec. 1839.

"The lamented Stothard's charming and characteristic designs from Bunyan's immortal work."—Literary Gazette, Dec. 28, 1839.

"This is one of the most elegant volumes which have met our eye for a long time. It is beautifully printed, and the illustrations, which are numerous, comprising engravings on copper (steel) and wood, are of the very first excellence. The former are from the designs of Stothard, and they are in our opinion his chefs-d'œuvre."—Asiatic Journal, Jan. 1840.

"This is without exception the most beautifully illustrated edition of any standard work with which we are acquainted; and when we mention that it is embellished by an admirably engraved series of no fewer than seventeen of the noblest productions of the pencil of our British Raffaelle, the late lamented Mr Stothard, and is printed and edited in a style worthy alike the name of John Bunyan, and the exquisite engravings with which the work is embellished, our readers will not consider praise so unqualified as hyperbolical.—As a set of book-illustrations, executed in the heyday of the painter's power, they are unrivalled by any series of engravings which have lately fallen under our notice."—United Service Gazette, Jan. 4, 1840.

Stothard "never touched a subject without investing it with some new grace of beauty peculiar to himself. Were this not sufficiently evident from any of his antecedent works, it would be amply proved by the present, wherein he seems thoroughly to have caught the spirit of the author, and lent an additional charm to pages replete with interest before."—Parthenon, Jan. 25, 1840.

The Publishers' Circular.

THIS Periodical Advertiser was instituted in 1837 by a Committee of London Publishers, for the announcement of every new Literary undertaking, New Editions, and every description of Property connected with Literature, Music, and the Fine Arts. Therefore Secretaries and others connected with Book Societies, Literary Institutions, and Clubs, not at present supplied, would do well to order it:—the Subscription is only and to Advertisers it is of first-rate importance. The circulation is 3750, which is not confined to the Trade, but is referred to for information by the Secretaries and others connected with most of the Literary Institutions and Societies in the United Kingdom; it is also sent to many Foreign Countries, and the principal of our Colonial Possessions.—Published on the 1st and 15th of the Month.

FOUR SHILLINGS PER ANNUM, FREE OF POSTAGE;

The Retail portion of the Bookselling Trade would find it of very great advantage, if they would regularly distribute a number amongst their immediate connexion, for which purpose an unstamped edition is printed; and any number can be enclosed in the Parcels, by being ordered in the usual way through their London Correspondents, price 1d. each.

Advertisements and Orders received by SAMPSON LOW, 42, Lamb's-Conduit Street, or 54, Fleet Street.

A LONDON WEEKLY NEWSPAPER,

PUBLISHED ON WEDNESDAY.

THE

COLONIAL GAZETTE,

Price SIXPENCE.

(Begun in 1838, in connexion with the Colonial Society of London.)

The Day of Publication of THE COLONIAL GAZETTE has recently been changed from Saturday to WEDNESDAY Afternoon; and the Paper is now conducted by the Editor of the SPECTATOR, with able Assistants and Contributors.

BESIDES the features it possesses in common with other Newspapers, and the obvious function of making known in England and the Colonies reciprocally whatever it most concerns each to learn of the other,

THE CHIEF OBJECTS OF THIS JOURNAL ARE,

1. To excite in England an interest in Colonial questions commensurate with their importance;
2. To enforce sound principles in Colonization and Colonial Government;
3. To assist Colonial communities and individuals in prosecuting their just demands on the Imperial Government;
4. To bring public opinion in England to bear upon the only irresponsible and the worst-managed branch of the public service—the Colonial Department.

By discriminate selection, painstaking compression, and clear arrangement of the Week's News, THE COLONIAL GAZETTE is enabled to devote more space to Original Papers on important subjects, and to give more copious Extracts from what is interesting in the Press of our widely-extended Colonies, than any other English Journal.

A Weekly Report of the State of Colonial Markets in London is brought down to the hour of publication on Wednesday.

THE COLONIAL GAZETTE may be procured on application to any Bookseller or Newsman in Town or Country; or by letter post-paid, to JOSEPH CLAYTON, the Publisher, 6, Wellington Street, Strand.

COULTHART'S DECIMAL INTEREST TABLES, at the various rates of 2, 2½, 3, 3½, 4, 4½, and 5 per Cent.; calculated for the use of Bankers and others who keep their Current Accounts on the Scotch or Progressive System; to which are added, Commission Tables, calculated for the use of those who charge a Commission on Accounts.

"This is a very useful work, and must prove a valuable acquisition to every person engaged in banking operations, as well as to the mercantile community in general. The mode of ascertaining the interest of any given sum for any number of days, and at any rate of interest, from two to five per cent., is rendered so extremely simple, that it may be accomplished by the merest tyro in arithmetic in a few seconds. The calculations, so far as we have examined them, appear to have been made with the utmost accuracy, and we can with confidence recommend the work to those classes for whose use it has been more especially compiled. In addition to the Interest Tables, which are calculated at the various rates of 2, 2½, 3, 3½, 4, 4½, and 5 per cent., the volume contains a series of Commission Tables, from ⅛ per cent. upwards, which will be found of great utility to those bankers and others who charge a commission upon accounts. The work is got up in a very handsome style, and presents a specimen of typography much superior to what we are accustomed to meet with in works of this description."—Conservative Journal.

SACRED PHILOSOPHY OF THE SEASONS,

ILLUSTRATING THE PERFECTIONS OF GOD IN THE PHENOMENA OF THE YEAR.

By the Rev. Henry Duncan, D. D., of Ruthwell.

Three large Editions of this Work having been sold within a very short period, and a fourth having been called for, it has undergone a careful revision by the Author, and has received various additions and improvements, which will render it more complete as a whole consecutive series embracing the Philosophy of the Year. Each volume is sold separately, being complete in itself, and containing a distinct argument in favour of the Divine Perfections. From its nature and plan, the Work will be found particularly adapted for stated family reading; and the Publishers are happy to learn that its adaptation to the wants of Christian families has essentially contributed to its great success.

The leading Subjects discussed in the different volumes are:—

IMPORTANT NEW SCHOOL BOOK.

In foolscap 8vo, pp. 492, price 5s. neatly bound,

HISTORY OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH, from the First till the Nineteenth Century. For the Use of Schools and Families. By CHRISTIANA BUCHAN.

This work is intended as a Text Book on a most important department of History, which has hitherto met with little attention even in our leading Seminaries of Education. In writing it, the aim of the Author has been rather to state facts than express opinions; and while the great principles of Protestantism are fully asserted, every thing of a party or exclusive character has been carefully avoided. To each Chapter a series of questions bringing out the main points of the narrative has been appended, and will be found most convenient for school or family instruction.

Second Edition, 12mo, 5s. cloth,

LECTURES on THEOLOGY. By the late Rev. JOHN DICK, D.D., Minister of the United Associate Congregation, Greyfriars, Glasgow; and Professor of Theology to the United Secession Church. With a Memoir of the Author by his Son.

"From this brief analysis, our readers will perceive that the author has taken a comprehensive range, and when we add, that there are few opinions or topics, either more immediately or more remotely connected with these various subjects, to which he does not less or more advert, it must be admitted, that in point of extent, the lectures are not exceeded by any in the English language. For simplicity, precision, and perspicuity, the language is pre-eminently distinguished. We cannot conclude this notice of so valuable a work without cordially recommending it to our readers."—Congregational Magazine.

"As far as published works (on systematic theology) are concerned, Dr Dick's Lectures now before us are entitled to an undisputed pre-eminence."—Evangelical Magazine.

"The late Dr Dick has long been known and esteemed as an able theological writer; and this posthumous publication will serve still more to elevate his reputation. It contains one hundred and five lectures, which were originally addressed to students in divinity, and revised by the author, at different times, with great care. They constitute a body of theology, upon strictly Calvinistic principles; but at the same time embrace a large portion of divine truth, in which all orthodox Christians are agreed, clearly proposed and powerfully defended."—Wesleyan Methodist Magazine.

"The Lectures, throughout, display an extensive and a most accurate knowledge of the great variety of important topics which come before him. His system has all the advantages of fair proportion; there is nothing neglected, and nothing overloaded. His taste is correct and pure, even to severity; nothing is admitted, either in language or in matter, that cannot establish the most indisputable right to be so; hence, he is alike lucid in his arrangement, and perspicuous in style.—Among modern systems of Theology, this work is entitled to occupy a high place. To young divines—and to some who are young no longer—we would cordially recommend it as a rich storehouse of valuable information. There are few topics upon which they will not here find the justest views correctly stated, clearly illustrated, and ably established."—Edinburgh Christian Instructor.

"We consider these Lectures as no small accession to our theological literature, and would cordially recommend them to the perusal, not merely of the professional divine, but also of the general reader. They are characterized throughout by a clear and perspicuous style, by tasteful illustration, by fervent manly piety, by candour and perfect fairness in stating the opinions of all from whom he differs, and by a modest and firm defence of 'the truth as it is in Jesus.' The most intricate doctrines are unfolded with admirable tact."—Presbyterian Review.

"We recommend this work in the very strongest terms to the Biblical student. It is, as a whole, superior to any other system of theology in our language. As an elementary book, especially fitted for those who are commencing the study of divinity, it is unrivalled. On every subject which he discusses, Dr Dick may safely be trusted as a scriptural guide. He always thinks for himself, displaying a mind of much acuteness, enriched with extensive information, imbued with the deepest reverence for the authority of scripture."—Christian Journal.

CONCORDANCE to the HOLY SCRIPTURES, on the BASIS of CRUDEN'S, with a PREFACE.

By the Rev. DAVID KING, Glasgow.

Recommendation from the Rev. RALPH WARDLAW, D. D., Minister of George Street Chapel, Glasgow.

"My inspection of the specimen of this Concordance satisfies me, that it is constructed upon a judicious plan; that it promises to supply very happily the desideratum of a book of this kind, holding a medium between the bulky volume of 'Cruden,' and those diminutive publications, whose defectiveness renders them of very partial service;—a work which, along with accuracy in the references, and neatness and compactness in the execution, should be characterised by a combination of brevity with distinctness, and by sufficiency without redundance."

George Ross, Esq., Advocate.
Dr Charles Anderson.
John S. Cunningham, Esq. Banker.

John Gray, Esq., Solicitor.

J. & W. Jollie, Secretaries.—John Rhind, Cashier.

THIS INCORPORATION divides, Septennially, Three-fourths of the Profits among the Insured, affording also the immediate benefit of the reduced rates of Premium.

A RETURN OF TWENTY PER CENT. was lately made on the whole Premiums received by the Incorporation for Insurance against Fire, from Candlemas 1832 to Candlemas 1839, or during any part of that period. The business of the Society continues gradually and steadily to increase.

All town risks of the first class,—houses situated in the country,—as also farm-houses and steadings, are taken as common Insurances at 1s. 6d. per cent. At the same rate of premium, the stock and crop on any part of the Farm may be insured in one sum, without the average clause; and if preferred, the sum insured may be allowed to decrease monthly or quarterly, whereby a considerable saving is effected by the insurer.

Insurances on Farm Stock and Implements of Husbandry are now exempt from the payment of duty.

Printed Proposals, showing the Rates and Conditions of Insurance, may be obtained by applying at the Head Office, or at any of the Society's Branches.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

THE SYSTEM ADOPTED BY THIS CORPORATION COMBINES THE PRINCIPLE OF MUTUAL ASSURANCE with the security of a large subscribed capital, and the support of an influential body of Proprietors.

Those who pay the PARTICIPATING RATE OF PREMIUM share in the PROFITS to the extent of TWO-THIRDS, GUARANTEED AGAINST ALL RESPONSIBILITY BY THE CAPITAL OF THE COMPANY.

BONUSES may be either added to the sum insured, or applied in Reduction of future Premiums.

In addition to the ordinary UNIFORM RATES, TABLES OF ASCENDING AND DESCENDING Premiums have been deduced from the same data, to suit the objects and convenience of parties.

For another class of Insurers, Premiums have been deduced, making the sum insured PAYABLE ON THE PARTY ATTAINING THE AGE OF SIXTY, OR, AT HIS DEATH, IF IT OCCUR SOONER—a mode of insurance which in many cases may be found desirable.

ADVANCES are made by the Company on its Policies to the extent of their acquired value.

LOANS TO A LARGER AMOUNT are made to Policy-holders, on approved security.

No Entrance-money or other charge is made, excepting the stamp for the Policy.

(All of whom are permanently connected with the Society by Assurance of more than three years' standing.)

James Begbie, M.D., Medical Officer.—Donald Lindsay, Auditor.

THIS INSTITUTION is the OLDEST, and, in point of business, the most extensive LIFE OFFICE in Scotland. A slight consideration of the following statements will abundantly satisfy intending Assurers, that while to this Institution is unquestionably owing the successful introduction of the important benefits of Life Assurance into Scotland, and while it may therefore justly claim the preference and favour due to a NATIONAL INSTITUTION, there is not at this time any other Life Office in the United Kingdom which, whether in respect of the sound principles on which it is constituted, or the extraordinary prosperity of its course throughout, can hold out more solid advantages, especially to that important class of Assurances effected as Family Provisions.

The Surplus Profits ascertained at 31st December 1838 were sufficient to secure,—

1. A Retrospective Bonus of Two per cent. per annum, or 14 per cent. for the Septennial Period, not only on the original sum assured, but likewise on the Bonus-additions previously declared.
2. A Contingent Prospective Bonus of Two per cent. per annum, to be paid from and after 31st December 1838, on all Policies of five years' standing that may emerge before 31st December 1845, when the next Investigation, and consequent Declaration of Bonus, takes place.

The Directors are authorized, by a bye-law of the Society, passed in 1827, to grant Loans to members on the security of their Policies (without any expense except the Stamp for a Promissory Note), to the extent of nine-tenths of their calculated value at the time. They are likewise empowered to allow members to commute their Bonus additions, i. e. to have their Bonus applied towards reduction of their future Annual Premiums.—Thus, for example,

A, in the year 1820, being then 40 years of age, insured his life for £3000, paying an Annual Premium of £98 5 0

He is now 60 years of age, and has an actually vested Bonus or Addition, declared and attached to his Policy, of £1035, 12s., which, with the £3000, the original sum assured, shows the full amount of the sum presently contained in the Policy to be..... £4035 12 0

Were A to die in 1845, after payment of his premium for that year, the sum payable under the Policy would be..... £4600 11 9

Or, if it were an object to him to reduce his present Annual Contributions, he might, by giving up his Bonus, reduce his future premium from £98, 5s. to..... £27 6 11

Or, if he preferred receiving immediately the present value of his Bonus, he would, by surrendering it, be entitled to a sum of..... £572 3 2

If he were desirous at present of having a loan on his Policy, he might borrow to the extent of..... £1400 0 0

The above example will probably be admitted to be perfectly sufficient to show, in a practical point of view, the great benefits to be derived by parties insuring with this office.

The Directors are at all times ready to entertain proposals for Loans, either on Redeemable Annuity or on first Heritable Security. Every information on this or any other subject connected with the Society may be obtained on application (if by letter, post-paid) to the Head Office in Edinburgh, or to any of the Society's Agencies.

THIS is strictly a MUTUAL ASSURANCE SOCIETY, and its success has exceeded that of any similar establishment.

PREMIUMS for young and middle ages about one-fourth lower than in other Mutual Assurance Offices.

PROFITS wholly divisible among the members, on a new and equitable principle, peculiarly favourable to good lives.

ASSURANCES effected on every contingency of life.

ANNUITIES—Immediate, deferred, and contingent—on very favourable terms.

The constitution of the Society thus embraces every advantage which Life Assurance is capable of affording.

PARTIES holding Policies in other Offices will, on a comparison of the respective Premiums, and other Provisions in behalf of the Members, find it, in many cases, to be their interest to surrender these, and open new ones with this office. This has been done with profit, even with Policies of more than twelve years' standing.

Until the establishment of this Institution, an intending assurer was compelled either to see the profits of his assurance go to raise the shares of a Proprietary Company, or in joining a Mutual Assurance Society, to pay a rate of premium confessedly exorbitant, and disproportioned to the risk.

To remedy these defects, the SCOTTISH PROVIDENT INSTITUTION was founded. It differs from the Societies previously existing, in the great reduction of the premiums, and in the more equitable division of the profits.

1. The premiums have been deduced, by strict calculation, from the most recent and approved sources; and thus, besides being very much reduced, are more accurately adjusted to the several ages. At young and middle ages, the premium usually required to assure £400 will secure about £500 in this office.

2. The principle adopted in the distribution of the profits, and which is peculiar to this Office, is,—that the surplus should be reserved for those members who survive the period at which their Premiums, with accumulated interest, amount to the Sums in their Policies. Being thus divided among a comparatively small number, the share, or bonus, falling to each will necessarily be much greater than by the usual mode.

NO ENTRY-MONEY CHARGED.

COMPARATIVE TABLES of the RATES of all the Scottish Offices, Forms of Proposal, and all necessary information, may be had on application to the Manager or Agents.

ANNUAL PREMIUM TO ASSURE £100 AT DEATH.

£1 15 8	£1 18 0	£2 1 6	£2 6 10	£2 14 9	£3 5 9	£4 1 7

The Premiums may be made to cease after a limited number of Payments. Those payable for 21 years only will be found nearly the same as other Offices require for the whole of life.

THIS Incorporation, composed of a numerous, wealthy, and influential body of Proprietors, was instituted in the year 1824, and affords unquestionable security to the public from the magnitude of its Capital,—a large proportion of which is invested in Government or real securities. By conducting its operations on an extensive scale, and over the whole Empire, it is enabled to equalise those vicissitudes which may arise from the influence of local causes; and from the success which has attended this National Establishment, it is permanently placed on a secure basis.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Property, real and personal, of almost every description, may be insured on the most advantageous terms; common insurance, of the first class at the reduced rates, and property involving more than ordinary hazard, at rates of premium commensurate with the value of the risks.

Losses when satisfactorily ascertained are IMMEDIATELY PAID.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

Various Tables of Rates have been computed to accommodate those classes of the community who may be desirous of participating in the profits of the Incorporation; and a reduced scale is prepared for those who may wish to secure a specific sum in case of premature decease.

TWO-THIRDS of the Profits are allotted at regular periods to the insured, without being subject to any deduction for charges of management, and additions are made to Policies, or corresponding reductions of Premium, at the option of the Insured.

The general accounts are patent to the Insured, but the individual transactions are held as strictly private and confidential.

To facilitate Loan Transactions, a reduced scale of Rates has been adopted, which will be found particularly favourable to the Insured, more especially for young and middle-aged persons.

LOANS.—The Directors are ready to make advances by way of Loan, on the following securities:—1*st*, On Policies of Insurance on Lives to the extent of their estimated value. 2*d*, On such Policies, with the addition of personal security for payment of the future premiums and interest.

THIS Company combines the advantages of the Mutual Assurance system with the security and influence of a Proprietary Body, who must themselves be assured with the Company.

The Assured may either participate to the extent of four-fifths in the whole Profits of the Company, without the liability of partnership or mutual guarantee; or, They may secure a precise sum at reduced and very moderate Rates, without participation.

EDINBURGH LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY CONTINUED.

Independent of the large proportion of Profits allowed by this Company to the Assured, it will be observed by a reference to the Tables that the moderation of the Rates of Premium even on the Participation Scale, is equivalent at the early ages to a PRESENT Bonus of considerable amount when compared with the rates required by most Mutual Assurance Offices, whilst the mode of division adopted by this Company secures to the older lives a full proportion of profit for the larger premium paid by them.

In all money transactions, where a Policy is required as a part of the Security, the Rates charged by this Company for Short Risks will be found very advantageous.

No Entry-money or other Charge beyond the Policy Stamp.

Liberty to pass to any part of Europe, without extra Premium.

Annuities, Reversions, &c., present and contingent.

Claims paid three months after proof of death.

Assurances of Capital Sums or Annuities may be effected in any way that parties may require.—Moderate rates for special Risks.

THIS Company affords to the Assured all the advantages of a Mutual Assurance Society, with the Security of a Proprietary Office.

DIVISION OF PROFITS.

The Plan of Dividing Profits, or making Returns to the Assured, originally adopted, and so long and successfully followed, by the "London Life Association," and now admitted by experienced Actuaries to be the most equitable, has been adopted by this Office; and it is the only Office in Scotland which divides Profits on that principle.

The Profits are declared Every year, and all those whose Policies have been in existence five complete years are entitled to participation therein.

This practice of an Annual Division, as observed by Mr Babbage, "distributes the Profits with more regularity and justice than any other," and it is particularly advantageous to persons of advanced years, who cannot hope to participate in many distant periodical divisions.

The Profits are applied in Reduction of the future Premiums, unless parties prefer having an equivalent by way of Bonus, on the sum Assured.

The system of Reduction in the Premiums affords immediate benefit to the Assured.

Assurances of every description undertaken at lower rates of Premium, without Participation in the Profits, so as to give facility to those assuring in connexion with Money Transactions, Contracts under Marriage Settlements, or otherwise.

The Rates have been reduced to the lowest point consistent with safety, according to the most recent and accredited observations on Human Life.

Persons proposing Assurances are not subjected to any unnecessary form or delay. Risks of more than ordinary hazard taken at an increase of Premium, proportionate to the risk, which is in all cases regulated by the strictest attention to justice between the company and the assured. Claims under Policies discharged within three months; and the Directors are in all cases bound to refer any disputed claim to arbitration.

The conditions of Assurance are framed on liberal terms, towards the Assured, in relation to Travelling, Foreign residence, permanent or temporary, and otherwise.

Parties residing at a distance can effect Assurances by correspondence with the Manager, or with any of the Agents in the principal Towns throughout the Kingdom: by whom Tables of Rates, Forms of Proposals, and all other information necessary will be furnished.

THE OBJECTS of this Society are to enable parties, at all ages, advantageously to Invest, Accumulate, and Realize, DURING LIFE, their Annual Savings, either for their own use and advantage, or for the benefit of Children and others, in whom they are interested, and that upon principles never previously adopted.

THE PLAN of the Society, as fully detailed in the Prospectus, combines the principles of MUTUAL CONTRIBUTION; of LIFE SURVIVORSHIP; and of PROFITABLE INVESTMENT—whereby Members are enabled to Accumulate a sum payable to themselves or others, at such future period as may be fixed, on terms of advantage otherwise unattainable.

The great success of the Society since its establishment, is the best proof of the advantage with which its principles may be applied to the MAKING of PROVISIONS under all circumstances.

Full details of the Society's principles and plan will be found in the Prospectus, which may be had at the HEAD OFFICE, No. 5, NORTH ST DAVID STREET, or from any of the Society's Agents, who are established in all the principal towns here, and also in England and Ireland.

HIS Company has been established for the purpose of conducting every branch LIFE ASSURANCE on the most liberal and favourable terms, and for affording very possible facility and encouragement to its extension among all classes and nks.

The Capital of the Company is subscribed by an extensive and influential body Proprietors, thus affording the most ample security for the fulfilment of its gagements. The Proprietors are required to promote the business of the ompany to an extent proportioned to the number of Shares which each holds, consequence of which there will be a large and constant supply of the best ssurances secured; and, through this united and powerful co-operation, there is every prospect of great benefit to all who shall have transactions with the Company.

Two plans are offered by this Company to Assurers; by the first of which they are entitled to participate in the profits of the Company to the extent of two-thirds; and the principles and periods of division will be fixed according to the more favourable system which the experience of later years has shown may be adopted for equitably securing the several interests of those entitled to participate. The rates of premium of the participating scale are lower than those generally charged by Mutual Assurance Societies, and will be found to bear a very favourable comparison with the Tables of other Companies.

By the other plan, the Assurer, if he intend to secure only a certain fixed sum at the least expense, without a view to participation in the profits, as may be often the case in connexion with loans and other money transactions, is enabled at once to attain his object by adopting the Table of Reduced Premiums, which this Company have calculated upon the lowest scale consistent with safety. This advantage Proprietary Companies alone are enabled to offer,—as Mutual Assurance Societies have but one scale of Premiums, and one plan of Assurance.

It is occasionally a ground of objection with some to Life Assurance, that at a future period they may be prevented from continuing payment of the Premium, and thus lose most of the benefits which they wished to secure. To obviate this, Tables have been constructed, by which a party is enabled, on paying a somewhat higher Premium, spread over that number of years during which he can calculate more certainly upon the continuance of his income, to secure at the end of that period the full amount of his Assurance,—or at any time when his circumstances permit, he may redeem the future Annual Premiums by a single payment on advantageous terms.

Parties assured with this Company will be entitled to cash advances to the full value of their policies; or, if they may desire at any period to discontinue their Assurance, they will have an opportunity of doing so, and a liberal sum will be allowed by the Company for a surrender of the same.

Assurers are allowed, without payment of any extra charge, and without obtaining permission from the Directors, to reside anywhere within the limits of Europe, and, in time of peace, to pass and repass by sea from one part of it to another. Rates of additional Premium for permission to reside beyond the above limits are fixed on a scale better graduated than heretofore to the nature of the risk; and facilities will now be afforded to parties requiring this license which formerly could not be obtained.

Every advantage will be given by the Company in Redeemable Annuity and similar transactions; and on Redemption, a Policy of Assurance will be delivered at the rate of premium applicable to the age of the party at the date when the transaction was entered into.

Parties who are holders of Policies effected by others upon their own lives, on Assignation for onerous causes, after being admitted by the Company, will stand in as favourable a position as if the Policy had been issued in their own names,—thus freeing them from the operation of the restrictive clause, which provides for the case of the Assured dying by his own hands, or in any other manner there excepted.

No charge whatever is made against Assurers at entry, under the name of admission-fee; and no expense is incurred except the Stamp-duty, which has lately been much reduced.

The Company will avoid any approach to litigation, or attempt to protract the settlement of just claims upon them; and should any cause of dispute arise, the matter, if it is desired, will be submitted to the immediate decision of Arbiters.

It will be the constant study of the Directors to carry on the business of the CITY OF GLASGOW LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY on such principles of liberality and encouragement, combined with prudence, as will ensure the rapid extension of the advantages which the Company offer to every class of the Community.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

THIS branch of the Company's business comprehends the Insurance of all descriptions of real and personal Property from Loss or Damage by Fire. The usual reduced Premiums will be charged in the three first Classes of Fire Insurance; and a revised Classification of Extra Risks has been made by the Glasgow Insurance Company, according to which are charged the lowest remunerating Rates of Premium compatible with a prompt and liberal settlement of Claims.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

THIS Branch of the business comprises Insurance on Lives and Survivorships, the Purchase and Sale of Reversionary Property and Life Interests, the Sale and Purchase of immediate, contingent, and deferred Annuities, and the Endowment of Widows and Children.

The principles upon which the Life Tables of the Glasgow Insurance Company are formed, have been adopted after a most minute investigation of the principles and practice of Established Offices; and the Directors being desirous of affording every encouragement to the extension of the system of Life Insurance, their object has been to ascertain to what extent the Rates of Premium usually demanded might be reduced consistently with security. For this purpose a careful analysis has been made of such observations on the decrement of Life as are considered entitled to credit; and the Directors are now enabled to present to the public, Tables adjusted according to different ages, and the various contingencies intended to be provided for.

Two distinct plans are offered by this Company to Insurers. By the first plan, persons may effect every kind of Insurance at a reduced rate of Premium, without participating in the Profits of the Company. By the second plan, persons may insure for the whole term of Life, and participate in the Company's profits to the extent of two-thirds, and at the same time be protected, by a Capital subscribed by a large and substantial Proprietary, from the responsibilities attached to Societies for Mutual Insurance. The principles and periods of Division of the Profits will be fixed upon favourable terms for the Insured.

The Company will advance Money on the Security of Policies; and persons desirous of discontinuing the payment of their Annual Premiums may dispose of their Policies to the Company.

The Assured are allowed to pass by Sea from one part of Great Britain and Ireland to another, and also, in time of peace, in Queen's Ships, Steam Vessels, and Packets, to and from British and such Foreign Ports as lie within the limits of Europe, without any special leave or license from the Directors.

No Admission nor Entrance Fees are required, nor is any charge made for the Policy beyond the Stamp-duty.

This Company undertakes the management of every description of Trust-Estates.

Tables of Rates, Forms of Proposals, and all other necessary information, may be obtained on application at the Head Office, 98, Miller Street, Glasgow, or of any of the Company's Agents throughout the Country.

THIS Company was established for the purpose of "making or effecting Insurances of all descriptions of Property against Loss or Damage by Fire, Assurances of Lives and Survivorships, and generally for the transaction of all matters connected with the contingency of Life."

Complete security is afforded to the Assured, by the ample Capital and the personal guarantee of a very numerous and responsible body of Proprietors; at the same time, the business is conducted on terms highly beneficial to the Public.

LIFE ASSURANCE BRANCH.

The great advantage of Life Assurance has already been amply verified, immense numbers of individuals having, by the payment of a small Annual Premium to an Assurance Company, been enabled to secure at their death a provision for their WIVES and CHILDREN, who otherwise must have experienced all the horrors of want.

It is therefore of the first importance that the RATES of PREMIUM should not be greater than the security of the Assured requires.

For this purpose the NORTH OF SCOTLAND FIRE AND LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY have had tables calculated expressly for the use of the Office, from the best nd most recently ascertained probabilities of human life, and the result has hown the superior advantage now offered to the Public.

EXAMPLE.—For an Assurance of £100, payable Three Months after Death, without Participation.

To parties wishing to PARTICIPATE in the PROFITS of the Institution, the plan adopted by this Company will be found peculiarly advantageous.

The funds of this Class are invested at a high rate of Interest, separately, and are kept distinct from the other funds of the Company. Thus the Assured have the whole benefit of the accumulation of Premiums, under deduction only of the small per centage charged by the Proprietary body for expense of management and guarantee against Loss. The Profits may be added periodically to the amount Assured, or be applied towards the reduction or gradual extinction of the annual Premium.

THE distinguishing features of this Company are moderate rates of Premium, with participation of the profits every five years, to the extent of four-fifths or 80 per cent, to be added as a reversionary bonus, or applied to the reduction of future Premiums, at the option of the Policy Holder, thus combining, in the way most beneficial for him, the advantages of a Mutual Assurance Society, with the security afforded by a large and wealthy proprietary.

The following are selected from the Table of Annual Premiums for the Assurance of £100.

THIS Company has been established sixteen years, and has met with great support and encouragement; and it is confidently anticipated that the liberality of its terms, and the ample security which it affords to the public for the fulfilment of its engagements, will continue to secure to it the preference it has hitherto enjoyed.

The Directors have had an entirely new and extensive set of Tables drawn up for the Insurance of FEMALE LIVES, it having been found by experience that a considerable Reduction may be made in the Premiums for such Insurances.

The following specimen is exhibited of the Rates for both MALES and FEMALES, which are the lowest upon the average taken by any office.

THE following are among the advantages which this Company offers to the Public :—

1*st*, Very low even rates of premium, payable annually, half-yearly, or quarterly.

2*dly*, The facilities afforded to all classes of Insurers, by having it in their power to adopt either an even rate for life, an ascending scale, or a descending scale, as may suit the convenience of parties; or further, an alternative plan, by which one-third of the even rate of premium (on policies for the whole of life) may remain unpaid, and be deducted from the sum insured at the end of life, with interest at the rate of four per cent.

3*dly*, The adaptation of the Tables to any service, or to any country in the world; and it will be found that in foreign insurances also, the extra rates charged are considerably lower than those of other offices.

4*thly*, The insurance of persons of advanced age, and also the undertaking of risks that might be rejected by other offices, at rates founded upon the ascertained decrement of life by the various diseases peculiar and incidental to different climates.

5*thly*, The great facility afforded for the transfer of policies, the Directors, instead of requiring assignments of these to be executed, in every case issuing a new policy in name of the intended assignee, on surrendering the former, and merely paying the price of the new stamp.

The following are selected from the EVEN RATES :—

OFFICE, 98, KING STREET, MANCHESTER.

Established March 1824.

THIS SOCIETY is established upon principles combining security with advantages to the Assured superior to those offered by any Institution of a similar character.

The Capital is TWO MILLIONS, subscribed in shares of £100 each, and of which a deposit of £10 per cent. has been paid. This deposit, with a further claim upon the Subscribers to pay such sums as may be required, to the extent of their respective shares, is held as a guarantee-fund for claims.

The Directors are empowered to purchase any Policy granted for the whole period of life; or to advance on the security of such Policy any sum not exceeding two-thirds of its value.

The Rates of Premium are lower than those charged by the majority of similar establishments.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The Assured are entitled to one-third of the Profits, without any liability on their part to the losses.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

While the Premiums are as moderate as is consistent with security, the Holders of Life Policies are entitled to periodical additions from the surplus Premiums, which may be applied either to increase the sum payable at the death of the insured, or to reduce the future Payments of Premium. That this is a very substantial advantage will be perceived from the following TABLE showing the additions that have been made to Policies for £1000, which have been in force for the full period of Seven Years ending at Christmas 1837, and also the amounts that would be deducted from all future payments of Annual Premium thereon.

EQUIVALENT ADDITIONS or REDUCTIONS would be made for Policies that had been in force for a less term than seven years.

ATLAS FIRE AND LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY CONTINUED.

The following TABLE shows the additions made to Life Policies for £1000 effected in London, or through an Agent in Great Britain, which have been in force for the Twenty-one Years ending at Christmas 1837.

Date of Policy.	Age at commencement.	Annual Premium.	BONUS.
			Gross additions to the Sum assured.	Equivalent to the following per Centage on the Premiums paid to the Compy.
		£ s. d.	£	£ s. d.

Do.	55	53 3 4	626	56 1 4
Do.	60	63 13 4	789	59 0 3

Thus, by the above Table, it will be seen, that a person insuring £1000 at 25 years of age, at the end of 21 years will have paid £504, 17s. 6d. of Premium; and, were he then to die, his heirs would receive £1338 instead of £1000.

These additions will, on comparison, be found AS GREAT AS HAVE BEEN MADE BY ANY OTHER INSURANCE OFFICE WHATEVER.

The next valuation will be made at Christmas 1844. The Atlas Company holds itself liable for policies of five years' standing though assured on his own life by a person afterwards committing suicide.

As to the Rates charged by the Company, it may suffice here to say, that the Tables adopted by the Directors were originally framed upon the sound principles of mathematical computation; and the practice of the Equitable Society has put them to the unerring test of long and extensive experience.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The Assurance of every species of property from loss or damage by fire is undertaken by the Company on highly favourable terms.

The following are the rates for all policies where the premium exceeds 5s.

Common Risks,.....1s. 6d. per cent.
Hazardous ditto,.....2s. 6d.
Doubly Hazardous,.....4s. 6d.

The duty on Farming Stock Assurances being wholly taken off, ALL FARMING STOCK may be assured at the low price of two shillings for every £100, without any restrictive clause whatsoever, the former charge having been 5s.

A payment for rent is made by the Company in case of Loss on Buildings, without any extra premium.

LIFE Insurances are effected at reduced premiums, which may be paid Quarterly, Half-Yearly, or Annually, at the option of the parties; and the Assured with this Company participate periodically in the profits.

☞ In consequence of numerous representations, the Board of Directors have resolved to admit the documents, upon the faith of which any Policy shall be granted, as conclusive evidence of the age and state of health of the Life Insured, except in cases of gross fraud or wilful misrepresentation. This regulation will effectually protect innocent parties against every risk, and prevent the possibility of delay in settling claims.

The Second Septennial Division of Profits was declared up to the 31*st December* 1838, when the average additions made to the Policies entitled to participate in them amounted to about 43 per cent., or nearly one-half of the whole Premiums paid. Similar benefits may be anticipated at the next Septennial Period of Division of Profits on 31*st December* 1845. Parties who insure participate in the Profits from the date of effecting the Insurance.

The Directors, in order to render the advantages of Life Assurance more general, and to afford greater accommodation to persons desirous of effecting Policies, now offer to the Public two distinct plans for that purpose, viz.

Persons may either participate in four-fifths or 80 per cent. of the estimated profits, or they may effect assurances for a specific object, at Reduced Rates of Premium, without participating in the profits of the Society.

The Directors have also had rates calculated for effecting assurances determinable at fixed periods, the sum assured being payable on death, if the party assured die before the specified period, or TO THE PARTY HIMSELF on his attaining the age of 45, 50, 55, or 60.

The advantages which attend this last form of the contract of insurance are too evident to require much illustration; but it may not be out of place to point out a few of them. It enables a creditor insuring his debtor's life, in order to secure a past-due debt, or a present advance of money, to calculate with certainty on recovering his debt, or receiving re-payment of his advance at a fixed period; and while, in so far as the assured himself is concerned, this system has all the advantages of the ordinary forms of assurance, it possesses this peculiar feature, of enabling every one, however limited his income may be, by the appropriation of a portion of it yearly, during his years of health, strength, and active exertion, to provide for the support of himself, as well as those who may be dependent on him, during his declining years.

Assurances to the extent of £5000 may be made on any healthy life, upon any of the above plans.

The Directors are also ready to entertain proposals for Special Risks, the terms of which may be learned on application at the office.

This Society advances money on Redeemable Annuity; on the security of Entailed Estates in Scotland; and also on approved Personal Security, combined with a Life Insurance, on very favourable terms.

THIS Society grants Assurances upon the Lives of Persons in every rank and situation of life, wheresoever resident, upon the lowest possible terms consistent with safety. At ages under 45 years the Premiums are lower than those commonly required by old established offices.

All the advantages offered to the public by other offices are given by this Society.

Four-fifths of the entire Profits of the Society are divided among those assured on the Participating Scale. The Profits respectively allotted may be received in present money, in reversionary sums, or by way of annuity, at the option of the parties assured.

In cases where Persons assured for two complete years in this Office die before the Division of Profits is made, a due proportion will still be allotted to their Policies, and their representatives will be entitled to receive it when declared.

The Directors call the attention of the public and the profession to the Society's Table of Premiums on the Non-participating Scale, as peculiarly applicable to Assurances made for Loans and Securities for Money.

Assurances may be effected upon the Lives of Persons residing at a distance from Edinburgh by their appearing before any respectable Solicitor.

THIS COMPANY is one of the oldest of the Scottish Offices. It is constituted by Act of Parliament; and the principle of its constitution is sanctioned by the highest authorities on the subject of Life Assurance.

THE CAPITAL OF THE COMPANY IS £500,000, besides which, the Premiums and accumulating interest form an increasing fund, wholly applicable to the purposes of the Institution.

THE BUSINESS OF THE COMPANY

embraces every kind of transaction in which life is the contingency; and the Directors are at all times ready to negotiate Loans on approved securities. Money is also advanced by way of Redeemable Annuity.

TO PERSONS ASSURING AT THE LOWEST RATES OF PREMIUM, in connexion with Loan Transactions or otherwise, either for a short period or the whole of life, the terms of this Office will be found particularly favourable, while the most perfect security is afforded, as the Company possesses a subscribed Capital adequate to the most extensive business, in addition to its accumulated Fund.

PERSONS IN EXPECTATION OF ANY FUTURE BENEFIT, to be realized after a term of years, or upon survivance of any other life or lives, may provide against loss through death before the object is attained, by particular forms of Assurance adopted by this Company, giving to a postponed or contin-gent interest all the security, and nearly the same value, with an absolute property.

TO PERSONS ASSURING AS A PROVISION FOR THEIR FAMILIES, OR AS AN INVESTMENT, who may wish to secure, as far as possible, the advantages which the system of Life Assurance holds out, the regulations adopted by this Company for permitting a participation in the profits of the business will be found peculiarly beneficial; the mode of Division being similar to that originally pursued by the Equitable Society of London.

To those who have attended to the progress of the EQUITABLE SOCIETY, it is almost unnecessary to remark the peculiar benefits to good lives which result from the principle of sharing the profits among the Policy-holders at each Investigation, with reference to the total number of years during which each Policy shall have then existed. To this feature may be ascribed, in an especial manner, the results which have been exhibited in many instances, of three, four, and five times the amount of the original sum in the Policy having been paid on the death of the Life Assured,—or on a Policy for £1000, no less than £3000, £4000, and even £5000.

THIS PRINCIPLE OF DIVISION is even more fully developed in the Regulations of the STANDARD LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY than in those of the EQUITABLE SOCIETY; for as the periods of Investigation are fixed in the latter at intervals of ten years, while the Investigations of the STANDARD take place every five years, it follows that much greater effect is given to the working of the principle in the latter case. The STANDARD LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY has already declared large additions to its Policies.

Tables of the Rates of Premium, and every other information connected with the business of Life Assurance and Annuities, may be had (gratis) at the Company's Office, 3, George Street, Edinburgh; or from any of their Agents in Scotland, England, or Ireland.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The allowance of ten per cent. which has been made on the Premiums paid on Policies of seven years' standing, is the surest proof of the unprecedented success of this Institution.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

Tables have been calculated expressly for this Institution, and, independent of a reduced rate of Premiums, as compared with other offices having a subscribed Capital, persons assured for the term of life will be entitled, at the end of every seven years, to one moiety of the profits of the Company, after a deduction of such sum per annum for the Guarantee of the Capital as the Directors may think reasonable,—the extent of which is, however, limited by the deed of settlement.

The share of the profits to be so allowed to the assured may be applied, either by adding to the amount of their respective Policies such reversionary sums as are equivalent to such profit, or in reduction of the Premiums thereafter to be payable on such Policies, provided such option be declared in writing within three calendar months after the division shall have been declared; but if such option be not so declared, such share of profits will be added to the amount of the Policies.

The first division of profit to the assured was made to Christmas 1828, and a second division of profit was made to Christmas 1835. At each period the reversionary bonuses added to the several Policies averaged rather more than 28 per cent. on the amounts of Premiums paid thereon during the preceding seven years.

If any person assured with this Company for seven years, or for life, should die within thirty days after the Premium shall become due, such assurance is to be valid in case the Premium be paid within such period of thirty days.

No additional Premium will be required from Military men, unless when called into actual service.—No charge will be made for Entrance-Money, Admission Fees, or for Policies beyond the cost of the stamp.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

BESIDES the perfect security to the policy holder of a large paid up Capital, and accumulating funds, with moderate rates of premium, the following is one amongst many of the advantages which belong exclusively to the principles of Life Assurance and Deferred Annuities originated by the Society, viz.:—Power to borrow (without delay, expense, or forfeiture) Two-thirds of all Premiums paid upon a Policy of Assurance.

£1 18 6	£2 10 11	£2 18 8	£4 4 2

DEFERRED ANNUITIES DEPARTMENT.

By the plan exclusively developed by the Society, a single Deferred Annuity is made not only to answer the same object, but to equal in amount the entire sum of all the advantages heretofore only obtained by the middle and industrious classes by separate investments in Savings Banks, Benefit Societies, and Loan Banks.

1. A small yearly or weekly contribution will secure the most ample return for after life; thus, £2, 12s. per annum (1s. a-week) at 20, will, at 65, give the policy holder the choice of an annuity for life of £47, 16s. 6d.; £394, 11s. in cash; or Policy without further contribution, of £466 at death.

2. Two-thirds at any time lent on deposit of Policy, being a fund always available during sickness or want of employment.

3. Two-thirds of all payments returned to representatives in case of premature death.

The Central Board for Scotland (which meets weekly on Friday at four o'clock) is empowered to establish agencies throughout Scotland (exclusive of Glasgow), in communication with itself, to whom all proposals must be transmitted, and by whom Policies will be issued, and Claims settled in all respects as a Scottish Office.

Applications from suitable persons desirous of forming Agencies, to be made to this office, where Prospectuses, Reports, and every requisite information, can be obtained.

INSURANCES are undertaken by the Albion Company at reduced rates. The annual payment charged at the age of 25, for an insurance of £1000, by Companies holding out the prospect of a bonus derivable from profits, would insure £1200 with the Albion Company, free from the risk of partnership, and payable whenever the death might happen.

For securing prospective bonuses from the "Equitable," or other Companies, and in all cases requiring insurance for limited periods only, the rates of the Albion Company will be found to be peculiarly advantageous.

Persons whose lives are insured with the Albion Company, not being engaged in any military, naval, or maritime service, may, during peace, proceed to, and reside in, any part of Europe, without extra charge, and without license from the Company.

Policies granted by the Albion Company to persons on their own lives, and legally assigned to other persons for valuable considerations, will not, so far as the bona fide interest of the assignees may extend, be invalidated, if the persons whose lives are insured should die by suicide, by duelling, or by the hands of justice.

Claims are paid in thirty days after sufficient proof of death.

Horatio Lillie, Secretary.

THE system of Life Insurance in this Country has assumed such importance, that to enlarge on its advantages would be altogether superfluous. The British Public have, happily, been long familiar with a scheme, which, by a small annual sacrifice, secures from poverty the children and relatives of persons whose incomes are wholly or chiefly dependant on their lives;—which is capable of a very useful application to marriage settlements;—and which is eminently calculated to give stability to a vast variety of important transactions. It is not wonderful, that a plan, which embraces so many beneficial objects, should have powerfully engaged the public attention, and mixed itself, widely and intimately, with the whole business of life.

The PELICAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY has, for upwards of forty years, held a distinguished rank among the numerous establishments connected with these great purposes. The confidence the Directors have so long enjoyed they are naturally ambitious to retain. They have accordingly instituted a careful inquiry into the business of the office since the establishment of the Company in 1797, and, principally upon this experience, they have constructed an entirely new table of rates, which they now submit to the Public.

In addition to the table already alluded to, which offers as low a rate of premium as the Directors believe to be consistent with the security of the assured, they have, in consequence of the strong bias manifested by the Public to the system of a return of premium or addition to the policy, constructed another table at a somewhat higher rate of premium; the assurers under which will form a distinct branch of the Company's business, to commence from the 3d day of July, 1840;—and the Directors propose thenceforth at the end of every seven years, after a valuation of the outstanding risk in this class, and after a reasonable deduction for charges and management, to return to the then holders of policies, on this scale of premium, not less than a moiety of any surplus that may then appear, to be ascertained and apportioned by the Directors; and, thereupon, the holders of policies for whole life which have been in force five years, or which shall be afterwards continued till they have been in force for that period, shall, at the option of the assured (to be declared at the time of effecting the insurance), be entitled to have the sum, that at each septennial valuation may be appropriated to their respective policies, applied according to either of the rules following, viz:—

1st, BY AN IMMEDIATE PAYMENT OF THE SUM SO APPROPRIATED; OR,

2dly, BY AN EQUIVALENT REDUCTION IN THE FUTURE ANNUAL PREMIUMS; OR, 3dly, BY AN EQUIVALENT ADDITION TO THE AMOUNT OF THE POLICY (AND PAYABLE THEREWITH).

THE PELICAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY insure, on equitable terms, the lives of persons resident abroad, or about to proceed to foreign climates; and, in this department, the PELICAN OFFICE presents great advantages to Officers of the Army and Navy, as no extra charge is made for home service. The moderate addition required from such individuals, for change of climate, may be covered by an average rate, or the rate for any particular destination may be made the matter of special agreement, on taking out the policy; the Insurer paying only the home premium until the contingency contemplated shall happen. In this respect therefore, the PELICAN OFFICE offers an advantage that recommends itself, equally, to persons assuring their own lives, and, to solicitors, agents and others, whose object is indemnity.—The Directors are, at all times, willing to purchase policies on the most liberal terms; an arrangement obviously desirable, when the object of an Insurance has been effected.

SUPERIOR FACILITIES OFFERED

BY THE

United Kingdom Life Assurance Company,

8, WATERLOO PLACE, PALL MALL, AND 2, CHARLOTTE ROW, MANSION HOUSE, LONDON.

THIS Company, established by Act of Parliament, affords the most perfect security from an ample Capital, and only requires when an Insurance is for the whole period of life ONE-HALF of the very moderate Premiums to be paid for the first Five Years after the date of the Policy, the other half may remain, subject to the payment of interest at 5 per cent. annually, to be deducted at death, or may previously be paid off at convenience.

It obviously becomes easy for a person of very moderate income to secure by this arrangement a provision for his family; and should he at any time after effecting the insurance succeed to or acquire a fortune, he may relinquish his policy, having only paid one-half of the premiums for the first Five Years, instead of the whole, as in all other Companies.

Thus a man 25 years old, may, by an annual payment of £28, 16s. 3d. for the first Five Years, and afterwards the full premium £57, 12s. 6d. yearly, secure to his widow and children at his death payment of no less than £3000, subject only to the deduction of £144, 1s. 3d., being the amount of premium unpaid.

This Company holds out in various other respects great inducements to the public. When such facilities are afforded, it is clearly a moral duty in every parent who is not possessed of a fortune, but of an income, however moderate, to insure his life for a sum which may yield a comfortable provision for his family.

THE CORPORATION OF THE AMICABLE SOCIETY is the oldest Institution in existence for granting Assurances on Lives.

Every Person on whose Life an Assurance is effected for one or more Shares becomes a Member of the Corporation, and entitled, immediately upon his admission, to unreserved participation in the whole of the advantages arising from the long standing and accumulated Capital of the Society.

The distinctive feature of the plan adopted by the Society is the Equal Distribution, Share for Share, of the whole of the Profits among the Representatives or Nominees of the deceased Members, without reference to the length of time during which the Policy may have been in force.

No Commission is allowed to Agents, and the affairs of the Corporation are managed at the least possible expense; the Profits are therefore the utmost the Premiums taken admit of.

Persons whose Lives are assured with this Corporation may travel to or from, or reside in any part of Europe without paying any additional Premium.

Assurances for Terms of Years, or on Joint Lives or Survivorships, may be effected with the Society, either for Specified Sums without participation in the annual profits, or for Shares with participation, at the option of the Parties.

The assured may arrange to pay their Premiums either by a single payment, by annual payments during the whole continuance of the Assurance, or by annual payments during a limited number of years only.

THIS Office was established in 1792, and presents the following advantages:

1. PERFECT SECURITY, without any Partnership or responsibility whatever to the Insured.

2. RATES equally moderate as those of other respectable Establishments

3. A POSITIVE ADDITION of FIVE per Cent. at the end of five years, and of ONE per Cent. every succeeding year, to all sums insured (after 13th May 1835), on single lives, for the whole term of life. This addition, let it be observed, is certain,—not contingent,—nor in any way dependent on the profits of the Company.

EXAMPLE.

Suppose £1000 insured on a life aged 30, the annual Premium, £2, 13s. 4d. per Cent., amounts in the first five years to £133 6 8

At which time a positive addition will be made to the sum insured of 50 0 0

Being upwards of 37 per Cent. on the Premiums paid. If the Insurance is continued, the payment for the sixth year is, as before, £2, 13s. 4d. per Cent., or, for £1000, £26, 13s. 4d. But at the end of that year a further addition is made to the sum in the Policy of £10, and so on annually thereafter; which additions are subject to no contingency whatever, but are payable to the Assignee or Executor of the Insured, at the same time, and with equal certainty, as the original amount of the Policy.

On a life aged 40, the additions will average upwards of 29 per Cent. on the Premiums paid; at 20, upwards of 45 per Cent.

Tables of Rates, and other requisite information, may be had on application to the Agents in Edinburgh; and all Proposals of Insurance are disposed of without being subjected to the scrutiny of a Local Board of Directors, which, from prudential motives, Parties may in some cases, be desirous to avoid.

THE peculiar feature of the FAMILY ENDOWMENT SOCIETY (established under special Act of Parliament in 1835) consists in securing a provision at a given age, to all the future children born of the same parents. The consideration may be a single sum, or an annual premium.

The annual premiums required to secure an Endowment of £100 to each future child (however many), on attaining the age of 21, are as follows:—

Age of the Wife last birthday	Annual Premiums to cease in 22 years.	Age of the Wife last birthday	Annual Premiums to cease in 22 years.	Age of the Wife last birthday	Annual Premiums to cease in 22 years.	Age of the Wife last birthday	Annual Premiums to cease in 22 years.

22	8 14 8	27	7 15 7				&c.

Endowments may be made payable at any other age: and to either Male or Female Children, or to both.

Endowments are likewise granted, the Annual Premiums for which may cease at the Parent's death, without affecting the future provision for the Children.

The Society also grants Endowments to an existing Child, or Children singly. The contracts are always made payable to the Parent or Trustee, unless specially directed to be otherwise.

Parties desirous of the return of the amount they may have paid, in the event of their having no child, or none living when the Endowment would become payable, will be entitled thereto, on paying an additional 20 per cent. to their premiums.

Should the parties contracting with the Society, after having paid five or more annual premiums, be unable to continue the payments, such premiums shall not be considered as forfeited; but the Society will, notwithstanding, pay an equitable proportion of the Endowment to the Children then born on their attaining the given age.—The Society also secures Property to Heirs PRESUMPTIVE, by assuring against the contingency of Children who might become Heirs.

THIS Institution hopes to receive the especial patronage of Episcopalians, on account of the peculiar feature in its constitution above stated, which, without prejudicing the interests of others, is calculated to effect much good to a meritorious class of persons, and the benefits of which must necessarily expand in proportion to the extent of the Company's operations,—and it rests its claim to support from the public in general on the sound and liberal principles of its scheme—whereby all the advantages of such an Establishment may be obtained at rates as low as are consistent with due security.

FEMALE LIVES.

The advantages offered by this Company to those who effect insurances on female lives are not sufficiently known. By making a distinction between the sexes, a select class is separated from the general population, and receives the full benefit of its own longevity: it is not a reduction effected from the mere spirit of competition—it is the difference demanded by science, and supported by all observation. A female life insured in a Society where no diminution is made in its favour, pays an extra rate for forming part of a mixed mortality worse than its own, and for its ignorance in not selecting the Company which offers to it the full advantage of its higher expectation of life,—a selection which at once secures, in the payment of a reduced rate, an immediate advantage, equivalent to a prospective Bonus of £1168 on a Policy of £5000 for a female of thirty, if taken at the rates of insurances commonly used indiscriminately for both sexes. There is no promised future Bonus so secure, so convenient, as a low sufficient premium based on sound principles.

FOREIGN LIFE INSURANCE.

Life Assurances may be effected for the Australian Colonies, without any extra premium beyond the sea risk; and at moderate rates for the East and West Indies; for any of the British Colonies or Garrisons, for a continued or especial sea or climate risk, or for the duration of any military, civil, or diplomatic duty.

THE BONUS

Of 1840 is in progress of calculation, and the results will be communicated to the assured in the course of the month of December next. Four-fifths of the profits are divided among the assured for the whole term of life, whether residing abroad or at home. By order,

THE following are among the advantages of this Society :—

1*st*, The security of an ample Assurance Fund, besides the subscribed Capital.

2*dly*, For young and middle-aged lives the LOWEST RATES OF PREMIUMS that entitle the Assured to participate in the profits.

3*dly*, Three-fourths of the Profits divided every fifth year among those who have been assured four years on the equal scale of premiums. The bonus declared in 1834 averaged £16 per cent. on the premiums then paid; and the bonus awarded in 1839, on the average, is equal to £31 per cent. on the premiums received during the last five years.

4*thly*, Assurers may have the bonus applied to increase the sum assured, or in reduction of future premiums, either for the remainder of life, or for the next five years only.

5*thly*, Policies granted without any charge to the Assured beyond the Stamp-duty.

6*thly*, An option given to Assurers, on the increasing scale of rates, after the lapse of any number of years, to commute the future increasing premium by an equivalent equal annual one for the remainder of life, and thereafter to participate in the profits. The same advantages are applicable to Assurers on the decreasing scale of rates.

7*thly*, Policies on the lives of parties dying by suicide, duelling, or by the hands of justice, not void as respects the interests of persons to whom they may have been legally assigned.

8*thly*, No extra charge for residence in any part of Europe, nor for proceeding (in a decked, sailing, or steam-vessel) from any one Port thereof to another during peace, to Assurers not being seafaring men by profession. Licenses are granted to go to any part of the world upon terms proportionate to the risks.

9*thly*, Whole-life Policies on the equal scale of premium purchaseable after four years. Lapsed Policies revived on favourable terms to the Assured.

THIS Association purchases Life Interests and Reversions, and grants Deferred, Contingent and Immediate Annuities, Immediate or Deferred Assurances, and Deferred Sums.

Parties have the option of effecting assurances on either the participating or non-participating plan.

Those who assure for the whole term of life, on the former principle, will be entitled to three-fourths of the profit realised by the Association—to be ascertained every fifth year, and apportioned either by way of addition to the sum assured or in reduction of the premium on the policy.

In addition to the ordinary purpose of an Assurance Company, that of providing a given sum at the death of the assurer—this Society embracing the other contingency, affords the means of securing a provision during life or on attaining a given age.

It also presents a somewhat novel feature in life assurance, by combining both these methods, and enabling a person to secure a sum for himself on attaining a certain age, or for his family should he die previously—thus providing for two important contingencies—his own support during the decline of life in the one case, and the maintenance of his family in the other.

Below may be seen the terms on which the Society will enter into a variety of assurance Contracts—the sums respectively mentioned may be secured by an annual premium of £10—but of course any others may be provided by a proportionate premium.

Showing the Benefits to be obtained by an Annual Payment of Ten Pounds, commencing at the following Ages :—
