P R E F A C E .

In issuing the first publication of the Post Office Bolton Directory, the Proprietors have to apologize to their Subscribers and the public generally for the delay which has occurred in the appearance of the work. That delay, although to be regretted, has not, however, arisen from neglect or inattention on the part of the Compilers, but through circumstances which were not foreseen when the work was first projected. It was found desirable to enlarge the Plan, both in scale and size, from what was originally proposed, and the work, in bringing it up to date, was found to be greater than was anticipated. The delay thus occasioned suggested the propriety of bringing the body of the Book also up to date, which of course occupied additional time. Neither pains nor expense have been allowed to stand in the way of making the Book and the Plan worthy of public acceptance ; and it is hoped that both will meet with a favourable reception. The Compilers have to acknowledge the courtesy of the gentlemen composing the Corporation Streets Committee in affording facilities for the Compilation of the Plan, and also the assistance of Mr. Proctor, the Borough Surveyor, in the same direction. They have also to thank Mr. James Lomax and Mr. Barrow Bell, Surveyors to the Farnworth and Astley Bridge Local Boards, respectively, for valuable services rendered also in connection with the Plan. To Mr. J. M. Rutter, Solicitor, they are much indebted for the very succinct digest of the principal Public Acts of Parliament of Session 1875, appearing in the Appendix, which, as they are of a popular character, will, it is believed, prove of considerable utility to the general public. Their best thanks are also due to Mr. James Clegg, of the Bolton Chronicle, for the very interesting historical sketch of Bolton, which forms the prefix of the work.

As regards the Book itself, the plan of the work will be readily seen on reference to the Table of Contents ; and as to the manner in which the task has been executed, the Compilers prefer leaving the public to form their own judgment. That errors have been entirely avoided is hardly to be hoped for, but they confidently submit the work, as a first effort, with all its imperfections, to the generous consideration of the public.

It is only due to the Printers to say that every effort has been made by them to go hand in hand with the Compilers in forwarding the work, so as to place it before the public with as little delay as possible.

BOLTON, AUGUST, 1876.

HISTORY OF BOLTON.

Though "A History of Bolton" is no part of the task we set ourselves in presenting a work which it is hoped will be found a convenient and acceptable, as also a reliable, source of reference touching the industries and chief residents of the town and neighbourhood, some slight historical and topographical survey may yet not be out of place in a POST OFFICE DIRECTORY FOR BOLTON.

Situated in latitude 53° 35' N. and longitude 2° 37' W., the River Croal, a small tributary of the Irwell, running through the centre of it, with Great Bolton on the south and Little Bolton on the north side of the stream, the town of Bolton is a Corporate and Parliamentary borough in the South-eastern Division of the County Palatine of Lancaster, in the Hundred of Salford, in the parish and union of its name, in the deanery, archdeaconry, and bishopric of Manchester. It is 196 miles N. W. by N. from London by rail; 10½ N.W. from Manchester; 28 N.E. from Liverpool; 20 miles S. from Preston, and 40 from Lancaster. It is a large and prosperous manufacturing town, cotton being its staple industry; but its engineering and machine-making establishments are also extensive; its bleachworks are among the largest and most successful in the kingdom; it has an abundance of coal; and as a further and not unimportant element in its prosperity and progress, few towns can now boast a better water supply, its water being soft, pure, and wholesome, well adapted for domestic and manufacturing purposes, and in quantity sufficient, owing to recent extensions, for all the requirements of the town and neighbourhood for many years to come.

Located as it was in the remote past amid dreary and inhospitable moors, but little is known concerning the earlier history of the town. The very derivation of its name is by no means certain. Whatever may be the etymology—whether we accept Bolton as from Bothel-ton, i.e., Botl, an abode or dwelling, and tūn, an aggregation of such, or in other words a town or village, adjoining a principal mansion or manor-house; or we take Both, a shop or shed or fold—words importing a Friesic or Old Saxon origin; or again, with some, we assume the name to be derived from the Celtic Bol, the centre, or Bodle, a residence, and ton, as signifying a bog or morass;—there can be no doubt that the town which in its earlier history was variously spoken of as Bodelton, Bothelton, Bowlton, Boltune, and Bolton-super-Moras, then as Polton-le-Moors, and now simply as Bolton without any qualifying designation, has a much higher antiquity than the era of the Norman Conquest, though less is known of it from its isolation than of many less considerable and even neighbouring places which lay more contiguous to the great highways which in early times stretched through this part of Lancashire north and south, to the east and west respectively of Bolton. Centuries prior to the Saxon era—as early as A.D. 79 for example—the Roman Road from Manchester to Lancaster, by the Lane-ends (or "Street Yate"), Hulton, Westhoughton, and Blackrod, was formed by Julius Agricola, after having reduced the native Brigantii; another Roman Road, from Manchester to Ribchester, passing through Cockey Moor. One of the eight forts erected by Agricola in Lancashire was at Blackrod. The re-owned Arthur, King of the Britons, fought four of his successful battles against the Saxons seven miles west of Bolton, upon the banks of the Douglas in the year 467; and according to tradition, the first battle fought near Blackrod was uncommonly bloody, the Douglas being crimsoned with blood to Horwich, while the valley towards Horwich was also the scene of great carnage. It is not improbable that at a time like this, with good roads running so near, though not actually through it, some dwellers would have settled in the neighbourhood of Bolton, if not absolutely on the site of the present town itself; and further countenance is given to this by the popular belief—mere tradition though it possibly may be—that as early as the sixth century Smithills Hall was a Royal Saxon palace, occupied by Ella, King of the Deiri, and subsequently by many noble families; that in the year 680 Smithills was walled round to keep the wolves at bay, thus implying that it must then, at all events, have been a considerable residence, in which case we may be quite sure there would be “folds” or “thorps”—collections of dwellings or hamlets—not far off; and again that in the year 793 Eanbald, Archbishop of York, and Ethelbert, Bishop of Hexham, consecrated the Chapel of the Blessed Virgin, at Smithills. Apocryphal some of the earlier stories doubtless are. With the advent of the Norman Conquest, however, we come within the historic period; we have frequent references to the manor of Bolton; we have evidence that one of these feudal lords resided at the manor house in Little Bolton, on the banks of the Croal; and the town must have attained some degree of importance when in the twelfth century it was noted for its woollen trade, and in the year 1256 it was raised to the rank of a market town by charter of Henry III., this being the first Royal Charter of which we have any record as applying to the town of Bolton.

Following the Norman Conquest, Lancashire was soon parcelled out among the nobles and great men who had enabled William to establish himself on English soil, the Saxon lords being everywhere ruthlessly despoiled. The manor of Bolton was given by William the Conqueror, in the year 1067, to his cousin Roger de Poitou, whom he at the same time advanced to the dignity and title of Earl of Lancaster. Roger de Poitou was thus the first lord of the manor within the Norman period, but he lost it and was banished from England for taking part in a rebellion against Henry I., and it passed into the hands of Roger de Mercheya, in the year 1100. Roger de Mercheya subsequently sold it with all his other lands, extending ever some fourteen or fifteen townships between the Ribble and the Mersey, to Randolph de Blundeville, Earl of Chester, for 240 marks of silver and a pair of white gloves to be presented annually at Easter. It was by an Earl of Chester, who then owned Great and Little Bolton, that in the year 1220 the fire beacon was erected on Rivington Pike at an elevation of 1545 feet above the sea level, Rivington being the most northerly of the range of Lancashire hills on which he erected these beacons for the better protection of his scattered property. In the year 1232 the manor passed by marriage with the family of the Earl of Chester into the hands of Robert de Ferrers, the first Earl of Derby, and remained in that family till the peerage was extinguished with the deprivation of the eighth earl in 1265 for complicity with Simon de Montfort. Then it passed by marriage into the hands of the Pilkingtons, from whom again it was lost by the part they took in the Wars of the Roses, Sir Thomas Pilkington being beheaded at Leicester after the Battle of Bosworth Field in 1485, for his adherence to the cause of Richard III. It was after that battle that Lord Stanley was created Earl of Derby, his stepfather, Henry VII., conferring upon him at the same time the vast estates of the Pilkingtons, including the manor of Bolton. Upon the same Lord Stanley the manor of Brightmet (Bright Meadow) had been conferred by Richard III. two years previously, Brightmet being one of the forfeited estates of “our Rebell” Sir Thomas Leger, who though he had married the Duchess of Exeter, sister to King Richard, not only lost his estates by attainder, but his life by the hand of the public executioner. During the troublous period of the Commonwealth, a portion of Lord Derby’s property here was forfeited by the Parliament at whose hands James the seventh earl suffered death by decapitation at the Market Cross in Bolton, fronting the Man and Scythe, on the 15th October, 1651 ; and the manor from that time ceased to be exclusively in the hands of one great lord. The manor of Great Bolton is now held by separate lords in the proportions following :—The Earl of Bradford, the Earl of Derby, and the Freemans, each one-fourth ; the remaining fourth being held by the Claughton and Lever families, two-thirds by the former and one-third by the latter. Mr. Tipping is lord of the manor of Little Bolton. When these townships, however, passed from under the dominion of boroughreeves and trustees, all manorial rights of government ceased and became vested in the Corporation.

Inhospitable as its situation proclaimed it to be, out of the ordinary travel, and so apparently insignificant as to find no place in Domesday Book, the Bolton of earlier times was yet by no means a place without note. Six hundred years ago, as we have seen, it was raised to the rank of a market town, "for the amusement and good fellowship of the neighbouring people and to encourage traffic." The woollen trade had an existence here a hundred years before that, trade naturally taking early root in a district so little promising to the operations of the husbandman. In the year 1337 we find Flemish clothiers settling in Bolton, these Flemish weavers bringing with them the wooden shoes which as clogs are still so celebrated among us, and the jannock, or bread made of oatmeal which for centuries held its own in this neighbourhood as a wholesome article of diet, but has now almost disappeared before the more luxurious habits begotten of great industrial prosperity. It is quaintly recorded that to induce these refugee Flemings to settle amongst us it was promised "that their beds should be good, and their bedfellows better, seeing that the richest yeomen in England would not disdain to marry their daughters to them." The valour of the "Bolton lads" at Flodden Field has been immortalised in verse. Here Sir E. Stanley raised bowmen to fight at Flodden, and it was to the "Bolton lads" who thus distinguished themselves that the following inscription on the walls of our Old Parish Church in 1701 had reference—

The bolt shot well, I ween,
From arablast of yew tree green,
(Many nobles prostrate lay)
At glorious Flodden Field.

And the ballad of the time ran—

With fellows fearce and fresh for feight,
Which Halton fields did turn in fooces,
With lusty ladds liver and light
From Blackborne and Bolton in ye Mores.

Leland, in his Itinerary (1540), gives us this picture of the Bolton of the sixteenth century :—
"Bolton upon Moore, market, stondest most by cottons and course yorne. Divers villages in the Mores abowt Bolton do make cottons. Nother the site nor the ground abowte Bolton is so good as it is abowte Byri. They burne at Bolton some canale, but more Se cole, of the wich the pittes be not far off. They burne turfe also." Another author, Blome, writing about a century later, describes Bolton as a "fair well-built town, with broad streets; hath a market on Mondays, which is very good for clothing and provisions, and is a place of great trade for fustians." And about the latter period—1638—Bolton was the principal market in the kingdom for fustians. Here Humphrey Chetham, founder of the Manchester Blue Coat Hospital, and who then resided at Turton Tower, was the principal buyer. When he had made his markets, says Aikin, "the remainder was purchased by Mr. Cooke, a much less honourable dealer, who took the advantage of calling the pieces what length he pleased, and giving his own price." It was of this industry that Fuller, in his "Worthies," says, "The Lancashire people, buying the Cotton-Wool or Yarne, coming from beyond the sea, make it here into Fustians to the good imployment of the poor and great improvement of the Rich therein, serving mean people for their outsides, and their betters for the lineings of their garments. Bolton is the staple-place for this commodity, being brought thither from all parts of the country." More than a hundred years before this, cotton yarns had been spun at Horwich, and now Bolton became also a principal seat for the manufacture of dimities, which it was the first to introduce. It was here that cotton velvets were made for the first time in 1756, and that muslins were made by means of machinery in 1782. In 1787 the woollen manufacture was once more the staple trade of the town, there being at that time 33 woollen manufacturers in Bolton.

Few towns suffered more than Bolton in the Civil War in the time of Charles I. Bolton was termed the "Geneva of Lancashire," and was long considered the very school and centre of Puritanism. Taking up the cause of Parliament, it was fortified and garrisoned by the Parliamentary forces. The Parish Church was desecrated, and for two years used as a storehouse for military accoutrements. On the 25th February, 1643, an unsuccessful attack was made on the town by the forces of the King. On the 23th of the following month the town was a second time unsuccessfully assaulted, the King's troops being completely routed, and many of them slain, the Middleton club-men fighting here against the Royalist forces. In the following year, however, the King's forces, greatly augmented, were more successful. On the 27th May, 1644, Prince Rupert's army of 10,000 horse and foot assembled on Deane Moor, and on the next day the town was stormed by this large army under the Prince and the Earl of Derby, and the Parliamentary troops, numbering about 3,000, defeated, with awful carnage, 800 or 1,000 Parliamentarians and 400 Royalists being slain, and the banks of the Croal strewn with their bodies. According to one account, Prince Rupert refused to give quarter to the vanquished, and 1,200 persons were put to the sword after the battle was won. After the battle of Worcester, so disastrous to the King's forces, the Earl of Derby was captured, and here, as a sort of retributive punishment, he was executed on the date we have named, October 15, 1651, many persons at the same time being killed by the troopers, who, from the sympathies of the populace, seemed to anticipate an attempted rescue of the unhappy earl. The unsettled state of these times is graphically described in the epitaph on John Okey, the celebrated Puritan, on whose gravestone in the Bolton Parish Church-yard there is the following inscription:—

"John Okey the servant of God was borne in London 1608 Came into this Towne 1629 Married Mary the daughter of James Crompton of Brightmet 1635 with whom he lived comfortably 20 years & begot 4 sons & 6 daughters Since then he lived sole till the day of his death. It is, of course, to the inventions of Arkwright and Crompton that Bolton, in common with other manufacturing districts, owes the extraordinary development we have witnessed in our time. It was here that Arkwright—afterwards the great Sir Richard—whilst pursuing the humble avocation of a barber in Churchgate, matured and in 1769 patented his invention of the "water frame," and here too that in 1775, whilst residing at the Hall-i'th'-Wood, Samuel Crompton invented the "mule," so called from its combination of the two discoveries—the jenny by Hargreaves and the water frame by Arkwright. The value of Crompton's invention may be seen in the fact that whereas the water frame was capable of spinning a pound of cotton to the length of 19 miles, the mule is capable of spinning a pound of cotton to the enormous length of 950 miles. At the census in 1871 the cotton trade in Bolton gave employment to 8,708 males and 11,353 females, and the number has since been considerably augmented, the proportion of persons employed in factories being about three to one of those engaged in the iron trades of the borough.

In the year 1780, Crompton generously gave to the public the invention which had cost him so many hours of anxious labour, to which Lancashire owes so much of its prosperity, and which has done so much to benefit the whole civilised world. In that same year, Bolton saw its first cotton mill erected, this mill being built in King-street by James Tweats or Thwaites. This Mr. Tweats was also a bleacher at Burnden, and as bleaching was then done in the open air, the cotton goods being exposed on the grass for that purpose, croft breaking was at that time a capital offence; and it is significant of the character of the times that the gallows was then a regular institution on Deane Moor, erected on a part long afterwards known as Gallows Hall, and situate within a short distance of Sunning hill. Here in 1786 one James Holland was executed for the offence of which we have been speaking, stealing from Mr. Thweat's bleaching grounds at Burnden, 30 yards of cotton cloth, of the value of £3,—an amount which gives an idea of the value of cotton goods at that time. In 1796, one Samuel Longworth was gibbeted on the same spot for murdering a youth named William Horrocks, and robbing him of his watch and four or five guineas in Deane-lane, and as an object of terror to the neighbourhood, there his body hung for two months on the gibbet, and after being cut down was buried on the spot. The muslin weavers at this time constituted the élite of the Bolton operative classes. About 1793 they were in the height of their prosperity; one of them could then earn his half-guinea before dinner time; they brought home their work in top boots and ruffle shirts, and in some instances took a coach, weavers commonly walking about the street with a five-pound Bank of England note spread out under their hat bands.

Under the quickening impulse of the factory system, the necessity for local improvements which aforesaid had been stagnant for so long was soon felt, and the first great step in this direction in our own town may be said to date from 1792 with the Act of Parliament for "Inclosing, dividing, and allotting" the "Common or Waste Ground called Bolton Moor, and other the Commons and Waste Grounds within the Township of Great Bolton," the preamble of which set forth that it would be of great utility and benefit to the lords of the manor and the owners of property if these commons and waste grounds were "sold on a perpetual annual chief rent, and the money thereby to be raised, and the yearly rent thereof, applied for the improvement of the said Town of Great Bolton, and in aid of the poor-rates thereof, and also for widening, paving, lighting, watching, cleansing, and watering the streets, lanes, and passages within the said town,' and further that "whereas the said towns of Great and Little Bolton are large, populous, and trading towns, and daily increasing, and it would tend greatly to the safety, preservation, and benefit of the inhabitants thereof, if the streets, lanes, and passages in Great and Little Bolton aforesaid were cleansed, lighted, watched, watered, and regulated, and kept free from nuisances, incroachments, obstructions, and annoyances, and some of them widened and improved, and if sufficient engines and able men were kept and employed for the extinguishing of fires which may happen within the said towns, and if the said towns were sufficiently supplied with good and wholesome water." This common of about 270 acres, "by and with the consent of Edward Earl of Derby, Sir Henry Bridgeman, Baronet, John Blackburne, James Lever, and Samuel Crooke, Esquires, as Lords of the Manor of Great Bolton, who were to have one-fifteenth share of the estate given among them, and John Ridgway, Ann Crompton, John Houghton, and several other persons, who were owners and proprietors of several messuages and tenements within the said manor," was to be set out, allotted, and enclosed by three commissioners named, Matthew Fletcher, of Clifton, Ralph Fletcher, of Haulgh, and David Claughton, of Great Sankey, who had power to dispose of the said common and waste land in specified allotments, at a perpetual chief rent; the whole estate to be vested in a number of trustees, whose qualification was "resident in the town," and to be possessed of an estate, real or personal, or both, of the amount or value of one thousand pounds; the qualification for Little Bolton being five hundred pounds. The only portions of the Bolton Moor Common which were not to be disposed of were, first, "one acre, two roods, and 22 perches given to the Bishop of Chester as Rector of Bolton, in exchange for other parts of glebe land next adjoining to the church yard of the Parish Church of Bolton, as an additional burying ground thereto;" "and another piece of ground containing 34 perches or thereabouts, and given to John Ridgway and his heirs in exchange for other land used in widening the public road leading between Great Bolton and Wigan," very likely a portion of Pike's-lane, near to Chamber Hall, which was then his residence. The right of common on this waste land thereupon ceased, and for a time was a source of much discontent among the poor. Immediately after this Act came into force, great alterations and improvements were made, streets widened and new roads laid out. The previous year had witnessed the formation of the Bolton and Manchester Canal, which also was regarded as a great improvement at a time when the pack horse, the carrier's wagon, and the stage coach, were the only means of conveyance for goods or passengers.

Meanwhile the towns of Great and Little Bolton, except for the purposes named, continued as they had been from time immemorial subject to the local authority of the lords of the respective manors. The exercise of their governing powers was of the same character in both townships. Once a year in each place there was held a court leet, the agent of the lord of the manor being the presiding authority, and this court would proceed to appoint a boroughreeve as head officer, and a staff of officials as constables, ale tasters, pig ringers, bellman, and other functionaries. There were thus two governing bodies in each township, the court leet and the trustees,—Great Bolton having its forty, and Little Bolton its thirty, of the latter officials. Each body and each township thus acted according to its own traditions, often in defiance of one another; and as a consequence not only was there no concerted management of the two townships, but it became notorious that offences proscribed and punishable in one often found sanctuary in the other. The act to reform these old local institutions followed naturally upon Parliamentary reform; and as Bolton had been enfranchised under the one, and for the first time enjoyed the privilege of direct Parliamentary representation, two members being assigned to it under the Reform Act of 1832, it was not long in taking advantage of the other also, and obtaining for itself a Charter of Incorporation, Bolton being the second town in England to be incorporated. The Charter of Incorporation was granted on the 11th October, 1838, the town being divided into six wards, each with six Councillors and two Aldermen, the Council thus consisting of 48 members, from whom the Mayor was to be chosen. In 1839 the first Bench of Borough Magistrates was created, and in May of the same year Bolton was granted a separate Court of Quarter Sessions. The validity of the Charter was long the subject of litigation, which was only finally set at rest by Act of Parliament—the Boroughs Incorporation Act, which received the Royal Assent on the 12th August, 1842. The old Trustees, however, continued to exercise certain powers co-ordinate with the Corporation till the year 1850, when by a local Act the government of the town devolved absolutely upon the latter body, the elected representatives of the burgesses.

The population of Great and Little Bolton in 1773, just prior to Crompton's invention, was only 5,600, Little Bolton containing only about 1,000 inhabitants, while the number of houses in the two townships was 1,178. In 1791 the population of Great Bolton had risen to 9,000 and Little Bolton to 2,000; in 1801, Great Bolton had 12,549 inhabitants, and Little Bolton 4,867,—total, 17,416; in 1811, Great Bolton, 17,070, and Little Bolton 7,079—total, 24,149; in 1821, the total had risen to 31,295; in 1831, 43,396; 1841—49,747; 1851—61,172; 1861—70,395; 1871—92,655. On March 9, 1868, the Parliamentary boundaries of Bolton were extended by the inclusion of Little Bolton Higher End, Astley Bridge, and part of Halliwell; the population of the Municipal borough at the census of 1871 being 82,854, and of the Parliamentary, as above stated, 92,655. In 1872, the Municipal boundaries were extended by taking in Daubhill, but this part is not included in the Parliamentary borough, and it is again proposed very considerably to extend the Municipal boundaries. The Town Council now consists of 56 members. The Poor-law Union of Bolton, of which the borough is the centre, was formed January 5, 1837. It has an area of 46,413 acres, of which Great Bolton occupies 825, and Little Bolton (including 1034 acres in the detached portions) 1779. It had a population in 1871 of 158,402; and the Registrar General estimates that it is now in the middle of 1876, 165,525. Its rateable value in 1876 is £677,295, of which Great Bolton represents £174,168, and Little Bolton £126,779.

The town enjoys considerable railway facilities, and was one of the earliest in the kingdom to adopt the new means of locomotion. The Bolton and Leigh Railway was opened on August 1, 1828, and the immediate effect of it was a reduction of 2s. per ton on coal in Bolton and the neighbourhood, it being calculated that the saving in fuel to the manufacturing population of Bolton would be as great a relief to them as if all the assessed taxes had been repealed. In 1831, the line was extended to Kenyon, where it joined the Manchester and Liverpool line, this portion being opened for goods traffic on January 1st, and for passengers on June 13th. On May 29th, 1838, the line from Manchester to Bolton was opened; from Bolton to Preston, June 22nd, 1843; Bolton to Blackburn, June 13th, 1848; and in the same year, November 30th, the Liverpool and Bury line was opened. On April 1st, 1875, the new line of the London and North-Western Company, from Bolton to Manchester was opened; and the Lancashire and Yorkshire have now a branch to Astley Bridge, which is of especial service in the relief of the goods traffic.

Not much remains to remind one that Bolton is a town of ancient date. Its market cross, whereat the Earl of Derby was executed, the Parish Church Lecturer used to preach, banns of marriage were proclaimed by the magistrates in the seventeenth century, and from whose steps also Wesley, on one of his first visits to Bolton preached before a tumultuous auditory, was removed in 1786 after an existence of 300 years in one of the most prominent parts of the town; the Old Parish Church which had stood for centuries has been demolished and replaced at an estimated cost of £30,000 by a statelier edifice at the sole expense of a wealthy and now departed townsman; and one of the oldest quarters of the town—the “Acres” down which Prince Rupert and his impetuous troopers rushed after their “grey cannon” had done its work at the storming of Bolton in 1644—has recently been demolished to effect a great public improvement.

Whatever may have been its claim to be a “fair” and “well-built” town in the seventeenth century, it is undeniable that many and great improvements have been found wanting in our own day. In few towns in the country, perhaps, have the local improvement schemes been of a more comprehensive character than Bolton has undertaken for itself within the last few years, notably since 1850. Its Market Hall, opened in 1855, is one of the finest in the kingdom; it has a splendid Town Hall, erected at a cost of £166,000, and opened by the Prince of Wales in 1873; a fine public building in Hotel-street for the Gas Offices, erected in 1868 at a cost of £12,000, in the Venetian Gothic style of architecture; on waterworks the Corporation had spent up to June, 1876, £538,168, including the Turton and Entwistle extension scheme; and in 1872 the Corporation acquired the gasworks also at a cost of £384,178, and a considerable extension is now being made in 1876 still further to improve the lighting of the town. On sewerage, paving, and flagging a vast amount of money has been spent, and works for the purification of the sewage have been established at Burnden. The Public Park on Chorley New-road, opened in 1866, is a very attractive place of resort, and with its playgrounds covers about sixty acres of ground; in addition to which there are in other parts of the town the Heywood and Darbshire Recreation Grounds; and in the Haulgh, Bradford Park. The churches, chapels, and schools of Bolton are numerous, chief among its educational institutions being the Grammar School, founded in 1641, and which has numbered among its masters Ainsworth, the Latin lexicographer, who was also educated here, and Lemprière, the author of a classical dictionary; the Church Institute, a large and very handsome building, in connection with which there is a school of art; and the Mechanics' Institution. A new Infirmary is contemplated, the present one, established in 1814, and enlarged a few years ago, being insufficient for the requirements of the town. The late Stephen Blair, Esq., in 1870 bequeathed £30,000 for a Convalescent Hospital, but beyond securing a site no steps have yet been taken for its erection. The Conservative Club is a fine range of buildings in Mawdsley-street, erected at a cost of £10,000 in 1870; adjoining it is the Junior Conservative Club; and there is also a Reform Club in Bowker's-row. There are three Temperance Halls. The County Court is a handsome building of stone in Mawdsley-street. The Public Free Library and Museum, established in 1853, is an excellent and well-conducted institution, occupying the whole of the building formerly used as the Exchange, on the Town Hall-square ; it contains 25,000 volumes in the Reference Department, 12,400 in the Lending, and about 1,200 in the Subscription. The Lending Library is situated in Oxford-street, and numbers 5,680 borrowers. The total number of volumes issued and consulted last year in the three departments was 194,102, and a rate of three farthings in the pound suffices for all the requirements of the institution. A handsome and spacious Orphanage, founded by Dr. and Mrs. Chadwick, has been erected in the Haulgh, and in memory of the gift of this and the erection of model dwellings, a statue of the Doctor has been erected by public subscription on the Town Hall square. A statue of Samuel Crompton, inventor of the mule, adorns Nelson-square ; while of Arkwright the only memorial as yet among us is a large portrait of Sir Richard, which the Corporation has just purchased and placed in the Town Hall. A vast amount of money has been spent within the last few years to extend and improve the railway accommodation of Bolton. New and costly stations have been erected by both the Lancashire and Yorkshire and the London and North-Western Companies, and the former is now on the eve of carrying out further extensive alterations and additions in connection with its Trinity-street Station and approaches. In the town itself also, as we have seen, there are evidences of great progress and industrial enterprise, all indicating that Bolton has marked out for itself a vigorous career of improvement which we may well hope will be accompanied with continued and extended prosperity.

T Denotes a Telegraph Office.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

It is believed that the following brief digest of some of the principal Postal, &c. Regulations, will be found useful to the public; but all the regulations and other information relating to the Post Office in all its Departments, will be found fully detailed in the "British Postal Guide," which is published quarterly by command of the Postmaster General, and may be had at any Post Office, price 6d.

INLAND LETTERS.

RATES OF POSTAGE.—Prepaid.—A letter weighing not more than 1oz., 1d.; 2ozs., 1½d.; 4ozs., 2d.; 6ozs., 2½d.; 8ozs., 3d.; 10ozs., 3½d.; 12ozs., 4d. A letter exceeding 12 ozs. must be paid 1d. per every oz. beginning with the first. Unpaid.—A letter is charged on delivery with double postage. Insufficiently prepaid.—It is charged with double the deficiency.*

MAXIMUM DIMENSIONS ALLOWED.—Length, 18 inches; width, 9 inches; depth, 6 inches.

INLAND POST CARDS.

RATES.—Thick Cards.—Are sold at 8d. per dozen. Thin Cards.—Are sold at 7d. per dozen.

CONDITIONS OF TRANSMISSION.—Only the Official Cards issued by the Post Office, or private cards embossed with the half-penny stamp at the Office of Inland Revenue, can be used. These may bear on the back of them a communication of the nature of a letter, whether written or printed; but on the front there must be nothing written, printed, or impressed, other than the address of the persons they are going to. The Cards must not have anything attached to them, nor be folded, cut, or altered in any way.

INLAND BOOK POST.

RATES OF POSTAGE.—Prepaid.—A book packet is charged one half-penny for every 2 ozs., or fraction of 2 ozs. Unpaid.—It is charged on delivery with double postage. Insufficiently prepaid.—It is charged with double the deficiency.

CONDITIONS OF TRANSMISSION.—A Book Packet must consist of printed matter only,† or of M.S. not of the nature of a letter.‡ This embraces photographs (if not on glass), prints, drawings, maps, &c., together with such covers, rollers, &c., as may be necessary for their preservation. Circulars although of the nature of a letter, are admissible, provided they are for the most part printed, and are intended for transmission, in identical terms, to several persons.§ Both book packets and circulars must be without covers or in covers entirely open at both ends, and should not be fastened in any way to prevent their being opened and examined.

MAXIMUM DIMENSIONS ALLOWED.—Length, 18 inches; width, 9 inches; depth 6 inches.

MAXIMUM WEIGHT.—Five pounds.

INLAND NEWSPAPERS.

RATES OF POSTAGE.—Prepaid.—Newspapers posted singly or in packets are charged one half-penny each; but a packet of newspapers is not chargeable with postage exceeding that of a book packet of the same weight. Unpaid or insufficiently prepaid.—They are treated as book packets.

CONDITIONS OF TRANSMISSION.—The publication must be registered at the General Post Office, London, as a Newspaper. It must be folded so as to admit of the title being readily inspected; and the cover, if any, must be entirely open at both ends. It must not bear, neither on paper nor cover, any writing of the nature of a letter, nor have any enclosure other than the relative supplement, if there is one; and it must be put up in such a way as to admit of being opened and examined, as under the book post.

MAXIMUM DIMENSIONS ALLOWED.—Length, 24 inches; width, 12 inches; depth 12 inches.

MAXIMUM WEIGHT.—Fourteen pounds.

FOREIGN AND COLONIAL.

RATES OF POSTAGE.—The rates of postage on letters, packets, and newspapers, for Colonial and Foreign countries, are so various, and subject to change, that it is not thought desirable to introduce them here. The reader is therefore referred to the "British Postal Guide" for information on the subject. It may be stated, however, that to the countries embraced in the New Postal Union—which comprises, besides Great Britain, Austro-Hungary, Belgium, Denmark, Egypt, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Greece, Italy, Luxembourg, Malta, the Netherlands, Norway,

* If a Letter or Packet turns the balance in weighing, it is subject to the next higher rate.

† Which includes, of course, Lithographed or Engraved.

‡ An Inscription on a book, shewing to whom and by whom sent, is allowed.

§ Many appear to be under the impression that any letter, if sent open, will go for a half-penny. This is an error. A letter whether wholly written or partly printed can be sent for a halfpenny only on the back of a Post Card.

Portugal (including the Azores and Madeira); Roumania, Russia, Servia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, and the United States of America—there is an uniform rate, for letters, 2½d. per ½oz. Books and Patterns, 1d. per 2oz. Newspapers, 1d. per 4oz. Registration Fee, 4d. Prepayment in the case of ordinary letters is optional, but for books, patterns, newspapers, and registered letters, it is compulsory. Post Cards intended for transmission to these countries are sold at 1½d. each, and may be used under the same conditions as the Inland Post Cards.

CONDITIONS OF TRANSMISSION.—Post Cards.—Same as Official Inland Cards. Book Packets.—The conditions are the same generally as those of the Inland Book Post, excepting that water-colour drawings are not allowed to France and Algeria, and that no writing or written mark is allowed on Book Packets sent via France to the Argentine Confederation, Bolivia, Chili, Cuba, Ecuador, Hayti, Mexico, Paraguay, Peru, Porto-Rico, St. Thomas, United States of Colombia, Uruguay, or Venezuela. Patterns and Sample Post.—Is restricted to bona-fide trade samples or patterns. They must be in covers open at the ends, if practicable—seeds, drugs, &c., which cannot be sent in open covers, may however be enclosed in boxes or bags, provided these are fastened so that they can be readily opened; and to Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Greece, Portugal, Switzerland, and the United States of America, samples of seeds, drugs, &c., may be sent in closed bags, provided these are made of transparent material. In addition to the address of the person it is going to, a sample or pattern may bear the name and address of the person sending it, together with a trade mark or number and the price of the article, but no other writing or printing is allowed. Newspapers.—Are subject generally to the same regulations as Inland Newspapers, excepting that they are charged singly in every case, and if exceeding 4ozs. in weight are charged two rates; 8ozs., three rates; and so on. The postage must be prepaid and the newspapers posted within eight days of publication. There must be no writing or other marks upon the newspaper; and beyond the address of the person it is going to, no writing, printing, or other mark is allowed on the cover, excepting the printed title of the publication, the printed address of the publisher or vendor, and words indicating the date on which the subscription to the newspaper ends. There are restrictions on the circulation of newspapers to Russia, and political newspapers cannot be sent to Russia through the post at all, excepting to the Royal Family, the Imperial Ministers, or the Diplomatic Corps.

MAXIMUM DIMENSIONS ALLOWED.—Letters, Books, Pattern Packets, and Newspapers.—Length, 24 inches; and 12 inches in width or depth.

POSTAGE STAMPS.

The Stamps used for postage are of the respective values of ½d., 1d., 1½d., 2d., 2½d., 3d., 4d., 6d., 9d., 10d., 1s., 2s., and 5s. Stamped Envelopes are made of four sizes—viz., 5½ × 3½ in., 5½ × 3 in., 4½ × 2½ in., and 4½ × 3½ (square shaped), and are sold at 2s. 2d., and the square shaped 2s. 3d. per packet of 24. Newspaper Wrappers and Post Cards are not sold singly. The Wrappers are sold at 6½d. per doz., the thick cards at 4d. per half-doz., and thin cards at 3½d. per half-doz. Foreign Post Cards at 1½d. each.

Postmasters at Money Order Offices are authorised to re-purchase Postage Stamps from the public at a discount of a half-penny in every twenty pence. They must however be in strips of not less than two stamps. Single stamps are not re-purchased.

PROHIBITED ARTICLES.

The following articles are prohibited from passing through the Post Office, viz.—Matter of any kind of an indecent, obscene, libellous, or grossly offensive character. Anything likely to injure the contents of a mail bag, or hurt any of the officers, such as glass; animal or vegetable matter subject to decay, as fish, meat, fruit, &c.; liquids, gunpowder, or other combustible matter; sharp instruments, &c. (the latter if properly packed may be sent as samples to any place abroad except France and Countries via France). Letters containing gold or silver money, jewels or precious articles, or anything liable to customs duties, cannot be sent by post to any country of the Postal Union. At Costa Rica or Peru they will be liable to confiscation. At the Cape of Good Hope, Canada, Queensland or Victoria (Australia), packets of jewelry, &c., will be liable to be detained for customs duties.

SUGGESTIONS.

No fragile article should be sent through the post, nor anything liable to injury from pressure or friction. Every letter should be legibly and fully addressed, and when there are two post towns of the same name, the county should be added. The number and name of the street should also appear; the omission of this particular being a cause of delay in the sorting, and of retarding the general delivery. Letters for London ought to have the proper district initials, otherwise they are liable to delay. To facilitate the delivery of letters a letter-box should be affixed to every house-door. Neither money nor articles of value should be sent through the post, excepting in a registered letter. The registration of letters containing coin is compulsory. These are all matters in which the public can help the Post Office, and at the same time serve themselves.

INDIAN PARCEL POST.

Parcels can be sent through the Indian Parcels Post Agency,* to any part of British India.—Offices in London, 122, Leadenhall Street, E.C., and 25, Cockspur Street, S.W. The Rate is 1s. per lb. or fraction thereof. The maximum weight, size, and value of a parcel allowed, is 50 lbs.; 2 feet long by 1 foot broad and deep; and £20, respectively. Jewellery, watches, precious stones, liquids, or articles of a dangerous or damaging nature are forbidden. The parcel must be securely closed and packed, and, if to be forwarded from the country, must, after being addressed to India, "By Indian Parcel Post," be enclosed in an outer wrapper addressed "Indian Parcel Post Agency, 122, Leadenhall Street, London, E.C." Rates of Insurance, ad valorem, £3—1s.; £10—2s. 6d.; £20—5s. A letter of advice, stating particulars of parcel, should be sent to the London Office.

POSTAL TELEGRAPHS.

TELEGRAMS.—The charge for telegrams throughout the United Kingdom, including the Channel Islands and Isle of Man, but excepting the Scilly Island, is one shilling for the first twenty words, and threepence for each additional five words or part of five words. The charge to the Scilly Island is 3s. 6d. for five words, and 6d. for every additional word. The names and addresses of the sender and receiver are not charged for, except to the Scilly Islands, when a charge of 6d. a word is made above 10. Telegrams may be repeated at the request of the sender, if he desires to adopt this extra security against risk of error, by being sent back from the office at which they are received to the office from which they are forwarded. The charge for repetition is one-half the ordinary tariff, fractions of threepence being reckoned as twopence. The cost of a reply to a telegram may be prepaid. Copies of a telegram directed to more than one firm or person in the same free delivery, will be delivered separately at an additional charge of threepence per copy. All telegrams retransmitted to a second address, by wire, are liable to an additional charge at the ordinary inland rate.—Telegrams redirected to a second address in the same locality or free delivery will not be surcharged for the second service, if the redirection does not involve any use of the wires, and the retransmission is owing to a change of residence; but if the retransmission is from a business address to a private address, after office hours, then, although no fresh use of the wires may be involved, a fixed charge of 1s. will be made. Numbers expressed in figures are counted as so many words. Example, "365" counts three words, and in fractions the bar or line dividing the figures is counted as a word. Example, $\frac{3}{4}$ counts as three words. The sum charged for the transmission of a telegram covers the cost of delivery by special foot messenger within the limit of one mile of the terminal telegraphic office, or within the limit of the town postal delivery of that office, when it is a head office. When the addressee does not reside within the above-described limits, and the sender desires to have his telegram delivered by special foot-messenger, the charge will be sixpence per double mile or any part thereof. A sum of one shilling per double mile will be charged for the delivery of telegrams by mounted messenger, except in Ireland, where it is usually 8d. per double mile. If the telegram is to be forwarded by post or train from the terminal telegraph office it must bear instructions to that effect.

A deposit of 5s. is required upon all telegrams addressed to persons on board ship (unless lying in dock), to cover any expense incurred in delivery—but the surplus will be refunded on application.

Telegraph Stamps are of the value of 1d., 3d., 1s., and 5s. Books of 20 stamped forms are sold for 20s., and books of stamped forms interleaved are sold for 20s. 2d. each. Telegraph stamps are not available for postage, nor can they be repurchased from the public.

„ „ 3 „ 4.....	5d.	„ „ 9 „	10.....11d.
„ „ 4 „ 5.....	6d.	„ „ 10.....	1s.

above which sum no single order can be granted. A money order must be presented for payment before the end of the twelfth month, otherwise the order becomes void, nevertheless it may be paid after that period on good reason being shown for the delay in presenting it. Printed forms for making application in case of miscarriage or loss of an order, or when it is desired to stop payment of an inland order, or when alteration in the name of the payee is required, or transfer of payment to another office, or repayment of the amount be required, may be obtained at any money-order office, and full instructions on the subject will be found printed at the back of the money order.

FOREIGN MONEY ORDERS.—The regulations are the same as for inland orders. Orders payable in the German Empire are subject to the conditions that govern the payment of orders in that empire. Orders issued in France on the United Kingdom, and vice versa, cannot be paid after three months from the date of issue, without the authority of the Post-office of the respective countries. Orders are issued to the following places abroad :—

For sums not exceeding	£2	£5	£7	£10
	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.
If payable in Belgium, Constantinople, Denmark, France, Gibraltar, German Empire, Heligoland, Holland, Italy, Malta, or Switzerland	0 9	1 6	2 3	3 0
Any other place abroad (including most of the Colonies) which transact money-order business with this country	1 0	2 0	3 0	4 0

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS.—Every post-office, being a money-order office, which the Postmaster-General shall authorize to receive and repay deposits, will be open for that purpose during the same hours as are appointed for money-order business. Deposits of one shilling, or any number of pounds and shillings, will be received from any depositor, provided the sums deposited do not exceed £30 in any year, ending 31st December, and the total amount standing in the depositor's name does not exceed £150, exclusive of interest. Interest at the rate of £2 10s. per cent. per annum allowed on every complete pound. When any depositor's principal and interest amount together to £200, all interest will cease so long as the balance of the account continues to amount to the said sum of £200. Any depositor wishing to withdraw the whole or part of his deposits, must apply on the form which he will procure at any post-office savings bank, and transmit it to the Postmaster-General, who will send him a warrant by post, payable at the post-office named in his application. Further regulations as to details are printed in the book which the depositor receives on making his first deposit.

GOVERNMENT ANNUITIES, ETC.—The Act 27 and 28 Vict. c. 43, empowers the Postmaster General to insure the lives of persons of either sex for not less than £20, or more than £100; and also to grant immediate or deferred annuities on the lives of persons of either sex, of the age of ten years and upwards. Certain post-offices have been opened for the receipt of proposals, where full instructions for filling up and delivering the necessary forms may be obtained.

POST OFFICE ANNUITIES AND ASSURANCES, UNDER 27 AND 28 V., C. 43.—Annuities not to exceed £50 a year; Assurances not above £100.

EPITOME OF PRINCIPAL PUBLIC ACTS, 38 AND 39 VICTORIA; SESSION 1875,

PREPARED FOR THE BOLTON POST OFFICE DIRECTORY, BY J. M. RUTTER, ESQ., SOLICITOR, BOLTON.

JUSTICES' OF THE PEACE QUALIFICATION.

CHAP. 54. An Act to amend the Qualification required by persons acting as Justices of the Peace. 2nd August, 1875.

Every person of full age, and who has for two years preceding appointment been occupier of a dwelling-house assessed at the value of not less than £100, and shall, during that time, have been rated to all rates and taxes in respect of such premises, shall be qualified to the appointment of Justice of the Peace for the County, Riding, or Division.

Provided that no Justice appointed shall continue to act after he shall have ceased for twelve calendar months to have such qualification.

FRIENDLY SOCIETIES.

CHAP. 60. To consolidate and amend the Law relating to Friendly & other Societies. August 11, 1875.

(1.) Short title : "The Friendly Societies Act, 1875." (2.) This Act comes into operation on 1st January 1876. But sections 10, 37, and 38 are to be effectual immediately on the passing of the Act. (3.) This Act extends to Great Britain and Ireland, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man. (4.) Definitions. (5.) Repeal of Acts and parts of Acts in first schedule. (6.) Every society now subsisting whose rules have been registered, enrolled, or certified under any Act relating to friendly societies, or cattle insurance societies, shall be deemed to be a society registered under this Act. Its rules, so far as not contrary to any express provision hereof, shall continue in force till altered or rescinded. Reserves validity of rules of friendly societies established before 15th August 1850, although contingent annual payments to members or their nominees should exceed the limit hereby fixed. (7.) Reserves effect of section 44 of 18 and 19 Vict. c. 63 (notwithstanding its repeal by this Act), with regard to any society whose rules have been deposited thereunder. This, however, is to last only till such society be registered under this Act, or until 31st December 1878, whichever shall first happen. (8.) The societies which are admitted to registration under this Act are here enumerated under five different heads. These are friendly societies, cattle insurance societies, benevolent societies, working men's clubs, and societies for any purpose which the Treasury may authorize as a purpose to which the powers and facilities of this Act ought to be extended.

1. Friendly societies are such as are established to provide, by voluntary subscriptions of members, with or without donations, for the relief or maintenance of members, their husbands, wives, children, fathers, mothers, brothers or sisters, nephew or nieces, or wards being orphans, during sickness or other infirmity, whether bodily or mental, in old age (which shall mean any age after fifty), or in widowhood, or for relief or maintenance of the orphan children of members during minority. Also societies for insuring money to be paid on the birth of a member's child, or on the death of a member, or for the funeral expenses of the husband, wife, or child of a member, or of the widow of a deceased member or, as respects persons of the Jewish persuasion for the payment of a sum of money during the period of confined mourning. Also societies for the relief or maintenance of members on travel in search of employment, or in distress, or in shipwreck, or suffering loss of or damage to boats and nets. Also societies for the endowment of members or nominees of members at any age. Also societies for insurance against fire (not exceeding £15) of tools or implements of the trade or calling of members. But this Act does not apply to insurance contracts for an annuity exceeding £50 a year, or for a gross sum exceeding £200.

2. Cattle insurance societies are those established to insure to any amount against loss by death of neat cattle, sheep, lambs, swine, and horses from disease or otherwise.

3. Benevolent societies under this Act mean societies established for any benevolent or charitable purpose.

4. Working men's clubs are defined to be societies for purposes of social intercourse, mutual helpfulness, mental and moral improvement, and rational recreation.

5. Societies specially authorized by the Treasury as aforesaid. (9.) As to these last, the Treasury may limit the application of the Act to such provisions as may be specified in the authority for registering. (10.) There are to be in England a chief registrar of friendly societies, and one or more assistant registrars. These shall constitute the central office. In Scotland there is to be an assistant registrar; also in Ireland. These officers are to be appointed by, and hold office at the pleasure of the Treasury. Chief registrar in England to be a barrister of not less than twelve years' standing. Qualifications of assistant registrars in Scotland and Ireland. Central office in England to exercise all functions and powers now by law vested in the registrar of friendly or building societies, or in the certifying barrister for savings banks, etc. Other functions are then laid on the central office with reference to the whole kingdom—such as the preparation of model forms, the circulation of information, and the construction of tables. Chief registrar to make a yearly report to Parliament. The assistant registrars, except as otherwise provided, shall be subordinate to the chief registrar. Within the countries for which they are appointed they shall exercise all the functions and powers given by this Act to the registrar, who may also, by written authority, delegate some of his functions to them. This section further defines the functions of the assistant registrars in Scotland and Ireland. (11.) No society to be registered which does not consist of seven persons at least. Application for the purpose of registry to be sent to the registrar. It must be signed by seven members and the secretary. Written or printed copies of the rules must be sent, as also a list of the names of the secretary, trustee, or other officer authorized to sue and be sued on behalf of the society. Identity or deceptive similarity of name not to be allowed. No change of name without sanction of the registrar. Dividing societies may be registered if claims on the funds be provided for prior to division. Societies granting annuities shall not be entitled to registry unless they have tables certified by the Actuary of the National Debt Commissioners, or by an approved actuary of five years' standing. Society carrying on business in the three countries, England, Scotland, and Ireland, shall be registered in that country where their registered office is situate; but rules and amendments must be recorded in each country. Acknowledgment of registry to be issued. Appeal to the Court of Queen's Bench against refusal to register. Acknowledgment to be conclusive proof that society is duly registered. (12.) The chief registrar, or the assistant registrar in each of the three countries may cancel the registry of a society by a writing under his hand, if he thinks fit, at the request of the society itself. He may do so with approval of the Treasury, if registry have been obtained by fraud or mistake, if society exists for illegal purpose, if it has received notice from a registrar of having violated any provision of this Act, or if it have ceased to exist. Where the registrar, with approval of Treasury, may cancel a registry, he may suspend the same for any time not exceeding three months. He may, with approval of the Treasury, renew such suspension from time to time. Two months' previous notice to be given of cancellation or suspension, except when cancellation is at society's own request. Subsequent notice to be published in Gazette or newspaper. Appeal lies against cancellation or suspension in like manner as above provided in the case of refusal to register. Cancellation or suspension to take away privileges, but not liabilities. (13.) Rules of every society sent in for registry shall, according to the class in which the society is to be registered, contain provisions in respect of the several matters mentioned in the second schedule. Amendment of a rule requires registration to make it valid. Provisions as to appeal against refusal of registry shall apply to amendments of rules. Registrar to grant acknowledgment of registry of amended rule. Copy rules shall be delivered to any one by the society on demand and on payment of a sum not exceeding 1s. Delivery of untrue rules punishable as a misdemeanour. (14.) Registered society must have registered office to which all communications and notices are to be addressed. Its situation, or any change therein, must be communicated to the registrar. Trustee or trustees to be named by vote of the society, and appointment to be communicated to the registrar by trustee and secretary. Audit by public auditor, or by two or more persons appointed in conformity with the rules. On 1st June yearly, an annual return to be sent to the registrar, brought down to the previous 31st December inclusive. Quinquennial returns to be sent to the registrar of the sickness and mortality experienced by the society during the five years ended at 31st December preceding. The first of these returns to be sent in within six months following 31st December, 1875. Provides for a valuation of assets and liabilities every five years. This is to be done once at least in the five years next after the commencement of the Act, and so again within six months after the expiry of every five years succeeding the date of the first valuation. It may be done either by a valuer of the society's own choosing, who must, in his report to the registrar, supply any required information as to the benefits assured, the contributions receivable, the funds and effects, debts and credits; or it may be done by the society itself sending these materials to the registrar, who shall then cause the assets and liabilities to be valued and reported on by an actuary. Books to be open at the office to the inspection of any person interested. But no one shall inspect a loan account, unless he be an officer of the society, or specially authorized by resolution, or hold the written consent of the member whose loan account he proposes to inspect. Copy of last annual return to be supplied to every member or person interested in the funds of the society. Copy of last annual balance sheet, and quinquennial valuation, with auditor's report, to be hung up in a conspicuous place in the office. Official certificates of death are essential, and no money is to be paid without them. Offences defined as any contravention of, or failure to comply with the provisions of this Act. Penal responsibility to attach to every officer charged with the duty in connexion with which the offence is committed. Where there is no officer, such responsibility shall attach to every member of the committee of management, unless he shows either that he was ignorant of the contravention or tried to prevent it. Contravention constitutes a new offence every week that it continues. Returns to be in form prescribed by chief registrar. Documents to be deposited with rules and recorded by registrar, with such observations thereon, if any, as the chief registrar shall direct. Quinquennial returns and valuations may be dispensed with by chief registrar, with consent of the Treasury, in certain cases; also where information as to sickness and mortality experienced by any society may, at the request of the society, be obtained by him through any person whom he appoints. Provisions as to quinquennial return and valuation shall not apply to benevolent societies, working men's clubs, or cattle insurance societies, nor to specially authorized societies, unless specially directed. (15.) Provisions of 39 Geo. III. c. 79, or 57 Geo. III. c. 19 (Corresponding Societies Acts) not to apply to societies registered under this Act, provided they transact no business except as declared in the registered rules. But full information as to the nature, objects, proceedings and practices of any registered society shall be given to any two justices who may request the same in writing. Failing compliance with such requisition, these statutory provisions shall apply. Stamp duty not chargeable on powers of attorney granted by trustee of registered society to transfer money in the public funds, nor to receipt for money contributed to or received from the society under its rules, nor to bonds given to or on account of the society, or by its treasurer or other officer, nor to any draft or order or form of policy, or appointment or revocation of appointment by an agent, or other document required by the Act or by the rules. A member of a society other than a benevolent society or working men's club, not being under the age of sixteen years, may, by writing under his hand, constitute a nominee to whom, on death of the nominator, a sum not exceeding £50 shall be payable. This may be revoked by the nominator in a similar manner. Nomination or revocation must be sent to registered office. Nominee must not be a servant or officer of the society. On death in intestacy and without nomination, the society may pay without confirmation to the person who appears to a majority of the trustees to be entitled by law to receive the same. Payment by society to any one, who after death of a member seems entitled thereto, to be valid and effectual. Provides for absence, bankruptcy, lunacy, death or removal of a trustee holding stock in the Bank of England or Ireland. Where funds of a society are in the hands of one of its officers who dies, becomes bankrupt or insolvent, provision is made for the handing over of these funds to the society. One who is less than twenty-one years of age, but above sixteen, may be member of a society under this Act, unless the rules make provision to the contrary, with all rights of membership, except as otherwise provided by this Act. But he cannot be a member of the committee of management, nor manager, trustee, or treasurer. Societies and branches consisting wholly of members of any age between three years and sixteen years, may be allowed to register under this Act, subject to regulations. As to any society already registered, no rule admitting members under sixteen years shall be deemed a contravention of this Act. Official certificates of births and deaths for the purpose of this Act shall not cost more than 1s. A society may lawfully subscribe to an infirmary, hospital, or other charitable institution to secure its benefits to members or their families. (16.) Societies may invest their funds in the Post Office Savings Bank, or in any certified Savings Bank, in public funds, in the hands of the National Debt Commissioners, in purchase of land and erection of offices and buildings, and on any security, except personal security, as provided by the rules. A society may hold, purchase, or take on lease land in any county in which it has an office, and may sell or grant loan of land, and mortgage and build on the same. Receipt of trustees for price, etc., to be sufficient. No benevolent society to hold land exceeding one acre in extent at any one time. All property of a society to be vested in the trustees for the time being. Conveyance or assignment not necessary on death or removal of trustee, to give title to succeeding trustee. Public securities to be transferred to names of new trustees. Trustees to be stated as owners for the purpose of any legal proceedings. Fraud or misappropriation to the detriment of a society is punishable on summary conviction by a penalty not exceeding £20 and costs; power to prosecute by way of indictment being reserved. Trustees are not personally liable for any deficiency, but only for moneys actually received. (17.) Contains a code of eleven regulations as to the investment of societies' funds with the National Debt Commissioners. Among these may be noted here that the society shall be entitled to a receipt bearing interest at the rate of twopence per centum per diem, and that moneys so invested upon a false declaration shall be forfeited to the commissioners. (18.) As to loans to members, not more than half the amount insured on life may be advanced, on members' own written security, and two satisfactory sureties. Separate loan fund may be got up by the contributions of members, out of which loans without sureties may be made. Moneys contributed for other purposes cannot be so lent. No member to hold interest in loan fund exceeding £200. No loan to be made to any member out of this fund beyond the amount fixed by the rules, nor beyond £50, including moneys owing by the borrower to the society for the time being. Where there is a loan fund, the amount authorized by the rules to be held by the society on deposit of members shall not exceed two thirds of the obligations contracted to the society by borrowers from the loan fund. (19.) Rules may provide for surplus of contributions being accumulated at interest, and for the withdrawal of such accumulations from time to time. (20.) Officers of registered societies having receipt or charge of money, must find security, as specially provided, that they will render a true and just account. On failure to account, such officer is liable to summary prosecution. (21.) Trustees, or other officers authorized by the rules, may sue and be sued. Any person receiving contributions or issuing policies on behalf of this society within the jurisdiction may be sued in that behalf. Death of officer not to interrupt proceedings. Provision for service, and for intimation by registered letter to committee of management. (22.) Disputes to be settled as provided for by the rules. Decision not removable into any court of law, but enforceable by application to County Court. Provides for reference of any dispute to the registrar. Where the rules direct a reference to justices, the dispute shall be determined by a Court of Summary jurisdiction, or, by consent of parties, by County Court. Where the rules contain no direction as to disputes, or where there is no decision within forty days after a demand for a reference under the rules, the party aggrieved, may apply to the County Court, or a Court of Summary jurisdiction. A case may be stated by the court for the opinion of the Supreme Court in any question of law. (23.) In certain proportions, varying according to the total number, a certain number of members may require the registrar in any one of the three countries to exercise certain powers. Prima facie evidence is needed; also the consent of the Treasury. These powers are to appoint inspectors to examine into the affairs of the society, or to call special meetings, with directions to discuss and determine certain matters. (24.) Special resolutions are to be passed after due notice by a majority of not less than three-fourths at a general meeting, and to be confirmed by a majority at a subsequent general meeting, held at an interval from the other not less than fourteen days nor more than one month. Chairman's declaration that the resolution is carried shall be conclusive. Society may by special resolution, and with written leave of registrar, change its name. This change not to affect rights and obligations. Amalgamation of societies and transfer of obligations from one society to another may be carried by special resolution. A society may by special resolution determine to convert itself into a company under the Companies' Acts, or to amalgamate with or transfer its engagements to such a company. Rights of creditors reserved. Special resolution to be registered at central office before it can take effect. Special resolution, if it contains the necessary particulars, duly registered at the central office, shall have effect as a memorandum of association. Such amalgamation, transfer or conversion into a company, shall void the registration, the liabilities of the society being all reserved preferably to claims against the company. Special provisions as to friendly societies. These are, that for amalgamation or transfer under this section the assent of five-sixths in value of the members be obtained thereto, and the written consent of every person receiving an annuity or other benefit from the funds, unless such claim be satisfied or provided for. Penalties and remedies to apply to the case of amalgamation and transfer of engagements. Upon application, to be advertised in the Gazette, the chief registrar may, with consent of Treasury, dispense with prescribed consents and conditions of transfer on amalgamation. This section of the statute shall not apply to branches. (25.) Dissolution of registered societies provided for. It may take place by the happening of an event as provided for by the rules. Societies other than friendly societies may dissolve by consent of three-fourths. Friendly societies require five-sixths; also the consent of every annuitant or benefit-holder whose claims are not duly provided for. A branch friendly society may dissolve with the consent of the central body. Registered societies may also be dissolved by the award of the chief registrar or assistant registrar. Contents of the instrument of dissolution are specially provided for, viz., liabilities and assets, number of members and their interests, claims of creditors, and provisions for their payment; as also appropriation or division of funds. Alterations in this instrument to be made with the like consents as above. Statutory declaration by a trustee, or by three members and secretary, to be sent with instrument of dissolution to the registrar. False declaration punishable as a misdemeanour. Registration of instrument of dissolution provided for. Registrar shall cause notice of dissolution to be advertised. If within three months of this Gazette notice no one commences proceedings to set it aside, the dissolution shall take place as from the date of the advertisement. The value of a member of a friendly society shall be ascertained by giving one vote to every member, and an additional vote for every five years that he has been a member, no one having more than five votes. No instrument of dissolution of a friendly society shall provide for division of funds unless the claim of every benefit-holder be duly provided for. Any one aiding or abetting the dissolution of a friendly society otherwise than as in this Act provided shall, on summary conviction, be punished with imprisonment with hard labour for any term not exceeding three months. If a member of a dissolved friendly society, or benefit-holder therein, be dissatisfied with the provision made for satisfying his claim, he may apply to the county court of the district. A certain proportion of members of a registered society, varying according to the total number, may apply to the chief registrar, setting forth insufficiency of funds, or of the rates of contribution, and requesting an investigation with a view to dissolution. Chief registrar may by himself, or by the assistant-registrar, or by an actuary or public auditor duly appointed, investigate the affairs of the society, after two months' previous notice at the registered office. If chief registrar be satisfied that the statements in the application are well founded, he may award dissolution, winding up of affairs, and appropriation of funds. He may suspend award to enable matters to be rectified, so as to supersede the necessity of dissolution. Award fund and expenses to be paid out of the funds of the society, preferable to any appropriation thereof. Notice of award for dissolution to be within twenty-one days advertised in Gazette, and in some newspaper circulating within the county in which registered office is situated. If within three months no proceedings are commenced to set aside the dissolution consequent upon such award, the society shall be legally dissolved from the date of the advertisement. Provisions of this section not to apply to branches without consent of central body. (26.) Militiamen and volunteers not to lose benefits in a friendly society, registered or unregistered, or be fined for absence occasioned by military or naval duty. Disputes upon this point to be decided by court of summary jurisdiction. Special provision as to society certified before 23rd July, 1855. (27.) No member of a registered friendly society, nor any person, claiming through a member, shall be entitled to receive more than £200 by way of gross sum, together with bonuses etc. on assurances not exceeding that amount. Except as provided by section 6, no annuity shall exceed £50 a year. Any society may require a statutory declaration from a member, or person claiming through a member, that the total amount claimable from one or more such societies does not exceed these sums. False declaration punishable as a misdemeanour. (28.) Provides for payments on the death of children under ten years of age. Limit of £6 payable by one or more societies on death of child under five, and £10 on death of any child under ten years. Sums payable on the death of a child shall only be payable to the parent, or the parent's personal representative, upon official certificate of death, which certificate, on being applied for with that purpose, shall contain certain particulars to be entered therein by the registrar. Certificate of death not to be delivered in such circumstances by the registrar for payment of a sum exceeding £6 on the death of a child aged less than five years, or £10 on the death of a child aged less than ten years. Cause of death to be duly certified. All certificates of the same death obtained for such purpose to be numbered in consecutive order. If a certificate of death, not bearing to be the first, be presented to a society, such society shall be bound to inquire if any or what sums of money have been paid on the same death by any other society. It is an offence under this Act to pay on death of a child under ten years of age otherwise than is provided by this Act, or if the certificate of death produced be other than what is thereby required, or be fraudulent or false, or if any attempt be made to defeat the Act with respect to payments upon the death of children. In this section, the word "Society" includes all industrial assurance companies assuring the payment of money on the death of children under the age of ten years. Such insurances not to be void under the statute 14 Geo. III. c. 48, prohibiting insurances on lives, except where the person insuring shall have an interest. Nothing in this section shall apply to insurance on the lives of children of any age where the person insuring has an interest in the life of the person insured, or to existing contracts, (29.) Applicable only to societies having branches. Details specially required in the registration of such societies. Society having a fund under the control of a central body to which every branch is bound to contribute may be registered as a single society. Provision is made as to societies having branches in more than one of the three countries. Notice of establishment of new branches, with details, to be sent under the hand of the registrar to the secretary whom it may concern. Until branch rules are registered in each country where such a branch is established, the society is not entitled to any privilege of this Act in respect of such branch. Same as to amendments of rules. Provision of Act as to appeals to apply. Where a society has no fund under control of a central body to which every branch is bound to contribute, every branch must be registered as a separate society. (30.) Enacts a code of regulations, thirteen in number, to be contained in the rules of all societies to which this section applies. These are friendly societies only, and industrial assurance companies receiving contributions by means of collectors at a greater distance than ten miles from the registered office of the society. When the premiums are receivable at greater intervals than two months, this section does not apply. The regulations enacted hereby have regard to notices of forfeiture, transfers, exclusion of collector from committee of management, and from right to vote, meetings, balance sheets, etc. (31.) As to cattle insurance and certain other societies, the rules are to be binding as if each member had legally bound himself and his heirs by signature. Money payable by the members of such societies to be recoverable as debt in the county court. (32.) Falsification of balance sheet or of any document or return, to be punishable by penalty not exceeding £50. Other offences against this Act are punishable with penalties not less than £1, nor more than £5, recoverable at suit of registrar or person aggrieved. Penalties recoverable in court of summary jurisdiction. (33.) All offences and penalties under this Act may be prosecuted and recovered in manner directed by the Summary Jurisdiction Acts, with appeal to Quarter Sessions. (34.) Regulation of proceedings in County Courts, and as to remuneration of Registrars and High Bailiffs. (35.) Treasury empowered to appoint public auditors and valuers for the purposes of this Act. (36.) Scale of fees to be adjusted for matters transacted, or for inspection of documents. No fees payable on the registry of any friendly, benevolent, or cattle insurance society or working man's club. Fees received by registrar are payable into Exchequer. (37.) Treasury to pay salaries and expenses. (38.) Treasury to make regulations to carry out provisions of this Act. (39.) Documents bearing seal or stamp of the central office shall be receivable in evidence, likewise documents officially signed under this Act, without the necessity of proving signature. (40 and 41.) Apply to the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands. Schedule I. List of repealed Acts. Schedule II, contains, under nine heads, the special matters to be provided for by the rules of societies to be registered under this Act, and, under five heads more, the additional matters so to be provided for in the case of friendly and cattle insurance societies. Schedules III. and IV. Forms to be used.

SALE OF FOOD AND DRUGS.

CHAP. 63. To repeal the Adulteration of Food Acts, and to make better provision for the Sale of Food and Drugs in a pure state. August 11, 1875

(1.) Repeal of Acts. (2.) Interpretation. "Food" to include all that men eat or drink, other than drugs or water. "Drug" includes medicine for internal or external use. Description of Offences.—(3.) No one shall, by himself or another, mix, colour, stain, or powder any article of food with any thing so as to render the article injurious to health, with intent to sell it in that state. Nor shall any one sell an article so treated. Penalty not exceeding £50 for either offence, if a first offence. After a first conviction, every offence shall be in law a misdemeanour, inferring imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months, with hard labour. (4.) Same provision as to drugs, of which the quality or potency should by any such means be injuriously affected. (5.) Seller of food or drug prosecuted under the two preceding sections shall be entitled to plead with effect, that he did not know the fact of adulteration, and could not, with reasonable diligence, have obtained that knowledge. (6.) Penalty not exceeding £20 enacted against any one who sells, to the prejudice of the purchaser, any article of food or any drug which is not of the nature, substance, or quality demanded. No penalty where an ingredient not injurious to health has been added, because the same is required for the production or preparation thereof as an article of commerce, in a state fit for carriage or consumption, and not with fraudulent purposes of increasing bulk, weight, or measure, or of concealing its inferior quality. No penalty where the drug or food is a proprietary medicine, supplied in conformity with specification of the patent. No penalty where food or drug is compounded as in this Act provided for, nor when mixture with extraneous matter is unavoidable in the process of collection or preparation. (7.) Penalty not exceeding £20 against any one selling any compound article of food or compounded drug, not composed of ingredients in accordance with the demand of the purchaser. (8.) Provides protection by notice in distinct and legible label delivered with the article setting forth that the same is mixed; provided the ingredients be not injurious to health, and are not fraudulently intended to increase its bulk, weight, or measure, or to conceal its inferior quality. (9.) No person shall, with intent that an article of food be sold in its altered state, abstract, without notice, from the same any part of it so as to affect injuriously its quality, substance, or nature. Penalty not exceeding £20; and the like penalty on any one selling the article so altered without notice of alteration. Appointment and Duties of Analysts, and Proceedings to obtain Analysis.—(10.) The Court of Quarter Sessions for every County, and the Town Council of every Borough having a separate Court of Quarter Sessions, may appoint one or more competent persons as analysts of food and drugs within their respective jurisdictions. Remuneration to be agreed upon. The same bodies to have power of removal. Such appointments and removals to be subject to the sanction of the Local Government Board. (11.) Town council may agree that analyst of neighbouring town or county shall act as analyst for them during such time as they may think proper, paying him for his services. If such analyst agree, he shall during such time be analyst for the town for the purposes of this Act. (12.)

Purchaser of an article of food or of a drug may obtain analysis on payment of 10s. 6d. to analyst of the town, county, or district. If there be no analyst, then analysis may be obtained from analyst of another place on payment of such sum as may be agreed upon. Certificate of analysis to be delivered on such payment. (13.) Medical officer of health, inspector of nuisances, of weights and measures or of markets, or a constable acting under direction of local authority, may procure samples of food or drugs and get them analyzed, and obtain certificate. (14.) The person purchasing any article with the intention of submitting the same to analysis, shall, after completion of the purchase, notify his intention to the seller. He shall offer to divide the article then and there into three parts, to be separately sealed and fastened up; and one of these parts is to be delivered to the seller or his agent. Purchaser to retain one, and the other to be submitted to the analyst. (15.) If the seller do not accept the offer to divide into three parts in his presence as above, the analyst receiving the same shall divide it into two parts, one of them to be sealed and fastened up and delivered to the purchaser, who shall retain the same for production in subsequent proceedings. (16.) Provides for transmission by post of article to analyst residing beyond two miles distance from residence of person requiring analysis. Letters to be registered, and to be subject to regulations of Postmaster-General as to carrying or delivering such an article. (17.) Refusal to sell to officer or inspector, &c., as above, on tendered price, by person exposing article for sale, shall infer penalty not exceeding £10. (18.) Certificate of analysis to be in form given in the schedule. (19.) Provides for quarterly report by analyst to the authority appointing him. Proceedings against Offenders.—(20.) Person causing the analysis to be made may take proceedings for recovery of penalty in a summary manner before Justices in Petty Sessions. Penalty recoverable in manner prescribed by 11 and 12, Vict. Cap. 43. Penalties are liable to mitigation. (21.) Production of the analyst's certificate shall be sufficient evidence of the facts therein stated, unless the defender shall require the analyst to be called as a witness. Defender may tender himself or his wife for examination as a witness. (22.) The court may in its discretion, upon the request of either party, cause any article of food or drug to be sent to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, by whom analysis may be ordered to be made at Somerset House. Expense to be paid by prosecutor or defender as the court may direct. (23.) Provides for appeal to Quarter Sessions. (24.) In any prosecution defender to prove that he is protected by any exception or provision in this Act. (25.) If defender prove that he has himself purchased the article in question as the same in nature, substance, and quality as that demanded of him by the prosecutor, and with a written warranty to that effect, that he had no reason to believe at the time he sold it that the article was otherwise, and that he sold it in the same state as when he purchased it, he shall be discharged from the prosecution. But he shall be liable to pay the costs of prosecution if he gave no notice of this defence. (26.) Application of penalties. (27.) Any one guilty of forgery or uttering forged certificate or writing, purporting to contain a warranty, shall be guilty of a Misdemeanour and be punishable, on conviction, by imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years with hard labour. Wilful misapplication of warranty to infer penalty not exceeding £20. False warranty in writing to infer the same penalty, whether the party sells as principal or as agent. Also giving a false label to infer the like penalty. (28.) Reserves power to proceed by indictment. Other remedies against offenders under this Act are not taken away. Contracts and bargains between individuals not interfered with, nor the rights and remedies belonging thereto. If a person who has been convicted under this Act, brings an action for breach of contract on the sale to him of the food or drug in respect of which he has been convicted, he may recover from the defender, in addition to damages, the penalty and costs he has paid on conviction, on proving his good faith. The defendant is to be entitled to show that the conviction was wrongful, and the costs of unreasonable amount. Expenses of Executing this Act.—(29.) As regards England expenses to be borne in Counties by the County rate, in Boroughs by the borough rate. Special provision as to Tea.—(30.) From and after the 1st January, 1876, all tea imported as merchandise at any port of Great Britain and Ireland shall be subject to examination by persons to be appointed by the Commissioners of Customs, with approval of the Treasury, for inspection and analysis. If found to be mixed with other substances, or exhausted tea, the same shall not be delivered, either for home use, ship stores, or exportation. If unfit for human food, the same shall be forfeited and destroyed, or otherwise disposed of as the said Commissioners may direct. (31.) Defines exhausted tea as having been deprived of its proper strength by steeping, infusion, or otherwise. (32.) Provides for the liberty of a Cinque Port. (33.) Application of the Act to Scotland. (34.) Application of the Act to Ireland. (35.) Act to begin on 1st October, 1875. (36.) Short title: The Sale of Food and Drugs Act, 1875.

CONSPIRACY AND PROTECTION OF PROPERTY.

CHAP. 86. An Act for amending the Law relating to Conspiracy and to the Protection of Property, and for other purposes. August 13, 1875.

(1.) Short title: "The Conspiracy and Protection of Property Act, 1875." (2.) Act to begin on 1st September, 1875. Conspiracy and Protection of Property.—(3.) Two or more persons cannot be indicted for conspiring to do that which if done by any one singly would not be punishable as a crime; the act in question being one in contemplation or furtherance of a trade dispute between employers and workmen. This not to exempt from punishment any conspiracy punishable by Act of Parliament; nor does it alter the law as to riot, unlawful assembly, breach of the peace, or sedition, or any offence against the State or the Sovereign. Defines crime under this section as an offence punishable, either on indictment or summarily, by imprisonment either absolutely or as an alternative for some other punishment. Conspiracy as above limited, when summarily punishable, shall infer no more than three months' imprisonment, or such longer sentence as the statute relating thereto prescribes for punishment of the act when committed by one person. (4.) Workmen employed for the supply of any city, town or place, with gas or water, who wilfully and maliciously break their contract of service, knowing, or having reasonable cause to believe, that the probable consequences will be to deprive the inhabitants of that city, town, or place, wholly, or to a great extent, of their gas or water supply, are made liable to conviction either summarily or upon indictment. Such conviction to incur a penalty not exceeding £20, or imprisonment not exceeding three months, with or without hard labour. Printed copy of this section to be posted up on waterworks and gasworks: £5 per day penalty for default in so doing. Penalty not exceeding 40s. for defacing such notice. (5.) Wilful and malicious breach of contract of service or of hiring, with the probable consequence of danger to human life, serious bodily injury, or exposure of valuable property to destruction or serious injury, penalty on conviction either summarily or on indictment, not exceeding £20, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, with or without hard labour. Miscellaneous.—(6.) A master legally liable to provide his servant or apprentice with food, clothing, medical aid, or lodging, incurs a penalty not exceeding £20, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, with or without hard labour, on summary conviction of wilful failure so to do, whereby health is, or is likely to be, seriously injured. (7.) Every one who, with a view to compel wrongfully some one else to do or abstain from doing certain things which he can lawfully do or abstain from doing, is guilty of certain specified acts, thereby incurs on summary conviction a penalty not exceeding £20, or imprisonment not exceeding three months, with or without hard labour. The acts in question are specified thus under five separate heads:—1. Using violence to, or intimidating such other person, or his wife or children, or injuring his property. 2. Persistently following such other person about from place to place. 3. Hiding any tools, clothes, or other property owned or used by such other person, or depriving him of, or hindering him in the use thereof. 4. Watching or besetting the house or other place where such other person resides, or works, or carries on business, or happens to be, or the approach to such house or place. 5. Following such other person, with two or more other persons in a disorderly manner, in or through any street or road. But attending at or near a house or place, merely to obtain or communicate information, shall not be deemed a watching or besetting within the meaning of this section. (8.) Where in any act relating to employers and workmen, a pecuniary penalty is imposed without power to reduce it, such power is hereby given to reduce it to any sum not less than one fourth. Legal Proceedings.—(9.) Offender under this Act, liable to £20 penalty or imprisonment, may elect to be tried on indictment instead of summary prosecution. (10.) Summary Jurisdiction Act made applicable. (11.) In prosecutions under sections 4, 5, and 6 of this Act, parties and their husbands and wives are examinable as witnesses. (12.) Appeal to quarter sessions in England and Ireland. Definitions. (13.) Defines Summary Jurisdiction Act, and Court of Summary Jurisdiction. (14.) Defines the expressions Municipal and Public Company. (15.) "Maliciously," construed as in Malicious Injuries to Property Act. (16.) Nothing in this Act shall apply to seamen or to apprentices to the sea service. (17.) Repeals the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1871, and the Master and Servant Act of 1867; also certain sections of other statutes. (18, 19, 20.) Application of Act to Scotland. (21.) Application of Act to Ireland.

EMPLOYERS AND WORKMEN.

CHAP. 90. To enlarge the powers of County Courts in respect of disputes between Employers and Workmen, and to give other Courts a limited civil jurisdiction in respect of such disputes. August 13, 1875.

Preliminary.—(1.) Short title: "The Employers and Workman Act, 1875." (2.) Act begins on 1st September 1875.

PART I. Jurisdiction.—Jurisdiction of County Court.—(3.) In any proceedings before a county court in relation to any dispute between an employer and a workman arising out of, or incidental to, their relation as such, the court shall have the following powers as additional to its existing jurisdiction:—1. To set off one claim against another, whether liquidated or unliquidated, or for wages, damages, or otherwise. 2. To rescind any contract apportioning wages or damages, as may be thought just. 3. To accept in room of damages, where defendant is willing, security for so much of the contract as remains unperformed, and order performance of the contract accordingly, provided complainant consents. Court of Summary Jurisdiction.—4. Where the claim is under £10, a court of summary jurisdiction may exercise all the above powers in relation to disputes between employers and workmen. No order to be pronounced by such court for any sum exceeding £10, exclusive of costs, nor security to be required above that amount. (5.) Any dispute between master and apprentice, as defined by this Act, may be tried by this summary court. (6.) Such court, in dealing with a dispute between master and apprentice, shall have the same powers as between employer and workman, with the following additional powers: viz., 1. To order apprentice to perform his duties under the apprenticeship. 2. To order the whole or any part of the premium to be repaid, if the indenture be rescinded. 3. If an order be made directing an apprentice to perform his duties, the court may, from time to time, if satisfied, after the expiration of not less than one month from the date of the order, that the apprentice has failed to comply therewith, order him to be imprisoned for a period not exceeding fourteen days. (7.) In a proceeding before the summary court in relation to a dispute between master and apprentice, the bondsman under the indenture may, if the court so direct, be summoned in like manner as if he were the defendant, to attend the hearing. He may also be ordered to pay damages for breach of contract, and may give security for fulfilment by the apprentice of his obligations, in room or in mitigation of any punishment which the court is authorized to inflict.

PART II. Procedure.—(8.) Security may be given by oral or written acknowledgement under the direction of the court. Court may order payment of any sum which may become due in pursuance of such security. (9.) Enacts rules to regulate summary procedure, which is not in any case to be deemed a criminal proceeding.

PART III. Definitions and Miscellaneous.—(10.) The expression "workman" in this Act does not include a domestic or menial servant. It means any person who, being a labourer, servant in husbandry, journeyman, artificer, handicraftsman, miner, or otherwise engaged in manual labour, whether under the age of twenty-one years or above that age, has entered into, or works under, a contract with an employer. It matters not whether the contract be made before or after the passing of this Act, express or implied, oral or in writing. It may be a contract of service, or a contract personally to execute any work or labour. (11.) In the case of a child, young person, or woman subject to the provisions of the Factory Acts, any forfeiture on the ground of absence or leaving work, shall not be deducted from, or set off against a claim of wages or other sum due for work done before such absence or leaving work except to the amount of the damage sustained by the employer by reason of such absence or leaving work. (12.) Apprentices.—This Act shall apply only to an apprentice to the business of a workman as defined by this Act, when either there is no premium paid, or the premium does not exceed £25. It shall also apply to any apprentice bound under the Acts relating to the relief of the poor. (13.) Local or special jurisdictions as to apprentices reserved. This Act does not apply to seamen or apprentices to the sea service.

PARTS IV & V. Application of Act to Scotland and Ireland respectively.

TRADE MARKS.

CHAP. 91. To Establish a Register of Trade Marks.
August 13, 1875.

(1.) Register of trade marks and their proprietors to be established under the superintendence of the Commissioners of Patents. After 1st July 1876, no proceeding shall be taken to prevent infringement, unless the trade mark be registered under the statute. (2.) Trade mark to be registered as belonging to particular goods or classes of goods. Once registered, it shall be assignable only in connexion with goodwill of the business concerned in those goods, and shall be determinable with such goodwill. Registration of a trade mark shall be equivalent to public use thereof. (3.) Registration of person as first proprietor shall be prima facie evidence of his right to its exclusive use, and after five years it shall be conclusive evidence to that effect. (4.) Every proprietor registered in respect to a trade mark subsequently to the first registered proprietor, shall, as respects his title, stand as if it were a continuation of the first. (5.) If name of party not entitled be entered in the register as proprietor of a trade mark, or if registration be refused to a party entitled, or if a mark be registered which is not authorized to be so registered, any person aggrieved may apply for an order of court that the register be rectified. Court may or may not make order to rectify and award damages. In case of several claimants for registration as proprietors of a trade mark, registrar may refuse till claims are adjudicated upon by the court. Registrar may himself submit, or require parties to submit, their claims to the court. Court may decide any question as to whether a mark is or is not such a trade mark as is authorized to be registered under this Act, also as to right thereto of any party to the proceeding. Court may direct an issue to be tried. Order of court rectifying the register shall direct that due notice be given to the registrar. (6.) Without special leave of the court, a registrar shall not, in respect of the same goods or classes of goods, register a trade mark identical with one already registered, or so nearly resembling it as to be calculated to deceive. Registration as part of a trade mark not allowed, as to words, the exclusive use of which would not be protected by a court of equity, by reason of their being calculated to deceive or otherwise. Scandalous designs not to be registered. (7.) Register office to be established not later than 1st January 1876, with such officers and salaries as the Lord Chancellor may, with consent of treasury, direct. General rules to be made by the Lord Chancellor for the purposes of this Act, which shall be of the same validity as if they had been enacted by Parliament, but liable to be suspended by a resolution of either house of Parliament. (8.) Registrar's certificate to be evidence. (9.) Special provisions as to the Company of Cutlers in Hallamshire in the county of York, and the Sheffield corporate marks. (10.) A trade mark consists, for the purposes of this Act, of one or more of the following essential particulars: viz., a name of an individual or firm printed, impressed, or woven in some particular or distinctive manner; a written signature or a copy of a written signature of an individual or firm; a distinctive device, mark, heading, label, or ticket. To any one or more of the said particulars there may be added any letters, words, or figures, or combination of letters, words, or figures. Any special and distinctive word or words, or combination of figures or letters, used as a trade mark before the passing of this Act, may be registered as such under this Act. "Court" in this Act means any of Her Majesty's superior courts of law or equity at Westminster, or any court to which the jurisdiction of such courts may be transferred, or any one or more of such courts which may be declared to be the court for the purposes of this Act, by the general rules to be made by the Lord Chancellor (supra, section 7). Provisions of this Act conferring a special jurisdiction on the court, as above defined, shall not, excepting so far as such jurisdiction extends, affect the jurisdiction of any court in Scotland or Ireland, in causes, actions, suits, or proceedings relating to trade marks. If the register requires to be rectified in consequence of any proceedings in such court in Scotland or Ireland, due notice of such requirements shall be given to the registrar, and he shall rectify the register accordingly. (11.) Short title: "The Trade Marks Registration Act, 1875."

COPYRIGHT OF DESIGNS.

CHAP. 93. To amend the Copyright of Designs Acts. August 13, 1875.

The purpose of this Act, which it is unnecessary to abstract in detail, is to transfer to the Commissioners of Patents for Inventions all the powers and duties hitherto vested in the Board of Trade, under the Copyright of Designs Acts.

AN OUTLINE OF SOME OF THE PRINCIPAL FEATURES OF THE SUPREME COURT OF JUDICATURE ACTS OF 1873 & 1875, (36 and 37 Vic., cap. 66, also 38 and 39 Vic., Cap 77).

The Acts to be cited as "The Supreme Court of Judicature Acts, 1873 and 1875."

By the 38 and 39 Vict., c. 77, s. 2, the 1st of November, 1875, was fixed for the Act to come into operation.

The Crown may grant to any Judge of the High Court of Justice, or to any ordinary Judge of the Court of Appeal, who has served for fifteen years as a Judge in such Courts, or who is disabled by permanent infirmity, a pension by way of annuity, the same amount as now to the Lord Chief Justice of England, the Master of the Rolls, the Lord Chief Justice of Common Pleas, and the Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer. and to the other Judges the same amount as now granted to a Puisne Judge of the Queen's Bench.

JURISDICTION AND DISTRIBUTION OF BUSINESS.

The High Court of Justice to be a Superior Court of Record, and to exercise all the jurisdiction at the commencement of the Act vested in the High Court of Chancery, Courts of Common Law at Westminster, Admiralty Court, Probate Court, Divorce and Matrimonial Causes Court, Bankruptcy Court, Court of Common Pleas at Lancaster, Court of Pleas Durham, Courts of Assize, Courts of Oyer and Terminer and Gaol Delivery created by Commissions, and of the said Courts exercised at Chambers.

There shall not be vested in the High Court of Justice any appellate jurisdiction of the Court of Appeal in Chancery or Bankruptcy; any appellate jurisdiction of the Court of Appeal in Chancery of the County Palatine of Lancaster; any jurisdiction of the Lord Chancellor or Lords Justices of Appeal in Chancery or Lunacy; of the Lord Chancellor in relation to grants of letters patent, or issue of commissions, or writings, to be passed under the Great Seal; of the Lord Chancellor as visitor of any college, or charitable or other foundation; any jurisdiction of the Master of the Rolls in relation to records in London and elsewhere.

COURT OF APPEAL.

To be a Superior Court of Record, and to exercise all jurisdiction and powers of the Lord Chancellor and of the Court of Appeal in Chancery; of the Court of Appeal in Bankruptcy; of the Court of Appeal in Chancery of the County Palatine of Lancaster, and of the Chancellor of the Duchy and County Palatine of Lancaster, when sitting alone or apart from the Lords Justices of Appeal in Chancery as a Judge; of the Stannaries Court; of the Court of Exchequer Chamber; of the Privy Council upon Admiralty and Lunacy Appeals, with powers reserved to the Crown to transfer all the business of the Privy Council to the Court of Appeal (s 21).

To hear and determine Appeals from any judgment or order, save as excepted, of the High Court of Justice, or of any Judges or Judge thereof. (See new rules.)

No error or appeal to be brought from any judgment or order of the High Court of Justice, or of the Court of Appeal, or from the County Palatine of Lancaster, to the House of Lords, or the Privy Council, without prejudice to rights existing at the commencement of this Act (s 20) (Sec. 20 and 21 do not come into operation until November, 1876).

ECCLESIASTICAL APPEALS.

The Court of Appeal, when hearing Appeals in Ecclesiastical Causes, to be constituted of so many of the Judges thereof, and assisted by such assessors, being Archbishops or Bishops of the Church of England, as directed by rules to be made by order in Council (s 21). (See note above as to section 21.)

Law and Equity to be concurrently administered (Sects 24 and 25 of the 36 and 37 Vict. c. 66 and Sect. 10 of 38 and 39 Vict. c. 77).

SITTINGS AND DISTRIBUTION OF BUSINESS.

Division of the legal year into Terms abolished (s. 26), so far as applicable to any sitting or business of High Court of Justice, or the Court of Appeal, or of any Commissioners to whom any jurisdiction may be assigned under the Act.

Subject to rules of Court, the High Court of Justice and Court of Appeal, &c., to sit at any time and any place (s. 26).

Vacations. The Queen in Council from time to time to make rules regulating the vacations to be observed by the High Court of Justice, and the High Court of Appeal, and in the office thereof. In the meantime the vacations to be fixed in the same manner and by the same authority as if the Act had not passed (s. 27).

Sittings in Vacation. Rules to be made for hearing in London or Middlesex, during vacation, of all such applications as may require to be immediately or promptly heard.

Circuit. The jurisdiction to be created by Commission of Assize or other Commission. Any causes or matters; any questions or issues of fact or of law, or partly of fact and partly of law, in any cause or matter depending in the said High Court; the exercise of any civil or criminal jurisdiction exercised by the High Court; a cause or matter not involving any question or issue of fact, with the consent of all parties, may be heard and determined by Judges on Circuit. (See post p. 25).

Any party to a cause may, with the leave of the Judge or Judges of the Divisional Court in which it may be, require the question or issue to be tried at the Assizes or in London or Middlesex.

Sittings in London and Middlesex. Subject to rules of Court sittings in London and Middlesex, so far as practicable, and subject to vacations, to be held continuously throughout the year, for trial of questions or issues of fact.

The Judges of Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, and Exchequer, to be the Judges on Circuit and in London and Middlesex, and in election petitions (s. 38). Any ordinary Judge of the Court of Appeal, or of the Chancery Division, or any Serjeant-at-Law, or any of Her Majesty's Counsel, may be included in the Commission (s. 37).

DIVISIONS OF THE HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

There are to be five Divisions (s. 31):—

1. The Chancery Division—The Lord Chancellor (President), the Master of the Rolls and the Vice-Chancellors.
2. The Queen's Bench Division—The Lord Chief Justice of England (President), and the Puisne Judges of the Queen's Bench.
3. The Common Pleas Division—The Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, and the Puisne Judges of Common Pleas.
4. The Exchequer Division—The Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer, and the other Barons of the Exchequer.
5. Probate, Divorce, and Admiralty Division—The two Judges who immediately on the commencement of this Act are the existing Judges of the Probate and Divorce Court (President) and the Admiralty Court.

BUSINESS OF THE DIVISION COURTS.

1. The Chancery Division :—

- (1.) All causes and matters pending in the Court of Chancery at the commencement of this Act.
- (2.) All causes and matters to be commenced after the commencement of this Act, under any Act of Parliament by which exclusive jurisdiction, in respect to such causes or matters, has been given to the Court of Chancery, or to any Judges or Judge thereof respectively, except Appeals from County Courts.
- (3.) All causes and matters for any of the following purposes :
 - The administration of the estates of deceased persons ;
 - The dissolution of partnerships, or the taking of partnership or other accounts ;
 - The redemption or foreclosure of mortgages ;

2. Queen's Bench Division :—

- (1.) All causes and matters, civil and criminal, pending in the Court of Queen's Bench at the commencement of this Act :

- (2.) All causes and matters, civil and criminal, which would have been within the exclusive cognizance of the Court of Queen's Bench, in the exercise of its original jurisdiction, if this Act had not passed.
3. Common Pleas Division :—
- (1.) All causes and matters pending in the Court of Common Pleas at Westminster, the Court of Common Pleas at Lancaster, and the Court of Pleas at Durham, respectively, at the commencement of this Act :
- (2.) All causes and matters which would have been within the exclusive cognizance of the Court of Common Pleas at Westminster, if this Act had not passed.
4. Exchequer Division :—
- (1.) All causes and matters pending in the Court of Exchequer at the commencement of this Act.
- (2.) All causes and matters which would have been within the exclusive cognizance of the Court of Exchequer, either as a Court of Revenue, or as a Common Law Court, if this Act had not passed.
5. Probate, Divorce, and Admiralty Division :—
- (1.) All causes and matters pending in the Court of Probate, or in the Court for Divorce and Matrimonial Causes, or in the High Court of Admiralty, at the commencement of this Act :
- (2.) All causes and matters which would have been within the exclusive cognizance of the Court of Probate, or the Court for Divorce and Matrimonial Causes, or of the High Court of Admiralty, if this Act had not passed.

The plaintiff (subject to any rules of Court) to choose in what division he will sue, not being the Probate, Divorce, and Admiralty Division (s. 35).

Any cause may be transferred from one Division or Judge to any other Division or Judge (s. 36, and 38 and 39. Vic. c. 77 s. 9).

BANKRUPTCY.

The Bankruptcy Court is not united or consolidated with the Supreme Court; but appeal will be from London Court of Bankruptcy to Court of Appeal. (38 & 39, Vic. c. 77, s. 79).

POWERS OF A SINGLE JUDGE.

Any Judge of the High Court of Justice may exercise in Court or in Chambers all or any part of the jurisdiction vested in the said High Court in such causes and matters as before the passing of the Act might have been heard in Court or Chambers by a single Judge, or as may be directed by any rules of Court (s. 39). Such causes and matters as are not proper to be heard by a single Judge shall be heard by Divisional Courts of the High Court of Justice.

DIVISIONAL COURTS.

The Divisional Courts to consist of two or three, and no more Judges; and, except when it may not conveniently be found practicable, of three Judges (s. 40). Any number of Divisional Courts may sit at the same time.

Special provision as to how the business assigned to the Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, and Exchequer Divisions shall be disposed of by Divisional Courts (s. 41).

Special provision as to how the business assigned to the Chancery, Probate, Divorce, and Admiralty Divisions shall be disposed of (s. 42). As to Divisional Courts in the Chancery Division (s. 43); in the Probate, Divorce, and Admiralty Divisions (s. 44).

APPEALS FROM PETTY OR QUARTER SESSIONS AND INFERIOR COURTS.

Appeals from Petty or Quarter Sessions, from County Courts, or any Inferior Court, to be heard and determined by Divisional Courts, whose decisions shall be final, unless leave to appeal be given (s. 45).

CROWN CASES RESERVED.

To be determined by the Judge of the High Court of Justice, or five of them at least, of whom the Lord Chief Justice of England, the Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, and the Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer, or one of them at least, shall be part (s. 47).

TRIAL AND PROCEDURE.

Referees.—Any question arising in any cause or matter before the High Court of Justice or Court of Appeal may be referred for inquiry and report—to any official or special Referee, whose report may be wholly or partially by the Court (ss. 56—9.)

Assessors.—The High Court, or the Court of Appeal, may call in the aid of one or more Assessors and try and hear any such cause or matter, wholly or partially, with the assistance of such Assessors (s. 56).

DISTRICT REGISTRIES.

By order in Council, Districts are to be defined and Registrars appointed (Act of 1873, s. 60; of 1875, s. 13). Writs of Summons for the commencement of actions (a) in the High Court of Justice may be issued in such districts and such proceedings there taken and recorded as in the Act mentioned (s. 60).

Writs of Summons for the commencement of actions in the High Court of Justice are to be issued, when required, by the District Registrars, and all further proceedings, including proceedings for the arrest or detention of a ship, tackle, &c., or freight down to and including entry for trial, or in cases of default for non-appearance by default, down to final judgment, or an order for account may be taken before the District Registrar, and recorded in such manner as prescribed by rules of Court (s. 64).

Any party to the action may apply to remove the proceedings from such district Registry into the High Court (s. 65).

NEW RULES.

The Rules in the first Schedule of 38 & 39 Vict. c. 77 came into operation on November 1, 1875; but such Rules and all other such Rules of Court (if any) made after the passing and before the commencement of the Acts may be annulled or altered (38 & 39 Vict. c. 77, s. 16).

Her Majesty, by order in Council made upon the recommendation of the L. C., the C. J. of Q. B., the M. R., the C. J. of C. P., the C. B. of Ex. and the Lord Justices in Ch. or any five of them, &c., may make any further or additional Rules (38 & 39 Vict. c. 77, s. 17).

Rules and orders of the Probate, Divorce, Admiralty and Bankruptcy Courts, except as varied by the Act, to remain in force until altered or annulled by new rules of Court (38 & 39 Vict. c. 77, s. 18).

The practice and procedure in criminal causes and matters to be the same as before (s. 19).

Saving of all forms and methods of procedure of the existing Courts when not inconsistent with the Acts, or any new Rules (Act of 1875, s. 21).

A Council of the Judges to meet and report annually to the Secretaries of State upon the defects in procedure or the administration of the law, and as to what amendments or alterations, and what other provisions may be expedient (s. 75).

Acts of Parliament relating to the Courts transferred to the High Court of Justice and the Court of Appeal, "to be construed and take effect" as if the said High Court of Justice or the said Court of Appeal had been named therein.

In all cases where the advice or consent of the Judge or Judges, or any number of the Judges of such Courts is made necessary to the exercise of any power or authority, such power and authority may be exercised by the advice or consent of a like number of Judges of the High Court of Justice (s. 76).

(The new Rules are now printed and published.)

OFFICERS AND OFFICES.

Transfer to the Supreme Court of all officers and assistants attached to any Court or Judge whose jurisdiction is transferred to the High Court or to the Court of Appeal (s. 77).

Provisions as to officers of the Courts of Pleas at Lancaster and Durham (s. 78).

Officers of the Judges.—The Chief Justice of England, the Master of the Rolls, the Lord Chief Justice of Common Pleas, and the Lord Chief Baron of Exchequer, are each to have a Secretary, £500 per annum, a Principal Clerk, £400, and a Junior Clerk, £200.

The other Judges of the High Court of Justice and the Ordinary Judges of the Court of Appeal, are each to have a Principal Clerk, £400, and a Junior Clerk, £200.

The Clerks, while in attendance on their respective Judges, are to discharge, without further remuneration, the duties of Crier in Court or on Circuit, or of Usher or Train Bearer.

The duties of Chamber Clerks are to be performed by Officers of the Court in the permanent Civil Service of the Crown (s. 79, see also Act of 1875, s. 35).

Commissioners for administering Oaths.—Every person authorised to administer oaths in any of the Courts transferred to the High Court of Justice to be a Commissioner to administer Oaths in all causes and matters in the said High Court or in the Court of Appeal. (s. 82).

Official Referees to be appointed for the trial of such questions as may be directed to be tried by such Referees. Their number and qualifications and the tenure of their offices to be determined by the Lord Chancellor, with the concurrence of the Presidents of the Divisions of the High Court of Justice or a majority of them, and with the sanction of the Treasury (s. 83).

Solicitors, Attorneys, and Proctors.—From and after the commencement of the Act, Solicitors, Attorneys, and Proctors, are to be called Solicitors of the Supreme Court, and to be entitled to the same privileges and subject to the same obligations so far as circumstances will permit.

All persons entitled to be admitted as Solicitors, Attorneys, or Proctors, to be entitled to be admitted and called Solicitors of the Supreme Court, "and shall be admitted by the Master of the Rolls"

INFERIOR COURTS.

By Order in Council the same jurisdiction in Equity and Admiralty as County Courts now possess may be conferred on any Inferior Court of Civil Jurisdiction.

The Act concludes with some "Miscellaneous provisions," principally saving clauses.

SCHEDULE OF 58 RULES OF PROCEDURE UNDER THE ACT OF 1873 IS REPEALED AND ANOTHER SUBSTITUTED IN THE ACT OF 1875.

These Rules make a radical change in the Proceedings of all the Courts, and must be studied carefully to arrive at their practical effect and working.

CIRCUITS.

Her Majesty may, by Order in Council, discontinue, temporarily or permanently, any existing Circuit or form a New Circuit.

BOLTON AND COUNTY OF LANCASTER CERTIFIED INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL, LOSTOCK, BOLTON.

Certified November 30th, 1863, and June 13th, 1870.

The Superintendent and Matron are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gorst. The Trustees are Colonel Gray, Thomas Taylor, Esq., and P. R. Arrowsmith, Esq.—The governing body consists of a President, (Thomas Taylor, Esq. ;) six Vice-Presidents, (including the two Borough Members) ; a Treasurer, (the Mayor, Charles Wolfenden, Esq. ;) a Secretary, (John Hodgkinson, Esq. ;) and twelve other gentlemen, three of whom form a quorum in Committee.—General Committee Meetings are held at the Town Hall, on the 2nd Thursday in every month ; certain members being permanently appointed as a Visiting Committee, to attend at the school every week.

Mr. Gorst is assisted in the school by a school-master and an assistant school-master, and in the Industrial Departments by a clogger and shoemaker, a tailor, a mechanic, and a farm bailiff. These officers respectively are responsible to the superintendent for the boys working in their departments.

Dr. George Howarth is attached to the Institution as Medical Officer, all children being examined as to their bodily health previous to their formal admission.

This institution was transferred from its old premises in Commission-street, to the handsome and healthily situated buildings at present occupied, during the year 1870. Liberal Subscriptions have been made from time to time for the extension and more efficient working by our large-hearted townsmen.

The following Statement drawn up by Mr. O. L. Perry, a member of the Managing and Visiting Committees, is brought up to January 1st, 1876, and shows the number of Admissions during 1864—1875 ; also, in parallel columns the number of children whose terms of detention have expired or will expire in each year from 1864 to 1884. The number of terms expiring from 1876 to 1884 of course include the whole of the children on the books on January 1st, 1876. At present the Institution is only licensed to find house-room for about 150 children, and out of the 214 whose terms expire between the beginning of this year and 1884, over one fourth are residing outside the school on license either at home or in situations, or apprenticeships provided for them. They are liable to be recalled in case of bad behaviour.

It will be noted that the school will be able to admit a good number of children during the years 1876 to 1878, owing to the unusual number of terms expiring then.—No children under six or above fourteen can be admitted.

Children who conduct themselves well are rewarded by being licensed out before the expiration of their term of detention, but the Industrial Schools Act rightly forbids any child to be licensed before the expiration of eighteen months' training.

The following eighteen towns have sent children to this excellent Institution during the past ten years :—

Ashton, Blackburn, Bury, Chorley, Crumpsall, St. Helens,	Kirkham, Lancaster, Lonsdale, Manchester, Oldham, Ormskirk,	Preston, Rochdale, Salford, Skerton, Warrington, Wigan.
---	--	--

It may be noted that during the past five years the children from Salford and Manchester have averaged 50% of the total admissions, 20% more coming from towns other than Bolton. By a recent carefully considered decision of the Committee, no more girls will be admitted into the Institution, and it would seem very desirable that sister institutions be formed for the training of girls only.

A large General Committee has also been formed.

Lectures and Classes held at the Mechanics' Institute, and conducted by Cambridge Graduates specially appointed by the University.

Classes (Free) held after all Lectures (except the Opening Lectures) on each subject.

Tickets—10s. 6d. per term for the Morning, and 5s. for the Evening Lectures. Admission to the separate Lectures, 2s. and 1s. for the Morning and Evening Lectures respectively. Teachers, Half-price. Opening Lectures (on each subject) Free. Tickets sold by H. BRADBURY, bookseller, Deansgate, Bolton.

Two Terms (Autumn and Spring) form one Session, at the end of which examinations are held. Printed examination questions are received from Cambridge, and the candidates' papers are sent up to Cambridge to be looked through by Examiners specially appointed by the Syndicate.

Certificates are awarded to all those who are successful in obtaining a class at the Examinations.

The Classes following the Lectures give the students an opportunity of close research. Printed syllabus are distributed to each student at every lecture, containing questions on the various points of the lecture. These questions are answered in writing during the interval preceding the subsequent lecture, at which the answers are commented upon by the lecturer. The written answers are either left at Mr. Bradbury's (in closed envelopes) and forwarded by him to the lecturer, or sent direct to the lecturer to be revised.

The Candidates are allowed to sign fictitious names to their papers, except in the final examination for certificates. Only those who have attended the classes are allowed to compete at the Examinations.

The subjects lectured on have, at present, been confined to English History, English Literature, and Political Economy, and the speedy extension of this range of subjects, depends entirely on the support afforded by the public. A separate lecturer is appointed by the Cambridge Syndicate for each subject.

The first examinations were held in April, 1876, at the close of the session 1875-76. The next session will begin in October, 1876.

THE SCOTTISH IMPERIAL INSURANCE COMPANY

(Established 1865.)

By liberal principles, promptitude in settlements, the influence and support of a numerous proprietary, and economical management, the Company has secured a large share of public favour at home and abroad.

A most important saving in the ordinary expenditure has been effected by the combination of Fire and Life business under one management.

The Life Policyholders thus have the advantage of a diminished ratio of expenses, as well as the security afforded by the ample Capital of the Company, while the Life funds are secured to them exclusively by Act of Parliament.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

INSURANCES are granted against Loss or Damage by Fire upon almost every species of Property, on terms as advantageous to the interests of the insured as those offered by any other office.

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE, including Personal Property of every description (with the usual limit on Pictures, &c.,) in Buildings of the first-class, insured in one sum, at a uniform rate of 2s. per Cent., thus avoiding the necessity of a separate valuation.

RENTS.—Insurances may be effected to protect parties from the Loss of Rent during the re-instatement of Property destroyed, or that is rendered untenable by Fire.

FARMING STOCK insured at 5s. per Cent.

SHIPPING in Port or Dock or while building, may be insured against Loss from Fire on liberal terms.

ALL FIRE POLICIES ARE NOW EXEMPT FROM DUTY.

No Charge made either for Policies or Endorsements. Transfers from other Offices can be effected without any extra expense to the Insured.

A GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN TEA.

I HAVE recently made some very Large Purchases of Excellent TEA under peculiarly favourable circumstances, and have thereby been enabled to effect a great Improvement in the Quality of my Teas. This will be seen to be the case upon trial, which I respectfully invite.

Really Good TEA at 2s. per pound, 6d. per quarter, 3d. per two ounces. It is a clean, strong, and good-tasted Tea.

The TEA at 2s. 4d. per pound, 7d. per quarter, is indeed a Capital Tea, is well liked, and has an extensive sale.

The TEA at 2s. 8d. per pound, 8d. per quarter, 4d. per two ounces, is a magnificent Tea, full of body, yields a ruddy liquor, and is rough tasted.

My 3s. 4d. TEA, 10d. per quarter, 5d. per two ounces, is a strong, rich, and juicy Tea, and gives great satisfaction in families where economy is an object, as it brews out well.

The TEA at 3s. 6d. is made specially good, to suit the convenience of many families who have fixed upon that price as the one to be paid for the Tea they use. It combines great strength and fine flavour with absolute purity. Quarter pound samples, 10½d.

Very fine rich MIXTURE 3s. 8d. per pound, 11d. per quarter. An improvement upon the foregoing in every kind of the Teas used, and flavoured with fine Caper and Pekoe.

The 4s. TEA, 1s. per quarter, 6d. two ounces, is a Tea of which I sell an immense quantity. The Black Tea is the very best Kaisow and Moring Tea; and the Green used in the Mixed Tea is the purest and best Gunpowder and Hyson Tea.

The 4s. 4d. TEA is the best Tea that money can buy. The strength of this Tea is amazing, and the flavour exquisite. Being a mixture of the Finest Teas in the world, it is really perfect in liquor—pungent, ripe, mellow-tasted, leaving upon the palate a delightful impression.

MESSRS. JNO. BEGG & CO.,

Respectfully announce that they they have OPENED an Establishment in Bolton, for the Manufacture of

ÆRATED AND MINERAL WATERS,

Both for the use of their Patent Stopped Bottles, and the ordinary Cork System.

The Patent Stopped Bottles are offered as Possessing Important Advantages:—

Opened by a gentle pressure from the hand.
Quickly done, with great ease, and without noise.
Purity of the contents, by the cleanliness insured in mode of filling.
The Stoppers being air-tight, the Waters never become flat.

MESSRS. JOHN BEGG & Co., desire further to add that they have introduced into their Works the most Powerful and Complete SODA WATER MACHINERY in England, on entirely new principles; and have secured the sole right to use the patent in this country, for a number of years.

All Ærated and Mineral Waters manufactured by us are guaranteed to be of the Best and Purest Quality, of Uniform Strength, and Finest Flavour. The ingenious appliances used in filling both the patent and ordinary bottles are of great service in economising labour, enabling them to offer a superior quality of these highly esteemed and Palatable Beverages at a moderate price. The consumption of these drinks now enters largely into the habits of all classes of the people; and in districts where industrial operations are carried on in a heated atmosphere—no drink is so refreshing, innocent, and wholesome, when well prepared.

Owing to the system of filtration adopted by us (and which is not used by any other firm) we warrant all our beverages to be perfectly free from all deleterious carthy matter, metallic oxides, or pernicious gases, with which Ærated waters are so frequently contaminated.

It shall be our endeavour to gain public support by supplying only the purest and best of all our productions at the lowest remunerating rates, and respectfully solicit your kind patronage, which will be much esteemed.

It is particularly requested that any incivility or neglect of our Van-men will be reported at the Office, Rosehill, Manchester Road, Bolton.

YOUNG'S BOILER COMPOSITION

GENTLEMEN,

I beg respectfully to inform you that I have perfected

A BOILER COMPOSITION,

Which, being manufactured by myself and upon my own premises, I can testify as to its genuineness. This Composition will prevent all incrustations from whatever cause; and where it has already set in, it will effectually eradicate it. And I wish also to draw the attention of parties using large quantities of Coal, to the great saving effected by having their boilers clear of incrustation, which may be effectually done by using this Composition; in some instances as much as 25 per cent. has been saved in Coal, as well as a great saving to the boilers. I have already received numerous Testimonials in its favour, and solicit a trial of the same.

I am, Gentlemen, yours obediently,

JAMES YOUNG,

Manufacturer of Boiler Composition, Wheel Grease, Roller Varnish, &c., FOLDS ROAD, BOLTON.

COPY OF REPORT FROM

SHERIDAN MUSPRATT, M.D. (HON.) F.B.S. E.D. M.R.I.A., ETC.

Honorary Fellow of the New York College of Pharmacy, and Member of the Royal Agricultural Society of England.

Duke-street, Liverpool, 16th June, 1866.

Mr. James Young, Manufacturing Chemist, Folds Road, Little Bolton.

NEW BOILER COMPOSITION.

Sir,—Having carefully analysed the sample of "New Boiler Composition" which you left with me, I have pleasure in reporting to you that I find it is very well adapted both for preventing incrustation in Steam Boilers, and for removing incrustations when formed in them.

The quantity of the "Composition" to be used will vary almost in every instance, according to the hardness of the water used in the Boiler, but those which you prescribe in your circular will be sufficient in most cases.

The New "Boiler Composition" will not injure the Boiler; nor will the steam produced from boilers in which the "New Composition" may be used, carry anything with it that would prove injurious to any substances to which such steam may be applied

P A R E ' S
NEW
INFANT'S FEEDING BOTTLE,

WITHOUT CORK FITTINGS! WILL NOT FALL IN PIECES!!
IS NOT SO LIABLE TO BREAK!!!

THE weak part in the Feeding Bottle at present in use is the cork and the cork-lined caps; the corks constantly break, the cork-lining soon wears out, leaving the earthenware cap useless; the cork becomes saturated with milk; the milk in the cork is constantly sour, hence it gives a tuck to the food, and helps to turn it sour. After much thought and many experiments, H. B. PARE has succeeded in inventing an India Rubber Cap and Plug combined. The Plug fits inside the neck of the bottle, round the neck there is a rim, over the rim the cap fits. The cap and plug together, fit so tight and firm that you may take hold of the tube and swing the bottle round as rapidly as possible, without any danger of separating the Bottle from the Tube. From the very durable nature of India Rubber they will wear a very long time without getting out of order. Through the Cap there is a solid centre piece; this gives firmness, admits air, and carries the India Rubber Tube, making the most perfect, most durable, and complete Infant's Feeding Bottle in the trade.

Sold by most Chemists, at 1s., 1s. 6d., and 2s. each.

Important Series of Lancashire Newspapers.

The attention of Professional and Commercial Classes, Parliamentary Agents, Solicitors, Public Companies, and General Business Advertisers, is respectfully called to the following Series of Weekly Newspapers, which are the best possible Mediums of bringing Announcements before large, influential, and populous parts of South-East and South-West Lancashire :—

BOLTON WEEKLY JOURNAL.

[12 Pages.]

A First-class Newspaper, spiritedly conducted, and influentially and extensively circulated.

ECCLES AND PATRICROFT JOURNAL.

[8 Pages.]

The Leading Newspaper for these Districts, and circulates largely in these important Manchester suburbs.

FARNWORTH JOURNAL AND OBSERVER.

[12 Pages.]

The only Newspaper published in this thriving and populous manufacturing community.

LEIGH JOURNAL AND TIMES.

[8 Pages.]

The most extensively circulated Newspaper in the District.

PENDLEBURY AND SWINTON JOURNAL.

[8 Pages.]

Admittedly the representative organ of all classes in these places.

TYLDESLEY WEEKLY JOURNAL.

[8 Pages.]

The only Newspaper published in this important Colliery District.

Each of the above Newspapers has its separate Publishing Office, its Resident Managing and Reporting Staff; each has its Local Advertisements and Local News, and is, in the fullest sense, a distinctively Local Newspaper.

Parliamentary and Legal Notices, Announcements of Public Companies, and General Business Advertisements not of a local description, are inserted, for one reasonable charge, in all the above Newspapers, and thus publicity is given to them over a wide area and among all classes in the important Towns and Districts in which they are published, which are centres of AGRICULTURE, MANUFACTURES, and MINING.

The introduction of Stories by eminent Novelists, including MISS BRADDON, MISS MARRYAT, B. L. FARJEON, CAPT. MAYNE REID, and BLANCHARD JERROLD, in addition to all the best features of First-Class Newspapers, has rendered the above Series highly attractive, and secured for each a large, and constantly growing, circulation.

Circulation of the Journals, 15,000 Copies.

Intending Advertisers are requested to apply for Copies of the Series of Newspapers, and for Advertising Scale to—

TILLOTSON & SON, Proprietors, Infirmery Street, Bolton.

THE BOLTON EVENING NEWS,

(First Halfpenny Evening Paper published every day. The only Bolton Daily issued on Saturdays.)

Has a circulation which doubly exceeds the combined issues of the other Daily Newspapers in the town.

Having been spiritedly conducted for many years, the NEWS has the reputation among all classes of being the Best Newspaper. Its Local Reports are full, its General News carefully digested, and, publishing three Editions during the day, it gives the Latest Telegraphic News, Markets, and Sporting, up to the hours of going to press. It is read at the Clubs, the Libraries, the News-rooms, the Counting-houses, and Public and Private Offices, and in the homes of all classes of the community.

It is unrivalled as an ADVERTISING MEDIUM for Bolton and the surrounding Towns and Districts.

Circulation of the EVENING NEWS, 10,000, frequently attaining nearly 20,000 Copies.

BREAKFAST.

“By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast-tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame.”—The Civil Service Gazette.
