PREFACE.

In issuing the Seventh Edition of "White's Hull and District Directory," the Editor has much pleasure in acknowledging the kindness received from the Clergy and Gentry of the district, who have revised the articles on the places in which they reside; and he is also indebted to the numerous correspondents who, by replying to the queries submitted to them, and by correcting proofs, have greatly contributed to the value of the work.

Every effort has been made in order to give satisfaction. Each parish (and almost every house) has been visited by the agents, while a proof of each place has been sent to a local resident for correction. Many recent changes which have reached us too late for insertion in the body of the work, will be found in the Addenda. It is therefore hoped that few errors will be discovered but such as are inevitable from the time required for the production of the work.

For convenience of reference the various towns, villages, &c., have been arranged alphabetically, and following them is a complete Trades Directory for the whole district.

The Editor hopes at some future time to republish this work in a still more complete form, and will therefore be happy to receive any suggestions which may occur to those who peruse it.

ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS.

BARTON-ON-HUMBER, p. 3. A new Wesleyan Mission Chapel, capable of holding 300 persons, is being erected from designs by Mr. W. A. Gelder, of Hull, at an estimated cost of £600; Messrs. Davis & Hewitt, of Barton, are the contractors.

BEVERLEY. In ALPHABET. Hind Jph. omit 'deputy regr,;' add 'Thompson George Arthur, regr. for the East Riding, Register square.'

CAVE (SOUTH), page 33. Jobson's Charity consisted of two fields left by one Samuel Jobson, which then produced a yearly income of 70*s.* of which 50*s.* was given in bread to the poor, and 20*s.* to the vicar for preaching a sermon. The fields have been sold and the money invested, but the disposal of the income is now in dispute.

ELLOUGHTON, p. 38. In Directory, for 'Blackie Alex.' read 'Blaikie;' for 'Collings,' read 'Collins;' for 'Longfield,' read 'Langfield; take out 'Matthison Jas. R. and Newmarch Jno.;' add 'Houmann (S.), and Bonne (C. R.), continental yeast distillers.'

HESSLE, p. 81. An Institute and Reading Room was opened in October, 1882. In Directory, take out 'Hearfield John, solicitor,' deceased.

GRIMSBY (GREAT), p. 49. The Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Railway Company have given the Fisherlads Institute 1000 yards of land, in Orwell Street, adjoining the Institute, for a recreation ground.

HULL, pp. 84–5. The new borough has now, by an order of the Local Government Board, dated August 21, 1882, been divided into twelve wards; their names and the councillors allotted to each are as follows:—

HULL AND DISTRICT.

THE District comprised in this work consists of Hull and the places in the East Riding of Yorkshire within twelve miles of Hull, including Beverley, South Cave, Hedon, and Cottingham, together with Patrington, Barton-on-Humber, and Great Grimsby, the last two being in Lincolnshire.

AIKE is a township, partly in the parish of Lockington, and partly in that of St. John of Beverley, containing 490A. 1R. 20P. of land and a population of 60. It is in North Hunsley Beacon division, Beverley union, county court district, and polling district. The place is situate on the Beverley and Barmston Drain, 5½ miles NE. of Beverley, and is mostly in three farms, the principal owner being Lord Hotham. Formerly it was an island, but by draining it has become connected with the surrounding country. Here is a parish school, which is licensed for divine service, the clergy being supplied from Lockington.

ALDBROUGH village, which gives name to a parish and a township, is situated on an acclivity about 1 mile from the sea, 5 miles S.E. from Whitedale Railway Station, and 12 miles N.E. of Hull. The parish comprises the townships of Aldbrough, East Newton on the sea-coast, West Newton, and Little Cowden. The township of Aldbrough includes the hamlets of Bewick, 1 mile N.; Carlton-with-Fosham, 1 to 2 miles W.; Etherdwick, 1 mile S.; and Tanstern, 1½ mile S. Aldborough is in Skirlaugh union, Hedon county court district, middle division of the wapentake of Holderness, Hornsea rural deanery, and East Riding archdeaconry. The parish had 901 inhabitants in 1881, living on 6291 acres, and has a rateable value of £9140. The population of the townships and their area are as follows:—Aldbrough, 724 inhabitants, 4850 acres; East Newton, 35 inhabitants, 577 acres; West Newton, 150 inhabitants, 764 acres; Little Cowden, 16 inhabitants, 320 acres. Sir F. A. Talbot Clifford Constable, Bart., is lord of the manor; W. Bethell, Esq. is the chief owner of the soil and owner of the tithes. Bewick belongs to St. Thomas's Hospital, London; Carlton to Mrs. Henry Sykes Thornton and W. F. Bethell, Esq.; Etherdwick to W. H. Harrison-Broadley, Esq., M.P., J.P., R. F. Lutwidge, Esq., and the Rev. Y. Lloyd-Greame; Tanstern to W. F. Bethell, Esq. West Newton township has a rateable value of £2799, and is the property of Sir F. A. T. Clifford Constable, Bart., who is lord of the seignority of Holderness. The CHURCH (St. Bartholomew) is of stone in the Norman style, and comprises chancel, nave, aisles, and tower, containing three bells and a clock. In 1871, the chancel was restored, and the nave and aisles rebuilt at a cost of £2050. The Saxon legend to the effect that 'Ulf commanded that this church should be built for the souls of Hanum and Gundhart,' on a curious circular stone, is supposed to refer to an ancient Saxon church. In the church are several monuments to the Melsa family. The living is a vicarage, valued at £500, in the patronage of the Lord Chancellor and incumbency of the Rev. Canon F. A. Angel-Smith, LL.D. The Wesleyans and the Primitive Methodists have chapels in the parish. Here is a Free School. The poor have £250 a year from 130 acres, a bequest of Robert Towrie, left in 1663; £51 of the rent is given in aid of education, and the remainder is divided amongst poor widows, decayed tradesmen, and in apprentice fees. Tymperson's Charity Hospital is for the maintenance of three poor widows, who have 5s. a week with coal and clothing.

POST and MONEY ORDER OFFICE and SAVINGS BANK and ANNUITY OFFICE at Mr. William Dawson Stephenson's. LETTERS through Hull are received at 9 a.m., and are despatched at 3.30 p.m. (winter months 2.30 p.m.).

BARTON-UPON-HUMBER is a neat and well-built market town, pleasantly situated on gently rising ground, near the south shore of the river Humber, where there is an ancient ferry to and from Hull, the distance between the two places being about six miles. It is in the Parts of Lindsey, Glanford Brigg union and county court district, Yarborough wapentake, Barton petty sessional division and polling district of North Lincolnshire, and Wraggoe rural deanery of Stow archdeaconry. Its rateable value is £19,050. Barton has now a railway station at the terminus of a branch from New Holland, so that its ferry is not so much used as formerly. Barton town is about 10 miles N. of Glanford Brigg, and 6 miles S.W. of Hull, and is in two parishes—St. Mary's and St. Peter's, which contain 6710 acres of land, and 1430 acres of water. It had only 1709 inhabitants in 1801; but in 1811 they had increased to 2204; in 1821, to 2496; in 1831, to 3233; in 1851 to 3866; in 1861, to 3797; and in 1871, to 4332 inhabitants, of whom 2374 were in St. Mary's and 1958 in St. Peter's parish. In 1881 the population was 5319. The market, held every Monday, is well supplied with corn and provisions, and once a fortnight is a cattle or fat stock mart. Here is also an annual fair on Trinity Thursday, for cattle, &c.; and on the two following days for pleasure. A hiring for servants is held on the Wednesday before old May-day. The Corn Exchange and Butter Cross, erected in 1851, were purchased by G. C. Uppleby, Esq., J.P., and are now used as a Volunteers' drill hall. A great trade in corn, malt, and flour is carried on here. There are, in and near the town, several corn mills; malt and lime kilns; brick and tile, and tan and fellmongers' yards; a ship yard; a coarse pottery; and manufactories of whiting, rope, sailcloth, &c. Being at the northern termination of the Wolds, the country around Barton is fertile and picturesque; the hills abound in fine chalk-limestone, of which the best whiting is made; the lower grounds have excellent clay for bricks, tiles, and coarse earthenware; and there is a fine stream of water flowing northward through the town to the Humber, diverted into a mill-race, and crossed in various places by bridges and other buildings. About 35,000 tons of chalkstone are sent annually from Barton Cliff. Though it has now a modern appearance, Barton is a place of great antiquity, and was once surrounded by a rampart and fosse, traces of which are seen in the Castle Dykes, as the rivulet and mill-race are generally called. It is mentioned in Doomsday Book as containing a church, a priest, two mills of 40*s.* value, a market, and a ferry of £4 value. At the Norman conquest it was a corporate town, with a reeve, aldermen, &c.; and it was one of the principal ports of the Humber, till the foundation of Hull, in the reign of Edward I. For the invasion of France, it furnished Edward III. with three ships and thirty men; or, according to another account, with five ships and ninty-nine men. The manor, with part of the soil, belongs to John Graburn, Esq., of Scarborough. The Tombleson, Barton, Lunn, Clark, Hewetson, and other families, have estates here, and in the manor are many smaller free and copy holders. The Court of Requests, formerly held here under an Act of the 47th of George III., has given place to the COUNTY COURT, now held here bi-monthly, at the Police Station, in High Street. James Stephen, Esq., LL.D., is judge; Robert Brown, jun., Esq., F.S.A., registrar and high-bailiff; Robert Houghton, sub-bailiff; and Richard Hudson, clerk. PETTY SESSIONS are held at Barton every alternate Monday, at the Police Station, built in 1847. The magistrates who usually attend are G. C. Uppleby, Esq. (chairman), Lieut.-Colonel Taylor, the Revs. C. W. Markham, M.A., W. J. Wylie, and W. W. G. Giffard, and Thomas Tombleson, Esq. Robert Brown, jun., Esq., F.S.A., is magistrates' clerk, and Mr. George Ward is the inspector of police. Barton Local Board, established in 1863, holds its meetings at the George Hotel, and H. E. Mason, Esq., is the clerk. Gas Works were constructed here in 1846 by a company of shareholders, whose terms for lighting the town from September 10, 1881, to May 13, 1882, have been accepted.

There are two Churches in the town, but their benefices are united, though the two parishes support their poor separately. ST. PETER'S is considered the mother church, and is a spacious fabric, chiefly in the Decorated style, with a massive tower, containing a clock and six bells. The lower part of the tower is Saxon and the upper part Norman architecture. The body, which consists of a nave, with aisles and chancel, containing 760 sittings, was reseated in 1859, at a cost of £1100. In the East window are two figures in stained glass, one representing a pilgrim, and the other is said to be an effigy of Lord Beaumont, to whom Henry II. granted the manor of Barton. There were several brasses on the floor, but all are gone, except one, inscribed to William Cannon, who died in 1401. A beautiful stained glass window was inserted in 1856 in the chancel, in memory of the Rev. George Uppleby, the late vicar; and another window has been inserted in the south aisle, in remembrance of the late Mr. Lunn. The organ was given in 1856 as a memorial of the late Richard Eddie, Esq., surgeon. ST. MARY'S is a handsome structure of the twelfth century, with later insertions, said to have been built by the merchants of Barton as a chapel of ease. It has a nave, chancel, side aisles, and tower containing four bells. It has an organ purchased by subscription in 1856. In the chancel floor is a figure in brass, inscribed to Simon Seman, lord mayor of London, who died in 1433. The vicarage of St. Peter, with that of St. Mary annexed to it, is valued in K.B. at £19 4*s.* 8*d.*, and now at £250, in the incumbency of the Rev. George Hogarth, M.A., surrogate, who has a commodious residence. George Charles Uppleby, Esquire, J.P., D.L., is patron and impropriator of the rectory, which was appropriated to Bardney Abbey by Walter de Gant, in the reign of King Henry I.; but after the Dissolution of that monastery it fell to the Crown, and was granted to lay-proprietors. At the enclosure of the parish in 1792, 950 acres were allotted in lieu of the rectorial tithes, to the late Mrs. Uppleby, of Bardney Hall, a mansion on the rectorial estate, now occupied by the Rev. George William Holt. Allotments were also awarded at the enclosure in lieu of most of the vicarial tithes: and 7A. 2R. 16P. were allotted to the parish clerk, in lieu of lands said to have been given by an old lady, on condition that the clerk should ring one of the bells from seven to eight o'clock every evening, from the barley harvest till Shrovetide. Here are a Wesleyan Chapel, built in 1816, enlarged in 1839, and rebuilt in 1860; an Independent Chapel, erected in 1806; a Primitive Methodist Chapel, erected in 1868, at a cost of £1500, in lieu of the old one built in 1838; a small Wesleyan Chapel, on the Waterside, built in 1868, at an expense of £200, defrayed by the late Thomas Tombleson, Esq.; and a Roman Catholic Chapel, opened in 1842. Both churchyards were closed as places of sepulture by an order in Council, given in the year 1855. Barton Cemetery, formed in 1867, at a cost of about £3000, contains 4½ acres of ground, tastefully laid out, and two neat mortuary chapels, one of which, and half the land, has been consecrated for the use of members of the Church of England. It is managed by the Burial Board, which consists of twelve members, the vicar being chairman, and H. E. Mason, Esq., clerk. The Free School, formerly held in Queen Street, was discontinued some years ago: but the children eligible for instruction under the endowment are sent by the trustees either to the National or Wesleyan Schools, as their parents may determine. The Literary Institute, formed in 1868, now occupying a building erected in 1874, has a library of 1600 volumes and 250 members. Messrs. W. Jackson and G. Doughty are the librarians, and Mr. Charles Caston the secretary. In 1722, William Long left £200 to be vested in land for the education of poor children of Barton. In 1728, Richard Beck bequeathed to Barton the following yearly rent charges out of the Barrow water mill, viz., £2 2*s*. for schooling six poor children; 10*s*. 6*d*. to buy them books; and £1 10*s*. for the sick and lame poor. He left similar rent-charges, out of the same mill, to Barrow and Winterton. Mrs. Magdalene George, in 1729, bequeathed the said mill, and some adjoining lands and tenements, for the purpose of providing grey cloth for the poor of Barton, but subject to the said rent-charges, amounting to £13 8*s*. per annum. She also left £100, to be vested at interest, and the yearly proceeds to be distributed in coals. In 1735, Nicholas Fountain left £50 towards the better maintenance of the Free School. The property is vested in trustees, and now produces £52 per annum, of which £27 2*s*. is paid to the Wesleyan and National Schools (as above noticed), 10*s*. 6*d*. for books, and the remainder is distributed among the poor according to the wills of the donors. In 1679, John Tripp bequeathed certain lands here, and directed the rents to be distributed yearly in blue clothing, among poor men and women. This estate was exchanged at the enclosure, in 1792, for an allotment of 62A. 2R. 15P., now let for £131 per annum, which furnishes clothing for about fifty or sixty poor men and women. The poor parishioners have also the following yearly doles, which are distributed by the overseers, viz., £3 6*s*. 8*d*., left by Sir William Wray in 1597, out of land at Winteringham; £22 from four acres of land and some tenements, formerly called Humber Mill, left by Ralph Signe in 1664; £2 (with £4 for the vicar), left by Ann Rand in 1683, out of an estate at Goxhill; and £2 (together with £5 for weekly doles of bread, and 10*s*. for the vicar), left by William Gildas, out of the rectory. About the sum of £30, arising from these charities, is distributed yearly in coals. The interest of £300, left by Mrs. Alice Ingle in 1830, is distributed in monthly doles of bread. In 1669, Thomas Holland bequeathed an almshouse for the residence of four poor widows, and charged an acre of land adjoining, called Paradise Close, with the repairs of the building, and the yearly payment of £2 10*s*. for equal division among the inmates. In 1701, Christopher Benton bequeathed the Chantry House in Barton as an almhouse for the poor, but it was converted into a workhouse in 1749, and the overseers afterwards spent about £200 of various charity moneys in enlarging it. In 1878 it was sold, and the amount realised (£346 3*s*. 9*d*.) was invested in Consols, the dividends arising therefrom being applied by the overseers towards the charities. The Town Houses belonged to the poor from time immemorial, and consisted of some ancient tenements at the Ferry, which were sold by the churchwardens and overseers of St. Mary and St. Peter in 1876, and the proceeds invested in the name of The Official Trustee of Charitable Funds; the dividends amount to about £14 8*s*. annually. In 1840, the late Joel Tombleson gave a yearly rent-charge of £5 to provide books for the Sunday scholars; and in 1861, the late J. Gilby Uppleby, Esq., of Leeds, left £200 for the benefit of the National Schools, and a similar sum for distribution amongst the poor householders, at the discretion of the vicar. Here are Wesleyan Day Schools, built in 1866, at a cost of £1500, and attended by about 450 children. The National Schools, in Queen Street, erected in 1845, at an expense of £1500, are attended by 400 children. The Roman Catholics also have a school in Fleetgate. The St. Matthew's Lodge of Freemasons meets on the Tuesday on or nearest to full moon, in a hall erected in 1874 on the Brigg Road. The Oddfellows' Hall is a neat structure in Queen Street, erected in 1866, at a cost of £1000, and is occasionally let for concerts, lectures, &c. Here is a Temperance Hall, opened in 1843. The Barton-upon-Humber and North Lincolnshire Permanent Building Society was established in 1877; Mr. Charles Caston is the secretary. The I Company 1st Lincoln Rifle Volunteers was formed in 1859, and now has seventy members, who have their shooting range in the parish, near the banks of the Humber, and their depôt at their drill hall, formerly the Corn Exchange. Walter Austin, Esq., is captain: H. W. Meggitt, Esq., lieutenant. At Barton is a coastguard station; Mr. John H. Bailey, R.N., is the chief officer, and has a staff of two chief boatmen, four commissioned boatmen, one divisional carpenter, and five boatmen. Three of the men are detached at New Holland and two at South Ferriby.

POST, MONEY ORDER, AND TELEGRAPH OFFICE, AND SAVINGS BANK is in Junction Square; Mr. Edward Small, postmaster. Letters arrive from London and all parts at 7 a.m.; Boston, &c., at 9.30 a.m.; and Hull at 5 p.m.; and are despatched at 9.20 a.m. to all parts; 4.35 p.m. to the North and Midlands; 6.20 p.m.

BEVERLEY.

BEVERLEY, an ancient borough and market town, is situated in the midst of an extensive and fertile plain, near the foot of the wolds in the East Riding of Yorkshire. It is distant 8 miles N.N.W. from Kingston-upon-Hull, 29 miles E.S.E. from York, 10 miles E. from Market Weighton, 13 miles S. from Driffield, and 182 N. from London. Locally it is in North Hunsley Beacon Division of the wapentake of Harthill, about 1 mile W. of the river Hull, and on the line of railway from Hull to York, Bridlington, and Scarborough. Its population in 1801, was 6,001; in 1811, 6,731; in 1821, 7,664; in 1831, 8,302; in 1841, 8,671; in 1851, 10,058; in 1871, 10,218; and in 1881, 11,410; distributed as follows, St. Martin, 4,827; St. Mary, 4,221; and St. Nicholas, 2,362. Beverley is the head of a union, county court district, a petty sessional and a polling district of the East Riding, and a rural deanery in the diocese of York. The town was incorporated as a municipal and parliamentary borough in 1573, the former being co-extensive with the three parishes above-named, and the parliamentary borough including besides those, the parish of St. John, which has several townships; but the borough being disfranchised about twelve years ago, the parish of St. John now belongs to the East Riding for all civil purposes. Under the Municipal Act of 1835, the town is divided into two wards, and is governed by a mayor, six aldermen, and eighteen councillors. The mayor is ex-officio chief magistrate, and is assisted by a bench of magistrates named in a Commission of the Peace, and all prisoners are sent to H.M. prison at Hull. The Manor of Beverley Watertowns includes Beverley parks, Thearne, Woodmansey, Weel, Hull Bridge, Tickton, Storkhill, and Sandholme, with certain portions of Beverley. John Dickson, Esq., of Nafferton, is lord of the manor. A Court Leet is held twice yearly at Hall Garth, the manor house. Mr. J. M. Jennings of Driffield is steward, H. M. Straker, Hall Garth, bailiff. Beverley union comprises the borough of Beverley, and thirty-three parishes and townships. The workhouse was erected in 1860-61, at a cost of, including the site, £6,800. It is a neat brick building, adjoining Westwood pasture, and has accommodation for 189 paupers. The children are sent out to school; Mr. C. W. Hobson is clerk; Mr. F. G. Hobson, assistant clerk; Mr. J. H. Hobson, treasurer; Mr. John Sugdon, relieving officer and collector to the guardians; Mr. and Mrs. Dawe, master and matron.

Almack (three times), C. Arden (twice), T. Cussons (twice), A. Crosskill (four times), T. Stephenson, E. Crosskill (twice).

The Guild Hall and Borough Police Station in Register square, form a neat building, with a Doric portico of four columns. The hall in which prior to the passing of the Municipal Reform Act, the Quarter Sessions of the borough were held before the recorder of Beverley, is fitted up as a regular Court House. The royal arms in stucco are placed over the centre of the bench, and facing them, above the public gallery, are those of the town. The ceiling is fine, the centre containing a figure in-relief of Justice, with the usual symbols, the sword and scales. This hall is now used as a police or petty sessions court, by the magistrates of the borough, every Monday and Thursday; and the county court of the East Riding is held in it every two months. The building in front of the hall contains offices for the borough surveyor, and superintendent of police, together with the borough prison, and was rebuilt in 1834, at a cost of about £4,000. The council chamber is in the front of the building, the old council room being now used as a retiring room for the magistrates. The prison, now only used as a lock-up, contains fourteen cells, and three airing yards. The Borough Police Force consists of G. H. Knight, superintendent; two sergeants, and eight constables.

The East Riding Sessions House and Police Station is situate at the north entrance to the town, and was erected between the years 1805 and 1809, but several additions and improvements have since been made. The East Riding Gaol which stood adjoining, was pulled down a short time ago, and villa residences are being erected on the site, as under the new prison regulations prisoners are now sent either to Hull or York. The front of the sessions house has a portico, supported by four fine pillars of the Ionic order, the pediment being embellished with the royal arms in alto-relievo, and surmounted with a fine full-length figure of Justice. The court-room is spacious, and is well-fitted for the accommodation of the public, as well as for the magistrates and officials. Adjoining this is the magistrates' room, and separate rooms for counsel and witnesses, and retiring rooms for the grand and petty juries, communicating with their respective boxes. The general Quarter Sessions for the East Riding are held here, and the magistrates meet on Saturdays for the disposal of petty cases. The Chief Constabulary Office for the East Riding, including a house for the deputy-chief constable, was built in 1860. The East Riding Constabulary force numbers one hundred and seven men, including one chief constable, one deputy-constable, six superintendents, seven inspectors—including the clerk, and sixteen sergeants, the remainder being constables.

Beverley County Court District comprises Aike, Arnold, Arram, Atwick, Baswick Steer, Bentley, Beswick, Beverley, Beverley Parks, Bewholm, Bishop Burton, Bonwick, Brandesburton, Brantingham, Brantingham Thorpe, Brough, Catfoss, Catwick, Cave (South), Cherry Burton, Dalton (South), Dunnington, Ellerker, Elloughton, Eske, Etton, Goxhill, Grovehill, Hatfield (Great), Hatfield (Little), Hempholme, Holme-on-the-Wolds, Hornsea, Hull Bridge, Hunsley, Kilnwick, Leconfield, Leven, Lund, Mappleton, Meaux, Molescroft, Moor Town, Newbald (South), Newbald (North), Riplingham, Risby, Rise, Riston, Routh, Rowley, Rowlston, Sandholme, Scorbrough, Seaton, Sigglesthorne, Skidby, Storkhill, Thearne, Tickton, Walkington, Wassand, Wawne, Weel, Weighton (Little), Woodmansey. A Court is held in the Guildhall every two months. Francis Alfred Bedwell, Esq. is Judge, Mr. Thomas Crust, registrar and high bailiff; Mr. Stephen Ellis Todd, deputy registrar, and Mr. William Lane, bailiff. The County Court office is in Lairgate.

The MANUFACTURES carried on here are leather, whiting, carts, wagons, and agricultural implements, chemical manures, cotton, and linseed cakes, and extensive corn mills.

MARKETS AND FAIRS.—Weekly markets are held on Saturday, and are well supplied with all kinds of provisions. Cattle markets are held fortnightly, and there are great markets for cattle at Lady Day and Christmas. Fairs for horses, cattle, and sheep are held February 23, Holy Thursday, July 5, and November 5. The market place in the centre of the town occupies a space of about 4 acres, the whole being surrounded by good shops. In the centre stands the Market Cross, built in 1714, and ornamented with the arms of England and France, the town, Sir Charles Hotham, and Michael Warton, its founder. The Corn Exchange is an ancient building in the market place, and adjacent are butter and fish markets. The cattle and sheep market in Norwood was formed about the year 1860 by the Corporation.

THE EAST RIDING REGISTER OFFICE for the registration of deeds, wills, conveyances, &c., affecting property within the East Riding of Yorkshire, was established in September, 1708. The office was originally in Well Lane, but the present building in Register Square was erected in 1800, pursuant to an order of the East Riding Justices, and at a cost of £900. The building is fireproof, and is well adapted for the preservation of documents. At the same time a house for the registrar was built on the ground adjoining, the Justices allowing £650 towards the cost, and Mr. H. Legard, the donor of the site, and then registrar, defraying the remaining cost out of his private purse. This house is now occupied by the registrar. The registrar is elected by freeholders in the East Riding, possessing an estate of the annual value of £100. George Arthur Thompson, Esq. is the registrar, and Mr. Joel Edgar deputy registrar.

THE STAMP OFFICE is in Toll gavel, and Mr. Joseph Hind is distributor.

BEVERLEY WATERWORKS COMPANY was incorporated by special Act of Parliament, in July, 1881, 'to furnish an abundant supply of pure water to the Borough of Beverley, in pipes, at a constant high pressure, for domestic and sanitary purposes, the extinguishing of fires, and the various trades of the town.' The works and reservoir, now almost completed, are near the Victoria Whiting Works, adjoining Westwood Pasture, within a mile from the town, and at a sufficient elevation to obtain the necessary pressure to insure a supply. The Company is authorised to raise a capital of £18,000, in 1800 shares of £10 each. The offices are in Cross Street, and Mr. Joseph Beaumont is secretary.

GAS WORKS.—In 1808 an Act was obtained to enable certain Commissioners to levy a rate upon the inhabitants for 'lighting, watching, and regulating the town;' and in 1824 the Commissioners under this Act contracted with Mr. John Malam for lighting the streets with coal gas for 21 years, for £400 per year. Accordingly he erected Gas Works, and the streets were first lighted with gas in December in that year. Doubts, however, having arisen whether the Commissioners could legally use gas for lighting the town, another Act was obtained in 1825, empowering them to 'cause the streets, lanes, and other public passages within the town and liberties of Beverley to be lighted with gas, oil, or any other material, at such times of the year, and in such manner as they may think proper.' The Works, which are on the Hull road, were afterwards purchased by the Commissioners, and are now under the management of the Corporation. There is a gasometer 100 feet in diameter, and another 140 feet in diameter; total capacity, 152,000 cubic feet. During the last two years the Works have been considerably enlarged, and 40 additional retorts erected. The number of public lamps is 300, including 1 Suggs' 100 candle power Westminster lamp, recently erected in the Wednesday market, on the site of an ancient obelisk. The cost of each lamp is £1 17*s.* 6*d.* per annum, and the price of gas to private consumers is 3*s.* 4*d.* per 1000 feet. Mr. E. Bryan is manager.

BEVERLEY AND BARMSTON DRAINAGE.—An Act of Parliament was obtained in 1881, giving the proprietors increased powers of dredging, making, and repairing banks, and for other purposes. The Commissioners are Messrs. Hy. Onslow Piercy, Thomas Young, and Robert Wyse. Mr. H. W. Bainton is clerk, and Mr. W. Evans surveyor.

CHURCHES.—BEVERLEY MINSTER, the old Collegiate Church, is dedicated to God in honour of St John of Beverley. The foundation of this church is traditionally ascribed to Lucius, the first Christian king, in the year 187; but its reliable history commences in the year 692, when the church on this spot, dedicated to St. John, the Evangelist, was rebuilt by St. John of Beverley, who lies buried in the nave, together with Brithmus, the first abbot. It was burnt by the Danes in 866, received many privileges from Athelstan and William the Conqueror, but was again destroyed by fire in 1188. From this time the present stately structure dates. It occupied about 200 years in rebuilding; and from the perfection of its proportions and beauty of detail has been pronounced by several writers on architecture to be equal to the finest of cathedral churches. It is a magnificent cruciform pile, in the Early English, Decorated, and Perpendicular styles, constructed on the cathedral plan, consisting of a nave with aisles, a lower transept with aisles, a choir with aisles, and an upper transept with one aisle. Its internal dimensions are:—length from east to west, 334 ft. 4. in.; breadth of nave and side aisles, 64 ft. 3 in.; length of great transept, 169 ft.; breadth of transept and side aisles, 69 ft.; breadth of choir, 26 ft. 7 in.; height of nave, 66 ft. 7 in.; height of central tower, 107 ft.; height of the two west towers, 200 ft.; height of west window, 41 ft.; breadth of do., 21 ft. 8 in.; height of east window, 48 ft. 8 in.; breadth of do. 21 ft. 10 in. At the commencement of the last century the church had become ruinously dilapidated, when John Moyser, Esq., an inhabitant of the town, and a former M.P. for the borough, procured a brief to raise money towards repairing it. King George I. granted materials from the dissolved Abbey of St. Mary at York, donations and bequests were made by several gentlemen in the neighbourhood, and the edifice underwent a complete repair. In the early part of the present century a competent master mason was engaged on a permanent salary, and a systematic course of renovation was regularly pursued, until the whole of the building was thoroughly restored. The west front of the minster is one of the finest specimens of Perpendicular work in the country, and consists of three main divisions, the centre containing the principal entrance (approached by a broad flight of steps), and the great west window. The towers rising above the side aisles form the other divisions. Both the towers are strengthened with buttresses at their angles, of four stories, each division being marked by an angular cap. The north tower contains a peal of eight bells and a clock, and the south tower a large single bell. The east window is of nine lights, filled with stained glass, representing Christ, his twelve Apostles, and several eminent saints; the sweep of the arch being filled with sub-arches and Perpendicular tracery. The church contains several monuments to the Percy, Warton, Pennyman, Hotham, and other families. In 1876 a magnificent organ screen was erected at a cost of £2796. In 1881 a handsome brass lectern was placed in the nave, in memory of the late vicar, the Rev. Canon Birtwhistle. Also two new painted windows—one in the north aisle of the choir, in memory of Messrs. G. and G. J. Lambert, father and son, successively organists of the minster for a period of nearly 100 years; and the other in the north transept, a memorial from the East Riding to its late archdeacon, the Ven. C. M. Long. Since the dissolution of the Collegiate Society in 1546 the minster has served as the parish church of the united parishes of St. John and St. Martin, the living of which is a vicarage in the gift of the Simeon Trustees, the present vicar being the Rev. H. Edward Nolloth, B.D. (surrogate). The value of the living is £400 per annum, and two assistant perpetual curates are appointed, each of whom receives a stipend of £120, mostly out of the minster funds. The Rev. W. B. Crickmer, M.A., is one of the assistant curates, and the other assistant curacy is vacant. There are also two other curates, the Rev. W. B. Stillman, B.A., and the Rev. William Gell.

Ancient Church of St. Martin.—When John, Archbishop of York, afterwards canonized and called St. John of Beverley, visited this town in the latter part of the seventh century, he rebuilt the existing church of St. John the Evangelist, and converted it into a monastery, at the same time founding a community of monks. He also erected on the south side of the church an oratory, dedicated to St. Martin, wherein he placed a sisterhood of nuns. In course of time this became a parish church, but all traces of the fabric have long since disappeared, and it is not known when the union of the parishes St. John and St. Martin took place, but it probably occurred shortly after the ecclesiastical survey in the twenty-sixth Henry VIII., when a union of all churches and chapels was ordered that were under value in King's Book. The parish of St. Martin still retains the name of its tutelar saint, and parochial officers are elected every year.

St. Mary's Church is a large and handsome structure, cruciform in shape, and consisting chiefly of a nave with aisles, a transept, a chancel with aisles, and a massive tower containing a clock and five bells. Traces of Norman work are discernible in different parts of the church, and most of the Gothic styles are represented; the fine west end is entirely of Perpendicular work. It is supposed that this church stands on the site of what was anciently a chapel of ease to St. Martin. Many of the windows are filled with stained glass; that in the west of the nave representing the Virgin Mary, our Saviour, and several saints of the New Testament, and prophets of the Old. The west window of the south aisle was placed by T. Crust, Esq. One in the west of the north aisle is called 'the Ladies'' window, ladies having defrayed the cost of its insertion. There are three in the south aisle—one in memory of the late Thomas Shepherd, of Beverley, solicitor, one in memory of Thomas Champney, of this town, and one placed by Henry Medcalf, a letter-carrier of this town. A very beautiful one in the south transept was placed to the memory of Christopher Scott Machell, Esq., of this town, by his friends, at a cost of £400. The chancel east window is a magnificent one of five lights, by Clayton and Bell. The east window in the north aisle of the chancel, also by the same artists, was erected at a cost of £300 as a memorial of the ministry of the Hon. and Rev. Edward Carr Glyn, a former vicar of this parish. The pulpit, a very handsome one, of different kinds of marble, was given by T. Crust, Esq., who also presented the lectern, which is of brass, and is in memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. Myers of this town. A new reredos, costing £500, was presented in 1881 by Mrs. Martin, who also gave £8000 to the endowment of the church. The organ is by Forster and Andrews, and cost £1100. The N.E. pillar of the nave is called the 'Minstrels' Pillar,' and an inscription on it shows that it was erected by a society or guild of minstrels which existed in Beverley from the reign of King Athelstan. Upon this pillar are the sculptured effigies of five minstrels, dressed in the fashion of the times, and this inscription, 'Thys pyllor made the meynstyrls: Orate pro animabus pro Hysteriorum.' In 1513, during the performance of divine service, the upper part of the tower gave way, and fell through the roof of the church with a tremendous crash, causing the death of several worshippers. On an old pew now removed, there was an inscription referring to the event. The eastern part of the north aisle has a curiously groined stone roof which has attracted the attention of many antiquaries and architects. The ribs forming the groin are so arranged that they cross each other, producing a most singular and unique effect. Under the N.E. portion of the church is a crypt, supported by pillars, but being so much below the level of the public drain adjoining the churchyard it is often flooded. The church contains several monuments to the Warton and other families. Drake the historian of York is also buried here, as well as several members of the Wilberforce family. A complete list of the vicars of this church has been preserved, from Roger de Woodham, who was the first vicar, in 1302. The parish of St. Nicholas was united to that of St. Mary in 1667. St. Mary's vicarage is valued in King's Book at £14 2*s.* 8½d., and the rectory of St. Nicholas at £5 0*s.* 10*d.*, and their value now being as follows:—From tithe rent charge &c. (say) £350; from Mrs. Martin's gift, at 4 per cent., £320; from a subscription raised by the Rev. Canon Pelham (say) £20; grant from the Ecclesiastical Commissioners for curate for St. Nicholas, £120; total, £810. The Archbishop of York is the patron, and the Rev. Geo. C. Fisher, M.A., is the vicar of St. Mary's and rector of St. Nicholas, the Revs. C. W. Barnard, B.A., W. Smith, M.A., and E. J. Barry, B.A., are the curates.

ST. NICHOLAS CHURCH was erected in 1880, with money left by the late Lord Wolverton, for the purpose of building a church to the memory of his sons. It is in the Geometrical style, from designs by Messrs Smith and Brodrick of Hull, and consists of nave with south aisle, chancel, and a south porch, from which rises a tower containing, at present, one bell. The church is built of stone, and is both neat and substantial. The font of the ancient church of St. Nicholas was obtained by a gentleman and presented to this church. The east window of the chancel has been filled with stained glass by Clayton and Bell, and presented by the Hon. Miss Glyn and the Hon. Mrs. Pelham. The cost of the church was about £8000, and the builders were Messrs Simpson and Malone of Hull. The living is united to St. Mary's (which see.)

ANCIENT CHURCH OF ST. NICHOLAS.—When St. John of Beverley completed his monastery, he endowed it with the manor of Ridings and the adjoining wood, and upon this manor he built the church of St. Nicholas, called Holme Church. The monastery was destroyed by the Danes, and it is supposed that this church shared the same fate. At what time it was rebuilt is not known, but it continued a parochial establishment until the Civil Wars, when it was demolished, except the steeple, which was taken down in 1693, and the material used in repairing the churches of St. Martin and St. Mary.

ST. JOHN'S chapel of ease to the Minster is a neat Gothic edifice of white brick, erected in 1840, and will seat 900 persons. Three east windows are of stained glass, containing representations of the coats of arms of all the Protestant Sovereigns since the Reformation; the arms of the Archbishop of York and the town of Beverley. The curacy is in the patronage of the incumbent of the Minster, and the curate is the Rev. W. B. Crickmer, who has a house adjoining.

CHAPELS.—The ROMAN CATHOLIC CHAPEL is in North Bar Street Without, and the resident priest is the Rev. Thomas A. Smith; but the priest usually officiating attends from Hull.

LAIRGATE CHAPEL (CONGREGATIONAL) was erected in 1800 upon the site of the old edifice, and the site upon which a meeting-house—originally designed for the Presbyterians—was erected in 1704, and blown down by a violent storm in 1715. This meeting-house was endowed in 1711, by Robert Stephenson, with a property which is now worth upwards of £500 per annum. In 1743 a house and garden opposite the chapel were purchased, and in 1753, 3 acres of land at Bromfleet were added and the property assigned to the Independents. The building will accommodate 650 worshippers and contains a good organ. A commodious Sunday School, with class-rooms, vestry, &c., were erected in 1879, within a short distance from the chapel and at a cost of £1200. The Rev. R. Shepherd is the minister.

The WESLEYAN CHAPEL, in Walkergate, was erected in 1805, and has been since considerably enlarged. A new Wesleyan Chapel has just been built in Flemingate, at a cost of about £1500. It is a neat Gothic building with seats for 400 persons, and is designed to take the place of the old chapel at Beckside, built in 1825. The Wesleyans have also a Mission Room in Keldgate; superintendent minister, Rev. J. Mackintosh. The UNITED METHODIST FREE CHURCH have a chapel in Trinity Lane; minister, Rev. W. Downing. The PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHAPEL, in Wednesday Market, is a neat building with seats for 700 persons, built in 1867, at a cost of £2000, the material of the old chapel being used. A Primitive Methodist School Chapel was erected in Norwood in 1881, at a cost of £550. It will seat 200 persons, but its use as a chapel is only temporary, as it is intended shortly to erect an edifice on land reserved for the purpose in front of the present building. The BAPTIST CHAPEL, in Well Lane, a neat building with seats for 500 persons, was built in 1834, and school-rooms, &c., have since been added; minister, Rev. W. C. Upton. The SANDEMANIAN, or SCOTCH BAPTIST CHAPEL, in Dyer Lane, was erected in 1808; minister, Mr. W. Thirsk.

CEMETERIES.—ST. MARTIN'S CEMETERY was opened in 1860, and has an area of nearly 4 acres and (including the mortuary chapel and house for the gardener) cost £2000. ST. MARY'S CEMETERY, which was opened in 1864, has an area of 3A. 1R., with a neat mortuary chapel and a house for the gardener, and was presented to the parish by Mrs. Rachel Myers, widow of John Myers, Esq., of Beverley; and the cost of draining, &c., also came out of the estate.

There is also a Burial Ground in Union Road, adjoining a building formerly used as a Quakers' Meeting House, but is now used for purposes connected with the Church Institute.

SCHOOLS.—The BLUE COAT SCHOOL in Highgate was established about the year 1709, by subscription, for the maintenance, clothing, and education of as many poor boys of Beverley as the funds will admit. The school, which is under the management of the Charitable Trustees, and there are at present 8 boys upon the foundation. Boys enter the school at the age of ten and remain four years, when they are bound apprentices, and receive £4 for clothes. The endowment consists of £1200, raised by subscription at the foundation of the school; part of the interest of £1000, left in trust to the Corporation of Beverley by Dr. John Green, Bishop of Lincoln, in 1778; £100 left by John Bowman, Esq.; part of the rents of an estate at Dalby, in Lincolnshire; £400 left by William Wilson, Esq., in 1816; a rent-charge of £10 a year left by Henry Legard, Esq., in 1819; and 30*s.* a year rent-charge left by Mrs. Ann Routh, making a total of about £170 per annum. Mr. F. C. Marshall, is the master, and is allowed to take a number of boarding and day scholars for private tuition.

BEVERLEY FOUNDATION SCHOOL was established upon the funds of Lady Archer's Charity in 1861, and is managed by a board of trustees under a scheme drawn up by the Court of Chancery. It is a middle-class school, and provides for boys between the ages of seven and sixteen a sound general and commercial education. Mr. I. A. Ridgway is the master, and receives into his house a limited number of boarders.

The WESLEYAN DAY SCHOOL was built in 1844, in School Lane, and has been enlarged three times. The number of children in average attendance is 256. The MINSTER BOYS' SCHOOL (National) was built in 1848, in St. John's Gardens. The rooms are commodious, and adjoining is a house for the master. The attendance is 190. The MINSTER GIRLS' SCHOOL, on the north side of the Church, was built in 1825 by the Rev. Joseph Coltman, then incumbent of the Minster, and a good class-room has since been added. The attendance is 209. There are two Infants' Schools in connection with the Minster, one in Minster Moorgate, and one in Flemingate; the latter has an average attendance of 98, and the former of 160 infants. ST. MARY'S NATIONAL SCHOOL FOR BOYS was built in Cross Street in 1857. The average attendance is 180 ST. MARY'S GIRLS' AND INFANTS' SCHOOL, in Norwood, is a commodious building, with a house for the mistress adjoining; the average attendance is 180. ST. MARY'S INFANTS' SCHOOL, Lairgate, was built in 1842, and has an average attendance of 100. ST. NICHOLAS' INFANTS' SCHOOL was built in 1880, in Holme Church Lane. The average attendance is 50. The GRAMMAR SCHOOL, in Keldgate, is now closed.

The BEVERLEY AND EAST RIDING MECHANICS' INSTITUTE, Cross Street, was established in 1832, but has ceased to be an institution of that kind, and the building is now used for public meetings, &c. BEVERLEY SUBSCRIPTION NEWS AND BILLIARD ROOMS, in Cross Street, were erected in 1831. J. R. Pease, Esq., is hon. secretary and treasurer. BEVERLEY CHURCH INSTITUTE was established in 1866, and has about 300 members. There are reading and recreation rooms in Toll Gavel, and a good library with a theological and Sunday school department. There are also science and art classes in connection with the South Kensington Department. H. E. Silvester, Esq., is president; Mr. T. Foley, secretary; and Thomas Wilson, curator.

The CHRISTIAN and LITERARY INSTITUTE has its rooms in Toll Gavel, consisting of reading and recreation rooms, library, &c. There are also science and art classes in connection with the South Kensington Department. Messrs. George Hodgson and William Botterill are secretaries. The BRITISH WORKMAN, at the Beckside, was established in 1871 by the Church Working Association of the Minster parish, and a short time ago the premises were opened as a Coffee Tavern. There are news, games, and refreshment rooms, and a library containing upwards of 300 volumes. Mr. Robert Needham is manager.

The TEMPERANCE HALL, in Well Lane, was erected in 1845, at a cost of £380, and will seat 500 persons. There is also another Temperance Hall in Holme Church Lane. These halls belong to the Temperance Society, but are used for public meetings generally.

BEVERLEY and EAST RIDING PUBLIC ROOMS, Norwood, were erected in 1763 by subscription, in shares of £25 each. In 1840, a large lofty room adjoining was built, also by subscription, in shares of £10 each, for the Beverley and East Riding Agricultural Association and the Beverley and East Riding Floral and Horticultural Society. These societies being now defunct, the rooms are let for balls, concerts, &c. Mr. F. Mills is secretary. The BEVERLEY GUARDIAN SOCIETY has for its objects the prosecution of felons and the protection of trade. G. A. Robinson, Esq., is secretary. BEVERLEY CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATION was established in 1876, and numbers 60 members. Secretary, Mr. F. C. Marshall. The EAST RIDING (BEVERLEY POLLING DISTRICT) CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATION was established in 1879, and numbers about 200 members. There are 27 polling districts in the East Riding, and each one has its own association in connection with the Riding, for which H. E. Silvester, Esq., of Beverley, is agent. The Beverley district holds its meetings in the Public Rooms, Norwood, and Mr. F. C. Marshall is secretary.

NEWSPAPERS.—The Beverley Guardian, published on Saturday, was established in 1856. Publishers and proprietors, Green & Son, Market Place. The Beverley Weekly Recorder, published on Friday and Saturday, was established in 1855. Publisher and proprietor, Harry William Ward, Wednesday Market. The Beverley Echo, published on Tuesday, was established in 1877. Publisher, Mr. Tom Turner.

THEATRE.—The first place devoted to theatrical purposes in Beverley was a building in Walkergate, near the Wesleyan Chapel. A Theatre was afterwards built in Cross Street, where now stands St. Mary's Boys' School. In 1804, a theatre was erected in Lairgate, near the grounds of Beverley Hall, and though that has been destroyed upwards of 30 years, there has not been another until the present one at Hall Garth was erected in 1881, by Mr. H. M. Straker of the Hall Garth Inn. It will hold about 600 persons, and will be used for histrionic performances during the winter months and for public meetings, &c., at other times. Mr. Fred. Bedford is the manager.

PASTURES.—The common pastures of Beverley, belonging to the freemen, contain 1174 acres, in the following proportions:—Westwood, 504; Hurn, 110; Figham, 297; and Swinemoor, 263 acres. Figham and Swinemoor banks, 14 acres, and Lund banks, 15 acres, belong to the Corporation. Westwood—and probably Hurn—were granted in 1380, by Archbishop Neville, and it is supposed that Figham and Swinemoor were granted by Archbishop Wickwane, about a century before. Twelve pasture masters and two auditors are elected yearly, who by Act of Parliament possess such powers as are necessary for the protection and regulation of the rights of the freemen. Every freeman or his widow is entitled to stock the pastures, agreeably with the regulations of the pasture masters, and the cattle gates belonging to those who are too poor to buy stock are let for their full value, and the profits are paid to the claimants. The pastures are also free to the public for walking or riding.

The DISPENSARY for the sick poor was established in Lairgate in 1823, and in 1828 the present building in Register Square was erected. It is supported by voluntary contributions, and an average of about 1200 cases annually receive the advantages afforded by the Institution. Surgeons, Drs. Walker, Tomlinson, and Park; apothecary, William Brigham; hon. secretary, H. R. Luscombe.

The COTTAGE HOSPITAL was established April 1, 1878, and 'is designed for the benefit of the poor and those engaged in industrial occupation in Beverley and its neighbourhood, who, when suffering from sickness or accident, are unable to obtain the necessary accommodation, care, and attention.' A large house in Norwood has been fitted up for the purpose, and the Institution is supported partly by small payments by or on behalf of the patients, and the remainder by voluntary contributions, collections, and offertories. Medical officers, Drs. Walker, Tomlinson, and Park; dispenser, William Brigham; matron, Miss Goodburn; hon. secretary and treasurer, H. R. Luscombe.

EAST RIDING LUNATIC ASYLUM is noticed with Walkington, which see.

CHARLES WARTON'S HOSPITAL, Minster Moorgate, was founded and endowed by that gentleman in 1712. Seventeen poor widows are supported, and attended by a nurse. Mr. Thomas Forge is clerk.

Sir Michael Warton's Hospital, also in Minster Moorgate, was founded in 1774 as an addition to the last-named Institution by Sir Michael Warton, who bequeathed £4000 to be a perpetual fund for repairing the Minster, £1000 to augment the hospital founded by his brother, and £500 to the Blue Coat School. Six poor widows live rent free, and have eight shillings per week, with coal, gowns, and the attendance of a nurse. Mr. Thomas Forge is the receiver.

Routh's Hospital, in Keldgate, was built in 1749, pursuant to the will of Mrs. Ann Routh of Beverley, widow, who in 1721 bequeathed her estates in Yorkshire to provide for the erection of an almshouse, and the maintenance of 12 poor widows of the parishes of S.S. John and Martin frequenting the church. Thirty-one widows are now housed, and receive 5*s.* each per week. Clerk to the trustees, T. Crust, Esq.

Tymperon's Hospital.—By will dated 1723, William Tymperon devised an estate at Aldborough—now yielding upwards of £400 a year—for certain charitable purposes: first, to found and endow almshouses at Beverley and Aldborough for six poor women. The number has since been increased to ten, five of whom are appointed by the vicar of St. Mary's, and five by the vicar of Aldborough; these gentlemen along with the vicar of the Minster for the time being are the trustees of the charity. Some of them reside in the Hospital, Walkergate, Beverley, and the other three at Aldborough. Each of the ten receives 6*s.* per week, with coals and clothes of the value of £2 per annum. By a scheme provided by the Court of Chancery, the surplus income arising from the funds of this charity is divided among the National and Sunday Schools of Beverley. Receiver, Mr. R. A. Shepherd.

Thwaites Fox's Charity.—By order of the Charity Commissioners (scheme, 1871) Fox's Almshouses in Minster Moorgate were sold, the money invested in 3 per cents., and the income, amounting to about £40 per annum, is paid to three widows of Beverley, one of whom receives 6*s.* and two 5*s.* 6*d.* per week. Secretary to the trustees, Mr. R. A. Shepherd.

Thomas Clarkson's Old Men's Charity.—Thomas Clarkson, who died 1862, left £1000 in the funds, in trust to the mayor and vicars of Beverley for the time being, Messrs. G. S. Sheffield and W. Pottage, the income to be given to 100 old men of Beverley, in sums of 5*s.* each, on the first Monday in December under the Clarkson memorial window in the south transept of the Minster. Clerk to the trustees, Mr. G. A. Robinson.

William Parker's Almshouses, Woodland Terrace, were built and endowed by him in 1868. There are four houses in which tradespeople, or others who have been unfortunate in business, &c., live rent-free, and receive about 9*s.* per week. Clerk, Mr. G. A. Robinson.

Turner's Charity.—Matthew Turner, Esq., of Beverley, by his will dated October 6, 1853, bequeathed a sum of money which (by a scheme of the Court of Chancery) has been vested in trustees, the annual income arising therefrom to be distributed by them amongst such well-conducted, honest, and deserving domestic female servants (not being the daughters or other near kinswomen of their masters or mistresses) as shall apply for the same, and as shall have lived for the longest time in the service of one person or family within eight miles of the Guildhall of Beverley by the nearest public carriage road, and whether then being in such service or not. The trustees annually distribute £10 10*s.* each to between thirty-five and forty applicants. Clerk to the trustees, Mr. G. A. Robinson.

The Corporation Almshouses consist of four cottages in Lairgate called Bedehouses, and seventeen cottages in the same street called Les Maisons de Dieu, the whole of which are the freehold property of the Corporation, and are let rent free to poor old individuals.

Thomas Ellinor's Charity consists of four houses in Toll Gavel, the rents of which are given, £1 to the vicar of St. Mary's for preaching an annual sermon, and the remainder to poor persons, members of the church. Clerk to the trustees, Mr. J. H. Hobson. Besides the above-mentioned charities, the poor of Beverley have several other benefactions, which are under the control of the Charity Trustees.

The East Riding Savings Bank was established at Beverley in 1818. On November 20, 1881, the deposits amounted to £64,766 19*s.* 1*d.*, belonging to 1614 depositors, 1 penny bank, 17 charitable societies, and 17 friendly societies. The bank occupies a neat building in Lairgate, and is open for the transaction of business from 12 o'clock till 2 every Saturday. Secretary, Mr. G. A. Robinson.

Beverley Penny Banks, Infant School, Minster Moorgate, and Register Square, are open every Monday from 6 to 7 o'clock.

Banks.—Beverley Bank, Pease & Sons, North Bar Street, draw upon Glyn & Co., London. East Riding Bank, Beckett & Co., Lairgate (corner of Newbegin), draw upon Glyn & Co., London. Yorkshire Banking Company, Market Place, C. R. Moxon, manager, draw upon Williams, Deacon & Co., London. Hull Banking Company, Lairgate (near the Market), G. S. Lundie, manager, draw upon Barclay & Co., London.

The Victoria Barracks were completed in April 1878, at a cost of £42,000. They occupy a capital site on the Beverley and Cottingham Road, about 1¼ mile from the town, and have accommodation for 10 officers, 232 single non-commissioned officers and men, and 35 married non-commissioned officers and men. The barracks are the 5th Brigade Depôt of the 15th Regiment, and the Depôt of the East Yorkshire Regiment. The respective staffs comprise the required number of departmental officers. 2nd East Riding of York Rifle Volunteers.—This corps was formed in 1860, and consists of six companies as follows:—A, Howden; B, Burlington; C, Beverley (headquarters): D, Driffield; E, Market Weighton; and F, Pocklington; numbering altogether 420 officers and men. The headquarters are in Wilbert Lane. Officers: Lieut.-col., T. Young; major, D. M. Inge; major and adjutant, V. S. Griffith (captain, regular army); quartermaster, T. Turner; surgeon, A. Scotchburn; chaplain, Rev. G. H. Wickstead, M.A.; captains, E. Storry, W. Wigmore, H. E. Silvester, S. Botterill, E. H. Hill (late captain 30th Regiment), and T. Holtby; lieutenants, G. Cussons, G. W. Foster, I. A. Staveley, W. A. Tate, T. J. Jefferson, G. A. Robinson, R.

Hodgson, H. Silvester, and C. F. Richardson; acting surgeons, C. Danson, M.D., H. Morris, A. Jackson, and W. Stephenson; acting chaplains, Revs. J. Blow, M.A., R. P. Blakeney, D.D., T. Bennett, M.A., and H. Newton, M.A.; sergeant-major instructor, Richard Smith. The D Troop of the YORKSHIRE (Princess of Wales's own) HUSSARS has its headquarters at Beverley. Sergeant-major (permanent), John Taylor.

BEVERLEY VOLUNTEER FIRE BRIGADE was organised in 1834, and reorganised in 1876. It now consists of 23 men, who have at their command two fire engines and a ladder fire-escape. George Henry Knight is superintendent.

BEVERLEY PERMANENT BENEFIT BUILDING SOCIETY was established in 1866, and has about 300 members, holding 701½ shares. The office of the society is in Toll Gavel, and Mr. E. Severs is secretary.

The EAST RIDING CHAMBER OF AGRICULTURE has its office in Lairgate, and Mr. Tom Turner is secretary.

BEVERLEY MUSICAL SOCIETY—Hon. secretaries, F. Hall and W. Luscombe. BEVERLEY UNITED CRICKET CLUB—Secretary, Mr. J. D. Crosskill. BEVERLEY RACES take place annually on a good racecourse on Hurn pasture, where a grand stand is erected. After having been discontinued for several years these races were revived in 1848, and now yield two days good sport in the month of June. The course is oval, the circuit being nearly a mile and a half. The late W. Watt, Esq., of Bishop Burton, left £3000 invested in the funds, the interest to be expended in a cup or piece of plate, 'to be run for at Beverley Summer Race Meeting, or such other meeting as the stewards or trustees shall decide.' Each cup bears the following inscription:—'Beverley Races—The Memorial Plate of the late William Watt, Esq.' The trustees of this bequest are Messrs. E. Crosskill, G. S. Sheffield, and W. Brigham. HULL, BEVERLEY, and EAST RIDING COURSING CLUB was formed in January 1876, and is limited to 100 members. It was established for private coursing, and the National Rules are adopted; secretary, Mr. C. Greensides. FREEMASONS.—A Lodge of Freemasons (Constitutional 294) meets in the Assembly Rooms, Norwood, on the first Tuesday in every month. Connected with this lodge is a ROYAL ARCH CHAPTER and MARK MASTERS' lodge; Mr. F. W. Adams is secretary.

Lodges of ODDFELLOWS are held at the Pack Horse, White Swan, and Black Swan.

A Lodge of the ANCIENT ORDER OF DRUIDS is held at the Lord Nelson.

A Lodge of the LOYAL ORDER OF ANCIENT SHEPHERDS is held at the Black Swan.

Lodges of FORESTERS, FREE GARDENERS, and GOOD TEMPLARS are held at the Market Cross Coffee Tavern.

BRANTINGHAM village, 2¼ miles N.E. from Brough Railway Station, and 1¾ mile from South Cave, gives name to a parish, which includes the townships of Brantingham, with Brantingham Thorpe, and Ellerker. It is in Beverley union and county court district, South Hunsley Beacon division of Harthill wapentake, Howden rural deanery and East Riding archdeaconry. The parish has a rateable value of £3425 and contained 567 inhabitants living on 1502 acres. The township of Brantingham has a population of 271, and that of Ellerker of 296. Christopher Sykes, Esq. M.P., who is lord of the manor and chief owner of the soil, resides at Thorpe Hall, Brantingham Thorpe. Brantingham Thorpe is an estate (or township) of 780 acres. The CHURCH (All Saints) was, with the exception of the tower, rebuilt in 1872 at the cost of C. Sykes, Esq., M.P. The living, valued at £318 with residence, is in the gift of the Dean and Chapter of Durham, and incumbency of the Rev. Thomas Westmorland, M.A. The parish school is at Ellerker.

CARRIER—Henry Underwood to Hull, Tuesday and Friday.

BURSTWICK (Brusten Wyke or Broken Village) is a village and parish 8 miles E. of Hull, containing 5720 acres of land and 697 inhabitants, including Ryehill and Camerton, but Burstwick township has only 4220 acres of land, and 422 inhabitants. It is in Patrington union, Hedon county court district and rural deanery, and southern division of Holderness wapentake. The rateable value is £6130. The Earls of Albemarle were originally lords of the manor. Formerly there was a castle and royal park here, as appears from several state papers signed by King Edward II., and dated July 1332, at his castle in the royal park at Burstwick. No traces of the castle remain. The CHURCH (All Saints) is an ancient structure built in the early part of the 13th century, and comprises nave, south transept, north aisle, chancel with aisle and vestry, and square tower, containing one bell, which weighs one ton. The church was rebuilt in 1849. All the windows contain stained glass; that in the east being erected to commemorate the completion of the present vicar's 25th year of ministry. In the chancel and transept the piscina and sedilia remain, also an ancient Norman font. The living is a vicarage valued at £280, in the patronage of J. Barkworth, Esq., and in the incumbency of Rev. Frank Bowes King, M.A., who was instituted in 1846. In 1869 a School Board was established; the present Board consisting of the Rev. F. B. King (chair), Mr. W. Reynolds (vice), and Messrs. J. Fisher, R. Wells, and T. G. Hart. The School was erected in 1870 at an outlay of £1400. In one of the gables the parish erected a good clock and bell by subscription, which cost about £30. The WESLEYANS and PRIMITIVE METHODISTS have each a place of worship here, erected in 1847 and 1848.

BURTON (BISHOP), originally called South Burton, is a parish and village in North Hunsley Beacon division, Beverley union, county court district, and polling district, situate on the Beverley and York road, about 3 miles from the former town. The parish contains 4210 acres of land and 459 inhabitants. Killingwoldgraves, a farm in this parish, which had anciently a hospital dedicated to St. Mary Magdalene, is the property of the trustees of Warton's Hospital, Beverley; the owner of the remainder of the parish is now a minor, for whom T. Crust, Esq. of Beverley, is steward. In the village is a small lake called the Mere, and on the green beyond it stood an ancient witch-elm tree, which was blown down on January 23, 1836. It measured 48 feet in circumference, and its trunk was so hollow that several persons could conceal themselves within it at one time. The CHURCH (All Saints) is a neat edifice in the Early Decorated style, and consisting of nave, aisles, chancel, and a tower containing three bells. The nave was rebuilt in 1820, at a cost of £1,700, and a chancel was added in 1864. The church contains a good organ, and has a magnificent altar-piece presented by the Watt family. The east window, of stained glass, by Clayton and Bell, is in memory of the late Richard Watt, Esq. and in the nave is a window in memory of Captain Watt. There is a recumbent effigy of the wife of William Gee, monumental brasses of the Ellerker, and mural monuments of the Almack families, old families of the parish. The living is a vicarage valued in K.B. at £5 6s. 8d., and now at £140 per annum, in the patronage of the Dean and Chapter of York, and the incumbency of the Rev. J. H. Davies. The BAPTIST CHAPEL was built in 1770; a minister's house and a Sunday School adjoin. The WESLEYAN CHAPEL, built in 1840, is a neat building, containing a bust of the Rev. John Wesley, carved out of a part of the great elm tree just noticed. Here is a NATIONAL SCHOOL, built by the Watt family in 1860, and attended by 72 children. In 1714 Elizabeth Gee left £100 for educational purposes, the interest to be applied by the vicar of the parish. HAUSBY'S HOSPITAL was founded and endowed by Ralph Hausby in 1614, and in 1864 William Watt, Esq. left £2000 towards the same charity, which consists of 6 houses, containing 4 women and 2 men, each of whom receives £20 per annum, with coal, &c. Bishop Burton Ploughing Society was established in 1881.

BURTON (CHERRY) is a parish and village in North Hunsley Beacon division, Beverley union, county court district, and polling district, 3½ miles N.W. of Beverley, and containing—inclusive of Gardham, which is mostly in this parish—3661 acres of land, and 458 inhabitants. The principal owners of the soil are D. Burton, Esq. lord of the manor, Lord Hotham, and Lord Leconfield. Here is a station on the York, Market Weighton, and Beverley branch of the N.E. Railway, and about six trains each way pass daily. The CHURCH (St. Michael) was rebuilt in 1853, at a cost of—including the churchyard wall—about £2000, raised by subscriptions and a parish rate. It is in the Decorated style, and consists of a nave with south aisle, chancel, porch, and a tower with three bells and a clock; the latter being placed by the present rector, at a cost of £120, raised by a sale of work and subscriptions. The church contains three stained windows to the memory of members of the Burton family. The living is a rectory, the gross value being £1214, and the net value £890 per annum, in the patronage of D. Burton, Esq., and in the incumbency of the Rev. C. M. Pym, formerly captain in H. M. 75th regiment. The tithes were commuted for £1168, and the glebe is 46 acres. The rectory house was built by the present rector in 1874 to 1878, at a cost of £4000, half of which was borrowed from the governors of Queen Anne's Bounty, and most of the remainder being defrayed by the rector himself. Here are a Wesleyan Chapel, built in 1824, and a Primitive Methodist Chapel, built in 1851. The National School was built in 1872, and is supported, in addition to the children's pence and Government grant, by the rector, D. Burton, Esq., Lord Hotham, and J. Lee, Esq., and is attended by 75 children. The poor of the parish have an annual rent-charge of 40s., left by Hodgson Johnson, M.D. in 1722, and the interest of £40, left by Ann Johnson in 1740.

BURTON CONSTABLE, 4½ miles N.E. of Hedon, is a hamlet in West Newton township, Swine parish, Hedon county court district, Skirlaugh union, middle division of Holderness wapentake, Hornsea rural deanery, and East Riding archdeaconry. The Hall is one of the seats of Sir Frederick Augustus Talbot Clifford Constable, Bart., J.P., but he does not reside here. The mansion stands in a park of 710 acres, embellished with a lake covering 16 acres and crossed by a bridge of five arches. The park was formerly well stocked with red and fallow deer, but their number has greatly decreased of late years. The walled gardens and the conservatories, &c., extend over 7 acres; and on the west lawn a garden has been formed in the French style, ornamented with statues and containing large aviaries. The mansion was partly erected in the reign of Stephen. The west front, 131 feet in length, has an embattled tower at each end; the east front is 133 feet long. The interior of the hall is of magnificent character. The chimney-piece of the principal drawing room is of white marble, and beautifully sculptured with a Roman marriage. In the library, which is 110 feet long, 21 feet broad, and 17 feet high, are three recesses; one is for musical entertainments, another for theatrical performances, and the third for a reading room. The cornice of the library is copied from that of the Bodleian; and the ceiling, which has been restored, is very elegant. There is a large riding school.

BURTON PIDSEA, a scattered village and parish, 10 miles E. of Hull and 3½ from Ryehill railway station, contains 1980 acres of land and 352 inhabitants. The rateable value is £3421. It is in Patrington union and county court district, Hedon rural deanery, and middle division of Holderness wapentake. The CHURCH (St. Peter) is a large structure, comprising nave with aisles and clerestory, chancel with St. Mary's chapel on the north side, vestry, and tower containing three bells. It was thoroughly restored in 1867. The east window in St. Mary's chapel was in 1881 filled with stained glass, as a memorial to the Raines family; and in the church are several monuments to the same family. The Dean and Chapter of York are the patrons of the living, which is a rectory, valued at £250, and held by the Rev. H. G. Kinnear, M.A., who has a good rectory house, erected in 1869. The National School was erected in 1872, and is supported by voluntary subscriptions, Government grant, &c.

CAVE (SOUTH), is a small town and parish, 3½ miles from Brough railway station, in Beverley union and county court district, South Hunsley Beacon division of Harthill wapentake, Howden rural deanery and East Riding archdeaconry. The parish has a rateable value of £10,553, and had 960 inhabitants in 1881, living on 4207 acres. Markets and fairs were formerly held here, but these are now obsolete. The owners of the soil are C. E. G. Barnard, Esq., J.P. (the lord of the manor), G. G. Macturk, Esq., and a large number of freeholders. Sir John Washington, who emigrated to America about 1657, and who was the great grandfather of George Washington, of undying memory, had lands and resided in this parish. In 1882, a tombstone was found underneath the vestry floor bearing the name of "Sarah Washington," but the rest of the inscription has not yet been deciphered. The CHURCH (All Saints), is a small ancient structure, consisting of nave, north aisle, transept, and tower containing three bells. The living is a vicarage of the gross yearly value of £290, in the gift of C. E. G. Barnard, Esq., and in the incumbency of the Rev. Wm. Teesdale Mackintosh, M.A. Mrs. Barnard supports a Church of England school for girls, and there is another for boys. The Wesleyans, Independents, and the Primitive Methodists have chapels here. The Temperance Hall was built in 1856.

CARRIERS to Hull—Robert Donkin, jun., Thos. Donkin, John Glew, jun., Hy. Pinder, Tues. & Friday

COTTINGHAM is a large village, with many handsome houses, situated on a rivulet, and on the York and Market Weighton branch of the North Eastern Railway, 5 miles N.W. by W. of Hull, and 5 miles S. of Beverley. Its parish is in Sculcoates union, Hunsley Beacon division of Harthill wapentake, Hull county court district, Howden rural deanery, and East Riding archdeaconry. It contains 9295 acres of fertile land, and had in 1871 4010 inhabitants. Lieut.-Col. Haworth Booth, J.P. is lord of the manors of Cottingham, Richmond, Westmoreland, and Powes-with-Baynard Castle. The Rev. Alfred Codd, James L. Challis, Esq., J. W. Pease, Esq., and H. N. Middleton, Esq. are the lords of Sarum manor, and D. P. Peploe is lord of Cottingham manor. Its manorial mansion, designated Baynard Castle, was destroyed by fire in 1541, and its destruction is said to have been a sacrifice made by the owner, to avert the awful consequences apprehended from the contaminating presence of the uxorious Henry VIII. The parish CHURCH, built in 1272, and dedicated to the Blessed Virgin Mary, is a large Gothic structure, consisting of nave, aisles, chancel, and transepts, with a handsome tower rising from the centre, and containing four bells and a clock. The vicarage, valued at £300, is in the patronage of the Bishop of Chester, and incumbency of the Rev. Charles Overton, who has a good residence. The Independents, Wesleyans, and Primitive Methodists have each a chapel in the village. The National Schools in Finkle Street are now used as the Board Schools, and were opened as such in 1877. The average attendance of boys is 120, and of infants 70. The Girls' School in Northgate has an average attendance of 105. COTTINGHAM SCHOOL BOARD was formed February, 1877, and the present members, elected February, 1880, are Rev. Thomas Rain (chairman), Mr. W. J. Atkinson (vice-chairman), Rev. C. Overton, Mr. Daniel Stonehouse, and Mr. George Tranmer. The Board have built 1 school of 2 departments, and 1 of 1 department, at a cost of £4300. Two existing schools are used by the Board, viz., the National School at a nominal rent, and the Girls' School is rented by them. The number of pupils in average attendance is 935, and is equal to the present school accommodation. At Dunswell, the Board have opened a school for girls and infants. J. P. Chatham, Esq. is clerk to the Board, whose office is at 7 Bowlalley Lane, Hull, and board room at Cottingham. Gas Works were erected in 1856. NEWLAND, about 2½ miles from the village, and 1½ mile from Hull, has a modern CHURCH, dedicated to St. John. The Rev. Malet Lambert, B.A. is incumbent of the vicarage, which is valued at £300, and is in the patronage of the vicar of Cottingham. Here are also a National School and a Wesleyan Chapel. At Dunswell is a Primitive Methodist Chapel. Cottingham Literary and Reading Society was established in 1855, and has a library of 400 volumes. D. Wilson, Esq., J.P. is president, and Mr. William D. Richardson, jun., secretary. Cottingham Penny Bank, a branch of the Yorkshire Penny Bank, was opened in 1876. Its deposits on December 31, 1881, amounted to £986 1*s*. D. Wilson, Esq. is president, and Mr. C. W. Arden, actuary. The Local Board was formed on February 11, 1864, and has its offices in Market Green. J. S. Moss, Esq. is clerk, R. W. Cooper, Esq., medical officer, and Mr. G. B. Stephenson, surveyor and inspector of nuisances. The East Riding Police Station is in Finkle Street. The HULL WATERWORKS are at Springhead and Stoneferry in this parish.

POST, MONEY ORDER, AND TELEGRAPH OFFICE AND SAVINGS BANK at Mr. Joseph Longley's, Hall gate. ESKE is a township 3½ miles N.E. of Beverley, on the east side of the river Hull, and containing 1130 acres of land, belonging to Col. Telford, and has 30 inhabitants. It is in North Hunsley Beacon division, Beverley union, county court district, and polling district. There are two farms, in the occupation respectively of Mr. Thomas Brompton, of Nursery Cottage, Wilbert Lane, Beverley, who is also surveyor of roads, and Mr. Richard Mook, who lives here.

POST from Beverley.

ETTON is a parish and village 4½ miles N.W. from Beverley, in North Hunsley Beacon division, Beverley union, county court district, and polling district, containing 3960 acres of land, and 498 inhabitants. Lord Hotham owns all the soil except about 600 acres, which is the property of W. Gilby, Esq., lord of the manor. The CHURCH (St. Mary) is mostly in the Norman style, and consists of nave, south aisle, chancel, and a tower containing three bells and a clock. The nave and aisle were rebuilt in 1844–6, and the chancel at a later date by the Rev. Canon Dixon, who was then rector. The church contains several stained windows—one placed by the rector to the memory of the late Mrs. and Miss Laura Vernon; one inserted by Col. Grimston in memory of his uncle, formerly of this parish; one is in memory of the wife of the Rev. Mr. Machell, many years curate of this parish; one in memory of the late Rev. W. H. Vernon of Wootton, Bedfordshire, placed by his sons; also one in memory of Mrs. Lockey, placed by her relations. All the windows are by Wailes of Newcastle, except the one placed by Col. Grimston, which is by Capronnier of Brussels. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £29 9*s.* 4½*d.*, and now at £636 per annum, with 40 acres of glebe. It is in the patronage of Lord Hotham, and the incumbency of the Rev. Canon Vernon, who has a good rectory house. The National School was built in 1856, and is attended by 72 children. The Primitive Methodist Chapel was built in 1845. The charities of the parish consist of four acres of land at Flaxfleet, purchased with £60, the amount of three benefactions, and now producing £7 a year, also the dividends of £300, 4 per cent. consolidated annuities, purchased with £200, left by William Wilson, in 1816, and now producing £9 18*s.*, which is distributed in bread. An annual feast is held here in the month of August called Etton Cherry Feast. The kennels of the Holderness Fox Hounds are here, and two packs are regularly kept, and supported by subscriptions. Arthur Wilson, Esq., of Tranby Croft, is the master; Charles Orvis, huntsman; David Dalby, first whip; and Edward Evans, second whip.

GREAT GRIMSBY.

GREAT GRIMSBY is an ancient parliamentary and municipal borough, market town, and a large and important seaport, and one of the polling places for the Parts of Lindsey, situated on the southern shore, and near the mouth of the broad estuary of the Humber, 16 miles S.E. of Hull, 16 miles N. by W. of Louth, 35 miles N.E. by N. of Lincoln, and 163 miles N. of London by road, and 154 by rail. It is in the Parts of Lindsey, Caistor union, Grimsby county court district, and petty sessional division, Grimsby polling district of North Lincolnshire, Grimsby (No. 2) rural deanery of Stow archdeaconry, and has a commission of the peace. Its parish contains 1838 acres of land and 910 of water; and its inhabitants amounted, in 1801, to 1524; in 1811, to 2747; in 1821, to 3064; in 1831, to 4225; in 1841, to 3700; in 1851, to 8860; in 1861, to 11,067; and in 1871, to 20,238; and in 1881, to 26,182; including the hamlet of Wellow. The rapid increase in size and population within the last few years is mainly attributable to the opening of the docks, the facility of railway communication, and the large fishing trade. The municipal borough still comprises only the parish of Great Grimsby, but the parliamentary borough was extended by the Reform Act of 1832 so as to embrace also the seven parishes of Clee (with Cleethorpes), Great and Little Coates, Bradley Laceby, Waltham and Scartho; so that it now extends over about 16,347 acres, and had 26,496 inhabitants in 1871. By the Reform Act of 1832, the borough was limited to one representative in Parliament, instead of two, as formerly. Grimsby had a mayor as early as the reign of King John, and sent two members to the parliament which assembled at Shrewsbury, in 1283. The right of voting, as determined by the House of Commons, in 1793, was in the resident free burgesses paying scot and lot; and every person marrying a freeman's daughter or widow was entitled to his freedom. By the great increase in population during the last thirty years, and the extension of the franchise by the Representation of the People Act, 1867, there are now 6562 voters on the register for the parliamentary borough, of whom 4473 are in Grimsby, where there are 4650 municipal voters. A man marrying a freeman's daughter or widow still enjoys the privileges of a freeman, as also does an apprentice after serving seven years to a freeman.

Great Grimsby had anciently two churches, and was defended by two block houses; but historians differ considerably respecting its origin and early history. Camden ridicules the story 'that it was founded by a merchant named Gryme, who obtained great riches in consequence of having brought up an exposed child, called Havelce, who proved to be of royal Danish blood, and from being scullion in the King's kitchen, had the honour of marrying the king's daughter,' but whether fictitious or true, the corporation seal, which is very ancient, emblematically gives countenance to this statement. Holles supposes that the town was founded by a Norwegian pirate, and McPherson observes 'Grimsby is noted by the Norwegian or Icelandic (sic) writers, as an emporium resorted to by merchants from Norway, Scotland, Orkney, and the Western Islands.' The seven artificial hills or tumuli, in the adjacent marshes, show that Grimsby was a place of consequence among the Romanised Britons. In the reign of Edward III. the port was of such consequence as to supply eleven ships and 170 mariners for the siege of Calais. Its trade afterwards declined, and its harbour being neglected at length became so choked with the mud deposits of the Humber, that only small vessels could get up to the town; in which state it continued till the latter part of last century, when some of the principal landed proprietors of the neighbourhood raised a subscription for the improvement of the harbour, as well as the drainage of their estates. In 1796 they obtained an Act of Parliament incorporating them under the title of 'The Grimsby Haven Company,' which act was amended by another in 1799; and a custom house was soon afterwards built here by order of the Lords of the Treasury. The spacious dock, and the other works connected with this improvement of the haven, were completed at a cost of about £70,000, and was opened in December, 1800; and during the succeeding 20 years many large warehouses, and granaries, and several corn, bone, and oil mills, were built upon the eastern or town side of the dock, and extends nearly a mile in length, having a floating of about 15 acres, it is now called the Alexandra Dock. This dock being long and narrow has the appearance of a broad canal, and is supplied with fresh water from a number of small rivulets to it from the Wolds hills, at the distance of six or eight miles, across the intervening low lands. A swing bridge, which has been constructed across the Wharf, is a great advantage to the public traffic, and has opened this valuable portion of the Corporation property. It is entered from the Humber by a lock, 150 feet long and 37 broad, in which the fresh water raises the vessels to the dock level, and after they have passed into the dock, the lock water is let out, and assists materially in scouring out the long and narrow silty channel extending from the lock to the deep waters of the Humber, and besides this, a powerful scouring machine is used at the time of spring tides, which effectually clears the bottom of deposits. The dock and other improvements of the old Haven Company, saved Grimsby from the entire loss of its trade and commerce. Mr. James Raynor is Alexandra Dock master.

The ancient borough and port of Grimsby is at the mouth of the broad estuary of the Humber, about 5 miles from its outlet into the sea, and has in front of it a deep and extensive roadstead, with excellent anchorage in blue clay, protected from the storms of the German Ocean by the opposite promontory of Spurn Point. In this roadstead as many as 1500 vessels may ride safely in all weathers. It was these natural advantages which gave it its early maritime importance in the times of the Danes and Saxons; but in common with other ports on the coast, not backed with an inland navigation to populous manufacturing districts, Grimsby fell into decay, while Hull took its place as a foreign, and Gainsborough as an inland port.

The construction of canals from the manufacturing districts to the Trent, the Ouse, and other navigable rivers, threw seaboard ports like Grimsby still more into the background.

The old Dock, now called the Alexandra Dock, by permission of H.R.H. the Princess of Wales, completed in December 1800, was the first attempt to improve the harbour by artificial means, and ever since then Grimsby has enjoyed an increasing import trade in timber, deals, oil, seeds, cake, &c., brought from the Baltic, Norway and North America. Railways have the power of restoring to ports like Grimsby a share of the advantages of which they had been deprived by the want of an inland navigation; especially where steamships carry on a great portion of the seaborne trades. When a steamer can run into a port as soon as it makes land, and can transfer its cargo to railway wagons, that cargo may be delivered 150 miles off, before another steamer can grope its way up the intricate navigation of a river at night. The spirited, but until lately ill-remunerated proprietors of the Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Railway, which has its eastern terminus at Grimsby, determined to avail themselves of the natural advantages of this port by making an extensive new dock, &c., in the silty shoals of the Humber, extending to the deep waters of the estuary, and capable of receiving the largest class of steamers. They opened their Railway from Manchester and Sheffield to Grimsby, in March, 1848, and at the same time, the East Lincolnshire Railway from Grimsby to Louth and Boston was opened; thus connecting this rising port with the great network of railways now traversing all parts of the kingdom. The capital expended here by the Company of proprietors of the Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Railway, and the Grimsby Docks, in the purchase of the Alexandra Dock, &c., has been about one million sterling. The length of this costly railway and its branches is about 254 miles, and has running powers over 421 miles; but the whole distance from Grimsby to Manchester is only 110 miles. In 1845, this Railway Company obtained an Act of Parliament authorising them to expend about half a million of money in making the New Dock, Tidal Basin, &c.; an area of about 125 acres had to be embanked in, from the silt beds of the Humber, extending 1¼ mile to the deep channel of the estuary. The first pile of the coffer dam was driven in April, 1846, and in constructing it alone upwards of 8500 sheathed piles of Memel timber were used, each of the average length of 50 feet. The first stone of the new dock, now called the Royal Dock, in commemoration of Her Majesty's visit in 1854, was laid by Prince Albert on the 18th April, 1849, and the dock was opened in the summer of 1852. The Royal Dock has a water area of upwards of 25 acres, and a depth of 26 feet. It is supplied with fresh water from the Alexandra Dock and its sources. In case of need a whole fleet of war steamships could be in this dock, and reach the German Ocean by half an hour's steaming. Wharves and quays extend on both sides of the dock, upwards of 3600 feet in length, and are traversed by railways extending from the main lines and going into the long ranges of sheds and warehouses. The tidal basin in the Humber, fronting the Royal Dock, has an area of 15 acres, and its depth is 22 feet at high water ordinary neap tides, and 26 feet at high water ordinary spring tides. The Royal Dock is entered from the tidal basin by two locks, constructed of massive masonry and furnished with double sets of gates, for ebb and flood tides. The larger lock was constructed pursuant to an agreement with Government, to admit the largest class of war steamers. It is 300 feet long, and 70 feet broad. The smaller lock designed for general purposes, is 200 feet long and 45 broad. The lock gates are worked by hydraulic machinery, and can be opened and closed with ease and rapidity. The quays, sheds, and warehouses are provided with cranes, worked by hydraulic machinery, and other powerful means, by which the most ponderous goods can be rapidly and economically transferred from the ship to the railway wagon or the warehouse.

A convenient landing quay of masonry is constructed within and on each side of the tidal basin, alongside which large vessels can safely lie at any time of the tide, and land or embark passengers or goods. Steamers are now regularly despatched after the arrival of the Continental trains from Liverpool (Brunswick Station), Manchester, Bradford, Leeds, Sheffield, &c., &c., reaching the docks at 3.45 p.m. for Hamburg, Rotterdam, and Antwerp, every Wednesday and Saturday. The passengers are taken alongside the steamers, and their luggage put on board without additional expense. Steamers with goods are also dispatched daily. James Reed, Esq., is portmaster, and general superintendent. About five acres of the upper end of the Royal Dock were originally reserved as a timber pond, but half the area has now been converted into a deep water dock, and a new quay wall of solid masonry has been constructed round the greater portion of this end of the dock. A tower 300 feet high is built between the lock and gates, and serves as an accumulator for the hydraulic engines and cranes, and also as a landmark, as it can be seen over Spurn Point, and at a considerable distance out at sea. The Spurn Lights guide vessels entering the Humber in the night. Since 1852 other dock accommodations have been in progress, and include a new sea entrance to the fish dock, a new dock for the fishing trades, eleven acres in extent. A graving dock, 400 feet in length, and 50 feet wide, capable of receiving and docking ten large deep sea smacks at one time. Two large transit warehouses, and a grain warehouse connected by machinery direct to the quay side, by means of belts upon which the grain is run to any part of the warehouse; the motive power employed for this work is a 16-horse-power gas engine, one of the largest yet erected. The greatest improvements have however been made in the construction of the new dock works to the west of the town. To provide for the rapidly increasing trade in timber and coal, the Railway Company decided upon purchasing a large area of land for further dock works. For this purpose about 100 acres of the West Marsh estate was purchased from the Corporation, and a further quantity from Lord Yarborough, and other landowners. Before making a dock on this site it was however necessary to make a means of access to it with a depth of water sufficient for large vessels, and the present Union Dock was therefore commenced in 1873, to give access direct from the Royal Dock and main sea entrances; although the extent of this dock is not large, the work has been of the most costly nature, owing to the very bad foundation met with; the walls are of masonry, in some places 25 feet in thickness, and are built upon a foundation of piles and concrete, the piles having been driven to a depth of 40 to 50 feet below the bottom of the walls. The lock is crossed by a swing bridge, which is worked on the principle of a crane by hydraulic power obtained from an accumulator which is placed in a building close adjoining, the water pressure given being 700 lbs. to the square inch. The whole of this machinery was supplied by Messrs. Tannett, Walker & Co., of Leeds, all the other work throughout the docks was carried out by Messrs. Logan & Hemingway.

On July 22, 1879, this dock was formally opened by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, the Princess of Wales at the same time giving her consent to the naming of the Old Dock the Alexandra Dock. During the progress of the Union Dock, the other works were rapidly pushed forward, and a new railway leaving the main line between the Grimsby and Great Coates Stations was constructed and carried through the land purchased from the Corporation up to the west side of the existing docks. The object of this will be to divert the greater portion of the heavy traffic by the new line and thus prevent the delay and crowding of this on the lines leading through the centre of the town. At the same time the large new timber dock of 26 acres in extent, and which now forms a part of the Alexandra Dock was rapidly pushed forward, and is now in full use, together with the improvements of the Alexandra Dock, a quay on one side nearly 2000 feet long having been constructed. The quayage of the timber dock is an addition to this 5150 feet in length, and Grimsby will with these improvements have a water area of 97¼ acres, a still further area of 19 acres being contemplated.

Grimsby has a direct railway communication with London and all parts of the kingdom by means of the East Linconshire Branch of the Great Northern, and Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire lines, which have at their junction in the south-western end of the town a large passenger station, called Town Station. The other, called Dock Station, which is situated near the entrance to the docks, was opened in the year 1863, when a branch line from the town to Cleethorpes, having a station at Clee, was completed by the Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Company. The goods station of the last-named Company is in Queen Street, that belonging to the Great Northern Company being situated in Pasture Street. The quantity of timber shipped at Grimsby during 1879 was 332,633 tons; and the quantity of fish brought in and forwarded by rail was 49,469 tons. The weight of timber imported during 1879 was 183,466 tons. The fishing trade, which is the staple business of the town, is one of the great sources of wealth to Grimsby, and has increased to such an extent during the last few years that it was found necessary, in 1868, to enlarge the dock appropriated to this traffic to more than double its original size, and it now covers an area of upwards of 12 acres. In 1860 about 4537 tons of fish were sent from here by railway to London, Manchester, and other markets, but in 1870 the quantity sent reached 26,324 tons; and at the present time no less than 1100 tons per week are being despatched. During 1871 over 60 new smacks were built and added to the Grimsby fleet of fishing vessels, and it is estimated that there are 2000 fishing apprentices belonging to this port. About 800 vessels are engaged in this trade. The Anglo-French Steam Ship Company, established in 1856, transferred its undertaking, in 1865, to the Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Company, which has now a fine fleet of large steamers plying weekly to Hamburg, Rotterdam, and Antwerp. Mr. George Copley is marine superintendent, and Messrs. Sutcliffe & Sons the traffic agents. The Anglo-French Transit Company, formed in 1856, has five screw steamers plying every alternate day between this port and Dieppe. Mr. H. Josse is agent. Coal is largely exported from Grimsby, and its shipment is effected by means of drops, so constructed that a vessel can be loaded with a thousand tons in one day. The number of vessels belonging to this port in 1856 was 110, with an aggregate tonnage of 6979 tons; while in 1871, 378 vessels were registered, having a tonnage of 26,424, showing that in 16 years the number of ships and their tonnage were nearly quadrupled. The number of vessels which arrived here from foreign ports in 1855 was 309; in 1865, 907; and in 1871, 1171. The number outwards in 1855 was 281; in 1865, 768; and in 1871, 1206. The number of vessels that entered the port from and to FOREIGN COUNTRIES and BRITISH POSSESSIONS in 1879 (with cargoes), was 1187, with a tonnage of 357,651; 671 vessels were sailers, and 516 steamers; the tonnage of the former was 147,757, and of the latter 209,894. The number that cleared (with cargoes) was 961, having a tonnage of 341,733; 438, with a tonnage of 121,773 were sailers, and 523, with a tonnage of 219,960, were steamers. In ballast, entered, 32 sailers of 3862 tons, and 21 steamers of 10,970 tons; cleared, 218 sailers of 48,513 tons, and 1 steamer of 1276 tons. Total with cargoes and in ballast, entered, 703 sailers of 151,619 tons, and 537 steamers of 220,864 tons, total 1240 vessels of 372,483 tons; cleared 656 sailers of 170,286 tons, 524 steamers of 221,236 tons, total 1180 vessels of 391,522 tons. In the COASTING TRADE (with cargoes) entered, 1203 sailers of 53,366 tons, and 11 steamers of 1630 tons, total 1214 vessels of 54,996 tons; cleared, 1159 sailers of 58,393 tons, and 35 steamers of 14,607 tons, total 1194 vessels of 73,000 tons. In ballast, entered, 770 sailers of 61,797 tons, and 122 steamers of 51,445 tons, total 892 vessels of 113,242 tons; cleared, 773 sailers of 34,762 tons, and 56 steamers of 34,363 tons, total 829 vessels of 69,125 tons. Total, entered, 2106 vessels of 168,238 tons; cleared, 2023 vessels of 142,125 tons. GRAND TOTAL of foreign and coasting trade:—entered with cargoes, 2401 vessels of 412,647 tons; cleared with cargoes, 2155 vessels of 414,733 tons; in ballast, entered, 945 vessels of 128,074 tons; cleared, 1048 vessels of 118,914 tons. Total with cargoes and in ballast, entered, 3346 vessels of 540,721 tons; cleared, 3203 vessels of 533,647 tons. The number of vessels belonging to the port, registered under the Merchants Shipping Act, was 604 sailers of 39,494 tons, and 33 steamers of 9063 tons, total 637 vessels of 48,557 tons. The number of boats registered under the Fisheries Act, 1868, was 552, having a tonnage of 33,793, in the first class; 16 with a tonnage of 130, in the second class; and 4 in the third class; making a total of 572, with a tonnage of 33,932. The certificates of 196 boats were endorsed in 1879, and 1085 men and boys are required to work them. About 3627 men and boys, resident within the limits of the port, are constantly engaged in fishing, and 125 are occasionally so employed. The number of vessels built during the year was 19 (2 of iron and 17 of wood), and their tonnage 1301. The value of the TOTAL IMPORTS of foreign and colonial merchandise was £3,591,346 in 1875, £4,076,796 in 1877, £4,049,104 in 1878, and £3,415,490 in 1879. The gross amount of Customs revenue received was £75,796 in 1875, £89,825 in 1876, £83,330 in 1877, £108,575 in 1878, and £127,717 in 1879. The value of the TOTAL EXPORTS was £10,149,580 in 1875, £8,993,004 in 1876, £7,509,439 in 1877, £7,198,518 in 1878, and £7,389,735 in 1879.

The NEW CUSTOM HOUSE, on the Cleethorpe Road, was built in 1873–5, at a cost of £6000. Mr. John McCormack, collector; Messrs. S. Walmsley, R. Blow, F. Forder, J. B. Boyle, and S. E. Thomas, clerks; Mr. A. J. Kerr, surveyor; Mr. John William Fann, writer; Messrs. C. Forder, G. Fuller, G. Baglee, J. Howgego, R. Quine, P. Tierney, E. P. Jenkins, H. Baglee, and J. Forrest, examining officers; twenty-five out-door officers, and sixteen extras. There is a Coastguard Station at Cleethorpe, under the charge of a chief officer. There are now twelve pilots residing here. The total amount of duties received at the Custom House was for the years ending respectively March 31, 1870, £101,582; 1871, £81,785.

An INTERNATIONAL SIGNAL STATION belonging to the port, is connected with its shipping interest, and the friends on shore of those on board ships anchoring through stress of weather in Grimsby roads, within the Spurn, &c., are thereby enabled to communicate immediately with them.

The town of Grimsby extends about a mile and a half southward from the New Docks, and is bounded on the west by the Great Coates and Grimsby branch of the Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Railway, which skirts the parish of Little Coates. The main street, running nearly the whole length of the town, was called Loft Street, but was named Victoria Street, in honour of her Majesty's visit, in October, 1854; and many of the old and low buildings have given place to spacious houses and shops. What was formerly the West Marsh now forms a thickly populated district, in which is situated the New Hospital and Board Schools, &c. In 1848 an Act of Parliament was obtained, constituting the Corporation a Local Board of Health; and in 1853, another Act was passed for the general improvement of the town, with powers to levy rates for providing a new Market Place, a new Town Hall, a General Cemetery. GREAT GRIMSBY WATER WORKS were established in 1863 by a company of shareholders, whose present capital is £40,000, and were formerly supplied from those extraordinary fountains called the Blow Wells (but now Artesian Wells) near Little Coates, about a mile from the town, and from which an unfailing supply of pure water is obtained; and from the pumping works there is forced into a reservoir, 70 feet high, at Scartho, from which it is conveyed by pipes to all parts of the town, including New Clee. The Cemetery comprises about 8½ acres, and cost about £2500. Half of it was consecrated by the Bishop, July 24, 1855. It has two mortuary chapels, one of which is in the Decorated style of the 14th century, and the other in the plainer style of the 12th century. For enlarging and improving the Market Place, the Corporation borrowed £5000, and purchased and pulled down a large range of old buildings, called Butcher Lane, &c., on part of the site of which they built (in 1856) a Corn Exchange and Market Hall, at the cost of about £3500. The building is of brick with stone quoins, and the entrance has a domed cupola. The old Town Hall, built in 1780, was taken down, and a large new Town Hall, with a Gaol and Police Station attached, was erected, at a cost of £8500, raised by the sale of land and stock, except the sum of £3000, which was borrowed. The open Market Places called the Central Market (in which stands the Clock Tower, erected by Edward Bannister, Esq., during his mayoralty in 1870), and Freeman Street Market are used on Saturday evenings. The weekly market is held on Friday. There is also a corn and a cattle market held on Mondays, the latter in Brighow Gate, near the Parish Church. The old chartered annual fairs for cattle, &c., formerly held June 17 and September 15, have been obsolete several years. The Town Council have taken the site of the present Cattle Market and 2,042 square yards of additional land adjoining on lease for 50 years from Lord Yarborough, at an annual rent of £50.

The GAS WORKS, originally established in 1837 by Mr. Richard Holme, in Loft Street, but removed to Holme Street in 1851 by a company of shareholders, have been transferred to Sheepfold Street, where works extending over 7 acres of land have been constructed under the Act of 1867, from designs by Mr. Jowett, the manager and engineer. The gasholder will hold 600,000 cubic feet, and the retort can produce 700,000 cubic feet every twenty-four hours. There are also works for making sulphate of ammonia. The price of gas is 3*s.* 3*d.* per 1000 cubic feet. The present capital of the company is £90,529.

Since the opening of the new docks several new streets have been opened, and the town is now rapidly improving in size and appearance. On the eastern and western sides called the East and West Marshes, entire new towns have sprung up, with spacious churches, chapels, and schools; the town is also extending itself into the parish of Clee, and foaming NEW CLEE, a rapidly increasing suburb. The Yarborough Hotel, near the railway station, was erected in 1851, by the Earl of Yarborough, and is a large, handsome, and well-conducted establishment; and, in 1864, a large and handsome building, called the Royal Hotel, was erected near the Dock Station by a company of shareholders, at a cost of £7000. The present capital is £22,000; Mr. George Copley is secretary. The toll bars, which so long existed at each end of the town, were removed in 1856. Under an Act passed in 1869, a Swing Bridge, 283 feet in length, has been constructed by the Corporation, at a cost of £10,000, over the old dock, extending from Freeport Wharf to the West Marshes; and a Foot Bridge, 620 feet long, has been thrown over the Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Railway, from King Edward Street into Market Street. These two bridges connect the new town on the east side with the new town on the property of the Corporation on the West Marsh.

CORPORATION.—As noticed on page 42, the Municipal Borough of Great Grimsby comprises only the parish of Great Grimsby, but the Parliamentary borough was extended, by the Reform Act of 1832, to seven other parishes. The municipal borough received its first charter from King John, and its last from James II., under which it was governed by a mayor, a high steward, recorder, eleven aldermen, twelve common councilmen, two coroners, a town clerk, and other officers. The mayor, recorder, and two of the aldermen were justices of the peace, and held a Court of Quarter Sessions for the borough; but this was abolished by the Municipal Reform Act of 1832, under which the borough is now governed by a Town Council, consisting of a mayor, four aldermen, and twelve councillors, with a commission of the peace, comprising the mayor and ten borough magistrates. The Corporation, or Town Council, appoint the borough officers, and, as already noticed, the Improvement Act conferred upon them the powers of a Local Board of Health. A Court Leet and Baron is held here occasionally. Petty Sessions for the borough are held every Monday and Thursday at the Town Hall; and for this part of Lincolnshire, on every alternate Tuesday at the County Police Office, which was built in Upper Burgess Street in 1875. W. H. Daubney, Esq., is clerk to the county magistrates. The Corporation property yields a yearly revenue of about £2000, out of which they have to support the Corporation Schools, &c. The FREEMEN'S ESTATE, formerly used as pastures for their cattle, now comprises ten closes of land and eighty garden plots in the Little Field and Haycroft Pastures, about 80 acres in the East Marsh, now a populous part of the town, the whole producing a yearly rental of upwards of £3000. Of this income, one-twentieth part of the rent of the land is paid to the Corporation, and after paying incidental expenses, the remainder, amounting to more than £2000 per annum, is divided amongst 700 enrolled freemen and freemen's widows, yielding about £4 10*s.* to each. A Freemen's Committee is appointed yearly for the management of this property. The gold chain worn by the mayor, was purchased by subscription, at the cost of 100 guineas, in commemoration of Prince Albert laying the first stone of the Royal Dock, in April, 1849, and attached to it is a beautiful gold clasp, on the back of which is engraved, 'In commemoration of the visit to the borough of her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, his Royal Highness Prince Albert, the Prince of Wales, and other members of the royal family, on October 14, 1851.' In 1879, the mayor, H. J. Veal, Esq., had the mace, with other insignia of office, restored, to commemorate the visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales on July 24, to unveil the statue to the late Prince Consort, and to open the Union Docks, when the old dock was named the Alexandra Dock. The statue of bronze, representing the Prince standing in his robes with a scroll in his hands, is the gift of Sir E. Watkin, M.P., and stands in grounds tastefully laid out, on the Cleethorpe Road.

TOWN COUNCIL (1881-82).

Moody, John Sowerby (non-resident), John Marshall, P. K. Seddon, James Reed, Edward Bannister, Henry James Veal, Thomas Bell Keetley, Thomas Charlton, Enoch Palmer, James Meadows, Jack Sutcliffe, Stephen Oates, Edward Heneage (non-resident), W. T. Winteringham, Henry Smethurst, Joseph Bennett, J. P. Atkinson, C. A. Marshall, and Robert Norfolk. William Grange, Esq., is Clerk to the Magistrates.

The BOROUGH POLICE FORCE comprises Mr. Job Waldram, chief constable, who resides at the Town Hall, seven sergeants, and twenty-three constables.

The COUNTY COURT, held monthly, at the Town Hall, for the recovery of debts or damages to the amount of £50, has in its district the 30 parishes, &c., of Ashby-cum-Fenby, Aylesby, Barnoldby-le-Beck, Beelsby, Beesby, Bradley, Brigsley, Clee, Cleethorpes, Great and Little Coates, Great Grimsby, Grainsby, Hatcliffe, Hawerby, Habrough, Healing, Holton-le-Clay, Humberstone, Irby, Immingham, Laceby, Scartho, Stallingborough, East and West Ravendale, Tetney, Waith, Waltham, and Wold Newton. It has also been constituted a LOCAL COURT OF BANKRUPTCY, embracing, in addition to the places already named, the County Court districts of Louth, Brigg, Caistor, and Barton-upon-Humber; and it has also a jurisdiction under the Admiralty over all those places having a sea shore. Jas. Stephen, Esq., LL.D., is judge; W. H. Daubney, Esq., registrar; J. U. S. Smith, Esq., high bailiff; John Wake, chief clerk, and J. W. Hartley, sub-bailiff.

MONASTERIES.—Here were formerly several religious houses; and many ancient monuments, which have been removed from their ruins, are now deposited in St. James' Church. The ABBEY OF WELLOW was a monastery of Black Canons, said to have been built about 1110: its revenues, amounting in those times to £152 7*s.* 4*d.* per annum, were surrendered to Henry VIII. in 1539, by Robert Whitgift, the abbot, and the canons; and that monarch afterwards granted them by letters patent, dated May 22nd, 1539, to Sir Thomas Heneage and the Lady Catherine his wife, and their heirs male for ever, in exchange for the lordship of Barton-upon-Humber. ST. LEONARD'S NUNNERY was a small religious society of Benedictine Nuns, established before 1185, probably by Henry I. At the suppression of this house, in 1543, its possessions were given by Henry VIII. to the Dean and Chapter of Westminster, and afterwards to the Master and Fellows of Trinity College, Cambridge; but this, as well as the Augustine Friary, is now the property of the Earl of Yarborough. The FRANCISCAN MONASTERY, a convent of Grey Friars, built and endowed about 1308, and said to have been a royal foundation, is supposed to have been situated in a field near St. James' Church. This monastery was under the jurisdiction of St. Mary's, at York; as were also those at Boston, Lincoln, Scarborough, Beverley, and Doncaster. At the Dissolution, it was granted to the Dean and Chapter of Westminster, and afterwards to John Bellow and Augustine Porter, Esqrs. Its site is now the property of the Earl of Yarborough. The AUGUSTINE FRIARY was of the order of Black Friars, or Hermites, and was founded about 1280. It was pleasantly situated on an elevated spot of ground, not more than 200 yards westward from St. James' Church. It is described as having been a place of education, with a balcony which overlooked the meadows and distant villages, where the advantages of health and learning were delightfully combined. It was dissolved in 1543, and given to the Dean and Chapter of Westminster. The HOUSE OF HOSPITALLERS OF ST. JOHN OF JERUSALEM is supposed to have stood on the hill adjoining the Nunnery, which still retains the name of Spittal Hill. It was instituted for the relief and entertainment of travellers, previous to the establishment of inns. It is not known by whom it was endowed, but it is supposed to have originated with the Abbot of Wellow, the Prioress of St. Leonard's, and the merchants and gentry of Grimsby. The house and site on which it stood were given by Robert de Bassingburne; and at the Dissolution, were granted to the mayor and burgesses; but the estates formerly belonging to this institution are now in the possession of the Earl of Yarborough and E. Heneage, Esq., M.P.; those in Grimsby belonging to the former, and those in Weelsby to the latter.

CHURCHES AND CHAPELS.—In 1586, John Whitgift, Archbishop of Canterbury, succeeded in uniting the two parishes of St. Mary and St. James; and as the church of the former was then a ruin, he presented that of the latter, which formerly belonged to the Abbey of Wellow, to the inhabitants. ST. JAMES' is a spacious structure with a tower in the centre. Originally it was of greater extent, a part of the choir having fallen down about the year 1500; and the adjoining chantry exhibited such marks of decay, that it was entirely taken down, and its revenues transferred by charter, dated 12th July, 1549, to endow the Grammar School. The church now consists of a nave, two aisles, a spacious transept, with the tower rising from its centre; a small chapel, and a south porch. The nave is separated from the aisles by two rows of massive clustered pillars, supporting six well moulded pointed arches on each side, over which a beautiful triforium arcade runs uniformly, some of the arches of which are so lofty and lighted as to serve the purposes of a clerestory. The tower, which contains eight bells (hung in 1830), is a beautiful specimen of Early English architecture, and appears to have suffered less from the corrosive hand of time than any other part of the church, but is not at present considered strong enough to allow the bells to be rung. The windows of the aisles are plain circular beaded, utterly out of character with the original building. In 1877 a new roof was placed on the nave, and the west wall rebuilt, three lancet windows and a small oval one replacing the ruined Perpendicular one, which had filled their place for some centuries. The chancel is now (1882) being rebuilt on an enlarged scale at an estimated cost of £2100, the foundation stone of the new structure being laid on June 1, by E. Heneage, Esq. There still remains the rebuilding of the aisles, the restoration of the organ and organ chamber, of the chancel screen and the reredos. For this latter work, a fund is already being raised in memory of the late vicar, the Rev. Canon Ainslie. In 1858, about £2000 were spent in restoring the roof of the transept to its original pitch, taking down a gallery, repaving the church with tiles, &c. In the north transept is the recumbent effigy of Sir T. Haslerton; and around the font are several curiously engraved stones, bearing full-length figures, some of which are supposed to represent civic dignitaries of the 14th century. In the churchyard, now closed as a place of sepulture, there is the shaft of a beautiful cross, in the Early English style. The living is a vicarage, valued in K.B. at £14 18*s.* 4*d.*, and now at £532. Edward Heneage, Esq., M.P., is the impropriator, the Bishop of the Diocese is the patron of the living, and the Rev. J. P. Young, M.A., is the incumbent, and has a handsome vicarage house, erected in 1848, at the cost of £1100. In 1828, an Act was obtained for enclosing and relieving from tithes certain lands in this parish, and about half an acre was allotted for the repairs of the church. ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, the foundation stone of which was laid by Lord Wharncliffe, on October 24th, 1867, is a handsome building, in the Early English style, from designs of J. H. Hakewill, Esq., of London, and consists of nave of five bays, with clerestory and north and south aisles, chancel with aisles, south porch, and a tower surmounted with a broach spire. It was erected at a cost of about £8500, of which the munificent sum of £1000 was given by the Rev. Canon R. Ainslie, late vicar of the mother church. It stands in Freeman Street, at the corner of Church Street, on the site of a Mission Chapel, which for seven years was used as a place of worship, when it became insufficient for the requirements of the growing population. It was consecrated, and formally opened for divine service, by the Bishop of Lincoln, on Michaelmas Day, 1870. Its interior is well fitted up, and contains free sittings for about 1000 persons. In March, 1871, a district parish was assigned to this church, under the title of the District Chapelry of St. Andrew's. The benefice, which is endowed by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners with £233 a year, is in the gift of the Bishop of Lincoln, and incumbency of the Rev. W. Maples, M.A. The Rev. W. J. Whitworth is the curate. In connection with this church a mission has been conducted in Wellington Street, called St. Luke's, under the charge of the Rev. G. Bishop. A church is about to be built on Holme Hill, at the expense of E. Heneage, Esq., M.P., from plans by Mr. Withers, of London, and on its completion a district will be assigned it from St. Andrew's parish and Clee parish. ST. BARNABAS'S MISSION CHURCH, in King Edward Street, is a small iron structure, erected in 1874 at a cost of £500, and will seat 400 persons. The Rev. H. Hutchinson is the curate. ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST'S CHURCH, New Clee, consecrated on June 12, 1879, and consisting of nave, north and south aisles, chancel with organ chamber and vestry, has been erected in the Early English style, at a cost of £5000, and will accommodate 620 persons. A district was assigned the church, and gazetted December 12, 1879. The benefice, endowed by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners with £120 a year, is in the gift of the Bishop of Lincoln, and incumbency of the Rev. C. Warren, M.A. It has attached a Mission Room in Hamilton Street for Sunday School, &c. The site was given by A. W. Grant Thorold, Esq., of Westoby House, who also made a donation of £1300. Church and chapel accommodation in Grimsby has latterly kept pace with the rapidly increasing population. The BAPTIST CHAPEL, in Upper Burgess street, was built in 1824, rebuilt in 1838, and restored in 1870. The BAPTIST TABERNACLE, Victoria street, was erected in 1876 by Mr. John Brown, Grimsby, under the direction of Mr. Glover, architect, London. It is a handsome building, in the Romanesque style, containing 1100 sittings, and was erected at a cost of £3500. The old chapel in Freeman Street, in the Italian style, built in 1869, at a cost of £1500, is now used as a Sunday School. The first WESLEYAN CHAPEL here was a small building, erected in 1808; but it has given place to a much larger one, in George Street, erected in 1847, at a cost of £5000, including two dwellings for the ministers; and in 1860 a handsome chapel in the Gothic style was erected in Cleethorpes at a cost of about £3000; in 1868, a small school chapel was built in Duncombe Street, at a cost of £1000. The PRIMITIVE METHODISTS had two chapels here, which were sold about 1858: they have now five spacious chapels, one in Victoria Street, erected in 1859, at a cost of £3000; another on Cleethorpe Road, called Bethel, built in 1861, at a cost of £1600; one in Garibaldi Street, built in 1867; another on Cleethorpe Road, but in Clee parish, completed in 1871, at a cost of £1500; and a fifth in Flottergate, erected in 1880, at a cost of £600. The old INDEPENDENT CHAPEL, in Silver Street, is now used as an Infant School, the original congregation having joined the Baptists; but in 1861 a handsome brick Gothic structure, with a spire, was erected in Upper Spring Street, at a cost of £3000, by a new congregation. The FREE CHURCH METHODISTS have a chapel in Freeman Street, built in 1868, in lieu of the old WESLEYAN REFORMERS' chapel built in 1853. There is a SAILORS' BETHEL in Riby Street, in which service is held on Sunday afternoons. The PLYMOUTH BRETHREN have a meeting-room in Kent Street, in which service is held every Sunday. The ROMAN CATHOLICS are building a church on the Holme Hill, on a site of an acre and a half, at a cost of £6000, from designs by Messrs. Hadfield & Son, of Sheffield, which will be dedicated to St. Mary on the Sea. The Rev. Canon George Johnson is the priest, and resides at the Presbytery, adjoining the church, and built in 1874 at an expense of £800.

CORPORATION SCHOOLS.—By letters patent of Edward VI., dated 1547, license was granted to the mayor and burgesses to found a Free Grammar School, with a master and usher to instruct the children of Grimsby and the adjacent places in 'scientia grammaticuli,' and for this purpose they were empowered to receive lands not exceeding the clear yearly value of 40 marks; and Thomas Tomlynn, chaplain of the Perpetual Chantry, called 'Reynard's Chantry,' in St. James' Church, had license to convey to them all the lands, &c., belonging to the said chantry, then worth £4 5*s.* 6*d.* per annum. In 1552, Catherine Monson granted to the mayor and burgesses a yearly rent-charge of £7, out of lands at Goulceby, Asterby, and Scamblesby, towards the support of a master to teach children grammar and Latin, and it is now paid by Mrs. Bagnall's trustees. Though it is evident that the property of the dissolved chantry was intended for the sole benefit of the school, it was always treated as corporation property, and for a long period only £4 5*s.* 6*d.* was paid yearly to the master, as a rent-charge; but in 1786 the corporation allowed the master a yearly stipend of £20, which they afterwards increased to £40. In 1804, the completion of the old dock having greatly augmented the value of the corporation property, they increased the master's salary to £140 per annum, together with a house to live in rent free, and certain fees paid on the admission of scholars. In 1826 it was determined to apply larger sums for education, and in addition to the Grammar School there were established in 1827 a Preparatory School and two Dames' Schools. In 1851 the Dames' Schools were superseded by a large Girls' School, which was in its turn replaced in 1863 by a good building, placed near the Town Hall, at a cost of £650. In 1866 the Preparatory School was pulled down, the master receiving a superannuation pension of £30 per annum; and the Chantry House, in which the Grammar School had been held, was sold together with some adjoining land, and the present excellent building near the Town Hall erected at a cost of about £650, as a Boys' School. The CORPORATION SCHOOLS therefore now consist of a Boys' School on one side of the Town Hall and a Girls' on the other. Here a sound English education is given, and the opportunity is afforded of learning also French, German, and Latin. The head master of the Boys' School receives £150 a year, and the second master, appointed in 1865, £60. About 90 boys attend the school. The mistress of the Girls' School, which is attended by about 90 girls, receives a yearly salary of £70, the chief assistant £30, and the second assistant £10. The above payments, formerly considered as voluntary, have been made permanent by the Municipal Reform Act, the 68th section of which directs 'that all payments of seven years' standing or more, shall be continued and be secured by bond, under the new seal of the borough.' The corporation also supplies the scholars with books. All the children of freemen, born in the borough, are entitled to admission to these schools, and their education is entirely gratuitous.

The NATIONAL SCHOOLS, erected in the New Market in 1861, at a cost of about £1600, are plain brick buildings, with a master's house adjoining. The Boys' School is attended by about 110 scholars; while the Girls' School has about 200 girls and infants. ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH SCHOOLS, in Bridge Street, were erected, the boys' in 1860, and the girls' in 1869, at the expense of the vicar. The former is attended by about 80, and the latter by about 180 scholars. There are also Church Schools in Garden Street, Macaulay Street (Haycroft), King Edward Street (St. Barnabas'), and St. Paul's in the West Marsh. In Silver Street is an Infants' School, held in the old Independent Chapel, and supported by the Vicar.

The WESLEYAN SCHOOL, in Victoria Street, built in 1857, at a cost of £2200, is an excellent building; there is an attendance of about 560 children. The PRIMITIVE METHODISTS have a spacious School in Garibaldi Street, built in 1868, at a cost of £700, attended by 220 children; and they have opened an Infant School adjoining, at an outlay of £200, to accommodate 100 infants. The ROMAN CATHOLIC SCHOOL, on Holme Hill, was built in 1874, at a cost of £1000, and has accommodation for 325 children. A Library and Reading Room for Working Men is attached to the School. In Albert Street is a small RAGGED SCHOOL.

The SCHOOL BOARD now consists of Henry Smethurst, Esq. (chairman), Henry Bennett, Esq. (vice), Rev. Canon Johnson, Messrs. William Jackson, C. Snowden, G. S. Dobson, Rev. W. Maples, C. Morton, and Mrs. Wintringham. The offices are in the Town Hall, and William Grange, Esq., is clerk. Board Schools were built at Holme Hill (Hainton Street) in 1876, at a cost of £11,749, inclusive of site, to accommodate 1165 children; at West Marsh in 1880, at a cost of £5250 for 780 children; and in Hilda Street, New Clee, in 1877–8, at an outlay of £4950 for 520, but enlarged in 1879 so as to hold 761 children.

CHARITIES.—The poor of Grimsby parish have £4 a year out of land at Beesby, left by the Rev. John Fotherby, in 1619; and £5 a year out of the manor of Asterby, left by Anthony Acham, in 1638. The latter is dispensed in six distributions of bread. In 1626, M. Spencer, who was once town clerk of the borough, bequeathed 20*s.* a year, payable out of land for charitable purposes; and 5*s.*, the interest of £5 left by H. Greathead, in 1691, is also distributed amongst the poor. The Rev. J. Fotherby, a dean of Canterbury, his brother, Dr. Martin Fotherby, Bishop of Salisbury; and Gervase Holles, the industrious antiquary, were also natives of Grimsby. Dr. John Whitgift, Archbishop of Canterbury, was born here in 1530; Thomas Loggon, the dwarf, born here in 1706, the son of a tailor, was only 4 feet 1 inch in height.

The GRIMSBY and DISTRICT HOSPITAL, in the West Marsh, stands upon one acre of land leased to the trustees by the Corporation of Grimsby for 99 years at the nominal rent of 1*s.* was opened on May 22, 1877, by the Countess of Yarborough, had been built and furnished at a cost of £7359 10*s.* 1*d.* It is of Domestic Gothic architecture, and is built of red bricks with bath stone dressings. Over the entrance is a small tower and spirelet. The Earl of Yarborough is president; M. Broadhead, Esq., honorary secretary; Mr. Longbottom, house surgeon; Sir Henry Cooper, M.D., consulting physician; C. B. Moody, T. B. Keetley, J. E. Smith, M.D., G. S. Stephenson, M.B.; T. Anningson, L.R.C.P.; and R. Brocklesby, M.R.C.S., surgeons; and Smith, Ellison & Co., bankers.

The MECHANICS' INSTITUTION, established here in 1834, now occupies a building in Victoria Street, erected for its use in 1856, at the cost of about £1200. It comprises a large lecture hall, news room, well supplied with daily and weekly papers, a library containing about 2000 volumes, committee rooms, &c. This useful institution has nearly 300 members. During the winter season a course of lectures is delivered here. E. Bannister, Esq., is president; Mr. C. J. Hay, treasurer and hon. secretary; and Mr. Cartwright, librarian.

The FISHERLADS' INSTITUTE was erected, in 1880, on a site near the Docks, given Colonel Tomline, at a cost of about £3600. It includes large lecture hall and gymnasium, library, reading room, refreshment room, swimming bath, slipper baths, navigation room; and in the attic storeys dormitories for the occasional use of the lads. The building is of red bricks, with white and blue bands, stones being only used for sills, &c. The architect was Charles Bell, Esq., F.R.I.B.A., of London and Great Grimsby.

There are two NEWSPAPERS published in the town, viz.:—The Grimsby Observer and Humber News, established in 1871, is published by Mr. G. N. Nutt; and the Grimsby News, commenced in 1874, by the Grimsby Newspaper Printing and Publishing Company (limited), is issued every Friday at the offices in Victoria Street; Mr. A. Windle is manager.

The Freemasons of Grimsby, who are a numerous and influential body, have two lodges in the town. The Pelham Pillar Lodge, No. 792, established in 1859, meets in the Masonic Hall, in Osborne Street, erected in 1875 at a cost of £3600, on the first Thursday in each month; and the St. Alban's Lodge, No. 1294, instituted in 1870, meets at the Royal Hotel on the third Wednesday in every month. The Oliver Royal Arch Chapter was established in 1865 and the Sutcliffe Mark Chapter in 1875. Here is an ODD FELLOWS' HALL, built in 1854, at the cost of £800, in lieu of a smaller one erected in 1841, at the cost of £200, and which contains a large room, 73 feet long by 28 feet wide, capable of accommodating about 400 persons. It is the property of the Loyal Sovereign Lodge of Odd Fellows, formed in 1832, and now numbering about 400 members. Besides the Odd Fellows here are lodges of Foresters, Shepherds, and other secret orders; as well as several Friendly Societies, for affording aid in times of sickness, superannuation, or death. Great Grimsby and North Lincolnshire Permanent Building Society, (limited), was established about the year 1848, and has a numerous list of members. Mr. J. Wintringham junior, is its secretary. The Grimsby and Cleethorpes Permanent Benefit Building Society, instituted in 1866, is in a flourishing condition. Mr. A. Bates is its secretary. Besides these there are in the town several other co-operative building societies, by whose agencies upwards of 2000 persons have become owners of their dwellings. The SAVINGS BANK, held in a room at the Corn Exchange, and open twice a week for the transaction of business, was established in 1857, previous to which no Savings Bank existed in the town. There are (May 1881) 1083 depositors having deposits amounting to £13,833 13*s.* 5*d.* Mr. W. Grange is secretary and Mr. A. Whiteing auditor.

The TOWN HALL, standing close to Victoria street, is an elegant structure in the modern Italian style, built of white brick, with stone dressings and pilasters, in 1863, at a cost of £8500. It contains an excellent suite of apartments requisite for the transaction of municipal and public business, and its principal entrance is through a handsome balconied portico. The façade is embellished with medallion busts of Queen Victoria, Prince Consort, Edward III., Archbishop Whitgift, Gervase Holles, and the Earl of Yarborough, below the cornice, over which is a balustraded parapet ornamented with vases. The Borough Magistrates hold Petty Sessions here every Monday and Thursday morning at eleven o'clock. Mr. William Grange is their clerk. The BOROUGH POLICE STATION, with cells and superintendent's residence, are at the rear of the hall. Mr. Job Waldram is the head constable. The WEIGHTS AND MEASURES OFFICE and the BOROUGH FIRE ENGINE STATION are at the Branch Lock-up, Lower Spring Street.

Edward Heneage, Esq., M.P. for the borough, has generously presented land for a PUBLIC PARK to the town, and the Treasury have allowed £6,000 belonging to the Corporation, and invested in Consols, to be appropriated for the laying out of the park (27 acres), on condition that it be treated as a loan to the Urban Sanitary Authority, repayable in 30 years.

The TEMPERANCE HALL, in Cleethorpe road, is a commodious building with a square tower containing an illuminated clock, erected from the designs of Mr. Siminson, at an expense of about £4000, and opened in January, 1871. It contains on the ground floor a lecture room, with committee rooms and class rooms, where nautical and scientific instruction is given to seamen and others. On the first floor is a large lecture room measuring 80 feet by 37, together with additional rooms and other necessary conveniences. Mr. H. Eldred is the secretary. The HALL OF SCIENCE was built in 1873, in Freeman street. The THEATRE ROYAL, erected in 1865, in Victoria street, is leased by Mr. Wm. Raymond; and in Burgess street is the VICTORIA CONCERT HALL.

The DORCAS CHARITY, established in 1825, and having for its object the relief of the deserving poor, especially lying-in-women, the sick, and the aged, is supported by voluntary subscription; and, although connected with the church, its charity is extended to all the necessitous poor in the town, as far as its funds will permit. C. B. Moody, Esq., St. James House, is the secretary. The BENEVOLENT SOCIETY, the aims of which are similar, was established about 30 years ago by some of the charitable ladies of Grimsby. A HOME FOR WOMEN was established in Yarborough street in 1877; the Rev. J. P. Young is the secretary, and Mrs. Scholey matron.

ARTILLERY VOLUNTEERS—A detachment of three batteries of the 1st Lincolnshire Artillery Volunteers, under the command of Lieut. Col. G. M. Hutton of Gate Burton, Gainsborough, Major J. Reed, is stationed at Grimsby (Head Quarters); one battery and a division at Louth, and two batteries at Boston. Edwd. Smith, Henry S. Garvey, and A. Bannister, are captains; F. C. Ramshaw, Henry Bennett, jun., and Alfred J. Reed are lieutenants.

The RIFLE VOLUNTEERS (E Company, 1st Volunteer Battalion Lincolnshire Regiment), formed in 1860, constitute one company, having 110 members, who drill in the Corn Exchange. P. K. Seddon, Esq., is major, Henry Rawdon Alington, Esq., captain; T. Coates, lieutenant; William Bennett, second lieutenant; John William Hembrough, Esq., assistant surgeon; W. Tupling, quartermaster-sergeant; and Serjeant R. Lowe, drill instructor.

The CHIEF POST OFFICE is in West St. Mary's gate, and Mr. Powell Chandler is the postmaster. There are four deliveries of letters in the town daily on week days, at 7 and 8.30 a.m., and 2.45 and 5.15 p.m. There is only one morning delivery on Sunday. MAILS are despatched to Hull, Brigg, Gainsborough, Northern Counties, and Kirton-in-Lindsey at 6 a.m.; to Louth, London, South of England, and Foreign Countries at 9.20 a.m.; to Hull, Northern Counties, Scotland and Ireland, at 12.20 noon; to London, South of England and Foreign Countries at 4.20 p.m.; to Liverpool, Derby, Lincoln, Lancashire, Cheshire, Midland Counties, Ireland and Scotland, at 5.0 p.m.; and to London, Manchester, Sheffield, Leeds, Bradford, York, Scotland, &c., at 7.45 p.m.

MONEY ORDERS are issued and paid at the chief office, and at the Receiving Offices, from 9 a.m. till 6 p.m., daily, on week days; Saturdays, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.; and Savings Bank and Insurance and Annuity business is transacted during the same hours.

There is a BRANCH OFFICE at the Fish Dock, and RECEIVING OFFICES in Victoria street, Freeman street, Hainton square, West Marsh, and New Clee. PILLAR LETTER BOXES at Alexandra terrace, Cleethorpe road, and near the Royal Dock Chambers; and WALL LETTER BOXES in Bargate, Macaulay street, Oxford street, Sixhills street, Victor street, Wood street, corner of Grime street, at the Clock Tower in Central Market, and at the Railway (town) Station.

The CHIEF POSTAL TELEGRAPH OFFICE is in Victoria Street North, and Mr. M. Maslin is the superintendent, and Mr. R. Featherston, clerk at the branch office, Fish Dock. Messages are received at and transmitted from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., on week days, and from 7 to 10 a.m. and 5 to 6 p.m. on Sunday; at the chief office, Fish Pontoon, from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., on week days only.

HALSHAM, a scattered village and parish, 10½ miles E. of Hull, and 1 mile N. of Ottringham railway station, contains 2877 acres of land, and 228 inhabitants. The rateable value is £3325. It is in Patrington union, Hedon county court district and rural deanery, and southern division of Holderness wapentake. Lord Hotham is the chief landowner, and T. A. Bellamy, Esq. is the lord of the manor. A Danish camp is supposed to have been situated here, from extensive traces of a double fosse around the hill upon which the church stands, and also from the finding of bones, implements, &c. at various times. The Church (All Saints), formerly a much larger structure, comprises nave with aisles, chancel, square tower with two bells, and on the north side of the chancel a mortuary chapel belonging to the Constable family, which contains an alabaster monument of the recumbent figure of a knight, supposed to be Sir John Constable. In 1870 the church was thoroughly restored, and now presents a very handsome appearance. The chancel was restored by the rector, the nave reseated with open benches by Captain Shipton, R.N., and the rest by subscription. A fine brass lectern was presented by Mrs. Dunn. The pulpit is of oak, bearing the date 1634. In the chancel a very find sedilia and piscina remain, also an ancient place of refuge, close to the altar steps. The living is a rectory, valued at £760, in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. P. M. Shipton, LL.B. There is a small chapel belonging to the Primitive Methodists. In a plantation near the church is a beautiful mausoleum of white freestone belonging to the Constable family. It is in the Doric style of architecture, the dome is surmounted by a cross. The interior is floored and faced with dark polished marble, and in the centre stands an elegant white urn, inscribed to Sir William Constable, Bart.; it is supported on a marble pedestal, surrounded by a railing. There is a school for boys, endowed with an anuual rent-charge of £80, and has eight scholarships of 30*s.* attached. The Hospital for eight poor men and two women was founded by Sir John Constable by will in 1579.

HATFIELD (GREAT) is a township, partly in the parish of Mappleton, and partly in the parish of Sigglesthorne, Skirlaugh union, Beverley county court district, north division of Holderness wapentake, and Hornsea rural deanery. The village is 3 miles S.E. of Sigglesthorne. The township comprises 518 acres, and 97 inhabitants in Mappleton parish, and 971 acres and 50 inhabitants in Sigglesthorne parish. The rateable value is £2000. Sigglesthorne railway station on the Hull and Hornsea line is situated here, and was formerly called Hatfield, but owing to some clashing with Hatfield, near Doncaster, Sir William Wright, of Sigglesthorne Hall, Knt., obtained the change in the name. The chief owners of the soil are, W. Bethell, Esq. (the lord of the manor), W. H. Harrison-Broadley, Esq., M.P., Peter Moore, Esq., and Mrs. Hutton. A cross, probably of Norman work, stands near the junction of three roads. The foundations of a small church which was burnt down about the end of the 17th century can still be seen, and the churchyard is used from time to time for interments. The Wesleyans and the Primitive Methodists have chapels here. William Day left 40*s.* a year to the poor.

POST from Hull viâ Skirlaugh is received at 9.30 a.m., and despatched at 3.30 p.m. Hornsea is the nearest Money Order Office.

HATFIELD (LITTLE) is a township and hamlet, half a mile from Sigglesthorne station, on the Hull and Hornsea railway, 2 miles S.E. from Sigglesthorne. It is in Skirlaugh union, Beverley county court district, northern division of Holderness wapentake, Hornsea rural deanery, and East Riding archdeaconry. It had 39 inhabitants in 1871, living on 976 acres, and has a rateable value of £1500. The Rev. Yarburgh Lloyd-Greame is lord of the manor and sole owner of the soil.

Dunn Robert Lowthorpe, farmer
Tanton Geo. farmer, auctioneer, and valuer, Middle farm

HEDON is an ancient borough and market town, 5¼ miles E. of Hull, consisting principally of one long street, about the middle of which is the market place, although the market, formerly held every alternate Monday, has now ceased to exist. The town is the head of a county court district and a rural deanery, and is in Sculcoates union, and in the middle division of Holderness wapentake. Two hirings of servants are held here, on the 10th and 24th of November; the four fairs once held here are obsolete. In the grounds of James Watson, Esq., stands an ancient cross, removed some years ago from Burton-Constable. This cross was originally erected at Kilnsea, near Ravenspurgh or Ravenspurn, to commemorate the landing of Bolingbroke, afterwards Henry IV., which took place in or about the feast of the Translation of St. Martin, July 4, 1399. To this landing the following words of Shakespeare refer:—

Green.—'The banished Bolingbroke repeats himself,
And with uplifted arms is safe arrived at Ravenspurgh.'
Queen.—'Now God in heaven forbid!'
Richard II. Act ii. Scene 2.

Hedon parish contains 966 inhabitants, and 312 acres of land, the rateable value being £3547. The town is lighted with gas from works erected in 1856 by the Hedon Gaslight and Coke Co. (limited). Hedon at one time was an important seaport town, and is said to have had four churches, dedicated to St. Nicholas, St. James, St. Mary Magdalen, and St. Augustine. ST. AUGUSTINE is the only one now remaining, and it has always been the mother church of the parish. It is a large and beautiful structure, containing some of the best known specimens of Early English architecture, and comprises nave, chancel, aisles, and transepts, with a fine Perpendicular tower rising from the centre, containing six bells, a clock and chimes. The nave only is used for services, and contains an organ. During recent years the church has been undergoing restoration at an outlay of about £7000. In 1876 a very handsome brass eagle lectern was presented to the church by the late William Rawson, Esq. of Hull, and in 1877 and 1879 two stained-glass windows were placed in the nave as memorial windows to members of the Watson family. The church contains a recumbent figure, stone coffin, and numerous other monuments; also a fine old font. The Archbishop of York is patron of the living, the value of which is £200 a year. The Rev. Henry Lowther Clarke, M.A., F.R.G.S., is the vicar. A neat Roman Catholic Chapel was built in 1803. The Wesleyan Chapel, originally erected in 1818, was rebuilt in 1875. The Primitive Methodists and Baptists have also small chapels. A SCHOOL BOARD was established here in 1871. The old National School was transferred to the Board, who erected a new schoolroom in 1874 at an outlay of £700. The present Board consists of the Rev. H. L. Clarke (chair), A. Iveson, Esq. (vice), and Messrs. R. Leak, jun., J. Heron, and Edward Batty. G. R. Park, Esq., is the clerk. A Penny Savings Bank was established in 1881 in connection with the Hull Savings Bank, and has 74 depositors. PETTY SESSIONS are held here once a month, and a COUNTY COURT every alternate month, for the parishes and townships, Burstwick, Burton-Pidsea, Camerton, Danthorpe, Easington, Elsternwick, Fitling, Flinton, South Frodingham, Grimston-and-Garton, Halsham, Hedon, Hollym, Holmpton, Hilston, Humbleton, Keyingham, Kilnsea-with-Spurn, Lelley, Otteringham, Out-Newton, Owthorne, Owstwick, Patrington, Paull, Plowland, Preston, Rimswell, Roos, Ryhill, Skeffling, Sproatley, Sunk Island, Thorngumbald, Tunstall, Waseholm, Weeton, Welwick, Winestead, Withernsea, and Wyton. F. A. Bedwell, Esq., judge; A. Iveson, Esq., registrar and high bailiff; and Mr. John Gibson, bailiff. The borough sent two members to Parliament from 1295 till its disfranchisement in 1832. It is still governed by a corporation, consisting of a mayor, three aldermen, and nine councillors, of whom the following is a list:—

MAYOR (1881-2).—James Watson, Esq.

ALDERMEN.—G. R. Park, J. Todd, W. T. White, Esqs.
COUNCILLORS.—Messrs. E. Batty, W. Beal, R. Carrick, F. Ingleby, W. Kirk, W. Marshall, C. B. Stamford, R. Wright.

SERGEANT-AT-MACE.—H. Markham. TOWN CRIER.—J. Barnes.
ASSESSORS AND COLLECTORS OF INCOME TAX.—Messrs J. Heron, jun. and F. Dean.

The Holderness Agricultural Society holds two annual meetings here, in April and September. A. Iveson, Esq., is the secretary. There are in the town three dwelling-houses or HOSPITALS for six poor widows of freemen; also eight other tenements for the poor. The Vicar of Hedon is one of the trustees of Mrs. Ann Watson's Charity. This charity provides a home and pension for the widows and maiden daughters of the clergy. A sermon is preached annually on August 3 in Hedon Church in memory of Elizabeth Hedon, the mother of Mrs. Ann Watson, for preaching which the Vicar receives £3. There is an Oddfellows' Lodge here, besides other friendly societies, and a Permanent Benefit Building Society.

RAILWAY (N.E. Station)—J. Mowforth, stationmaster
CARRIERS—James Lickass & Thomas Robinson, to Hull, on Tues. & Fri.

HESSLE, a large village, with many handsome houses, is delightfully situated on the river Humber, and on the Hull and Selby Railway, 4½ miles W. of Hull. Its parish contains 2551 inhabitants and 2410 acres of land in Hunsley Beacon division of the wapentake of Harthill, and in Sculcoates union, Hull county court district, Howden rural deanery, and East Riding archdeaconry. The rateable value is £18,566. The CHURCH (All Saints) is a large structure, consisting of nave, aisles, and chancel, with a tower at the west end, surmounted by a spire, and containing four bells and a clock. The church was enlarged about 1870, at a cost of £8000, and will seat 1000 persons. The living is a vicarage, valued at £500 a year, in the patronage of the Lord Chancellor, and incumbency of the Rev. Henry Newmarch, B.A. The new Wesleyan Chapel was erected in 1878, at a cost of about £5000, in a Gothic style, and will seat 600 persons. At Spring villa is a Mission Room in connection with the above. The Primitives and the Free Methodists have also chapels here. The Parish School is conducted as a British School, and is situated on the east of the village, and the premises, which have belonged to the township from time immemorial, consist of the school-room, under which are three rooms, used as hospitals for three poor persons, and adjoining is a house for the teacher. Leonard Chamberlain endowed the school in 1716 with £5 a year for teaching 20 boys to read, &c. The endowment has increased considerably. The ratepayers elect the schoolmaster. There is also a National School in the parish.

HULL.

HULL, or Kingston-upon-Hull, a large, handsome, and rapidly improving market town, a parliamentary and a municipal borough, and one of the principal seaports in England, forms a town and county of itself, judicially in the Northern Circuit, and ecclesiastically in the deanery of South Harthill, archdeaconry of the East Riding, and diocese of York. It is situated at the point where the small river Hull discharges its waters into the mighty stream of the Humber, 38 miles S.E. of York, 9 miles S. of Beverley, 16½ N.W. of Grimsby, 175 N. of London. Like its sister port on the opposite side of the island, Hull has no claim to hoary antiquity, and its rise is only three centuries earlier than Liverpool, which was merely the abode of a few fishermen till the reign of James I. From an examination of the different entries in Domesday Book, it appears that the district on the west side of Hull was, in the latter part of the 11th century, called Hessle hundred, and that Hessle and Ferriby were two of its principal villages, and, together with Kirk Ella, had each of them a church and a priest. The chief proprietors were Ralph de Mortimer, Robert Earl of Morton, and Gilbert Tyson. Cottingham was likewise a place of some importance, and belonged to Hugh, son of Baldric, whose daughter carried it in marriage to the Stutevilles. Anlaby appears also to have been of more note at that period than at any other, and was divided among the former three lords and the king. Woolfreton and Myton, as members of Ferriby, belonged to Ralph de Mortimer, and were both waste. In Holderness hundred, Drago de Beurere and the Archbishop possessed Sutton, Drypool, and Sculcoates, the two latter of which were waste. Marfleet belonged, in common with nearly all Holderness, to Drago, but in Sutton there was a 'freeman' who may possibly have been the ancestor of the family of Sutton, one of whom, Saierus, cut the drain which forms the present harbour of Hull; and another, Sir John, was summoned to Parliament as a baron. Tickell erroneously supposes the entries which relate to Southcoates to have reference to Sculcoates; but neither that village nor those of Stoneferry and Swanland are mentioned in the record. Thus it appears that for some time after the Norman Conquest, the land on both sides of the mouth of the river Hull was uncultivated, although the port was of considerable importance before the close of the 12th century. The exact site of Myton is not certainly ascertained, but its houses probably lay straggling on the west side of the present town, which appears to be identified with the more recent hamlet of Wyke. About the end of the 12th century Maud Camin sold property in Wyke-del-Myton to the monks of Meaux, but although the two places seem to be described as one, they are, in another grant to the same abbey, in 1174, mentioned as distinct places. It is therefore probable that Myton, being in Hessle hundred, was situated on the west bank of the ancient river, and that, after the descent of the water through the drain cut by Saierus de Sutton, which formed a creek or harbour a little to the east, accommodation for the small vessels which came down the stream being required at its mouth, a hamlet sprung up on the strip of land between the two channels; the older of which soon became choked up. In 1198 this port was certainly called Hull, but the hamlet just mentioned appears to have been called Wyke. It afterwards attracted the notice of Edward I. during one of his frequent visits to this part of the country, who purchased the site of the town from the monks of Meaux, and changed its name from Wyke-upon-Hull to King's Town, or Kingston-upon-Hull. The town, favoured by royalty, soon became populous, its harbour was completed, and in 1299 it was by charter constituted a free borough, and has ever since sent two members to Parliament. In 1332 it was fortified with a wall and ditch, and so rapid was its progress, that in about 60 years after the date of its first charter, Hull was called upon to furnish Edward III. with 16 ships and 466 men towards an armament, the quota of the city of London amounting only to 25 ships and 662 men. The trade of Hull continued to increase, and in Leland's time the place is represented as a fair and well built town, and according to Camden, it possessed 'stately edifices, strong fortresses, ships well equipped, a number of merchants, and abundance of all kinds of wealth.' Hull has had 27 charters, from various successive monarchs. The walls, erected in pursuance of the charter of Edward II., were repaired and strengthened with towers of brick, in the time of Richard II., by the lord of the manor, Sir Michael de la Pole, whose family long flourished here, but was extinguished by the attainder of Edmund de la Pole, the last Earl of Suffolk, in 1508, and the death of his younger brother, Richard, at the battle of Pavia, in 1525. Henry VIII. built two blockhouses and a castle on the east bank of the river Hull, at an expense of more than £23,000; and Charles II., in 1681, laid out £60,000 in improving the fortifications, which had suffered considerably during the civil wars of the preceding reign. The whole of these works have disappeared during the last century. The history of Hull is long and interesting, but it is impossible to compress it within the limits of this volume.

The Town of Hull, exclusive of its populous suburbs in the parishes of Sculcoates, Drypool, Stoneferry and Sutton, Newland and Newington, is divided into two parishes called Holy Trinity and St. Mary. The river Hull, and the Docks which occupy the site of the fortifications, separate the town and suburbs into three great though unequal divisions, and completely insulate that portion of the town which was formerly defended by military works. The streets in the older parts of the town are chiefly narrow and inconvenient, but those in the suburbs and more modern parts are regular and spacious, and are lined with handsome terraces, villas, &c. Numerous bridges cross the river Hull and the ends of the docks, thus affording every facility for both foot passengers and carriages. In the 18th of Henry VI., Hull was constituted a town and county of itself, comprising a district of more than 18 miles in circumference, with the Humber for its southern boundary. The population of the municipal borough in 1801 amounted to 29,849; in 1811, to 37,466; in 1821, to 45,078; in 1831, to 56,761; in 1841, to 77,337; in 1851, to 84,690; in 1861, to 97,661; in 1871, to 121,892; in 1881, to 150,924, and upon the passing of the Hull Borough Extension and Improvement Act, which received the Royal assent July 12, 1882, to 178,983 inhabiting the different parishes and townships, according to the following table:—

	Acres	Persons
The Old Borough	3580	168,000
Newington, Newland, Stoneferry, Marfleet	4280	10,983
Total	7860	178,983

The municipal BOROUGH OF HULL comprises the parishes of Holy Trinity, St. Mary, Garrison side, Newington, Newland, and Sculcoates, and the townships of Drypool, Southcoates, Stoneferry, Marfleet, and part of the parish of Sutton. The Parliamentary borough includes Holy Trinity, St. Mary, Garrison side, Sculcoates, and the townships of Drypool, Southcoates, and Newington. For municipal purposes the borough will be divided under the provisions of the Extension Act into not less than seven, nor more than fourteen wards, for which purpose an inquiry was held by a Government commissioner on Thursday, July 27, 1882. The borough will remain as heretofore, governed by a mayor, fourteen aldermen, and forty-two councillors. The mayor has a very handsome gold chain, presented by Alderman Knowles in 1564, and considerably improved and beautified by Alderman Bannister in 1855, and Alderman Moss in 1857. There are amongst the regalia two swords of state, supposed to have been presented by Charles I. and Henry VIII.; a large silver-gilt mace, embellished with the Royal Arms, the Corporation Arms, and the Rose and Thistle; two small silver maces, a cap of maintenance, and two ancient velvet garters.

The TOWN HALL is a splendid building of Italian architecture, having a frontage to Lowgate of 105 feet, with a depth of 220 feet. The foundation stone was laid with great ceremony on October 9, 1862, and the edifice was formally opened on January 25, 1866. The total amount expended was about £30,000. The front portion is used entirely for Corporation purposes; the centre for the Local Board of Health and Council Room; and the back part for the Sessions Hall, Police Court and County Court. The whole of the windows in the front and side portions of the edifice are circular headed, and have between them red Mansfield shafts and pilasters; the frieze of the cornice is enriched by small figures holding festoons of flowers, and the parapet has an ornamental balustrade with vases over each column. At each end are four pillars, which rise to a height of 25 feet above the cornice, and are surmounted by gilt finials. Numerous polished granite panels add to the decoration of the front, and the balconies have balustrades of ornamental gilt iron work. Over the central doorway rises, to a height of 135 feet, an elegant tower, which has at a short distance above the main building four glass clock dials, each 7 feet 9 inches in diameter. In the tympanum above the clock there is an ornamental border surrounding figures representing Unity and Peace. The tower thus far is square, but the upper portion is circular, and is carried on eight red Mansfield columns, with Corinthian capitals, and surmounted by a highly ornamental stone dome, with a gilt finial. The interior of this noble building is furnished and decorated with great richness and taste. The entrance hall is 48 feet by 34, and contains a spacious and handsome staircase with broad marble handrail. At the top of the first flight of steps stands a fine marble statue of King Edward I., presented by Alderman Hodge. The Council Chamber is about 36 feet square and 28 feet high. There are many other large and handsomely furnished rooms, adapted to the various requirements of the Corporation offices.

HER MAJESTY'S PRISON on the north side of Hedon road was erected by the Corporation in 1869, at a cost of about £89,000. It covers 12 acres of land, and recently 3 acres more have been added. It was handed over to the Government under the Prisons' Act in 1878, and since that time considerable additional accommodation has been provided. There are 505 cells, of which 130 are for females. Prisoners are received now from the East Riding and North Lincolnshire, as well as from the borough of Hull. H. Webster, Esq., governor; the Rev. J. Aspinall, chaplain; Chs. Alexander Innes, Esq., surgeon; Thos. Bartholomew, chief warder; D. C. Morrison, chief clerk and store keeper, and Mrs. Flint, matron. The chief Police Station is in Parliament street, and there are two branch stations. Mr. James Campbell is chief constable; and Dr. Julius Jacobsen interpreter for the courts. The force consists of 1 chief constable, 1 chief and 9 inspectors, 25 sergeants, and 169 men, and was established in 1836. Quarter Sessions for the borough are held in the Court House, behind the Town Hall, at Christmas, Easter, Midsummer, and Michaelmas, and the Mayor and Sheriff's Court of Record, or Court of Venire, is held immediately afterwards. A Bankruptcy Court is held every Wednesday and Petty Sessions daily. The County Court is held once a month. F. A. Bedwell, Esq., is judge; A. K. Rollit, Esq., LL.D., registrar and acting high bailiff. There is also an ancient Court of Record, of which the Recorder is the judge, and which has been by the above mentioned Act extended to the new borough.

HULL WORKHOUSE is a large and well arranged pile of red brick buildings, with stone dressings, on the Anlaby road, and was erected in 1852, at a cost of about £15,000, in lieu of an old building in Whitefriar Gate. It will accommodate 662 inmates, and is one of the best managed workhouses in the kingdom. It has numerous airing yards and is surrounded by a large extent of garden ground. The wards are well ventilated, and proper provision is made for separating the various classes of paupers. The guardians were incorporated by an Act passed in 1698, and they subsequently obtained other acts, in the 8th of Queen Anne, and the 15th and 28th of George II., all of which were repealed by the Act of the 5th of George IV., by which 40 guardians of the poor, to be elected every three years, were constituted a Corporation, under the name of the governor, deputy-governor, assistants and guardians of the poor of Kingston-upon-Hull. A fine of £50 is levied on all who refuse to serve the office of guardian. The board room is handsomely furnished, and contains a fine portrait of John Fountain, Esq., who was governor for a great number of years. An establishment for cutting up timber for firewood has been erected at a cost of about £800, and finds employment for the able-bodied inmates. The present governor is Mr. W. Shepherdson, who presides at the weekly meetings of the board, the deputy-governor is Mr. J. J. Wilkinson, Mr. S. and Mrs. Jane Blashill are master and matron, and J. L. Barraclough porter, of the workhouse; J. J. Thorney, Esq., is the superintendent-registrar; Walter James Reed, Esq., is clerk to the guardians, and registrar of births and deaths for St. Mary's district, and registrar of marriages for the district of Hull; Mr. R. A. Cobby is the assistant clerk; Robert Middlemiss, Esq., is registrar of births and deaths for Myton district; and Mr. E. T. Jobson, is registrar of births and deaths for Humber district; Messrs. David Wing and Charles Waller, are the relieving officers; the Rev. George Robinson, M.A., is the chaplain. The united parishes of Holy Trinity and Saint Mary are the only ones included in this Incorporation.

SCULCOATES WORKHOUSE stands on the Beverley Road, and is a handsome red brick building with stone dressings, erected in 1845, at a cost of £11,000, and having accommodation for 620 paupers. The Union comprises twenty townships (including those parts of the borough of Hull which do not belong to the parishes of Holy Trinity and St. Mary). The house is capable of accommodating 620, but at the present there are only 520 inmates. New schools for boys and girls are now being built in the kitchen garden.

They will cover an area of about 1½ acres, and will cost about £10,500. Workhouse officials:—master, Joseph Rowland Jessop; matron, Mrs. Emma Jessop; schoolmaster, Thomas Cummins Harrison; schoolmistress, Mrs. Elizabeth Metcalfe; house surgeon, John Dix, Esq.; chaplain, Rev. John Watson, M.A.; porters, John and Mrs. Ann Mason; chairman of the Board, Robert Waller, J.P.; vice, Godfrey R. Park; auditor, W. H. Blake; clerk, William Chatham; relieving officers, John Clapham, Sculcoates district, George Blashill, country district, and James Winter, Drypool district. Registrar of births, deaths, and marriages for West Sculcoates district, and superintendent registrar, J. P. Chatham, Esq.; registrar of births, deaths, and marriages for East Sculcoates district, Mr. J. Clapham; registrars of births and deaths, Sutton district, Mr. G. Blaskill; Drypool district, Mr. W. F. Chapman; and Southcoates district, Mr. R. Boyd.

The Railway Station at the end of Paragon Street is a spacious structure of Italian architecture, erected in 1847, and occupies an area of 2½ acres, being 123 feet long by 125 feet wide. The centre of the front towards Anlaby road presents a fine colonnade, with wings ornamented with porticoes. It contains extensive platforms covered with a light roof of glass and iron. The interior is undergoing extensive improvements, including the erection of new booking, parcels, and other offices, lavatories, &c. The hotel at the eastern end and facing Paragon street was opened in November 1851, and measures 120 feet by 130. It contains 160 apartments. The principal entrance is beneath a massive portico, and the entrance hall, in the centre of the building, is a beautiful court 60 feet square, finely arcaded and covered with a roof of ground glass. The whole is the property of the North Eastern Railway Company. The Goods Station, in Railway street, near the Humber Dock, erected in 1858, on the site of the old Hull and Selby Station, is one of the largest in the kingdom. There are several smaller passenger stations on the outskirts of the town, and the Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Co. have a booking office in Nelson street, near the entrance to the Victoria pier, in connection with their steam ferry to the station at New Holland. The Midland Company also run trains into Hull on the N.E. Co.'s lines.

The Hull, Barnsley, and West Riding Junction Railway and Dock Company was authorized by an Act of Parliament in the Session of 1880, and consists of a line of railway from Hull to a point near Barnsley, and at the Hull terminus a dock called the Alexandra Dock, both of which are now in course of construction; thus an easy mode of transit for goods from foreign parts to the heart of England will be provided. Messrs. W. Shelford and G. Bohn are the engineers for the railway, and Mr. J. Abernethy is the engineer-in-chief for the Alexandra Dock; Messrs. Lucas & Aird are the contractors for the entire works; Mr. J. Daniell, secretary. In this present Session of Parliament the Company have obtained a very important Bill for extending their system to Huddersfield and Halifax. The Bill also provides for additional dock accommodation in the shape of timber ponds and a fish dock. The Company has entered into an agreement with the Midland Railway Company for running powers over the latter's system to Cudworth, where a large Exchange Station will be built by both Companies. This will give immediate access to the main line of the Midland Railway Company from Hull, Huddersfield, and Halifax, and will place Barnsley in direct communication with those towns.

The Water Supply was at an early time obtained from Springhead; but the supply being only the natural outflow from the springs was at length found insufficient to meet the wants of the town, and the works at Stoneferry were constructed at a cost of upwards of £100,000, the river Hull being the feeder of the reservoirs. At length, it having been discovered that the river water was not wholesome, and Mr. W. Warden having demonstrated the capabilities of the Springhead springs, the old source of supply was reverted to. Bores were sunk, engines erected, and mains laid to the Stoneferry reservoirs. These works were completed in 1864, an additional engine for pumping direct into the town was erected in 1875, and the area of bore-supply has lately been extended by means of a tunnel under the Spring bank, three-quarters of a mile in length. The town-supply now exceeds five million gallons a day. Mr. D. Maxwell is the engineer. There are several public drinking fountains in various parts of the town, some of which are very ornamental.

Newington Waterworks were constructed by D. P. Garbutt, Esq., from whom they were purchased by the Newington Waterworks Co., Limited. They are on the same principle as the Hull Corporation works at Springhead, and are capable of supplying 3 million gallons per day. W. A. Wilkinson, Esq., is secretary to the Company, and Mr. M. Hewson manager and collector.

Here are three Gas Companies. The works in Broadley Street were established in 1821, and belong to the Kingston-upon-Hull Gas Light Company, who have four gasholders capable of containing 177,000 cubic feet of gas. The extensive works on the banks of the river Hull, a little north of Sculcoates Church, were erected by the British Gas Light Co. in 1826, but were rebuilt and enlarged about 1855. The two large gasholders will contain 1,000,000 cubic feet. The offices are in Baker Street; Mr. A. Dougall is the engineer and Mr. James Cox the resident clerk. The Sutton, Southcoates, and Drypool Gas Company was formed in 1847, and purchased the works which had been commenced in the previous year by Mr. John Malam. An Act of Incorporation was obtained in 1867. One of their gasholders holds 560,000 cubic feet, and the three together 765,000 cubic feet. They can produce 1,336,000 cubic feet a day.

Markets and Fairs. The market days are Tuesday and Friday, but the principal market is on Tuesday. There is also a crowded market for flesh and vegetables on Saturday evening. The Market Place forms part of the public streets; and though the necessity for a new covered market has long been felt and acknowledged, the difference of opinion as to its site has hitherto been an insurmountable obstacle to the carrying out of so desirable a work. The Butchers' Shambles and Fish Market form a very plain building in Queen Street, occupying the site of the Black Friary and the old Guild Hall, and were erected in 1806. The Cattle and Pig Market is in Edward Street, and a Wool Market is held weekly in June and July in the Railway Company's warehouse in Kingston Street. The Spring Fair, for the sale of horses, cattle, sheep, pigs, &c., takes place on the second Tuesday in April, and another similar fair is held on the 11th and 12th of October. The latter is also a large pleasure fair.

The CORN EXCHANGE was erected in 1855, and presents a handsome stone front to High Street, with a lofty arched gateway supported by Corinthian columns, and surmounted by an attic with ornamental balustrades. The great hall is 158 feet long, 36 feet wide, and is 36 feet high in the centre. The roof is semicircular and formed of iron and glass. The total cost of the Exchange and offices was about £5500. The EXCHANGE, at the corner of Lowgate and Bowlalley Lane, stands on the site of the ancient palace of the De la Poles, and was erected in 1865 by the Hull Exchange Company, at a cost of £17,000. It forms one of the chief ornaments of the town, and is a lofty and imposing edifice of Italian architecture, in three stories, exclusive of the basement. It is built of white brick with stone dressings, and the keystones of the windows are neatly carved. The principal entrance is in the rounded corner of the building, which is surmounted by a large figure of Britannia. The public Exchange and News Room is on the ground floor, and measures 70 feet by 40. The basement contains the refreshment rooms, and the remainder of the building is occupied as offices by the Chamber of Commerce, the Hull Guardian Society, and a number of private firms. The INLAND REVENUE OFFICE is a large and elegant building in Trinity House Lane, erected in 1865, on the site of the Marine Almshouse. In-door Department: J. H. Claxton, Esq., is collector; Mr. Charles Andrews, chief clerk; Mr. John Clinton and Mr. Robert Douglas, clerks. Out-door Department: Messrs. W. Walton and E. S. Roe, Hull; R. Byerley, Grimsby; and G. L. Steventon, Scarborough, supervisors. Messrs. C. D. Friel (imports and exports), T. W. Kemplay, R. Glasier, J. Claridge and T. Winstanley, Hull, surveying officers. Tax Office: H. Forder, Esq., surveyor of taxes; Mr. H. T. Bustard, assistant surveyor of taxes; J. S. Dutton, Esq., clerk to surveyor of taxes; C. F. Shackles, Esq., clerk to the commissioners of income tax. The STAMP OFFICE is at present in Parliament Street; but it is probable that it will shortly be removed to the Inland Revenue Office. William Crosskill, Esq., is the distributor. In the town are two private and four joint-stock BANKS, and a branch of the Bank of England. The SAVINGS BANK, in Posterngate, was founded in 1818; Mr. Francis Fullerton is secretary and manager. The HULL CLUB HOUSE, in Charlotte Street, is handsomely furnished, and was established in 1840. A list of the newspapers published in Hull will be found in the 'Trades' Directory.

The PUBLIC PARK comprises 25 acres of land near the Beverley Road. It was presented in 1860 by Z. C. Pearson, Esq., the mayor of the borough, to the Board of Health, on condition that it should be laid out and maintained for ever as a free park for the people. About 10 acres of land surrounding the park were at the same time laid out in building sites for villas of ornamental design, most of which are now built upon. The park was completed in 1863, and forms a charming retreat for the townspeople in their hours of leisure. The fine white marble statue of the Queen, which occupies a conspicuous situation in the park, was presented in 1863 by William Henry Moss, Esq., and does great credit to the sculptor, Mr. Thomas Earle. Her Majesty is represented as seated in a chair of Greek form, and clothed in a robe of state, with her feet resting on a footstool, ornamented with lions' heads, paws, and waves of the sea. In 1868 a fine white marble statue of the late Prince Consort was unveiled. It was the gift of the inhabitants of Hull, and cost 1000 guineas. The Prince Consort is in a standing position facing the east, and the statue is placed to the north of that of the Queen. The shield on the pedestal bears an appropriate inscription. The statue of Ceres, which stands 5 feet 7½ inches high, is the first production of the chisel of Mr. F. R. Grassby, who presented it to the park. Being of Caen stone it has suffered damage by continual exposure to the weather. An ornamental bronze drinking fountain was presented to the park by H. J. Atkinson, Esq. On a small lake are a number of waterfowl, sea-gulls, brent-geese, swans, swan-geese, Muscovy and Pochard ducks. In the park are a collection of about 800 British plants. Brought from Easton, near Middlesborough, are two huge blocks of iron-stone, weighing respectively 8 and 11 tons. Considerable improvements were made during the year 1881, including an octagonal orchestra and a refreshment pavilion, costing about £500. Mr. E. Peak is curator, and resides at the West Lodge. HULL TEMPERANCE CLUB, 8 Albion Street, was established with the object of promoting temperance. It contains coffee, reading, club, billiards, bagatelle, and smoke-rooms, &c. C. Wilson, Esq., M.P., is president, Mr. W. H. Camp, hon. secretary, and Mr. Guy Hayler, proprietor. The committee propose holding exhibitions of works of art by local artists in the spring and winter of each year; the first exhibition was held in 1881. The Rev. H. W. Kemp is the chairman of the Art Gallery Committee, and Mr. Charles Mason, hon. secretary. In addition the following clubs meet here: Hull Art Club, Hull Literary Club, Christian Evidence Society, Pro and Con Club, Hull Auxiliary United Kingdom Alliance, East District, York, I.O.G.T., Sunday Closing Association, Hull Dauntless Lodge U.T.A., Hull Foreman Tailors' Association, Hull Athletic Club, Wilberforce Bicycle Club, Police Temperance Society, La Crosse Club, Hull Vegetarian Association, Parliamentary Debating Society, Elocution Society, Chess Club, Rambling Club, and Choral Union.

GOOD TEMPLARS' HALL is in St. John Street; Mrs. M. A. Parker is the hallkeeper. TEMPERANCE HALL, Hedon Road, was erected in 1881; Mr. T. Rowson is hallkeeper. The Temperance Society was established in 1835. KINGSTON TEMPERANCE HALL, in St. Luke's Street, was built in 1862, at a cost of more than £700, and is divided into an upper and a lower room. The WORKING MEN'S CLUB, in Lowgate, was established in 1864, and is a very useful institution.

The PUBLIC BATHS and WASHHOUSES are in Trippett, and were built by the Corporation in 1849, at a cost of £12,000. The edifice is of brick faced with stone, in the Tudor style, and contains hot, cold, shower, plunge, and vapour baths for men and women, a large swimming bath, and room for fifty persons to be engaged at one time washing, drying, and mangling. The MODEL DWELLINGS, at the junction of Midland Street and St. Luke's Street, were erected in 1862, at a cost of £5000 defrayed by Miss Turner, on a piece of land given by Miss Broadley. They form nearly three parts of a square, with a court-yard in the centre, and contain separate residences for 32 families.

The THEATRE ROYAL in Paragon Street was built in 1871, upon part of the site of the Royal Queen's Theatre, which was built in 1846, and pulled down in 1870. It is designed after the Globe Theatre, in London, and will hold about 2000 persons. Mr. Wilson Barrett is the lessee, and Mr. Alfred Cuthbert, manager.

The STAR MUSIC HALL, in Grimston Street, was built about 1840 for a lecture hall, in connection with the Mechanics' Institute, and afterwards adapted to its present purpose. It will hold about 1500 persons. Mr. F. B. Parrott is the lessee, and Mr. J. H. Wood the manager.

The ALHAMBRA PALACE MUSIC HALL is a large and commodious building in Porter Street, and Mr. T. H. Greasley is the proprietor.

The FREEMASONS of Hull form a large and influential body, and are included in the province of the North and East Ridings, which has long been presided over by the Right Honourable the Earl of Zetland, K.T., who for more than twenty years filled the high office of Grand Master of England. John Pearson Bell, Esq., M.D., the esteemed Deputy Provincial Grand Master, resides in Hull, and is the author of 'The Stream of English Masonry,' a valuable and interesting chronological chart, depicting at one view all the chief events connected with the craft since the invasion of Julius Cæsar to the present time. Freemasonry is represented as a stream, taking its rise as a rivulet, but gradually expanding until it becomes a river; and in the margin are engravings of some of the chief buildings erected by Freemasons, and views of the Boys' and Girls' Schools, the Asylum for aged Freemasons, &c. The Humber Lodge (No. 57) was founded in 1736, and meets on the first and third Tuesdays in each month, in a large and commodious hall in Osborne Street, erected in 1827, and considerably enlarged and improved in 1864–5. The Minerva Lodge (No. 250) was established in 1783, and holds its meetings on the second and fourth Wednesdays in every month, in a neat Hall in Prince Street, which was opened in 1802, and enlarged and redecorated in 1863. The Kingston Lodge (No. 1010) was instituted in 1864, and meets on the first Wednesday and second Friday in the month at the Lodge in Worship Street. The De la Pole Lodge (No. 1605) meets on the second Friday in the month in a building in Charlotte Street. Attached to the first two lodges are Royal Arch Chapters, and at the Prince Street Hall are also a Mark Masters' Lodge, and the Ancient York Conclave of Redemption of Knights Templar. The Right Hon. Lord Londesborough is the Provincial Grand Commander of the latter Order, and takes great interest in its prosperity. In the town are also many lodges of Oddfellows, Foresters, Druids, Shepherds, &c. The Foresters' Hall in Charlotte Street is used as a meeting place for various clubs, &c. Mr. W. B. Taylor is the secretary.

The WILBERFORCE MONUMENT, near St. John's Church, at the end of Junction Street, is a lofty and elegant fluted Doric column, upwards of 70 feet in height, standing on a handsome square pedestal, and surmounted by a statue 12 feet high. It was erected in 1834, at a cost of £1250, as a memorial of that eminent philanthropist, William Wilberforce, Esq., who was born August 24, 1759, at Hull, in the old quaint Dutch looking red brick house in High Street, now called Wilberforce Buildings, and died in London on July 29, 1833. Mr. Wilberforce was returned to parliament for his native borough when but just of age, and afterwards represented the county of York during six successive parliaments. To him we chiefly owe the abolition of the slave trade. The total height of the monument from the ground to the top of the statue is 102 feet. In the Market place is a fine equestrian STATUE OF KING WILLIAM III., erected by subscription in 1734, at a cost of £893 10*s*. This famous statue, which has been regilded several times, was executed by Scheemaker, and the figures of both the horse and man are easy and graceful.

Hull is not very celebrated for its MANUFACTURES; yet nevertheless some of them are of considerable importance. The Kingston Cotton Mill Co., Limited, have a capital of upwards of £200,000, and their immense factory in Cumberland Street was erected in 1836–7. The principal building is a lofty red brick structure, 501 feet long, 80 feet wide, and 5 stories high. A magnificent chimney rises to a height of 245 feet, and being considerably higher than any other building in the district, forms a conspicuous object for many miles in every direction. It requires about 2300 tons of raw cotton and 7800 tons of coal annually to keep these mills in full operation. Shipbuilding has always been largely carried on here, and ships of war have frequently been launched from the banks of the Humber. The first steam packet constructed in England was built on the river Hull, and many choice specimens of marine architecture have been produced at this port. Iron-ship building has for years been one of the chief branches of the industries carried on at Hull, and numbers of splendid steam ships, as well as sailing vessels, are built and equipped here annually, some of them being of as much as 3000 tons burthen. EARLE'S Shipbuilding and Engineering Co., Limited, have one of the most extensive and complete shipbuilding and engineering works in the kingdom, occupying 25 acres of land on the Humber bank, eastward of the town, and having on one side the docks of the Hull Dock Co., and on the other side the large new (Alexandra) dock of the Hull, Barnsley, and West Riding Junction Railway and Dock Co. The river being here three miles across, with plenty of water, the largest ships can be launched without checks, &c., and the Company have constructed vessels of all sizes and descriptions, with their engines, including ironclads, fast corvettes and gunboats, for the British and other Governments, royal yachts, and large transatlantic liners and emigrant mail and passenger steamers, up to and over 400 feet in length. The Company also have every facility for executing expeditiously and in the best manner ship and engine repairs and alterations of any magnitude, having, in addition to their varied and powerful machinery appliances, four patent slips and two tidal docks which are furnished with steam sheers adapted for lifting boilers, masts, and other heavy weights into and out of ships. The largest of the slips is situated within the shipyard, and is worked by hydraulic gear, constructed on the most improved principle, and is capable of taking up vessels of 3500 tons gross register, and about 2800 tons dead weight. Another slip adjoins the yard, while a third one is in close proximity thereto; and a fourth is situated at New Holland, on the opposite side of the river. The Company have also a branch establishment for repairs, viz., the Junction Foundry in Waterhouse Lane, which is adjacent to the Queen's, the Prince's, the Humber, and the Railway and Albert Docks. The Directors are, Sir John Brown, J.P., D.L., chairman, Thomas Bingham, Esq., vice chairman, Admiral Sir R. Spencer Robinson, K.C.B., Alderman George Bassett, John Galloway, jun., Esq., J.P., Samuel John Claye, Esq. General Manager, Mr. H. S. Brodrick, Secretary, Mr. Frank H. Pearson. Mr. D. P. Garbutt also has extensive works at Garrison side, where he can build three iron vessels of 3000 to 4000 tons each at the same time. The Humber Iron Works, on the site of the old citadel, covering about twelve acres, was a few years since a large shipyard, and is now partially worked by Messrs. Bailey & Leetham, shipowners, of Hull, as repair and boiler shops for their extensive fleet of steamers, and they also have a powerful patent slip on their premises. Very little is now done in the construction of large wooden vessels, and the operations of the principal wooden shipbuilders are mostly confined to repairing and altering vessels, for which purpose there are several dry or graving docks in the town. Messrs. Amos & Smith and Messrs. C. D. Holmes & Co. have large marine engine and boiler shops, and there are several other smaller engine works and foundries in the town. The Hull Forge Company have also large works, fitted with powerful rolling mills and steam hammers, &c. The furniture manufactory of Messrs. Richardson and Sons in Bond Street, was founded in 1812, and is said to be the largest in the kingdom. There are two smaller furniture manufactories in the town. Here are three organ builders, the largest of whom, Messrs. Forster & Andrews, have long since acquired a world-wide fame. Machinery of every description, chain cables, rope, canvas, hemp and flax, starch, mustard, blue, black lead, colour, cattle food, paper, tobacco, artificial manure, and Roman and Portland cement, are also manufactured at Hull. Hull is the principal seat of the seed-crushing trade, and possesses a large number of extensive oil and cake mills, many of which are fitted up with the most improved machinery by local engineers. There are also in the town several tanneries, ironfoundries, breweries, &c., &c.

The COMMERCE of Hull, which has been of considerable importance from a very early period, now consists of the coasting trade, of which it enjoys a greater share than any other port in England, except London; and the Baltic and Eastland trade, for which it is peculiarly well situated. The chief articles imported are timber, corn, iron, wool, flax, hemp, tallow, hides, pitch, tar, resin, bone, horn, &c., and the exports are woollen, cotton, and worsted manufactured goods, yarn, hardware, machinery, linseed oil and cake, &c. According to the Board of Trade Returns the value of goods exported from Hull exceeds that of all the other ports in England together, London and Liverpool excepted. A flourishing branch of business is the fishing trade, more than 2500 fishing smacks unlading here annually, and a number of steam cutters for running fish from the fleets to the port, are also owned by the fishing companies. The prosperity of the port has been greatly increased by steam navigation, and Hull is now an important steam-packet station. In 1815 the first steam-boat on the Humber was built to ply between Hull and Selby, and in 1857 the first steamer that ever sailed for the northern fisheries was despatched from Hull. There are now about 250 steamers and 650 sailing vessels registered as belonging to this port. The largest shipowners in Hull are Messrs. Thomas Wilson, Sons & Co., and Messrs. Bailey & Leetham; nearly the whole of the fleet of steamers belonging to the former have been built by Earle's Company, who have turned out from sixty to seventy vessels for that one firm. The revenue of the Custom House for 1879 amounted to £121,545. The Hull merchants were, in 1598, amongst the first in England who fitted out ships for the Whale Fishery, which continued to flourish here with varying success until the introduction of coal-gas and the adoption of other substances for articles previously made of whalebone, rendered the trade unprofitable, and very few vessels have for some years past left this port for Greenland.

In 1881 the number of vessels that entered the port from and to FOREIGN COUNTRIES and BRITISH POSSESSIONS (with cargoes) was 2714, with a tonnage of 1,418,865; 959 of the vessels were sailers and 1755 steamers; the tonnage of the former was 315,489, and of the latter 1,103,376. The number of vessels which cleared (with cargoes) was 2300, with 1,180,773 tonnage; 684 were sailers, and 1616 steamers, the tonnage being respectively 200,024 and 980,749. In ballast, entered, 9 sailers of 2238 tons, and 68 steamers of 40,630 tons; cleared, 126 sailers of 55,793 tons, and 27 steamers of 12,900 tons. In the COASTWISE TRAFFIC the number of sailers that entered (with cargoes) was 666, and their tonnage 49,172; 706 steamers of 179,158 tons; cleared, 739 sailers of 58,916 tons, and 701 steamers of 172,357 tons. Ditto in ballast, entered, 102 sailers of 8051 tons, and 57 steamers of 40,440 tons; cleared, 85 sailers of 55,417 tons, and 268 steamers of 212,428 tons. Grand total of vessels, to and from Foreign Countries, and British Possessions, and Coasting Trade—entered, 1736 sailers of 374,950 tons, and 2586 steamers of 1,363,604 tons; cleared, 1634 sailers of 370,150 tons, and 2612 steamers of 1,378,434 tons. The number of registered vessels belonging to the port on December 31, 1881, was—644 sailers of 46,829 tons, and 221 steamers of 149,260 tons, 49 vessels and tonnage of 16,978 being added during the year, while 56 vessels and 10,303 tonnage were deducted. Hull has 535 boats first class, with tonnage of 33,858, registered under the Sea Fisheries Act, 201 of second class, and 1 of third class. The certificates of 655 boats were endorsed during the year; these require 2933 men to work them; about 2400 men and boys are constantly engaged in fishing, and 200 more are occasionally so employed. Two wooden sailers having a tonnage of 158 tons; 5 iron steamers of 5819 tons, 1 steel steamer of 1154 tons were built during the year, besides which 2 iron steamers of 2538 tons were built for foreigners.

The value of the total IMPORTS of foreign and colonial merchandise at Hull was £18,966,385 in 1877, £17,849,197 in 1878, £17,600,430 in 1879, £20,163,267 in 1880, and £18,285,969 in 1881. The gross amount of CUSTOMS REVENUE received during the same years was £147,431, £140,146, £121,545, £107,988, and £107,649, respectively. The value of the total EXPORTS of the produce of the United Kingdom at Hull during the same period was £17,816,719, £19,109,797, £18,432,442, £18,572,005, £18,405,067 for each year. The following are the quantities of some of the PRINCIPAL ARTICLES imported at Hull during 1880:—Wheat, 4,557,760 cwts.; barley, 1,418,260 cwts.; Indian corn, 1,561,258 cwts.; raw hides, 56,295 cwts.; tanned, tawed, curried or dressed hides, 2,864,456 lbs.; hewn timber, 69,071 loads; sawn or split, 294,883 loads; staves, 1222 loads; sheep and lambs' wool, 11,047,374 lbs.; woollen rags, 34,939,520 lbs.; woollen yarn, 1,054,039 lbs.

Nothing has more contributed to the extension of commerce in Hull than the DOCKS, of which there are at present seven, viz., the Victoria, the Queen's, the Prince's, the Railway, the Humber, the Albert, and the William Wright, in addition to which the Dock Company have in course of construction a further dock to the westward, containing 10 acres, which will be capable of being considerably enlarged as the requirements of the trade of the port demand. (See also page 87, paragraph 3.) This company also possess a graving dock, capable of accommodating the largest class of ships visiting the port, its dimensions being as follows: length from gates to head, 501 feet; length on blocks, 460 feet; width at the top, 85 feet; width of entrance, 50 feet; depth of water on the sill at spring tides about 21 feet, and at neap tides about 15 feet. The two slips, which have for some time past been rented by Messrs. Earles' Shipbuilding and Engineering Co. (Limited), and which also accommodate vessels of very considerable tonnage, are likewise the property of the Dock Company. Messrs. Earles have recently constructed a similar but more powerful slip in connection with their works. Previous to 1774 the only wharf and quays here were those on the river Hull, behind High Street; and many ships were obliged to receive and discharge their cargoes by means of lighters, whilst lying in the Humber. In the reigns of Elizabeth and Charles II. laws were enacted for the establishment of legal quays at all the ports in England except Hull, but this exception, granted, it is supposed, at the request of the inhabitants, seems to have been abused; for in 1746 many illegal practices were discovered, and the revenue boards determined that legal quays should be formed to prevent fraud. These conveniences, both for the merchant and the revenue officer, do not seem, however, to have been provided till 1774, when an Act was obtained for making the Old Dock, now QUEEN'S DOCK, by a company of shareholders, incorporated by the name of the 'Dock Company of Kingston-upon-Hull.' By this Act the military works surrounding the town were appropriated to the purposes of the intended dock, and a further aid of £15,000 was granted by Parliament towards its completion. The company proceeded with great spirit and alacrity in the work assigned to them; the first stone was laid October 19, 1775, and the dock was opened September 22, 1778, and was then the largest in the kingdom. In 1814-15 the lock-pit of this dock was rebuilt upon an enlarged plan, and the walls of the entrance basin were secured by inverted arches. The first stone of the HUMBER DOCK was laid April 13, 1807, and the dock was opened June 30, 1809. The PRINCE'S DOCK (late Junction Dock), which communicates with the two former, was commenced towards the end of the year 1826, and the first stone of the south lock-pit was laid on December 10, 1827. This dock was opened June 1, 1829. The RAILWAY DOCK, which branches out westward of the Humber Dock and adjoins the Railway Goods Station, was opened December 3, 1846. The first stone was laid May 24, 1845, and an extensive pile of lofty warehouses has been erected on one of its quays. The VICTORIA DOCK, which lies on the east side of the river Hull, is connected by basins with the rivers Humber and Hull. The first stone was laid November 5, 1846, and the dock was opened July 3, 1850. In 1863 it was enlarged to the extent of 7½ acres. The ALBERT DOCK is on the foreshore of the Humber, on the west side of the town. The first stone was laid May 21, 1864, and the dock, which cost £1,109,511, was opened by the Prince of Wales in 1869. The WILLIAM WRIGHT DOCK is situate to the westward of the Albert Dock and communicates with it. This dock was commenced in 1873 and opened in 1880. In addition to the docks, there are two timber ponds in connection with the Victoria Dock. The Queen's Dock was originally called the Old Dock, and the Prince's the Junction Dock, but their names were changed in honour of the visit of Her Majesty and his late Royal Highness the Prince Consort in October 1854. The WATER AREA of the docks, basins, and timber ponds, is as follows:—Queen's Dock, 9A. 3R. 29P.; Ditto, Tidal Basin, 1R. 22P.; Humber Dock, 7A. 0R. 24P.; Ditto, Tidal Basin, 2A. 1R. 19P.; Prince's Dock, 6A. 0R. 5P.; Railway Dock, 2A. 3R. 9P.; Victoria Dock, 20A. 0R. 4P.; Ditto, Half-tide Humber Basin, 3A.; Ditto, Tidal Basin, 2A. 3R. 7P.; Ditto, Half-tide Drypool Basin, 1A. 0R. 8P.; Ditto, Tidal Drypool Basin, 1R. 32P.; Albert Dock, 24A. 2R. 18P.; Ditto, Tidal Basin, 1A. 3R. 37P.; Albert Channel, 3R. 4P.; William Wright Dock, 5A. 3R. 37P.; West Dock, No. 2 (in course of construction), 10A.; Ditto, Tidal Basin, 2R.; No. 1 Timber Pond, 13A. 3R. 4P.; No. 2 Timber Pond, 11A. 0R. 15P. Total, 124A. 2R. 34P.

The DOCK COMPANY'S OFFICES abut on Junction Street, New Cross Street, and the Queen's Dock. They are in the Venetian style of architecture, and at the angles are three towers with domed roofs. The main entrance is in Junction Street; on the first floor are the proprietors' court room, board room, and committee rooms, solicitor's office, and secretary's offices; and on the ground floor are the engineers' and superintendent dockmaster's, and superintendent wharfinger's offices. In the interior of the building is an open court, affording means for thorough ventilation and light. Mr. C. G. Wray, F.R.I.B.A., of 3, Albany Terrace, Regent's Park, London, was the architect. Sir J. Hawkshaw is consulting engineer; Sir Charles H. Mills, Bart., treasurer; R. A. Marillier, Esq., resident engineer; T. Holden, Esq., solicitor; Edward H. Garbett, Esq., secretary; D. E. Hume, Esq., superintendent dockmaster; H. Best, Esq., superintendent wharfinger; John Wright, Esq., receiver of dock dues. Dockmasters—H. Robinson, In-Town Docks; J. Camplin, Humber Dock; A. E. Barrett, Albert Dock; R. Oliver, Victoria Dock.

The CUSTOM HOUSE is a large red brick structure, with stone quoins and dressings, in Whitefriargate, nearly in the centre of the town. It was originally the Neptune Inn, a celebrated hostelry, well known to all travellers in the north of England, and was erected in 1796 by the Corporation of the Trinity House. The 'long room' (formerly the ball room), measures 52 feet by 24 feet, and 22 feet in height, and in it is transacted the general business of the Custom House. This fine apartment is lighted by five circular-headed windows fronting the street, and has an elegantly decorated ceiling. The building has also appropriate offices for every department of this branch of the public revenue, together with extensive warehouses. T. Gray-Jones, Esq., is collector; Messrs. W. P. Moore, G. H. Todd, E. Jones, T. Price, R. C. Appleby, B. Empson, G. Douglas, J. D. Stevenson, J. Milne, J. H. Foster, and A. T. Stewart, clerks; Messrs. W. H. S. Thompson, C. J. Doorly, A. J. Walkington, G. Alger, and T. Gray-Jones, Jun., writers; Mr. S. J. Smyth, surveyor; Messrs. G. Brown and T. Dysart, assistant surveyors; Messrs. J. Rourke, E. B. Smith, F. Vivian, W. Sisson, E. Reynolds, J. M. Williams, J. Hurst, J. Marshall, J. Colton, E. W. Johnson, J. Lalor,

B. Applebe, T. W. Lawson, E. F. Grocock, G. Williamson, J. D. Maxwell, W. F. Hill, H. Mumby, J. R. Sutherst, R. L. Barker, R. Greig, W. Sharp, P. C. O. Keadby, A. Gillanders, and T. R. Lloyd, examining officers. There are 74 out-door officers, 21 boatmen, and 40 preferable extra men. Bill of Entry and Timber Measurement Departments—T. Gray-Jones, Esq., deputy; Mr. R. C. Appleby, assistant-deputy; Messrs. J. F. Harper and E. W. Appleby, clerks; Messrs. R. Lawson, N. W. Bearpark, and assistants and lengtheners, timber measurers.

The 1st East York Rifle Volunteer Corps, formed in 1859, now comprises 6 companies, numbering 550 men. Londesborough Barracks, Hull, are the headquarters, and were built in 1864, at a cost of £2200. The range for rifle practice is on the Humber bank, west of Hull, and about 4 miles from headquarters. It is available for firing from 100 to 1000 yards, and has a disc-marking back ground 16 feet high. Hon. colonel, the Right Honourable Lord Londesborough; lieut.-colonel (vacant); major, W. E. Goddard; captains, A. L. Flodman, J. H. Peters, R. L. Stone, A. K. Dibb, S. R. Meggitt, and J. T. Woodhouse; lieutenants, W. G. Lawson, A. Thorney, W. Earle, E. Earle, T. J. Ingoldby, G. G. Murray, N. Babbington, and E. G. Hewerdine; adjutant, H. B. Le Mottee, major 2nd Brigade East York Regiment; quarter-master, C. Judge; surgeons, H. Thompson, and J. A. Wallis; acting chaplain, Rev. J. McCormick, M.A.; drill instructors, Sergt.-Major C. Maybank and Sergeant R. S. Cahill; orderly room clerk, Thomas Treacy. The 2nd East York Artillery Corps, formed in 1860, comprises 12 batteries with a maximum strength of 960 men. The barracks in Park Street were erected in 1869-70 for the Working Men's Industrial Exhibition, and were then a series of wooden sheds covered with felting. In 1871, the corps (whose headquarters were at the Corn Exchange in High street) purchased those buildings and obtained a lease of the ground from the Corporation. The main features of the buildings remain the same, but they have been greatly improved by making concrete walls, covering with slates, &c. They consist of a large hall (capable of holding upwards of 3000 persons), gun room, repository shed, mess room, adjutant's room, orderly room, band room, officers' billiard room, sergeants' billiard room, kitchen, tailors' shop, &c. The large hall is let for concerts, &c. The whole range of buildings forms one of the most complete volunteer barracks in the kingdom. Hon. colonel, Lord Wenlock; lieut.-colonel commandant, Hy. C. Gleadow; lieut.-colonel, H. F. Pudsey; majors, W. L. White and G. H. Clarke; captains, Z. Scaping, A. H. Harrison, T. C. Reynoldson, H. H. Briggs, W. H. Wellsted, W. Downs, M. Grant Dalton, J. A. Jackson, C. R. Moxon, John Cook, and B. S. Jacobs; lieutenants, F. W. Denison, W. P. Walton, G. T. Wilson, W. Reynoldson, F. R. Chapman, R. E. Johnson, H. F. Lowe, and J. G. Smithson; adjutant, H. A. Scott, captain, R.A.; surgeon, J. Sherburn, M.D.; acting surgeons, G. W. Pyburn and A. H. Robinson; acting chaplain, Rev. Canon Scott, M.A.; drill instructors, Sergt.-Major R. Relf, Sergeant T. McInerny, Sergeant J. Ruffell, and Sergeant H. Williams.

The Trinity House, in the lane to which it gives name, belongs to the Corporation or 'Guild of the Holy Trinity,' which was instituted in 1369 for the relief of decayed seamen and their widows. For this purpose the members bound themselves and their successors to pay two shillings a year, in four several portions; but in 1457 they were incorporated by royal charter, which was confirmed and extended by seven other charters from the reign of Henry VIII. to that of Charles II. empowering them to levy and receive primage for the support of poor mariners and their wives and widows, for affording relief to shipwrecked mariners, for placing buoys and beacons on the coast between Flamborough Head and Winterton Ness, and on the river Humber, for licensing pilots, and for hearing and deciding maritime causes. In 1837 a new charter was obtained; and in 1861 an act was passed, by which all primage and deferential dues were abolished, and compensation in respect of them granted till the first of January, 1872. The corporation, or governing body of the Trinity House, now consists of twelve elder brethren and an unlimited number of younger brethren, from the former of whom two wardens, and from the latter six assistants and two stewards are chosen annually. The younger brethren are master mariners who have sailed to foreign climes in vessels belonging to Hull, for five years or more, and have qualified themselves to act as pilots. There are at present nearly one hundred of them. As vacancies occur, the assistants become elder brethren, and the younger brethren assistants. The Trinity House was erected in 1457, and rebuilt and enlarged in 1753. It has received considerable additions since that period, and is a spacious quadrangular edifice of brick, stuccoed, with a large open court in the centre. The front is of Tuscan architecture, with stone quoins and dressings, and has a handsome pediment on which are the royal arms supported by figures of Neptune and Britannia. The west side of the house contains the hall, housekeeper's apartments, handsomely decorated dining and council rooms, a good reading room, a small museum, and the offices of the secretary; whilst the north, south, and east sides consist of separate apartments for younger brethren or their widows. Adjoining the main building is a neat edifice, erected in 1844, for the offices of the corporation. The chapel stands immediately behind the house, and is an elegant Grecian structure, rebuilt in 1839–40. It is paved with marble, and the columns and pilasters are of the same material. The Communion table is a fine slab of highly polished marble, supported by a gilt eagle, and the east window is filled with stained glass representing the Ascension. The principal staircase, and some of the chief apartments in the Trinity House are adorned with pictures of naval battles, portraits of several English sovereigns, and many of the departed worthies of Hull, &c. The western entrance to the premises is from Princes Dock side, through a handsome Doric gateway, beneath the Victoria Almshouses, which were erected in 1842, for twelve pensioners, but are now used as mercantile offices. The other almshouses belonging to the Trinity House are Robinson's Hospital, Princes Dock side, founded by William Robinson, Esq., in 1721, and rebuilt in 1769, for the reception of six decayed younger brethren and their wives; Watson's Hospital, North Church side, erected in 1690, by Dr. Thomas Watson, Bishop of St. Davids, for six widows of seamen; the Marine Hospital, adjoining Trinity House Chapel, founded in 1787, for twelve decayed seamen and their wives; Trinity Hospital, a handsome building in Posterngate, erected in 1828 at a cost of upwards £4000, and having rooms for twenty-four inmates; the Master Mariners' Almhouses, situated in Carr lane, at the bottom of Anlaby road, a large and elegant structure, finished in 1834, and having thirty-six inmates, Mr. John and Mrs. Christiana Graham are master and matron; the MARINERS' ALMSHOUSES adjoining, being a row of houses, erected in 1837 and 1848, and containing rooms for ninety-four inmates, Mr. Robert Watkinson and Mr. James Hodgson are the masters, and Mrs. Sarah Hailstone the matron; and KINGSTON HOSPITAL, a handsome edifice on the Beverley Road, erected in 1836 for a proprietary school, but purchased by the Trinity House in 1851, and adapted for the reception of forty-five pensioners. These hospitals or almshouses have accommodation for about 340 younger brethren of the corporation, master mariners and seamen belonging to the port, their wives or widows, who receive payments varying from 6*s.* to 15*s.* per week. There are usually about 2000 out-pensioners, who are paid from 15*s.* to £3 per quarter. The income of the corporation of Trinity House at present amounts to upwards of £50,000 a year. FERRIES'S HOSPITAL, Princes Dock Side, built in 1822 for thirty inmates, is now let as offices. The MARINE SCHOOL is noticed subsequently.

The CHARTER HOUSE, in Charter House Lane, is an hospital where eighty-six poor aged men and women are comfortably lodged, with an allowance of 7*s.* each weekly, besides medical attendance, coal, and turfs. The Rev. Henry William Kemp, B.A., is the master with a yearly salary of £300, and a good house and garden near the hospital. The master's house, which was pulled down by the order of Lord Fairfax at the time of the siege of Hull, was rebuilt during the Commonwealth. The alms people are appointed by the votes of the Town Council. Michael de la Pole, Earl of Suffolk, Lord Chancellor in the reign of Richard II., and son of Sir William de la Pole, first mayor of Hull, founded the Charter House in 1384, adjoining his other foundation St. Michael's Monastery. It has been twice rebuilt, and the present edifice, which was erected in 1780, and enlarged in 1803, and added to by the Rev. T. Dykes, the Rev. J. H. Bromby, and the present master during their terms of office, is of brick, and consists of a centre with two wings and another range behind. The entrance is beneath a semi-circular portico of six Tuscan columns, above which are the arms of the De la Poles, and on the summit of the roof is a circular turret of eight Ionic pillars with a dome. The income arising from the property belonging to this charity now amounts to £3600 a year, though in 1746 it did not exceed £600, and in the reign of Henry VIII. was less than £50. GREGG'S HOSPITAL, in Posterngate, was founded by John Gregg in 1416, for twelve poor old women, who have each 2*s.* a week and fuel. HARRISON'S HOSPITAL, in Chapel Lane, was founded by John Harrison in 1550, for ten aged women, who each receive 2*s.* a week and two chaldrons of coal yearly. Behind it are four almshouses for as many poor single women, founded in 1795 by Margaret Fox. RATCLIFFE'S HOSPITAL, in Dagger Lane, was bequeathed by Mr. Ratcliffe, a weaver, and endowed by Mr. Buttery in 1775, for six old women, who have 2*s.* 6*d.* each per week and fuel. GEE'S HOSPITAL, in Chapel Lane, is the asylum of ten poor aged women, with a weekly allowance of 1*s.* 2*d.* each. It was founded by Alderman Wm. Gee in 1600. LISTER'S HOSPITAL, on the South side of Trinity Church was founded in 1642 by Sir John Lister, for twelve poor men and women, who have each 7*s.* a week and two chaldrons of coal yearly. The chaplain who reads prayers here has a house and £2 a year. CROWLE'S HOSPITAL, in Sewer Lane, was built and endowed by Alderman George Crowle, in 1668, for fourteen poor women, who have each 2*s.* 6*d.* a week. WATSON'S HOSPITAL, at North Church Side, was founded, as already stated, in 1690, by Bishop Watson, for six pensioners belonging to the Trinity House, but the founder's brother William Watson, in 1721 endowed it with £300, for fourteen more poor persons, who have each 2*s.* weekly. ELLIS'S HOSPITAL, in Long Entry, Salthouse Lane, was founded by Joseph Ellis in 1683, and rebuilt by the Corporation in 1829. It affords an asylum to six poor people, who have each 2*s.* a week and coals. PEXTON'S ALMSHOUSES, in Mariner's Court, Sykes Street, were founded and endowed in 1865 by Mr. Wm. Pexton, of Cottingham, and formerly a draper of Hull. They consist of four tenements for four poor men or women, and each inmate receives 5*s.* a week.

The INFIRMARY, in Prospect Street, forms an extensive and imposing range of buildings, and is one of the chief ornaments of the town. It is built of brick, covered with cement, and has stone dressings. The front is adorned with Corinthian columns and pilasters, and on the lawn in front of the building is a fine statue of Dr. John Alderson, erected by subscription in 1833. This hospital was established in 1782, when the building was erected at a cost of £4126, including £550 paid for the land. Two wings were added in 1840, and a detached fever hospital, at an outlay of upwards of £3000, in 1873, making the total number of beds 163. The annual income amounts to between £6000 and £7000, and since the opening of the institution more than 103,000 in-patients have been received, of whom upwards of 87,000 have been cured or relieved. The wards are well ventilated and conveniently arranged, and baths, lavatories, a library, periodicals, newspapers, &c., are provided for the use of the patients. The medical and surgical library contains over 4000 volumes, many of them of considerable value. Three physicians, three surgeons, and four assistant surgeons attend gratuitously, and are, Drs. Owen Daly, Geo. F. Elliott, and Frank Nicholson, physicians; W. J. Lunn, M.D., R. M. Craven, M.R.C.S., Esqs., and Dr. K. King, F.R.C.S., surgeons; T. M. Evans, R. H. B. Nicholson, H. Thompson, and J. Sherburn, Esqs., assistant surgeons. Mr. Robert Hagyard is the house surgeon. Mr. E. F. Potter, assistant house surgeon. Mr. W. Frashney, junior assistant surgeon. Mr. Benjamin Brooks, secretary. Mrs. M. J. Allison, lady superintendent; and the Rev. G. J. J. Cox, chaplain.

The HULL AND SCULCOATES DISPENSARY was established in 1814, and now occupies a neat building in St. John's Street, erected in 1832 at a cost of £819. This excellent institution affords relief to a great number of patients, and is supported by voluntary subscriptions. More than 160,000 patients have been admitted since its opening, and the annual income is about £700. Sir H. Cooper, M.D., and Owen Daly, Esq., M.D., are the physicians, and Dr. P. W. G. Canning is the resident surgeon. A Ladies' Sick Fund forms a valuable auxiliary.

The HOSPITAL FOR POOR SICK CHILDREN, in Story Street, was established in 1873, and is entirely supported by voluntary subscriptions. Col. W. H. Harrison-Broadley, M.P., is president. The medical staff consists of Drs. Elliott, King, Gibson, and Sherburn. Messrs. W. Burrell and J. Cook are hon. secretaries; Mr. J. Edwards, collector; and Mrs. Taylor, matron.

The HULL HOME FOR TRAINED PRIVATE NURSES is at 2, Percy Street, Albion Street. The committee comprises a number of medical gentlemen of the town and district, headed by Sir Henry Cooper, M.D. Mrs. K. King and Mrs. W. J. Lunn are the hon. secs.; and Mrs. Elizabeth Halden the superintendent.

The HULL BLIND INSTITUTION was formed in 1869 to afford employment and assistance to the blind of the town. It occupies as a workshop a neat building in the Grecian style, in Kingston Square, erected in 1832 as a medical school, and has a good library for the use of the blind. It has two committees of management, one a ladies'. Dr. A. Macmillan is the president; Mr. Thomas Priestman, hon. sec.; Mr. Moore, the reading teacher; and Mr. G. Lambert, the manager.

The HULL CHARITY ORGANISATION SOCIETY was established in 1875, and has offices at Junction Place, Queen Dock Side. Messrs. T. J. Smith, T. Priestman, and John B. Anderson are hon. secs.

The LYING-IN CHARITY was established in 1802, and is supported by voluntary contributions. The patients are attended at their own residences, and are provided with every needful comfort.

The BOROUGH LUNATIC ASYLUM is now at Willerby (which see). The HULL, EAST RIDING OF YORKSHIRE, AND NORTH LINCOLNSHIRE FEMALE PENITENTIARY, on Anlaby Road, was established in 1811, and was revived in 1837, after being for some years in abeyance. It affords an asylum to 30 penitents, who are required to remain inmates for one year, after which they are placed in situations. Mrs. Evanson is hon. sec., and Miss Innes, matron. The TEMPORARY HOME FOR FALLEN WOMEN, in Nile Street, was opened in January 1861. It occupies a house purchased for £525, and contains accommodation for 16 inmates.

From the recent religious census it appears that 5994 persons attend the Established Church in a morning and 7278 in the evening, while 19,971 and 29,895 are the numbers of those attending Dissenting places of worship at the same times.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH, Margaret Street, Beverley Road, was built in 1869 on a site presented by the Rev. Canon Jarratt, of Cave, and was constituted by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners the parish church of Sculcoates. It is a spacious and elegant edifice, and cost £8000. The Lord-Chancellor is patron, and the Rev. John Watson, M.A., vicar. The Mission Hall adjoining the church was built in 1879, and cost £1000.

CHRIST CHURCH, in Worship Street, Sculcoates, was built by subscription under an Act of Parliament obtained in 1814, and cost £7000. It was consecrated in 1822, and is of white brick with stone dressings, in the Perpendicular style, and has a handsome tower. It has galleries on three sides, and contains 1000 sittings, of which 500 are free. The pulpit is of oak, richly carved, the chancel floor is laid with encaustic tiles, and the reredos exhibits the sacramental emblems, embossed in relief on glazed encaustic tiles. The east window is filled with stained glass, and against the walls of the church are several neat marble tablets, one of which, to the memory of Mr. and Mrs. Spaldin, is a fine piece of sculpture, exhibiting a full-length picture of an angel pointing heavenwards. There is also a monument in the north-east corner of the chancel, consisting of an elaborately-carved Gothic niche of rich tabernacle work, within which is placed a well-executed bust, in pure Carrara marble (by Keyworth), of the Rev. John King, M.A., the first incumbent of the church, to whose memory a powerful and richly-toned organ, which cost 400 guineas, has been erected in the west gallery, under which some of the many virtues, expressive of his character as a minister and a Christian, are recorded on a white marble tablet in the form of a scroll. He died on September 11, 1858, after a faithful discharge of his duties for a period of thirty-six years, in the seventieth year of his age. The perpetual curacy, valued at £300, is in the patronage of the vicar of Sculcoates and other trustees, and in the incumbency of the Rev. Joseph Ford Simmons, M.A.

HOLY TRINITY CHURCH, one of the largest parish churches in England, stands on the west side of the Market Place, and is an ancient and stately edifice, comprising nave and chancel (with aisles and clerestory the whole length of the building), transepts, south porch, and lofty and handsome central tower with eight bells. The length from east to west within the walls is 269 feet, the breadth 72 feet, and the length of the transept 98 feet. This venerable fabric was founded in 1285, as a chapel, by one James Helward; Hull being then in the parish of Hessle. Since that period, so many additions and alterations have been made that no traces of the original chapel are now to be seen. In 1301, Archbishop Corbridge granted it a licence for a cemetery. The east front is a beautiful specimen of Decorated architecture; but the central window, a very noble one of seven lights, has a trace of Perpendicular work in its composition. The chancel and transept are chiefly in the Decorated style, but the nave and tower are of the Perpendicular period. The nave is fitted with open benches of oak, with poppy heads. The pulpit is of Caen stone, handsomely carved, and the lectern is a massive brass eagle, weighing 7 cwt., and presented in 1847 by Mr. G. Parker. Some of the windows, including the east one, are enriched with stained glass. Under an arched canopy in the south aisle of the chancel, are two recumbent effigies in alabaster, supposed to represent one of the De la Poles and his wife. Near this is a beautiful mortuary chapel, which has been lately restored by the Broadley family, and is adorned with shields of the De la Pole family, and contains another recumbent figure. About £7000 were expended some years ago in improving this noble church; but many parts of it being still in a dangerous state, £33,000 has been recently spent to complete the restoration, in accordance with the plans of Sir G. G. Scott, R.A., the well-known architect. The organ, which stands in the south transept, was built by Messrs. Forster & Andrews, at a cost of £2000. The vicarage, valued at £605, is in the patronage of trustees, and is held by the Rev. Joseph McCormick, M.A., rural dean. Mr. F. Bentley, Mus. Bac., is organist.

The MARINERS' CHURCH, in Prince's Dock Street, is a small brick building, erected in 1834, chiefly for the use of mariners. It has no windows in the sides, but is lighted from the ends and roof, and contains a good organ, purchased in 1861 for £315. It has galleries all round, and contains 1000 sittings, half of which are free. The perpetual curacy, valued at £200, is in the patronage of the vicar of Hull, and incumbency of the Rev. S. Allwood.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH is the new church of the large and increasing parish of Drypool, and is situated on the Holderness Road. It was opened and consecrated in July, 1878, and has taken the place of the old church of St. Peter, near the Victoria Dock. It is a handsome church, built in the Geometrical style, with red brick and stone facings, and consists of chancel, nave, and transepts, vestry, and organ chamber. There is a sweet-toned organ, recently erected by Hunter, of London. The tower and spire are as yet not erected, funds being needed for this purpose. Messrs. Adams and Kelly were the architects, and the works were carried out by the joint contractors, Mr. Barrass, and Messrs. Allen & Son, at a total cost of £6000. The heating apparatus by Messrs. King & Co. is by means of hot water. The living is a vicarage, in the gift of the Simeon trustees, of the value of £300 and a house, and is held by the Rev. Thomas Davis, who was appointed in 1866.

St. Barnabas's Church, at the corner of Hessle Road and South Boulevards, is a plain brick building, erected in 1875, at a cost of about £6000, and containing 1500 sittings. The organ, from the works of Messrs. Forster and Andrews, cost £650. The living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the vicar of Hull, and incumbency of the Rev. J. C. S. Krönig.

St. Clement's Mission Church is a wooden building (opened in October, 1879) containing 300 sittings. In 1881 a new Mission Room was erected on a site given by W. Liddell, Esq.

St. James's Church, at the south-western end of the town, in St. James's Square, near Hessle Road, is an elegant edifice of white brick and stone, in the Early English style, erected in 1830–1, at a cost of £6500, of which £3560 was contributed by Government, and the remainder raised by subscription. It comprises a large nave with galleries, a small chancel, and a lofty tower with eight bells and a clock. The east window is filled with beautiful stained glass, representing the Adoration of the Magi, and other scriptural subjects. The living is a vicarage, valued at £300, in the patronage of the vicar of Hull, and incumbency of the Rev. Archibald B. Carpenter, M.A.

St. John's Church is near the north-west corner of the Prince's Dock, and is a very plain red-brick edifice, with a tower at the west end. It was erected in 1790–91 at the sole expense of the late Rev. Thomas Dykes, LL.B., the first incumbent, and cost £4600. Some years afterwards additions and alterations were made, at a cost of £1400, and in 1864 the sum of £1700 was expended in the erection of a new chancel, the walls of which, as high as the string-course, are lined with alabaster. A splendid organ was also purchased at the same time for £600, the roof of the church was handsomely painted, and the whole building renovated. Many of the windows are filled with beautiful stained glass, and the interior of the building is neatly pewed and galleried. In the year 1868 the district was constituted a vicarage. The living is in the gift of the vicar of Hull. There is an endowment of £200 per annum, derived from the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, which, with the rental of a certain number of pews, constitutes the income of the vicar. The present incumbent is the Rev. J. T. Lewis, M.A. Mr. J. W. Hudson, Mus. Bac., is organist.

The Church of St. John the Baptist, Newington, is a red brick structure, with stone dressings, in the Early English style of architecture, and contains nave, north and south aisles, chancel, and vestries. The church has 730 sittings, free and unappropriated. The living is a vicarage, valued at £200. The patron is the Archbishop of York, and the Rev. C. R. Job, M.A. is vicar.

St. Luke's Church, on the west side of Pease Street, between Cambridge Street and St. Luke's Street, was erected in 1861, and has a nave with aisles and clerestory, chancel, and tower (added in 1878), and is a red brick building with stone quoins, in the Early Decorated style. The perpetual curacy, valued at £300, is in the patronage of the vicar of Hull, and incumbency of the Rev. T. Lester.

St. Mark's Church, in the Groves, on the eastern side of the river Hull, is a neat Early English building of red brick, with stone dressings, erected in 1843, at a cost of £6000, and comprising a nave with aisles, an apsidal chancel, and a lantern tower, surmounted by a slender hexagonal spire. It has 1115 sittings, of which 600 are free. The perpetual curacy, valued at £283, is in the patronage of the Crown and Archbishop alternately, and in the incumbency of the Rev. S. England, who has a good residence adjoining the church, built in 1863–4, at a cost of £1600.

St. Mary's, once the parish church of Sculcoates, stands near the northern extremity of Church Street, Wincolmlee, in the old village of Sculcoates, nearly 2 miles from the Market Place of Hull. It was rebuilt in 1760, and is a neat brick building, comprising nave, aisles, chancel, vestry, south porch, and square tower with one bell. The east window is of Decorated architecture, and is filled with rich stained glass. The church was re-roofed and several improvements were effected about 1862. In 1876 the gallery was removed, the church seated with open benches, and the choir with stalls, and a vestry erected, as well as an organ chamber, in which was placed a new instrument. The vicarage, valued at £300, is in the patronage of the vicar of Sculcoates, and incumbency of the Rev. J. W. Pearson. The large churchyard, which is full of gravestones and monuments, is now closed; but at a short distance is the Parish Cemetery, which contains 3 acres, and was opened on January 2, 1818, at a cost of £4000. In the centre of this burial ground is a neat mortuary chapel, on the coved ceiling of which is a painting of the heavens, with groups of seraphic and cherubic figures.

St. Mary's Church, in Lowgate, was built before 1333, as in that year a licence was granted to it by Archbishop Melton. It was then a chapel of ease to Ferriby, but it has been parochial since the reign of Edward IV. It was formerly more extensive than at present, and the greater part of it was demolished by Henry VIII. because it obstructed the prospect from his manor-house, in repairing which, part of the materials of the nave and chancel were employed, whilst the remainder were used in constructing the block-houses. In 1570 the parishioners enlarged the chancel at the east end, and in 1697 built the present tower. In 1826 the whole church was repaired, and the tower altered so as to harmonise with the ancient part of the structure. In 1861–63 the building was thoroughly restored through the exertions of the late Rev. John Scott, M.A., under the direction of Sir G. G. Scott, R.A., at a cost of about £9000. The west end of the church was set back 6 feet so as to widen Lowgate, and an arch was made through the lower part of the tower (which still projects into the street) for the use of foot passengers. An additional aisle was at the same time erected on the south side, so that the church, which is in the Perpendicular style of architecture, now comprises nave, south porch, and chancel, with one north and two south aisles, and a clerestory extending the whole length of the building. The tower is very lofty and handsome, and contains six bells. The reredos is of stone, elaborately panelled, and decorated with crocketed finials, and the chancel floor is laid with glazed encaustic tiles. The pulpit, reading desks, lectern, and altar rails are of carved oak. All the windows, save those of the clerestory, are filled with beautiful stained glass; the east window being in memory of the late esteemed incumbent, the Rev. John Scott, M.A. The vicarage, valued at £260, is in the incumbency of the Rev. Canon Scott, M.A., and in the patronage of the Scott family. Mr. Walter Porter, Mus. Bac., is organist.

St. Matthew's Church, Anlaby Road, was erected in 1870, at a cost of £7434, raised by subscription and grants, and is in the Early English style. The spire rises to a height of 150 feet. There are 800 sittings, all of which are free and unappropriated. The organ is by Messrs. Forster & Andrews. The living is a vicarage, valued at £300, in the gift of the vicar of Hull, and incumbency of the Rev. George Robinson, M.A., who resides at the vicarage house, which has been built at an outlay of £2561.

St. Paul's Church, at the corner of Cannon Street and St. Paul Street, was erected in 1846-7, at a cost of £8000, and is a neat stone building in the Early English style, comprising a nave with aisles and clerestory, a chancel, and a square tower with an octagonal belfry at the south-west angle. The interior has a light and elegant appearance, six pointed arches on each side dividing the nave from the aisles, the pillars upon which they rest being alternately circular and octagonal. The roofs of the nave and aisles are open timbered, and that of the chancel panelled. The east window is filled with beautiful stained glass. The chancel and the nave have been restored. There are 1200 sittings, of which half are free. The vicarage, valued at £300, is in the patronage of the Crown and Archbishop alternately, and in the incumbency of the Rev. Canon Rowsell, M.A., who has a good parsonage house adjoining the church.

St. Peter's, formerly the parish church of Drypool, is situated on the east side of the harbour, and near the west end of the Victoria Dock. It was rebuilt in 1822, and is a plain structure, comprising nave, chancel, and tower with three bells and a clock. The vicarage, valued at £300, is in the patronage of Simeon's Trustees and incumbency of the Rev. J. Hetherington, who has a good parsonage. The churchyard has long been closed, and the parishioners use the Drypool and Southcoates Cemetery, on the Hedon Road, which was formed in 1852, at a cost of £2100, and contains a neat chapel.

St. Philip's Church, at the corner of Charlotte Street and Paradise Row, was erected in 1881-2 for the new parish of St. Philip's, taken partly from Holy Trinity parish, and partly from Sculcoates. It is of brick, and comprises nave, west aisle, chancel, with semicircular apse, and a bell turret carried up over the porch at the south end of the nave. In consequence of the irregularity of the site, the church stands north and south. It will seat 450 people. The architects were Messrs. Botterill, Son & Bilson. The cost was about £3500. The patronage is in the vicar of Hull, and the Rev. George Knox, B.A., is the vicar-designate.

St. Silas's Church, Barmston Street, built 1870, at the cost of £4000, consists of a nave, aisles, chancel, vestry, and organ chamber, four arches on each side dividing the nave from the aisles. The interior has a light and elegant appearance; the acoustic properties are particularly good. There are 660 sittings, all of which are free. The living is in the patronage of the Archbishop of York, and is valued at £235, with a vicarage, erected at a cost of £1680. The Rev. Pownall Kendall is incumbent.

St. Stephen's Church stands in the street to which it gives name, at the end of Spring Street, and was opened for Divine service in 1844. It is a handsome building of stone, in the Early English style, comprising nave, aisles, transept, chancel, and a tower containing eight bells and a clock, and surmounted by an elegant spire, which rises to the height of 200 feet. The pulpit, reading desk, and lectern are of oak, the seats are of deal, stained and varnished, the font is of carved stone, and the east window is enriched with stained glass. The vicarage, valued at £300, is in the patronage of the vicar of Hull, and incumbency of the Rev. Richmond Deck, M.A. A handsome parsonage was built in Park Street, in 1860, at a cost of £1600.

St. Thomas's Church is situated a short distance from Anlaby Road, and was consecrated by the Archbishop of York in April, 1882. For several years an iron church has stood near, which is now used as a Sunday school, &c. The church, which consists of nave, aisles, double transepts, apsidal chancel, vestry, organ chamber, porch, and lofty bell turret, contains about 750 sittings, all free. The cost, exclusive of site, was £4000. The district contains about 7000 inhabitants. The living is a vicarage, in the gift of the vicar of Hull, and incumbency of the Rev. M. H. James, B.A., LL.B.

The Roman Catholics have two places of worship here, St. Charles's Church, in Jarratt Street, was erected in 1828-9, and considerably enlarged and improved in 1835. It is like a parallelogram, and the front, which is in the Florentine style, is cemented to imitate stone, and surmounted by a massive stone cross. The Very Rev. Canon Randerson and the Rev. J. Young are the priests. St. Mary's School, Wilton Street, Holderness Road, is a neat brick structure of Early English architecture, built in 1856, at a cost of £2700. Near it are houses for the priest and a schoolmaster, and an extensive playground for the children, who are at present under the care of Sisters of Mercy. The school is also used for divine service, and the Rev. George Browne is the priest. The Convent of the Immaculate Conception, Anlaby Road, was built in 1872. The schools at the back will hold 400 girls and infants.

The Jews' Synagogue, in Robinson Row, was built in 1852, on the site of an older one, erected in 1826. It is lighted from the top, but at the east end there is a semicircular window filled with stained glass. It is neatly fitted up, and has a gallery round three sides, for the accommodation of the female part of the congregation. The Rev. H. Burman, is the rabbi, and Selig Wolff, beadle. A school is held in the vestry. The present Jewish burial-ground is at Marfleet, 2½ miles from Hull, and was opened in 1858.

The German Lutheran Church, in Nile Street, is a neat brick structure, erected in 1827. It was long used by dissenters of various denominations, and for a short time as a temporary church for St. Luke's district, but in 1859 it was purchased as a place of worship for the thousands of Lutheran sailors who frequent this port, and the Rev. Pfeiffer is the present pastor.

The DANISH CHURCH is in Osborne Street, and the Rev. C. U. Hansen is priest. The UNITARIAN CHAPEL, in Bowlalley Lane, was the oldest dissenting place of worship in Hull, and was originally a Presbyterian Chapel, but the congregation gradually adopted Unitarian views. The old chapel, which was built in 1802, has been superseded as a place of worship by a new Gothic chapel in Park Street, which was erected in 1882, at a cost of £4000. The Rev. J. M. Dixon is the minister. The church has a valuable library of books bequeathed by Mr. Leonard Chamberlaine in 1716. There are several endowments connected with this church.

The PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF ENGLAND has three churches in Hull. The one in Prospect Street is a handsome stone edifice in the Geometrical style, erected in 1866, at a cost of about £10,000, and comprises nave with aisles and clerestory, apsidal chancel with vestry on one side and organ chamber on the other, transepts and a tower on the south side. The roofs are of open timber, the Communion rail is of Sicilian marble, and the reredos of Caen stone, richly carved. The Rev. Dr. W. P. MacKay, M.A., is the minister. A second is in Spring Bank, of which the Rev. Peter Duncan, M.A., B.D., is minister; and the third in Holderness Road, of which the Rev. Michael Smith is minister.

The FRIENDS' MEETING HOUSE, in Mason Street, is a commodious building erected in 1880. The old house, which was purchased of the Wesleyans in 1852, is now used as a Sunday School.

The BAPTISTS have four chapels in Hull. Salthouse Lane Chapel is a plain building in Chapel Court. George Street Chapel was erected in 1796, at a cost of £1200, and enlarged and improved at several subsequent periods. Its pastor is the Rev. J. O'Dell. South Street Chapel is a brick edifice, erected in 1840, and has a library of 300 volumes. It is under the care of the Rev. W. Summer.

The Peculiar Baptists worship in a room in Charlotte Street.

The INDEPENDENTS have seven chapels in the borough. Providence Chapel, Hope Street, is a large building, erected in 1797. The Rev. Edward Hamilton is the pastor. Fish Street Chapel was built in 1782, and contains several mural tablets of marble. Adjoining it is a large schoolroom, erected in 1840. The Rev. H. T. Robjohns is the minister. Salem Chapel, Cogan Street, erected in 1832, is under the pastoral care of the Rev. D. Tilsley. Bethesda Chapel, Osborne Street, was built in 1842, and has a neat Early English front. Albion Street Chapel was erected in 1841, at a cost of about £8000, and is a handsome structure, with a massive stone portico of six Doric columns, raised on a basement 10 feet high, approached by a flight of steps. Attached to it are large schoolrooms. Wycliffe Congregational Church, Anlaby Road, was erected in 1868, at a cost of about £8000. It is in the Early Decorated style, and has a tower and spire. There are 1100 sittings, and the church contains a good organ. The Rev. J. Hunter is the pastor. Hessle Road Church has been built recently. Latimer Congregational Church was built in 1873, and has a tower and spire. The Rev. E. G. Cammidge is minister.

The WESLEYANS have eight chapels here. George Yard Chapel is a spacious brick building, with stone dressings, erected in 1786. Scott Street Chapel was built in 1793, and enlarged a few years since. Waltham Street Chapel is of brick covered with cement, and has a Doric portico of two columns, and a pediment. It was built in 1815, and near it is a building erected in 1853 containing spacious lecture, school, and class-rooms, and a library of 1800 volumes. Brunswick Chapel was built in 1876 at a cost of £8000, and will seat 800 persons. There is a small chapel in Toft Lane. Humber Street Chapel, erected in 1832, is a good brick edifice. Kingston Chapel, Witham, is the largest place of worship belonging to the Wesleyans in Hull, and was erected in 1841, at a cost of £8000. The front is of stone, and exhibits a bold pediment, supported by four Doric columns. Attached to it is a large schoolroom, &c. Great Thornton Street Chapel is a handsome structure, built in 1842, at a cost of £7000. It has a fine stone portico of eight fluted Corinthian columns and two wings connected by open arcades. The entire frontage is 160 feet, and the height to the apex of the pediment is 56 feet. Beverley Road Chapel was built in 1861, at a cost of nearly £7000. It is in the Decorated style of architecture, and is a very handsome and spacious edifice of white brick, with stone dressings. The gable is ornamented by an octagonal turret, with two stages of arches and a small spire. The organ, said to be the largest, handsomest and most effective in the town, contains nearly 2000 pipes, and was opened in 1862. Behind the chapel is a large building, erected in 1865, and containing class and school rooms. There are several other chapels at Newland, Dairycoates, Southcoates, New Town, Newington, and other places in the immediate neighbourhood, and also a School Chapel on Hedon Road, opened in 1866.

The NEW CONNEXION METHODISTS have three places of worship. Bethel Chapel, in Charlotte Street, was built in 1799, and has a neat front, with pilasters, pediment, and porticoes. The schoolroom in Sykes Street, was erected in 1829. Stepney Chapel is a small edifice on the Beverley Road, built in 1849, but a new chapel is about to be erected in its stead on the opposite side of the road. They have also a chapel in Osborne Street.

The PRIMITIVE METHODISTS have a great number of chapels in Hull. West Street Chapel was opened April 19, 1819, and is a small plain edifice. Church Street Chapel has a neat cemented front, and was erected in 1846. Great Thornton Street Chapel was built in 1849, but was partly burnt and rebuilt many years ago. It is of brick, with a recessed portico of two Doric columns. Clowes Chapel, in Jarratt Street, was erected in 1851, and is in the Italian style, with brick pilasters, stone cornices, &c. Beneath it are school and class rooms, and a new school was built adjoining in 1877. Holderness Road Chapel was built in 1863, at a cost of £4300, and is of red and white brick, with stone dressings. The front has Corinthian pilasters, and the basement contains the class and school rooms. Jubilee Chapel, erected in 1863, at a cost of £4500, is a large structure of red and white brick, with stone dressings, with school rooms, &c., beneath, and has a neat front, flanked by wings having somewhat the appearance of towers. Hessle Road Chapel was built in 1881, at a cost of £4136, and is of Romanesque architecture. A small chapel was built in Hedon Road in 1877. Hodge Memorial Chapel was erected in Williamson Street in 1872. Fountain Street Chapel was built in 1878, at a cost of £4000, and will seat 800 persons. Bourne Chapel, on Anlaby Road, was erected in 1869, at a cost of £7500, and will seat 2000 persons; at the back are schools, vestries, &c.

The INDEPENDENT METHODIST CHAPEL, in Osborne Street, was built by Baptists in 1823, and came into the possession of its present occupiers in 1826. It was altered and considerably improved in 1865, and its front is highly ornamented in cement. The school is in Lower Union Street, and was formerly a chapel. Zion Calvinistic Chapel was erected in 1868.

The METHODIST FREE CHURCH or WESLEYAN REFORMERS have four places of worship here. The Tabernacle, in Sykes Street, was built in 1826, and had been previously in the hands of the Independents and Wesleyans. It has a curious lantern rising from the roof and supported by tall slender pillars. Attached to it are school and class rooms. Campbell Street Chapel and Sunday Schools were erected in 1866, at a cost of about £2566, and is a small Gothic edifice of white brick, relieved by red bands and arches. There are about 560 sittings in the chapel. There are two smaller chapels in Lime Street and Walker Street.

The PLYMOUTH BRETHREN meet for worship in a room in Dock Street; the CHRISTIAN PIONEERS in a room in St. Mark's square; the CATHOLIC APOSTOLICS in Day Street.

The SWEDENBORGIANS have a chapel, recently erected, in Spring Bank.

A small congregation of Christians, styling themselves the UNITED BANDS CHURCH, meet at a house in Salthouse Lane.

The GOSPEL MISSION Hall is in Naylor's Row, and VICTORY CHRISTIAN ARMY Mission Room is in Merrick Street.

THE BOROUGH CEMETERY, on the Hedon Road, was opened in 1875, and contains 16 acres of ground tastefully laid out, and two chapels connected by a tower and spire with an archway. The chapels are neat and built on a new principle, each having a mortuary attached, divided from the chapels by two arches filled in with glass, by which means the coffins are not taken into the chapels at all, but still are visible to the mourners. The east part of the ground is consecrated for the Church of England, that on the west is for Nonconformists, being separated by a 30 feet road. Mr. W. Parrott is the superintendent. The General Cemetery, at Spring Bank, was formed in 1846-7 by a company of shareholders, with a capital of £10,000, raised in £10 shares. It was formally opened June 2, 1847, and a portion of it was consecrated on the 28th August of the same year for the use of members of the Established Church. Since that time about £7000 more have been expended, and it now covers nearly 20 acres of ground tastefully laid out and planted. About five acres were purchased of the company in 1862 for the Borough Burial Ground, and this portion contains a neat chapel built in 1859, and in 1863 another chapel was erected for the use of Nonconformists. The Rev. James Sibree is chaplain of the unconsecrated portion. The office of registrar and superintendent is at present vacant. The Holy Trinity Burial Ground is on the Hessle Road, just outside the borough boundary, and was opened in 1862 on the closing of the old burial-ground in Castle Street. The Cemetery at Sculcoates, and that for Drypool and Southcoates are mentioned pages 95 and 96, and the Jews' Burial Ground is named at page 96.

The FREE GRAMMAR SCHOOL was founded in 1486, by John Alcock, Bishop of Ely, who was a native of Beverley. In 1583 it was rebuilt, and the Corporation caused a second story to be added for a Merchant's Exchange and Assembly Room, but it was probably never used for these purposes. The school, pending the issue of a new scheme by the Charity Commissioners, is carried on in premises in Baker Street. The endowment produces about £80 a year, for which the master teaches the classics free, but the scholars pay certain fees fixed by the Town Council for other branches of learning. This school had an exhibition of £40 a year to any college at Cambridge, founded by Thomas Bury, in 1627, and augmented by Thomas Ferries in 1630, but this is now in the hands of the charity trustees of the town. It still has a scholarship of £60 a year at Clare College, Cambridge, founded by Alexander Metcalf. The upper story of the school building originally formed two rooms, but the smaller of them has been divided. These apartments were used as a private school for about a century, and are reached by a long massive oak staircase at the west end of the building, but they are now unoccupied. Mr. S. C. Logan, M.A., is head master, and is allowed to receive boarders.

COGAN'S CHARITY SCHOOL in Salthouse Lane, was founded in 1753, by William Cogan, Esq., alderman, for clothing and educating 20 poor girls. In 1822 the trustees were enabled to increase the number of girls from 20 to 40, and of late years the number has been 60. Each girl remains in the school six years; and a marriage portion of £6 is given to her if she has been seven years in respectable service previous to marriage. The original endowment consisted of two dwelling houses in Bowlalley Lane, and £2000 annuity stock. In 1762, the founder gave a further sum of £500, the interest to be expended partly in the purchase of religious books, and partly for the before-mentioned marriage portions. Alderman Cogan also bequeathed, in 1787, a sum of money for apprenticing poor boys, preference to be given to the sons of freemen of Hull.

KINGSTON-UPON-HULL SCHOOL BOARD was formed on February 3, 1871, and have their offices in the Town Hall. The present members, elected February, 1880, are—Thomas Stratten (chairman), Ald. Chapman (vice-chairman), E. Fraser, M.R.C.S., T. Barton Holmes, J. D. Holmes, Rev. G. Lamb, W. J. Lunn, M.D., Rev. J. McCormick, M.A., F. Oliver, W. Pool, Rev. Canon Randerson, Rev. Canon Scott, J. Stuart, D. Trainor, and the Rev. M. H. James, B.A., LL.B.; Mr. D. J. O'Donoghue is clerk. Since their formation the Board have built 14 schools with 42 departments, at a cost of about £120,000. One pre-existing school has been transferred to the board, and they occupy 3 provisional schools. The schools will now accommodate 11,963 pupils, the number on the registers being 13,334, and the number in average attendance 10,708.

Newington School Board was formed on July 14, 1879, and has built two schools of three departments each, at a cost of £10,510, and having accommodation for 1282 pupils, the number in average attendance being 1027. J. P. Chatham, Esq., is Clerk. Office, 7 Bowlalley Lane, Hull; board room St. George's Road, Newington.

There are National Schools in connection with most of the churches, and many of them are large and handsome buildings. Some of the Dissenting chapels have also day schools attached to them. The British School, in Day Lane, is a neat Tudor building, attended by about 300 children. The Roman Catholics have Schools in Pryme Street and Wilton Street, and at the Convent on Anlaby Road. Southcoates School, in Southcoates old town, was built in 1855, and is supported out of the rents of a farm of 37 acres, left to the poor of Southcoates many years ago by Eleanor Scott. From the same source the Drypool National School and the British School in Day Lane each derive £20 in consideration of their educating forty poor children free. The Wesleyans have also schools in the town.

The Hull and East Riding College, Limited, in Park Street, was erected in 1866 by a company of shareholders, at a cost of more than £3000, and forms a handsome pile of buildings, of red brick with stone dressings, in the Gothic style of the 13th century. It presents a frontage of 131 feet to Park Street, and the buildings are lofty, and comprise two large halls and class rooms capable of holding 300 scholars. Important structural changes have been recently made, and improved heating apparatus added. In the rear is a large playground, and a covered gymnasium for wet weather. The college is affiliated with the University of London. The terms are from 9 to 15 guineas per annum, and boarders are received by the principal and other masters. The Marquis of Ripon is president; Mr. F. Bond, M.A., F.G.S., principal; Mr. R. P. Scott, B.A., vice-principal.

The School of Art, which is affiliated to the Royal Institution, was established in 1861, and occupies a building in Albion Street, near to, and purchased by the Royal Institution for £1300. Mr. J. Menzies is the master.

Kingston-upon-Hull Academy of Arts, in Albion Street, was established in 1881, with a numerous and influential list of patrons. It has been formed for promoting a taste for fine arts in the district, and to give encouragement to artists by affording opportunities for exhibition and sale of their works. The Academy will remain open about three months in the year, and is under the government of a council of gentlemen of the town and district, who offer medals and prizes, &c. Mr. Frederick E. Friston is the director and proprietor.

The Hull, East Riding and Lincolnshire Institute for the Deaf and Dumb is at 4 Belgrave Terrace, Spring Bank. Mr. Thomas Haller is hon. sec., and Mr. J. W. Foulston, master.

The School of Anatomy and Medicine, in Kingston Square, Jarratt Street, is a small neat building in the Grecian style, erected in 1832.

The Marine School, in the yard of the Trinity House, was founded in 1785, for the sons of sailors, about 150 of whom are clothed, and receive here a good nautical education, free. It is in two sections, called the Upper or Navigation School, and the Lower or Preparatory School. Boys enter the lower school at the age of from eight to ten years, and are transferred to the upper school after the age of eleven, on condition that they engage to become sailors, and are physically qualified for that calling. Adults are prepared to pass as masters, mates, &c. The present building was erected in 1842, and enlarged in 1862. It consists of two fine rooms, each 50 feet long by 20 feet wide, and 22 feet high. Mr. Z. Scaping is head master.

The Ragged and Industrial Schools were founded May 1, 1849, and occupied a house in Mill Street till 1857, when the present handsome and commodious building in Marlborough Terrace was completed, at a cost of about £3700. This edifice is of red brick with stone dressings, in the Tudor style, and has recently been considerably enlarged. The spacious school rooms and other apartments are lofty and well ventilated, and there is a good house for the master attached. The institution is certified under the Industrial Schools Act of 1861, and consequently juvenile criminals of both sexes are sent to it from the Borough Police Court. These children are lodged, fed, and partly clothed in the house, and those who are not lodged on the premises receive their dinners every day. There is also an Infants' School. The institution is conducted by two masters, a matron, and a schoolmistress, and in connection with it are Sunday schools, night schools, a Penny Bank, &c.

The Port of Hull Society, for the Religious Instruction of Seamen, was instituted in 1821, and for some years carried on its operations in a floating chapel formed of the hull of an old merchant ship moored in the Prince's Dock; but in 1842, at a cost of £1700, it opened the Sailor's Institute, a large building with a plain stuccoed front, in Waterhouse Lane, which contains a good library of 700 volumes, a large lecture hall or sailors' chapel in which religious services are held and lectures given, a school room, and a comfortable reading and news room. It also supports about 80 portable sea-going libraries, averaging from twenty to thirty books each, for the use of sailors during their voyages. In December 1837, the society established an Orphan Institution, which now clothes and educates about 120 children of deceased sailors and rivermen connected with the port; and in May 1863, it founded a Sailors' Orphan Home, where the most needy of the poor orphans are entirely provided for. Thanet House, a large mansion in Park Street, with commodious grounds, was purchased in 1866 for £4500, and after being altered at a further expense of £500, was opened for the reception of orphans in February 1867. Mr. and Mrs. Mason, master and matron.

The Sailors' Home, in Salthouse Lane, formerly occupied as a Branch Bank of England, was purchased and adapted to its present use in 1859, at a cost of upwards of £3000. It is fitted up for the temporary residence of sailors, who pay 2*s.* a day or 14*s.* a week for board, washing, and lodging, and have the use of an excellent library and reading room, together with draughts, skittles, and other amusing games. Nearly 1500 sailors make use of this institution every year, and sometimes deposit their wages in the hands of the manager for safe keeping, to the amount of more than £2000 in the space of twelve months. The Home is not self-supporting, and the deficiency is made up by public subscriptions. Mr. James Richardson is the manager.

Hull Seamen's and General Orphan Asylum, Spring Bank, situate near the Botanic Gardens, covers, with playgrounds and garden, nearly 2¼ acres of ground. The building is of the Elizabethan style of architecture, red bricks and stone dressings, and comprises basement and three storeys. The original building, designed by Mr. T. H. Wyatt, of London, was opened in 1866 by the Archbishop of York; the cost, exclusive of furnishings, &c., being defrayed by John Torr, Esq., M.P., of Liverpool. The eastern part, occupied by the girls, was opened by Lord Hotham in 1876, and was built at the expense of C. H. Wilson, Esq., M.P., and his brother, Arthur Wilson, Esq. In 1881 these gentlemen still further extended the accommodation for girls by the erection of a large and airy day room, with dormitory, and sick ward, &c., making the entire building available for upwards of 100 boys and 100 girls. The total cost of the whole of the buildings since the foundation, including the land, furnishing, and heating, &c., is about £22,000. The object of the charity is to provide for the maintenance, clothing, and education of the orphans of seamen connected with Hull and its ancient limits of Bridlington, Goole, Gainsborough, and Grimsby. Other orphans besides those of seamen are admitted when there are vacancies for such (72 of those now in residence are the children of landsmen).

The Public Rooms, at the corner of Jarratt Street and Kingston Square, were erected in 1830, and form a handsome building of brick covered with cement, and ornamented with columns and pilasters having stone capitals and bases of the Ionic order. The principal apartment, the Music Hall, is 140 feet long, 41 feet broad, and 35 feet high. It is richly decorated, and will seat 1500 persons. Adjoining are a card room, a withdrawing room, a ladies' room, &c., a vestibule, and a fine staircase. Colonel Gleadow is the proprietor, and Mr. G. Peacock manager.

The Protestant Institute, in Kingston Square, adjoins the Public Rooms, and was erected by subscription, chiefly by the Orange Society, in 1864, at a cost of about £2500. It is of white brick, with cement dressings, in the Italian style, and has Corinthian pilasters between the windows, and an entablature, with balustrading. On the ground floor is a large lecture hall, with a semi-circular platform at one end; and the first floor contains four lodge rooms of the Loyal Orangemen, Druids, Oddfellows, and other societies.

The Royal Institution, in Albion Street, was erected in 1853–4, conjointly by the Literary and Philosophical Society and the committee of the Subscription Library. It is one of the chief ornaments of the town, and is a very elegant edifice of stone, with a façade 160 feet long and 40 feet high, upon a rusticated basement. Ten coupled columns of the Corinthian order stand about 12 feet in advance of the main building and support an entablature and attic of good proportions, whilst the wings slightly project and have pilasters and pediments. The Subscription Library occupies the western half of the building, and is totally disconnected with the other institution. It consists of book-rooms, calculated to hold 60,000 volumes; a reading room, 49 feet by 31, embellished with portraits of the late Charles Frost, Esq., Thomas Lee, Esq. (the founder), and Dr. Birkbeck; an elegant vestibule, a committee room, and an office for the librarian. The library was founded in 1775, and now comprises 40,000 volumes, many of them of great value. Mr. A. Milner is the librarian. The Literary and Philosophical Society possesses the remainder of the building, and was established in 1822. The entrance doorway opens into a noble corridor, 90 feet long and 25 feet wide, ornamented with 22 Ionic columns and 14 pilasters, and lighted from the top by three circular domes. On either side of this corridor is an aisle, separated from it by the arches of the arcade, the whole forming one large room, containing an extensive, valuable, and well arranged museum. Behind are the council room, committee room, laboratory, and lecture room. The latter is semicircular, with seats descending to the lecturer's table, and will hold 700 persons. The institution was opened by the Prince Consort, who was the donor of two fine casts of Apollo Belvedere (Vatican) and Venus di Milo (Louvre). Messrs. T. M. Evans and B. Carlill are the secretaries. The Natural History and Microscopic Society holds its meetings bi-monthly in one of the rooms of the institution, when papers are read and discussions take place.

The Mechanics' Institute was founded in 1825, and now occupies a commodious building in George street, originally a private residence, which has been altered and adapted to its present use at considerable cost. Besides the large saloon or lecture room, which stands at the rear and is connected with the main building by a short covered passage, there is on the ground floor a smaller lecture room. The first floor contains a library of five thousand volumes, and a well supplied reading and news room, and above this are a museum of valuable curiosities and a model room for the use of drawing classes. The lecture room will seat 1200 persons, and is ornamented with fluted Corinthian pilasters, supporting a frieze. It has a gallery at one end, and contains two fine statues, of Dr. Alderson and Daniel Sykes, Esq., M.P.; busts of the Queen, the Duke of Wellington, Lord Nelson, and the Rev. George Lee; and several good paintings; Messrs. J. Newton and W. H. Pridgeon are secretaries, and Mr. M. Riley is librarian. The Church Institute was established in 1845, and occupies a large and handsome stone mansion in Albion street, purchased in 1865 for 1350 guineas. It has a library of 3000 volumes, a news and reading room, a lecture room for mutual improvement and debate, a coffee room, chess room, &c., &c., Ald. Willows is the president, and Mr. T. W. England, curator. The Young People's Christian and Literary Institute, founded in January 1860, occupies a large mansion in Charlotte street, purchased and altered in 1864, at a cost of upwards of £2000. It has a library of 9000 volumes, reading and news room, and chess, coffee, committee and class rooms; Mr. W. H. Duggleby is librarian. The Lyceum Library and News Room was established in 1807, and now has a valuable collection of 15,000 volumes. It occupies a neat edifice in St. John's street, erected in 1835. The Law Library contains over 2000 volumes, and is in Lincoln's Inn buildings, Exchange Alley, Bowlalley lane. Mr. John Hollins is the librarian. The Catholic Institute in Jarratt street, has news rooms, and chess, &c. rooms; Mr. A. Wingat is honorary secretary, and Mr. J. H. Wingat, librarian. The Presbyterian Church of England Lecture Hall was erected about 1840; Mr. D. Mitchell is the hall keeper.

Hull Post Office, Market place, is a handsome stone building in the Modern Italian style of architecture, with a Yorkshire stone front. It has a most imposing appearance, and was opened on August 4, 1877. On the ground floor is an extensive public office, where at the counter may be purchased stamps of all kinds, and at which Money Order, Savings Bank and Telegraph business may be transacted; at the top right hand corner is the Registered Letter Office. At the rear of the public office are the sorting offices and the letter carriers' room, with the necessary retiring rooms. On the first floor are rooms for the postmaster, chief clerk, and for the telephone intercommunication system, and at the rear of these is the telegraph instrument room. On the second floor are rooms for the local inspector of telegraph wires, and for stores, and at the rear of these is a commodious retiring room; on the top floor accommodation is provided for the resident porter and family. J. A. Duesbury, Esq. is postmaster, and Mr. B. Thrall, chief clerk. In addition to superintendents, there are 92 clerks, sorting clerks, and telegraphists, 1 inspector, and 63 letter carriers, and 1 inspector, and 62 telegraph messengers. The deliveries by letter carriers are at 7 a.m., 11.10 a.m., 2.15 p.m, and 4.35 p.m. Letters for persons on board private ships are sent out at 7 a.m., by a special letter carrier; after 11.10 a.m. such letters may be had on application at the counter of the private box office up to 1 p.m., and between the hours of 3 and 6 p.m., and from 7 to 9 p.m. at the letter carriers' office in Scale lane. There are 24 or 25 mails received daily, and 24 despatched daily, full particulars of which are given in the Local Postal Guide.

HULL STREET DIRECTORY,

CONTAINING

THE NAMES OF THE PRINCIPAL INHABITANTS ARRANGED IN THE ORDER THEIR HOUSES STAND IN THE STREET.

As this arrangement is not so generally useful as the ALPHABETICAL DIRECTORY and the CLASSIFICATION of TRADES and PROFESSIONS, it is abbreviated; but on referring to the names of Persons or Firms in the ALPHABETICAL DIRECTORY the Addresses will be found in full. It has been the aim of the publisher to make the following a complete STREET GUIDE, and the situations of the respective premises are indicated by printing in italics the names of the principal streets, places, and terraces in the order in which they occur; streets and roads which intersect being placed in the middle of the line. For the position of small and unimportant streets and lanes, not included in the Street Directory, see the 'List of Smaller Streets, &c.,' immediately preceding. Private houses are distinguished from places of business by the professions or trades of the occupants being inserted in parentheses.

HUMBLETON is a village, township, and parish, 9½ miles E.N.E. of Hull, and 5 miles from Hedon Railway Station. It is in Skirlaugh union, Hedon county court district and rural deanery, and middle division of Holderness wapentake. The township contains 1477 acres of land and 157 inhabitants; but the parish includes the townships of Fitling, Flinton, Elsternwick, and Danthorpe. The rateable value of Humbleton township is £1930. Lord Hotham is the lord of the manor and principal landowner. The CHURCH (St. Peter) is a large stone edifice, much in need of restoration, and comprises nave, with aisles and clerestory, chancel, and tower, containing three bells. The vicarage is valued at £280, and is in the patronage of the Lord Chancellor. The Rev. Alfred Robinson, B.A., is the incumbent, who has a good vicarage house near the church. The glebe is 94 acres. The Primitive Methodists have a small chapel here, erected in 1860. HERON'S ENDOWED CHARITY SCHOOL is built of brick, with master's house adjoining, erected in 1878, in place of the old school, now used for other purposes. The endowment produces £88 a year.

RAILWAY—N. E. Station

KINGSTON-UPON-HULL (see Hull).

LECONFIELD or LECKONFIELD is a parish and village about 3 miles N.N.W. of Beverley, in North Hunsley Beacon division of Harthill wapentake, Beverley union, county court district, and polling district, and contains—including the hamlet of Arram, 1½ miles east of the village—3629 acres, and has 330 inhabitants. In the reign of King John, Henry Percy—afterwards Earl of Northumberland—became possessed of the manor of Leconfield through his marriage. The third Earl was slain in Towton Field, and his estates and honours were forfeited. Edward IV. gave the manor of Leconfield to the Duke of Clarence, but in 1459 the estates were restored to Henry Percy, the only son of the late Earl. He was afterwards slain by the mob at Cock Lodge, and buried at Beverley Minster. His successor kept a hospital house at Leconfield, and in 1541, Henry VIII. and his Queen, Catherine Howard, visited the earl at his castle. The Percys being at length attainted of treason, part of the estates were conferred on John Dudley, who was created Duke of Northumberland, and succeeded to the castle and estate of Leconfield, but on his execution in 1553, his honours and estates were restored to Thomas Percy, the seventh earl. The ninth earl being a supposed accomplice in the Gunpowder Plot, was fined £30,000, and imprisoned in the Tower for fifteen years, his northern estates meantime running to decay. In the reign of James I. the buildings at Leconfield were totally demolished, and on the death of Joceline Percy, without male issue in 1670, this manor passed to his grandson, Algernon Seymour, Duke of Somerset, from whom it descended to his nephew Sir Charles Wyndham, Earl of Egremont, and from him to the present Lord Leconfield. The site of the Castle, a rich pasture of about 4 acres, is still surrounded by the moat. The CHURCH (St. Catherine), is a plain edifice consisting of nave, aisles, chancel, porch, and a small brick tower containing two bells. The living, a discharged vicarage, valued in K.B. at £8, was augmented with £600 of Queen Anne's Bounty in 1737, and with £200 given by the Earl of Egremont in 1807. It is now united with the rectory of Scorbrough, and the two livings are worth £370 per annum. Lord Leconfield is patron, and the Rev. Samuel Gray, M.A. incumbent. There is a good vicarage house, which was built about 25 years ago. Here is a National School, for the united parishes of Leconfield and Scorbrough, supported by subscription, taught by a master, and attended by 44 children. The Wesleyans have an iron chapel at Arram, erected by subscription in 1879, at a cost of £200, and seating 100 persons. At the village of Leconfield the Wesleyans conduct services in a room in Mr. Richard Giles's house. At Arram is a station on the Hull and Scarborough branch of the N.E. Railway.

LEVEN is a parish, township and village, 6½ miles W. from Hornsea, in the northern division of the wapentake of Holderness, Beverley union and county court district, Hornsea rural deanery and East Riding archdeaconry. The parish comprises the townships of Leven and Hemphole and extends over 5037 acres, and in 1881 had a population of 921. Its rateable value is £7052. Leven township had at that time 830 inhabitants, living on 3517 acres, the rateable value being £5089. W. Bethell, Esq., is lord of the manor and principal landowner. A canal was cut in 1802 from Leven to Hull by the late Mrs. C. Bethell, and is navigable for vessels of 60 tons burthen; a considerable carrying trade is done in corn, coal and lime. The CHURCH (Holy Trinity) was built 1843-5, and comprises chancel, nave, south aisle, porch and low tower containing four bells. The Norman font, the piscina, and the rood cross are in the chancel, being preserved from the old church. The church will hold 444 persons. The Register dates from 1653. The benefice is a rectory, valued at £1190 a year, with residence. J. T. Leather, Esq., is patron, and the Rev. Wm. Medcalf, M.A., is incumbent. The Wesleyan Chapel was erected in 1866, and the Primitive Methodist in 1877, at a cost of £1000. The National School for boys was erected in 1873, and that for girls in 1866. Petty Sessions are held here every fortnight for the northern division of Holderness wapentake.

HEMPHOLME township includes the hamlets of Heigholme and Hollytreeholme, 3 miles N.W. from Leven. The population was 95 in 1881, the acreage 1320 acres, and the rateable value £1963. The school is used for divine service every Sunday during the summer.

PATRINGTON is an ancient market town, pleasantly situated about 3 miles from the Humber and 16 miles E. by S. of Hull, with a station on the Withernsea branch of the North Eastern Railway. It is the head of a union, and is in Hedon county court district and rural deanery, and southern division of Holderness wapentake. Its parish contains 3741 acres and 1360 inhabitants. The rateable value is £7427. G. H. Marshall, Esq., J.P., of Enholmes, is lord of the manor and one of the principal landowners; the other largest owners being William Chessman, Esq., the executors of the late Isaac Dunn, W. Bailey, Esq., J.P., Miss Metcalf, F. G. Wilson, Esq., and the executors of the late Mrs. Hodge. The markets and fairs have ceased to exist. The CHURCH (St. Patrick) is a beautiful specimen of the architecture of the fourteenth century. It is a spacious cruciform structure, comprising nave with aisles and clerestory, transepts, a noble chancel, and a central tower containing five bells and a clock, and surmounted by an elegant spire rising to a height of 190 feet. The interior is handsome and exhibits a rich variety of ancient sculpture and fine pointed arches springing from clustered columns. In the chancel are a piscina and sedilia on the south side; and on the north side an Easter sepulchre in four divisions, with crocketed pinnacles on each side and cinquefoil arch above, terminating in a noble finial. The first division is occupied by three niches, with figures of sleeping soldiers; the next is a small recess for the chalice, pix, &c.; the third a basso-relievo of the Resurrection, with two angels, one at the head and the other at the feet of our Saviour; and the last is a small vacant recess. The great peculiarity about the transepts are the aisles, and on the east side of the south transept is a beautiful Lady chapel. The chancel was restored by the present rector about 1868. The rectory, valued at £800, is in the patronage of Clare College, Cambridge, and is in the incumbency of the Rev. Francis Sheppard, B.D. The glebe is 406 acres. The Wesleyan Chapel was erected in 1811; and the Primitive Methodist in 1862. The National Schools, a large block comprising three schools and two houses, were erected in 1860 at an outlay of about £1600. The Temperance Hall was built in 1870, and is used for lectures, concerts, &c. A Band of Hope is held in it weekly, under the superintendence of Mrs. E. Ashton. The UNION WORKHOUSE was erected in 1837–8, at a cost of £2000. Mr. A. Dunn is the superintendent-registrar and union clerk; the Rev. J. G. Patrick, of Owthorne, is the chaplain; Mr. T. A. Found, relieving officer; and Mr. William and Mrs. S. Davis, master and matron. The Police Station is at the east end of the town, and adjoining is the magistrates' room, where PETTY SESSIONS are held every alternate Saturday for the South Holderness division. The magistrates are G. H. Marshall, Esq., G. Prickett, Esq., and the Rev. Charles Day. The Gas Works were erected in 1856, near the Railway Station, by a company of £10 shareholders. In 1843 Miss Phœbe Lindsall, of Winstead, founded a HOSPITAL here for four poor widows and endowed it with a weekly stipend of 4*s.* each. The poor parishioners have 26*s.* a year from Watson's Charity; a yearly rent-charge of 52*s.* left by the Rev. N. Nicholls; and the interest of £66 left by Robert Robinson and other donors.

RAILWAY—Thos. Grainger, statnmstr
CARRIERS—E. Train and J. Lamb, to Hull, on Tuesdays and Fridays

PAULL, or Paghill, is a small fishing village, noted for its shrimps, pleasantly situated on the river Humber, 2½ miles S. of Hedon Railway Station, and 5 miles E.S.E. of Hull. It is in Patrington union, Hedon county court district and rural deanery, and Wilton Beacon division of Harthill wapentake. Its township comprises 4956 acres, and 545 inhabitants; but its parish, which is one of the largest in Holderness, also includes Thorngumbald township, and contains altogether 6911 acres and 812 inhabitants. The rateable value of the township is £7551, and of the whole parish £9920. The principal landowners are Sir Talbot Clifford Constable, Bart.; the Crown (War Department); St. John's College, Cambridge; the Corporation of the Sons of the Clergy; Sir James Walker, Bart.; Lieut.-Col. Prickett; Capt. Bryan Holme, and trustees of James Wray, Esq. Boreas Hill, about a mile from the church, is the seat of Col. Prickett, J.P., it is an old brick residence, pleasantly situated on rising ground. Boreas Hill and Newton Garth are also separate hamlets. High Paull House, the residence of R. C. Williamson, Esq., R.N., stands on an eminence commanding fine views of the river and Lincolnshire wolds. The CHURCH (St. Andrew and St. Mary) is an ancient cruciform structure, with central tower. It contains some good Perpendicular windows. It was thoroughly restored internally in 1879, at a cost of £1850. The vicarage, valued at £200, with the chapelry of Thorngumbald annexed, is in the patronage of the Earl of Effingham, and incumbency of the Rev. Richard Dymoke Cawdron Cordeaux, B.A. The vicarage is a well-built substantial house, with good grounds, near the church. The Wesleyans and the Primitive Methodists have each a chapel here; the latter was rebuilt in 1871. The National School, erected in 1868, is under the management of the vicar and churchwardens, and has accommodation for 80 children. Paull Point Battery, erected about 1860, is under the charge of Lieut. E. Aldridge. It comprises 19 guns, and quarters for 116 officers and men. There is also a lighthouse and coastguard station here.

POST OFFICE at Mr. J. Stark's, where letters arrive at 9.15 a.m., and are despatched at 4.40 p.m., viâ Hull. Hedon is the nearest Money Order Office.

CARRIER—G. Wright, to Hull, Tuesdays and Fridays

PRESTON is a large well-built village, 6 miles E. by N. of Hull, and 1 mile N. of Hedon Railway Station. It is in Sculcoates union, Hedon county court district and rural deanery, and middle division of Holderness wapentake. Preston township contains 5012 acres of land, and 881 inhabitants; but its parish also includes Lelley township, which makes a total of 5820 acres, and 1016 inhabitants. The rateable value for the township is £11,552, and for the parish £12,755. Sir F. A. T. C. Constable is lord of the manor. The following are the principal landowners: G. Dickinson, J. Walker, Thos. J. Smith, Thos. M. Lee, Esqrs.; the Ecclesiastical Commissioners; St. John's College, Cambridge; Hull Trinity House; Kingston-upon-Hull Dock Co.; Mrs. Atkinson; Rev. F. B. Blenkin; and E. G. Cautley, W. Shillito, H. Rastall, H. Pickering, Arthur Wilson, John Burnham, F. and W. Burnham, J. Miller, C. E. Blundell, W. D. Tomlinson, and C. R. F. Lutwidge, Esqrs., and the trustees of Thomas Leonard, Esq. Oak Tree House is the residence and property of F. A. Hutchinson, Esq. The CHURCH (All Saints) is an ancient structure, consisting of nave, with aisles, chancel, vestry, and a fine square tower at the west end, containing three bells. The chancel was rebuilt in 1870, and in 1881–2 the whole church was thoroughly restored, at an outlay of £1800. During the restoration portions of nine alabaster slabs were brought to light. They are supposed to have formed an Eastern sepulchre. Some of the slabs are nearly whole, and represent beautiful specimens of mediæval art. These interesting remains are to be preserved in the church, and steps are to be taken to prevent their being further injured. The rectory, valued at £300, is in the patronage of the Archbishop of York, and is held by the Rev. Edwin Evers, M.A., who has a residence, erected in 1868, and 22 acres of glebe. He is also surrogate. The Wesleyans and Primitive Methodists have each a chapel here, the latter rebuilt in 1867. A SCHOOL BOARD was established in 1875, and in 1877 a handsome school with master's house was erected, at an outlay of £2000. The present board consists of the Rev. E. Evers (chair), Mr. J. Fawcett (vice), and Messrs. R. S. Dixon, J. Wallis, and R. Kemp. The United Ancient Order of Druids have a good lodge room here, erected in 1879. In the village there is a good parish library, of about 300 volumes; and also a Penny Savings Bank in connexion with the Hull Savings Bank. Gas is supplied from the Hedon Gas Works. In 1700 James Rand left £160 and the Bedehouses for the poor. In 1727 Thomas Helmes left £400 for the poor, and to endow a Free School for boys of the parish. In 1803 John Marshall left £200; and William Hardy, in 1727, left money for the distribution of white bread on Sundays.

RISE is a parish and pleasant village, 11 miles N.N.E. from Hull, in Skirlaugh union, Beverley county court district, Hornsea rural deanery, and northern division of Holderness wapentake. It had 202 inhabitants in 1881, living on 2034 acres, and has a rateable value of £1961. W. Bethell, Esq., who is lord of the manor and sole owner of the soil, resides at RISE PARK, an elegant stone mansion in the Italian style, erected in 1820 by the late R. Bethell, Esq. The CHURCH (All Saints), comprising chancel, nave, south porch, vestry, and tower surmounted by a spire and containing three bells, is in the Early English style, and was built by Mr. R. Bethell in 1845. The chancel is paved with Minton's tiles. There are several monuments to the Bethell family; the west window is filled with stained glass in memory of the late Mrs. Bethell, and there are four other windows filled with stained glass. The Register dates from 1559. There were formerly two chantries, dedicated to St. Thomas â Becket and to the Virgin; the endowment of the latter was appropriated by Edward VI. to the foundation of the school of Giggleswick-in-Craven. The benefice, a rectory, valued at £550, with residence, is in the gift of the Lord Chancellor and incumbency of the Rev. William Joseph Whately, M.A., J.P. Here is a Mixed School. The poor have £2 a year, as well as £8 being part of the rent of a field at Withernwick, purchased in 1738.

ROUTH is a small scattered parish in North Hunsley Beacon division, Beverley union, county court district and polling district, 4 miles N.E. by E. of that town. It gave name to its ancient possessors, the knightly family of De Ruda, Ruth, or Routhe, as it has been variously spelt. The manor was in the Hildyard family from the reign of Elizabeth to that of Charles II., when it was bequeathed to trustees for certain purposes. It afterwards passed to the family of Ellerker of Risby and Moor Town, from whom it was purchased by Lord Londesborough, the present lord, and owner of the soil. The area of the parish is 2385 acres, and the population 164. The CHURCH (All Saints) is an ancient fabric of the 14th century, consisting of a nave with a south porch, chancel, and a low tower. The body of the church was restored in 1864, and the chancel has been restored by the present rector. The interior is plain, and contains some ancient monuments of the Routh family. The east window, of stained glass, was erected by Mrs. Stephenson to the memory of her husband. The living, a rectory, valued in K.B. at £8 17*s.* 1*d.*, and now at £470 nett per annum, is in the gift of Lord Londesborough and the incumbency of the Rev. G. C. Pease, M.A., who has a good rectory house near the church. Here is a small parish school, built by the lord of the manor in 1864.

SCORBROUGH, anciently called Skoresburgh, is a parish and village in the picturesque valley of the Aike Beck, about 4½ miles from Beverley, in North Hunsley Beacon division, Beverley union, county court district, and polling district. The parish is mostly the property of Lord Hotham, lord of the manor, and contains 1385 acres, and 66 inhabitants. This place was formerly the seat of the ancient family of Hotham, whose mansion during the Civil Wars was supplied with stores and cannon, and garrisoned by Sir John Hotham, Governor of Hull. On his desertion of the popular cause this house was ravaged, and it was subsequently destroyed by fire. The CHURCH (St. Leonard) is a handsome structure, in the Early English style, from designs by Mr. Pearson, and consists of a nave, with a chancel of the same height, south porch, a tower, containing a clock and three bells, and surmounted by an elegant spire. It was erected in 1859, entirely at the expense of the late James Hall, Esq., of this parish. The church contains an organ, also five beautiful stained windows, placed in memory of the late Mr. Hall, Mrs. Hall, and relatives of their family. The subjects represented are well chosen from both the Old and New Testaments. Before the Conquest a chapel was erected here by Earl Addi, which afterwards became a parish church. The living, which is now united to that of Leconfield, is a discharged rectory, valued in K.B. at £7, in the patronage of Lord Leconfield, and the incumbency of the Rev. S. Gray, M.A., who lives at Leconfield. The tithes were commuted in 1840, for a rent charge of £270 0*s.* 6*d.* The school for this parish is at Leconfield.

SEATON, with WASSAND, forms a township in Sigglesthorne parish, Skirlaugh union, Beverley county court district, northern division of the wapentake of Holderness, and Hornsea rural deanery. It had 387 inhabitants in 1871, living on 1744 acres; the rateable value is £3300. Seaton village is pleasantly situated on an eminence, 3 miles W. of Hornsea, and 1 mile N.E. of Sigglesthorne, and has been greatly improved during the last ten years, through the combined exertions of John Maw, Esq., and the late G. Taylor, Esq. The manor is in dispute, but the chief owners of the soil are H. T. Bateson, H. S. Constable, John Maw, and H. W. Bainton, Esqrs., and Mrs. Broadley. The Infant School was built by the Ven. Archdeacon Bentinck, late rector of this parish, who also left £600 for its support, towards which the late Mr. Constable left an endowment. The Wesleyans and the Primitive Methodists have chapels here, the former built in 1810 and the latter in 1837. The poor of the township have 8*s.* a year, left by Wm. Hopper, in 1658, and the privilege of cutting fuel on 2A. 3R. of land, called When Common.

WASSAND is 2 miles W. of Hornsea, and comprises about 400 acres of land. It was once part of the possessions of the Abbey of Meaux; but belonged in the sixteenth century to St. Mary's Abbey, York, and is now the property of H. S. Constable, Esq., J.P. Wassand Hall was erected by the late Rev. C. Constable, in 1813, and is a beautiful mansion of white brick, in the Italian style, standing near the head of the extensive lake called Hornsea Mere.

SIGGLESTHORNE is a village, 3½ miles W.S.W. from Hornsea, and gives name to a parish and to a township in Skirlaugh union, Beverley county court district, northern division of Holderness wapentake, and Hornsea rural deanery. The parish comprises the townships of Sigglesthorne, Catfoss, Little Hatfield, Seaton and Wassand, and part of that of Great Hatfield; it extends over 5807 acres, and had 765 inhabitants in 1871. Sigglesthorne township has an area of 1032 acres, and had a population of 228 in 1871; its rateable value is £2000. William Bethell, Esq., and H. S. Constable, Esq. (who are lords of the manor), and Sir William Wright, Knt., and H. W. Bainton, Esq., are the principal owners of the soil. On an eminence is the CHURCH (St. Lawrence), an ivy-clad Gothic structure, consisting of nave, chancel, aisles, south porch, and embattled tower, containing three bells. The east window is filled with stained glass, inserted by the Ven. Archdeacon W. H. E. Bentinck in memory of his wife; there are monuments to the Constable and Garnett families. The Register dates from 1562. The living is a rectory, valued in K.B. at £31 1*s.* 3*d.*, and now at £755, in the patronage of the Crown, and in the incumbency of the Rev. Charles Whishaw Clubbe, M.A. The late rector, the Ven. Archdeacon W. H. E. Bentinck, built, at his own expense, the school in 1867, and the teacher's residence in 1861. The poor have the interest of £400, bequeathed by the late T. M. Gibson, Esq.

SKIRLAUGH (NORTH) is a township and small village in the new ecclesiastical parish of South Skirlaugh, and in the ancient parish of Swine, 9 miles N.E.E. from Hull, 7 miles S.W. from Hornsea, and divided from South Skirlaugh by the Lamworth rivulet. The township is in Skirlaugh union, Hedon county court district, Holderness wapentake, Hornsea rural deanery, and East Riding archdeaconry. The township comprises Rowton and part of Arnold (see Long Riston). W. Bethell, Esq., is lord of the manor and chief owner of the soil. Skirlaugh union comprises 67,457 acres, and had 9791 inhabitants in 1881, showing an increase of 13 upon 1871. The gross estimated rental is £126,760, and the rateable value £116,449. The workhouse is in this township, and was erected in 1838–9 at an expense of £2332, and will accommodate 120 inmates. Thomas A. McCoy, Esq., is union clerk and superintendent registrar; Mr. John Ford, relieving and vaccination officer; Messrs. Charles Solomon, Francis Calvert, Frederick Hodson, W. H. Browne, and William Kirk, medical officers; Mr. W. B. Anderson is registrar of marriages, and Messrs. John Ford, W. B. Anderson, Francis Calvert, and William Lawson, of births and deaths. Mr. Robert Catlin is master of the workhouse; Mrs. Mary Catlin, matron; the Rev. William Barnes, chaplain; and Mr. Charles Solomon, surgeon. Mr. T. A. McCoy is clerk to the Rural Sanitary Authority; Mr. Charles Solomon, medical officer; and Mr. John Ford, inspector of nuisances.

SKIRLAUGH (SOUTH) is a village and township in the ancient parish of Swine, from which it was separated for church purposes in 1867, and constituted, together with the townships of North Skirlaugh, Benningholme and Grange, Marton, and part of Arnold, an ecclesiastical parish. The village of South Skirlaugh is situated 1½ mile from Skirlaugh Railway Station, 7 miles N.W. of Hedon, and 9 miles N.E. of Hull. The township is in Skirlaugh union, Hedon county court district, Holderness wapentake, Hornsea rural deanery, and East Riding archdeaconry. South Skirlaugh township has a rateable value of £2400, and had 300 inhabitants in 1871, living on 1101 acres; the ecclesiastical district had 820, and comprised 4519 acres. Sir F. A. Talbot Clifford Constable, Bart., is lord of the manor. The CHURCH (St. Augustine) has nave, tower at west end, small north chapel, and battlemented porch. The tower, of three stages, is supported by buttresses rising above the parapet in crocketed pinnacles, and was erected by Walter Skirlaugh, Bishop of Durham, from 1388 to 1405. There are five buttresses on each side of the church, terminating in crocketed pinnacles. The east window is of Pointed architecture, and those of the nave of Perpendicular. The parapet of the tower with the centre and angular pinnacles, the large east window of five lights, the six windows on either side, each of three lights, and filled with tracery, as well as the great west window of three lights, were thoroughly restored in 1879-80, at a cost of about £600. At the same time the gallery at the west end of the church was removed, and the beautiful arch exposed to view. The benefice is a vicarage, of the gross yearly value of £190, with a good residence, pleasantly situated in North Skirlaugh, erected in 1869, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York, and incumbency of the Rev. William Barnes. The NATIONAL SCHOOL, with teacher's house, was erected by subscription in 1861 at an outlay of £1000, including the cost of the site, and has £20 a year from Langdale's charity. This charity is vested in the Charity Commissioners for England and Wales, and consists of 32A. 1R. 28P., situate in the township of Ellerby and parish of Swine. A portion of the income derivable from the charity is available for the repairs of St. Augustine, Skirlaugh. Here are chapels for Wesleyans and Primitive Methodists.

BENNINGHOLME is a hamlet and township in the parish of South Skirlaugh, 3 miles N.N.W. from the Skirlaugh Railway Station. The Crown (Commissioners of Woods and Forests) owns the land and the manor. The population in 1871 was 84; the acreage 1471; and the rateable value is £2150.

MARTON is a township and small scattered village in the parish of South Skirlaugh, with a station on the Hull and Hornsea Railway. The population in 1871 was 97; the acreage 950; and the rateable value £1510. On the 'Kirkgarth,' i.e. 'Churchyard,' an old chapel of ease formerly stood, a portion of the materials of which were used in the construction of the bridge over the Lamworth; the old font is now in the private chapel at Burton Constable. The Roman Catholic Chapel (St. Mary), erected by Henry Constable, Esq., is now closed.

SPROATLEY, a village and parish 7 miles E. by E. of Hull, and 4 miles from Hedon Railway Station. It is in Skirlaugh union, Hedon county court district and rural deanery, and middle division of Holderness wapentake. It comprises 1372 acres of land, and 331 inhabitants. The rateable value is £2084. Sir F. A. T. C. Constable, Bart., is lord of the manor, and he and D. B. Kendall, Esq., are the largest landowners. The CHURCH (St. Swithin) was rebuilt on the old site in 1820. It is of white brick, and comprises nave, chancel, belfry with two bells, and a small west gallery. The living is a rectory, valued at £105, with residence and 80 acres of glebe. John Barkworth, Esq., is patron, and the Rev. Charles Joseph Wall, M.A., J.P., is the rector and rural dean. The Wesleyans have a small chapel here. The Endowed School, with master's house attached, is a large and handsome brick building erected in 1868. In 1773 Mrs. Bridget Biggs left the rent of an estate at Sheffield—two-thirds to be devoted to educating poor children, and the rest to the poor. John Raines, Esq., left in 1805 the interest of £200 for the poor. Two acres of land were left by Elizabeth Berrier in 1686, and an unknown donor left £1 a year out of a farm at Lelley. PETTY SESSIONS for the division of Middle Holderness are held here every third Monday at the Police Office. The magistrates usually attending are Sir F. A. T. C. Constable, Bart., Rev. C. J. Wall, M.A., Owen Daly, Esq., J. E. Wade, Esq., and E. P. Maxted, Esq. G. R. Park, Esq., of Hedon, is clerk to the magistrates.

SUTTON-ON-HULL is a pleasant village, with a Station on the Hull and Hornsea Railway, 3 miles N. by E. of Hull, and has in its parish 4760 acres, and contained 8928 inhabitants in 1871, nearly three-fourths of whom reside in Witham, Lime Street, the Groves, Somergangs, and Stoneferry. It is mostly in the borough of Hull and is in Hull county court district and rural deanery, middle division of Holderness wapentake, and Sculcoates union. The CHURCH (St. James) is an ancient fabric, consisting of nave, aisles, chancel, and tower. It contains a full-length effigy of Sir John de Sutton, who died in the reign of Edward III. The Church was restored in 1878. An organ chamber and choir vestry is about to be built. The Register dates from 1653. The vicarage, valued at £110, is in the patronage of H. Broadley, Esq., M.P., and the Rev. Herbert A. Holme, M.A., is the incumbent. Sir John de Sutton founded a chantry or college of six priests here, which was valued at the Dissolution at £13 8*s.* 6*d.* The Primitive Methodists and the Wesleyans have each a chapel in the village, and the Wesleyans have one at Stoneferry. Here are two Almshouses. Sutton-on-Hull Reading Room was established in 1878, and a new room has been erected, at a cost of £300, on a site given by Mrs. Turner, of Ferriby. There is a library of 300 volumes, and the members number 100. W. J. Reed, Esq., is president, and Mr. W. Richardson secretary. A college for the widows and daughters of clergymen was founded here in 1720 by Mrs. Ann Watson. Here are National and Wesleyan Schools. Sutton School Board was formed in June 1875, and now consists of Messrs. John Raspin Ringrose (chairman), Rev. H. A. Holme, Thomas Kirk, Henry Hudson, and W. Field. J. P. Chatham, Esq., is clerk to the Board. The Board have erected a school at Stoneferry for infants, at a cost of £1322, for the accommodation of 129 children.

SWINE, 6½ miles N.W. from Hull, is on the Hull and Hornsea Railway, and its parish comprises the townships of Coniston, Ellerby, Swine, Burton Constable, and Thirtleby; but its ancient parish also included Benningholme and Grange, Bilton, Ganstead, Marton, West Newton, North Skirlaugh, South Skirlaugh, and Wyton. It is in the middle division of the wapentake of Holderness, Skirlaugh union, Hedon county court district, and Hornsea rural deanery. Swine township had 180 inhabitants in 1871, living on 2190 acres of land; the rateable value is £4700. The manor and all the soil but thirty acres belongs to the Crown. A Roman urn was found in 1826, in which were 1400 copper coins, and here are traces of a Roman encampment. The CHURCH (St. Mary) is an ancient structure, consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, tower containing 4 bells and clock, south porch, and vestry, and was thoroughly restored in 1872. Two very ancient screens divide the chancel from the nave, and the Hilton Chapel from the body of the church. The lectern is the gift of Miss Bethell, of Rise, by whom it was carved. The reredos was erected in 1877. There are monuments to the Hilton family, and others supposed to be to the Sutton family. The living is a vicarage, valued at £200, with residence and glebe, in the patronage of G. T. Woodroofe, Esq., and incumbency of the Rev. William Cobby, M.A. In the reign of King Stephen a priory for Cistercian nuns was founded here by Robert de Verle. The poor have the interest of £200 3 per Cent. Consols for the education of six children.

POST OFFICE at Mr. Robert Harker's. Letters, viâ Hull, are received at 7.10 a.m., and are despatched at 6 p.m. Sutton is the nearest, and Hull the most convenient, Money Order Office.

CONISTON is 6 miles N.E. from Hull, and 1½ miles W. from Swine village. Its township had 128 inhabitants in 1871, living on 600 acres; the rateable value is £880. Sir F. A. T. Clifford Constable, Bart., is lord of the manor, and William Wilberforce, Esq., chief owner of the soil. A small Primitive Methodist Chapel was erected in 1872.

TICKTON with HULL BRIDGE forms a township and village situate about 2½ miles E. of Beverley, and containing 779 acres of land and 340 inhabitants. It is in Beverley union and county court district, North Hunsley Beacon division of Harthill wapentake, and Beverley rural deanery and polling district. The principal landowners are Colonel Telford and William Bainton, E. Hudson, and T. Crust, Esqrs. The Church (St. Paul) a chapel of ease to Beverley Minster, was built of stone in 1844, at a cost of £850, raised by subscription, and will seat 150 persons. The Wesleyan Chapel was erected in 1877, at a cost of upwards of £500, and has 120 sittings. The old chapel built in 1828 is now used for a Sunday-school. The National School was built in 1848, by subscription, aided by a grant from the National Society. It is supported by subscriptions and Government grant, and is attended by 70 children.

Hull Bridge is a hamlet about half a mile nearer to Beverley, and consists of the residence of Mr. Arthur Stephenson, a good inn, and the commodious wharf and extensive linseed and bone crushing mills of Messrs. Robert Stephenson & Son. Tickton Hall, the property of Colonel Telford, is within a short distance of the bridge, and is at the present time let on lease. The bridge, which is the only one crossing the river between Hull and Driffield, was originally built by the corporation of Beverley, by whom it was repaired, until given over by them to the Commissioners of the Driffield Navigation, by whom it was rebuilt, and is now kept in repair, and in consideration thereof they receive the tolls for vessels passing under the bridge. There had anciently been a bridge across this part of the river, but it was broken down in 1264 by the men of Holderness, who refused to furnish men and horses for the expedition of Prince Edward into Scotland. Here are six Almshouses erected with money left for the purpose by the late Mr. Stephenson of this parish, and occupied by 'poor old persons of Tickton,' who live rent free.

WALKINGTON is a parish and village in North Hunsley Beacon division, Beverley union, county court district, and polling district, about 2½ miles S.W. from Beverley, and containing 3,725 acres of land, and 666 inhabitants, exclusive of 316 persons in the East Riding Asylum. The parish is in two manors; C. E. G. Barnard, Esq., Cave Castle, is lord of the manor of Provost fee, and the Ecclesiastical Commissioners lords of the manor of Howden fee. The principal owners of the soil are:—G. Onslow, Major Ferguson-Fawsitt, the heir to the Bishop Burton estate, the Rector, R. Dunning, B. Denison, T. Crust, and A. Wilson. The East Riding Lunatic Asylum is situate in this parish, on a lofty elevation within a short distance of Beverley Westwood, and overlooking the country as far as the east coast. The building, which is constructed on the most modern and approved principle, was completed in 1870, previous to which time the East Riding was united with the North Riding in providing for lunacy, the Asylum at Clifton, near York, being used by both Ridings, but at that time it was taken over by the North Riding exclusively. The estate surrounding the East Riding Asylum, including extensive gardens and a farm, comprises 114 acres. The original cost of land and buildings, together with subsequent purchases of land, and additions and improvements to structure, amounts to about £50,000. The building has accommodation for 280 patients, an equal number of each sex, and the number in the house on January 1, 1882, was 277. The cost of maintaining the Asylum during the year 1881 was £7922 17*s.* 8½*d.* Private patients are admitted at varying rates, from 15s. to 30*s.* weekly. The resident officers are:—M. D. Macleod, M.B., medical superintendent; A. C. Suffern, M.D., assistant medical officer; Harriet Holt, matron; Eli Griffiths, chief attendant; J. W. Arnott, clerk of the asylum and steward. Non-resident officers:—Rev. G. Swift, M.A., Beverley, chaplain; Frederick Hobson, Beverley, clerk to the committee of visitors; T. Crust, Beverley, treasurer. The CHURCH (All Hallows) is a neat cruciform Gothic edifice, consisting of nave, chancel, small transept, and a very handsome tower, containing three bells. The chancel was restored in 1818 by the rector, then Rev. Daniel A. B. Ferguson. The east window, of ten lights, occupies nearly the whole side from floor to ceiling, the five lower lights being filled with stained glass representing our Lord and the four Evangelists. The living is a rectory, valued in King's Book at £24 13*s.* 4*d.*, and now at £800 per annum, in the patronage and incumbency of the Rev. Douglas Ferguson, M.A., J.P., who has a good rectory house a short distance from the church. The WESLEYAN CHAPEL was built in 1822, and enlarged in 1869. Robert Webster is society steward. The PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHAPEL was built in 1879, at a cost, including the site, of £400, and will seat 150 persons. WALKINGTON SCHOOL BOARD was formed in November, 1873, and a School, with a house for the master, was erected, the total cost of which was £2000. The present members elected are the Rector (chairman), Thomas Henry Sample (vice-chairman), T. D. Dunn, Robert Webster, and Timothy Oliver. Mr. F. G. Hobson, Beverley, is clerk to the Board. The school is attended by 104 children. Wm. Sherwood, in 1537, bequeathed certain rent-charges, cottages, and 51½ acres of land in Walkington, for the use of the poor, and for the repairing of the road from Walkington to Beverley. The rents now amount to £80 per annum. The church, poor and school land, yields an income of £14 a year. The above charities are under the management of the rector, four feoffees, and two churchwardens for the time being.

WAWNE (or Waghen) is a parish consisting of the townships of Wawne and Meaux, in the middle division of Holderness wapentake, Beverley union and county court district, Leven polling district, the rural deanery of Hornsea, archdeaconry of the East Riding, and York diocese, and containing upwards of 5440 acres of land. The village of Wawne is situate on the east side of the river Hull—over which there is a ferry—about 6 miles N. of Hull, and 5 miles S.E. of Beverley. The manor, granted to the monks of Meaux in 1294, is now the property of William George Windham, Esq., who is the principal landowner, and has a house here. Another manor in Wawne is called the rectory manor, but the rights of this manor have lapsed. On making some alterations at Kenley House some years ago, a silver crucifix, a hawk's bell, a dagger and other curious old relics were found. The population of Wawne is 299. The CHURCH (St. Peter) was given to the Abbey of Meaux by William le Gros. It is a very ancient structure, consisting of nave, aisles, chancel, and a tower at the west end of the north aisle, containing a clock and three bells. The church was restored and reseated in 1874 by subscription. The living is a vicarage, valued in K.B. at £7 0*s.* 10*d.*, augmented in 1810 with £200 of Queen Anne's Bounty, and now worth £300 per annum, with a house. The Archbishop of York is patron, and the Rev. George Wilkinson, B.A., incumbent. The PAROCHIAL SCHOOL was erected about ten years ago for the children of both townships, and attended by 46 scholars. Here is a Primitive Methodist Chapel, built in 1860. The poor have the rent of eight acres of land in Cottingham, purchased in 1699 with £50 left by Sir Joseph Aske, also the interest of £100 left in trust to the vicar for the time being in 1880 by Mrs. Fletcher, widow of a former curate of this parish.

LETTERS per messenger from Beverley, which is the nearest Money Order Office. A WALL LETTER BOX in the village is cleared at 2.30 p.m. Sutton is the nearest Railway Station.

MEAUX, a hamlet about 3 miles N. from Wawne, and 9 miles from Hull, was so named by its once Norman possessors, after the city of Meaux in Normandy. A Cistercian Abbey was founded here by William le Gros, Earl of Albemarle, and lord of Holderness, in 1150, and rapidly grew into considerable importance, the monks acquiring great possessions. At the Dissolution, the revenues of the abbey were valued, according to Dugdale, at £299, and according to Speed, at £415 per annum. A small chapel of ease to the parish church was erected here in 1872. Though joined to Wawne for church and school purposes, Meaux is separate for poor law and highway purposes. The extent of the township is 1457 acres, belonging to Robert Wise Richardson, Esq., and the Crown, and the population is 101.

WHITEDALE RAILWAY STATION (Hull & Hornsea line)

WOODMANSEY-CUM-BEVERLEY PARK forms a township on the south side of Beverley, having an area of 2,820 acres, and 541 inhabitants, exclusive of the Victoria Barracks, which contain 342. The township is in the parish of St. John of Beverley ecclesiastically, but separate for other purposes. Woodmansey and Beverley parks are separate for highway purposes. The principal landowners are William Bainton, John Dickson, and Thomas Denton, Esqs. About midway between Woodmansey and Thearne is a National School for the children of both those places, with a residence for the master adjoining. The buildings were erected in 1856, at a cost of £800, raised by subscription and a grant. The school is licensed for divine service, which is conducted here every Sunday by the vicar of the Minster or one of his curates. The school is attended by 70 children. At Woodmansey is a small Baptist Chapel erected in 1872, the pastor being supplied from the church at Beverley.

POST from Beverley, which is the nearest Money Order and Telegraph Office, and the nearest Railway Station.

WHITE'S DIRECTORIES, having an established reputation of more than FIFTY YEARS' standing, are largely circulated in the principal Manufacturing Towns of the three kingdoms, as well as in the chief cities of Europe and America, and in the British Colonies. They afford, therefore, one of the best, cheapest, and most permanent mediums for COMMERCIAL ADVERTISEMENTS, as every book is constantly referred to by men of business for a series of years.

STUBBS'

MERCANTILE OFFICES,

WITH their various associated Agencies, form together a complete organisation for the protection of Bankers, Merchants, Manufacturers, Traders, and others, against risk and fraud in their various commercial transactions.

The operations of Stubbs' Mercantile Offices are conducted by the following chief departments :—

I.—GAZETTE DEPARTMENT.

STUBBS' WEEKLY GAZETTE (indispensable to all Traders giving Credit) contains a List of all Bankruptcies, Liquidations, Arrangements, Trusteeships, Bills of Sale, and all Preferential Securities, County Court Judgments, &c.

II.—COMMERCIAL REGISTER AND STATUS DEPARTMENT.

STUBBS' COMMERCIAL REGISTERS comprise more than THREE MILLION entries relating to the credit, position, and trustworthiness of the trading community of the three Kingdoms, to which valuable additions are daily being made.

The advantages derivable from this department of the business are being more and more appreciated by the Subscribers, who are thus assisted to discriminate as to the advisability of extending, limiting, or closing accounts.

III.—DEBT RECOVERY DEPARTMENT.

Debts recovered upon a simple and comprehensive system. All useless Law Costs avoided. Charges by per centage. Full particulars in four-page Prospectus.

IV.—FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

Status inquiries are made in all parts of the Continent, the Colonies, and the United States.

Foreign debts are also applied for on behalf of the Subscribers. The ordinary commission on amounts recovered in these cases is 5 per cent., exclusive of actual outlay.

V.—FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

Subscribers can obtain, through this department, all the ordinary facilities afforded by a Bank Agency at very low rates. Negotiable securities are bought and sold through qualified Brokers at reduced rates of Commission.

VI.—TRADE MARK REGISTER DEPARTMENT.

The AGENCY of the Trade Mark Protection Society is conducted by Messrs. Stubbs & Co. Terms of Subscription to the Society, and Information as to the protection of Trade Marks, may be obtained on application.

VII.—SPECIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT.

Information is obtained for Subscribers from all accessible Public Records in Great Britain and Ireland, from the Government Departments, from Public Official sources generally, and from published compilations of an important character. Wills examined at Doctors' Commons. Bills of Sale Registered. Liquidation and Bankruptcy proceedings investigated, and Meetings attended on behalf of Creditors. Patents of Invention are taken out on behalf of Foreign Subscribers.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

(Except for Special Service and Financial Departments, in which the Rates will be fixed by agreement, according to the circumstances), £1. 1*s*., £2. 2*s*., £3. 3*s*., and £5. 5*s*., according to requirements.

Prospectus giving full particulars on application.

INSTITUTED 1808. AND EMPOWERED BY ACT OF PARLIAMENT OF THE 54TH GEO. 3RD, C. 79.

CAPITAL, £1,200,000.

THIS OFFICE HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED MORE THAN SEVENTY YEARS, AND ITS present magnitude and prosperity prove the SOUNDNESS of the principles on which it has been conducted.

Fire Department.

This Company undertakes the ASSURANCE of almost every species of PROPERTY in the United Kingdom.

The POLICIES of the Company extend to cover LOSSES occasioned by the EXPLOSION OF GAS.

LOSSES occasioned by LIGHTNING will be paid, whether the Property Assured is actually set on fire or not.

RENT may be Assured, by SPECIAL AGREEMENT, for a term not exceeding One Year.

Life Department.

The ACCUMULATED LIFE FUND is over £1,500,000. The ANNUAL INCOME is nearly £150,000.

The Sum of £6,868,099 has been paid in CLAIMS under LIFE POLICIES.

LARGE BONUSES have been declared and paid as additions to the amounts assured.

The Directors are ready to receive PROPOSALS FOR ASSURANCES, on any contingency involving PAYMENT OF A SUM AT DEATH.

Accident Department.

This Company assures against Accidents, whether Fatal or occasioning total or partial disablement.

The Premiums for Accident Assurances are small—the Compensation great. All classes ought to assure.

The Company is ready to receive Applications for Agencies in those Towns and Districts in which it is not a present represented. Applications to be made to the Secretary.

Tables of Rates, Forms of Proposal, and any Information needful to effect Fire, Life, or Accident Assurance, may be obtained on Application to the OFFICE, No. 92, CHEAPSIDE, LONDON; or to any of the COMPANY'S AGENTS.

THE object of the Hull and East Riding College is to prepare Boys for their work in life, by giving them a liberal Education of a modern type. Primary importance is assigned to mental improvement and culture; but preparation for professional examinations is at the same time a recognised part of the College Course. The year is divided into three terms.

For Boys under 10 years of age the term-fee is Three Guineas; for Boys between 10 and 17, Four Guineas; for older Boys, Five Guineas.

Instruction is given to all Boys in the following subjects:—

The Latin and French Languages and Literatures.
English Grammar and Analysis, English Composition and Literature.
History, Geography, and Physiography.
Vocal Music.
Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, and Higher Mathematics.
Lectures on Political Economy, Botany, Geology, Chemistry, or Physical Science.

The following are optional subjects:—

Greek, German, Danish, Book-keeping and Shorthand, Navigation, Surveying, Drawing, Instrumental Music.

Special attention is given to physical development and to proficiency in gymnastics and in the games.

Prizes for proficiency in special subjects are given annually by friends of the College. Boys proceeding to Oxford or Cambridge are eligible to compete for three Scholarships, each of the value of £50 per annum, and tenable for three years.

Boarders are received by the Principal, at 4, Crown Terrace, Anlaby road. Terms on application.

The following successes have been gained by Pupils of Mr. BOND since 1874:—

22 Open Scholarships and Exhibitions at Oxford & Cambridge.
2 Entrances into Royal Military Academy, Woolwich.
2 Entrances into Royal Engineering College, Cooper's Hill.
10 Leaving Certificates from the Oxford and Cambridge Joint Board.
5 Pupils have passed in Honours the Matriculation Examination of the University of London.
4 have passed the Government Examination for Engineer Students, including the First on the List in 1880 and 1881.
88 have passed the Oxford Local Examinations.
