ADDRESS.

IN re-issuing my edition of a cheap and portable Directory of Maidstone and Neighbourhood, including all Suburbs within a radius of seven miles, I trust that it will merit the kind and generous support which has been so liberally accorded by the Trading, Commercial, and Professional Classes of the district, and at the same time assure my readers that only those who have been engaged in compiling works of this kind can form an idea of the difficulties which are found in producing a thoroughly complete and correct list up to the time of publication.

My desire has been to make the work a thorough reflex of all that appertains to the various Trading, Commercial, and Professional interests in the several places represented, and, with that view, no expense has been spared to make the Directory as accurate as possible. I regret that names and occupations have been in some instances refused; and this must be the apology of the Publisher for any absent on the list; but, should any errors be found, I shall be thankful to have them pointed out, that they may be corrected in future editions, which I intend publishing every three years.

The Publisher has the pleasing duty to tender his best thanks to those who have favoured him with Advertisements; to the several hundreds who have entered their names as Subscribers to the Work; and last, but not least, to those many friends who have supplied information and corrected lists for the publication, which I hope may prove satisfactory to its readers, and be found a credit to QUILLAIA.

It has become so common to claim impossible virtues for proprietary articles, that a plain, common sense statement of the facts scarcely attract attention ; nevertheless, we believe that in the long run modest merit outstrips vainglorious boasting.

Facts about Quillaia.

1st—It is just what it claims to be, clean, white, and fragrant. An instantaneous Remover of Paint, Oil, Grease, Pitch, &c., from fabrics.

2nd—The cleansing principle is a vegetable production, and from South America; never before introduced in this country.

3rd—Its application is simple and practicable everywhere, even while travelling.

4th—It is reasonable in price. A box lasts a long time and will cleanse a multitude of spots.

5th—No one who has used it fails to keep it by them for ever after. It is an indispensable adjunct to the travelling bag.

6th—Where economy is an object, no one can afford to be without QUILLAIA, and when money is plenty, a regard for appearance makes the use of QUILLAIA a necessity. For Spots are the result of accident, and usually at inopportune moments ; a careless waiter at table, a freshly painted gate may make misery for the unfortunate victim.

7th—Nothing answers the purpose as a substitute. The atrocious Benzine carries its own condemnation in its dreadful odour, and still fails to do the work.

Every business man should have a box at his office and another in his dressing room at home. Every house-keeper should keep it for curtains, carpets, upholstery, as well as the family wardrobe.

HISTORY OF MAIDSTONE.

PLEASANTLY situated in the centre of the County of Kent, and on the River Medway stands the Municipal, Parliamentary Borough, and important Market Town of Maidstone. It is the head of a Union, County Court District, and Rural Deanery in the Archdeaconery and Diocese of Canterbury, and the County town of Kent; about 34 miles from London by road, 27 from Canterbury, 8 from Chatham and Rochester, and about 15 from Tunbridge.

Few towns in England have made such steady progress. In the year 1811, the population was 9,433; 1851, 20,801; 1861, 23,016; 1871, 26,198; 1881, 29,860; and we may safely quote, that at the present time (1885), it has considerably over 30,000 inhabitants.

As a consequence at this surprising increase of population, great alterations have taken place in the town and its suburbs, private buildings having encroached upon the richly wooded country.

The town, which is of great antiquity, derives its name from the river on which it stands. Eminent historians mention it originally as "Mægwanstane," derived from the mighty or strong stone which is embedded in all parts of the town and neighbourhood. The Saxons named it "Medwegestan," the town on the "Medwedge," or, "Middle" river—hence, "Medway's" town, or, Maidstone. Again, in "Domesday Book," it is written "Meddestane; and, in records of the time of Edward I., "Maydenestane," from which to its present form—Maidstone—the transition is easy.

Among the historical events which contribute to distinguish the town, may be mentioned the celebrated meeting on Penenden Heath, about one mile north-east, for the purpose of adjusting the difference that had arisen between Lanfranc, Archbishop of Canterbury, and Odo, Earl of Kent, in consequence of the appropriation by the latter of various lands and privileges enjoyed by the Primate, and which this assembly decreed should be restored. Fairfax took Maidstone by storm, in 1648, after holding out against the Parliamentary forces.

Maidstone has enjoyed the privilege of sending two Members to Parliament since the reign of Edward VI. (1548), the year it was first incorporated, having previously been governed by a "Portreeve and Brethren;" but during the reign of Mary the boon was forfeited in consequence of the inhabitants joining the rebellion under Sir Thomas Wyatt, in opposition to the Queen's marriage with Phillip II. of Spain. However, during the reign of Elizabeth and James I., Charles II. and George II. charters were again granted from which it will be seen that the jurisdiction of the Borough—over the river—extends from East Farleigh Bridge to Hawkwood. The Parliamentary Borough extends 5 miles south from Maidstone, there being a detached portion of the Parish beyond the limits of Municipal government, but in consequence of the Redistribution Act, Maidstone will now only send One Member to Parliament.

The office of High Sheriff is supposed to have been instituted by King Alfred, when he remodelled the realm. The first contested Election was in 1708, when Sir Thomas Palmer and Sir Stephen Leonard were returned in opposition to Sir Cholmeley Dering, Bart., and Percival Hart, Esq., but two years later the latter gentlemen were returned by a considerable majority.

From the records of an ancient Kentish Chronicle we find that "Maidstone" gives the title of Viscount to the Finch family, and "Aylesford" that of Earl to the same family.

Maidstone has given birth to several eminent men, particularly a family surnamed de-Maidestan, of whom Sir Walter had licence from Edward II. to embattle his mansion here. Ralph de-Maidestan was Bishop of Hereford from 1234 to 1239, and was a man of excellent learning and holiness of life, he died at Gloucester in 1245. We may also enumerate Dr. Edward Lee, Archbishop of York from 1531 to 1544, the time of his death, and who was buried in his own Cathedral. John Jenkyns, a celebrated musician and composer in the reigns of Charles I. and II. The Rev. William Newton, some time Vicar of Gillingham, in Dorsetshire, who published "The History and Antiquities of Maidstone;" also, William Woollet, whose talent as an artist obtained for him the honourable appointment of engraver to the king, and to whose memory a monument, finely executed by Banks, was erected in the cloisters of Westminster Abbey. His most masterly productions are considered to be "The Niobe," from Wilson's celebrated picture, "The death of Wolf;" and the great picture of "The Fishery." His death was accidental, in 1785, in his 50th year, and his body was interred in St. Pancras churchyard, London. James Jefferys, son of a local artist, William Jefferys, who painted the altar piece in All Saints' Church, was born here. He so far excelled his father in the art of painting, that his bold outline pen drawings are considered equal to those of the celebrated Mortimer. Three persons of this town, most probably natives, obtained considerable notoriety during the Civil Wars. These were Andrew Broughton, Re-cordor, and twice Mayor of Maidstone; Thomas Trapham, M.B. who was surgeon both to Fairfax and Cromwell; and Thomas Read, gentleman, who, on the trial of Charles I., deposed that he had seen that "monarch at the head of a guard of horse" between Lostwithiel and Fowy. Broughton was one of the two clerks, and also secretary to the High Court of Justice, and in that situation he read both the charge preferred and the sentence passed against the unfortunate Charles. Excepted from the Bill of Indemnity at the Restoration, he fled privately to the continent, and took refuge in Switzerland with Ludlow, Say, Deady, Lisle, and others. He died at Vevay, in that country, of old age, alone, in 1687. Trapham, who was admitted Bachelor of Physic, in 1648, was a bitter enemy, observes Newton, to Charles I., to whose body after his decapitation he put his hand to open and embalm; when that was done he sewed his head to his body, with the brutish remark that "he had just sewed on the head of a goose.

The following will be interesting in shewing the price of the different commodities in Maidstone about the year 1480: Two pigs were sold for 4d.; a capon for 6d.; a lamb for 1s. 2d.; 11s. 8d. was paid for 20 bushels of malt; 6d. for a quarter of mutton; and 7d. for a course of veal; 200 eggs for 1s.; a kilderkin of beer for 1s. and the wages for a bricklayer at that time was 4½d. per day.

The Archbishop of Canterbury formerly resided here, and the Palace, situated near All Saints' (Parish) Church, testifies to the architectural character of the palatial residence, ranking it with the best in the County; there is, also, the College, founded by Archbishop Courtenay, in 1395. The Hall of the Corpus Christi Fraternity, which was founded about 1344, is now used as part of a brewery and for other commercial purposes. This building was purchased by the Corporation, in 1547, for a Grammar School, and was used as such till 1871, being then transferred to the handsome and well-built New School, in Tonbridge Road.—Tempting as the subject is, we must leave the antiquity of Maidstone and come to more modern times.

Maidstone is a go-a-head town, well built, having some fine business streets, the principal of which intersects each other in the centre of the place. Of late years, several thousands of pounds have been spent for public improvements, and it is of these new works we propose to describe, rather more particular so as to make Stevens' Directory a valuable book of reference. The town is well lighted with gas, and amply supplied with water, and has a complete system of main drainage, which cost over £60,000. There is a fine stone bridge over the "Medway," consisting of three arches, 40 ft. wide, and has a foot path on each side 8 ft. wide. It was built by Mr. Webster, of London, from designs by Sir Joseph Bazalgette, costing nearly £50,000 and formally opened on August 6th, 1879.

That the aphorism, "Civilization moves westward," is applicable to Maidstone, is evident to the most casual observer on arriving in the town by the S.E. Railway, facing the Broadway—the long famed nurseries and other eligible building grounds adjacent, are rapidly being taken possession of by the enterprising builder, and covered with first-class villa residences, giving this part of the town a most picturesque appearance; especially noticeable also are the fine block of first-class business premises, erected in the Broadway, by Mr. Pearson, The West Borough Offices and others; these buildings will bear a favourable comparison with any in the town, and the necessity for their erection has apparently been fully justified by the lively and business-like appearance of the whole neighbourhood.

The Maidstone Church Institute in Union Street, a magnificent building, costing over £3,000, erected by subscription, from the designs of Mr. Stephens, by Messrs. Wallis and Clements, builders. It is built of red brick with Bath stone dressings, with a very handsome stone front. It was opened Nov. 8th, 1882, by Arch-deacon Harrison.

The Conservative Club in Earl Street, a handsome building, costing about £4,000. It contains a reading room 24ft. by 16ft., smoking-room 26ft. by 16ft., a card-room 18ft. 6in. by 14ft., dining-room 24ft. by 16ft., billiard-room 32ft. by 16ft., and other equally large rooms for steward, &c. There is a fine stone front, with a carved head of Lord Beaconsfield over the entrance, surmounted by the arms of the borough and county. It was built from the designs of Mr. Hubert Bensted, architect, and built by Messrs. Wallis and Clements. The stone was laid by Viscount Holmesdale, 9th Feb., 1883.

Maidstone Public Hospital, situated in Upper Fant Lane, is a large building, costing altogether about £4,500; built from the designs of Mr. H. Bensted, architect, by Mr. Avar, builder.

Another important addition is St. Paul's Schools, built of rag-stone and artificial stone dressings, and contains one large school-room 60ft. long by 22ft. wide, and three class-rooms; the cost of Boys' School £500, and the Girls' £1,500. It was built from the designs of Mr. Hubert Bensted, architect, by Messrs. Wallis and Clements, builders.

Also Barming Heath School being enlarged, having a new school-room added (50ft. by 20ft.), costing about £600. Mr. Hubert Bensted, architect, and Messrs. Wallis and Clements, builders.

Improvements have also been made in extending the river wall in Fair Meadow further back, so as to give better facility to the barges in unloading their freights.

There has also been lately erected, opposite the County Gaol, a handsome Drinking Fountain, surmounted with a lamp, presented by subscription. Stone laid by C. G. Long, Esq. (Mayor).

A great feature of commercial interest to the town is the railway communications to and from London and the surrounding towns, and the convenience in having two stations in direct opposite positions in the Town—the London, Chatham and Dover being situated at the top of Week Street, and the South Eastern, located in the West Borough—thus affording great facility to the inhabitants of the town; there is, also, the small Barrack Station, but which is principally used by foot passengers, having a walk leading across the viaduct over the Medway, past the Museum Gardens, and by the side of the London, Chatham & Dover Station.

The New Line between Maidstone and Ashford (connecting with the L. C. & D. Railway Station, Week Street) was opened for traffic in July of the past year. It has already proved a great boon to the inhabitants of an extensive district, as well as the townspeople of Maidstone.

There are ten Churches in Maidstone. All Saints' is a large and handsome edifice, with an excellently built tower and a peal of ten bells; the steeple, which was 80 feet high, was destroyed by lightning in November, 1731, and has not yet been restored. The Church contains several fine monuments. It was rebuilt, in 1395, by Archbishop Courtenay. There is a fine organ (by Lewis) which was opened by Dr. Bridge, of Westminster Abbey, in May, 1879, and at the present time (1885) it is undergoing extensive repairs and alterations, having new roof; the whole costing about £10,000. Holy Trinity, situated in Church Street, was built in 1826, and consecrated by the Archbishop of Canterbury, in October, 1828. It is a plain stone building, designed from the Grecian model, with a tower and steeple. During the last few years it has been considerably altered and improved, at a cost of over £3,000, making its internal decorations equal to any in the neighbourhood. The organ is large, and of splendid tone, costing about £800. St. Faith's, in Station Road, is of modern construction; consecrated in September, 1872. It is built on the site of the old Church, erected in the thirteenth century, and is in the early style of English decorated architecture, forming a pretty and effective edifice. Services were held at this Church on Thursday, Dec. 15th, 1881, to celebrate the completion of the handsome tower which has for some months been in course of erection; from the designs of Mr. E. W. Stephens, and is of Kentish ragstone, with numerous dressings of Bath stone. It is surmounted at each corner by a stone pinnacle. The roof is covered with lead, and the whole height to the top of the pinnacles is about 110 feet. The clock has three five-foot dials, the figures on which can be seen from a considerable distance. St. Peter's, in St. Peter's Street, was endowed in 1244 by Boniface, Archbishop of Canterbury. It was renovated and improved in 1836. St. Paul's, in Fisher Street, Perry Fields, was built in 1859, and consecrated in January, 1861. It is a handsome and well-built fabric, costing over £5,000. SS. Michael and All Angels', in Tonbridge Road, was erected in 1875, and consecrated in October, 1876, by the Archbishop of Canterbury. It is from the designs of Mr. A. W. Bloomfield, in the early decorated style of architecture, the material of which is of Kentish ragstone. There is a fine peal of bells, the gift of the parishioners, and a large organ costing about £800. All the seats are free and unappropriated. In connection with this Church there has lately been built a Mission Church in Milton Street, it is 70ft. long by 24ft. wide, built of Kentish ragstone, with red-brick dressings. The chancel can be shut off from the church by a screen with folding doors, so that the nave can be used for secular purposes; it will accommodate 200 persons, and cost about £1,000. The ground and bell were presented by Herbert Monckton, Esq. Hubert Benstead, architect. E. Vaughan, builder. Foundation stone laid 12th July, 1884. Opened on 16th February, 1885. The other Churches of the Town are St. James's, St. Philip's, St. John's, and St. Stephen's. The Roman Catholic Church (St. Francis), in Week Street, is a handsome erection of red brick and stone, with neat and appropriate steeple. It was opened in 1880. The Dissenters have of late years made considerable improvements in their places of worship. The King Street (Undenominational) is a fine structure of Gothic architecture, with a lofty spire; the Congregational, in Week Street, is also a handsome edifice, built in the Italian style; the New Congregational, corner of Bower Place and Tonbridge Road, is a building of some importance, built of stone, with a neat and imposing tower, after the designs of Mr. Charles Pertwee, architect, Chelmsford, and was opened in April, 1876. There are two Wesleyan Chapels—one in Union Street, a most prominent and commodious building, and the other in Tonbridge Road, both having Sunday and Day Schools attached; the former one having an entrance in Brewer Street, which is built in the Gothic style. The Primitive Methodists', in Brewer Street, is a neat Gothic building, opened in 1871. The remaining Chapels are the General Baptists', in Union Street; Providence, Mote Road; Zoar, Pudding Lane; and the Unitarian, in Earl Street.

The Institutions of the town are numerous, and the visitor to Maidstone should not fail to see the Museum, in St. Faith Street, formerly the Manor House of "Chillington," containing many objects of interest connected with nature, science and art, and a fine collection of shells and eggs. The numerous specimens have been classified with great care and judgment, so that they can be easily seen and well investigated. The Library and Reading Room is free to all persons over the age of 16 years, and is well attended by the working classes and inhabitants of the district. The surrounding grounds are tastefully laid out, and a new addition is the Observatory, erected by public subscription, containing a magnificent telescope, presented by Miss Paine, forming a handsome feature to one of the most complete Museums and public libraries in England. A useful, descriptive "Guide" has lately been issued by Mr. Burgiss-Brown, Week Street, and will be found to contain every information that visitors require.

Equal in importance and usefulness is the West Kent General Hospital, situated in Marsham Street, a large and well-constructed building. It was instituted in 1832, gives surgical relief to over 5,000 out-patients annually, and numbers between 300 and 400 in-patients. The Kent County Ophthalmic Hospital, in Church Street, near Trinity Church, is a most invaluable institution for the relief and cure of poor persons afflicted with diseases of the eye and ear, who are attended to without any recommendation from subscribers. This Hospital was instituted in 1847, and is well worthy of the consideration of the nobility and gentry of the neighbourhood, also the Public Hospital previously mentioned in Upper Fant Lane.

At the entrance to Week Street from the London, Chatham and Dover Railway Station stands Her Majesty's Prison and Sessions House, a prominent, commodious, well-built structure, the erection of which was commenced in 1811 and completed in 1818, costing nearly £200,000. It is now under Government control, and is capable of accommodating 500 males and females. The Assizes, County business and County Court are held at the Sessions house adjoining, which contains convenient offices for attorneys, councillors, jurymen, and witnesses, and also for the Clerk of the Peace for Kent.

Nearly opposite the Sessions House, at the commencement of Sandling Road, are the Barracks, a plain and compact set of buildings, roomy and convenient, occupied by Her Majesty's troops, and the permanent staff of the West Kent Militia, being also a military centre.

There are many Charitable Institutions connected with the town for the relief of poor people, a few of which we briefly mention, and the remaining will be found in the Local Intelligence of this work. Fisher's Charity amounts annually to about £296 three-fourths of which are to be appropriated to apprenticing boys born in the town. The masters must be resident in Maidstone, and not selling ale or beer. The remaining portion of the proceeds are to be applied in pensions to deserving widows dwelling in the town, and not being in receipt of parochial relief—the amount allotted to each not to be less than 5s. nor to exceed 7s. per week. The total rental amount of this charity amounts to £105, derived from 15a. 1r. 4p. of land, and £191 5s. 4d. as interest of £6,375 11s. 6d. in stock, arising from investment of proceeds of sale of land held by official trustees. Cutbush's Charity consists of six houses and a committee house, erected in Church Street, by T. R. Cutbush, Esq., in 1865, to be used and occupied as almshouses for decayed married tradesmen, who have lived and carried on business in the town for a period of not less than twenty years, or for married mechanics, who, for a like period, shall have lived in, and have been employed by the tradesmen, of the town. In addition to the above the same gentleman granted annuities of £26 per annum each to those who have resided in Maidstone twenty years and not been under parochial relief. Wright's Charity of £33 is distributed to thirty widows, each having one guinea at Christmas, the remaining portion comes under the head of endowment of clergy, lectures and sermons. In 1748, Twelve Almshouses were built in Mote Road, by E. Hunter, Esq., for twelve poor men and women, with an additional £15 per annum from the Dorrington Charity, to be expended in coals for the same. The John Brenchley Almshouses in King Street, were built in 1789, and are allotted to four decayed housekeepers of the town, with £12 each. In 1844, Mr. J. Brenchley gave the annual sum of £10 for the repair of these Almshouses; there is, also, in the same street, Duke's Almshouses, erected for reduced females, consisting of the rental from six houses and 27 acres of land, amounting to £151 3s. together with £30 17s. 8d. being the interest of £1,000 in stock and £30 in securities. Corrall's Almshouse Charity consists of six houses, in College Road, for three men and three women, with £15 per annum to each house, arising from a rental of £8 from an acre of land, and £99 interest on £3,300 Stock. From Gill's Charity sixteen householders receive one guinea each at Christmas. There are also Bread Charities received from land and funded property, and distributed in bread among the poor of the town. The Rowland Charity, which consisted of £4 yearly interest on £120, paid out of the poor rate, has been disallowed by the Poor Law Board. Beggars abound here as in other towns, but the police, Guardians, and the Mendicity Society keep a wholesale check upon them; the latter Society is one of the most useful of the many Charities of Maidstone.

The Educational wants of the rising generation are well cared for in Maidstone, the schools being numerous and well managed, of which the Grammar School (previously mentioned) stands pre-eminent. The Blue Coat Charity School, in Knight-riding Street, established in 1711, by the Rev. Dr. Woodward, then perpetual curate of Maidstone, is a useful institution devoted to the education of poor children of the Borough. the boys numbering about sixty, and the girls forty, are clothed as well as educated. Brunswick House School, in Buckland Road. Thornhill's Middle-class School The British School for Boys, Wheeler Street, and for Girls, Week Street; the All Saints' National Schools, College Road; St. Paul's in Fisher Street; St. Peter's and St. Michael and All Angels'. Fant Fields, and all other Schools of the town will be found mentioned elsewhere. There are Sunday Schools attached to nearly all the Churches and denominational Chapels of the town; there is also a School Board, consisting of a Chairman, Vice-Chairman, Clerk, and seven members.

The Municipal Parliament returns six members annually, who sit for three years, and who are eligible for re-election. Politics, being now much mixed up with the interest of the Borough, make the elections every November of an interesting and exciting nature.

The town is governed by a Mayor, six aldermen and 18 Common Councillors, and divided into four Wards.

The welfare of the town and safety of the populace are in the hands of a well-governed Police, consisting of one Superintendent, two Inspectors, four Sergeants, and twenty-three Constables.

The Town Hall, situated in Middle Row, High Street, is a plain but neat building, erected in 1764, where Petty Sessions are held every Tuesday and Saturday.

Nearly fronting the Town Hall is the entrance to the Market Buildings, which have lately been largely altered, the Corn Exchange being over them, a commodious and convenient building having a large Concert Hall attached, which is licensed for dramatic performances, the town not having a theatre. The Corn Market is held on Thursdays, and the General Market on Saturdays.

At the top of High Street is a noble and convenient Drinking Fountain, erected at the sole expense of the late Alexander Randall Esq., and opened in 1862.

The County Lunatic Asylum is situated on Barming Heath, nearly 2 miles from the town, on the Tonbridge Road, and nearly in the centre of the County. Its position is most commanding being located on the top of the limestone ridges so frequently met with in these parts. The elevation is about 250 ft. above the level of the Medway, and the beautiful and picturesque view along the vale of the river forms a pleasing object.

The Maidstone Union Workhouse is situated on Cox Heath, and comprises sixteen parishes.

The Cemetery, on the Sutton Road, comprises 20 acres of ground, and being within one mile of the Borough, forms an interesting resort for the townspeople. It is—as the last resting place of the dead should be—a charming garden, in which the brightest and pleasantest features are most prominent, and the unpleasant ones in the back ground; so pretty is it, so clean and well kept, indeed, that the young and old, the cheerful and the sorrowful, the grave and gay, will find pleasure in walking or loitering amid the pleasant natural pictures, choice examples of figurative landscape gardening, and illustrations of the successful exercise of the planter's art, every year there being a most magnificent flower bed, composed of nearly 7,000 plants, and each year the pattern being different. Visitors from all parts of the county come to see this beautiful bed in great numbers. Mr. Samuel Davis, the worthy Superintendent of the grounds (who resides at the Stone Lodge at the entrance of the Cemetery), has the satisfaction of knowing that the perfection to which he has brought the Cemetery Gardens to, is appreciated by the whole town and neighbourhood.

The Walks around Maidstone are pleasing and numerous, and the visitor will find splendid views of the town from almost any spot—east, west, north, or south—surrounding it, the elevation being so graduated that nearly every public building presents itself to the eye; for instance, standing in College Road we have a fine view of West Borough, the Grammar School, Tonbridge Road, &c., and continuing a little farther on to Tovil, the localities of the Fant are very distinct; from Barrack Station Road and Buckland Road can be seen the L. C. and D. Railway Station, the County Hall and its environs; from Boxley Road and its vicinity we have the view of the whole centre of the town; and from Loose Road the principal Churches, the asylum, the County Sessions Hall—and the public buildings are easily recognised—while the chalks hills in the back ground form a perfect panorama of natural scenery that will well repay the visitor.

Maidstone contains several large Breweries; there is also a Distillery. Amongst them may be mentioned the extensive premises of Messrs. Fremlin Brothers (Earl Street), which have been considerably extended lately; the Medway Brewery, the Stone Street Brewery, and the Works of Mr. Thos. Grant, in Hart Street; and the noted Breweries of Messrs. Leney & Son, Wateringbury, and R. Howard White & Co., Town Malling; also, ironworks, paper, oil mills, &c.—all of which employ a large number of hands.

In the open space at the end of Middle Row, in High Street, upon a stone pedestal, stands a 56-pounder Russian Gun, a trophy of the Crimean War, and presented to the town in 1858 by the Government of that day through Lord Panmure.

Maidstone contains several Lodges of Freemasons, which particulars are in our Local Intelligence; who meet at the Masonic Hall in Brewer Street.

Kent, being fitly designated the "Garden of England," Maidstone—from its situation in the centre of the County—becomes important as a trading and commercial town, and, although the nobility and gentry are not so numerous as other towns of similar size, its productive nature and its commercial trade and exports make it more free from real poor than many other towns of equal population.

It enjoys a brisk trade in exporting timber, flour, apples, nuts, fruit, and other commodities of the County—particularly hops, of which there are numerous plantations surrounding the town, affording employment to thousands of pickers during the hop-harvest.

The Mechanics and Literary Institute, formerly existing at the Corn Exchange, is now abolished, but there are several useful and well-stocked Libraries in existence in the Town, viz., the Free Public Library, at the Museum, Faith Street; the Library of St. Paul's Parochial Institute, in Perry Fields; All Saints' Parochial Library; SS. Michael's and All Angels, Fant Road; the Kent Law Library; the well-known Library of Mr. Frederick Bunyard; and the late addition of the Library and Reading Room, at Messrs. G. W. Nicholson & Co.'s Establishment in Bank Street, now the property of Mr. F. Ruck, Middle Row; also the excellent Library of Mr. J. Burgiss-Brown, Week Street.

The Cattle and Stock Markets are held on the second and fifth Tuesday in the month in Fair Meadow, a place fitly adapted for so busy and noisy a gathering.

There are Public Baths and Wash-houses, situated in Fair Meadow, erected in 1852 by the Town Council, on Corporation property, and adjoining the Medway. The Swimming Bath is nearly 50ft. long and 20ft. wide, and the Hot and Cold Baths are neatly and well fitted up, and the charges coming within the range of all classes of society, it ought to command the support of the whole community.

There are Races held on the Race Course, situated on the top of Detling Hill.

To conclude. Impossible as it is in a mere sketch to mention all things, the reader is requested to peruse the Local Intelligence contained in this work for all other information respecting the remaining Institutions and features of the town; and for those desiring further information about "Old Maidstone," we should recommend the "HISTORY OF MAIDSTONE, from the Earliest Period to the Present Time," by J. M. Russell, Esq., and published by Mr. W. S. Vivish, 28, King Street; and the various almanacs, guides, &c., published by Messrs. J. Burgiss-Brown, Graham, Hobbs and others.

Formerly for Six-and-half years with J. TOMES, Esq., F.R.S., of London.

And late Principal Assistant to Mr. A. E. ANDERSON, of this Town.

HAS much pleasure in informing his Patrons, and the general Public, that he has introduced into his Practice all the real improvements of the age; that he is a thoroughly Practical Mechanical Dentist; and his charges for Teeth will be found exceedingly moderate, owing to his manufacturing them himself, thereby ensuring an accurate fit and natural appearance.

No extraction of loose Teeth or stumps required. No Pain whatever in the fitting.

A Single Tooth from 0 5 0
 A Complete Upper or Lower Set ,, 2 2 0

Misfits by other Dentists re-modelled at Moderate Charges. Repairs attended to on the Shortest Notice. Complete satisfaction guaranteed in every case.

ATTENDANCE DAILY FROM TEN TILL SIX.
Afterwards by Appointment.

PAINLESS EXTRACTIONS BY AID OF THE NITROUS OXIDE GAS.

In order to prevent disappointment Mr. Hinton finds it necessary to state that his only address is opposite Mr. Witcombe, Stone Mason.

All Consultations Free.

Maidstone & Mid-Kent Trading Bank, LIMITED.

(39 & 40 Vict., Chap. 45).

42, EARL STREET, MAIDSTONE.

(Near the Conservative Club).

HOURS OF BUSINESS.

MONDAYS, TUESDAYS, & FRIDAYS, 10 to 4.

WEDNESDAYS, 10 to 3. THURSDAYS, 10 to 5.

SATURDAYS, 10 to 1.

THE BANK was registered under the above Act in order that its proprietary might be spread over as large a number of people as possible, and also, if practicable, that the whole of its Customers might become Shareholders. According to the terms of this Act no Shareholder shall subscribe or be liable for a larger sum than £200 in any institution registered under its title. From this it can readily be seen how much greater security there is to Depositors than in a Bank in which the shares are held by a few only. The shares are of the nominal value of £5 each, and are payable—2s. 6d. on application, 2s. 6d. on allotment, and the balance in calls of 2s. 6d. per share, of which two months' notice must be given. Shares may, however, be paid up to the extent of £2 10s. each to anticipate calls, a fixed interest of 5 per cent. per annum being allowed on all amounts so paid.

TERMS OF BUSINESS.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS are opened with Societies, Business Firms, and Private Individuals, and conducted on terms to suit Customers, either with or without Commission, Interest being allowed on the Minimum Half-Yearly Balance, providing it does not fall below £20.

DEPOSITS RECEIVED AND INTEREST ALLOWED AS FOLLOWS:—

Three per cent. at call, three-and-a-half per cent. 14 days' notice, four per cent. one month's notice, and for longer periods at rates which may be ascertained on application to the Manager.

Every Description of Banking Business transacted.

GAS, HOT & COLD WATER FITTERS, BELLHANGERS,
FUNERAL FURNISHERS & UNDERTAKERS, WATERINGBURY.

Monuments, Tombs, and Head Stones erected and lettered in first style.

HORTICULTURAL BUILDINGS. — The "Simplex" Patent System
 Glazing specially recommended for the following advantages:—

- 1.—No Putty used, or outside Painting required, as Glass and Lead only is exposed to the atmosphere.
- 2.—No noise or vibration from gales of wind.
- 3.—The work is water-tight and wind-tight.
- 4.—The usual expense of outside maintenance reduced to a minimum.
- 5.—The lead strips and the circular-edged glass makes the general appearance of the work, when finished, look very neat and uniform.

E. E. HIBLING,

Photographer & Artist,

125, WEEK ST., MAIDSTONE

(Near L. C. & D. Railway Station),

Begs to return thanks to his numerous Patrons for their very liberal support since he has been established in Maidstone, and to assure them that no pains or skill will be spared to still produce work of the very highest class, which his long and varied experience in some of the best Studios at home and abroad warrant. All work sent from this establishment is produced under his personal supervision.

All Portraits are now taken by the improved Rapid Process. Children by a specially quick or instantaneous method, thus securing (in skilled hands) a pleasing and graceful portrait.

Photographs of Groups or Animals by appointment, either at the Studio or at Private Residences, as required.

ENLARGEMENTS made either from Negatives taken from Life, or from Old Card or Glass Pictures, any size. The same may be had finished in Sepia, Black and White, Water, or Oil Colors, as desired. E. E. H. will be glad to advise when required as to the most suitable style. Enlargements made from 5s. each.

CARTES DE VISITE 5/- PER DOZEN.

Specimens of all Descriptions of Work from Miniature to Life Size on View at the Studio, 125, Week Street.

PICTURE FRAME MAKING AND RE - GILDING.

In consequence of the greatly increased trade in this branch, E. E. H. has taken the premises, 117, Week Street, (formerly occupied by Messrs. Plowright & Hall), where he has the largest and most varied stock of Mouldings to select from out of London. The patent washable gilt mouldings in all patterns and sizes. Picture Frames made on short notice at London prices. Re-gilding of Old Frames, Looking-Glasses, &c., done by skilled workmen. Estimates given. The Trade Supplied.

All orders to be sent to ADDINGTON.

A parish and pleasant village, 7 miles W. from Maidstone, three miles E. from Wrotham, and two miles W. from Malling station. It is situated amidst pleasing scenery in the Mid-division of the county, Malling Union, Lathe of Aylesford, Larkfield Hundred, County Court district of Maidstone, & Diocese of Canterbury. It derives its name from the river, or stream, upon which it stands (Eden), hence Edengton or Addington.

The Church, dedicated to St. Margaret, is an ancient stone edifice erected in 1493, having a chancel, nave, and tower with four bells. There is a mortuary chapel containing a fine marble monument to the Watton family, also several brasses, in excellent preservation, of the 14th century. The Church was thoroughly restored and improved in 1859, by the Hon. Mrs. W. Stratford. The date of register is 1562. The living is a rectory, held by the Rev. Julian Guy.

Here is a school supported by E. J. W. Stratford, Esq., who is lord of the manor and principal landowner.

Here are some curious Druidical stones, which formerly rested against each other in the shape of two circles, but which are now fallen down.

St. Vincent's, the seat of Lady Logan, is a neat, well-built mansion, situated in a pleasant and picturesque park.

Aldon is a hamlet partly in this parish and Ryarsh.

ALLINGTON.

A village and parish, $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Maidstone, situated on the south bank of the river Medway, in the Mid-division of the county, Lathe of Aylesford, Hundred of Larkfield, Union of Malling, County Court district of Maidstone, and Diocese of Canterbury.

The Church (St. Laurence) is a neat structure, having a chancel, nave, and tower. The date of register is 1635. The living, a rectory, is held by the Rev. Edward Browne Heawood, M.A.

Allington castle (now in ruins) was formerly the seat of Sir Thomas Wyatt, the poet. Here are several stone quarries.

The Earl of Romney is lord of the manor, who, with Henry Arthur Brassey, Esq., M.P., J.P., constitute the principal landowners.

The Medway Lower Navigation Company — Lock-keeper, A. E. Hulbert.

Letters arrive through Maidstone, which is the nearest money order & telegraph office. Maidstone is the post town.

AYLESFORD.

An ancient village and parish, with station on the North Kent Railway, three miles N.W. from Maidstone, six S.W. from Rochester, and $32\frac{1}{2}$ miles from London. It is pleasantly situated on the banks of the river Medway, over which is a stone bridge of six arches, the only one across that river between Maidstone and Rochester; it gives name to the Lathe of Aylesford, is in the Mid-division of the county, Union of Malling, Hundred of Larkfield, Maidstone County Court district, and Diocese of Rochester. The neighbourhood is noted for its fine sand bed, which singularly terminates here. Aylesford was formerly a town, and derives its name from the ford which then existed here. This place is celebrated for the battle fought between the Britons and the Saxons, in the year 455, when the former were victorious.

The Church, dedicated to St. Peter, is a noble Saxon edifice, dating from the year 1400, having a chancel, nave, north aisle, and tower with a clock and five bells, and was in 1878 thoroughly restored at the expense of H. A. Brassey, Esq., M.P., and in 1876 a considerable addition of land was made to the churchyard by Archbishop Grant, the late vicar, and Henry Arthur Brassey, Esq., M.P. The church contains several handsome monuments to the Colpeppers, Rycauts, and Sir John Banks, Bart., and in the churchyard is a very costly sculptured marble monument to the memory of two infant children of H. A. Brassey, Esq., M.P. The living is a vicarage, held by the Rev. Cyril Fletcher Grant, M.A.

Here is an alms hospital, which, under the will of John Sedley, Esq., provides for seven poor persons, each of whom receives 7s. weekly, the warden 9s., and the nurse 10s.

The mansion called The Friars (now the seat of the Dowager Countess of Aylesford) was formerly a Carmelite priory, founded in 1240 by a body of friars who were brought over from Holy Land by Lord Richard de Grey of Codnor, whose body was brought from Normandy and buried here, as are also other members of the family. This parish gives title to the Aylesford family.

Preston Hall, the residence of Henry Arthur Brassey, Esq., M.P., is a grand and imposing stone mansion, situated on the opposite side of the river, and commanding extensive views of the surrounding neighbourhood.

Aylesford is a favourite resort for the geologist, who among the stone quarries, stone pits, and chalk works can pursue his studies, and the stones bearing the name of "Kit's Coty House," where Catigern is supposed to be buried; also those at the foot of the hill, which once formed a cromlech, is of a very interesting character to the strangers who visit this part.

Here is a reading-room and library connected with the infant school building erected by E. L. Betts, Esq., and which is supported and allowed by H. A. Brassey, Esq., for the edification and amusement of the parishioners.

The hamlet of Eccles (formerly called Bull Lane) is a rapidly increasing neighbourhood, comprising five or six streets; at the time of compiling this work (1885) the vicar and his supporters are trying to obtain a new church in place of the small mission church now in use, and which is too inadequate for the increasing population. The Primitive Methodists have a place of worship here. The Wesleyan Chapel is a neat and commodious Gothic structure.

H. A. Brassey, Esq., is the lord of the manor; and, with the Earl of Aylesford, are the principal landowners.

BOXLEY.

A village and parish, about 2½ miles N.E. from Maidstone, and 8 S. from Rochester, situated on the slope of the chalk range in the Mid-division of the County, Lathe of Aylesford, Union of Hollingbourne, Maidstone Hundred and County Court district, and Diocese of Canterbury. There are charities here of £2 15s. yearly, which is distributed in fuel.

Penenden Heath, which is famous for its political and other county gatherings, is partly situated within this parish. Part of it is at the present time in cultivation, and the other part is enclosed for recreation, and to prevent gipsies from encamping there.

The Church, dedicated to the Blessed Virgin and All Saints, is an ancient stone edifice, with Galilee porch, nave, chancel, aisles, and tower with six bells. The register dates 1533. The living is a vicarage, held by the Rev. Frederic Jonathan Richards, M.A.

Here are some remains of an ancient abbey, which stands about three-quarters of a mile N.W., used formerly by some North Cistercian monks.

The Earl of Romney is lord of the manor, who, with the Earl of Aylesford, J. Whatman, Esq., Major Best, Esq., and E. L. Lushington, Esq., constitute the chief landowners.

The hamlet of Sandling is $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. from Maidstone, Weaving Street and Grove Green are 2 miles S. Vinters, a handsome mansion situated in an extensive park, and the residence of J. Whatman, F.R.C.S., J.P., is one mile from Maidstone.

Churchwarden—Charles Foster.

Overseers — Joseph Hamblett, Louis Jarrett.

Assistant Overseer—Chas. Fredk. Foster.

Parish Clerk—G. A. Mannering.

BROOMFIELD.

A village and parish in the Mid-division of the county, 6 miles
 S.E. from Maidstone. It is situated on the River Len, in the Hollingbourne Union, Lathe of Aylesford, Eyhorne Hundred,
 Maidstone County Court district, and Diocese of Canterbury.

The Church of St. Margaret is an ancient stone edifice in the Early English and perpendicular style of architecture, having a chancel, nave, and square tower, with two bells. The register dates from 1575. The living is a vicarage annexed with that of Leeds, and is held by the Rev.
 Adolphus P. Morris, M.A.

The School is at Leeds, and is used for the children of both parishes.

Leeds Castle, the residence of Mrs.
 Wykeham-Martin, is a handsome stone mansion, and, being erected at different periods, is in mixed style of architecture. A considerable portion of it is supposed to have been built by Edward I. about 1280, and other parts still earlier; one part is said to have been built by Henry VIII. It is situated in the centre of an extensive and beautiful park, surrounded by a moat, and supplied by a stream which rises at Lenham. Richard II. visited here, and Joan Navarre, second Queen of Henry IV., was imprisoned in this castle, accused of conspiracy against the life of her son-in-law, and, in 1440, Archbishop Chichel  presided here at the trial of the Duchess of Gloucester.

Mrs. Wykeham-Martin is lady of the manor.

Letters are delivered through Maidstone per foot post. Hollingbourne is the nearest money order and telegraph office. Post town, Maidstone.

HEADCORN.

A pretty village 10 miles from Ashford, 40 from London, and 9 from Maidstone, with a station on the South-Eastern Railway main line, in the mid-division of the county, Hollingbourne Union Rural Deanery of West Charing, County Court district and Archdeaconry of Maidstone, and Diocese of Canterbury.

The River Beult, a tributary of the Medway, flows through the parish.

The Church of St. Peter and St. Paul is a fine stone building, with chancel, nave, and south aisle, and a tower containing eight bells; the register dates from 1535. In the churchyard is an oak measuring 42 feet in circumference, and is considered one of the largest, oldest, and handsomest oaks in the country. The living is a vicarage in the gift of the Archbishop of Canterbury, and is held by the Rev. Henry Doyle Sewell, M.A., of Trinity College, Oxford.

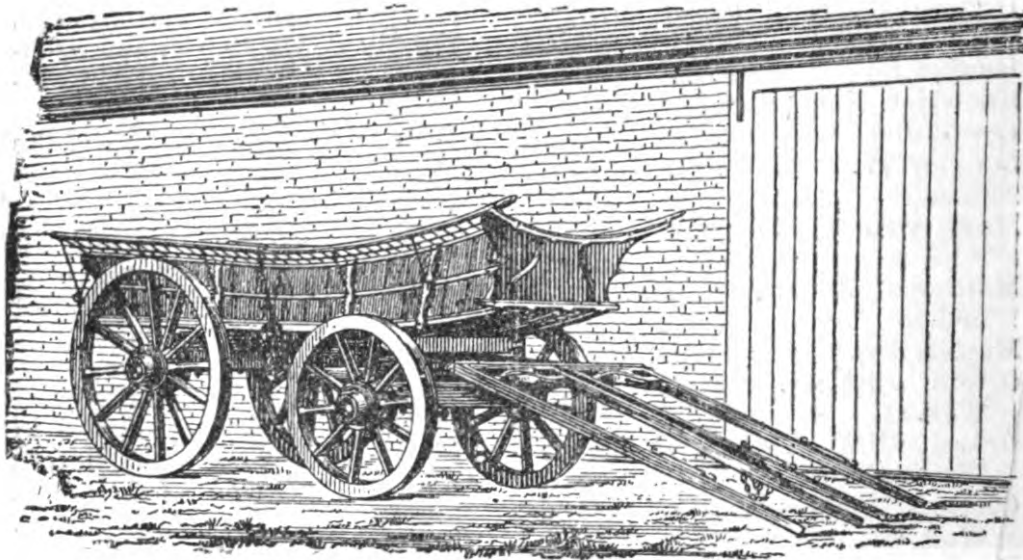

In the northern part of the parish was the Manor of Mottenden, Modenden, or Motynden, anciently belonging to the Rokesle family. Sir Richard de Rokesle founded a priory on this manor, in 1224, for friars of the Holy Trinity, or Trinitarians, which was the first house of this Order in England. The site is now occupied by a farmhouse. Here also John Kent founded a chantry which was called after the founder, Kent's Chantry. It was suppressed in the reign of Henry VIII., and the lands belonging to it granted to the Earl of Essex. Chantry Farm still preserves the recollection of this religious establishment.

The Baptists and Wesleyans have each a chapel here.

Hawkenbury and Tattlebury are hamlets in this parish.

Church of St. Peter and St. Paul—Vicar, the Rev. H. D. Sewell, M.A.

LEEDS.

A village and parish in the Mid-division of the county, five miles S.E. from Maidstone, and seven N. by W. from Headcorn Railway station, in the Lathe of Aylesford, Eyhorne Hundred, Hollingbourne Union, County Court district of Maidstone, and Diocese of Canterbury.

The Church, dedicated to St. Nicholas, is built of stone in the Early English and perpendicular style of architecture, with a massive Norman tower and an excellent peal of ten bells. It was thoroughly restored and improved in 1875, and contains several interesting monuments. The register dates from the year 1575. The living is a vicarage, with that of Broomfield annexed, held by the Rev. Adolphus Philipse Morris, M.A.

Here is an Independent Chapel and a National School, which is under the patronage of Mrs. Wykeham-Martin, who is the lady of the manor, and with Sir Edmund Filmer, Bart., constitute the chief landowners.

Leeds Castle, situated in a pleasant park, and surrounded by a large moat, is the seat of the lady of the manor. We have given a brief account of this Castle under Broomfield history; but it is further interesting to note that in June, 1879, the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh and suite paid a visit to Mrs. Wykeham-Martin at this Castle. The royal party paid considerable interest in the Old Castle and its history, inspecting every particular point connected with it—even the old clock, which was made in the year 1500, and is noted up to the present for keeping correct time; and a folio copy of the history of the Castle, written by Charles Wykeham-Martin, Esq., was presented to Her Imperial Highness by Mrs. Wykeham-Martin, and received with great pleasure.

LEYBOURNE.

A village and parish in the Mid-division of the county, six miles N.W. from Maidstone and one mile from Malling, in the Larkfield Hundred, Lathe of Aylesford, Union of Malling, County Court district of Maidstone and Diocese of Canterbury. Its situation is pleasant, and the scenery around is very picturesque. A castle was built here by William the Conqueror, and was lastly inhabited by King John; a small portion of the ruins is now left standing.

The Church, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, is a neat, compact edifice, built in the Norman style, having a north aisle, nave, chancel, and small tower. It was internally renovated in 1874. The date of register is 1612. The living is a rectory, and held by the Rev. Charles Cusack Hawley, M.A. Here are two schools, one endowed and the other a National.

Sir Henry Hawley, Bart., J.P., is lord of the manor and chief landowner, and resides at the Grange, a noble mansion situated about half-a-mile N. of the Church, and in the centre of an extensive and well-wooded park. Little Comp is a small hamlet of Leybourne, and about two miles W. from Malling.

LINTON.

A pretty village and parish 4 miles S. from Maidstone and 5 from Staplehurst, pleasantly situated on an eminence on the high road from Maidstone to Cranbrook, in the mid-division of the county, lathe of Aylesford, Union, Hundred, and County Court district of Maidstone, and Diocese of Canterbury.

The Church, dedicated to St. Nicholas, dates from the year 1570, and was an ancient Norman edifice, to which, during the reign of Edward III., a private chapel and south aisle were added, and, in 1859-60, the church was completely renovated and enlarged at the sole expense of the Lady Elizabeth and the late Louisa Cornwallis, who then resided at Linton park. The new building is well constructed—built of Kentish rag stone—in the Decorated and Perpendicular style of architecture, having a chancel, nave, north and south aisles, and north and south chapels, which are separated from the chancel by an elaborate screen of carved oak, and a noble tower with a peal of 6 bells, and a stone spire. The interior decorations are principally of carved oak. The chapel contains some very handsome monuments—one to the memory of Viscount Brome, son of the late Earl, a recumbent figure of white marble executed by Bayley. The living is a vicarage held by the Rev. Thomas Garden Carter, M.A., Hon. Canon of Canterbury and Rural Dean of Sutton.

There is also a Mission Church at Cox Heath, built in the Union Grounds, a pretty and substantial edifice, built of rag stone by public subscription through the exertions of the late Rev. — Taylor.

Here is a National School, and almshouses for 8 poor persons resident of the parish.

Linton Park is a fine noble mansion, situated most pleasantly, and surrounded by a well-wooded inclosure of 500 acres, commanding extensive views of the Weald of Kent.

The Maidstone Union Workhouse is situated in this parish.

Loddington is a hamlet of this place, but now added to Maidstone.

MALLING (EAST).

A large straggling village & parish, about 5 miles W. from Maidstone, 2 miles E. from Town Malling, and 30 from London. It is situated to the left of the high road from Maidstone to London, in the mid-division of the county, Lathe of Aylesford, Larkfield Hundred, Malling Union, Diocese of Canterbury, and County Court district of Maidstone. Within the parish is the West Malling Railway Station, being nearly midway between the two parishes. The staple trade is making, having two mills which employ a considerable number of hands. Brick-making is also carried on to a great extent.

The Church (St. James) is an ancient stone edifice of the perpendicular style of architecture, having a chancel, nave, aisles, and square tower with a peal of 6 bells. It was completely restored and improved in 1871. Date of register, 1640. The living is a vicarage, with the chapelry of New Hithe annexed, held by the Rev. Septimus Wigan, M.A.

There is a National School, erected by public subscription at a cost of £1,200; also Holmes' Foundation Trust.

Here are almshouses, erected by Miss Smith, for 5 poor women of the parish.

Miss Twisden, who resides at Bradbourne House, is the lady of the manor. The Rev. S. Wigan, Thomas Twisden, Esq., and — Mercer, Esq., are the principal landowners.

Larkfield, which is a considerable hamlet of this parish, lies 1 mile N. of the church, on the high road from Maidstone to London.

New Hythe lies 2 miles N., Lunsford 2 miles N. by N.W., Mill Street $\frac{1}{2}$ mile N.W., and Broadwake $\frac{1}{2}$ S.W.

MALLING WEST.

West or Town Malling is a remarkably clean, healthy and improving little town and parish in the Mid-division of the County, $5\frac{1}{4}$ miles W. from Maidstone, 8 miles from Strood, 8 from Tonbridge, 12 from Sevenoaks and 29 from London, having a station on the London, Chatham and Dover Railway; it is in the Hundred of Larkfield, Lathe of Aylesbury, Maidstone County Court district, and Diocese of Canterbury

The Union comprises 22 parishes. the workhouse being situated about one mile south of the town

The district abounds with pleasant walks and beautiful scenery, and the town is lighted with gas and well supplied with water

The Church is an ancient stone edifice, the register dating from the 17th century; it is dedicated to St. Mary, and is built in the Norman and early English style of architecture, having a nave, chancel, a lofty spire and six bells. In the chancel is a richly ornamental monument of alabaster, in memory of Sir Robert Brett and his lady, who died in the year 1620. There are also some neat tablets

A very handsome organ has recently been placed in the church in memory of Edward Thomas Luck, Esq. the joint gift of his widow, Mrs. Luck, of Went House, and his son, Everard T. Luck, Esq. of the Hermitage West Malling

The living is a vicarage, held by the Rev. John Henry Timins, M.A.

There are various charities distributed in bread and clothing, and other gifts of a benevolent and educational purpose

Here is a private lunatic asylum, situated in a beautiful secluded valley.

The old Abbey is at the east end of the town, about $\frac{1}{4}$ mile south of the church is a remarkable historical monument known as St. Leonard's tower, and for those of our readers who take interest in the abbey and this tower, we cannot do better than refer them to the elaborate description given in Mr. Chamberlain's Malling Almanack

The Mid-division of the County Constabulary have their headquarters here, and petty sessions are held monthly

The Board of Guardians meet every Wednesday

St. Leonard's street is $\frac{1}{2}$ mile south, East Malling Woods, Mereworth Woods, and Great Comp Woods, lie to the south of the Mallings and woods and heath extend for seven miles, by two to three miles wide

There is excellent accommodation here for cyclists, notably the George Hotel, in high street, where every comfort can be obtained at very reasonable rates, the proprietor being a cyclist. We must not omit to mention the town Malling Brewery (B. Howard White & Co.) in Swan st. this firm brew with fresh spring water, and use hops of their own growing, in consequence it is not surprising that their ales should be in such great demand

West Malling Union Workhouse comprises twenty-two parishes, the Workhouse being situate about a mile south of the town

The Board of Guardians meet every Wednesday, at 11 a.m. from November to May, and every alternate Wednesday from May to November—Chairman, E. Wood Esq.; clerk, H. D. Wildes, Esq.; surgeon, P. M. Pope, Esq.; chaplain, Rev. H*

tower with 6 bells. A new organ has been placed in the church.
There are ancient monuments to Simons, Monckton, Andrews, and Maplesden Faunbes. The church contains a curious font of carved oak bearing date 1562.
The register dates from 1559.
The living is a vicarage yearly value about £800, with residence in the gift of the Archbishop of Canterbury, and held by the Rev.
Thomas Arnold Carr, M.A., Brasenose College, Oxford. In the churchyard are the old parish Stocks, presented by E.
Hussey, Esq., 1882.

MEREWORTH.

A small but pretty village and parish, in the Mid-division of the county, Malling Union, Diocese of Canterbury, Lathe of Aylesford, and Maidstone County Court district; $6\frac{3}{4}$ miles from Maidstone on the high road to, and $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Tonbridge, and $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Wateringbury Station, S.E.R.

Here is a castle, the seat of Viscount Falmouth, a handsome stone mansion, surrounded by an extensive park with an ornamental lake. Improvements are now being made, in making a new and beautiful entrance from the main road.

The Church, dedicated to St. Lawrence, and dating from the year 1560, is a noble stone edifice, built in the Italian style of architecture, with a portico of the Corinthian order, supported with six stone pillars. It has a square tower, embellished with ornaments, containing a clock with four dials and a peal of six bells, and a balcony with lofty spire, commanding a beautiful view from the surrounding country. The east window is of stained glass, being a memorial from the parishioners to the late rector. The church contains an organ presented by Viscount Falmouth in 1853. The churchyard is clean, neat, and well kept, containing some handsome monuments. The living is a Rectory, held by the Rev. Eliot Henry Stapleton, M.A.

Here is a Primitive Methodist Chapel, and a Board School, with house attached.

The Viscountess Falmouth is lady of the manor, and the principal landowners are Viscount Falmouth and Viscount Torrington. Churchwardens — Viscount Falmouth and John Fremlin

RAINHAM.

A large and improving village and parish, with station on the L. C. & D. Railway, eight miles N.E. from Maidstone, four E. from Rochester, and six W. from Sittingbourne, situated on the high road from Chatham to Sittingbourne in the Eastern division of the county, Union and Hundred of Milton, Lathe of Scray, and County Court District of Sittingbourne. The higher ground is chalk in downs, perpendicular to the coast, to the south of which are woods. Bricks are made here; and a considerable quantity of wheat, cherries and hops are grown in the district.

The Church (dedicated to St. Margaret) is a handsome stone edifice, with conspicuous tower, clock, and a peal of six bells, and contains two handsome marble monuments, one to the Hon. Geo. Tufton, sixth son of the Right Hon. John Earl of Thanet, who died 12th Dec., 1670; the other to the Right Hon. Nicholas Tufton, Earl of Thanet, who was singularly eminent for his loyalty to King Charles II., and who suffered $3\frac{1}{2}$ years' imprisonment for such; he died 1679, aged 49 years. There are also several brasses and tablets, one which bears date 1409; the crypt contains the remains of eleven Earls, and seven Countesses of the family of the Earl of Thanet, and there are two stained glass windows in the church, one to the Patron Saint Margaret; date of register 1592. The living is a Vicarage, held by the Rev. Chas. Cobb, M.A. In the churchyard is a fine old yew tree, but which in the summer months is nearly hid from view, by the more modern chestnut trees surrounding it.

The National Schools erected in 1846, with schoolhouse attached, are well built, commodious and convenient; there is a Congregational Church, a Wesleyan and Baptist Chapel, also a Free Church.

There are Charities for distribution amounting to £30 yearly.

Lord Hothfield is lord of the manor, who with the Governors of St. Katherine's Hospital, the Earl of Aylesford, and J. W. Stratford, Esq., constitute the principal landowners.

Lower Rainham and Rainham Key, are one mile N.; Moore Street is $\frac{1}{2}$ mile E.; Cossington and Mackland are $\frac{1}{2}$ mile N.; and Motley Hill two miles N.E. from the church.

RYARSH.

A village and parish situated seven miles N.W. from Maidstone, one from Birling, and one mile N.W. from Malling in the Mid-division of the county; Malling Union, Larkfield Hundred, Diocese of Canterbury, and County Court district of Maidstone. The surrounding country is picturesque and pleasant, and is well watered by numerous feeders of the Melway. The Church, dedicated to St. Martin, and bearing date 1558, is about $\frac{1}{2}$ mile South from the village, it is a building of the past ages, partly in the Norman style, having tower and three bells. It is in contemplation to build an organ chamber and vestry on the north aisle of the chancel, and also to have a new organ, the total cost will be about £450. Subscriptions to the amount of £260 have already been promised, and it is hoped that the balance will be quickly and cheerfully given, so as to enable the work to be proceeded with. In the church is a brass tablet—"In memory of Thomas White, Esq., of Congelow, Yalding, and of Calais Court in this parish, also 53, Portland Place, London; who died Sept. 9th, 1883. This tablet was erected by faithful friends in Kent." The living is a Vicarage held by the Rev. Edward Roger Manwaring White, M.A.

There is a National School conducted on a preparatory system, the boys not being allowed to remain after attaining the age of eight, but the girls are allowed to remain.

Alden is a hamlet partly in this parish, and partly in Addington.

Here is a Baptist Chapel seating about 200.

Capt. R. Howard White, who is owner and resident of Calais Court, is one of the largest land owners.

Churchwardens and Overseers: Capt. R. Howard White and Frederic Capon

Guardian: Rev. E. R. Manwaring White, M.A.

Parish Clerk: Richd. Down

National School (mixed): Mrs. Allchin, mistress

Post Office: James Stichman, receiver

Letters arrive through Maidstone, and are delivered at 7.55 a.m., Sundays same. Despatched at 5.25 p.m., Sundays, 10.40 a.m. West Malling is the nearest money order and telegraph office. Post town, Maidstone.

SNODLAND.

An important village and parish, lighted with gas, well supplied with water, and having a station on the North Kent railway, $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Maidstone by rail and $7\frac{1}{2}$ by road, $3\frac{1}{2}$ from West Malling, and 7 S.W. from Rochester. It is situated on the banks of the Medway, in the Lathe of Aylesford, Malling Union, Larkfield Hundred, Maidstone County Court district, and Diocese of Rochester.

Here is a large paper mill, formerly a gun mill in the time of Henry VIII., and which employs a considerable number of hands. There are also extensive lime works in the neighbourhood. It is in contemplation to open a communication across the Medway in this district by a bridge over the river, and the Bridge Wardens of Rochester have granted £12,000 conditionally for this purpose.

The Church, dedicated to All Saints, is an ancient and commodious building in the Gothic style, with lofty square tower, containing a clock and 5 bells. There are 12 stained glass windows: the eastern window, being principally the gift of the late rector (the Rev. H. D. Phelps), contains portraits of those celebrated martyrs, Cranmer, Latimer and Ridley, and Annas Kew. The living is a rectory, held by the Rev. John Geo. Bingley, M.A. There is also an Iron Mission Church in Holborough Road.

There is a well-built National School in connection with the church, which is supported by voluntary contributions and an endowment of about £30 per annum.

The British School in the Holborough Road is a large and commodious building, erected by the late Mr. Chas. Townsend Hooke, and a handsome tower of red and white brick, with a clock having 3 dials, is now added by Mrs. Townsend in loving memory of her son.

St. John's (New Jerusalem) Church is in the High Street, and a neat and compact building. Minister, Rev. J. Woodford.

The Providence Chapel (Congregational) is in the Holborough Road, and the Primitive Methodists and the Swedenborgians have each their separate place of worship.

The Snodland and Halling Working Men's Club and Institute, situated in the Holborough Road, is a large and convenient building with an assembly room which is much used for lectures and concerts, being lighted with gas.

A Temperance Coffee and Reading Room has lately been opened in May Street.

Holborough Court, the seat of Major Roberts, J.P., is a large handsome mansion, lately erected, from the designs of Mr. Hubert Bensted, architect, of Maidstone, and occupies the site near the old house of the same name, now pulled down. The building is of red brick, in the Queen Anne style, with a tower. It contains on the ground floor an entrance hall, approached by a stately porch and vestibule, 25 feet square, dining room, drawing and morning rooms, with a conservatory en suite, library, billiard and smoking room, the kitchen, servants' hall, etc., forming a wing. Over the grand staircase, which together with the hall panelling is of wainscot oak, is an open roof, the landing forming a gallery round the well of the staircase. There are 20 rooms on the first floor, 13 on the second floor (principally for servants), and 2 rooms in the tower. The stables adjoining contain stabling for 9 horses, with coach house, harness rooms, &c., and a glass-covered yard.

STAPLEHURST.

42 miles from London, 9 S. from Maidstone, and 5 N. from Cranbrook, in the mid-Kent division, Union and County Court district of Maidstone, Archdeaconry of Maidstone, and Diocese of Canterbury. It is an important station on the South Eastern railway, and the centre of an extensive postal district, pleasantly situated on a ridge of high land, and enjoying a delightfully pure air.

The Church, dedicated to All Saints, is of ancient date, and consists of chancel, nave, south aisle, and a square tower containing 5 bells. On the south side is an interesting old door, with an elaborate specimen of mediæval iron work. The building has recently undergone considerable renovation: there has lately been new bells added to the church by public subscription, costing about £500. The register dates from 1533; the registers of most parishes were re-copied at the accession of Queen Elizabeth, in order that all remains of popery in her sister's reign might be obliterated. In this parish the originals as well as the copies are preserved. The living is a rectory in the gift of St. John's College, Cambridge, and held by the Rev. Geo. Fearn's Reyner, D.D., of that College.

The School Board have erected a fine stone building in the Early English style.

Here are Congregational & Baptist chapels.

All Saints Church: Rector, the Rev. G. F. Reyner, D.D.; curate, the Rev. J. C. McGill, M.A.; parish clerk, Thomas Bewley; churchwardens, John Nunn and William Wickens.

Board School: master, W. Oliver; mistress, Mrs. T. Reeves.

Congregational Church: minister, the Rev. Thomas Thatcher.

Calvinistic Chapel: minister, Isaac Lewis.

Post, Money Order, Telegraph, Savings Bank, and Government Annuity: William Taylor, postmaster. Deliveries at 7 and 11 a.m. and 5.30 p.m., Sunday 7; despatched at 9.43 a.m., 12.55 p.m., and 10.15 p.m., Sunday 10.15. Wall Letter Box, South Eastern Hotel, cleared 9.20 and 8 p.m., Sunday 2.0.

Carriers: T. Miles, Cranbrook to Station, nearly all trains; Williams, from Cranbrook to Maidstone, daily; Sisley, to Maidstone, Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays; W. Southon, to Maidstone, daily; by Boughton, Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays; G. SUTTON VALENCE

OR TOWN SUTTON

Is a large village and parish, 6 miles S.E. from Maidstone, 5 N.E. from Staplehurst, and 42 from London, in the Western division of the County, late of Aylesford, Eyhorne Hundred, Hollingbourne Union, County Court district of Maidstone, and Diocese of Canterbury

It commands an extensive view of the Weald of Kent, and is lighted with gas and well supplied with water

The Church, dedicated to St. Mary and dating from the year 1577, was rebuilt in 1828, and repaired and improved in 1874. It is a neat stone edifice, with chancel, and large square tower

The living is a vicarage, conjointly with that of East Sutton, and held by the Rev. David Harding

Here is a Grammar School, founded in 1576, by William Lambe, Esq., who constituted the Cloth Workers Company of London governors. The buildings have within the last nineteen years been entirely rebuilt, and enlarged. The foundation admits, at a cost of £6 per annum, twenty-four boys, sons of inhabitants of Sutton Valence, East Sutton, Chart Sutton, Leeds, Langley, or Lenham; and to these boys are open six scholarships of £6 per annum. Privileges as regards payments are also reserved for twelve boarders, who must be sons of members, of the governing body. Six clergymen's sons have the same privilege as regards payment, accorded by the head master. Sir E. Filmer Bart. M.P. of East Sutton Park, has founded a scholarship of twenty-five pounds, tenable by boarders in the school. An Exhibition every year to Oxford, Cambridge, or London University of £60 per annum for three years, with £10 on taking a degree, and £20 additional if in Honour List. An Exhibition every year to same Universities or elsewhere, of £30 for three years, under the same conditions. The "Robins" Exhibition to St. John's College, Cambridge, of £20 for four years are competed for by examination every year, and are open to all boys over seventeen years of age who have been three years in the school. The head master also gives six scholarships of £12 per annum, to sons of clergymen. The school is examined under the authority of the Oxford and Cambridge Board. TOVIL.

A hamlet and parish situated on the banks of the Medway, about one mile S. from (and forming a pleasant suburb to) Maidstone, having a neat substantial iron bridge for foot passengers, erected in 1872, thus connecting the village with the Borough, and also facilitating the journeys of the numerous artizans employed in the vicinity.

The Church (St. Stephen's) is a neat stone edifice, with tower clock and steeple, erected in 1840 and consecrated in 1841, costing over £3,000, and further improved and renovated in 1876-7, having a new organ and chamber attached, the cost of which, with the renovation, was upwards of £800. The living is a Vicarage held by the Rev. Abraham Sedgwick, who resides at the Vicarage House adjoining.

The School for boys and girls of the parish is situated opposite the church, having a house attached for the master and mistress.

Here is an extensive Oil mill and several large Paper mills; one, being worked by a limited liability company, manufactures paper from straw—each firm employing a considerable number of hands.

The Ecclesiastical district was formed in 1839 from the mother parishes of Maidstone, East Farleigh and Loose.

YALDING.

An extensive parish, extending over 6 miles, and nearly 4 miles wide, including the hamlet of Collier Street, Laddingford, and several other intermediate places. It is 7 miles S.W. from Maidstone, 8 N.E. from Tonbridge, and 49 from London, having a station on the branch line of the S.E.R., from Paddock Wood to Maidstone. It is situated in the mid-division of the county, Lathe of Aylesford, Twyford Hundred, Union and County Court district of Maidstone, and Diocese of Canterbury, being located at the confluence of the Beult and Teise, with the Med-

- way, from which it is inundated to a great extent in the wet seasons.
- The Church, dedicated to SS. Peter and Paul, and dating from the year 1558, is an ancient stone structure, with square tower, and a fine peal of 6 bells, and there are several excellent monuments to the memory of the Warde and Akers families. The living is a vicarage, held by the Rev. David Lamplugh, M.A.
- Here is a Free Grammar School, founded and endowed in the year 1665, by Alderman Wm. Cleave, Esq., of the City of London (late of this village), as an offering of thankfulness for his preservation from the Great Plague.
- Here is also a National School, a handsome brick building, erected in 1857, in the Elizabethian style of architecture.
- The Baptists have a chapel here, and also the Primitive Methodists.
- The poor have £50 yearly in kind, and there are 6 almshouses erected by the Misses A. & C. Simmonds, formerly of Mill Place in this parish, for the use of 6 poor women of Yalding.
- The executors of Major Cook are the lords of the manor, and Lady Frances Fletcher and J. R. Mills, Esq., are the chief land-owners.
- Yalding was formerly a market town, and is one of the most extensive hop districts in Kent.
- Collier Street is about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.E., and 2 miles from Marden Railway Station. It was formed into a separate Ecclesiastical district in 1858.
- The Church of St. Margaret's is a modern stone structure, with tower and spire. The living is a vicarage, held by the Rev. F. F. Starbuck, M.A.
- The National School is used by the children of Yalding and Marden.
- Laddingford and Woodfall are about 2 miles S., Benover and Congelow 1 mile S.E., Haviker Street 2 miles S.E., and Gafford's Bridge 5 miles S.E., all being hamlets in the parish of Yalding.
- A Village Club has been established here, having a smoking and reading rooms, &c.
- There is also a Parish Library and a Penny Bank.
- Churchwardens: A. Norton and Thos. Jenner.
- Guardians: Robt. Norton and Jas. Hartridge.
- Overseers: John Hodge & Alfred T. Overy.
- Assistant Overseer, Relieving and Vaccination Officer, and Rate Collector: Rich. Treasure.
- Collector of Poor Rates: Edward Hartnup.
- Collector of Taxes: Thos. Randall.
- Registrar of Births and Deaths: John White.
- District Surveyor: Ed. P. Hooley.
- Organist (SS. Peter and Paul): Miss Davidson.

BEARSTED HOUSE ASYLUM,

For the Training & Education of Weak Minded & Epileptic Boys.

Superintendent and Proprietor ... Mr. G. T. A'VARD.

(Late Head Master of the Earlswood Asylum).

The following are Extracts from a letter written by a doctor to the Editor of the "Lancet."

SIR,—Mr. G. E., who is anxious to hear of an Institution where a lad subject to Epilepsy will be well cared for, will be glad to hear of Bearsted House Asylum, a better place for weak minded boys there cannot possibly be, the house is commodious, the grounds are extensive, the management is characterised by great liberality and kindness, the terms are moderate. A personal visit has convinced me that many parents with afflicted children would be rejoiced to hear of such a home for them.

New Thornton Heath.

June 23rd, 1885.

I am, Sir,

Yours faithfully,

T. J.

See "Lancet" June 27th, 1885.
