E. BANCE, Hon. Sec.

THE ORIGINAL SOCIETY.

ESTABLSHED 1840.

THE GUARANTEE SOCIETY,

19, BIRCHIN LANE, CORNHILL, LONDON, E.C.

Empowered by Special Act of Parliament, 5 Victoria—Session 1842.

SURETISHIP UNDERTAKEN FOR THE FIDELITY OF PERSONS IN SITUATIONS OF TRUST, ON THE YEARLY PAYMENT OF A SMALL SUM AT A STIPULATED RATE PER CENTUM.

Capital £100,000, fully paid up and invested, as well as a large reserve fund.

This Society was the first Public Company established in Great Britain to obviate the inconvenience and defects of Suretiship by private Bondsmen.

"The Society, by Special Act of Parliament, is expressly authorised to give security for persons appointed to any Office or Employment or Commission—Civil or Military—in any Public Department, or to any Office or Employment of Public Trust under the Crown."

PERSONS OF THE HIGHEST CHARACTER and qualifications frequently decline valuable appointments, either from an unwillingness to place themselves and their friends under so serious an obligation, or the great difficulty of obtaining satisfactory Sureties; but the institution of this Society removes the difficulties.

THE GUARANTEE SOCIETY undertakes, for a small yearly premium, to make good to the employer ANY LOSS BY THE FRAUD OR DISHONESTY of the person employed, according to the amount specified in the bond, and therefore obviates the necessity for Private Sureties, as well as the evils arising therefrom, which often prove as prejudicial to the real interests of the Employer as to the person finding the guarantee of Private Friends.

EMPLOYERS, by the existence of the Society, are assured of the continued solvency of the Surety for the person employed, and the security thus becomes a permanent one.

FRIENDS AND RELATIVES are relieved of the fear of those pecuniary losses to which person are exposed who become responsible for the acts of others.

FORMS OF PROPOSAL AND ALL NECESSARY INFORMATION CAN BE HAD OF THE SECRETARY AND AGENTS.

Rates according to the nature of the employment on the amount of Security required.

Security granted on behalf of Receivers and Official Liquidators, under the Court of Chancery, and the New Bankruptcy Bill, on advantageous terms.

Bankers—THE BANK OF ENGLAND. Secretary—AUGUSTUS MUZIO, ESQ.

ADDRESS.

IN introducing an edition of a cheap and portable Directory of Southampton, including Romsey, Netley (Hound), Netley (Totton), Bitterne, Sholing, Bishopstoke, Eastleigh, Woolston, Shirley, Freemantle, Millbrook, Redbridge, and all villages within seven miles of Southampton, the publisher trusts that it will merit the kind and generous support which has been so liberally accorded by the Trading Commercial, and Professional Classes of the District' and at the same time assures his readers that only those who have been engaged in compiling works of this kind can form an idea of the difficulties which are found in producing a thorough complete and correct list up to the time of publication.

My desire has been to make the work a thorough reflex of all that appertains io the various Trading, Commercial, and Professional interests in the several places represented, and, with that view, no expense has been spared to make the Directory as accurate as possible. I regret that names and occupations have been in some instances refused; and this must be the apology of the Publisher for any absent on the list; but, should any errors be found, I shall be thankful to have them pointed out, that they may be correeted in future editions, which I intend publishing every three years.

The Publisher has the pleasing duty to tender his best thanks to those who have favoured him with Advertisements; to the several hundreds who have entered their names as Subscribers to the Work; and last, but not least, to those many friends who have supplied information and corrected lists for the publication, which I hope may prove satisfactory to its readers, and be found a credit to

SOUTHAMPTON

BEAUTIFULLY SITUATED on a fine inlet of the sea, called Trisanton Bay or Southampton Water, and locally in the Southern Division of the County of Hants, stands the important Sea Port, Borough, and Market Town of Southampton, 75 miles S.S. by W. (by road), and 78¾ by London and South Western Railway, from London, 18 from Portsmouth by road and 26 by rail, 12½ S. by W. of Winchester, 8 from Romsey, and 13 from Cowes (I.W.), to which there is constant communication by steam boats daily.

Southampton is a county of itself, under the designation of "The Town and County of the Town of Southampton," having six incorporated parishes, viz., All Saints, Holyrood, St. John's and St. Lawrence's (united), St. Mary's, St. Michael's, and one tithe (Portswood), all in the Rural Deanery of Southampton, and Archdeaconry and Diocese of Winchester.

The town is ancient, but greatly modernised; and the advance it has made during the last 30 years may be gathered from the increase of its inhabitants, having in that period nearly doubled its population—the census in 1851 being 35,303; 1861, 49,960; 1871, 53,741; and in 1881 it was 62,235; so that at the present time (1884) we may safely say the population, Parliamentary and Municipal, is nearly 70,000.

Southampton is the most important packet station in England. Steamers leave here for all parts of the world, carrying mails and passengers. The bay is navigable almost to the head by vessels of considerable burden, and the two principal rivers that flow into it, viz., the Itchen, and the Test or Tese, admit small craft some way up the country. The town is situated between these two rivers.

Southampton, in a historical point of view, is possessed of important interest, not only on account of the numerous incidents of national welfare, but for the many points of internal peculiarity characteristic of the town and its inhabitants. It is not our purpose in this work to attempt a complete history of the town, as the present volume is intended more for a directory of its inhabitants than as a history, but we shall give a brief outline of the past, and a short account of the more modern improvements and various points of interest connected therewith, so as to make STEVENS'S DIRECTORY a valuable book of reference for all matters connected with the official life of the borough.

The source from which Southampton derives its name has been variously drawn. By some it is shown how probable it is that the town rose early in the English settlement, that here the conquerors formed their first "Ham Tun," taken from the Saxon words, "Ham," a house, and "Tun," a town, thus giving its name to the districts round, when it became necessary to distinguish it from other West Saxon principalities; and although eminent writers differ from the above, we are inclined to think the definition is a correct one, and that in the tenth century the town became known as South-hamtun, the prefix being added to distinguish it from other localities similarly named, and especially from the Ham-tun in Mercia (Northampton) after the annexation of the kingdom to Wessex in 920; and that the change of the shire name followed that of the town, though in each case the original appellation continued to be the one most frequently used. The town did not originally stand where it now does, but in the immediate neighbourhood of St. Mary's Church, some quarter of a mile or more to the north-east of the walled town, whence it stretched away to the river side.

No earlier mention of the town occurs than under date 837, when a large force of Danes landed at Hampton from 35 ships, but were repulsed with great slaughter by the shire ruler, the Ealdorman Wulfheard.

At the time of Domesday, while the majority of the cities and towns of England had fallen into grievous decay since the coming of the Normans, Southampton and the few ports leading to the Continent alone showed signs of prosperity.

The Romans founded a military station here, viz., Clausentum, the remains of which are still to be seen at Bitterne, about 1½ miles from the town, and where numerous ancient coins have been discovered at different times.

At what time and under what circumstances the Saxons took possession of the town is not recorded, but the first authentic memorials we have, which belong to the 9th century, speak of "Old Hampton" as a long-established and important town.

The Christian religion appears to have gained a firm footing here during the time of the Saxons; the prosperous monastery at Redbridge, and the then existing works of Christian worship and institutions, point to this fact. The desolating attacks of the Danes during the 9th and 10th centuries, in which religious institutions for a long time met with no exemption from their ravag s, followed by the Norman invasion of the 11th century, and the disorder and warlike spirit engendered on the part of the inhabitants, caused the entire destruction of many religious houses, the general neglect of the churches and even their services, until regular priests could not be found to perform them, and married clerks were compelled to officiate—a trial from which Southampton did not revive until the 12th century.

Few places suffered from the descent of the Danes to a greater extent than Southampton. In 838, under Ethelwolf, the town was assaulted by a fleet of 33 galleys. The Danes, having effected a landing, were committing fearful ravages, until the governor of the country, Wolphard, having hastily collected some forces, marched to the assistance of the town, and, after a sanguinary conflict, drove the assailants to their ships. In 860, during the reign of Ethelbert, these marauders provided a larger force, and again landing at Southampton and extending their operations, attacked and overcame Winchester. Having committed great barbarities, they were carrying their plunder to their ships, when the Earl of Southampton, Osric, with Ethelwulph, Earl of Berkshire, attacked them on the road and completely defeated them.

The reign of Ethelred, whose deplorable want of courage, energy, and wisdom, opened the way for new invasions, which continued more or less till the beginning of the 11th century, when the town began to recover from its severe losses. King Canute, after having appointed certain dukes and earls as lieutenant-governors of the other provinces, reserved the kingdom of Wessex for his own immediate supervision. Winchester was then the capital, but he made Southampton, as the port of Winchester, his frequent residence, the town deriving great advantage from the resort of his fleet and court, and it is traditionally held as being the memorable scene of his famous rebuke to his courtiers.

For some centuries after this date Southampton enjoyed a large proportion of regal notice and favour, whilst its municipal dignity, its commercial importance and prosperity advanced with the improvement of its military defences and the restoration of its religious observances. Under Henry II. it received its charter of incorporation, which was afterwards confirmed by Richard I., John, Edward II. and III., and Henry IV., V. and VI.

During the reign of Edward I., the detention of some ships belonging to Southampton by the Government of France, led to a rupture between England and that country, which continued till the reign of Edward III., who, contending for the succession to the crown of France with Philip de Valois in 1338, a raid was made upon the town by the French fleet. Fifty French galleys attacked the town, and, landing a large body of men, slaughtered most of those who opposed them, hanged some of the principal inhabitants, sacked the town, and reduced a great part of it to ashes ; but before they could retire, the inhabitants had rallied, and having gained reinforcements from the surrounding country, slew nearly 300 of the invaders, including a son of the King of Sicily. This misfortune had the effect of urging the inhabitants to repair and strengthen their fortifications, which were further improved during the reign of Richard II.

In 1415 Henry V. embarked from this port on his renowned invasion of France, afterwards gaining the victory of Agincourt. and there discovered a plot which cost the conspirators their lives, as will hereafter appear.

In 1461 Edward IV. visited the town. In 1470 Thomas Nevill, son of Lord Falconbridge, once vice-admiral, but afterwards turned pirate, was beheaded here.

Henry VIII. took considerable pains to improve the defences along the southern coast, and at Southampton in particular. He supplied the town with beautiful ordnance, one piece of which still stands on the platform. The South Castle, if not originally built, was entirely remodelled at this time, and other improvements were made in the walls and gates. The fort at Netley was formed just below the abbey, and Calshot Castle was built on the shingle at the mouth of the estuary. The first of these, shortly after the dissolution of the monasteries, was built solely, or in great part, from the materials of Netley Abbey, the remaining parts being left to ruin, which at the present time merely retains enough of its original walls to give the visitor a slight idea of its originality.

In 1550 a free Grammar School was founded, but the Royal Charter was not given till 1553, in the seventh year of Edward VI., who visited this town in 1552, and was much pleased at the reception he met with.

Queen Elizabeth also stopped here, on her visit to the Earl of Hertford at Netley.

It is interesting to note that during this (16th) century, the dispositions for defence made in the town were of considerable interest; the still-existing Arundel Tower, at the bottom of Bargate-street—as Orchard-street has lately been renamed—and one little tower towards Bargate, were assigned to the shoemakers, curriers, cobblers, and saddlers, and other towers to other trades.

The Chimney Sweeper to the town was a new official in 1654; he was regularly sworn into his office, to the effect that he would be ready at every call to sweep any number of chimneys at the rate of fourpence a piece; and to secure the residence and due attention of so useful a functionary, every householder had to pay him one penny per annum, "as is used in many other cytyes and townes, called by ye name of a smoake penny."—(Court Leet books.)

The passing of the Act of Uniformity in 1662 created immense sensation in Southampton. A Dissenting Society, which was the origin of the present Above Bar Congregation, had long existed, and it would appear it had amongst its members some of the principal inhabitants of the town, including Mr. Thorner, founder of the Alms Houses, and the father of Dr. Watts. The latter was at this time imprisoned for his religious contumacy in the South Castle, under the walls of which his wife and child were seen daily seated, to converse with him through his cell window. The Vicar of St. Michael's, Mr. Say, and the Vicar of All Saints, Mr. Robinson, were ejected, and the latter became Minister of the Above Bar Congregation.

In 1665 occurred the last visitation of Plague to this town, introduced, it is said, by infected linen. The pestilence raged fearfully, carrying off immense numbers, and necessitating the shutting-up of the town to prevent spreading the infection. An exchange was established at the little culvert of Four-posts, where the country people deposited their provisions, and purified the money they received in a fire before taking it. The town was reduced to a dreadful state of misery and want, which was only partially removed by a subscription that was headed by the King.

From this and other causes the trade sadly declined, and the close of the 17th and commencement of the 18th centuries must be looked upon as the time of greatest depression in the history of the town; but during the close of the 18th century the trade and commerce made a great stride towards improvement, and from thence up to the present time Southampton has maintained its position as one of the most important and improving towns in England.

The New Forest adjoining the town, and a beach, forming a pleasant bathing place, are amongst its principal attractions. The New Forest—older than its title would seem to represent—was made a hunting ground by William the Conqueror, who drove out all the wretched inhabitants to make room for its site—an act of great cruelty and injustice. The Forest is a very extensive woody tract, the scenery being most picturesque, particularly round the small but pleasant hamlet of Beaulieu. It was in this Forest that Rufus was struck by Tyrell's arrow. It was here that Gilpin, a writer of the last century, described in beautiful language the picturesque scenery by wihch he was surrounded It was here that wild boars roamed about in their savage state, and 800 years ago William the Conqueror protected them by causing a law to be made, that any man found killing one would have his eyes torn out. These savage swine were to be seen in the Forest up to the reign of Charles I., but they were entirely swept away under the iron sway of Cromwell. Happily, boar hunting is one of the things of the past.

Wild cats were also to be found in this forest. Plants of every shade and variety abound here, and the autumn crocus grows in great profusion. Formerly the inhabitants made the gathering of the crocus a lucrative employment, it being amongst its properties the flower from which the saffron used in dyeing is procured. Great changes have taken place here. Buildings have now sprung up, and are still going on; nevertheless it is well worthy of a visit by the tourist, who moreover may be a botanist, and the beauty of the scene will well repay those who avail themselves of the opportunity while in the neighbourhood.

Southampton is a well-built town; the streets are very wide, well paved, and convenient, having a great proportion of imposing and comfortable houses, large buildings, and excellent shops well stocked and tastefully arranged; the amount of business going on speaks volumes as to the prosperity of the place. The principal streets are the High-street and Above Bar, running nearly in a straight line from the Town Quay, through the Bar Gate, to the beautiful avenue of Elms, and on to the road leading to Winchester and London. There are many other business streets equal in importance, but our space will not permit us to particularise them. The town is well lighted with gas, amply supplied with water, and, under the government of a Local Board of Health, is well drained and cleanly kept.

The Bar Gate, dividing the High-street from Above Bar, is one of the most interesting relics in the town; this, with the West Gate and South Gate, are what remains to remind one of the time when Southampton was a fortified town, and although to not a few it is unsightly and a blockade to the increasing traffic, yet it recalls one's memory to the glory of the past and improvements of the present. The castellated architecture of the Middle Ages are here represented in the embattled parapet and grace-fully-shaped arch. The Guildhall extends over the Bar, where Petty Sessions are held daily; the Police Station adjoins it.

Southampton is a Parliamentary and Municipal Borough, returning two Members to the House of Commons. The town is governed by a Mayor, ten Aldermen, and thirty Common Councillors, and is divided into five Wards, which return ten Members annually, who sit for three years, and who are eligible for re-election. Politics being now much mixed up with the interests of the Borough, make the elections every November of an interesting and exciting nature; but it is worthy of note that the last election, 1883, differed from the above, the whole passing off without any opposition, thus saving the town a great expense and trouble.

The welfare of the town and safety of the populace are in the hands of a well-governed Police, consisting of a chief constable, 3 inspectors, 10 sergeants, and 62 constables.

There are many Charitable Institutions connected with the town for the relief of the poor, and which are described in the Local Intelligence of this work.

About the beginning of the present century an Act of Parliament was obtained to cut a canal from the Platform into the Andover Navigation, known as the Southampton and Redbridge Canal. On its being actually carried from the South Castle through the old ditch, or moat, to Houndwell Pye, the "Poet Laureate" wrote the following in the Gentleman's Magazine:—

"Southampton's wise sons found their river so large,
Tho' 'twould carry a ship 'twould not carry a barge,
But soon this defect their sage noddles supplied,
For they cut a snug ditch to run close by its side;
Like the man who contriving a hole through his wall,
To admit his two cats, the one great, t'other small,
Where a great hole was made, for great puss to pass through,
He'd a little hole cut for his little cat too."

The Docks, the first stone of which was laid in 1838, are extensive, convenient, and of excellent construction; they are surrounded with Quays measuring nearly 6,000 feet. Ships can enter the docks at all times of the tide, either for general business or for repairs. Cargoes are landed with the quickest despatch, and the goods deposited in bonded and other warehouses most expeditiously.

A considerable trade is carried on with foreign countries, and the port is a main point of communication between England, Germany, Havre, Jersey, America, West Indies, the Cape of Good Hope, and other countries. The embarkation of these steamers is a noble sight, and make us exclaim with the poet:—

Long may the stately vessels steam
Between these empire lands,
Thus help to link in friendship's bond
Our kindred hearts and hands.
Let John Bull spare his old world pride,
And Jonathan his boast;
Still shall their ocean steamers ply
From coast to sister coast.

The imports from these countries are large, while the exports are extensively carried on.

Hampshire being one of the most fertile counties in England, make the exports from this port vie with any other in the world. The products consist of large herds of cattle, flocks of sheep having excellent wool, the finest corn, hops, superior honey, fruit, potatoes, bacon, and timber.

Here are also some good fisheries and several manufactories; a large trade is carried on in ship building and sail making, and cordage manufacturing.

The South Western Railway, costing over two millions of money, has made Southampton a depot of traffic, by which the town has been brought into the condition of the metropolis, and the increasing business warrants the carrying out of further railway extensions, which are now (1884) in course of progress.

There is a Royal Pier, opened by Her Majesty (then Princess Victoria) in 1832. It is of excellent construction, with a floating platform and convenient landing stages, by which the passengers are enabled to land, on a level with the docks from the vessels at all heights of the tide.

There is also a tramway extending from the railway terminus to the landing stage, and passengers can book through from London or intermediate stations to the different vessels without changing carriages, and through tickets are issued to the Isle of Wight, including pier tolls. These advantages, together with an elevated balcony, covered offices, and many other conveniences, render the Royal Pier one of the most attractive promenades during the season, the whole of the recent improvements costing about £5,600.

One of the most interesting features of outdoor beauty is the Public Gardens and Parks, to the east and west of Above Bar, forming pleasant promenades and extensive recreation grounds for the benefit of the inhabitants, and where the young can enjoy cricket and other games to their heart's content. The grounds are well laid out, the grass neatly kept, and the walks in good order. At the western entrance, above Prospect Place, may be seen two oak saplings, which were planted on the occasion of the marriage of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. In this Park is a fine stone statue to Richard Andrews, Esq., who was five times Mayor of Southampton. The monument (which is by Brain) was erected by his fellow-townsmen, as a tribute to his memory, on October 1st, 1860, and bears the following inscription :—

He was a man, starting in the race of life from small beginnings,
Achieved, by the force of his own genius,
Solid triumph, civic rank, popularity, and fame,
The reward of industry, public spirit, and hospitality.

Opposite is Watts' Park, in that portion called West Marlands, in which is placed a marble statue of Dr. Isaac Watts, D.D. (by Lucas). The monument was erected during the mayoralty of Alderman Coles, and bears the following inscription :—

A.D. 1861.
Erected by Voluntary Subscriptions,
In Memory of ISAAC WATTS, D.D.,
A Native of Southampton.
Born, 1674. Died, 1748.
An example of the talents of a large and liberal mind;
A name honoured for his sacred hymns wherever the English language extends:
The friend of children and youth,
He laboured well and wisely without thought of worldly fame or gain;
He gave to lisping infancy its earliest and purest lessons;
He has taught the art of reasoning, and the science of the stars.

In the Public Grounds, opposite Marland Place, is another imposing statue, of Sicilian marble, erected to the memory of the late Lord Palmerston, who was elected a member for South Hants at the first election after the passing of the Reform Bill, in 1832. The monument is erected on the very spot the hustings stood, the following is the inscription :—

PALMERSTON K.G., G.C.B.
Born, 1784.
Died, 1865.
A Burgess of Southampton.
Erected by Public Subscription.
Frederick Perkins, Mayor.
A.D. 1869.

There is another memorial, at the corner of Lammas Land or Houndwell, and opposite Park View, erected in commemoration to William Chamberlayne, Esq., who represented Southampton in Parliament for some years, and who lived at Weston Grove, Woolston. It is an iron column, in the shape of an obelisk, and bears the following :—

Erected by Subscription,
As a Tribute of Respect and Gratitude,
To WILLIAM CHAMBERLAYNE, Esq.,
For his Munificent Gift of the Iron Columns supporting the Public Lights of the Town, 1822.

Another fine marble statue which is an ornament to the town, but rather in a remote situation (near the South Gate), is in memory of H.R.H. the late Prince Consort, on which is written :—

ALBERT.
Presented by Sir Frederick Perkins, M.P., 1877.

The Churches and Chapels of Southampton are numerous, each sect and denomination in religious worship being represented.

All Saints' Church, situated in High Street, is of Grecian architecture, with an ornamental crowning in front supported on Ionic columns. The interior is spacious, and noted for its simple grandeur; it is 95 feet in length and 77 feet high, and contains several monuments, amongst which is a figure by Flaxman, and a group by Bacon and Manning. The living is a rectory, held by the Rev. A. Bradley, M.A.

Holyrood, situated in the same street, is of ancient date, but was rebuilt and restored in 1850 in the decorated style, the effect of which, both external and internal, is most striking. The living is a vicarage, held by the Rev. J. A. Whitlock, M.A.

St. Lawrence and St. John, two united parishes, is also in the above street, and is of modern construction, in the early decorated style, and of excellent design. The living is a rectory, held by the Rev. H. H. Pereira, M.A.

St. Michael's, in St. Michael Square, is of higher antiquity than any other church in the town. The architecture is Saxon or Roman, but the building has been remodelled after the Perpendicular Style. It contains several interesting monuments, that of Sir Richard Lyster claiming special notice. The living is a vicarage, held by the Rev. F. M. Gregory, M.A.

The remaining Churches are Christ Church (at Highfield), Holy Trinity, St. Denys', St. James', St. Luke's, St. Mary's (now being rebuilt), St. Matthew's, St. Paul's, and St. Peter's; St. Andrew's, Scotch Presbyterian; and the French Protestant Church, St. Julian, anciently called the Chapel of God's House Hospital, which was given by Queen Elizabeth for the use of the numerous Protestants of the Netherlands who fled from the persecutions of the Duke of Alva, and who introduced here their cloth and other manufactories. Here were interred in 1415 the bodies of the Earl of Cambridge, Lord Scrope, and Sir F. Grey, who were executed for conspiracy to murder Henry V. The church has sittings for 260 persons, and was repaired in 1840. The living is a curacy, at present vacant. There are also churches at Freemantle, Millbrook, and Shirley, particulars of which will be found in the Local Intelligence following on in this work.

The Chapels are excellent buildings. The Congregationalists have four, that in Above Bar being a large, convenient, and well-built edifice, belonging to the first Independent society in the town, which existed long prior to the ejection of the Nonconformist ministers. In connection with this chapel, the front of which is in Vincent's Walk, is Watts' Memorial Hall, the foundation being laid May 6th, 1875, by Samuel Morley, Esq., M.P. It was erected for the Sunday schools of the Above Bar chapel, and bears the following :—

> The first name on the baptismal register is that of Isaac Watts, D.D., 1674-1748, whose father, Isaac Watts, was a Deacon 48 years, and transferred to the Trustees the freehold of this land.—Henry Hermann Carlisle, L.L.B., B.A., Pastor.

The Albion Chapel, in St. Mary Street, belonging to the Second Congregation of Independents formed since 1845, is a building with an Ionic front, and is of bold design. The interior is convenient and elegant, and its arrangements are admirable. The other two chapels are Kingsfield and Northam.

The Baptists have three chapels, and a Calvinistic Baptists is situated in St. Andrew's Road. The Portland Baptist Chapel, in Portland Terrace, is a spacious building erected for the Second Congregation of the Particular Baptists. The Carlton Chapel is a fine, prominent building, situated end of Laura Place; the other chapel is in East Street, and a Mission Hall in Ascupart Street.

The Wesleyan Chapel, in East Street, is a noble building in the decorated, pointed style of architecture, the interior spacious and elaborately fitted up.

The Unitarians have the Church of the Saviour, situated in Laura Place, above Bar. It is original in design, in the first pointed style of architecture.

The Bible Christians, the Irving-ites, the Independent Wesleyans, the Primitive Methodists, and the Society of Friends, have each their separate places of worship.

There is also St. John's Free Church of England, a Jewish Synagogue, and other places of worship, fully noticed further on.

The Roman Catholic Chapel, St. Joseph's, is in Bugle Street. It was rebuilt in 1850, at a cost of £3,000. Resident priest, Rev. Canon Robert Mount.

The Institutions of the town are worthy of note, and the visitor to Southampton should not fail to see the museum at the Hartley Institution, in High Street, containing many objects of interest connected with nature, science, and art. The numerous specimens have been classified with great care and judgment, so that they can be easily seen and well investigated. The library and reading-room connected with this worthy Institution is free to all persons over the age of 16 after 5 o'clock p.m., but it is open to subscribers from 10 to 5 daily. There is a School of Art also in connection with the Institution, and lectures of high merit are frequently given during the year. Concerts are also held here, and everything tending to the instruction of the mind and to the amelioration of its members is constantly going on. The Institution was founded by the bequest of the late Henry Robinson Hartley, 1859, and publicly opened by the late Viscount Palmerston, K.G., in 1862. The founder left at his death £100,000, for the purpose of establishing some collegiate institution, to be fully provided with library, museum, observatory, &c., with tendency to promote the study and advancement of the sciences of natural history, astronomy, antiquities, classical and Oriental literature. The building, with its site and other additions, has cost upwards of £20,000. The library contains 20,000 volumes, many of them works of great rarity. The lecture hall is capable of seating 1,200 persons. The management is excellent, and reflects great credit on the executive officer, Mr. Thomas W. Shore, F.G.S., F.C.S.

Another worthy Institution, and one that calls for the support of every one, is the Royal South Hants Infirmary, situated in Fanshawe Street, Newtown, a large and handsome structure in the Italian style, the arrangements of which are excellent. No better situation for patients could be found, being retired and quiet, yet in a cheerful neighbourhood. By the generous bequest of a lady, an elegant chapel, in perpendicular Gothic, has been added, and also a new wing at the expense of Mrs. Eyre Crabbe. The object of this institution, which was founded July 10th, 1843. is for the relief of the destitute poor, disabled by accident and disease. There are over 100 beds, and every requisite for the care and convenience of the patients. The Dispensary is in the New Road, a very useful, neat, and convenient structure.

There are many other institutions and buildings worthy of remark, but our spacc not permitting us to notify, their names will be found in the Local Intelligence of this work.

The rising generation are well looked after in Southampton, the schools being numerous and well managed. The Grammar School previously mentioned is situated in Bugle Street, and was reconstituted under a new scheme and Board of Governors in 1875. It provides a classical and a thoroughly efficient modern education for the scholars, under the care of the head master, Mr. James Fewings, B.A., B.Sc., London University. There are some excellent Collegiate, many National, and eleven Board Schools, each under very good management, the successful examinations proving the excellent instruction given at these schools. There is a School Board, consisting of a chairman, vice-chairman, and nine other members, who hold their meetings at the offices, Lansdowne House, Castle Lane. There are also Sunday Schools attached to the different places of worship in the town.

Private building is now largely going on in the suburbs, and suitable residences are erected to meet the wants of all classes of the inhabitants.

The districts of Bevois Town, Chapel, Fitzhugh, Freemantle, Highfield, Hill, Newtown, Northam, Portswood, Shirley, and St. Denys, being so closely allied to the town, that we have included them under the Streets and Names of Southampton ; while the rural places of Millbrook, Old Shirley, Shirley Warren, Redbridge, Woolston, &c., will be be found under their respective headings in the List of Villages.

The Union Workhouse is situated in St. Mary Street (adjoining the churchyard), and is one of the earliest established in the kingdom, being founded by the munificence of a private individual and the corporation of the town as early as 1629. It was rebuilt a few years ago.

The Cemetery, situated on the Common, comprising many acres of ground, and being within one mile of the Borough, forms an interesting resort for the townspeople. The gateway is a very pleasing design in the Tudor style, with a porter's lodge corresponding to it, and the chapel for the Jews immediately in its rear. This chapel, together with the Jewish burial ground, is fenced off from the other portion of the cemetery, and there is a distinct entrance to it. The Episcopal chapel is a very striking and beautiful design in Norman style, profusely enriched with bands, mouldings, shafted angles, and varied corbels; whilst the Nonconformist's chapel is a chaste composition in Early English. It is, as the last resting place of the dead should be, a charming garden and shrubbery, in which the brightest and pleasantest features are most prominent. So pretty is it, so clean and well kept indeed, that the young and old, the cheerful and the sorrowful, the grave and gay, will find pleasure in walking or loitering amid the pleasant natural pictures in this secluded spot, the whole being embellished with some fine and imposing monuments.

The walks around Southampton are most pleasing and interesting, as the visitor will find ample proof by strolling along the Avenue, across the Common, and round by Shirley, or through Highfield, returning by Portswood, the scenery around being most picturesque, and the turf on the Common being of a velvety nature, makes it a pleasing journey even to the tired pedestrian, while seats are provided for the convenience and comfort of the visitors.

Tramways were opened here in 1879 from Itchen Bridge to Southampton Common, Portswood, Shirley, and Freemantle, and are still progressing under good management.

Busses, cabs, and carriers' vans are plentiful, and the rates not exorbitant.

There are some excellent public baths on the western shore, and regattas are held annually on the Southampton Water.

Races were formerly held on the Common, but now take place at Chandler's Ford.

There are four Banks, and a Savings' Bank situated in West Marlands (established in 1816); also four Newspapers printed and published in the town.

The Freemasons have a separate hall for holding their meetings, and the Foresters and Oddfellows offices of their own.

There is a Theatre (new building in Ogle Road, Above Bar), and two Music Halls opened all the year round; also a Circus, which is opened by Mr. F. Ginnett during the winter months.

The market days are Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, and the cattle and stock markets are held every Friday in the New Market, near the South Western Railway Terminus, a place fitly adapted for so noisy and busy a gathering. The corn market is held at the Corn Exchange, on the Town Quay, every Friday.

COUNTY FIRE OFFICE,

50, REGENT STREET, & 14, CORNHILL

LONDON.

FOUNDED .. .. 1806.

THE DISTINGUISHING FEATURE OF THIS OFFICE IS THE

RETURN SYSTEM,

Under which Insurers, who have continued their Annual Payments for Seven Years, become entitled to a Return of 25 per cent., or One-Fourth of the Premiums paid during that period, provided no claim has arisen on their Policy, (Farming Stock and especially hazardous Insurances excepted).

The Rates of Premium charged by the COUNTY FIRE OFFICE are the same as those adopted by Fire Offices giving no return.

Policies may be effected or transferred without any extra expense.

No Foreign business transacted.

PROVIDENT LIFE OFFICE,

50, REGENT STREET, & 14, CORNHILL

LONDON.

FOUNDED .. .. 1806.

HALF-CREDIT SYSTEM,

Applicable only to With-Bonus Policies for the Whole Term of Life (TABLE A. in Prospectus), and to Lives not exceeding 60 years of age.

UNDER this system, one-half the premium only is payable during the first 5, 7, or 10 years, in the option of the Assured; the other half-premium remains a charge against the Policy, bearing 5 per cent. interest, payable in advancee.

The arrears of half-premium will be deducted from the sum assured when the claim arises, or from the office value in case of surrender.

If, however, desired by the Assured, the arrears may be paid off at any time without notice.

This system offers the advantage of a low premium during the early years of life.

RE-DECORATED, IMPROVED, AND NICELY FURNISHED.

The value of the Turkish Bath as a cleansing, healing, and therapeutic agent is becoming every day more widely known and appreciated.

Many Medical Men in Southampton not only use the Baths habitually themselves, but also recommend them to their patients.

Its frequent use creates appetite and accelerates digestion.

The Turkish Bath is reserved for Ladies on Tuesdays.

BITTERNE PARK ESTATE.

This splendid Estate, having most commanding Building Sites, is now ready for the erection of First Class Residences and superior Country Villas. The Freehold plots of acres and half-acres can be purchased at a reasonable price and on advantageous terms, payments—if required—being spread over ten years. Tithe Rent redeemed, Conveyance Free. The Estate is approached direct from Southampton by a handsome Iron Carriage Bridge which is now opened and dedicated to the Free use of the Public. The river Itchen is the West boundary of the Estate, and affords ample accommodation for Yachtsmen and provides some excellent fishing. The views from the Estate are most charming and must be seen to be realised. The Railway facilities are very good as there is a Station on the S.W. boundary of the Estate, suitable for local traffic; and for rapid transit to and from London, there are two convenient Stations on the Main Line of the L. & S. W., viz.; St. Deny's near the S. end of the Estate, and the New Station at Swathling at the N. end of the Estate.

Plans and full particulars can be obtained of the Estate Agents—

WALTER E. JOHNSON

Family and Dispensing

CHEMIST,

"BY EXAMINATION."

Three years Senior Resident Dispenser to the West London Hospital.

BEVOIS HILL,

SOUTHAMPTON.

P.S.—Physicians Prescriptions and Family Recipes accurately dispensed with drugs of guaranteed purity.

P.S.—Please see other side of this page.

Health, Strength, Energy

AND

RENEWED VIGOUR

Are attained by taking the

QUININE AND IRON TONIC

PREPARED BY

WALTER E. JOHNSON,

Family and Dispensing Chemist

(BY EXAMINATION).

BEVOIS HILL,

SOUTHAMPTON.

It contains the active principle of Peruvian Bark, the best of Tonics, combined with Iron, one of the most important constituents of the blood. Quinine promotes appetite, invigorates the nerves, and imparts tone to the digestive organs; whilst Iron enriches the blood, strengthens the system, and animates the spirits. As a tonic this medicine is found superior to any other remedy. By its use the appetite is revived, digestion of the food perfected, and physical strength quickly and completely restored.

Price 1s.3d. and 2s.4d. per Bottle.

Can be Obtained Only at the Above Address.

TEETH CAREFULLY EXTRACTED, FEE 1s.

P.S.—Please see other side of this page.

MR. H. C. CORKE,

SURGEON DENTIST,

FROM LONDON, W.

CAN be CONSULTED FREE of CHARGE DAILY

on all matters connected with the Teeth, at his

DENTAL SURGERY,

178, HIGH STREET, SOUTHAMPTON,

IMPORTANCE OF THE TEETH.

It is impossible to urge too strongly the vital importance of Sound Teeth. Without them food cannot be properly masticated, and Indigestion, the root of most diseases, must sooner or later ensue. The stomach was not intended to perform the joint functions of mastication and digestion, and if it be thus overworked, derangement will inevitable follow.

THE COST OF ARTIFICIAL TEETH.

For the guidance of those who have not consulted MR. CORKE, an approximate statement of the different charges for Artificial Teeth may be given as follows:—

For a Single Tooth, including all charges, 5/-, 7/6, 10/6, 15/- & 21/-

For an Upper or Lower Set, 2½, 4, 6, 8, and 10 Guineas.

For an Entire Upper & Lower Set, 5, 7, 10, 12, 15, & 20 Guineas.

These artificial teeth are recommended by the most eminent of the medical profession as undeniably the best substitute for the natural organs, securing, without possibility of the slightest pain, the greatest amount of ease and comfort. So accurate is the adjustment of these teeth to the natural gums, and so life-like their appearance, that detection is rendered quite impossible. Where the gums have become absorbed by extraction or otherwise, they are reproduced by the exquisite composition in which these teeth are mounted, and which it is impossible to distinguish from the natural flesh. To persons who are unable to procure frequent professional assistance these teeth will be found invaluable in consequence of their durability. They are applied over the most tender gums or remaining stumps without causing the least pain, thereby rendering the operation of extraction unnecessary, and possess the decided advantage of never becoming in the least degree discoloured or affected by corrosion. For efficacy, utility, speech, mastication, and restoration of the original youthful appearance of the features they are unrivalled. The resemblance to nature is so perfect as frequently to deceive the wearers themselves.

Nutrous Oxide Gas Administered Daily.

Stopping, Scalding, etc.

In order to prevent disappointment MR. CORKE finds it necessary to state that his only address is Agents for the County Fire and Provident Life Offices.

COUNTY FIRE OFFICE,

50, REGENT STREET, & 14, CORNHILL

LONDON.

FOUNDED .. .. 1806.

THE DISTINGUISHING FEATURE OF THIS OFFICE IS THE

RETURN SYSTEM,

Under which Insurers who have continued their Annual Payments for Seven Years, become entitled to a Return of 25 per cent. or One-Fourth of the Premiums paid during that period, provided no claim has arisen on their Policy (Farming Stock and especially hazardous Insurances excepted).

The Rates of Premium charged by the COUNTY FIRE OFFICE are the same as those adopted by Fire Offices giving no return.

Policies may be effected or transferred without any extra expense.

No foreign business transacted.

PROVIDENT LIFE OFFICE,

50, REGENT STREET, & 14, CORNHILL

LONDON.

FOUNDED .. .. 1806.

HALF CREDIT SYSTEM,

Applicable only to With-Bonus Policies for the Whole Term of Life (TABLE A. in Prospectus), and to Lives not exceeding 60 years of age.

Under this system, one-half the premium only is payable during the first 5, 7, or 10 years, in the option of the Assured; the other half-premium remains a charge against the Policy, bearing 5 per cent. interest, payable in advance.

The arrears of half-premium will be deducted from the sum assured when the claim arises, or from the office value in case of surrender.

If, however, desired by the Assured, the arrears may be paid off at any time without notice.

This system offers the advantage of a low premium during the early years of life.

ROMSEY

A MUNICIPAL borough, market town, and union, head of a county court district, and polling place for the southern division of the county of Hants, having a station on the London and South-Western Railway, on the line between Bishopstoke and Salisbury, being 15 miles S.E. from that city, 8½ N.W. of Southampton, 12 S.W. from Winchester, and 81 miles from London ; it is in the hundred of King's Somborne, petty sessional division and rural deanery of Romsey, archdeaconry and diocese of Winchester.

The town of Romsey is ancient ; it is pleasantly situated in the fertile valley of the river "Test." The Swindon, Andover and Redbridge Railway crosses here. A canal formerly passed through here, but is now disused, in consequence of the railway being made upon its bed, while the remaining portions not taken up by the railway act as a drainage for the surrounding lands.

Romsey is divided into two distinct parishes, viz.— "Infra" and "Extra." It is supposed to derive its name from the Romans, who were located in this favoured spot in great numbers during their rule in Britain. Antiquarians differ as to the date of its origin, many supposing its rise to commence from the foundation of its Abbey, others classing it as a Roman city named "Arminis," afterwards changed to the Roman "Insula," or "Island," on which the ancient Abbey stood, one end of the town being washed by the river Test, and the other bounded by a stream (now partly arched over) running along Church Street, and ultimately joining the Test near Broadlands.

The Abbey was founded by "Edward," the elder son of Alfred the Great, but was not confirmed till 974, when King Edgar, the grandson of Edward, instituted a complete reformation in the ecclesiastical institutions, being assisted in the work by "Dunstan," afterwards Archbishop of Canterbury. The first Abbess was "Marivanna," a lady of noble birth. This pious lady was succeeded by "Elwina," who, in consequence of the Danes invading this part, was compelled to fly to Winchester with the whole of the nuns and the sacred relics, reaching the city in safety. Nothing further of note occurred until King Stephen's youngest daughter, Mary, became Abbess. During this lady's administration Henry II. totally disregarded monastic vows, and set at defiance the dispensation of the Pope. by causing Matthew of Alsace (son of the Count of Flanders) to woo and wed Mary, the Lady Abbess, thus entirely striking at the root of Thomas a'Beckett's superstitious supremacy. The Abbey Church, for antiquity and its Saxon and Norman architecture, is not excelled by any in England. It is dedicated to St. Mary, bearing date of register 1659. The building is of cruciform shape, part Norman and part Early English architecture, in the decorated style, having a small Norman tower, with a peal of eight bells. The Church contains several stained glass windows, those in the western chancel being to the memory of the late Viscount Palmerston, costing £1,200, raised by public subscription. There are some fine monuments; one, erected to the Lady Abbess Mary, being a most interesting relic. The living is a Vicarage, with residence, in the gift of the Dean and Chapter of Winchester, and held by the Rev. Edward Lyon Berthon, M.A., of Magdalene College, Cambridge. and Rural Dean.

Romsey is a neat built town, having three principal streets opening into the Market Place, in the centre of which is a fine bronze monument (by Noble), standing on a granite pedestal, erected in 1867, to the late Viscount Palmerston, as a tribute to his great worth as a statesman, and also as a native of the town, being born here in 1784.

The town is well paved, lighted with gas, and amply supplied with water; it is governed by a mayor, four aldermen, 12 burgesses, town clerk, and other officers.

There are several good buildings, hotels and inns, and many excellent shops, well stocked.

The Town Hall is an excellently-built lofty edifice of red brick, with Bath stone dressings, erected in 1866, where petty sessions and the county court are held, and the municipal and public business is transacted.

The Assembly Rooms are large and convenient, where lectures and entertainments are continually taking place during the winter season.

The Corn Exchange is also a fine building, occupying a prominent position between the Corn Market and Market Place, and is used for public meetings, and as an auction mart, &c., being also the head quarters and drill room of the 11th Hants Rifle Volunteers.

Broadlands, the birth-place of the late Viscount Palmerston, K.C.B.. K.G., who resided here until his death, is now the residence of the Right Honorable Lord Mount Temple. It is a grand mansion, built of white brick, beautifully located on a high eminence on the east side of the river Test, commanding extensive views of the surrounding neighbourhood, the scenery being most picturesque, and the park well wooded. The first Lord Palmerston purchased it in 1728 of the St. Barbe family, it having been in their possession for nearly two centuries. The mansion was enlarged by the second Lord Palmerston, in 1770. The gardens and pleasure grounds are extensive and handsome, winding down to the river Test, which flows through the estate; and the paintings and sculpture include some of the masterpieces of some of the most eminent artists.

Romsey is famed as the birth-place of some eminent men, viz.—Viscount Palmerston, in 1784; Sir William Petty, the ancestor of the Marquis of Lansdowne, the author of the treatise on "Taxes and Contributions," in 1623; Giles Jacob, author of the "Law Dictionary," who died in 1774; and others.

Several valuable relics have at different periods been found in the Church and precincts, and a curious old iron bracket, on which was hanged a soldier found pillaging in the time of Cromwell, used to support the sign of the "Swan" Inn, in the Market Place, a hostelry at the present time in want of a tenant.

The charities in Romsey are numerous, and well worthy of mention, notably, Nowes's Charity, bequeathed in 1718, by John Nowes, Esq., of Lee, in this parish, who left his farm of nearly 208 acres, upon trust, the annual rental to be applied in apprenticing, clothing and schooling 40 poor boys. This charity is now much increased, and consists of nearly 220 acres, let at £365 yearly, nearly £5,600 three per cent. Consols, and £400 in Exchequer Bills. Chas. John Tylee, Esq., is the receiver and solicitor. (The above Charity is now lost to the town, no boys being apprenticed, the matter being with the Charity Commissioners.) Bartlett's Charity, consisting of six almshouses in Middle Bridge Street, for six single women, born in Romsey, and who have never received parochial relief. They are endowed by £6,828 14s. three per cent. Consols, and each occupant receives a yearly stipend of £32 10s., the remainder going towards repairs, insurance, and expenses. There is also St. John St. Barbe's Charity, in 1723; John Kent's Charity, in 1692; and many others.

The rising generation are well looked after in Romsey, the schools being of an excellent character, reflecting great credit on their managers. The Boys National School, situated in Station Road, erected in 1872 by the Right Hon. Lord Mount Temple, at a cost of £1,600, is well built and convenient, having a good residence for the schoolmaster attached. The school in connection with Nowes's Charity is incorporated with this school, also a rent-charge of £30 yearly in connection with St. Barbe's Charity, under which ten pupils are taught free, is attached to this school.

The Girls National School, near the churchyard, was erected in 1851, costing £1,300, the site, costing £400, being given by the late Vicar, the Hon. and Rev. G. T. Noel. There is a well-built school-house for the mistress adjoining.

The British Schools for Boys and Girls, in Winchester Road, erected in 1846, at a cost of £900, and further improved and enlarged in 1855, costing an additional £200. All these schools are well attended, and the tuition given embraces a good sound English education. There are also Sunday Schools in connection with the Congregational Chapel and other denominations. There are chapels for the Congregationalists, Baptists, Wesleyan Methodists, Primitive Methodists. and a Salvation Army temple.

The Union Workhouse, situated on the Winchester Road, was erected in 1774 as a private mansion, but not occupied as such. Its enlargement, since the formation of the Union, now offers accommodation for 180 persons, but the average of inmates is not quite 100. The buildings are most convenient, and cleanliness and comfort are the order of the day, and much praise is due to the Master and Matron, Mr. and Mrs. Jerram. The New Cemetery, situated on Whitenap Hill consecrated in 1857 by the Bishop of Winchester, comprises over three acres, with two mortuary chapels. The grounds are in excellent order, and a sacred ornament to the town, There are several breweries, two tan yards, and a paper mill, also corn warehouses.

A Workmen's (or Social) Club was established in 1873, in Bell Street, and is well attended, being well supplied with papers, &c. There is also a refreshment room,

There is also a Library and Reading Society, at the Town Hall, having all newspapers, periodicals, and magazines. Lectures and entertainments were formerly given during the winter season, but owing to the scanty attendance are now discontinued.

Here is an Agricultural Society, the show being held annually; also the Romsey and South Hants Horse and Poultry Society, the president being the Right Hon. Lord Mount Temple. A Savings Bank and a Penny Savings Bank is held here.

The market day is Thursday, and a large market is held on alternate Thursdays.

Lord of the Manor, the Right Hon. Lord Mount Temple, who, with the trustees of John Willis Fleming, constitute the chief landowners.

Ashfield, Cupernham, Lee, Mainstone, Toothill, Woodley, Woodbury. and Wools are in Romsey Extra, Parish Clerk, Charles Holloway.

The population in 1871 was—Romsey Infra, 2,056; Romsey Extra, 3,625; total, 5,681. For population in 1881 see Local Intelligence.

BITTERNE.

A large village and ecclesiastical parish, formed, in 1853, out of the civil parish of South Stoneham, 2½ miles N.E. from Southampton, having a station on the Southampton and Netley Railway. It is in the southern division of the county, hundred of Mainsbridge, petty sessional division, county court dietrict, and rural deanery sf Southampton, and archdeaconry and diocese of Winchester. Bitterne is situated on the east bank of the estuary of the river Itchen, and has communication with Southampton by the Northam Bridge, near which stands Bitterne Manor house, on the site of the once famous Roman station, "Clausentum." Bitterne Grove, Heathfield house, with many other mansions, are located in this neighbourhood, and building is rapidly going on, and beautiful villas are being erected on what is called the Bitterne Park estate. The estate is approached direct from Southampton by the Cobden free bridge, a handsome iron structure, which is now opened and dedicated to the free use of the public. The river Itchen is the west boundary of the estate, and affords ample accommodation for yachtsmen, and provides some excellent fishing. The views from the estate are most charming, and must be seen to be realised. The railway facilities are very good, as there is a station on the S.W. boundary of the estate, suitable for local traffic and for rapid transit to and from London. There are two convenient stations on the main line of the London and South Western, viz., St. Denys, near the S. end of the estate, and the new station at Swathling, at the N. end of the estate. Messrs. Hunt and Bance, of Southampton, are the estate agents.

The Ecclesiastical Commissioners are Lords of the Manor, and there are several landowners.

The church is dedicated to St. Saviour, bearing date of register 1853, in which year the consecration took place. It is a neat Gothic edifice, having a nave, tower, and spire. The living is a vicarage, held by the Rev. Hy. Usborne, B.A., of Balliol College, Oxford. There is a Workman's Hall and Reading Room, under the patronage of the Vicar, and a National School.

Barton Peveril, Boyat, and Eastleigh, in the Southern division of the County, 5½ miles from Southampton. It is in the Mainsbridge Hundred, South Stoneham Union, Southampton County Court district and Archdeaconry and Diocese of Winchester. The Bishopstoke railway station is in this parish, being exactly facing the main thoroughfares of Eastleigh, and the rapidly increase of the population and trade is mainly owing to the junction to Portsmouth, Salisbury, &c., being here and also to the railway works and offices adjoining. The Junction Hotel adjoins the station, and there is a terrace of well-built shops opposite. Here are large steam saw mills, and the Bishopstoke Cheese Market held every third Thursday. The church dedicated to the Resurrection is a neat stone edifice, with Bath stone dressings built in the early decorated style in 1868 having a nave, chancel, transept, south porch and bell turret with one bell. The Reredos, a fine specimen of sculpture representing the Resurrection, was presented by the late Mrs. Young, of Otterbourne. The living is a vicarage held by the Rev. Wm. Arthur Longlands, B.A., of Jesus College, Cambridge. The National schools erected in 1870 at a cost of over £1,000 is now formed into a Board schools under South Stoneham district. Here is St. Mary's Home, a training school and college for Roman Catholic students, under the superintendence of Miss Simeon.

HOUND and NETLEY ABBEY.

A village and parish about [illegible] miles south from Southampton, and one mile from Southampton Water and Hamble Creek, in the southern division of the county, Mainsbridge hundred, South Stoneham union, petty sessional division and county court district of Southampton, and archdeaconry and diocese of Winchester. The village is situated on an eminence above Netley, and the ancient abbey is a short distance of the banks of Southampton Water, Netley Castle being contiguous, which at the present time is undergoing extensive alterations, having another storey added to it, and thoroughly renovated. The Hon. Lieut.-Col. Chrichton resides there. Within half a mile of the Abbey is the Royal Victoria Hospital, an imposing structure, commanding fine views of both land and water. The building is extensive, and is for the reception of invalided soldiers, erected at a cost of over £400.000, the foundation-stone being laid by her Majesty in May, 1863. There is every accommodation and convenience for 1,200 patients, and it is also the depot and head quarters of the medical department of the army and Army Medical School of Science.

The church is dedicated to St. Mary, bearing date of register 1792. It was erected by the Cistercian monks, in 1239, but has since gone through considerable improvements. The living is a discharged Vicarage, held by the Rev. William Stephen Ffrench, M.A., of Exeter College, Oxford.

LYNDHURST.

A rising town and parish, delightfully situated in the centre of the New Forest, 9½ miles W. from Southampton, 3 miles S.W. from Lyndhurst Road Railway Station, 8 North from Lymington, and 100 miles from London, in the Southern Division of Hants, Hundred and Union of the New Forest, Southampton County Court District, Rural Deanery of East Fordinbridge, and Archdeaconry and Diocese of Winchester.

The Few Forest, extending nearly 100,000 acres, was enlarged by William the Conqueror. (See History of Southampton in this work.)

The Court, Leet, and Baron for the Manor of Lyndhurst is held here annually.

The plantations are under the control of the Commissioners of Woods and Forests, the Crown having a right to plant 1,600 acres.

There are many nobleman's seats and handsome residences, most tastefully laid out and surrounded with well wooded parks.

The walk through the Forest in summer is most pleasant, and to those who prefer riding, omnibuses and carriages are provided by mine host of the Crown Hotel to meet all trains at Lyndhurst Road Railway Station, at very reasonable fares.

The Church, dedicated to St. Michael, is a fine edifice of cruciform shape, with a hexagon tower. It is built of brick with stone facings, having a chancel, nave, and aisles. The interior is handsome, and contains a remarkable fresco by Sir Francis Leighton, R.A., and some excellent carving by Mr. Seale. Date of register, 1749. The living is a Chapelry, annexed to the Rectory of Minstead, held by the Rev. Canon Compton, M.A.

The Baptists, under the care of the Rev. W. H. Payne, have a place of worship and a school, of which he is principal.

The National School at top of High Street is a well built and convenient structure.

Lyndhurst is an improving town, building is going on steadily, and shops springing up well stocked to meet the comforts of the visitors who during the summer flock here in great numbers.

The Queen is Lady of the Manor.

The chief Landowners are R. Hargreaves, Esq., Lieut.-Col. A. C. Macleay, and W. G. Stevenson, Esq.

The Verderers Hall is at the Queen's House, where the Forest Courts are held.

POPULATION ABOUT 1,800.

Churchwardens—G. Read and G. Cole.

Overseers—J. Strange and F. Best.

Parish Clerk—George Wolfe.

Emery Down, an Ecclesiastical parish, is about 1 mile north, in which is Christ's Church, a neat, red brick edifice. Date of register, 1864. The living is a Vicarage, held by the Rev. Herbert Thomas Hughes.

Sexton—Moses Blake.

Churchwardens — J. Pearce and Chas. Newbolt.

POPULATION ABOUT 430.

Pike's Hill and Bolton's Bench are hamlets in this Parish.

MILLBROOK.

A scattered village and parish, having a station on the Southampton and Andover Branch of the L. & S. W. R.; two miles W. N. W. from Southampton, situated nearly at the head of Southampton Water, in the southern division of the county, South Stoneham Union, and under the same jurisdiction. The South Hants Waterworks Co.'s offices are in this parish, established in 1876 for the purpose of supplying water to Romsey and surrounding districts, and to the increasing suburbs of Southampton. The water is supplied from two wells in the chalk district of Timsbury. There are two churches. The parish church (dedicated to the Holy Trinity), was erected in 1874 in the place of St. Nicholas, bearing date of register 1633. The building is handsome, in the early English style, having a nave, chancel, aisles, and tower. The seats, numbering 700, are all free. The living is a rectory, held by the Rev. Alex. Colvin Blunt, M.A. of Christ Church, Oxford. St. Nicholas Church is now used as a chapel of ease. The Rev. Spencer Jones is curate.
Population, 1881, which includes Freemantle, Redbridge, Shirley, Four Post Hill, Maybush, Regent's Park, Mousehole, and Whimpson, is about 15,000.

RESERVE FUND £50,000.

DEPOSIT DEPARTMENT.—Deposits received at 4 per cent. Interest paid half-yearly.

ADVANCE DEPARTMENT.—The great feature of this Department is to enable occupiers of houses to become owners, in a given time, at a cost of very little more than the annual rent, and in cases of successful purchase at a cost actually less than this would amount to. Advances are also made either for the purchase of land or house property occupied by other than the borrowers, and also to assist members in building.

THE LIBERATOR offers special advantages to parties whose primary objects are PROMPTITUDE and PRIVACY, combined with a liberal ADVANCE, and low and fixed scale of law charges and survey fees.

The House and Land Investment Trust, Limited.

CAPITAL £100,000.
