THE RELIGIONS OF DUBLIN;

AN ANALYTICAL VIEW OF—FIRST, THE PARISHES; SECONDLY, THE PLACES OF PUBLIC WORSHIP; THIRDLY, THE CLERGY.

FIRST,—THE PARISHES.

Dublin is divided, ecclesiastically, according to e scale of the ESTABLISHED CHURCH, into nine- n parishes, exclusive of the Deanery of St. trick, and the parish of Grangegorman, viz: . Andrew's, Anne's, Audoen's, Bridget's, Cathe- e's, George's, James's, John's, Luke's, Mark's, ıry's, Michan's, Michael's, Nicholas' Within, holas' Without, Paul's, Peter's, Thomas's, l Werburgh's:

ix of these, viz.—George's, Grangegorman, ry's, Michan's, Paul's, and Thomas's, are on North-side of the Liffey; the remainder are the South.

The largest parish in Dublin, both as regards ulation and area, is St. Peter's, which con- is 87 Irish acres—the smallest, in like respects, t. Nicholas' Within, which contains 2½ acres.

Those parishes nearest to the most ancient part the city (the neighbourhood of Winetavern- et) are the smallest; as they diverge from that it they progressively become larger: thus, for mple, St. Peter's, which is one of the exterior shes of the city, is, in itself, of greater extent n eight or nine parishes put together, which adjacent to the most ancient part of Dublin ded to.*

* may, perhaps, gratify the curious to state here, inci- ally, that the only parish in Dublin which verifies the e of having "the Church in the middle of it," is— e's.

ccording to the scale of the ROMAN CATHOLIC URCH, Dublin is divided into nine parishes, viz.— Andrew's, Audoen's, Catherine's, James's, hael's and John's, Michan's, Mary's, Nicho- s, and Paul's. Three of these, viz.—St. Mary's, chan's, and Paul's, are on the North-side of Liffey; the other six are on the South-side.

The largest parish is that of St. Mary, (which a union of SS. Mary's, Thomas's, and George's,) d the smallest is St. Audoen's.

The following Table exhibits the several parishes Dublin in the order of their respective areas. This culation of the area of the parishes, includes t portion only of each parish which is occupied buildings—

	Irish Acres.		Irish Acres.		Irish Acres
er's	7	James's	37	Luke's	19
ıry's	71	Mark's	37	Audoen's	15
therine's	69	George's	33	John's	6
chan's	61	Nich.without	29	Werburgh's	6
omas's	60	G.-Gorman	27	Deanery St.Patk.
ıe's	54	Andrew's	26	Michael's	4
l's	39	Bride's	22	Nich.within	2½

END OF THE STREET DIRECTORY.

KINGSTOWN,

COMMISSIONERS for the present year, elected first Tuesday in September, 1846, under the 4th and 5th William IV., "for paving, watching, lighting, regulating, and otherwise improving the town of Kingstown, in the county of Dublin," within the limits defined by said act.

Alexander Anderson, York street
William Masterson, Up. George's street
James Nugent, Upper George's street
George Brown, Northumberland avenue
Elias Arnold, Monkstown Crescent
Malachy Dowling, Air hill
John Smith, Lower George's street
Edward Drewe Valetta, Lr. George's street
John Moylan, Upper George's street
Horatio William Wallace, Sandy cove
William Frost, Upper George's street
Richard Wallnutt, Williamstown
Patrick Butler, Lower George's street
Patrick Murray, Lower George's street
Bindley Hone, Longford terrace
Berfany M'Cullagh, Ash Grove lodge
Andrew Brownlee, Killiney
Irwin Smyth, Lower George's street

Law Agent, John Orpin, esq. 17 Dame-street
Secretary, James Murray, Lower George's-street
Auditors of Accounts, Michael Carrigg and Miles Kelly
Surveyor, John Plant Gaynor, James's-street
Collector, John Clarke, Killiney

The tax is levied at the rate of sixpence in the pound, sterling, on the value of all houses and lands within said limits, for carrying the purposes of said act into effect, by annual valuation and applotment by two sworn applotters appointed by the commissioners. Eighteen commissioners compose the board, twelve of whom are chosen on the first Tuesday in September in every year, by the majority of the ratepayers. Any five commissioners constitute a board for transacting business. Qualification of a commissioner, if resident within the town, occupation of a house worth £20 per annum; if not resident, an annual property of at least £70, arising out of the town. The tax cannot exceed sixpence in the pound, so long as the Barony of Rathdown house tax shall continue to be levied.

☞ The Lord Mayors and Sheriffs since 1665, (being the year the former title was bestowed on the chief magistrate of Dublin,) will be found inserted in their respective years.

On the map of ancient Ireland, by the Greek geographer olemy, in the second century, as given by Ware and thers, the Eblanoi or Eblani are placed on the territory bich now forms the great plains of Dublin, and part of leath or ancient Bregia, and the chief city of the Eb-nians is called by Ptolemy Eblana, a name probably erived from the Irish word Dubh-Linn, the ancient name f Dublin, which might have been changed by the Greek riter into Dublana or Eblana.

Irish name of Dublin is Baile-atha-cliath Duibhlinne, e "the town of the ford of hurdles on the Blackwater." is stated in the Irish Triads (a work of great antiquity) at one of the three principal roads or great thoroughres of Ireland, was Bealach-atha-cliath, i. e. "the great ad of the ford of hurdles;" which shows that at a later eriod the word Baile, a town, was substituted for Bealach, highway. It is sometimes called simply Ath-cliath, hich Adamnan, abbot of Hy, (one of the western islands Scotland, where Columkill retired after leaving Ireland) ways latinizes into Vadum Cliad, and the early English riters omit Ath-cliath, and write Devlin or Divlyn, hich is the name of that part of the river Liffey whereon stands, and signifies black pool; or, as it has been tinized by the author of the life of St. Kevin, "nigra herma. The River Liffey, according to the Book of Ballyote, derived its name from the circumstance of a battle aving been fought near it by the Milesians against the uath De Danans and Fomorians; and the horse of the Filesian monarch Heremon, which was named Gabhar iffe, signifying the steed Liffe, having been killed there, ie river was called Liffe or Liffey. In Irish it was called mhain Liffe, signifying the river Liffey, which was nglicised Avon Liffey, and changed in modern times Anna Liffey. The ground on which Dublin was first ounded was known by the name of Drom-coll-coille, hich in English means "Mount-hazel-wood." In an ish MS. entitled "Book of Derivations of Remarkable laces" in Ireland, is the following account of the origin f the name of Ath cliath. This tract is said to have been iginally compiled by a person of the name of Amergin, hose father, Amalgee, is recorded, in the Book of rmagh, to have lived in the time of St. Patrick. There e several ancient copies of this compilation still extant; nd the very obsolete language in which they are written—nd which very few persons of the present day can decipher—is sufficient evidence to prove that the original as composed at a very early period :—

"Ath-cliath, why so called?—Not difficult to account for it. In the reign of Conor Mac Nessa, king of Ulster, (about the time of the Incarnation,) there lived a celebrated poet and historian, named Athairne, who then resided at Howth. His possessions extended to a considerable distance along the north banks of the Liffey, and were stocked with sheep; and his Lagenian herdsmen, finding there was a better pasturage on the south side of the river, constructed hurdles of small twigs, by which they formed a bridge over the river for the purpose of conveying the sheep across. At the same time a warrior, by name Meisgera, who was then acknowledged chief king of Leinster, resided at the south side of the Liffey. Being informed of Athairne's encroachment on his dominion, he ordered the hurdles to be removed. He likewise sent a message to Athairne, signifying that he should in future keep his sheep on his own side of the river, or else abide the consequences. Athairne (as one of the chief poets of Ireland) was highly incensed at this insulting message, and immediately sent to his patron, King Conor, for assistance, to be revenged of Meisgera. Conor, upon receiving the intelligence, despatched a band of his men, commanded by one of his champions, whose name was Mesdeadad, son of Amargin. On their arrival at the Liffey they attempted to replace the hurdles, whereupon the Leinster champion, at the head of his forces, stood forth and said, that he would try the chance of victory by single combat. The challenge was accepted by Mesdeadad, who, however, was slain by his antagonist; and hence the "Ford of Hurdles" derived its name.

From this circumstance may be inferred, that the name of Ath-Cliath was imposed on this place upwards of 1800 years ago. In the same Tract the writer endeavours to account for the derivation of Dublin as follows:—

"Dub, daughter of Rodub, became jealous of Aede, daughter of Echainn Mac Cuicha, whom she took with her until they arrived at that place where the river united with the sea, and coming behind Aede, pushed her into the flood, where she perished. Mairgen, a relative of Aede, being informed of the circumstance, went in pursuit of Dub, and while she was in the act of crossing the river, he cast a stone at her from his sling, and knocked her down in the pool, where she was drowned; and hence Dub Linn, or the pool of Dub."

Although this is evidently a fabulous story, still it goes to prove that the writer intended to give a very early origin to the name. It also proves that the name could not have been derived from the "Double Inn," that stood in Winetavern st. as many ignorant persons assert; because the Tract from which this is translated was written before we had a word of English spoken in this kingdom.

By the Britons or Welsh Dublin was called Dinas Dulin, signifying the fortress or city of Dublin; by the Danes it was named Dyflin, Duflin, and Dyflinar, as may be seen on the coins of the Danish Kings of Dublin, and in the Saga of the Icelandic historians, in Johnston's Celto-Scandinavian Antiquities—all of which names were derived from the Irish Dubhlinn.

165. In this year Ireland was divided into two parts, between Con of the hundred battles, monarch of Ireland, and Eogan-more, alias Mogha-Nuadat, the king of Munster, by a line drawn from Ath-cliath-Duibhlinne (Dublin) to Ath-cliath-Meadhruighe, (now Claren's-bridge, near Galway). This boundary was called Eisgir Riada, consisting of a number of gravel hills, which are still traceable.

291. Fiacha Sraitine, monarch of Ireland, quelled the rebellious inhabitants of Leinster, in a battle fought at Dublin.

448. Saint Patrick's church founded.

491. Saint Patrick died, aged 122 years, in the 14th year of the reign of king Lughaigh. This monarch was a violent enemy to the Christian religion, and a persecutor of its first preachers.

510. The advice of St. Bridget was sought on weighty occasions by the Ecclesiastics of the day, and was on one occasion authorative in a synod held in Dublin this year.

650. Saint Beraidh, abbot of Dublin, died. He and another abbot named Siadhal, who died in 785, are the only two of Dublin recorded in the Irish annals.

656. Livinus, bishop of Dublin, who succeeded his uncle Melanchus, died; he was succeeded by St. Wiro.

675. About this year Disibod, bishop of Dublin, resigned the see, which he governed for 10 years; he was succeeded by Gualafer. After his resignation he founded a monastery in Disenberg.

775. St. Rumold, bishop of Dublin, who succeeded Gualafer, was murdered this year in Gaul.

785. Feb. 12. Sedulus, bishop of Dublin, died.

836. A Norwegian fleet entered the Liffey, and the invaders laid waste the plains of Liffey and Meath, and burned and plundered many of the monasteries and churches.

840. The Danes erected a fortress near Dublin, out of which they sent parties who plundered Leinster and the adjacent territories.

843. Turgesius, at the head of the Danes of Dublin, and of the kingdom at large, plundered Connaught, Meath, and Munster. They pillaged many churches in their march, and burned those of Clonmacnois, with its hospital, Clonfert, and many others. The Danes, however, were defeated by Neill, the son of Hugh, in a battle fought on the plain of Ith, in the west of Ulster; and shortly after the tyrant Turgesius was captured by Maelseachlin Mac Maelroony, who drowned him in Lough Uar.

845. The Danes of Dublin, in an incursion into Ossory, were defeated by Carroll, the son of Donnelly, chief of that country. Two hundred of the Danes were slain on the field of battle.

—— Mary's abbey founded by Maelseachlain Mac Mealrughain, monarch of Ireland.

847. Dublin was plundered by Maelseachlain, the son of Mulrooney, and Tigernach, the lord of Lough Gavar, in Meath.

851. A bloody battle was fought between the Danes of Dublin and the Irish of Meath and Leinster, in which the latter were victorious. They took with them all the riches and treasures in the town, and killed a great number of the Danes. The few of the Danes who escaped fled to their own country, but returned the following year with fresh recruits, overthrew the Irish in a battle, and recovered the city of Dublin, which they repaired and strengthened with new fortifications.

859. Malachy, king of Ireland, fought the battle of Drummoy against the Danes of Dublin, where many of them fell.

865. The son of Gahan, an Irish chief, defeated the Danes of Dublin, and killed Odolb Micle, one of their leaders.

—— The royal palace of Aulaffe, king of the Danes of Dublin, built at Clondalkin, was set on fire by a party of the Irish, and consumed—a hundred of the principal Danes were, in the confusion, slain by them. In revenge, Aulaffe, by an ambuscade, surprised a body of 2000 of the Irish, who were most of them slain or taken prisoners.

871. Ivor M'Aulaffe succeeded his father in the government of Dublin, and was a prince of such power that the Irish annals give him the title of "King of the Normans of all Ireland."

877. The citizens of Dublin, invading North Britain, routed the Picts with great slaughter.

878. Barith, chief of the Danes, who plundered St. Cianan's Church, Duleek, was killed and burned in Dublin.

885. Flann Mac Mealachlin, king of Ireland, was defeated in battle by Godfrid Mac Yvor, at the head of the Danes of Dublin, in which Hugh, son of Conor, king of Connaught, and Leargus, bishop of Kildare, with many others were slain; soon after which Godfrid fell by the treachery of his brother Sitrick.

890. The Danes of Dublin, under the command of Glunarian, general to Sitrick Mac Yvor, marched northwards, and took and plundered the city of Armagh, burned the cathedral and other religious houses, and brought away 710 prisoners.

—— Gregory, king of Scotland, besieged Dublin this year which surrendered to him on his own conditions. He spared the city, however, at the entreaty of Cormac, who was then bishop of Dublin, and having entered the city, he marched to the market place, where he commanded a part of his army to halt, while he went with the remainder to Mary's abbey, and afterwards to St. Patrick's church, and hearing divine service in the latter, he entered the Castle, where his lodging was prepared. Having ultimately concluded peace with the Irish, he returned to Scotland.

892. The city of Dublin was torn by intestine factions, fomented by Jeffry Merlys against Sitrick Mac Ivor, then king of Dublin.

897. The Danes were driven from their garrison in Dublin by the Lagenians and the men of Bregia; the former were headed by the son of Muiregen, the latter by Maelfiana.

—— The crops of all Ireland were destroyed this year by locusts, and a terrible famine ensued.—See 1331, 1447.

914. A considerable fleet appeared in the harbour of Dublin, commanded by Geoffry, son of Iambair, who, after uniting his army with that on land, attacked the city with incredible fury, which he took, and put the garrison to the sword.

916. The Ostmen of Dublin invaded the Isle of Anglesea, and wasted it from end to end with fire and sword.

917. A furious battle was fought on the 17th of October, between the Irish and the Danes, at Dublin. Imar and Sitric commanded the Danes in this battle. The Book of Ballymote states, that in this battle were slain Niall Glenduv, monarch of Ireland; Conor O'Maelseachlin, the heir apparent to the crown of Ireland; Hugh Mac Eoghegan, king of Ulster; Maelmithig Mac Flanagan, prince of Brega, in the county of Meath; Maelcraeve Mac Duvsinaigh, prince of Oriel, which comprehended the counties of Louth, Fermanagh, Armagh, and Monaghan; Maelcraeive Mac Doiligen, prince of Torton, (I believe in the county of Down;) Callach Mac Fogarty, prince of South Brega; Heremon Mac Kennedy, prince of Keneul Maine, county of Mayo; and many others of the Irish nobles.

921. Reginald Mac Yvor, king of the Danes of Ireland, died at Dublin.

934. Dublin was reduced to ashes by Donchad, son of Flann.

935. The Danes of Dublin fled from their garrison in the city, and passed over to England.

936. Amlave, Danish king, returned to Dublin, and plundered the neigbouring counties.

—— Donchad, king of Ireland, marched with a numerous army to Dublin, and laid siege to the Danish garrison. He plundered all the possessions of the Danes from Dublin to Athy.

937. The Danes fled from Dublin, attributed to the prayers of Macthalius, patron saint of the city.

938. Blacar, the son of Godfred, returns to Dublin.

944. Congall II. king of all Ireland, at the head of the people of Brega, and assisted by Bran Mac Maolmordha and his Lagenians, took Dublin, plundered and exterminated the Danish inhabitants, and, burning the town, carried off much booty and treasure.

945. The Danes regained the city of Dublin from the Irish and repaired it.

946. The Danes of Dublin, in revenge for the losses they sustained in 944, plundered and laid waste a great part of Meath.

—— Congelach, the monarch, fought the battle of Dublin against Blacar, the son of Imar, lord of the Northmen. Blacar fell, and 1600 of his men either killed or wounded.

948. The Danes of Dublin were defeated in a battle, with the loss of 1600 men.

950. The Danes of Dublin plundered and burned Slane.

951. Godfrid took Dublin, and ravaged the country for four miles round it.

—— 6,000 of the Danes were slain in a battle which was fought in Meath with the Irish, and the remainder of the Danish army fled to Dublin. In their route, Godfrid, their king, was slain.

954. Congelach fought a battle against Aulaf, son of Godfred, lord of the Danes of Dublin, in which he himself, with many other Irish chieftains, lost their lives.

78. The Danes of Dublin, commanded by Aulaffe, marched to Tara, to give battle to the Irish, who were commanded by Malachy, who was afterwards king of Ireland. In this battle the Danes were defeated with great slaughter; many brave Irish chieftains also fell.

80. The Irish having besieged the city, took it, and compelled the Danes to submit to the payment of a large annual tribute

89. Gluniarain Mac Aulaffe was murdered by one of his domestics, called Colvan, and he was succeeded by his brother Sitric.

— King Malachy fought the Danes in a battle at Dublin, in which many of the Danes were slain. After the battle Malachy laid siege to the city for twenty days, during which time they had no drink except salt water. Being obliged to surrender to him he compelled them to submit to a yearly tribute of an ounce of gold out of every capital messuage and garden in Dublin, payable, at Christmas, to him and his successors for ever.

3. Sitric Mac Aulaffe, king of the Danes of Dublin, was driven into banishment, but was recalled the same year by them, and restored to his kingdom.

4. Malachy, king of Ireland, carried away by force, from the Danes of Dublin, the ring of Tomar, and the sword of Carolus.

9. Brian Boroimhe took the city of Dublin, and after remaining a week, he carried away a considerable quantity of gold and silver, with other valuable effects.

00. The Danes of Dublin repaired the walls of the city, and erected new fortifications, after giving hostages for their allegiance to Brian Boroimhe. A part of the wall is still visible (1835) at the rere of Hoey's-court and Little Ship-street.

02. Brian Boroimhe marched with an army to Dublin, and obtained the hostages of Meath and Connaught.

05. Malachy, king of Leinster, marched to Dublin, and destroyed the suburbs with fire; but the strength of the walls hindered him from making any impression on the city.

12. The Danes of Dublin, joined by the people of Leinster, waged war against Brian Boroimhe, who defeated them, and plundered the country as far as Dublin.

14. On Good Friday, the 23d of April, in this year, was fought the famous and bloody battle of Clontarf, between the Irish, headed by Brian Boroimhe, monarch of Ireland, and the Danes, headed by Sitric, king of the Ostmen, in which the former were triumphant, although Brien received his death wound in the arms of victory, in the 12th year of his reign, and the 88th of his age. In this battle fell Brian's son, Murchad, a great number of the nobility, and 11,000 men. After the battle Sitric, with the relics of the Danes, retired to Dublin.

— Malachy, king of Ireland, in conjunction with his ally, Hugh O'Neill, and the tribe of Maeldoraidh, led an army against Dublin, which he took by assault, and after plundering it, he set it on fire.

5. Mac Liag, secretary to the monarch, Brian Boroimhe, died. We are indebted to him for the version of the battle of Clontarf.

3. Brien, the son of Maelmordha, son of Murchad, king of Leinster, had his eyes pulled out by Sitric Mac Aulaffe, king of Dublin, who took him by treachery. Brien died shortly after in consequence of the loss of his eyes.

2. Ugaire Mac Dunlaing, king of Leinster, defeated Sitric Mac Aulaffe, king of Dublin, in a battle fought near Delgany, in the county of Wicklow, and slew a great number of his forces.

Malachy, king of Ireland, died this year, shortly after defeating the Danes of Dublin, in a battle fought near Athboy.

Donough O'Brien, king of Munster, compelled the Danes of Dublin to pay him homage and deliver hostages.

Reginald Mac Ivor, prince of the Danes of Waterford, was slain in Dublin, by Sitric Mac Aulaffe, king of the Danes of Dublin.

Christ Church founded in the heart of the city, by Sitric Mac Aulaffe, the Danish prince of Dublin, and Donat, bishop of Dublin. The order instituted was that of secular canons, not tied to strict monastic rules; but Laurence O'Toole, archbishop of Dublin, about the year 1166, substituted canons regular of the order of Arras, a branch of the Augustinians. The ancient portion of the present church was built by Earl Strongbow, Raymond le Gros, and other Anglo-Norman lords. In the year 1300, it was agreed on that the archbishops of Dublin should be consecrated here, as being a more ancient cathedral than that of St. Patrick's.

Donat built St. Michael's Chapel, which was afterwards converted into a parochial church by Richard Talbot, archbishop of Dublin.

1042. Sitric, the son of Aleb, founder of Christ Church, died.

1066. Godred Crovan, king of Man, this year subdued Dublin, and a great part of Leinster.

1071. Murrough Mac Dermot, king of Leinster, died, and was buried by the Ostmen in Dublin.

1074. Donat, the first bishop of the Ostmen in Dublin, died, and was buried in his own cathedral, near the high altar.

1084. Patrick, bishop of Dublin, died; he was elected in the year 1074 by the people of Dublin, and was consecrated in England by Lanfranc, archbishop of Canterbury, who sent letters of recommendation with him back to Turlogh O'Brien, king of Ireland, and to Godfred, ruler of Dublin. It is stated by several writers, that there were no bishops in Dublin prior to this year, the title being that of abbot, which was equal to and synonymous with that of bishop in those days.

1085. Donat O'Haingly, a Benedictine monk at Canterbury, was consecrated bishop of Dublin in this year, by Lanfranc, archbishop of Canterbury; he died on the 23rd of November, 1095.

1088. The Danes of Dublin marched to Waterford, and took and burned it to the ground.

1095. Murtogh O'Brien, king of Ireland, marched to Dublin with a considerable army, and expelled Godfrid Meranagh, king of the Danes of Dublin, who then had a fleet of ninety ships in the harbour of Dublin.

—— St. Michan's church founded by St. Michan, a Dane.

—— Samuel O'Haingly a monk of the abbey of St. Albans, was consecrated bishop of Dublin, at Winchester, by Anselm, archbishop of Canterbury, at the recommendation of Murtogh O'Brien, king of Ireland; he died on the 4th July, 1121.

1098. King William Rufus obtained the Irish oak, which forms the curious old roof of Westminster hall.

1102. All the Irish forces marched to Dublin to give battle to Magnus and his Norwegian army, who came to plunder Ireland. They made peace with the Irish for a year, and Murtogh O'Brien gave his daughter in marriage to Sicraid, son of Magnus, with much riches.

1103. The Danes of Dublin were slaughtered by the Irish.

1105. St. Catherine's church founded—rebuilt in the year 1761.

1118. Turlogh O'Conor, originally king of Connaught, became king over the Danes of Dublin in this year.

—— Sitric, the son of Amlave, at the head of the Danes of Dublin, plundered Kells; they carried away rich spoils and many captives, and murdered many in the middle of the church.

1121. On the 2d of October, in this year, Rodolphus, archbishop of Canterbury, consecrated one Gregory bishop of Dublin, by orders of Henry I. at the request of Turlogh O'Brien, the then king of Ireland. See 1152. Gregory died on the 8th of October, 1161.

1125. Turlogh O'Conor came to Dublin, where he remained for one night, and gave the sovereignty of it to the king of Leinster.

1126. Turlogh O'Conor marched to Dublin with his army, and after conquering the Danes and the Irish of Leinster, he placed his son Conor over them as king.

1127. The Danes of Dublin revolted against Turlogh O'Conor, and deposed his son Conor, whom he appointed king in 1126

1141. Conor O'Brien marched to Dublin, and the Danes submitted to him as their king.

1146. The first nunnery erected, and called St. Mary de Hogges, a village without the eastern gate, near the site of the present church of St. Andrew. It was founded by Dermot, son of Murchad, king of Leinster, for Nuns following the order of St. Augustin.

—— Upwards of 200 of the Danes of Dublin were slaughtered by the inhabitants of East Meath; among the slain were Reginald, high steward of the Danes, and many other Danish noblemen.

1150. Turlogh O'Brien marched with an army to Dublin, and the Danes submitted to him as their king. He gave them 1200 cows as a reward for their services.

1152. Cardinal John Papiron or Paparo, arrived in Ireland with a legatine authority from the Pope. He summoned a general convocation of the Irish clergy at Kells, whereat an archbishop was consecrated for the city of Dublin, and also for the three other archiepiscopal sees respectively.

1162. The Ostmen of Dublin were overrun and spoiled by Dermod Mac Murrough, king of Leinster, who bore great sway over them.

1166. The same Dermod founded the priory of All-hallows, or All Saints, outside Dublin, (where Trinity College now stands,) for canons of the order of Aroasia. This house was demolished in 1591, for the purpose of erecting Trinity College.

1166. The prior had a seat and suffrage in the House of Lords. On the 4th of February, 1538, the priory with all its possessions, temporal and spiritual, was granted to the city of Dublin, at the yearly rent of £4 4s. 0½d., Irish money. Walter Handcock, the last prior, died October 15th, 1548.

—— Roderick O'Conor declared monarch of Ireland, and was acknowledged king of Dublin by the citizens, to whom he presented four thousand oxen.

1166. Roderick invaded Leinster, and put to flight the king, Dermod Mac Murrough. The cause of this was the cruelty exercised by Dermod over his subjects, and a rape committed by him on the wife of Tiernan O'Rourke, king of Brefney, which was the cause of the English invasion.

1168. Dermod Mac Murrough was obliged, after many defeats, to leave Ireland, and throw himself at the feet of Henry II. the English monarch, (then in Aquitain,) and crave his assistance, offering to become his liegeman. The English king being engaged in his French wars, could not then afford assistance, but having received Dermod's oath of allegiance, he, by letters patent, granted a general licence to all his subjects to aid king Dermod in the recovery of his kingdom.

1170. Earl Strongbow landed at Waterford with a large body of followers, and laid siege to the city, which he took. They then marched for Dublin, which, after having put to flight Roderick O'Conor and a large army, they entered and made themselves master of, after great slaughter. Miles de Cogan was named the first English governor of the capital.

1171. Dermod Mac Murrough, king of Leinster, a man who spread terror over all Ireland, after having brought hither an English army, committed many evils against the Irish, plundered and burnt many churches, among which were Kells, Clonard, and others, died this year at Ferns of a loathsome uncommon disease, for he became putrid while living, through the miracles of God, Colum-Kille, Saint Finnen, and the Saints of Ireland, for having violated and burned their churches. He died without making a will, repentance, eucharist, or extreme unction, as his evil doings deserved.

1171. Duleek was plundered by the Knights of Miles de Cogan, and some of them were slain on the following day by the Danes of Dublin, at Ennagh Keenan.

—— Hasculph, prince of the Danes of Dublin, but who was driven therefrom in the year 1170 by Earl Strongbow, in this year procured an army of Norwegians from the Orkney and other Islands, which was commanded by John Wood, surnamed the Furious, and entered the Liffey with sixty ships. This army—which is described as well-appointed after the Danish manner, with brigandines, jacks, and coats of mail, their shields, bucklers, and targets round, and coloured red, and bound about with iron—after landing, attacked the eastern gate of the city; but after much hard fighting, in which many were slain on both sides, Hasculph was repulsed by Miles de Cogan, owing chiefly to an unexpected attack made by his brother Richard, with a body of cavalry.

—— The forces of Miles de Cogan plundered Duleek; but the Danes of Dublin, on the following day, slew great numbers of them in retaliation.

—— A battle was fought at Dublin between Miles Cogan and Asgall, son of Reginald, king of the Irish Danes; many fell on both sides, both of the English forces and of the Danes of Dublin, among whom were Asgall, the son of Reginald, and Eoan, a Dane from the Orkney isles.

—— Roderick O'Conor, Tiernan O'Rourke, and Murchad O'Carroll, marched with an army to Dublin, to besiege it, of which Earl Strongbow and Miles Cogan were in possession. During a fortnight several skirmishes and engagements took place between them.

—— Tiernan O'Rourke, at the head of the forces of Brefney and Oriel, marched a second time to Dublin, and gave battle to Miles Cogan and his forces, in which the former were defeated. In this engagement, Tiernan's son, Tanist, of Brefney, and many others, were slain.

1172. Tiernan O'Rourke, lord of Brefney and Conmaicne, for a long period a powerful chieftain, was treacherously slain at Tlaghtga, (in the county of Meath,) by Hugo de Lacy, and by Donall, son of Annadh O'Rourke, one of his own tribe, who accompanied them. Having beheaded him they carried his head and body to Dublin in a savage manner; the head was placed over the Castle gate, a woful spectacle to the Irish, and the body was gibbetted, with the feet upwards, at the north of the city.

—— On the 18th October, in this year, Henry II. arrived at Waterford, with a fleet of 240 ships, and a large body of nobles, knights, &c. Leaving Robert Fitz-Bernard in the government of Waterford, he marched for Dublin, where he constituted Hugh de Lacy seneschal or custos of the city. He then pursued his march, and received the submission of the princes of Munster, from whence he returned to winter in the capital. He there granted the charters and laws of England to Ireland. The king kept his Christmas in Dublin, in as great state as the city would then allow, and entertained many of the Irish nobles in a palace or pavilion formed of wicker work, which was hastily erected near St. Andrew's church; the Irish nobles then entered into a solemn compact with the English king, under whom they agreed to be governed by the English laws, immunities, &c. After having left proper governors in different parts of the kingdom, he returned to England on Easter Mon. in the following year.

1173. King Henry II. having received the submission of the Irish, granted the city of Dublin to the people of Bristol to inhabit by charter.

—— A great war having arisen between Henry, King of England and his son Henry, the king sent for the Earl of Strigule (Earl Strongbow) and the English of Ireland, who returned from Normandy to Ireland after having gained a triumph and victory there, and landed at Dublin accompanied by Raymond le Gros.—Annals of Inisfallen.

1174. Richard, Earl Strongbow, erected a priory of Knights Templars at Kilmainham, where the Royal Hospital now stands. It was subsequently enriched by many extensive possessions, and was esteemed one of the most spacious buildings in the kingdom.

—— Mulroney O'Keirdha, lord of Carbery, was treacherously slain by the foreigners of Dublin, namely, by Mac Turnin, assisted by the son of Hugh O'Ferrall, and by Keallagh O'Finnellan, lord of Delvinmore.

—— The Earl Strongbow marched his army to plunder Munster, and Roderick, king of Connaught, marched to oppose him. When the English received intelligence of Roderick's arrival in Munster to give them battle, they sent for the English of Dublin to join them in the attack, who, with all possible speed, marched to Thurles, where they were met by Donell O'Brien, at the head of the Dalcassians, by a battalion from West Connaught, and by the numerous army of Clan Murray, together with a numerous and select army under the command of Roderick. A fierce engagement ensued between the English and the Irish, in which the former were at last defeated. In this battle 1700 of the English were slain, and only a few of them survived, who fled with the Earl to his house in Waterford, and O'Brien returned home.

1175. About this year was founded the Abbey of Saint Thomas á Becket, by William Fitz Aldelm, butler to King Henry II. where Thomas-court now stands.

—— Roderick O'Conor, king of Connaught, passed the Shannon, and preyed the country even to the walls of Dublin.

1177. Earl Strongbow died in Dublin of a mortification in his foot, and was buried with great solemnity in Christ church, where still remains a monument to his memory, in the great aisle. The Irish Annals ascribe his death to the vengeance of Bridget, Columkill, and other Saints, whose churches were destroyed by him.

—— Henry II. founded the Canons of St. Victor, in Dublin, and the same year created his younger son, John, then 12 years of age, lord of Ireland.

—— Cardinal Vivianus, the Pope's legate, convened a synod of the clergy in Ireland, at Dublin, wherein he published King Henry's title to Ireland, and the Pope's ratification of it, denouncing excommunication against all who should withdraw their allegiance from him.

—— Hugh de Lacy came to Dublin with an English fleet and expelled Miles de Cogan therefrom to Cork.

—— The English of Dublin and Trim went to plunder Westmeath, and took much cattle from Muintir Fadgain (the tribe name of the family of Fox), who, having collected their forces, overtook them, and took the prey from them, and they slew Hugo Sarsfield and many others.

1178. William Fitz Aldelm, chief Governor of Ireland, removed a relic called Jesus' Staff, from Armagh to Dublin, and deposited it in Christ church, which brought no small profit to the canons of that church.

178. John De Courcy made an incursion into Dalaradia in Ulster to plunder that teritory, but was opposed by Cumidhe O'Flynn, Lord of Hy Fuirtre, who gave him battle. John with his English forces was defeated with great slaughter, and John himself escaped with difficulty and arrived in Dublin covered with wounds. In the same year the English Constable of Dublin and Meath marched with his troops to Clonmacnois, and plundered all the town, except the churches and the house of the Bishop.

179. On the 20th of April, this year, the Pope promulgated a bull to Laurence O'Toole, archbishop of Dublin, (who went to attend the council of Lateran,) in which, taking under his protection the church of Dublin, he confirmed its rights, its jurisdiction over the suffragan sees of Glendalagh, Kildare, Ferns, Leighlin, and Ossory.

180. Nov. 14. Laurence O'Toole, of the family of Imaile, in the co. Wicklow, archbishop of Dublin, died. He was consecrated in Christ church, by Gelasius, archbishop of Armagh, in the year 1162.

181. 1207. King John, on the 18th of March, in the ninth year of his reign, gave a charter to the citizens of Dublin.

1209. On Easter Monday, upwards of 500 citizens, being a colony from Bristol, went out to divert themselves near Cullen's-wood, where they were surprised by the Irish, and slaughtered, wherefore that day was afterwards called "Black Monday;" and the scene of the tragedy is still known by the name of the "Bloody Fields."

1210. King John being in Ireland this year, with a formidable army, set about the reformation of it with vigour. Upwards of twenty Irish princes swore allegiance to him at Dublin, and engaged to establish the English laws and customs in the kingdom. He divided it into counties, established courts of judicature in Dublin, and appointed judges, circuits, and corporations, as in England. He also established a new coinage, and assimilated the currency of both countries.

—— A great war arose between the King of England and the Welsh. A message came from the king to the English bishop, who, together with the English nobles in Ireland, attended the king's summons. Richard Tuite was appointed chief justice in Ireland, who went to Athlone for the purpose of sending his brethren to govern Limerick, Waterford, and Wexford, while he himself would rule over Dublin and Athlone. During his sojourn at Athlone, some of the walls of the castle fell down, by which himself and his priest, together with several of his forces were killed.

1213. O'Donnell more marched with his army from Connaught to Dublin, and compelled the inhabitants of the city to expel Murray, the poet of Lissadell, in the county of Sligo, to Scotland, whom he previously expelled from Clan Rickard, Thomond, and the city of Limerick, in revenge for the killing of Timothy O'Brollaghan, his (O'Donnell's) steward. And O'Donnell afterwards granted him his pardon and some lands on his territories in Ireland, in consequence of some laudatory poems composed by the poet, while exiled in Scotland, for O'Donnell.

1214. The bishoprick of Glendalough, which was founded in the sixth century, was incorporated with Dublin.

1215. The king granted a licence to the citizens of Dublin to erect a bridge over the Liffey, where they pleased.

The adherents of the House of York, and Margaret duchess of Burgundy, who was sister of king Edward IV., set up a youth about sixteen years of age, named Lambert Simnel, who was the son of a baker or shoemaker, but of very handsome person and elegant accomplishments, and was educated at Oxford; he personated Edward, earl of Warwick, son of George, the deceased duke of Clarence, and brother of Edward IV.; and to support the claims of this pretender to the crown of England against Henry VII., the duchess of Burgundy, and her adherents, sent over to Ireland, along with Simnel, 2000 Germans, or Belgians, according to some accounts, commanded by Martin Swart, which forces landed in Dublin in the month of May, A. D. 1486. The earl of Kildare, then lord deputy, and the greater part of the English nobility in Ireland, countenanced the claims of Simnel to the crown, believing him to be the earl of Warwick, and had him crowned in Christ Church, Dublin, with all possible honours, as king Edward VI., the crown used for that purpose being a diadem taken from the statue of the Virgin Mary, in the church of St. Mary les Dames, in Dublin, still preserved in the Carmelite chapel in Whitefriar street; the coronation sermon was preached by John Payne, bishop of Meath, and Simnel, being proclaimed king, was carried through the streets from Christ Church to the Castle, on the shoulders of Darcy of Platten, in Meath, a man of gigantic stature. The adherants of Simnel having collected their forces in England to oppose king Henry, and Martin Swart, with his two thousand Germans or Belgians, joined by six thousand of the Irish, under the lords Thomas and Maurice Fitzgerald, proceeded to England to assist them, but Simnel's combined forces were defeated in a great battle at Stoke, near Newark, in Nottingham, on the banks of the river Trent, in the month of June, 1487, by the English army, commanded by king Henry in person, and after a fierce engagement, in which the Irish forces and Germans fought with great bravery for a long time, they were at length overcome by the superior numbers of the English, and four thousand of them slain, and in the battle also fell Martin Swart, and the lords Thomas and Maurice Fitzgerald, with many other commanders. Simnel was taken prisoner, and, in derision, made a turnspit in the royal kitchen, but was afterwards promoted to the office of falconer to the king.

—— King Henry VII. granted twenty pounds a year for ever to the church of the Holy Trinity, out of the fee farm of the city.

1487. The mayor of Dublin and the citizens made a submission to the king for their misbehaviour in the affair of Lambert Simnel.

1488. The English commissioner, Sir Richard Edgecombe, took the homage and oaths of the nobility. He landed at Kinsale on the 27th June, came to Dublin on the 5th July, on the 27th he dined with the Recorder, and on the 30th he embarked at Dalkey.

—— A wonderful child was born in Dublin, who had his teeth at his birth; he grew to an enormous size, and so large a child was not seen or heard of since the time of the heroes of old.

—— September 4, Thomas Meyler, mayor, and William English and Robert Boys, bailiffs, accompanied by the different officers of the corporation, rode the franchise of the city.

—— The first muskets or fire-arms that were ever seen in Ireland were brought to Dublin from Germany, and six of them, as a great rarity, were presented to Gerald, Earl of Kildare, then lord deputy, which he put into the hands of his guards as they stood sentinels before his house in Thomas-street.

1489. The sheep of Meath, along the sea coast from Dublin to Drogheda, ran into the sea and never returned back.

—— A great plague raged this year, of which immense numbers died, and so brief was it that many persons were left unburied throughout Ireland.

1490. On the 17th June, the first importation of claret was made in Dublin.

1491. Exceeding wet stormy weather happened in the summer and harvest of this year, which had the resemblance of a deluge, and all the corn of Ireland failed.

1492. James, Earl of Ormonde, came down with a great host of Irishmen, encamped in Thomas-court wood; and from that time began the great quarrel between the Kildare and Butler families.

—— The Sheep-street, (Ship-street) in Dublin, was burned by the Lord Justice (Fitzgerald), and after that, a peace was made between him and the Lord Justice (Fitzsimons) on the following terms: that each should hold his father's office, and that the King's deputyship in Ireland (i. e. the sword of state), and all the privileges appertaining to it, should be given up to the archbishop of Dublin, until the King should settle their disputes, and arrange matters between them. The cause for which the Earl of Kildare resigned his office of Lord Justice, and for withdrawing his aid from the English of Meath, was, because they had not assisted him against the Earl of Ormonde.

1493. Several eminent citizens were slain at a riot which took place at Oxmantown-green. Upon this occasion John Sargent, mayor of Dublin, was committed to ward in the castle.

—— The son of the Earl of Ormonde arrived in Ireland, after having spent a considerable time in England; and he, with O'Brien and his kinsmen, and M'William of Clanrickarde, marched with an army into Butler's country, and compelled the Butlers to submit to the Earl's son; the same army took the Irish of Leinster prisoners, and destroyed Meath.

1494. The military fraternity of St. George ceased, which was established in December, 1475, under Edward IV.

—— Sir Edward Poynigs was appointed deputy of Ireland. He marched into Ulster, where he ravaged the territories. The Earl of Kildare was supposed to have secretly fomented the designs of the O'Hanlons.

—— The Earl of Kildare was taken prisoner by the English in Dublin, and sent to England.

1497. The city of Dublin granted to all persons that should come to visit any shrine or relique, in Christ church, liberty from arrest and other molestations.

—— A great famine happened in this and in the following year through Ireland, so that the people did eat food which is not fit to be mentioned, such as was never served on dishes, to be used by human beings. 4 Mas.

1500. The city of Dublin besieged by the Earl of Kildare, lord deputy.

1504. Allen's Hospital, situated between the bounds of the palace of St. Sepulchre and Kevin-street, was founded by John Allen, (then Dean of St. Patrick's,) for sick poor men.

1506. The prior of Kilmainham attempted to take some loads of hay forcibly from the Dominicans of Dublin; but the mayor and commons, assembling in favor of the friars, rescued the hay, and drove the prior into Kilmainham.

1509. In the month of May, King Henry VIII. was proclaimed in Dublin, to the great joy of the inhabitants. Bells were wrung, and bonfires lighted on the occasion.

1511. William Rokeby, lord chancellor of Ireland, and bishop of Meath, was translated to the archiepiscopal see of Dublin. He was brother to Sir Richard Rokeby, lord treasurer of Ireland; he died in 1521.

1512. The mayor of Dublin obliged by the pope to walk barefooted through the city, before the sacrament, on Corpus Christi day, yearly as an atonement for the citizens taking part with the Earl of Kildare, in a quarrel in Patrick's church, which was ever afterwards duly accomplished, until the Reformation put an end to such practices.

1513. The mayor of Dublin, with a well armed company of citizens, attended the Earl of Kildare this year, in an Lord Thomas Fitzgerald besieged the Castle of Dub- and caused a rebellion, which cost the English govern- t £40,000 to quell; a large sum in those days.

The Earl of Kildare, lord justice of Ireland, (Garret, of Garret, son of Thomas,) the most illustrious of the lish and Irish in Ireland—for his fame and renown had ad not only throughout all Ireland, but also throughout ign countries—died in imprisonment in London. Af- his death, his son Thomas (commonly called "Silken mas") began to revenge his wrongs upon the English, upon all those who had conspired to have him expelled and; he disdainfully sent away the king of England's rd; slew the archbishop of Dublin (who was his er's enemy) and many others along with him; took blin from Newgate outward, and received hostages from rest of the town through awe of him. He plundered laid waste all Fingall, from Sliav Roe, to Drogheda, and made all Meath tremble at his name. When the king of England obtained intelligence of this, he sent relief to the citizens, viz: Thomas Sheffington, as lord chief justice of Ireland, attended by Leonard Gray, and a large fleet, who immediately began to destroy all the posses- sions of the Earl of Kildare; they took Maynooth, his residence, and banished him from his country.
—— George Brown, an Augustine friar, consecrated arch- bishop of Dublin, and was the first prelate in Ireland who embraced the Reformation. He also removed all reliques and images out of the two cathedrals in Dublin, and other churches in his diocese, and in their stead placed the creed, the Lord's prayer, and ten commandments, in gilded frames.
1536. Many virulent diseases and distempers raged this year in Ireland, such as a universal plague, the small pox, dysentry, and fever, of which many died.
1537. St. Patrick's staff, that was brought from Armagh and deposited in Christ church, was this year publicly committed to the flames.
—— In a parliament held in Dublin this year, by the lord deputy, Leonard Gray, was passed the Act of Supremacy, by which king Henry VIII. was declared supreme head of the church in Ireland, and all appeals to the Pope or communications with the court of Rome were prohibited under the penalty of premunire, and any person who re- fused to take the oath of supremacy, was deemed guilty of high treason.
1539. A rebellion of O'Neill and other chieftains of Ulster, quelled by the mayor and citizens of Dublin.
1541. The priory and convent of Christ church, Dublin, was converted into a deanery and chapter, and Robert Castell, alias Painswich, being the last prior, was made the first dean of it.
—— In a parliament held this year in Dublin, by the lord deputy, Anthony St. Leger, King Henry VIII. was de- clared king of Ireland, (the kings of England being only till then styled lords of Ireland,) and on the Sunday following was proclaimed in Patrick's church, upon which occasion all persons (except for treason, murder, rape, or debt,) were set at liberty.
—— Anthony St. Leger was the first viceroy of Ireland, at the annual salary of £666 13s. 4d.
—— Sir John Rawson, prior of Kilmainham, and treasurer of Ireland for several years, was, after surrendering the hospital with its dependencies into the hands of king Henry VIII. created by that monarch Viscount Clontarf, with a pension of 500 marks.
1543. O'Donnell (Manus) attended the great council in Dublin, together with his brothers, Egnaghan and Do- nagh; they were taken, cast into prison, and put in chains, where they remained for a long time. They were after- wards set at liberty by the advice of the Lord Chief Justice and the Chiefs of Ireland, and peace and friendship made between them.
1544. Three prebends, viz. of St. Michael's, St. Michan's, and St. John's, were erected in Christ church, by arch- bishop Brown.
1545. Henry VIII. granted the territory of the abbey of St. Thomas to William Brabazon, ancestor of the Earl of Meath.
—— A part of Christ church, in Dublin, was thrown down, and a stone coffin discovered, in which was found the body of a bishop, in episcopal dress, with a gold ring on each of his fingers, and a golden chalice standing by the side of his neck. The body, when removed from the coffin, was found perfect and sound, and did not fall asunder when removed from its place. It was placed in a standing position, supported by the altar, and left there for some time. No part of the dress faded or decayed.
1546. Fitzpatrick (Bernard) made a prisoner of his own son, Teigue, who was a great leader, and sent him to Dublin, with his crimes written along with him, and the English put him to death by order of his father.
—— New coin was introduced into Ireland this year, i. e. copper; and the Irish were compelled to use it as the current coin.
1547. The rebels were defeated at the town of the three castles by the English, and by Bryan of the war, son of Terence O'Toole. The two sons of James, the son of the Earl of Kildare, viz. Maurice of the wood, and Henry, were taken prisoners, along with fourteen of their people, who were afterwards brought to Dublin, and all cut in quarters, except Maurice, who was con- fined in the King's castle, until it should be determined what death he should receive.
1547. Maurice of the wood, the son of the Earl of Kildare, was put to death in Dublin.

1548. The bailiffs of Dublin changed into sheriffs, in a nomination of the corporation, contained in a charter granted by King Edward VI.; and this change is confirmed by a charter granted by Queen Elizabeth, in the year 1567, in which the city is declared to be a county of itself, distinct from the county of Dublin—See 1308, 1409, 1665.

—— Sir Edward Bellingham erected a mint in Dublin castle.

1550. Anthony St. Leger arrived a second time in Ireland, as Lord Justice, and many of the Irish chieftains repaired to Dublin to meet him at the great court.

—— On Easter Sunday, the liturgy, in the English tongue, was first read in Christ church, and the following year was printed in Dublin, by Humphrey Powell, who had a licence for so doing; and it is probable that this is the first book ever printed in Ireland.

1551. The bible printed in Dublin and read there.

—— A great court was held in Dublin on the Lord Chief Justice's return from England. O'Neill, (Con, son of Con, Earl of Tyrone), was taken prisoner through the intrigues and complaints of the Baron Ferdinand; upon which O'Neill's son waged war with the English and the Baron, to revenge the incarceration of his father.

1552. The see of Armagh was deprived of the title of the Primacy of all Irelnnd, and the same was annexed to the see of Dublin.

—— William Brabazon, the king of England's treasurer, perished in an expedition against O'Neill of Clannaboy, and the Scotch, which was conducted by the Lord Chief Justice. His body was brought in a ship to Dublin, and his heart was afterwards sent to England, as a token of loyalty and truth towards the king.

—— There was a great scarcity this year, insomuch, that the peck of wheat (a measure containing almost four English bushels) sold in Dublin for 24s. and of malt for 18s.; but the harvest following proved so plentiful, that wheat fell to 5s. a peck, and malt to 2s. The testoon or groat of mixed money was now, by proclamation, ordered to pass at 2s.

—— The mayor of Dublin marched out with a strong band of citizens against O'Reilly, who began to be troublesome in Cavan, and was assisted therein by the forces of Drogheda. The service being performed, the two magistrates of these places had a contest upon their return who should lead the van, which ended to the honor of the mayor of Dublin, who by order had his right confirmed, of commanding the van going out, and the rear coming home.

1536. Numerous diseases happened throughout Ireland this year, such as a general plague, the small pox, the flux, and a virulent fever, of which great numbers died.

1551. Anthony St. Leger having been called to England, he was succeeded by James Croftes in the government of Ireland.

1552. The lord chief justice marched at the head of an army into Ulster, against O'Neill of Clannaboy, and the Scotch; Savage, (the chieftain of Ards,) and a party of the English went before them to plunder the country, but were met by O'Neill, at Belfast, who made a vigorous attack on them, put them to flight, and killed Savage, together with forty or sixty of them. However, the remainder of the English army passed over, and commenced to erect a castle at Belfast; but they gained no victory, took no spoils or hostages, and their pride was very much humbled on that excursion. James Croftes, the lord chief justice, having gone to England, was succeeded in the government by the chancellor, Thomas Cusack, of Bally-Cuisin.

1553. The mass and other papal ceremonies, restored in Dublin, by order of Queen Mary.

1554. Many Protestants fled from England into Ireland, to avoid persecution, and many of them became citizens of Dublin.

1555. Head of water which supplies the city basin, enclosed by Patrick Sarsfield, mayor.

—— Thomas Susig, (Earl of Sussex,) arrived in Ireland as lord justice. He soon marched with an army to Ulster at the instance of O'Neill, to expel the clan of Mac Donnell, and the Scotch, who were making seizures in the Routes and in Clannaboy. The chief justice, with his army, continued plundering them for six weeks, and took many spoils: he slew one or two hundred of the Scotch, and returned without reducing them to submission, or taking hostages from them.

1556. John Chaloner, mayor of Dublin, imported from Spain, in a ship of his own, several pieces of ordnance, and 150 muskets, with which he armed the citizens.

1556. In May, the Cavanaghs got together a great body of Irish outlaws, and invaded and plundered the south parts of the county of Dublin: To put a stop to their progress, the citizens marched out and hunted them so briskly that they slew great numbers, and forced 140 to take shelter in the castle of Powerscourt, which they pretended to defend. Sir George Stanley, knight marshal, besieged them on the 5th of May, but they held out obstinately, and the marshal sent to the lord deputy for two pieces of ordnance and more men. The mayor and citizens sent out a fresh supply of 80 men under the command of sheriff Buckley, and a good store of provisions. The rebels hearing that the forces of the city were arrived, surrendered at mercy, and on the 14th were led to the castle of Dublin, about eight at night, where, they day following, sixty of them were hanged, and the day after fourteen more. The rest were pardoned.

1557. St. Paul's church partly consumed by fire.

—— In this year, the Earl of Sussex, lord deputy, attended by John Usher, captain, and Patrick Buckley, petty captain, with sixty of the city train bands, made an expedition against James Mac Connell.

1558. November. Queen Elizabeth was proclaimed in Dublin.

1559. English bibles placed in Christ church and Saint Patrick's, for public use, and the mass was again put down, and all other papal ceremonies abolished, and the litany and other prayers were publicly sung in the churches.

—— A parliament was held in Christ church during the administration of the Earl of Sussex.

1560. Queen Elizabeth caused the first public clocks to be erected at the Castle, Tholsel, St. Patrick's church, and caused the castle of Dublin to be repaired, for her lieutenants and deputies to dwell in.

1561. The earl of Sussex, lord lieutenant, having taken the oath of office in Christ church, Thomas Fitzsimons, then mayor of Dublin, invited the lord lieutenant and council to dinner. After dinner he entertained them with a play, in which the Nine Worthies were acted; and in the evening he gave them a sumptuous entertainment, after which the mayor and his brethren, with the city music, attended the lord lieutenant and council to Thomas-court, by torch light.

1562. The roof and part of the body of Christ church fell, by which the ancient monument of Strongbow was broken.

—— Teigne, the son of Morogh O'Brien, made his escape from Dublin, where he had been for some time imprisoned.

1563. A proclamation was issued this year against the meeting of priests and friars in Dublin, and a tax levied on all housekeepers absenting themselves from church on Sundays, and for that purpose a roll of their names was called over every Sunday, by the churchwardens.

1564. O'Donnell (Calvagh) and O'Boyle (Torlogh) repaired to Dublin to the Lord Chief Justice, to confer with him. On this occasion the Lord Justice treated O'Donnell with great honor and respect.

1565. Nicholas Fyan, mayor of Dublin, caused Wood quay walls, and most of Merchants' quay, to be repaired with lime and stone, at the city charge.

—— October 1. Nicholas Fitzsimons was sworn mayor, before the Lord Justices, in the great hall in Christ church, and he immediately issued a proclamation that no woman or maid should, within the precincts of his jurisdiction, sell wine, ale, or beer, but such as should keep a sign at their doors, under a penalty of forty shillings, and this with an intention to extirpate whordom.

1566. 7,000 small Bibles, the first imported, sold this year in Dublin.

—— The rebellion of Shane O'Neill putdown by Sarsfield, mayor of Dublin.

1567. The Earl of Desmond was taken prisoner at Kilmallock, by the lord chief justice, who conveyed him from thence to Limerick, to Galway, to Athlone, and finally to Dublin. This happened shortly after the festival of St. Patrick, and in November following, his brother John came to the English to enquire after his brother the Earl; he was immediately seized, and both sent to England.

1568. In this year a great parliament was held in Dublin by the lord deputy, Sir Henry Sydney, in which rules were established for the regulation of the Irish parliament, similar to those of the parliament of England, and many of the Irish chiefs attended.

1569. Strongbow's monument repaired, which was broken to pieces by the fall of the roof of Christ church, and the monnment of the earl of Desmond removed from Drogheda, and placed in its stead. His son's was also broken, except what now remains, which occasioned a false story that his father cut him off in the middle, whereas he only ran him through the belly.

69. Sir Henry Sidney, lord chief justice, marched with a large army in the autumn of this year against the people of Munster, after the peace which they concluded. The direction he took was through the south of Leinster, and was not perceived until he entered the territory of Iv-Mac-Caille, (Imokelly) in Munster. He pitched his camp at Bally-na-martra, which he surrounded with his troops, and laid a close siege to it for a week. The inhabitants threatened daily to march out and give him battle, which, however, they did not put into execution. The town was at length taken by the lord chief justice, which he garrisoned in the queen's name. From thence the chief justice marched to Barry's country for Cork by way of Glenmoyer; the Momonians collected from all directions to oppose him, but, however, he was permitted to march through the pass, and arrived at Cork, where he remained for some time; during his stay several of the adherents of James, (son of the Earl of Desmond,) came to seek protection and pardon from him. The chief justice having left Cork, marched to Limerick, between which and the former city he destroyed a great number of towns. He took the towns of Clun Duvan and Bally Beachan, and afterwards marched to Galway, where he remained for some time to subdue the Dalcassians, Clan William, and the inhabitants of West Connaught; and on leaving Galway, he took Dunmore, Birmingham's place, and also Roscommon. He appointed a president over Connaught, at Athlone, whose powers extended from Dross (on the borders of the county Donegal) to Limerick. His name was Sir Edward Payton, and was the first president ever appointed over that country. At the end of the same autumn the lord chief justice returned to Dublin, and no representative of the sovereign, with such an army as he commanded, ever effected in Ireland so fortunate an achievement as he did.

71. Printing in Irish characters, introduced by Nicholas Walsh, chancellor of St. Patrick's.

72. A great mortality prevailed this year among man and beast.

73. The earl of Desmond was committed to the keeping of the mayor of Dublin, who told the government that the earl should be welcome to meat, drink, and lodging, but that he would take no charge of him; and the earl having license from the government to walk abroad, made his escape. Upon this he was proclaimed a traitor, and a large reward offered for him living or dead.

— Shrove Sunday, and the festival of St. Bridget, fell on the same day this year; the Annunciation of the B.V. happened after Easter, and Ascension Thursday happened in Spring, which were considered by all persons to be wonderful changes.

— James Fitzmaurice carried on a war with the English, until a treaty of peace was concluded between him and the president of the two provinces of Munster in the Spring of this year. It happened through the miracles of God and James' treaty, that the Earl of Desmond (Garret the son of James, the son of John) and his kinsman John, who had been in imprisonment in London for six years previously, were set at liberty with the permission of the English council, and both arrived in Dublin. The Earl was afterwards put under arrest in the city, and John (his kinsman) was permitted to go see the fair plains of Munster, and visit his patrimony and all those who lived of his followers. The president of the two provinces of Munster (Sir John Perrott) who possessed himself of that county, and brought it under his jurisdiction, having left Keepers, Magistrates, and Captains of his own to rule and govern it in accordance with his own views, went to England in the beginning of the ensuing harvest, and his departure was lamented by the poor, the widows, and infirm pilgrims of the country. The Earl of Desmond after that, having found an opportunity, made his escape from Dublin, without the permission of the council, and without their knowledge or notice walked in three nights from Dublin, (accompanied by a few,) until he arrived in the very midst of the Geraldines. The fallen chief who had then arrived amongst them was greeted by all, and although accompanied thither only by a few, it was not long after until he had hundreds at his command, and caused a great commotion in the country. In the course of one month he expelled the English forces who were in possession of the fortresses and chief towns of Munster, for at that time the President and his English had under their control the entire of Kenry, with its castles, Ballymartyr and Castlemaine. All those places and their guards were taken by the Earl, and he did not leave a chief of a town from the meeting of the waters to Ballagh Conglais, (near Cork) and from that to Limerick, that he did not bring under the control of his officers and men in the course of one month. He proclaimed to the clergy and men of science the restoration of their former privileges, and restored the friars to their respective places, according to the laws of the Pope. In the following year however, the Earl of Desmond having been forsaken by many of his followers, was compelled to submit to Sir William Fitzwilliam, the lord justice of Ireland, who granted him pardon on condition of surrendering the towns of Munster which he had taken possession of in the former year.

1574. A plague raged for several months.

—— Con, son of Colwach, son of Manus O'Donnell, was treacherously taken by the Earl of Essex, in the earl's own camp, and was sent by him to Dublin.

—— Great heat and extreme drought happened in the summer of this year; it did not rain for one hour from the 1st of May to August. In consequence of this drought, loathsome diseases, and most afflicting maladies were generated amongst the inhabitants of England and Ireland, but more especially at Dublin, Naas, Ardee, Mullingar, and Athboy. Many a castle was left without a guard, many a flock without a shepherd, and many bodies, even of the noblemen, were left unburied.

—— Sir Henry Sidney came to Ireland as lord chief justice in the autumn of this year. He landed in Ulster, and found all Ireland one scene of war. He established peace between the people of Tyrconnell and Tyrone, and throughout the province of Ulster. He banished to England the Earl of Essex, who had invaded Ulster, and acted treacherously towards Con O'Donnell and Brian O'Neill.

—— Con O'Donnell, and Con, son of Nial oge O'Neill, who had been imprisoned in Dublin, effected their escape from it about this time; and Con O'Donnell remained hidden in the deserts of the country until the chief justice sent him a pardon. The chief justice went in the commencement of the ensuing winter through Fingall and Meath, and from thence to the country of the O'Byrnes and O'Tooles; he made peace between the English and Irish of Ormond and Meath, and between the O'Moores and O'Connors of Leix and Offaly. He then proceeded to Waterford, Youghal, and Cork, about Christmas, and executed and destroyed a great number of rebels and bad subjects throughout these districts.

1576. Sir Henry Sidney, the lord justice, (and he was a knight in name, in nobleness, in action, and in bravery,) came about the feast of St. Bridget from Cork to Limerick, and was met there by the chiefs of Munster, both English and Irish, and also by those of Thomond, between whom he established peace on that occasion. He took leave of the chiefs of Munster, and brought the O'Briens to escort him to Galway. The chiefs of Upper Connaught waited on him, namely, the Earl of Clan-Rickard, with his two sons, Ulick and John, and Mac William Iochtar; John, son of Oliver, son of John, and Murcha of the hatchets, son of Teige, son of Murcha, son of Rory O'Flaherty, and the O'Kellies. The result of the convention at Galway was to hold the Dalcassians responsible in making restitutions to such as were entitled to them; and besides, the chief justice enlisted Donnell O'Brien in his own service to govern the county Clare, which Donnell did, by executing malefactors, and all bad characters, so that no one thought it necessary to watch or close their doors while Donnell was in office. The chief justice after establishing peace throughout Ireland, came to Dublin and brought along with him the sons of the Earl of Clan-Rickard as hostages, to prevent the recurrence of future depredations on the Queen's people. After he arrived in Dublin with the hostages, he was seized with a sudden illness. He permitted the hostages viz. the O'Briens and Burkes (a great alleviation of their sorrows) to go and visit their friends on the neighbouring territories, but on no account to enter their own. They promised him they would act accordingly, but on their arrival on the borders of their territory, they did not adhere to their promise but entered their estate; and some assert that it was by the permission of their father they did so. It was not long until this journey proved to be a source of great sorrow to his country, for the lord chief justice, about five days afterwards, went in pursuit of them to Athlone; and their father, the earl of Clan Rickard, was compelled to yield to him Loughrea, his estate and property, castles, and all he possessed; and himself was proclaimed by the lord chief justice a prisoner to the queen. He was therefore conveyed to Dublin, and was carefully confined in a narrow cell, where he could hear the voice of neither friend nor companion. The lord chief justice left a number of captains in Clanrickard, who, as well as the sons of the earl, kept the country in a continued scene of devastation and plunder, which lasted the whole of the autumn and winter of this year, during which period great numbers of the English and Irish were slain.

—— The earl of Essex, who was expelled this country in the previous year by Sir Henry Sydney, arrived in Ulster this year, from whence he came by water to Dublin, where, in a fortnight after his landing, he took suddenly ill and died; his shirt and his heart were sent to his friends in confirmation of his death.

1577. William, son of Donagh riavach, son of Teige duv O'Kelly, died in Dublin, while on a visit with Captain Maltby, and no man of his age in the principality of Hy Mania was more regretted.

—— John, son of James, son of John, son of the earl of Desmond, was taken prisoner in Cork, by William Drury, the President of Munster, and was sent to Dublin and confined in the same place with Richard Burke, the earl of Clanrickard.

—— An extraordinary comet appeared in the horizon to the south-east, in the first month of winter this year.

1578. Kilmainham bridge built by Sir Henry Sidney, and the south wall of St. Nicholas's church re-edified, as was the wall of the castle ditch, at the charge of the city.

—— The mayor of Dublin did not go to Cullen's-wood on Black Monday according to custom, in consequence of the weather being so foul and rainy, that neither bowmen nor shot could go abroad. The mayor of the bull-ring, who used to be elected in St. Andrew's church yard, was now elected at the Tholsel.

—— Sir Henry Sidney, Lord Chief Justice of Ireland, went to England in November of this year, and was accompanied thither by Captain Maltby. William Drury, president of the two provinces of Munster, took charge of the government in his absence. The Lord Chief Justice took along with him the earl of Clanrickard and his son William Burke, to submit their case to the English Council.

1579. Sir William Drury, lord justice, ranged all the records in Bermingham tower, and appointed a salary for a person to take care of them.

1580. Arthur, Lord Grey, was sent by the council of England as Lord Chief Justice of Ireland; he arrived in Dublin in the first month of autumn, and succeeded Sir William Pelham in the government.

1581. James Ussher, archbishop of Armagh, born in Dublin; drew up 104 articles of religion for Ireland, in 1615; which were established and received 1635; died March 20th, 1656. His valuable collection of books and MSS. are in the University Library.

—— Forty-five persons hanged in Dublin for treasonable crimes.

—— Barry more, James, son of Richard, son of Thomas, son of Edmond, who was confined in Dublin, died; he was Lord of both Barry more and Barry roe. He was succeeded in the title by his son, who was nominated thereto by the earl of Desmond.

—— Fitzpatrick, Brian oge, son of Brian, &c. prince of Ossory, who was also confined in Dublin, died; he spent a great number of his early years at the English court, and the people of Ireland wondered much at his confinement; he was succeeded in the title by his brother Finnin.

—— O'Carroll, William owar, was also confined in Dublin this year, but was set at liberty by the English and the Lord Chief Justice. On his return home, however, he was attacked by a party of the O'Conors of Offaly, to whom his release was disagreeable; they therefore slew him and left his corpse exposed to dogs and birds of prey.

1589. Richard, earl of Arran, lord justice, removed the law courts from the castle to the Dominican abbey.

1582. Nicholas Walsh, bishop of Ossory, in conjunction with John Kearney, treasurer of St. Patrick's, and Doctor Nehemiah Donnellan, began to translate the New Testament into the Irish language, which was afterwards finished by Dr. Wm. O'Donnell, archbishop of Tuam.

—— The earl of Clanrickard, who was confined in Dublin by Sir Henry Sidney, and conveyed by him to London in 1576, was seized there this year with a consumptive disease. His physicians informed him that he must die of it, and that his only chance of recovery would be a change of air to his own country. He was therefore permitted to return by order of the Sovereign and Council, and a pardon granted him and his sons for all the depredations they had hitherto committted. He arrived in Dublin, from which he set out for Galway, by way of Athlone, where all his relatives and friends flocked to receive him with joy and gladness. He did not reside there long when his malady increased, of which he died in the month of August. The funeral rite of Keena was performed by his friends, and his corpse was conveyed to Loughrea, where it was honorably interred.

1584. A remarkable combat in Dublin castle, before the Lords Justices in council, between Conor Mac Cormac O'Conor, and Teigue Mac Gilpatrick O'Conor, in which the former had his head cut off and presented to the Lords Justices.

1585. Edmond O'Donnell, surnamed the Dark, and Terence, son of Edmond Oge, were put to death in Dublin.

—— In the month of May, the nobles of Ireland were summoned to meet at Dublin in Parliament.

1586. The King's Exchequer, without Dame's gate, ransacked by a country mob. The site is now known by the name of Exchequer street.

1587. About Michaelmas, a ship laden with wine was sent from Dublin to Donegal, by order of Sir John Perrott, chief Justice, to take Red Hugh O'Donnell, prince of Tyrconnell, by stratagem. The vessel arrived at Loughswilly, and succeeded in treacherously seizing the prince, whom they carried to Dublin. After having been examined by the council, he was committed to Bermingham tower, where he remained prisoner for three years and three months, at the end of which time he made his escape towards the Dublin mountains, where he was betrayed by the chieftain O'Toole, who sent him back to Dublin, when he was again confined in the tower. However, in the Christmas of the year 1592, he made his final escape through the great sewer called the Poddle, and regained his own country in safety.

1588. Sir William Fitzwilliam, the chief justice, who came to Ireland this year, marched with an army into Ulster in pursuit of O'Rourke and M'Sweeny, in consequence of their encouragement of the Spanish squadron which came to Ireland. On this excursion, Shane Oge O'Dogherty and Sir John O'Gallagher were made prisoners by the Chief Justice; but not having succeeded in capturing O'Rourke and M'Sweeny, he returned with his army to Dublin.

1590. The Monastery of All-hallows granted by the citizens for the site of a University.

1591. March 13. The first stone of Trinity College laid by Thomas Smith, mayor, and dedicated to the holy and undivided Trinity, under the title of Collegium Sanctæ et Individuæ Trinitatis juxta Dublin a Serenissima Regina Elizabetha fundatum. Students were admitted on the 9th of January, 1593. The first Provost, Adam Loftus, D.D. archbishop of Dublin and lord chancellor of Ireland; the first Fellows, Henry Usher, A.M. (archdeacon of Dublin) Luke Challoner, A.M. and Lancelot Moyne, or Monne, A.B.; and the first Scholars, Henry Lee, William Daniel, or O'Donnell, and Stephen White.

1595. Sir William Russell, lord deputy of Ireland, having marched with an army, in the month of January, to Ballynacuire, to revenge the wrongs of some neighbours and relatives of Fiachaidh Mac Hugh, (the Feagh Mac Hugh O'Birn celebrated by Spencer,) on Fiachaidh himself, who was in the town. Having arrived near the castle, the sound of a drum was heard by the inhabitants before the soldiers of the chief justice could gain the gate of the castle wall. Fiachaidh upon this gave the alarm, which was spread all over the garrison, and he sent some of his men to defend the gate; he, with the remaining party, followed soon after, and led them through wilds and wastes until they arrived at a convenient place. While Fiachaidh was thus in banishment, he thought of Walter Reevagh Fitzgerald, son of Thomas of the Geraldines of Kildare. The Chief Justice, after Fiachaidh's escape, and remaining in Ballynacuire for ten days, returned to Dublin, leaving one or two companies in charge of the town. At the expiration of fifteen days afterwards, Walter, accompanied with others of the people of Fiachaidh, son of Hugh, made a nightly sally on Cromlin, near Dublin.

hen all the inhabitants were asleep; they burned and lundered the town, and took with them as much of the ead roof of the town church as they could possibly carry, nd although the sparks and flames of the town were learly visible in the streets of Dublin, Walter escaped ithout hurt or damage. At the expiration of a month, Walter made an attack on the castle of a gentleman, who was one of his enemies; the same gentleman was erfectly prepared at all times to meet the attack of any f his enemies, and, therefore, when Walter and his eople made a sally on the town, he was met by the entleman, who bravely and fiercely attacked him, so hat they fought with the greatest enmity and animosity, ntil at length Walter was wounded, and carried by his eople to the next mountain: they put him under cure n a sequestered place which was unknown to any person, nd left none with him put one very faithful physician f his own, who used to go every other day to the adjacent woods to collect herbs for his wounds. It happened on one of those days that he came in contact with some of Walter's enemies, and they having professed great friendship for Walter, he betrayed him to them, and they forthwith took him prisoner, and conveyed him to Dublin, where he was executed and quartered.

96. In March, 144 barrels of gunpowder were sent by Queen Elizabeth to Dublin, for the use of the army. After the powder was landed on Wood-quay, it was conveyed to Winetavern-street, and ranged on both sides of the street, where it ignited by accident, the barrels exploded and formed one mass of fire and blaze; the stone and wooden houses were torn up from their very foundations, and hurled into the air over the town, where there appeared a mingled and indescribable mass of stone, wood, and human bodies in the conflagration. In this catastrophe a great number of the nobility, with many artizans of all classes, women, maidens, and sons of gentlemen, who came from all parts of Ireland to receive their education in the city, were destroyed, not to mention the quantity of gold, silver, and property of every description. Many were also killed by the shock of the explosion, and Winetavern-street was not the only place that suffered, but also many parts of the neighbourhood.

598. The council of Dublin sent a select army by water to relieve the Queen's soldiers who were garrisoned in New Port, in Ulster, and besieged by O'Neill. This army consisted of 4,000 foot and 600 horse.

He immediately proceeded to the Phœnix park. [The Irish name of Howth is Binn Edair, i. e. the Promontory of Edair, who was the queen of Gan. the fifth king of the Firbolg dynasty. It is stated in the "Book of the derivations of remarkable places," that she died of grief for the death of her husband, and was interred at this place, where a Carn or monument was raised over her. It may be well to observe that a fortress was erected here by one of the Milesian chiefs, after their arrival in this kingdom the ruins of which are yet visible. It was constructed by the chieftain named Suirge, and was called Dun Edair, or the Fortress of the Promontory of Edair.]

[This place has been since called Kingstown, which, in the lapse of time, will cause the original name to be entirely forgotten, like names of many other places in this kingdom. The original name signifies the Dun or Fortress of Leary; although some persons have derived it from Dun-Lear Righ, i. e. the Fortress dedicated to the King of the Sea (Neptune ;) or as others will have it, the Fortress of the Sea King, signifying that it was constructed by a Danish king, who, from the circumstance of coming with a large fleet, was termed the Sea King. But the Leary who gave name to this place was the son of Neill of nine hostages, monarch of Ireland, who reigned from A.D. 429 to 458, who is recorded in the Book of Armagh, a manuscript of the seventh century, as also in all our annals. This Leary also gave name to a tract of land in the county of Meath, namely, Iveleary, which in the Irish language is written Ibh Laeghaire i.e. the descendants of Leary, (of which tribe O'Connellan was chief, or as he is styled in the Annals of the Four Masters, the prince of Iveleary.) It is therefore to be inferred, that Dun Laeghaire (Dunleary) was once the royal residence of the monarch Leaghaire, and, under all circumstances, is justly entitled to the appellation of "King's-town." As to the other derivation, no good Irish scholar will admit of it.]

1838. July 4. An act, repealing all former acts relating to the sale of bread in Ireland, received the royal assent, and came into operation on the 4th August, following. Since 1805, the assize of bread has been stationary, the price varying with that of wheat; but under the present act, it is optional with the bakers to make loaves of any size; to use other ingredients than flour; but are restricted to selling by weight only. The price, by consent of the trade, is still regulated by the old standard, the bakers making an ad valorem charge according to quantity and quality.

—— July 6. First stone of the Baptist Chapel, Lower Abbey street, laid by the Rev. John Ford, minister of the congregation. It is built in the Grecian style of architecture from the design of George Papworth and Sons, esqrs. architects—See 1839.

—— July 31. An act for the introduction of Poor Laws into Ireland, received the Royal assent.

—— September 10. His highness Nawab Ekbalood Dowlah, prince of Oude, visited Dublin.

—— November 5. The Dublin and Drogheda Railway Company commenced the construction of their line, at Kilbarrack, co. Dublin. Estimated expense, £400,000. Contractor, Mr. William Robert Weekes. Act obtained 12th July, 1837, —— Dublin Obstetrical Society instiuted.

1838-39. George Hoyte, lord mayor; George Brown Grant, Despard Taylor, sheriffs.

1839. January 6. Dublin visited by a hurricane, for severity unparalled by any other ever felt in the city. It commenced blowing about half-past ten, P.M. from the W. veering occasionally to the S.S.W. and S.S.E. and abated towards morning. Such was the alarm excited in the inhabitants that the majority of them quitted their beds and remained all night in indescribable terror. From a return caused to be made by personal application of the police at all the houses within their district, the following may be considered as a fair estimate of the damage done.

Damage.		Amount.
Persons killed	2
Persons injured	18
Houses blown down	38	3,252	0	0
Houses partly blown down ..	119	3,949	0	0
Houses completely unroofed ..	243	4,753	0	0
Houses partially unroofed ..	4,846	27,190	0	0
Chimneys blown down	1,527	4,520	0	0
Windows blown in	1,143	1,198	0	0
Panes of glass ascertained to be broken	30,358	3,247	0	0
Valuable trees blown down ..	2,534	4,659	0	0
Walls blown down	140	590	0	0

The population of the district may be calculated at 250,000, and the number of houses at 23,000, which will give an average loss of five shillings to every inhabitant; and the main proportion of damages done to buildings may be estimated, at a very low calculation, as amounting to three pounds to every house. In the course of the few following months several persons died in consequence of illness and injuries received during that night.

—— Monday January 7. The Bethesda Chapel, Orphan House, and Female Penitentiary, together with the five adjoining houses, destroyed by fire, which broke out in the former building on the previous Saturday, and was considered as extinguished. The rebuilding of the Chapel, &c. was shortly afterwards commenced. See 1781.

—— February 13. Dublin again visited by a storm, which commenced blowing S.W. by W. at eleven, P.M. and continued until six the following morning. The roofs of several houses were stripped, but no serious accident occurred.

—— February 22. An aggregate meeting of Freemen and Protestants held in the Round-room of the Mansion-house, convened by the lord mayor, in accordance with a resolution passed by the common council of the city and a numerously signed requisition, "for the purpose of taking into consideration the present condition of the Protestants of Ireland, especially in reference to the proposed measure of Municipal Reform, and to petition parliament on the subject."

—— March 8. The Right Hon. George Hoyte, lord mayor, Despard Taylor, esq. high sheriff, and other members of the corporation, having proceeded to London, the former appeared at the bar of the House of Commons, and presented their petition against the proposed Irish Municipal Reform Bill. See 1813, 1839. April 3. Viscount Ebrington landed at Kingstown, made his public entry into the city, and was sworn in lord lieutenant.

1839. April 8. The Royal Irish Art Union—or Society for the encouragement of the Fine Arts in Ireland, by the purchase and diffusion of the works of living artists—held a preliminary meeting. President, the Marquess of Ormonde; Hon. Secretary, Stewart Blacker, esq. Receipts for first year, £1,235 0s. 0d.; for second, £2,325 14s. 4d.

—— May 3. Theatre Royal, Lower Abbey street, totally destroyed by fire. Rebuilt in 1841.

—— Nov. 10. Trinity Episcopal Church, Lower Gardiner street, opened for divine service. Total expense, £8,000

—— December 5. Rates of postage on letters commenced to be charged by weight instead of distance in accordance with a Treasury minute dated 12th November, 1839, issued in pursuance of the Act 2d and 3d Victoria, cap. 52, "for the further regulation of the duties on postage, until the 5th October, 1840."

—— The west end of St Patrick's cathedral repaired, at an expense of £2,000. The magnificent window was erected at the sole charge of the late Dean Dawson, which cost £700. Architect, Henry Mullins, esq. During the alteration a piece of coin was dug up near the front portico, bearing date 817. One side faintly represents an arms, on top of a mitre, supported by two cross keys, in centre, the motto "pax," on verge "Pius," on the other side a figure flowing in drapery, with keys on one hand, a temple at the other. On verge of same side, "sanctum" and "sancto." This valuable relic of antiquity was presented to the dean, by Mr. Peter Hughes, silver embosser.

1839. The "Irish Total Abstinence Association" founded in Dublin, by the Very Rev. Dr. Spratt.

THE DUBLIN CEMETERIES,

AT GOLDEN BRIDGE AND PROSPECT.

Founded in the year 1829, in order to secure to every denomination of Christians the free performance of their respective funeral rites. These Cemeteries extend over 36 acres, and contain already the remains of 85,000 persons. A primary object of their formation was to afford cheap interment to the poor, and the profits are devoted to educational purposes, upon which upwards of £1,000 have been expended.

The recognized importance of these institutions procured, last year, a charter of incorporation for the Governing body.

THE CORPORATION OF THE

Royal Exchange Assurance

OF LONDON.

ROBERT CORBET, AGENT, GOVERNMENT AND SHARE STOCK-BROKER,

5, College-green, Dublin,

AND AT

ROYAL EXCHANGE, AND 29, PALL-MALL, LONDON,

For the Assurance of Lives, and Granting and Purchasing Annuities on Lives; also, for Assuring Buildings, Goods, Merchandise, and Ships from Loss or Damage by Fire.

LIFE BRANCH.

ASSURE TO £10,000, AND TO THE AGE OF 75.

Participation in Profits, with UNDENIABLE SECURITY, and PROFIT WITHOUT LIABILITY.

TWO THIRDS of the Nett Profit, which shall appear to have separately accrued on British and Irish Insurances effected on or after the 1st of January, 1842, for the whole term of life, will be apportioned septennially among those Policies of each class, respectively, then subsisting, on which at least Three Annual Premiums shall have been paid.

This Bonus will be applied according to the option of the person effecting the Insurance in either of the following modes, viz.—

1. By addition to the sum to be paid by the Company at the extinction of the Life Assured.

2. By an equivalent reduction in the Premiums, payable by the Assured, subsequent to the Septennial Investigation, or

3. By Payment of the Amount in Cash.

The Fund available for such Bonus will be charged with only a moderate share of the expenses of management, and the LARGE PARTICIPATION IN PROFITS enjoyed by the Assured, will not involve them in Liabilities in the nature of Partnership, or of charge for guarantee of Capital. The Capital Stock of the Corporation, its long experience, and the prudent management of its financial resources, afford the strongest guarantee that the important objects of Life Insurance will be fully realized by those for whose ultimate benefit they be intended.

In addition to the above announcement, the Public are respectfully informed that the Corporation have not made any alteration or increase to the Old Rates of Assurance; Tables of which can be had, as also every information and facility for effecting Life Assurance, at the Company's Office, as above.

Insurance on Lives is found to be of benefit and advantage to persons having offices, employments, estates, or other incomes which cease and determine with their Lives; more especially to Clergymen, Physicians, Lawyers, and persons holding Pensions for Life, as it enables them to secure a sum to be paid at their decease to their families or representatives; also, to persons holding offices, leases, &c. during the Lives of others, as by the same means they may secure themselves from the loss which they would otherwise sustain by the death of such persons.

Money advanced in the purchase of Annuities, and money lent by way of Capital, or Simple Contract, may be secured by Insurance, in case the party, during whose Life the Annuity is payable, or to whom money is lent, should die.

No extra Premium charged for Lives Assured serving in the Army or Navy, (in the time of peace only,) within the limits of Europe; or Militia, Fencibles, Constabulary, or Volunteer Corps, in defence of these Realms. From the simplicity of the Form, a Life Assurance may be effected in a very short time, and with the utmost secrecy.

Promptitude in the payment of Losses, without any deduction whatever.

On proper documents being lodged to the satisfaction of the Company, all claims are at once discharged by a draft on their Banker at sight, in favor of the Claimant, without waiting the three months stipulated in all policies.

Admission or Entrance Money no longer charged.

Fifteen days allowed for payment of the Life and Fire Premiums after they respectively become due.

Persons assuring the Lives of others, will, on surrendering the Policy to the office after their interest therein has ceased, be entitled to a return of the Premium for the unexpired quarters of the year.

Persons whose lives are Assured with this Corporation, by others having interest therein, when such Interest is satisfied, can resume to themselves the benefit of the Policy for their own use; by handing the Company the Policy then in being, they will grant a Policy at the original age and Premium, subject only to the clauses to which persons Assuring their own Lives are liable.

Persons having their own Lives or those of others Assured, and desirous of disposing of their Interest in the Policy, the Company will purchase the same at an equitable rate.

The Age of the Life Assured admitted by Endorsement on the Policy after lodging the proper Documents, (a Certificate of the Rite of Baptism, or an affidavit, form of which can be had at the Office,) and afterwards no further proof will be required.

Persons (not sea-fearing by occupation) whose Lives are Assured by this Corporation, are allowed to pass in decked Vessels, or Government Steam Packets, and from one part of Europe to another, without extra Premium, and without being subjected to apply, as heretofore, to the Office for special permission.

Persons Assured with this Corporation, and from many contingent circumstances suffering their Policies to expire, the Directors will renew the Assurance, at a fine of 10s. per Cent. on the sum Assured, if paid within three months from the date of the Premiums falling due, on the Party producing a Medical Certificate, and giving warranty of the continued good health of the Life Assured.

No charge made for Policies, except the Stamp Duty, which is regulated by the Sum Assured.

Life and Fire notices are sent from the Office to the Parties, as their Assurances become due, but the sending of such Notice is not obligatory on the Company, nor can the want thereof be accepted as an excuse for Non-payment of the Premium.

FIRE BRANCH.

The Corporation has reduced the Rates of Premium to the following Scale:

Common Insurances,	(Private Houses and Contents) without Stoves,	..	..	1s. 6d per Cent
Hazardous, ..	(or with stoves,)	..	..	2s. 6d. per Cent.
Doubly Hazardous ..	..	..	..	4s. 6d. per Cent.

Public Hospitals, Poor Houses, and Farming Stock.—No Duty payable.

Merchandise in Custom-house and Queen's Stores assured at an equitable Rate of Premium.
No charge made for Policies, when the annual Premium amounts to Six Shillings.
Assurances transferred from other Offices free of expense.
Losses occasioned by Lightning made good.
Expenses attending the removal of Goods assured in time of danger are also paid.
Fire-men, powerful Engines, and other Instruments, are in constant readiness, in case of accident, and maintained at a large expense, for the security of the public.
The men are distinguished by an uniform of light Green, with Gold Badges, bearing the figure of the ROYAL EXCHANGE, London, the Emblem of the Company.

THIS COMPANY holds out to the Assured the great advantage of an option by which they can either Assure on the principle of a Proprietary or a Mutual Office. By the latter principle, and on a plan adopted exclusively by this Company, they participate annually in the Profits to the extent of two-thirds, apportioned to the Policy-holders, at their option, either by way of Bonus addition to the Policy, or in reduction of the Annnal Premium. There being a wealthy Proprietary, with a large paid-up Capital, the Assured are relieved of all apprehension of responsibility.

The Company grant advances on Redeemable Annuity, and otherwise, in connexion with Assurance on the Borrower's Life. The purchase of Reversions and Survivorships, and the granting of Annuities, are also branches of the business transacted by this Office.

The following is an Abstract of Rates to insure £100 payable at death.

15	20	25	30	35	40	45	50
£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
1 9 2	1 12 11	1 17 6	2 3 0	2 9 1	2 17 2	3 6 5	3 19 8

Assurances are effected on the Participation Principle on a proportionate and very equitably adjusted addition to the above remarkably moderate Premiums; and this Company afford the unusual advantage, that, after the first investigation in 1846, the Bonuses will be apportioned annually.

The Directors also invite the attention of the public to the greatly reduced rates for limited periods, of which the following Table is an example;—

To Assure £100 payable on Death within One Year:—

Age	15	20	25	30	35	40	45	50
	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Premium	13 3	15 1	15 7	1 1 7	1 1 11	1 7 10	1 11 8	1 18 8

To Assure £100 payable on Death within Seven Years:

ON THE ORDINARY CLASSES OF RISK ARE EFFECTED AS FOLLOWS:

First Class.....Common Assurances .....at 1s. 6d. per Cent.
Second Class....Hazardous Assurances ... at 2s. 6d per Cent.
Third Class ....Doubly Hazardous.....at 4s. 6d. per Cent.
Farming Stock.....at 2s. 6d. per Cent.

And no charge is made for the Policy, if the Annual Premium thereon amounts to Six Shillings or upwards.

Losses by Fire occasioned by LIGHTNING are made good, and all payments through any of the Company's Agents are free from deduction.

A well appointed Engine in case of accidents by Fire.

LIFE INSURANCES, WITH PARTICIPATION IN PROFITS.

TWO THIRDS of the nett profit which shall appear to have separately accrued on British and Irish Insurances, effected on or after the first day of January, 1842, for the whole term of life, will be apportioned septennially among those Policies of each class, respectively, then subsisting, on which at least Three Annual Premiums shall have been paid.

This Bonus will be applied, according to the option of the person effecting the Insurance, in either of the following modes, viz.

1. BY ADDITION TO THE SUM TO BE PAID BY THE COMPANY AT THE EXTINCTION OF THE LIFE ASSURED.
2. BY AN EQUIVALENT REDUCTION IN THE PREMIUMS, PAYABLE BY THE ASSURED SUBSEQUENT TO THE SEPTENNIAL INVESTIGATION.
3. OR THE VALUE OF THE BONUS MAY BE RECEIVED IN CASH.

The Fund available for such Bonus will be charged with only a moderate share of the expenses of management; and the LARGE PARTICIPATION IN PROFITS, enjoyed by the Assured, will involve them in NO LIABILITY in the nature of partnership, or of charge for guarantee of capital. The Capital Stock of the Corporation, its long experience, and the prudent management of its financial resources, afford the strongest guarantee that the important objects of Life Insurances will be fully realized by those for whose ultimate benefit they may be intended.

The Public will accordingly perceive that those who effect Life Insurances with this Corporation will enjoy the combined advantages of undeniable security and profit without liability.

FOR

FIRE AND LIFE INSURANCE, AND ANNUITIES,

AND THE

PURCHASE OF REVERSIONS AND LIFE CONTINGENCIES.

CAPITAL—ONE MILLION STERLING.

The whole paid up and invested, and entirely independent of the amount of premiums received: thereby affording to persons Assured an immediate available Fund for the payment of the most extensive losses, without liability of partnership, and free from uncertainty, as to the result of their engagements—which the Directors consider to be highly important to those who effect Insurances in the capacity of Trustees, or otherwise in the performance of a specific trust or duty.

Risks will be accepted by this Company to the extent of £10,000 on a single life.

Special Insurances on Impaired Lives, may be effected at such Extra Premium as shall appear to the Directors apportioned to the Risk.

Rates and Conditions of Fire and Life Insurance, or other information, may be obtained at the Offices in London, and of the Company's Agents in the Country.

The public are too well aware of the advantages resulting from INSURANCE to need any comment demonstrative of its expediency and utility; and the support which an Irish public has afforded to this, a Native establishment, has given a flattering earnest that they are not unmindful of the broad basis on which, from its formation, the NATIONAL ASSURANCE COMPANY has grounded its pretensions to support and encouragement—that of being closely identified with the Commercial interests of this country, and aiming to retain a portion of the vast sums which are annually remitted to England in Insurance Premiums—liberality in all its transactions—and the most ample security.

The Directors inform the Public, that they continue to effect on Private Houses and all common risks at the reduced Premium of One Shilling and Six Pence per Cent. per Annum.

Insurance against Fire

Marine Insurance

effected at the current Premiums of the day. Losses and averages adjusted on the most liberal principles of Indemnity, and settled with despatch.

In the Life Department

the rates will be found as low as those of other respectable Companies. In their calculation the Directors have had in view an immediate, rather than a contingent, benefit to the Assured, by which the Assured avoid the responsibility which the latter would involve.

The income derived from this Branch is reserved, forming an accumulating and inviolable fund for the exclusive discharge of Life Policies, and with a large funded Capital, affords to the Assured with this Company an amount of security not surpassed by any similar Establishment in the Kingdom.

Losses paid without deduction.

LONDON UNION ASSURANCE SOCIETY,

(Instituted in the Reign of Queen Anne, A.D. 1714.)

CORNHILL, LONDON; AND COLLEGE-GREEN, DUBLIN; AND EXCHANGE, HAMBURGH.

The London Union Society was established in 1714, and for more than a century has fulfilled all its engagements with honor and credit.

It has therefore the recommendation of stability, liberality, and tried experience.

Life Department.

The variety of cases in which, by means of Life Assurance, income is made to supply the place of capital, is becoming more generally understood, and must readily suggest themselves to all who perceive that the person who applies a part of his annual income to an assurance on his life, instead of lodging it in a bank, or applying it to his trade, for the purpose of accumulation, converts at once the prospective savings of a long course of years into testamentary capital for the benefit of his family; and thus affects, immediately, what (without the aid of Life Insurance) he could not accomplish, unless he should happen to attain a period of life which there are, at best, many chances against his ever reaching

Insurances for the whole Life, either on their own Lives or that of others, will participate in the Profits, by additions being made to each Policy, on the principal so beneficially practised, till lately, at the Equitable Office. Thus, in the case of a life of ordinary duration, experience has shown that Policies may, by the plan of the Company, be very considerably increased without any addition of premium being required, while in the event of a person prematurely cut off in the first year of his assuring, the benefit (enormous and disproportionable as it is) of a fixed sum to his family or assignees, is secured beyond the risk of reduction

The Premiums for Insurances for One and Seven Years, are reduced generally 20 per cent. and will be found, on comparison, to be lower than most other offices.

Thus, important benefits, both immediate and remote, will result to persons Insuring with the LONDON UNION ASSURANCE; and amidst the canvas which is made to procure business, the Public are requested not to be unmindful of their own interest.

Fire Department.

The beneficial effects of Insurance against Loss by Fire, are no less obvious and important, than the consequences of neglecting to insure are ruinous and dreadful—every enjoyment of the present moment, and all the prospects of the future, being frequently destroyed by the event of a casual conflagration. No person would insure his house against Fire, if prudence could guard it against accident, and yet, whatever the chance may be against any one house being burned down, no thinking man would remain uninsured at the present low rates.

The Insurer has the opportunity of making either an Annual or Septennial Insurance or Insurances for any shorter period, as may best suit his convenience, on as favourable terms as any other office.

Septennial Insurers are to deposit only six years' Premium, and the insured are paid a dividend of the Profits at the close of the seventh year.

Losses occasioned by Lightning are made good.

All reasonable charges attending the removal of goods insured, in time of danger, will be repaid.

N.B.—A body of Firemen and powerful Engines, whose services have been acknowledged, are in constant readiness to attend Fires

FOUR-FIFTHS of the PROFITS made by this Company will be appropriated to Policies every FIVE YEARS, without the Insured incurring the personal responsibility attached to Mutual Societies.

The following Table will show the additions already made to policies entitled to participate in the profits declared in the year 1846, viz :—

Date of Insurance.	Sum originally insured.	Addition or Bonus.	Sum now Insured.

For the purpose of giving to those who desire a low rate of premium, the full advantage of the Bonus system, with the convenience of the smallest present outlay, the Directors of the Imperial Company have determined on Insurances of £500 and upwards, to accept two-thirds of the rates hitherto charged on the participating scale, leaving the remaining third at interest as a debt on the Policy, to be paid off at the convenience of the Assured, or to be deducted from the Sum Assured.

PURCHASE OF POLICIES.—If any person should become desirous of discontinuing an Insurance effected at this Office, for the whole term of life, the Company will purchase the Interest in such Policy at a fair value.

LOANS ON POLICIES.—The Directors will advance Money on Loan on the Security of Policies effected with this Company, for the whole term of life.

INSURANCES WITHOUT PARTICIPATION IN PROFITS.—Policies of every description may be effected with the Company without Participation in Profits, at considerably reduced Rates of Premium.

ATLAS

Life and Fire Assurance Company,

OF CHEAPSIDE, LONDON,

AND

UPPER SACKVILLE-STREET, DUBLIN.

Instituted in 1808, and Established by Act of Parliament.

Capital, One Million Two Hundred Thousand Pounds.

Of this Capital the Sum of One Hundred and Twenty Thousand Pounds is already invested in Government or real security, and is applicable to the immediate payment of any claim on the Company. The remainder is guaranteed by a most numerous and respectable proprietory, thus the stability of the Company, and the means of fulfilling its engagements, are, on the one hand, placed beyond the reach of any calculable human hazard—and on the other, those who effect Assurances with this Company, do not incur responsibility, as in the case of Contribution Societies.

THE LIFE DEPARTMENT

Is conducted on the equitable system, which entitles the assured to a participation of the surplus premium after a moderate deduction for the expenses of Management and Compensation for guarantee Capital; thus Bonus's to a large amount have been paid in addition to the sum assured under each Policy, and from the augmentation of the business of the ATLAS, this advantage is likely to become still more important.

Life Assurances are effected with privacy and despatch, without involving the parties in any unnecessary expense or trouble.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Is conducted on the most liberal terms.

All descriptions of Buildings, with the property therein, may be assured at premiums commensurate with the risk—also Merchandize in the Queen's Stores, or Public Cranes—and Ships in Docks or Harbour.

Farming Stock Assured from Fire free of duty.

Simple risk	1s. 6d.
Hazardous	2s. 6d.
Doubly Hazardous.....	4s. 6d.

 The great importance of Insurance, as well on the casualty of Life, as against loss by Fire, is now so universally admitted, it becomes a matter of surprise that individuals can be found so remiss as not to take advantage of the Security thus afforded, by a comparatively small annual outlay.

Printed forms, and other particulars, may be had on application at the Atlas Office, No. 45. Upper Sackville-street, Dublin.

ADVANTAGES OF THE PARTICIPATING SCALES OF PREMIUM.

Perfect security, arising from a large paid-up capital, totally independent of the premium fund.

Eighty per cent. or four-fifths of the profits returned every three years, on Policies effected on and after May 1, 1844.

Bonus paid in cash, or applied in augmentation of the sum insured or in reduction of the annual premium at the option of the Policy-holder.

Low Premiums.——Claims paid in 30 days after proof of death.

The Directors of the ALBION, in promulgating their new system of Life Insurance, have determined upon offering to the Public advantages of a very important character, not surpassed, probably, by those held out by any other company, and they are anxious that these advantages, and the system generally upon which the business of the ALBION will be henceforth conducted, should be clearly understood.

The Directors feel themselves precluded from contrasting, except in general terms, the advantages held out by other Insurance Offices with those now offered by the ALBION. Every person about to effect an Insurance must make this comparison for himself, and in doing so the main points to which attention should obviously be directed are the following :—The Stability of the Office, namely,

The Amount of Premium he will have to pay.

The Extent to which he will participate in the Profits of the Company, and whether the Bonus allotted to him is payable in Cash or otherwise.

The Number of Premiums he will have to pay before he will be entitled to participate in the Profits of the company, and the number of years which intervene between the successive Divisions of Profit.

The Time in which the Sum Insured, with all Additions thereto, will be paid after his claim shall have been established.

Where full information is given to the public under each of these heads, it will not be difficult to estimate the relative advantages of different Life Offices. The main point, however, to which every prudent man will look, is the stability of the Office, without which all other proferred advantages, however attractive they now appear, must sooner or later be more than neutralized.

Bankers,.....Messrs. Cocks, Biddulph and Co. and Union Bank of London.

This Company, established by Act of Parliament, affords the most perfect Security from an ample Capital, and only requires, when an Insurance is for the whole period of life, one half of the very moderate Premiums to be paid for the first Five Years after the date of the Policy ; the other half may remain, subject to the payment of Interest at 5 per cent, annually, to de deducted at Death, or may be previously paid off at convenience.

On the 1st of July, 1841, the Board of Directors added 2 per Cent. per Annum as a Bonus to those assured on the participating plan from the dates of their Policies, thus appropriating £20 a year as an addition to every Policy for £1,000.

The advantages held out by this Office comprise all the benefits which have been proved by the experience of the system ; and parties insuring with the "United Kingdom," can avail themselves of nearly all the favorable results of Mutual Insurance, without the responsibility of Co-partnership, as two-thirds of the Profits will either be added periodically to the sum insured, or applied in reduction of the future Premiums ; or they may, without participating in the Profits, secure at their death a certain sum at a very low rate of Premium. In either case, the Assured will have the most ample security from the subscribed Capital of the Company.

The attention of the Public is earnestly requested to the annexed scale of Premiums, which will be found extremely moderate, particularly on the younger ages, and for short periods, and the mode of payment AFFORDS GREATER ACCOMMODATION AND FACILITY THAN HAVE HITHERTO BEEN OFFERED BY ANY OTHER OFFICE.

Superior accommodation afforded to that of other Companies.

1st.—Premiums may be paid quarterly, half-yearly, or annually, as may best suit the convenience of the Assured.

2nd.—When an Insurance is for Life, half the Premium may remain unpaid for five years, at interest, to be deducted eventually from the Policy, or be paid off at convenience.

3rd.—The principle of an ascending and descending Scale, which has been adopted, is equally applicable to the opulent, and to those of limited incomes.

4th.—Policies are granted on very moderate Terms, payable on the death of two, or three parties, (as the case may be,) so as to render Leasehold Property held upon Lives, nearly equal in value to Lands held in perpetuity.

Policies when assigned security to the Lender.

When Insurances are effected by Parties on their own Lives, the Policies may be assigned to others for valuable considerations, as complete securities, for this Company engages to pay the sums insured even should the original Assured die by Suicide, Duelling, or Sentence of the Law, so long as the Policy remains so assigned.

Insurances may be effected on parties, Civil, Naval, or Military, living in any part of the globe, at very moderate additional premiums to what would be charged if they resided in Great Britain. The Policies to take effect from the date of the certificates of health, provided the Insurance be effected immediately on their receipts.

Persons afflicted with complaints not attended with immediate danger to Life, may be insured at Premiums proportioned to their peculiar situation.

The attention of the Public is solicited to the moderate Rates charged for deferred Annuities, which are peculiarly adapted for all classes of the Community, but more particularly for those whose existence depends upon their own exertions, and who, in advanced life, may be rendered nearly, if not wholly, unable to work. A Person of the age of twenty-five by paying, annually, 18s. 3d. or, at one payment, £14 16s. 10d. may, from this Company, secure an annuity of £10, to commence when he is sixty years of age, and to continue during the remainder of life: or any larger sum, in proportion to his circumstances, may be provided for by the same means.

Persons desirous of purchasing Annuities, are required to furnish Certificates of age and identity, which, on payment of the money, will entitle them to receive an Annuity Bond, for whatever sum it may be the pleasure of parties to stipulate.

FOR EFFECTING ASSURANCE ON LIVES AND SURVIVORSHIPS.

1. Policies will not be considered to be in force beyond twenty-one days after the Premiums become due; but should proof be given to the satisfaction of the Directors, that the party or parties whose life or lives hath or have been assured continue in good health, the Policies may be revived at any period within three calendar months, on the payment of a fine to be fixed by a Board of Directors, not exceeding ten shillings per cent. on the sum assured.

II. All persons assured in this Office, are permitted to pass and re-pass by land, or by sea, in decked vessels, from any part of Europe to another, without payment of additional Premium, or forfeiture of Policy.

III. Assurances made by persons on their own lives, who shall die by duelling, or by their own hands, or the hands of justice, shall remain in force as far as any other person shall have acquired a bona fide interest therein, by assignment or by legal or equitable lien. And if any person assured for his own life, and who shall have been so for five years successively, shall die by duelling, his Policy shall remain good for one-half of the sum originally insured. And if any person, assured upon his own life, and who shall have been so for at least five years, shall die by his own hands, and not felo de se, the Directors shall be at liberty, if they shall think proper, to pay, for the benefit of his family, any sum not exceeding what the Company would have paid for the purchase of his interest in the Policy if it had been surrendered to the Company the day previous to his decease, provided that the interest in such Assurance shall be in the assured, or in any Trustee or Trustees for him, or for his Wife or Children, at the time of his decease.

IV. All claimants, upon the decease of any person whose life shall have been Assured by the Company, must, if required, make proof thereof, and give such further information respecting the same as the Directors shall think reasonable.

V. Reasonable proof will also be required of the time of birth, unless that fact shall have been previously established, in which case the same will be admitted by endorsement on the Policy.

VI. The time for payment of claims, accruing by death, is within three calendar months after the proof of the death of the party or parties, upon whose life or lives the Assurance has been effected.

MEMORANDA.

Parties wishing to participate in the Profits of the Office, upon the Ascending, Descending, or Joint Life Scales, will be charged £10 per cent. above the printed Rates.

Insurances may be effected on lives, however far advanced, and the half credit for five years is found particularly convenient on such Insurances. Annuities are granted on very liberal terms.

Every information will be afforded on application to the Resident Director, Edward Boyd, Esq. of No. 8 Waterloo-place, London; or of the

THE LICENSED VICTUALLERS'

GENERAL

FIRE AND LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY,

ADELAIDE PLACE, LONDON BRIDGE,

EDINBURGH, DUBLIN, | LIVERPOOL, MANCHESTER.

Empowered by Act of Parliament.

This Society was originally established by persons connected with that large and influential body of individuals, the Licensed Victuallers of England—a class exceeding ninety thousand, and whose annual returns of Capital approximate to Sixty Millions Sterling.

It is not however confined exclusively to that class of persons, but is open to all who may wish to partake of its various advantages.

The success which has attended this Institution, arising from its extended connexions and the safe and liberal principles on which it is founded, has fully equalled, if not surpassed, that of any similar establishment. The Capital of the Company, subscribed by a numerous and wealthy body of Proprietors, affords ample security for all its engagements, while a rapidly increasing Premium Fund lends additional stability to the Company, and gives an earnest of continued prosperity.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The Premiums for ensuring Common, and other risks, on Goods and Buildings, are on the same scale as in other Fire Offices.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

This Company has adopted two plans of Assurance, whereby the parties assured have choice either of participation in the profits, or of securing a certain fixed Sum, without contingent additions. The Tables have been calculated expressly for this institution. The Rates of Premium are moderate, especially on the non-participation scale, and for the early and middle periods of Life.

The Profits arising from Fire Insurances will be added to those of the Life Department, and the whole will be divided every five years, in the proportion of one-third to the Proprietors, and of two-thirds to Parties Assured for the whole term of Life, whose Policies shall have existed for three years previous to each quinquennial division. The first division took place in January, 1841.

The Premiums may be paid either annually, half-yearly, or quarterly, and one-half of the Premium for the first five years may remain in the hands of the Assured, on Interest at five per cent.

This Institution embraces important and substantial advantages with respect to life assurances nd deferred annuities. The assured has, on all occasions, the power to borrow, without expense or orfeiture of the policy, two-thirds of the premiums paid (see Table), also the option of selecting enefits, and the conversion of his interests to meet other conveniences or necessity.

By the Directors' Seventh Annual Report, made at the General Meeting held on 13th May, 1846, he business of the preceding year, notwithstanding its commercial vicissitudes, had augmented beyond hat of the three preceding years combined, the policies having an increased issue of 769 within the ear, yielding an additional income of £12,691. The claims paid since 1837, £35,757 14s. being less y £11,027 6s. than the expected mortality. The bonus this year, after leaving the most ample re-erve fund, varies from thirty-five to eighty-five per cent. on the premiums paid, which may be added o policy, or rateably payable in cash or otherwise, as policy-holders may select, as in the ollowing table :—

Tables have been calculated expressly for this Institution, and independent of a reduced rate of Premiums, as compared with other Offices, Persons assured for the whole term of life will be entitled, at the end of every seven years, to participate in the profits of the Company.

The share of the profits, to be so allowed, may either be added to the amount of the respective Policies, or the value thereof applied in reduction of the premiums hereafter to be payable on such Policies, at the option of the assured.

The GUARDIAN grants all the benefits acquired by the Equitable System, combined with the security afforded by the Sun, Royal Exchange, &c. and exempt from the perils of Societies without capital.

Assurances made by persons on their Own Lives, who shall die by duelling, or by their own hands, or by the hands of justice, will become void as far as respects such persons; but shall remain in force as far as any other person or persons shall then have acquired a bona fide interest therein, by assignment, or by legal or equitable lien; the extent of such interest to be proved to the satisfaction of the Directors.

Persons who continue insured in this office, having insured Seven Years, whether upon a Septennial or Annual Policy, SHARE THE PROFITS EQUALLY WITH THE ORIGINAL MEMBERS according to their respective Contributions, and, at the same time, are exempt from all personal responsibility.

Returns to the amount of £135,000, have been paid within the last Thirty-seven years to those who have been insured Seven Years—a greater advantage to the Public than has been yielded by any other Fire Office now existing.

has, at each Septennial period, divided the whole of the profits (subject to a deduction of about a twentieth part only) among the Insured. The BENEFITS actually SECURED to Lives insured in this Office, may be judged of by the following Table:—

EMPOWERED UNDER A SPECIAL ACT OF PARLIAMENT.

CAPITAL, ONE MILLION, STERLING.

GREAT ADVANTAGES OF THIS INSTITUTION.

The Rates of Premium are on the lowest Scale consistent with stability, and so varied as to accommodate the views of avery class of Insurers.

This Institution is empowered under a Special Act of Parliament, and so constituted as to afford the benefits of Life Assurance in their fullest extent to Policy Holders, and to present greater facilities and accommodation than can be obtained in any similar Establishment. Increasing and Decreasing Rates of Premium on a new and remarkable plan have been constructed, peculiarly advantageous for securing loans or debts. By the former mode a less immediate payment is required on a Policy than in any other Office, and the Amount of future payment optional with the Assurer.

The following important improvements on the ordinary system of Life Assurance have been adopted by the Britannia Company, and are recommended to the particular attention of the Public:— Age of the Assured in every case admitted in the Policy. All Claims payable in Three Months after proof of death, while other Offices take Six Months to consider this momentous question. Medical Attendants remunerated by the Company in all cases for their reports, by which an important saving is effected to parties insuring. No charge made for Policies or Admission Fees. Policies revived without fine within Twelve Months after expiration, on evidence of unimpaired health, without payment of the FINE demanded by other offices. Premiums may be paid Half-yearly or Quarterly, and Payments may be made to terminate after five, ten, or any other number of years required. A Board of Directors in attendance Daily at Two o'Clock. Thirty Days allowed for Renewal of Policies. Assurances perfected on the same Day they are proposed.

EXTRACT FROM No. 1.

Table of Equal Rates of Premiums, to be paid to this Company in any way most suited to convenience of parties Insuring.

Age of the Assured.	Annual Premium required by old Officers sharing Profits for Policy of £100.	Ordinary Rate of the old Offices not sharing Profits.	Reduced Premium of the Britannia Company.	Saving per cent. by Insuring in the Britannia Company, equal to an immediate Bonus of 25 to 30 per cent.

40	3 15 0	3 6 0	2 15 1	0 19 11

This Table exhibits at a glance a very important saving to the Insurer, fully adequate to insure AT ONCE one-third more principal sum than can be insured for the same Premium in Offices sharing Profits to be realized, and in which it should be borne in mind that should the life drop prematurely, no Bonus would have accrued; consequently, the whole extra Premium charged above the Britannia Company's rate would have been sacrificed, without yielding any commensurate advantage to the Insurer.

The Britannia Company prefer giving a direct and immediate advantage to the public by a fair reduction of rates, rather than inviting those to become partners who can have neither leisure nor inclination to understand or investigate their own rights. These advantages may be observed in the following Scale, where the absolute saving to insurers in the Britannia Company is made to appear, supposing the sum to be insured One Thousand Pounds at any of the following ages :—

Age of the Assured.	The Annual Premium on £1,000 in Offices dividing Profits.	Sum Assured in the Britannia Office for the same Premium.	Certain and immediate Bonus secured in the Britannia Company on a Policy of £1,000.

 THIS TABLE, AS WILL BE OBVIOUS FROM THE FOLLOWING ILLUSTRATIONS, PRESENTS NEW AND IMPORTANT FEATURES IN LIFE ASSURANCE. (VIDE THE COMPANY'S PROSPECTUS, WHICH MAY BE HAD GRATIS ON APPLICATION, EITHER PERSONALLY OR BY LETTER, TO THE COMPANY'S AGENTS AS AT FOOT.)

By this plan of Insurance the public are vastly convenienced, increased facilities afforded, and every possible contingency or disappointment anticipated for the protection of the Assurer, with less IMMEDIATE payment for first five years than in any other Office, and the amount of subsequent payments left optional with the Insurer, an important advantage not given to the Policy Holders of any other Company.

If the Life assured drop within the first period of five years, the Sum he receives is almost equal to a gratuity. If in the second, he derives still a considerable benefit ; and if he should live even to the last period, he has, notwithstanding, made his Assurance on advantageous terms. Again, if the Assurer should become unable to advance his premium, or that it is inconvenient for him to do so, he drops into the alternate scale—namely, a proportionate reduction of the sum assured, whilst it is only fair to remind him, that in other Companies adopting the increasing Rates of Premium, no such alternative exists. The insurers with Offices adopting that principle, are called upon, without any excuse or consideration of circumstances, to advance their premiums AFTER THE FIRST FIVE YEARS, (when all accommodation has ceased), whether they are able to do so or not, otherwise their policies are forfeited, and all their previous payments lost to them for ever. The rate of reduction in the sum assured after the first five years, should the premium be not advanced, will appear by the following abstract, taking the sum assured at £1,000, the whole amount insured being payable by this Company, should death previously occur, without any deduction whatever :—

If the Insurer die after the first period of five years without increasing his Premium, it will be reduced one-eighth to .. .. .. £875, principal sum.

If he shall die after the second period of five years, without increasing, it will be reduced one-fourth to .. .. £750, ditto

If he shall die after the third period of five years, without increasing his premium, it will be reduced three-eights to .. .. .. £625, ditto

And if he shall die after the fourth period of five years, without increasing, it will be reduced to .. .. £500 ditto

After this period, no further reduction can be made on the amount assured

 This Company assures the lives of Officers and others travelling to, or residing in, any part of the world.

Emigrants to Australia and the Colonies may effect Insurances on their Lives at the lowest current rates, and every contingency affecting human life negociated on equitable principles.

☞ Medical Officers (who are in constant communication with the undersigned) have been appointed in the principal towns throughout the kingdom, with the view of affording the utmost expedition to the parties effecting insurances, and to obviate the inconvenience of personal appearance at the Dublin Office.

☞ The progressively increasing patronage enjoyed by the Britannia Company during the past years (no doubt induced by the many important advantages it affords) reders it an imperative duty on the undersigned thus publicly to express their sincere acknowledgments to the Irish public ; and in soliciting a continuance of the same favour, they most respectfully beg to direct attention to the fact, that during the past year, the number of Policies issued has not been exceeded by any Life Office in the Kingdom

The uniform promptitude and liberality observed in the adjustment of all claims on this Company (to which many have borne public testimony)—the extreme attention and expedition in effecting Insurances, guided by equitable and honourable principles, with the lowest and most accomodating rates of premium that stability can admit of, have deservedly obtained for this Institution such a decided preference over its numerous competitors.

Proposals, Forms for effecting Insurances, Prospectuses detailing the many advantages of the Company, with every information respecting the Rates of Premium for Home and Foreign Insurances, Survorships, Joint-lives, and every other contingency affecting human life, may be had on application to the undersigned,

Witness—WM. SHAW.

Dublin, 24th January, 1845.

DEAR SIR—In gratitude towards the Britannia Assurance Company, I feel called on to state publicly the circumstances under which I have been paid the amount of the accompanying receipt for £300.

Having effected an assurance with your Company on the life of the late Mr. Denis Rice, and through inadvertence having neglected to comply with your notice for payment of the Premium due within the prescribed time of 30 days, it so happened that the person assured died in the interim.

Under the circumstances, your Company, instead of relying on their legal right and general usage, have in the most honourable and prompt manner paid me the full amount of the Policy. I, therefore, feel myself imperatively called upon to publish these facts, so highly creditable to the character of the Company which you are the representative of in this city.

I am, dear Sir, your very obedient servant,

THEOPHILUS TAYLOR,

Witness—WM. SHAW.

29 Lower Abbey-street, 24th January, 1845.

SIR—I cannot but express my admiration of the liberality of your Company, in paying the full amount of an Insurance for Three Hundred Pounds, which was forfeited by the non-payment of the Premium due by me within the proper time.

It is but right that the public should be made acquainted with this act of great liberality on the part of your Company, so amply evinced by coming promptly forward to discharge a demand from which they had been entirely released by an omission on my part.

I feel bound to express my thanks to the Directors, and to you personally, for the attention given to the statements which it was necessary for me to lay before the Company, pending their decision.

I feel it a duty to the Public, as well as for the satisfaction of the numerous Policy Holders of the Britannia Company, to make this public statement.

I remain, Sir, your most obedient servant,

JOHN QUEELY.

PATENT TRUSS

For the relief and cure of Hernia,

BY SURGEON L'ESTRANGE, OF DUBLIN.

WILLIAM DUFF,

37, MOLESWORTH-STREET,

BEGS to inform the Medical Profession and the Public that he has received permission of the Patentee to make and dispose of his Trusses. The principle upon which this Truss is constructed is entirely different from that of any others, but readily admitted by the first surgeons who have examined it to be perfectly correct; its mode of application effectually secures the Hernia, and by restoring the natural action of the abdominal muscles, tends to promote a radical cure; and after nearly four years' trial, in a variety of cases in Dublin, this Truss has gained the general approbation of the Profession. Agents to the Patentee, Weiss and Son, 62 Strand, London, and John Fannin, 41 Grafton-street, Dublin.

Empowered by Special Act of Parliament, 7 & 8 Vict. cap. 48.

The following are among the ADVANTAGES OF INSURING WITH THIS COMPANY:—

1 ASSURANCES ARE GRANTED at very moderate rates of premium on the lives of persons in every profession and station of life, by which a sum certain after death can be provided for the junior branches of a family, interests in lives in leases secured, &c. &c. &c.

2. PARTICIPATION to the extent of two-thirds of the profits by every Policy-holder assured for the whole term of life, who has paid seven annual premiums; the other one-third being added to the Capital, which in this Company has been paid up in full, thus affording PERFECT SECURITY.

3. THE RIGHT of qualified Policy Holders to attend and vote at the election of Directors and Auditors, and themselves to become Candidates for those offices.

4. RESIDENCE IN ANY PART OF EUROPE allowed to the assured, and permission granted to travel or reside elsewhere on payment of an extra premium equivalent to the increase of risk.

5. NO EXTRA CHARGE TO NAVAL OR MILITARY OFFICERS, whilst in the United Kingdom; and when ordered on foreign service, if it be inconvenient to the officer to pay the extra premium, a corresponding reduction by endorsement on the Policy can be made in the sum assured.

6. PURCHASERS OF REVERSIONARY INTERESTS AND LENDERS, can protect themselves from the risk of their Vendors or Debtors proceeding beyond the limits of Europe, by payment of a reasonable extra Premium.

7. LADIES can be visited by the Company's medical officers at their own residences, free of expense.

8. THE AGE AND STATE OF HEALTH of the person whose life is to be assured, and the interest in the life, ADMITTED, on the same being shown at the time of effecting the Assurance.

9. POLICIES effected by persons on their own lives DO NOT BECOME VOID, in the event of death by Suicide, Duelling, or by the hands of Justice, as respects bona fide purchasers, or mortgagees to the extent of their mortgages.

10. ADVANCES may be obtained on Policies effected for the whole term of life, immediately after they acquire an adequate value; or the full computed value will be given on surrender of the same.

11. NO ADMISSION FEE, or other charge, is made beyond the amount of the Premium and Policy Stamp, unless expense be specially incurred to meet the convenience of the party assuring.

12. ASSURANCES CAN be effected by payment of an annual, or half yearly premium; or of a single premium to cover the whole term; or of a premium ceasing after a limited number of years; or of a decreasing or increasing scale of premium, which latter scale is peculiarly adapted for the security of debt; or by payment of only one-half the ordinary premium for five or seven years; the other portion remaining at five per cent. until paid off.

Prospectuses, containing Tables of Premium, and every other information, may be obtained by application to the Secretaries, in Dublin or London, or any of the Company's Agents.

By Order, { CHARLES SAUNDERSON, SECRETARY TO THE COMPANY.

JAMES SHERIDAN,

IRON & BRASS FOUNDER, MILLWRIGHT & ENGINEER,

CHURCH BELL FOUNDER

TO THE MOST REV. AND RIGHT REV. THE ROMAN CATHOLIC HIERARCHY AND CLERGY OF IRELAND, AND THE ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY, AND THE COLLEGE OF MAYNOOTH,

WROUGHT-IRON FIRE-PROOF SAFE MAKER

TO THE NATIONAL BANK OF IRELAND,

EAGLE FOUNDRY, CHURCH-STREET, DUBLIN.

HAS now on hands a great variety of very superior Fire-proof Safes, fitted up with Chubb's Patent Self-detecting Locks, and well suited for securing valuable property, or for the use of Banking Establishments. They are made of the best materials, and will be sold at Manufacturers' price.

He has also ready for inspection his usual assortment of

from 25 cwt. down to the smallest size, all of the most exquisite tones and workmanship, for which his house has been long noted, and not inferior in any respect to what has been produced in England and on the Continent.

⁂ The highest price will be allowed for old Bells and good strong Copper, in cash or exchange.

All kinds of Wrought Iron Work, Metal and Brass CASTINGS, executed as usual on the shortest notice, and in the best manner.

⁂ Among the many testimonials received, he begs leave to refer to the following letters with which he has been honored:—

MY DEAR SIR, 65 Queen street, Dublin, 30th November, 1843.

I never felt greater satisfaction than in testifying to the masterly manner in which you have executed every thing connected with the ring of Joy Bells for St. Paul's Church. Although the first peal which for three hundred years has been got up in this country, yet the spirit with which you undertook so heavy a work, and the effective manner in which you executed it, do you immortal honor;—no country need ever desire a better Peal of Bells; and for my part, I feel proud of my country, which under so many adverse circumstances, has produced it, and to you, Sir, I owe the deepest debt of gratitude.

I am, dear Sir, yours truly,

WILLIAM YORE,
V.G. & P.P. OF ST. PAUL'S.

To Mr. James Sheridan,
Eagle Foundry, Church street, Dublin.

MY DEAR SIR, Royal Dublin Society, Kildare street, 30th October, 1844.

I discharge a very agreeable duty in presenting to you the Gold Medal of the Royal Dublin Society, adjudged to you at the late exhibition of Irish manufactures, for your Ring of Joy Bells, Iron Fire-proof Safes, and other articles exhibited by you there, being persuaded that there is no person whatever better entitled than you are to this honorable distinction, from your long and successful exertions to raise and to establish the character of the manufactures of Ireland. I beg you to believe me, dear sir, your faithful and obedient servant,

EDWARD HARDMAN, Assistant Secretary.

To Mr. James Sheridan,
Eagle Foundry, Church street, Dublin.

MY DEAR Sir, Monasterevan, 12th April, 1845.

I inclose, as at foot, £56 13s. 2d., which please pass to my credit in account. The Wrought Iron Fire-proof Safe has arrived in good order, and is a most excellent specimen of Irish manufacture.

I remain, my dear Sir, yours very faithfully,

ROBERT CASSIDY.

To Mr. James Sheridan,
Eagle Foundry, Church street, Dublin.

DEAR SIR, Portadown, co. Armagh, 24th July, 1845.

I send you herewith a letter of credit for the balance of our account, and at the same time I feel it to be only an act of justice not to allow the opportunity to pass without communicating to you the entire approval that both I and the inhabitants of Portadown are anxious to express, of the very prompt and satisfactory manner in which you executed our order for a new Church Bell, of about ten hundred weight.

Desirous as we were, of course, to lay out the amount of our subscriptions to the best possible advantage, and to procure a Bell of the first-rate tone and quality, and on the most moderate terms, I feel it a pleasure in being able to bear my testimony that you have fully met our wishes in each of these respects, inasmuch as the tone of the Bell is allowed to be of very superior quality, and your terms are at least as moderate as those of any other manufactory in Ireland, and considerably under the prices charged in England.

You have full permission to refer to me any persons you please, for whose satisfaction I shall always be happy to confirm the statement I now make.

I am, dear Sir, your obedient servant,

HENRY De L. WILLIS, Clerk,

Mr. James Sheridan, Dublin. Incumbent of Portadown.

DEAR SIR, Kingstown, 24th August, 1845.

I am happy to inform you, that the Bell you made for me, and hung in such a Mechanical manner in the Belfry of my Church here, has given general satisfaction—it is indeed a great Bell, considering its size and weight, say nearly a ton—I think it could not be supassed by one of much greater dimensions; the sweet Melody of its sounds, and the commanding vibration of its Music, is heard for many miles around us, and is universally admired for the rich rotundity of its tone. It does your respectable establishment much credit, and delights me to be thus able to bear testimony to the superiority of Irish Manufacture, and I do hope that you will receive all the encouragement which your long standing as a Bell Founder, a General Manufacturer, and a Merchant, so justly merits. Wishing you long life and health to enjoy the rewards of your skill, industry, and enterprise, in this and all your other weighty undertakings,

I am, dear Sir, with great respect,

Yours most faithfully,

Mr. James Sderidan, BARTHOLOMEW SHERIDAN, P.P.

Eagle Foundry, Church street, Dublin.

Victoria Life Assurance of London.

25, COLLEGE-GREEN, DUBLIN.

SIR JAMES DUKE, M.P., Alderman, Chairman.

BENJAMIN HAWES, Esq., Deputy Chairman.

THE ATTENTION OF ASSURERS is particularly directed to the detailed Prospectuses of this Company. Assurances can be effected on a profit or non-profit scale, and for short periods, at a very moderate rate. When on the life of another, the Policy may be rendered secure, notwithstanding the life assured may go out of the limits of Europe without the necessary permission of the Directors having been previously obtained—this plan makes a Policy an absolute security.

Credit of half the premiums, for the first five years, allowed on Policies effected for the whole term of life.

Premiums may be paid annually, half-yearly, or quarterly, or in any other manner to suit Assurers.
