These Machines are manufactured of the finest material, and are unequalled for the lightness, durability, and excellence of finish.

The Medium Machine has an extra large shuttle, and thereby effects a great saving in winding and threading. Has a higher lift of the foot than any other Machine, which enables the operator to sew thicker material, and pass over seams with greater ease, and is therefore specially adapted for light and heavy manufacturing purposes, such as Tailors, Dress and Mantle Makers, Corsets, Stays, Skirts, Jackets, &c., &c.

All Extras with these Machines.

£7 10s.

SPECIAL TERMS TO SHIPPERS.

Our New Patent AUTOMATIC FAST and LOOSE WHEEL for this Machine is one of the greatest improvements effected in Sewing Machines for some time past. Breaking of cog wheels is also prevented by our AUTOMATIC SHUTTLE COVER, which prevents the shuttle leaving its position whilst working. These improvements free of extra charge.

WHEELER & WILSON'S

LOCK-STITCH

SEWING MACHINES

FOR LADIES AND FAMILIES.

WHEELER & WILSON'S SEWING MACHINES are the most suitable for Ladies, by reason of the very slight exertion required to use them, combined with elegance of appearance and quietness of operation, and are the best in the market for Family use, doing every kind of sewing required in the most approved style, and are easily understood and worked by young persons.

FOR DRESSMAKERS, NEEDLEWOMEN, AND OTHERS.

WHEELER & WILSON'S SEWING MACHINES are used and recommended by first-class Modistes and Dressmakers, on account of the beauty and reliability of the stitch made by them, and are great favourites among the Ladies' Outfitters, Baby Linen Manufacturers, and Shirtmakers, being capable of executing work of the most exquisite fineness. These Machines, being very rapid in action, and of extraordinary durability, are the most serviceable and Economical that can be obtained.

"ECLIPSE"

SEWING MACHINES

SHEPHERD, ROTHWELL, & HOUGH

SOLE MANUFACTURERS AND PATENTEES.

No Person should purchase a Sewing Machine without having seen the "ECLIPSE," and particularly noted its intensely practical and eminently useful improvements, which have been effected with the sole object of securing durability, nicety of adjustment of wearing parts, great ease in working, and freedom from complication, the failing point of so many machines.

Patents granted January and September, 1875, for improvements, from amongst which may be mentioned :—The Stitch regulator, securing great durability in feeder, adjustment to wear, silence when at work, length of stitch seen and regulated on the top of the machine.

The Hinge joint to facilitate cleaning, &c., &c.; the adjustable shuttle driver; the adjustment of the needle to different degrees of work, from muslin to leather.

The Shuttle supplies a great want, dispensing with the complications which have hitherto been the great and only drawback to Shuttle Machines. In threading the "Eclipse" Shuttle, there is only one hole through which to pass the thread, the tension is obtained on an improved principle, and the saving of time effected by its use must be of the highest importance to manufacturers working a number of machines, whilst in a proportionate degree it is of equal importance to the owner of every single Sewing Machine.

PATENT "ECLIPSE" SHUTTLE.

Easiest in the world to thread.

One hole to thread instead of nine, 900 per cent. saved in time.

WILLIAM LEES, ENGINEER,

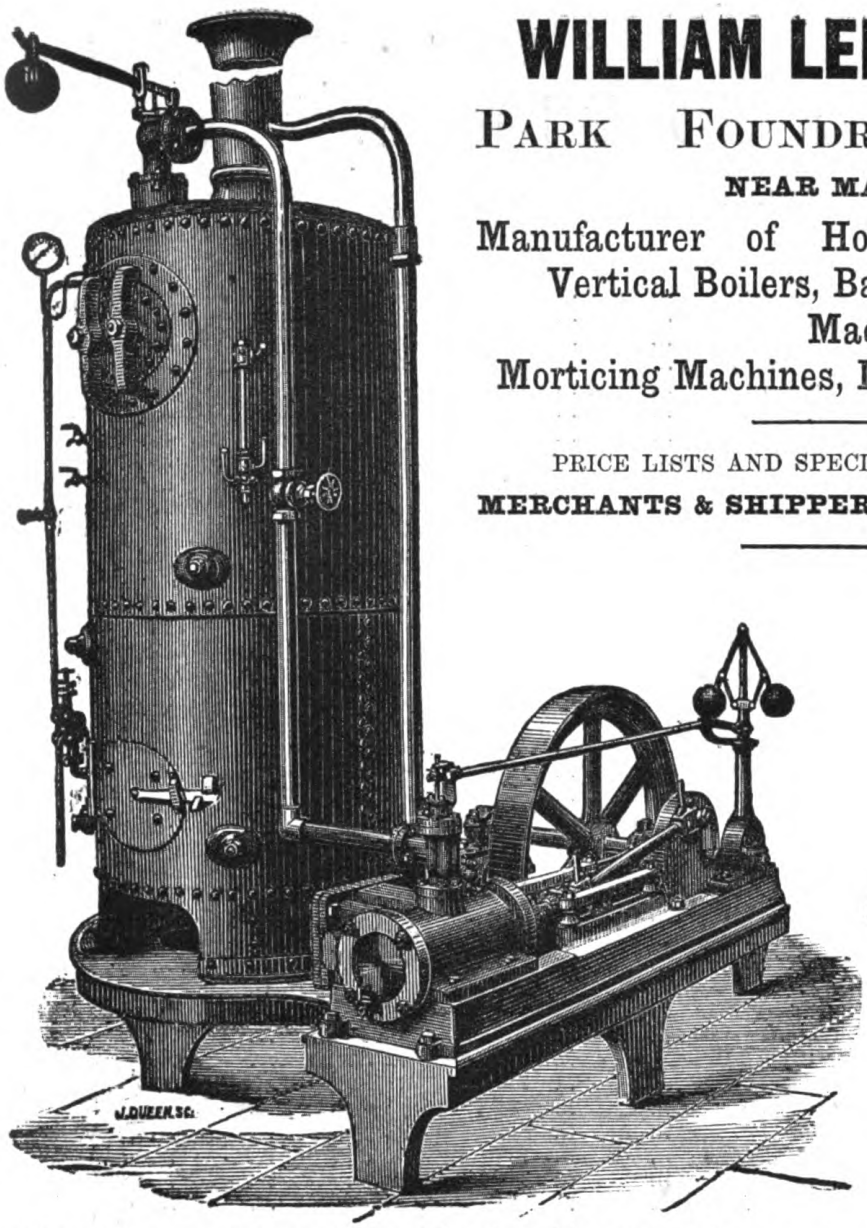

PARK FOUNDRY, HOLLINWOOD,

NEAR MANCHESTER,

Manufacturer of Horizontal Steam Engines, Vertical Boilers, Band & Circular Sawing Machinery, Morticing Machines, Drilling Machines, &c., &c.

PRICE LISTS AND SPECIFICATIONS ON APPLICATION.

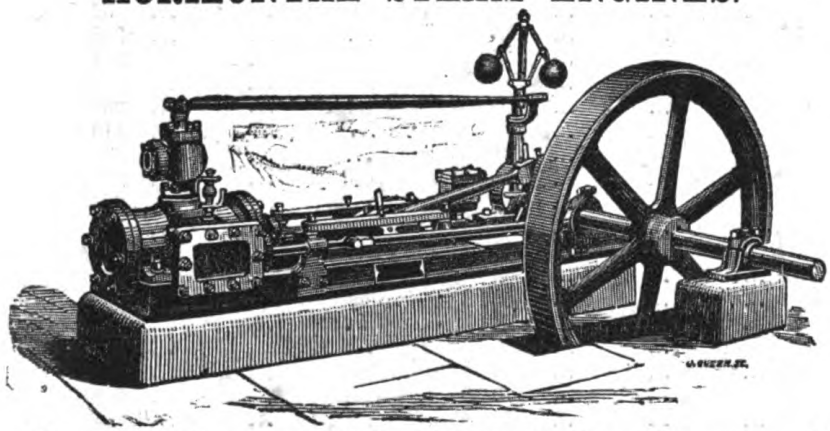

MERCHANTS & SHIPPERS SPECIALLY DEALT WITH.

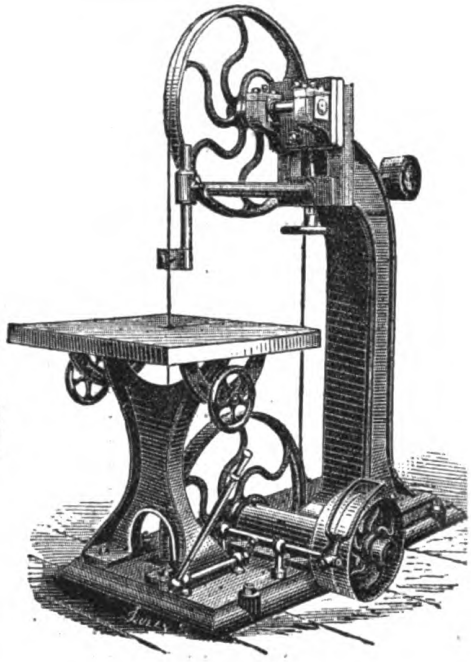

These boilers are of the best material and workmanship, and ensure a quick and copious supply of steam, having Cross Tubes, and large heating surface. Each Boiler is supplied with a Gifford's Injector, and all requisite fittings; and tested to 120 lbs. hydraulic pressure.

The Engines are mounted complete with Boiler on a substantial metal Base Plate, which prevents any injury from strain or expansion. Each Engine is bright finished, with all mountings and turned fly-wheel complete.

HORIZONTAL STEAM ENGINES.

From 4 to 20 Horse-Power, highly finished with Pump, Governors, and Fly-wheel complete. Require little foundation, and are easily fixed.

IMPROVED BAND SAWING MACHINE.

This Machine is strong, substantial, and well fitted, and contains all recent improvements. The Pulleys are turned inside and out, and truly balanced, and work in gun-metal Bearings. The top Pulley and Bearings are adjustable, and are so arranged that the tension of the Saw is uniform whilst working. The Table is arranged for Bevil cutting.

WARRINGTON

Is an ancient market town, parish, parliamentary, and municipal borough, pleasantly situated on the north bank of the river Mersey, and on the high road between the towns of Manchester and Liverpool, about 20 miles west-south-west from the former, and about the same distance east from the latter, 18½ from Bolton, 18 from Chester, 8 from Frodsham, 12 from Leigh, 182½ from London, 6 from Newton Bridge, 29 from Preston, 6 from Runcorn, 13½ from St. Helens, and 13 from Wigan. The area of the parish is 12,872 statute acres. The population of the township in 1861 was 24,050, and in 1871 29,897, showing an increase in ten years of 5,847. The population of the parliamentary borough, in 1861 was 26947, and in 1871 33,053, thus giving an increase of 6,106. The population of the municipal borough in 1861 was 26,431, and in 1871 32,083, thus showing an increase of 5,652. The estimated population of the parliamentary borough in 1876 is calculated to be about 4,000. The population of the union in 1861 was 43,875, and in 1871 54,395, showing an increase of 10,520. The union comprises the following townships:—Burton Wood, Cuerdley, Grappenhall, Haydock, Houghton, Middleton and Arbury, Latchford, Newton-in-Makerfield, Penketh, Poulton-with-Fearnhead, Rixton-with-Glazebrook, Great Sankey, Southworth-with-Croft, Winwick-with-Hulme, Woolston-with-Martinscroft and Warrington. The parliamentary borough comprises the townships of Warrington and Latchford, and the two detached portions of the township of Thelwall, which lie between the body of the township of Latchford and the river Mersey. The town is governed by a mayor, eight aldermen, and 27 councillors, and is represented in Parliament by one member. The present member being Sir Gilbert Greenall, Bart. The mayor and the borough justices hold courts for the trial of petty offences at the sessions house in Irlam-street, every Monday. A county court is held the first Thursday in each month. The jurisdiction of the court comprises all the townships in the union, together with the townships of Lymm and Stretton. The derivation of the name Warrington is ascribed to both a Roman and a Saxon origin; history asserts that the latter people had a fort here, and hence its appellation is said to arise Woering, implying a "fortification," and tun "a town." The town was the head of a hundred at the time of the dooms day survey, but is now merged in that of West Derby. The manor, with several of the townships, came into the hands of the Butlers, or Botelers, in the reign of Henry III. William de Boteler obtained from Edward I. a charter to hold a market here. In the reign of Queen Elizabeth the manor passed from the last male heir of that family to the Earl of Leicester. It now belongs to the Blackburne's, of Hale. The Town Hall is in Sankey-street, and contains the Borough Surveyor's, Borough Treasurer's, and Poor Rate Collector's Offices, Council Chamber, and Committee Rooms. The Fire Engine Station is in Market-street. The Union Workhouse is situated at the west end of the town, and has a general and fever hospitals, lunatic ward, and chapel. The guardians meet here every Wednesday. The Parish Church of St. Elphin was repaired and restored in 1862-3, and a new spire built in 1867. The alterations comprise the entire restoration of the church, chancel chapels, and tower with spire, a new north aisle, built to correspond with the south one, and a raised open roof, removal of the western gallery, and replacing the organ into the new extended western end under the large window. The whole body of the church has been seated with open benches, giving upwards of 200 additional sittings. A new range of oak stalls has been introduced on either side of the chancel, the floor of which is laid with encaustic tiles, and the crypt restored. The church is lighted with gas, with suitable standards, and an efficient system of warming and ventilating has been adopted. The funds (about £1,300) for carrying out these extensive alterations were principally raised through the exertions of the rector, the Rev. William Quekett, M.A. The church of Holy Trinity was erected in 1761; it is in the classic style of architecture, and has a fine tower and clock. The living is a perpetual curacy, and is held by the Rev. John Leach, M.A. The church of St. Paul, erected in 1830, at an expense of £5,347, is a substantial structure, in the early English style of architecture, with tower, a peal of six bells, and a clock. The living is a perpetual curacy. The Rev. Samuelis Wilkinson is the present vicar. The Baptists, Independents, Methodists, Presbyterians, Society of Friends, and Roman Catholics have chapels, a complete list of which, with their ministers, immediately follow A Public Hall, capable of holding 1,200 people, was erected in Rylands-street, by a limited liability company in 1862, at a cost of £3,500. The Museum and Library in Bold-street (established in 1848) was erected at a cost of about £3,000, and contains nearly 13,000 volumes. The museum is open free on Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday, the reading room daily, and the library daily to subscribers. An art gallery in connection with the museum is now (1876) in course of erection. The Public Baths in Legh-street were opened on the 1st of May, 1866, and are the property of the corporation. The Institution for the Relief of the Widows and Orphans of Clergymen who have officiated in the archdeaconries of Chester, Liverpool, and Manchester, was founded in 1697; and a Branch Institution for the Education of the Daughters of the Clergy was founded in 1844. The Diocesan Female Training School for 102 schoolmistresses is in the same building; the Rev. H. C. Stubbs being principal for both schools. The Blue Coat School was founded in 1665, by Mr. John Allen, a native of the town. In 1778 the present commodious building was erected; it was opened in 1782, under the name of the "Blue Coat Hospital." In 1855, at the suggestion of the governor, the old pupils formed a society, called "The Warrington Blue Coat Brotherly Society," which has for its objects, among others, the cultivation of a friendly feeling among those who have been educated in the school, the visiting of boys apprenticed, the relief of the needy, &c., &c. Boteler Grammar School is situated on a rising ground immediately outside the town. The building contains the head master's house, school-rooms, dormitory, &c., under one roof, and has a good play ground of about an acre adjoining. This school, formerly one of the most distinguished classical schools in the county, has lately been remodelled in accordance with more modern views of the requirements of the age. The routine of work is now so arranged that, while a sound classical course may be ensured to all, there is also afforded to those who desire it highly efficient instruction in such subjects as are likely to be of more practical utility to men of buiness. The ordinary course of instruction, includes religious knowledge, Latin, French, geography, English history and grammar, drawing, physics, bookkeeping, reading, writing, arithmetic, Greek, German, Mathematics, &c. The Warrington Educational Society have a very efficient school, called "The Warrington Peoples College," receiving aid from the Committee of Council on Education, but mainly supported by the fees of the scholars. It is situated at Bank Quay. The Head Master is Mr. C. Twiss, who has a highly trained staff of assistant and pupil teachers. The object of the day school for boys and girls is to bring a really good and comprehensive education within the reach of all. Methods of instruction, classification, apparatus, and school buildings have been developed by the aid of Government during the last twenty years, with all the aids that can be derived from the use of a good set of text books by each pupil, and the consequent preparation of home lessons. For practical purposes the school is divided into three sections. A junior section for pupils from four to ten years of age. Course—Reading, spelling, writing, dictation, geography, grammar, history, singing, drawing, French and arithmetic. Besides the above valuable educational institutions, there are boys' and girls' National schools, boys' and girls' Infants' schools, connected with the Parish Church. Roman Catholic schools and several private boarding and day schools. Warrington is distinguished by having given to the world several productions of acknowledged merit, amongst others the work "On Prisons," by John Howard, Mrs. Barbauld's beautiful poem of "Corsica," and Roscoe's poem of "Mount Pleasant." William Enfield, LL.D., author of Enfields history of philosopy, and "The Speaker." M'Gowen, a baker, the author of "The Shavers," and the Dialogue of Devils," satires, lived in Bridge-street; and Litherland, the inventor of the lever watch, was born here; John Blackburne, Esq., the celebrated botanist and great researcher in natural history, had his residence at Orford Hall, near this town; and Dr. Thomas Percival, the author of "Moral and Literary Dissertations," Medical Ethics," and founder of the Literary and Philosophical Society of Manchester, was a native of this town. Three newspapers are published weekly—the Advertiser, the Guardian, and the Examiner. The Dispensary, which is liberally supported, is at present situated in Butter market-street, but a new Infirmary and Dispensary is in course of erection at Heath Side. The town is supplied with gas by the Warrington Gas Light and Coke Company, whose premises are in Mersey-street; and the inhabitants are supplied with water by a company, whose office is in Cairo-street; the works are situated near Hill Cliff, distant about three miles. The area of the water supply has been extended and its permanence assured by the erection of pumping engines in connection with the perennial sources of supply at Winwick. Within the last few years great improvements have been made by the Corporation. New streets have been opened out, extensive sewerage and drainage works have been prosecuted with an unflagging perseverance; and if these have been carried out at immense costs, a sensible improvement in the health and comfort of the inhabitants has resulted therefrom. The rough boulder pavements are rapidly disappearing, and will soon be numbered with the things of the past, and their place supplied with flag or brick footways and well-formed macadam roads. A new post office and new barracks are now (1876) in course of erection, and it is in contemplation to erect a new market hall. The cemetery has undergone material enlargement within the last few years, and when completed will form one of the most attractive and well kept promenades in the neighbourhood. The new public park, the public hall, public baths, the recreation grounds at Arpley, the resuscitation of floral and horticultural exhibitions, the school of art, &c., testify to the energy and hearty willingness of the inhabitants to promote the elevation of its position, and the furtherance of every scheme of progress. We may also mention amongst the places of amusement the Prince of Wales' Theatre, situated in Scotland-road, which has consiberably improved, under the able direction of Mr. B. Sheridan. Several eminent companies from London, Dublin, and other places have visited this town during his management, and the favourable receptions they have met with, together with the high estimation in which the winter stock companies have been held, prove the appreciation of the public of Warrington for the energy and tact of the present proprietor. The communication by water between Manchester and Liverpool is by means of the Mersey and Irwell rivers, and the Bridgewater canal, at spring tide the former rises, at the bridge, ten and sometimes fifteen feet, when vessels of from seventy to one hundred tons burthen can attain this point. Railway accommodation is afforded by the London and North Western, the Great Western, and the Cheshire Lines Committee Railway Companies, who have excellent train service, and conveniently situated stations. The trade of the town is various, and consists of wire drawing to a considerable extent, the manufacture of files, weighing machines, tools, glass and glass bottles, bar and rod iron, a large soap manufactory, forges, ironfoundries, breweries, maltings, chemical works, pin manufactories and cotton mills. It has long been celebrated for its files and tools, which, with its pinion and music wire, have a European reputation. Warrington and its vicinity is the centre of the tanning trade in the north of England for heavy sole leather. There are four banking establishments here—viz., The Liverpool and Manchester District Banking Co., Parr's Banking Co. Limited, the Lancashire and Yorkshire Banking Co., and a savings' bank. The weekly markets are on Wednesday and Saturday, and there is a cattle market every Wednesday. Fairs, July 11 and November 30, each continuing for ten days. There are also monthly fairs for the sale of cattle.

LATCHFORD is a township in the parish of Grappenhall, hundred of Bucklow, and county of Chester, separated from Warrington by the river Mersey, which is spanned by a handsome bridge. The Latchford wire works and brush manufactory belonging to G. Artingstall & Co., and the chemical works of Roberts, Dale & Co., are in this township. There are also various other branches of business carried on, including tanning, malting, pin, file, tool making, &c. A line of rail and a canal pass through the township. There are two churches, St. James' and Christ church, with schools in connection. The Baptists and Roman Catholics have each a place of worship. The acreage is 1,010, and the population was in 1861, 2,885; and in 1871, 3,144; showing an increase of 259.

ASTLEY is a township and village in the Parish, Union, and County Court District of Leigh, and about three miles east therefrom, 10¼ from Manchester, seven from Bolton, and one from Tyldesley. The population of the township in 1861 was 2,109, and in 1871 2,022. The area is 2,628 statute acres. The soil is clayey, the subsoil rocky, the district is level, and the land chiefly pasture; George Nugent Ross Weatherall, Esq., of Astley Hall, is Lord of the Manor. The church of St. Stephen is a plain brick building in the modern style of architecture, and has been enlarged three times, viz., in 1834, 1842, and 1847, and will seat about 1,000 persons. It has nave aisles, chancel, porch, organ, square embattled tower and one bell. The living is a perpetual curacy, of the annual value of about £400, with residence, in the gift of the vicar of Leigh; the Rev. Alfred Hewlett, D.D., is the vicar. The Wesleyans and Unitarians have chapels here, with Sunday schools attached. There is a National School and a Free Grammar School (Mort's) for 24 scholars. There are collieries and a large cotton mill in the township. The Bridgewater Canal passes through the village; and there is a Station here on the Liverpool and Manchester section of the London and North-western line, which runs through the southern part of the township.

CHOWBENT AND ATHERTON.—Chowbent is a thriving village in the chapelry of Atherton, and parish of Leigh, situated on an elevated position on the high road from Leigh to Bolton, 12 miles west by north from Manchester, 26 east, north-east from Liverpool, 13 north-north-east from Warrington, 7 east by south from Wigan, 2½ from Leigh, and 5 south from Bolton. Cotton spinning is extensively crrried on by several firms, which afford employment for a large proportion of the inhabitants. The manufacture of nails has flourished here for more than a hundred years; the trade suffered a considerable depression consequent on the American war in the earlier portion of the present century. Of late years, however, it has revived, extensive works having been erected for the manufacture of screw bolts, nails, &c. Chowbent was formerly celebrated for the manufacture of machinery for cotton spinning, carding, &c., but this branch of industry is not now carried on. Although several important improvements in machinery originated here, in addition to the most important discovery of the value of the application of heat in certain processes of manufacture of cotton and other goods. There are two iron foundries. The unlimited supply of coals in the immediate neighbourhood has materially aided in increasing the prosperity of this well-known village. Half-a-mile distant from the village are stations on the London and North Western lines of railway from Bolton to Kenyon, and from Eccles to Wigan, affording communication with Manchester, Liverpool, &c. The Cemetery, consecrated and opened for interments by the Bishop of Manchester in 1856, is pleasantly situated on the road to Leigh, half a mile distant from the centre of the village, the grounds contain two chapels for the use of the Established Church and Dissenters. Formerly there was a market held in the village, but latterly this has fallen into disuse. Petty Sessions are held in the Public hall, Bolton new road, every alternate Monday. The population of Chowbent is included with Atherton chapelry.

ATHERTON is a chapelry in the parish of Leigh comprising an area of 2,220 acres. The extensive Atherton collieries of Fletcher, Burrows, & Co. are situated in this township. Lord Lilford is the principal landowner. Population of Atherton (including Chowbent), in 1861, 5,907; 1871, 7,532.

CULCHETH

Is a township in the parish of Newchurch, and contains, according to the census of 1871, a population of 2,266. The area is 5,361 statue acres. The village, which is called Newchurch, is 16 miles from Manchester, 24 from Liverpool, 6¼ from Warrington, and 3 from Leigh. Newchurch is one of the parishes taken from the large parish of Winwick (by Act of Parliament). The living is a rectory; the Rev. W. F. Black, M.A. is the present rector. A district church, dedicated to All Saints, has been erected at Bury lane; the Rev. George Feathers is curate in charge. There are two cotton mills, and large quantities of bricks and tiles are made in the township. The land in the district is in a high state of cultivation; the chief crops are oats, potatoes and wheat. Thomas Ellames Withington, Esq., J.P., Culcheth Hall, is lord of the manor. There are two stations in the township (on the London and North Western line), one at Bury lane, and the other at Kenyon junction.

POST OFFICE, NEWCHURCH—Thomas Broadhurst, postmaster. Letters from all parts arrive (from Warrington) at ten minutes past nine in the morning, and are despatched thereto at twenty-five minutes past four in the evening. The nearest Money Order and Telegraph Office is at Leigh.

EARLESTOWN

Is a rapidly increasing place situated about a mile west from Newton-le-Willows, in the parish of Winwick and union and county court district of Warrington, from which place it is distant about four and a half miles. The prosperity of this town is owing principally to the extensive wagon works of the London and North-Western Railway Co., who employ upwards of 900 hands, besides other works of importance—viz., the Vulcan Locomotive Engine Works, the Sankey Sugar Company, oil and paper mills, and an iron foundry. There are also some very good inns and many excellent well-stocked retail establishments. A new church is in course of erection in the early English style, from designs by Messrs. Whitley & Fry, of Dover, the probable cost of which will be about £10,000. About a quarter of a century ago Earlestown consisted of about twenty houses, but through the establishment of the above works, its excellent position, the facilities afforded for building and for the transit of goods to all parts of the kingdom by rail and canal, it has risen very rapidly, and in the course of a few years more will probably be a town of considerable size and importance. Population returned with the township of Newton-le-Willows.

POST OFFICE—Queen street; Matthew Birkhead, postmaster. Letters arrive (from Newton) at 7 a.m. and 4 p.m., and are despatched thereto at 10.15 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.

Money Order, and Telegraph Office and Savings Bank.

LEIGH, BEDFORD, WEST LEIGH, & PENNINGTON.

LEIGH is a market town, formed of portions of the townships of Bedford, Pennington, and West Leigh, and is governed by a Local Board consisting of 18 members, six of whom are returned for Bedford, six for Pennington, and six for West Leigh. It is 13 miles W. from Manchester, 23 E.N.E. from Liverpool, 7 from Bolton, 11 from Warrington, 7 from Wigan, and 197 N.W. from London. The parish of Leigh comprises the townships of Atherton, Bedford, Pennington, Tyldesley, and West Leigh. The population according to the census of 1871 was—Bedford, 6,610; Pennington, 5,424; and West Leigh, 5,587; total, 17,621; but there has been a marked increase of the population since that time. Leigh is excellently situated, and peculiarly well adapted for manufacturing purposes, the neighbourhood furnishing an abundant supply of coal and water; the manufacture of silk and cotton is carried on extensively; the railway and canal accommodation offering great facilities for the transit of goods to Manchester and Liverpool. In the history of inventions connected with manufacturing machinery, this parish claims a high position, as the first spinning jenny was constructed here, by Thos. Highs, a reed maker, in 1763. Richard Arkwright, however, improved upon the reed-maker's invention, and eventually secured a large fortune. In the adjacent township of Bedford are the works of Picksley, Sims & Co., Limited, ironfounders and agricultural implement makers. There are two newspapers published on Saturday—viz., the Leigh Chronicle and the Leigh Journal, which have an extensive circulation in the town and surrounding districts. The ancient parish church of St. Mary, having become much dilapidated, has been recently re-built, with the exception of the tower, at a cost of about £9,000. The foundation stone of the new edifice was laid on the 15th May, 1871, by the Lord Bishop of Manchester, with great ceremony, the day being kept as a general holiday in the town; the new church is in the perpendicular Gothic style of architecture, from the designs of Messrs. Paley & Austin, architects, of Lancaster. The living of Leigh is a discharged vicarage, of the annual value of £270, with residence, in the gift of Lord Lilford. The Rev. J. H. Stanning, M.A., is the vicar. Christ Church, in the township of Pennington, is a beautiful stone edifice, erected in 1853-4, from the design of Mr. Shellard of Manchester. The schools in connection with the churches are well attended. St. Paul's Church, West Leigh, is a stone building, with national and Sunday schools attached. There is also a Mission Church and Schools, in Firs lane, in the same township. The Wesleyan Methodists have erected a beautiful chapel, with spire, at a cost of upwards of £9,000. The Independents, Primitive Methodists, and Friends' have each places of worship here. There are schools in connection with the Wesleyan and Independent chapels. The Free School, founded and endowed in 1655, by Piers Ranicar, is situated near the parish church. The founder left £6 per annum, chargeable on certain lands, which has since been increased to £25 per annum by various other charitable donors. The Cemetery, established under the Burials Acts by the joint townships of Astley, Bedford, Pennington, and West Leigh, at a cost of upwards of £7,000, comprises about 11 acres of land, with three mortuary chapels, for the separate use of the Established church, dissenters and Roman Catholics. The Leigh Poor-Law Union and County Court district comprises the townships of Astley, Atherton, Bedford, Culcheth, Golborne, Kenyon, Lowton, Pennington, Tyldesley-with-Shackerley, and West Leigh. The County Court is held at the Town Hall. The magistrates hold petty sessions at Leigh and Chowbent every alternate Monday. The central office for the Warrington division of the county constabulary is at the Town Hall, Leigh. Two branches from the London and North Western Railway pass near the town from Kenyon Junction to Bolton and Wigan, Tyldesley, Eccles and Manchester. A branch from Wigan of the Leeds and Liverpool canal, joining the Duke of Bridgewater's canal, passes through the town.

BEDFORD is a populous and flourishing township, immediately adjoining and in the parish of Leigh. Here are several large cotton and silk mills, and the foundries of Picksley, Sims & Co., Limited, which employ a large number of hands, and has added much to the prosperity of the immediate neighbourhood. There are also several breweries. The Bedford Brewing and Malting Company's premises are in this township. St. Thomas's church is a handsome brick building, with day and Sunday schools attached. The Rev. Moorhouse James, M.A., is the vicar. The Railway station here is named "Bedford Leigh," and is on the Kenyon branch of the Eccles, Tyldesley and Wigan section of the London and North Western Railway.

A new church founded by John Fletcher, Esq., is now (1876) in course of erection at Howe Bridge.

POST OFFICE, Bradshawgate, Leigh.—William Moore, postmaster. Letters from all parts arrive at 6.20 a.m. and 4.20 p.m. On Sundays at 6.20 a.m. only. The delivery commences one hour later. Despatches—to London, Manchester Liverpool, and South of England at 9.35 a.m.; to Manchester at 1.10 p.m,; to Bolton at 1.10 p.m.; to all parts at 7.30 p.m. via Manchester.) Letter boxes are placed at Warrington road, Pennington; Chapel street and Butts Bridge, Bedford; Bury lane, Culcheth; and at Barlow's factory and Firs lane, West Leigh. These boxes are cleared at 9.30 a.m. and 6.15 p.m. The post office is open on week days from 15th February to 15th November at 7.0 a.m., and during the remaining part of the year at 6.45 a.m. until 8.0 p.m. On Sundays from 7.0 a.m. until 10.0 a.m. only. Letters should be addressed—Leigh, Lancashire.

NEWTON-LE-WILLOWS, HAYDOCK, KENYON, AND LOWTON.

Newton-le-Willows, or Newton-in-Makerfield is a parish and town in the hundred of West Derby, six miles north of Warrington, and seven south of Wigan. There is an extensive paper manufactory here, and the railway printing and stationery works of Messrs. Mc.Corquodale & Co. Newton formerly returned two members to Parliament, but was disfranchised by the Reform Bill. The London and North Western line of railway between Liverpool and Manchester passes through the parish, the station being equi-distant from those towns. The line, a short distance to the west of Newton, is carried over a valley and the Sankey canal by a lofty viaduct, supported by nine arches. The Liverpool Farm Reformatory School, an excellently conducted institution for the reformation of juvenile criminals, is situated on the road to Warrington, a short distance from the railway station. The Church of St. Peter, erected at the expense of Richard Legh, Esq., in 1682, and since rebuilt, is a neat stone edifice situated with a frontage to the principal street of the town. The lord of the manor, Wm. J. Legh, Esq., a descendant of the founder is the patron of the living. The Parish Church, a neat stone edifice with spire, is situated at Wargrave Moss. It was erected in 1842. The living, a rectory, is in the gift of the Earl of Derby. Newton was formerly in the parish of Winwick, but created into a distinct parish by Act of Parliament in 1845. St. Peter's district schools are erected to accommodate about 320 children. These extensive schools possess considerable architectural beauty, and the internal arrangements are well adapted for the system of education as followed in our national schools. A residence for the master and mistress is attached to the schools. There are places of worship for Independents and Roman Catholics, and Sunday Schools attached to each place. The Grammar School here possesses an endowment of £50 per annum, under the patronage of W. J. Legh, Esq. Haydock Lodge, a beautifully situated mansion, formerly the residence of the Legh family, is now occupied as a Private Asylum for the reception and recovery of insane patients. The system of treatment pursued at this establishment has been highly successful. The extensive grounds for the exercise and recreation of the patients are tastefully laid out. The Red Bank, near Newton, is noted as the place where a party of Highlanders in their march from Preston in 1648 were defeated by detachments of Cromwell's Army, who hung the greater part of their prisoners in a field which retains the name of "Gallows Croft." An old hall here is an object of attention to the stranger; it is built principally of wood, with stained glass windows. The rock in the rear of it has been hollowed out in a curious manner. Formerly a market was held in the town, but it has been discontinued for a considerable length of time. The obelisk, which marked the site of the Ancient Cross, has lately been removed to Earlestown. Fairs are held for cattle and horses on the 17th May, August 11th for cattle, and August 12th for horses. Acreage, 2692; population, 1861, 5909; 1871, 13,530.

HAYDOCK is a township 2 miles from the railway station, Newton-le-Willows, 4 north-east from St. Helens, and 7 north-west from Warrington, in the parish of Ashton-in-Makerfield (St. Thomas's and St. James's division), in the county court district and poor law union of Warrington. The population, according to the census taken on the 2nd April, 1871, numbered 5,286, the majority of whom are employed in the extensive collieries of Messrs. R. Evans and Co., in this township. The Church of St. James the great, a neat building, was erected by public subscription in 1868; the Rev. H. H. Sherlock, B.A., is vicar. The Wesleyan and Primitive Methodists have places of worship here. There are National and British Day Schools and Sunday Schools. The private lunatic asylum at Haydock Lodge will be found noticed under the head of Newton-le-Willows. A local board was formed here in 1872. The area of the township is 2408 statute acres.

KENYON is a township in the parish of Winwick, 2½ miles from Leigh, the same distance from Newton-le-Willows, and 9 miles north from Warrington. There is a railway station here at the junction of the Bolton and Tyldesley branches with the main line of the London and North-Western Railway from Liverpool and Manchester. The township is included in the union and county court district of Leigh. The district is agricultural. The Kenyon Junction Hotel is within a few minutes walk of the Railway Station. Population in 1871, 234; acreage, 1685.

LOWTON is a parish and township containing 1,830 statute acres and a population in 1871 of 2,144. The rateable value of the township in 1871 was £7,437 15s. It is situated 3½ miles from Leigh, 2 miles north-east from Newton-in-Makerfield, and 7 north from Warrington. The nearest railway station is at Golborne, about a mile distant from the village. The principal portion of the inhabitants are engaged in agriculture. There is a cotton mill employing about 100 hands. The Parish Church, dedicated to St. Luke, is a brick and stone edifice. The living, of the annual value of about £300, is in the gift of the Earl of Derby. The rector is the Rev. Richard Smith, M.A. The district Church on Lowton common, dedicated to St. Mary, is a neat stone building in the early English style of architecture. The living is a perpetual curacy; annual value, £50, with residence. The Rev. J. W. S. Simpson, M.A., is the present vicar. There are also places of worship in the township for the Independents and Primitive Methodists. There are National Schools attached to the Churches and Sunday Schools to each place of worship. Lowton is included in the Union and county court district of Leigh. Byrom Hall, formerly in the possession of a family of that name in the township, is a brick building of the 17th century, now occupied as a farm house. Lowton Hall, erected about the same period, is a mansion of similar construction, also in the occupation of a farmer.

ORFORD is a hamlet, in the township and parish of and about a mile and a half from Warrington, in the hundred of West Derby, and Warrington union. Orford Hall was formerly the residence of John Ireland Blackburne, Esq., to whose memory a monument has been erected in Orford lane, opposite to the entrance of the hall, bearing the following inscription: "In honour of John I. Blackburne, Esq., who died at Orford Hall, 20th December, 1786, aged 93 years; a benefactor of Orford, a great botanist, and a Christian gentleman, who looked up through nature to nature's God." Schools have been built, and since their erection they have been considerably enlarged; they are invested in trustees for the benefit of the village and neighbourhood; the school-room has been licensed, and divine service is performed every Sunday morning and evening by the Rev. E. J. Wilcocks, B.A. Population in 1871, 3,186.

ST. HELENS,

ECCLESTON, PARR, SUTTON, AND WINDLE.

ST. HELENS, the principal seat of glass manufacture in the United Kingdom, is a municipal borough and market town, situated 12 miles E. by N. from Liverpool, 21 W. by S. from Manchester, 201¼ N.W. from London, 88¾ from Birmingham, 9 S.W. from Wigan, 10½ W. from Warrington, and 30¾ S.W. from Preston. It is a station on a branch of the London and North-Western line of railway, which affords facilities of communication with the adjacent towns and all parts of the kingdom. A line from Huyton to St. Helens forms a direct route from Liverpool to St. Helens and the north. The town, formerly a village of little importance, is the seat of various branches of industry. First in importance are the works for the manufacture of crown, plate, and flint glass and bottles. The several joint-stock companies and private firms engaged in the trade have very extensive premises, covering large areas, and employ a large proportion of the population. The manufactories here produce plates of glass of enormous size, clearness and perfection, fully equalling the productions of France or Venice. Messrs. Pilkington Bros. are now (1876) erecting works for the manufacture of plate glass, which, it is said, will be the largest in the world. In the town and its immediate neighbourhood are extensive chemical works. Copper smelting is largely carried on, and the manufacture of earthenware sewage pipes, terra cotta, fire bricks, and fire clay goods of all kinds is also an important branch of industry. There are also several iron and brass foundries and engineering establishments, breweries, works for the manufacture of hemp, steel, and wire ropes. The district affords an abundant supply of excellent coal, which, together with its proximity to Liverpool, and the railway and canal accommodation, affording facilities for the conveyance of minerals and manufactures, have materially aided the progress of this important town, Two newspapers are published here—the St. Helens Newspaper and Advertiser on Tuesday and Saturday, and the St. Helens Standard on Friday. In 1871 the old Town Hall, in the Market-place, was partly burned down and was subsequently temporarily repaired, but some months ago it was again burned. It was then determined to erect a building suitable to the increasing requirements of the borough, and plans prepared by Mr. Henry Sumners, F.R.I.B.A., the well-known architect of Rumford court, Liverpool, were adopted. The site of the new building is situated on the north side of Cotham-street, and is bounded on the north by Parade-street, on the east by Hardshaw-street, and on the west by Birchley-street, and covers an area of 6,000 superficial square yards. The principal front will be in Cotham-street, and will have a frontage of 200 feet. The style of architecture adopted is a simple adaptation of Gothic, suitable to the materials to be used in the construction, viz., nicked grey bricks and Stourton stone for porch, bay windows, and other finishings. The main entrance porch will form a prominent feature in the design: it is approached by a spacious flight of steps and wide landings, enclosed by stone balustrades and piers for lamps, and has a massive buttressed base, upon which rest cloistered red granite shafts with carved caps and moulded bases, from which springs a deeply recessed and moulded archway with gable over, surmounted by the arms of the town as a terminal. On the left of this, attached to the centre high portion of building, and separating same from the police buildings, is placed the clock tower. It is square on plan to height of 85 feet and to the top of vane on upper slated roof 130 feet. On the right of the porch is a wing of two storeys in height, terminated at the junction of Cotham-street and Hardshaw-street by a gabled projection, having a large overhanging bay window belonging to the Mayor's parlour, the gable having for a terminal a gabled niche in which will be placed a figure of St. Helen. On the left of the clock tower will be the police offices and court room entrances, and at the base of the tower the entrance to library and reading room. In the plan the building is designed to afford accommodation for the following requirements:—Municipal offices, comprising, on the principal floor, town clerk's general office, chief clerk's office, town clerk's private office, mayor's parlour, waiting rooms, and committee room. Below these, near the street level, and passing an entrance in Hardshaw-street, are placed the treasurer's offices, rate collector's office, nuisance inspector's office, and private, general, and drawing offices for surveyor. On each floor are lavatories and other conveniences. Above the principal floor, in centre of a main building, approached by wide and ample stone stairs, will be the Council Chamber. This room will be 42 feet long by 32 feet wide, and will be lighted by raised side lights in the framed and pannelled pitch pine roof and ceiling. Adjoining are placed a waiting room and large committee room. On the level of principal floor, having a direct approach from the main entrance porch, will be the Assembly Room, 96 feet long by 45 feet wide and 40 feet high to ceiling, and capable of accommodating about 1,000 persons. It will be lighted from each side by six windows. The roof will have a flat centre and splayed sides, and divided into seven bays by circular timber principals resting on stone corbels, and the gable roof over each window groined into the main roof. In connection with this room will be provided ladies and gentlemen's cloak-rooms. From the raised platform, which is arranged for an organ and orchestra, immediate access is obtained to private dressing-rooms for ladies and gentlemen. Convenient to the Assembly Room will be provided a refreshment room, and entrances and exits to and from Assembly Room into a corridor running the whole length of one side. Underneath the Assembly Room at the back, and entered from Parade-street, will be a large fire-engine house, men's day room, lamp and gas testing rooms; and next to entrance will be the office and drilling-house for superintendent of fire brigade. A library and reading room will be provided, having a distinct entrance from Cotham-street at the base of clock tower, and in connection with this entrance and the other portions of the building will be placed rooms comprising keeper's apartments. The police buildings, forming part of the general design and frontage to Cotham-street, and entered therefrom, will comprise, on street level, police office, clerk's office, storeroom, superintendent's office, seven cells with exercising yard for prisoners, and a large covered parade-room for police. On principal floor above these will be a Court Room, 50 feet by 29 feet, approached from the street by a stone staircase. The whole of the building will be lighted, heated, and ventilated in an efficient manner. The total cost of the new structure is estimated at £28,000. Mr. George Rome, of Liverpool, is the contractor. A new Post Office is about to be erected in Church-street, near to the Parish Church. The Churches of the Establishment are St. Mary's, in Church-street, a brick building containing a beautiful stained glass memorial window, the gift of Richard Fildes, a gentleman of the town, and one in memory of Mr. Penketh, given by a surviving member of the family. St. Thomas' Church, Peter-street, is situated in the midst of a populous district. Holy Trinity Church, Traverse-street, is in a thickly inhabited portion of Parr, one of the suburbs of the town. A district church has also been recently erected at Ravenhead. There are National and Sunday Schools in connection with each of the churches. The various Dissenting denominations having places of worship here are the Independents (or Congregationalists), the English Presbyterians, Wesleyan Methodists, Primitive Methodists, the United Methodist Free Church, and the Roman Catholics. Cowley's British Schools, in connection with the Independent Chapel, are largely endowed. The Roman Catholics have large schools at Lowe House, Ravenhead Passage, and Peasley Cross, as well as Ragged Schools in the poorer district near Liverpool-road. The ladies of the convents conduct the education of the girls in the various schools. At Blackbrook, about a mile from St. Helens, a Reformatory for Catholic girls has been established, under the superintendence of the Sisters of Mercy.

A charter of incorporation having been obtained on the 30th January, 1868, St. Helens is now a municipal borough, including the whole townships of Sutton and Parr, a portion of Eccleston, including St. Ann's, and so far in Windle as to include Cowley Hill and a cluster of houses known as the "City." Total area of the borough, 6,558 acres. The jurisdiction of the County Court of St. Helens extends over the townships of Windle, Windle-with-Hardshaw, Eccleston, Parr, Sutton, Bold, Rainhill, Prescot, Widnes, Widnes-with-Appleton, Cronton, Ditton, Hale, Halewood, Speke, Little Woolton, Much Woolton, Huyton, Roby, Knowsley, Whiston, Rainford, and Tarbock. The courts are held every alternate Wednesday in the Court Room, East-street, St. Helens. Courts Leet and Baron for Windle are held annually by Lord Gerard, of Bryn, Lord of the Manor, and peace officers are appointed for the district. The market is held on Saturday, and the fairs on the first Tuesday after Easter and the Saturday following September 11th. Population of the borough in 1871, 45,216.

PARR is a township in the parish of Prescot, and forming part of the municipal borough of St. Helens. The church, dedicated to St. Peter, is a neat stone structure. The living is a perpetual curacy. The Rev. Abraham A. Nunn, M.A., is the vicar. Here are copper works, collieries, and large chemical works. Population in 1861, 8,253; in 1871, 9,258. Area, 1,601 acres.

SUTTON is a parish forming an important part of the municipal borough of St. Helens, as previously stated. The church, dedicated to St. Nicholas, is a stone edifice in the Gothic order of architecture. The living, a vicarage, in the gift of King's College, Cambridge. The Rev. Henry Edward Francis Vallancy, M.A., is the vicar. The Independents, Wesleyans, and Roman Catholics have each chapels here. There are National Schools and schools in connection with each of the Roman Catholic Chapels. There is a monastery of the Order of the Holy Cross and Passion in the township. Manufactures, &c., similar to St. Helens, with the addition of agricultural manure works. The Liverpool and Manchester section and St. Helens branches of the London and North-Western Railway run through the township. There are stations at St. Helens Junction, Sutton Oak, Lea Green, and Peasley Cross. Population in 1861, 4,071; 1871 (including 756 in the asylum near Rainhill) 10,905. Area, 1,181 acres.

WINDLE is a township, part of which is comprised in St. Helens municipal borough. The Cemetery is a beautiful place of interment, near the old Windleshaw Abbey. Population in 1861, 12,259; 1871, 15,011. Acreage, 2,907.

ECCLESTON is a township extending from St. Helens to Prescot, and similarly situated to Sutton. The township contains stone quarries, potteries, &c., and the manufacture of watch movements employs a portion of the inhabitants. Population in 1861, 11,640; and in 1871 (in the borough of St. Helens), 11,194, Acreage, 3,387.

SOUTHWORTH WITH CROFT is an agricultural parish and joint township, five miles north from Warrington, five and a half south from Leigh, and nine from Wigan, in the hundred of West Derby. County Court district, and deanery of Warrington, archdeaconry of Liverpool, and diocese of Chester, the area is 1,837a. 3r. 16p., and the soil is principally clay. The population of the entire parish in 1861 was 1,094, and in 1871, 1,033, showing a decrease of 61 in the ten years. Christ Church is a stone edifice in the Gothic style of architecture, and has a spire, nave, chancel, and bell. The living is a rectory, in the gift of the Earl of Derby; the Rev. Thomas P. Kirkman, M.A., F.R.S., of Trinity College, is the present rector. There are chapels for Unitarians, Independent Methodists, and Roman Catholics, a church-endowed school for boys' and girls', and a Roman Catholic School, also a Sunday school held at the boys' school. The Hall is an ancient edifice, now occupied as a farm house.

POST OFFICE, Jas. Unsworth, postmaster. Letters from all parts arrive (from Warrington), at 8 a.m., and are despatched thereto at 5 p.m. The nearest money order office is at Warrington

TYLDESLEY.

TYLDESLEY-CUM-SHACKERLEY is a populous village (or town) in the parish of Leigh, 2½ miles east north-east therefrom, 5 south-west from Bolton, 11 north-west from Manchester, and 199 from London, and is a station on the London and North-Western line of railway. The township comprises an area of 2,489 statute acres. The population in 1841 amounted to 4,721; in 1851, 5,398; in 1861, 6,029, and in 1871 to 6,408 It is in West Derby hundred, Leigh union and county court district, Manchester diocese. The church of St. George was erected in 1825 by the Church Building Commissioners. It is a handsome stone edifice, in the early pointed Gothic style of architecture, with lofty spire, clock, and a fine peal of six bells. The living is a perpetual curacy, in the gift of Lord Lilford; the Rev. George Richards, M.A., of Trinity College, Cambridge, is the vicar. The Independents, Wesleyans, the Countess of Huntingdon's Connexion, and Roman Catholics have each chapels here, in connection with which are schools. There is also a National School for boys and girls. The extensive collieries of the Astley and Tyldesley Coal and Salt Company are situated in this district. The coal obtained from these mines is highly appreciated for its excellent qualities. There are several large cotton mills in this township, which find employment for a great number of the inhabitants.

WIDNES,

APPLETON, BOLD, CRONTON, CUERDLEY, DITTON, FARNWORTH, HALE, AND HALEBANK.

WIDNES AND APPLETON is a joint township rapidly increasing in population and importance, in the parish and union of Prescot, situated on the banks of the river Mersey, intersected by the St. Helens section of the London and North-Western Railways and the Sankey canal, six miles west by east from Warrington, five miles south from Prescot, and 13 south-east from Liverpool, in the hundred of West Derby, county court district of St. Helens, archdeaconry of Liverpool, and diocese of Chester. Here are some of the most extensive chemical works in the kingdom, copper smelting works, soap works, locomotive and wagon grease and oil and paint works, lead works, iron foundries, engineering establishments, &c. Every facility is afforded for the transmission of the articles manufactured, and the conveyance of the raw material used in the different works both by water and rail. Additional railway accommodation is about to be afforded by the construction of a branch from the Cheshire lines Committee's railway near Farnworth, connecting the town with the Midland, Great Northern, and Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire systems. There are two Banking establishments, a Trades Association, an Institute, Science and Art classes, and a Young Mens' Christian Association here. A magnificent bridge, known as the Tullers Girder, or Runcorn Bridge, spans the river Mersey here, linking together the counties of Lancashire and Cheshire. It was constructed by the London and North-Western Railway Company, their object being to effect a quicker route from Liverpool to London. The bridge proper is 1,800 feet long, consisting of three river openings 305 feet each. Altogether their are 101 arches. The width between the girders for the railway is 25 feet: the height of the girders above high-water mark is 75 feet, and the height of the lattice girders is 27 feet. The top of the towers above high-water mark is 128 feet. There is also provision made for foot passengers, there being a footpath six feet wide. 5,100 tons of iron was consumed in the construction of this bridge. The contractors were Messrs. Brassey and Ogilvie. W. Baker, Esq., was the chief engineer. This gigantic undertaking occupied about five years in its construction. The Volunteer Hall is a spacious building containing a room 100 feet in length, and 50 feet broad, fitted up for public meetings and entertainments. The township is well supplied with water and lighted with gas. The local board have the management of these works, also of sanitary and other matters relating to the improvement of the town; this board have recently erected a covered market, fitted up with shops and stalls at a total cost of £6,000, it is well supplied with butchers meat, vegetables, fish, and other commodities, and is well patronized by the inhabitants of the district. Adjacent to the market hall, ground is laid out for a market place. The magistrates hold petty sessions at the police station, Victoria road, on the second and fourth Tuesday in each month. The Church, a stone edifice, was erected in 1856. The Baptists, Congregationalists, the various denominations of Wesleyans and Roman Catholics have each chapels, and there are day and Sunday schools here. Additional schools are projected by the School Board to meet the requirements of the district.

Woodend, Upton, Hanging Birch, and Lunts Heath, are in this township.

APPLETON is a village one mile from Widnes, and the same distance from Farnworth, and is a station on the St. Helens and Widnes branch of the London and North-Western Railway. Excellent stone is obtained from a quarry near the village, the manufacture of watch movements and materials is carried on by a few of the inhabitants. Here is a spacious Roman Catholic chapel, in the early English style of architecture. It was erected in 1847, at a cost of £4,000. There are day and Sunday schools connected with it.

FARNWORTH is a village in the township of Widnes, and parish and union of Prescot, from which it is distant five miles south-east and five and-a-half west from Warrington. It is a station on the St. Helens and Widnes branch of the London and North-Western line, and on the Cheshire lines. Near the former station are the extensive Chemical Manure Works of Messrs. J. Knight & Co., and there is also a mill for the manufacture of canvas and flax spinning near the village. The church, dedicated to St. Luke, is an ancient stone edifice. The register dates from 1538. The living is a perpetual curacy in the gift of the Vicar of Prescot. The grammar school was founded and endowed by the Right Rev. Dr. Smythe, Bishop of Lincoln, in the reign of Henry VIII. The population of Farnworth and Widnes, in 1861, was 8,879, and in 1871, 16,848.

DITTON is a township in the parish and union of Prescot, and county court district of St. Helens, and is a station on the St. Helens, Warrington, and Liverpool and Cheshire lines of Railway. A large free school has been erected here by the Hon. Mrs. Stapleton for the education of the poor children of the parish, irrespective of creed. The Works of the Ditton Brook Iron Co. Limited, manufacturers of pig iron, plant for chemical works, &c., are here, and find remunerative employment for a large number of hands.

CUERDLEY is a small township, about 2½ miles from Widnes.

HOUGH GREEN is a hamlet in the township.

HALEWOOD, a hamlet in the parish of Prescot, five miles from Widnes, is a station on the London and North-Western line.

WINWICK WITH HULME, HOUGHTON, MIDDLETON, AND ARBURY.

WINWICK WITH HULME is a parish and joint township 3 miles north from Warrington, situated on the turnpike road from Warrington to Newton-in-Makerfield, from the latter it is distant about 2 miles. The township comprises an area of 1,431 statute acres, the rector is Lord of the Manor, the population in 1861 was 451, and in 1871 456. It is in the hundred of West Derby, union County Court district, and rural deanery of Warrington, archdeaconry of Liverpool and diocese of Chester. The church of St. Oswald is an ancient stone edifice, and existed before the Norman invasion; the body of the building is large and irregular, and of various styles of architecture, with tower surmounted by an octagonal spire, and a peal of six bells, a new chancel was added to the church in 1847, as is thus recorded on a plate on the north wall. "This chancel impaired by time and injured in the great rebellion, was rebuilt on its old foundations, and restored to its original form, in more than its original beauty in 1847-8; it underwent considerable alterations in 1858, at a cost of nearly £2,350; the rector, the Rev. Frank George Hopwood, and Robt. Atherton Hornby, Esq., contributing the principal part. It is fitted with oak stalls adorned with carving in wood and stone, and the arched roof of oak is beautifully illuminated. All the windows of the chancel are of stained glass, the western window is filled with stained glass as a memorial of the late rector. There are several monuments to the families of Legh and Hornby, also font, clock, and a painted windows, three brasses, two of them to the Leghs of Lyme, and one to the Gerards of Bryn, there is a small obituary window to James, seventh Earl of Derby. The church spire (supposed to have been damaged by lightning), was repaired in 1870 at a cost of about £150. The register dates from 1563. The living is a rectory, in the gift of the Earl of Derby; the Rev. Frank George Hopwood, M.A. of Christ Church, Oxford, is the rector. The Grammar School was founded in 1618 by Gualter Legh, who endowed it with the yearly income of £10, which, by subsequent benefactions, was increased to £34. Mr. Frederick Walter is principal. There are Church Schools for boys and girls, supported by the rector, average attendance about 90, and there is a Sunday School held at the boys and girls school. Hulme is a hamlet about half a mile north from Winwick.

HOUGHTON, MIDDLETON, and ARBURY form a township in the parish of Winwick, Warrington Union, West Derby Hundred and Southern Division of the County. The village of Houghton Green is situated about three miles from Warrington and a mile and a quarter from Winwick. The acreage is 839, and the population was in 1861 253, and in 1871 252.

WIGAN AND INCE.

WIGAN is an ancient and important market town, parliamentary and municipal borough, township and parish, 19 miles north-east from Liverpool, 18 north-west from Manchester, 195 north north-west from London, 10 west from Bolton, 16 south from Preston, 14 north from Warrington, 10 north-east from St. Helens, 38 south from Lancaster, and 19 south-east from Southport. The London and North-Western, the Lancashire and Yorkshire, and Lancashire Union lines of railway afford communication with all parts of the kingdom. The town has also the advantage of water conveyance by the Leeds and Liverpool Canal. The principal part of the town is situate on rising ground of considerable steepness towards the north and east, and the town mainly extends from this to the north, north-east, and south. The River Douglas runs through it, being crossed by several bridges. This stream was made navigable under the powers of an act of parliament obtained in 1719, but since the construction of the Leeds and Liverpool Canal the river course has been disused, as the Canal Company bought out the rights of navigation. The Douglas forms a great bend at Wigan, having come southerly from Rivington Pike, it now turns west and north to its confluence with the Ribble, above Southport. The Wigan coal field is one of the most important and productive in the kingdom. In addition to ordinary coal of excellent quality, a peculiar species—"cannel coal"—is found here, of great value from its highly inflammable nature. It is used principally for the manufacture of gas. There are upwards of eighty coal pits in the neighbourhood of Wigan; one of these, at Rose Bridge, is the deepest shaft in the kingdom. The various collieries are connected by branch lines with the railways mentioned above. The iron trade has latterly become a most important feature in the district. Very extensive furnaces, forges, rolling mills, &c. are now in full operation, affording employment to large numbers of hands. The proximity of Liverpool and the facilities for carriage naturally brought a portion of the cotton manufacture to Wigan, where it has flourished to a considerable extent, there being several mills of the largest size for spinning and the manufacture of calicoes, checks, &c. There are also iron and brass foundries and engineering works, manufactories for spades, shovels, edge tools, screw bolts, tarpaulins and brattice cloth, chemical works, oil distilleries, several large breweries, &c. The history of Wigan is not less interesting than that of many towns of greater size. There are evidences that it was a place of note before British history began. The Ancient Britons probably had one of their entrenched towns on the hill which has the Parish Church near its summit, for when the greater part of south Lancashire was marsh-land or forest, such an isolated elevation, commanding a view of the valley of the Douglas, would be likely to attract the notice of men whose small tribes were constantly quarrelling, and whose subsistence was the chase. When the Romans had completed their conquest of Britain, they made roads that passed through Wigan, but there is no reason to believe that there was a station of any importance here, or that the roads were other than vicinal ways. The main road from the north to Mancunium (Manchester), possibly passed down the Blackrod valley, the military station of Coccium being probably near that village; but the road that can be traced from Wigan northwards towards Ribchester, and south towards Warrington, was merely to connect this place with the main system of Roman military roads. The dome-shaped monticule between Whelley and the bed of the Douglas, though attributed as a military post to Cromwellian times, is more likely to have been a Roman post of observation. Roman coins have been found in Wigan, and more at Standish. The silent evidences of urn, coin, and earthwork are all of Roman domination that is left about Wigan, and but little of these. When the Romans were gone away the British had many struggles with the Saxons, and that hero of romance, King Arthur, is said to have won several battles in and about Wigan; but the sole authority for this statement is the following passage from "Nennius's History of the Britons":—"Then it was that the magnanimous Arthur, with all the kings and military force of Britain, fought against the Saxons, and though there were many more noble than himself, yet he was twelve times chosen their commander and was as often conquerer. * * * The second, third, fourth and fifth were on another river, by the Britons called Duglas (or Dubglas) in the region Linuis. * * * The eighth was near Gurnion Castle, where Arthur bore the image of the Holy Virgin Mother of God upon his shoulders, and through the power of our Lord Jesus Christ and the Holy Mary, put the Saxons to flight. * * * The twelfth was a most severe contest, when Arthur penetrated to the hill Badon. * * *" There are no two commentators of note who are agreed about where these places are. Some say Dubglas is our Douglas, others place it in Scotland. The time at which Nennius wrote is variously ascribed to the seventh and ninth centuries, while the manuscript used is not earlier than the tenth. The only one of the twelve battles elsewhere mentioned is the twelfth, by Gildas, but who Gildas was, no one knows, and he mentions not the name of Arthur, so that this period of the history of Wigan we must leave in darkness as we find it. We know nothing certain of Wigan in Saxon times, but the syllable "gate," in the nomenclature of streets, is understood to indicate a Saxon origin, and so we may be assured of its existence then, though it is not unlikely that in the later Saxon period it was almost entirely uninhabited, as it is never mentioned in the celebrated Domesday Book. One reason for this may be that is was, probably, an island amongst marshland and mere, and the Haigh side of the Douglas would be more likely to maintain a population. The origin of the name is said to be Saxon, Wigen or Wibiggin, but both are doubtful. After the Norman conquest, and when the Normans and Saxons were beginning to form one nation, Wigan emerged from obscurity, and Henry III. granted its first charter. He also made his secretary, John Monsell, rector of Wigan and lord of the manor, and the manorial rights remained with the rectors until the Corporation purchased them. In the 23rd of Edward III. Wigan sent two burgesses to Parliament; and though none were sent in the next reign, and there have been other intervals, yet it has since been the usual practice to return two burgesses for this purpose. The feeble reign of Edward II. was marked by trouble, and it would seem that the king passed this way more than once. Thomas Earl of Lancaster rebelled and was defeated at Borough bridge, and afterwards executed. Among those who aided him were Ricardus de Holand, Willielmus de Bradshaghe, and Robertus de Cliderhou, parson of Wygan. The last was examined before the king for sending his sons to the earl and preaching treason in the church. He was fined £200, which was an enormous sum in those days, and bespoke the value of the living and manor of Wigan. William of Bradshaghe (or Haigh) seems to have escaped arrest, possibly by keeping out of the way, and he was a knight of the shire in this and the succeeding reign. The payment for borough members was two shillings a day at this time, and six or eight days were allowed for the journey to Westminster. It was in these times that Lady Mabel Bradshaigh performed her penance of walking barefooted from Haigh to Mab's Cross, in Standishgate, for marrying while her lord was away crusading in Palestine. When John of Gaunt married Blanche of Lancaster, to her vast possessions he added many gifts from the king (Edward III.) his father. He obtained the title of duke, and about 1360, among other grants, he obtained the advowson of Wigan Church, and had it confirmed soon after. The county palatine—the earldom—and the Duchy of Lancaster passed through the line of Lancastrian kings, and Wigan would have its full share of the troubles in the Wars of the Roses. The earldom of Derby (West Derby), having become separate from the Duchy, the Stanley family became chiefs in this part of the county, and Sir Edward aided Lord Surrey at the battle of Flodden Field with bowmen and billmen from Wigan (A.D. 1513), as well as other parts of the county. In the changes that came after the Reformation a great decay of towns is mentioned, and in the act relating to this subject, in 1544, Wigan is enumerated among the suffering boroughs. In 1553 there was a general military muster of the whole realm, and the Hundred of Derby (West) produced the highest number of men in Lancashire—viz., 430, of which 52 were contributed by Wigan, and 67 by Prescot, In the reign of Queen Mary, the Protestants of Lancashire felt the force of persecution; and John Bradford, who was burnt in 1555, was a native of Manchester, and had preached in Wigan and the neighbouring towns. The chantry at the parish church was restored by this queen. Another military muster in the year 1574 gives 1090 men for West Derby. In this reign (Elizabeth's) Roman Catholics were persecuted for their assumed want of loyalty, and the laws against them were very severe, and in 1586 "the parson of Wigan" made a presentment of the names of priests concealed in the neighbourhood and of the persons who harboured them. Two years later we have an account of certain payments to officers of the Duchy of Lancaster, and among them figures £5 10s. as the fee of the "clerke and steward of Wigan," showing into whose pockets went the balance of the value of the rectory and manor. Coming to the time of the Stuarts we find that Orlando Bridgman, Esq., and Alexander Rigby, Esq., represented Wigan in the famous Long Parliament till they left it to attend to the king in the war. Wigan was held for Charles, and in 1642 James, Earl of Derby, marched from it to besiege Blackburn. In 1643 the Earl, who was strongly entrenched here, was driven out by Sir John Smeaton, and though there were some vicissitudes it was mostly held for the Parliament after. In 1646 a large number of persons were compelled to compound for their estates by the Parliament, and among them were the Gerards, of Ince and Bryn, Ralph Brown, of Aspull, and William Brown and William Tempest, of Wigan. The last two paid £20 and £7 respectively. The Duke of Hamilton quartered his troops here the night before Cromwell passed through and defeated him at Winwick, in 1648. Lord Derby was also defeated here at the battle of Wigan Lane, by Colonel Lilburne, August 25th, 1651, which prevented him carrying aid to Charles at Worcester, where he was finally defeated by Cromwell ten days after. Sir Thomas Tyldesley was killed in this battle (Wigan) and a monument was erected to his memory in 1689, which still stands on the scene of the conflict. Wigan sent members to some of Cromwell's Parliaments. We conclude this notice with the fact that the young pretender, Prince Charles Edward Stuart, passed through Wigan on his way to Derby in the ill-fated expedition in 1745. He slept at the Manor house, in Bishopgate, on the night of the 28th of November. The government of this ancient borough, all old charters being superseded, is now vested in a Corporation consisting of a Recorder, Mayor, ten Aldermen, thirty Councilmen, a Coroner and Town Clerk. For municipal purposes the borough is divided into five wards—viz. Scholes, Swinley, St. George's, All Saints, and Queen Street Wards. The present Mayor is Jas. Burrows, Esq. Neither the Reform Bill of 1832 nor that of 1867 has altered the number of members returned to Parliament; but the latter increased the number of electors from 900 to 4,400. The present members are Lord Lindsay and Thomas Knowles, Esquire, who were elected in February, 1874. The magistrates hold petty sessions in the new Court House in Rodney Street, every Monday and Wednesday, at ten o'clock; and the County Magistrates also hold petty sessions for the Wigan Division, in the same building, on Fridays, at eleven o'clock. There is also a court of quarter sessions, with a recorder as judge. The ancient and interesting Parish Church is a beautiful edifice dedicated to All Saints. With the exception of the tower, the edifice was almost entirely rebuilt several years ago. The interior is ornamented by several mural tablets to the memory of deceased parishioners. The living is a rectory, in the presentation of the Earl of Bradford. The other churches of the Establishment in the town are St. George's, a plain brick building in Church Street; St. Catherine's, Birkett Bank, is a beautiful edifice with spire; St. Thomas', Caroline Street, and St. James', Poolstock, are handsome modern edifices. There are three Roman Catholic Churches, and numerous other Independent, Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, and other chapels of Nonconformists, which will be found in the Directory. All the Episcopal and Catholic Churches and Nonconformists have day schools in connection. The other educational establishments will be found mentioned under their proper heads.

THE NEW INFIRMARY.—The suggestion to erect a building that should combine all the advantages of a hospital with those of the existing dispensary was first made at an annual meeting of the subscribers of the present institution, held in February, 1866, the necessity for such an establishment having long been felt. The Dispensary Committee, upon enquiry, found that there would be no difficulty in the way of disposing of the premises and land belonging to the Dispensary, and appropriating the proceeds to the funds of an Infirmary, should the consent of the trustees be obtained and the right proportion of the subscribers so determine. Consent was given, and it was decided to erect an institution as soon as all necessary arrangements were completed. The subscription list shows many very handsome donations, John Lancaster, Esq., M.P., and the Wigan Coal and Iron Company, Limited, giving £3,000 each. The workpeople of the above company gave nearly £3,000; the Earl of Crawford and Balcarres and the Misses Gidlow each £2,000; Lord Lindsay, £1,000; whilst many others gave sums of £500, £300, &c. The cornerstone was laid by the Earl of Crawford and Balcarres on the 26th December, 1870, and was opened by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. The buildings are arranged so as to front the main road from Wigan to Standish. The administrative offices and dispensary occupy the centre, right and left of which are wings for males and females, and in the rear of the offices is a two-storey pavilion for surgical or accidental cases. The ward accommodation is for 60 patients—45 males and 15 females. The buildings stand on land the most accessible and healthy in Wigan, the extent of which is 7 acres, 2 roods, 14 perches, and 30 yards, at a cost of £6,192 10s., less £300 returned as a donation by A. F. Haliburton, Esq., from whom one portion of the land was purchased. The tender (£13,032) of Mr. Joseph Wilson, of Wigan, for the building, &c., was accepted. Mr. Thos. Worthington, of Manchester, was the architect. The Union Workhouse has accommodation for 800 inmates. It is situate on the west side of the town, in Frog Lane, and was built in 1857. The Union includes the following places:—Abram, Ashton-in-Makerfield (or Ashton-le-Willows), Aspull, Billinge-Chapel-End, Billinge Higher End, Blackrod, Dalton, Haigh, Hindley, Ince-in-Makerfield, Orrell, Parbold, Shevington, Standish-with-Langtree, Upholland, Wigan, Winstanley, Worthington, and Wrightington. The County Court, which is held every fortnight, has jurisdiction over a district co-extensive with the Union. The Town Hall, King street, erected at a cost of over £17,000, contains the Borough Gaol, Police and Fire Engine Stations, Sessions Courts, and other public offices. In the same street are located the Liberal Club, the Theatre Royal, and the Public Hall. The latter building contains the Mechanics' Institute, Library and News-rooms, and two large rooms adapted for concerts, balls, or public meetings. The Arcade Building, King street, is a handsome pile in the domestic Gothic style of architecture, built for Richard Leigh, Esq. solicitor. The building is entirely faced with the best Yorkshire stone, richly relieved with carving and large columns of Shap granite, and contains the following accommodation:—An arcade of shops, the Manchester and County Bank, and several sets of fine offices. There are also buildings of recent erection which tend to ornament and improve the appearance of the town. The banking establishments in the town are the Manchester and Liverpool District Bank, the Manchester and County Bank, Parr's Banking Company, and the Savings Bank. There are two excellent newspapers published weekly (on Friday), The Wigan Observer and The Wigan Examiner, both having an excellent circulation in the town and district. The retail establishments are large, and will bear comparison with others in larger towns or cities; and the general trade of the town is in a highly flourishing state. The markets, held on Monday and Friday, are well attended, and plentifully supplied with all kinds of produce. At present the market is held in the street, but a new Market Hall is now (1876) in course of erection near the Market Place. Fairs are held on Holy Thursday, and the day before and after June 27th, October 28th, 29th, and 30th. The Wigan Union contained at the census of 1861, 94,561 inhabitants; and in 1871, 111,898. Acreage of the Union, 47,018. Valuation, £355,999. The population of the borough of Wigan, by the census of 1861, was 37,658; in 1871, 39,111. The valuation of the township of Wigan in 1871 was £90,716; acreage, 2,188.

ASHTON-IN-MAKERFIELD, or Ashton-le-Willows, is a township comprising the village of Ashton and the hamlets of Seneley Green, Downall Green, Ashton Heath, Sims Lane End, Park Lane, Lodge Lane, Edge Green and Brocstedes. There are two parishes in the township, one of which is a rectory in the gift of the Earl of Derby, and the other a vicarage in the gift of the rector of Ashton. The Right Honourable Baron Gerard, of Bryn, is lord of the manor, and owner of most of the land in the parish. Ashton is a name common to several places in the southern division of the county, as, Ashton-under-Lyne, Ashton-on-Mersey, and Ashton-on-Ribble, and they all belonged, at one time, to the family of Asshetons, who held domains extending over a large part of the country between the Ribble and Mersey, and to whom the Byrons of Rochdale, and other notable families, were vassals. The seat of the present lords of the manor is at Garswood, but were formerly known as the Gerards of Bryn. Haydock Lodge, a beautifully situated mansion, formerly the residence of the Legh family, is now occupied as a private asylum for the reception and recovery of insane patients. The system of treatment pursued at this establishment has been highly successful. The extensive grounds for the exercise and recreation of the patients are tastefully laid out. Ashton is on the old high road from Warrington to Wigan and the north, and is five miles from the latter and seven from the former town. The line of an old Roman road is nearly coincident with the present road, and is yet traceable in various parts of the township. Ashton has long been celebrated for the manufacture of wrought hinges, locks, door handles, files, &c., &c. A local board was established on the 13th June, 1872, and a waterworks is in contemplation. There are also many extensive collieries in the township, and a grammar school at Seneley Green, with an endowment of £43. The population in 1851 was 5,679, in 1861, 6,566, and in 1871, 7,463; females, 3,490; males, 3,973. Acreage, 6,349; valuation, £44,067.

POST OFFICE, James Roberts, postmaster. Letters from all parts arrive (from Newton-le-Willows) at 7 a.m. and 4.15 p.m., and are despatched at 9.25 a.m. and 7 p.m. Arrival on Sundays at 7 a.m., and are despatched at 10 a.m. Money Order, Telegraph, Office, and Post Office Savings' Bank.

ASPULL is a township having an area of 1,879 acres, and in 1861 its population was 4,290, in 1871, 6,390; valuation £20,354; acreage 1,905. It contains the village of Aspull, Aspull Moor, Dicconson Mill, and Pennington Green. Aspull Moor, as its name implies, was formerly an open common, but its limits are gradually being reduced by coal pits and buildings. The Wigan Coal & Iron Co., are the principal coal owners and have extensive workshops at New Springs, Messrs. William Woods & Son (Henry Woods, Esq., M.P.), have also cannel pits in the township. Branch lines of railway to the various collieries from the main lines intersect the township. Lord Kingsdown built a church at Pennington Green in 1859. A neat iron church has also been erected at New Springs, in the midst of an increasing population, and the Roman Catholics, Wesleyans, and Independents have also places of worship in the township.

POST OFFICE.—George Wall, postmaster. Money Order Office and Savings' Bank. Letters arrive (from Wigan) at 7.30 a.m., and are despatched at 6.30 p.m. on week-days, and 10.20 a.m. on Sundays.

BILLINGE—CHAPEL-END and BILLINGE HIGHER-END—are townships in the Wigan union. The former is about five miles from Wigan, and the same from St. Helens. In 1861 the population was 2,015, and in 1871, 1,961; the acreage, 1,161; and the valuation, £4,072.

BILLINGE—HIGHER-END is about three miles from Wigan, convenient to Orrell Station, on the Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway. The population in 1861 was 1,051; and in 1871, 1,267. Acreage, 1,571; valuation, £3,643. Sir Robert T. Gerard, Baronet, of Garswood, and Meyrick Bankes, Esq., of Winstanley Hall, own most of the land, the latter being lord of the manor. Bispham Hall, in Higher-End, is the residence of W. H. Brancker, Esq. The church is a plain, substantial building, the living being in the gift of the rector of Wigan. A bequest of John Eddleston, dating from 1672, partly supports a national school here. There is a Roman Catholic Chapel, dedicated to St. Mary, the foundation stone of which was laid in 1826, and opened on the 12th May, 1828. Sir William Gerard, Bart, contributed £1,000, and gave the site. The schools in connection were built in 1858, at a cost of £2,300. The coal mines are worked to a limited extent; nail making is also carried on, and the quarrying and working of excellent building stones gives employment to a portion of the population. Billinge is situated on elevated ground occupying the southern end of the ridge, of which Dalton is the northern, and there is here also a building on the highest point—Billinge Beacon—which like Ashurst Beacon, is used as a sea mark. The two beacons are about five miles distant from each other, and to the west of the ridge lies the plain that stretches from the Mersey to the Ribble, and over which vessels on the Irish Sea can be plainly distinguished. The nearer view from Billinge includes the extensive woods that surround Lathom House, the Knowsley woods, Bickerstaffe Church, and Ormskirk. Eastward the view includes Rivington Pike, Haigh Hall, Wigan, Leigh, Bowdon, and the hills of Derbyshire and North-East Lancashire, and on rare occasions the hills in Shropshire are seen across the Cheshire plain.

POST OFFICE, Billinge Chapel-End, Thomas Hampson, postmaster. Letters from Wigan arrive at 8.30 a.m., and are despatched thereto at 5.15 p.m. Money Order Office and Savings' Bank.

BLACKROD is a township and village in the union and county court district of Wigan, from which it is distant about five miles by road, and seven by the new railway route via Hindley and Dicconson Mill. It is over seven miles from Bolton, of which it forms a part of the parish, it has a church of which the living is in the gift of the vicar of Bolton. It is in the rural deanery of Bolton, the diocese of Manchester, and the hundred of Salford. It lies near the line of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway from Bolton to Preston. The Leeds and Liverpool Canal passes at a little distance to the north. In the township are numerous productive collieries, each connected with the main line of railway by branches. There is a grammar school, whose income of £266 includes an exhibition to Pembroke College, Cambridge. There are large charities, a school supported by the Earl of Crawford, and a national school. The church is dedicated to St. Catherine, and there is a Wesleyan Chapel. There is a fair held on the 12th of July. The line of a Roman road is traceable in the township, and there is every probability that here was a Roman station named Coccium in the Iter of Antonius, on the military road from Mancunium (Manchester) to the north. The population in 1861 was 3,214; and in 1871, 3,796. Valuation, £11,605. The area is 238 statute acres. Works have been recently established by a company for supplying the residents with gas. The land owners are the Earl of Crawford and Balcarres, Roger Leigh, Esq., and the Marquis de Rothwell.

POST OFFICE, James Saunders, postmaster. Letters from all parts arrive (from Chorley) at 8-30 a.m., and are despatched at 7-45 p.m. Money Order, Telegraph Office, and Savings Bank.

DALTON is an agricultural township, forming the most western portion of Wigan parish, and also of the Union. It is about six miles west by north from Wigan, and about the same east by north from Ormskirk. A new church, of which the Rev. Arthur Henry Webb, is vicar, has been recently erected here. The township contains Ashurst Hall, now a farm house, a portion of which dates from the first half of the 17th century, and also Ashurst Beacon, a building on the end of a ridge of considerable elevation, which serves as a mark to vessels on the Irish sea. From it the offscape includes the Welsh hills to Penmaenmawr, Blackcombe in Cumberland, and the hills of Derbyshire. The area is 2,104 acres; the valuation £2,739; the population in 1861 was 453, and in 1871, 497.

Letters received through Ormskirk and Wigan.

HAIGH, a township and village north by east of Wigan, is remarkable for the mines of cannel and the mineral of nearly equal value—King coal, which is obtained here, as well as other varieties of coal, the owner being the Earl of Crawford and Balcarres, and the Wigan Coal & Iron Company the principal workers. The Earl of Crawford has a seat here, Haigh Hall, which from its elevated situation is a conspicuous object for many miles. The extensive plantations around it reach into the borough of Wigan, and portions of them form a beautiful and favourite walk of the Wigan townspeople. The Haigh Foundry Company's Works, turn out castings of the heaviest kinds, and also bar iron, spades, picks, &c., which the trade of the district requires. The church was built by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, and is in the gift of the rector of Wigan. Population in 1861, 1,171; 1871, 1,201. Valuation, £10,596; area, 2,135 acres.

HINDLEY,

HINDLEY GREEN, PLATT BRIDGE, & LOW GREEN.

HINDLEY, a township and parish, has a station on the Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway, three miles from Wigan and seven from Bolton. It is in the deanery of Warrington, the archdeaconry of Liverpool, and the diocese of Chester, and south-west division of the county. It was formerly a single street, forming the road from Bolton to Wigan, but it has recently greatly extended in other directions. Extensive sanitary improvements are at present actively carried out by the Local Board of Health. It is stated that only four churches were consecrated in South Lancashire from 1660 to 1717, one of these being at Hindley. The present edifice (All Saints), however, dates from 1766, and there is a new church dedicated to St. Peter, erected in 1864. The registers date from 1689. The living is in the gift of the rector of Wigan. There are various congregations of Nonconformists, several of which have schools in connection. There are charities to the value of £85 distributed annually. There is a successful co-operative store, connected with which is a newsroom and library, and a commodious hall, used for public meetings, lectures, &c. There are several cotton mills and many collieries in the district. The Earl of Ellesmere, Sir Humphrey de Trafford, Roger Leigh, Esq., Messrs. Hargreaves, and J. Walmsley, Esq., are the chief landowners. The area is 2,611 acres; and the population in 1861 was 8,477; 1871, 10,627.

HINDLEY GREEN and PLATT BRIDGE are hamlets, each having a station on the Wigan and Tyldesley Railway. The former is about 1½ miles S.E., and the latter the same distance S.W. from Hindley.

LOW GREEN adjoins Platt Bridge.

ORRELL is a township and village three miles west from Wigan. It is in the South-Western division of the county, and the parish and union of Wigan. There is a school-church belonging to the Established church, and various Dissenting chapels. There was formerly a nunnery here, the grounds of which form gardens now much resorted to. Coal is found abundantly in the township. There is a cotton mill, and screw bolt and nailmaking is carried on here. There is a small charity distributed annually to the poor of Orrell, the interest of £100, left by James Thomason in 1730. The chief landowners are the successor of Lord Kingsdown and Meyrick Bankes, Esq. There is a station on the Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway from Manchester to Liverpool. The acreage is 1,618; valuation, £6,606. The population in 1861 was 2,932, and in 1871, 3,561.

FAR MOOR is a village in the township.

PEMBERTON.

PEMBERTON is a very extensive township west of and adjoining the borough of Wigan, from which it is separated by the River Douglas. It comprises the villages of Lamberhead Green, Newtown, Goose Green, Kitt Green, Worsley Mesnes, and Smithy Brook, the first of which is the most important, and is three miles from Wigan. It has a mechanics' institution, and shows other signs of intellectual activity. The church of St. John is a plain brick edifice; the living is a vicarage, in the presentation of the rector of Wigan. There are many schools in the township, also chapels belonging to various denominations. The Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway passes through the township, and there is a station. There are several collieries and stone quarries; at Newtown are cotton mills, oil, manure, and iron works. Though the township is very populous the supply of water is precarious, but one well at Lamberhead Green (Pingate) is noted for its excellent quality. Hawkley hall is an old timbered building, now used as a farmhouse. Pemberton is in the hundred of West Derby (with which now is co-extensive the south-western division of the county), the rural Deanery of Warrington, and the archdeaconry of Liverpool. The acreage, 2,894; valuation, £25,528; the population in 1861 was 6,870; and in 1871 10,374.

POST OFFICE, J. Taberner, postmaster. Letters arrive (from Wigan) at 7-30 a.m. and 4-45 p.m., and are despatched at 6-20 p.m. Money Order, Savings Bank, and Telegraph Office.

STANDISH.

STANDISH is a large township and parish in the hundred of Leyland and Northern division of Lancashire. The parish includes the townships of Standish-with-Langtree, Shevington, and Worthington. The village of Standish is three miles N.N.W. from Wigan. There is a church dating from the reign of Elizabeth, erected by Pastor Moodie, the first Protestant rector, who had been a Franciscan friar, and to whom a monument exists in the church. The living, which is a valuable one, is held by the Rev. Canon Brandreth, who resides at the rectory, near the village. Standish Hall, formerly the seat of the lords of the manor—the Standish family—is now in the occupation of Nathaniel Eckersley Esq., J.P. It is surrounded by a beautiful park and woods. Coal is worked throughout the parish. There is a paper mill, and the Wigan Waterworks are in the parish; also a Grammar school and a National school. Standish is a station on the Warrington and Preston railway. The population of the township in 1861 was 3,054, and in 1871, 3,698; the area, 2,364; valuation, £19,358. The old Roman road from Wigan northwards passes through, and a few Roman relics have been found here.

POST OFFICE, Money Order Office and Savings Bank, Robert Gillibrand, postmaster. Letters arrive (from Wigan) at 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Despatched at 6.15 p.m.

UPHOLLAND is a township, village, and ecclesiastical district in the parish of Wigan and Hundred of West Derby, four miles W. from Wigan. The church is dedicated to Thomas a-Becket, and dates from the 14th century. It was formerly attached to a priory of Benedictines. There are registers from A.D. 1600. There are chapels for Wesleyans and Primitive Methodists, and a meeting room for Latter Day Saints. The village is situated near the summit and centre of the ridge of which Billinge and Ashurst Beacons are the termini, and there is the same extensive view. Lord Skelmersdale is the Lord of the manor. Here is a grammar school dating from 1668. National schools are being built at Upholland, Roby Mill, and Holland Moor.

CRAWFORD VILLAGE and PIMBO LANE (with a railway station), ROBY MILL, HALL GREEN, TONTINE and HOLLAND MOOR hamlets, are in the township, which has the large area of 4,685 acres. Valuation, £15,609. Population in 1861, 3,463, and in 1871, 4,157.

POST OFFICE.—Thomas Hartley, receiver. Letters arrive (from Wigan), at 7.35 a.m. and 4.20 p.m., and are despatched at 5.45 p.m. Money Order Office and Savings' Bank.

WINSTANLEY township, which comprises an area of nearly three square miles, is surrounded by the townships of Orrell, Pemberton, Ashton and Billinge. It is mostly occupied by the fine park of Meyrick Bankes, Esq., whose residence, Winstanley Hall, is within it. There are coal pits in the eastern part of the township. There are neither places of worship, schools, or public houses within its boundaries, though access is easy to the neighbouring townships. The population in 1861, was 633, and in 1871, 602. Acreage, 1,859; valuation, £6,493.

CHADWICK GREEN is partly in this village and the neighbouring township of Billinge.

ALTRINCHAM.

BOWDON DUNHAM MASSEY, HALE, HALE BARNS, PEEL CAUSEWAY, RINGWAY.

ALTRINCHAM is a market town and chapelry in the parish of Bowdon and hundred of Bucklow, situated on the line of the South Junction Railway. The Duke of Bridgewater's Canal skirts the township at Broadheath, where there are extensive warehouses and coal wharfs. It is 8 miles S.S.W. from Manchester, 7 north from Knutsford, 30 N.E. from Chester, 11¼ from Warrington, 25 from Liverpool, 31¼ from Bolton, and 193¼ from London. The township comprises 657 acres, and contained, in 1851, a population of 4,488; in 1861, 6,628, and in 1871, 8,478—3,958 males and 4,520 females—thus showing an increase in twenty years of 3,990. When the census of 1871 was taken, we find the township of Altrincham contained 1,871 separate families, 1,686 inhabited houses, 90 uninhabited, and 21 building. The market is held on Tuesday, and the fairs April 29, August 5, and November 22, for cattle, toys, &c. Hamon de Massey, in the time of Edward I. granted many priveleges to the inhabitants of the town—amongst others, a guild mercatory, or Society of Free Traffic, with freedom from tolls throughout the barony, &c. A court leet is held by the Earl of Stamford and Warrington, who is lord of the manor; the chief officer is styled mayor, but does not exercise any magisterial functions. The market hall and town hall were erected in 1849 by the Earl of Stamford and Warrington. It is a handsome brick building with stone facings, and has a clock and bell turret. The assembly room measures 66ft. by 30ft. Petty sessions are held once a month; the commissioners of inland revenue meet at stated periods. Altrincham is included in the seventh circuit of towns, under the County Court Act, for the recovery of debts not exceeding £50. The Altrincham and Bowdon Literary Institution was established in 1847. The present handsome and commodious structure was erected in 1852 at a cost of £774. The library contains upwards of 1,600 volumes, and there is a spacious newsroom supplied with the leading provincial and London papers. Lloyd's hospital and dispensary was erected by public subscription in 1853, at a cost of £600—of which sum Mrs. Lloyd contributed £300, and at her death bequeathed £1,000 for its benefit. Dunham Park is the finest seat in the neighbourhood, but there are many handsome residences that border the town, chiefly occupied by Manchester merchants, the gardens of which display great taste. The labouring class are principally occupied in agriculture; and the many market gardens in the district supply the Manchester markets with a large amount of produce. St George's Church, erected in 1799 by subscription, is a plain brick building; the living is a perpetual curacy in the gift of the vicar of Bowdon, of the annual value of £150. St. John's Church, Ashley road, a handsome and commodious stone edifice, with tower and spire, was erected by public subscription in 1866, the site of which was given by the Earl of Stamford and Warrington. The other places of worship, with their ministers, will be found immediately following. A British school was erected near Ashley road in 1860, at a cost of £2,500, obtained by subscription; and there are schools for instructing the humbler classes of children, and several superior private schools and seminaries.

BOWDON is a township and parish, with the chapelries of Altrincham and Carrington. The township of Bowdon comprises an area of 828 acres, the population of which, in 1851, was 1,164; in 1861, 1827; and in 1871, 2,262, thus showing an increase in the last twenty years of 1,098. By the same census return (1871) we find that there were 398 inhabited houses, 21 uninhabited, 6 in course of erection, and 424 separate families. It is in the Altrincham Union, East Frodsham deanery, Chester archdeaconry, and hundred of Bucklow, situated on the river Bollin, and is a station on the Manchester South Junction and Altrincham line of railway, 9 miles from Manchester, and may now be considered a portion of the town of Altrincham. The Earl of Stamford and Warrington is lord of the manor and chief landowner. The soil is principally of a light sandy nature, well adapted to the growth of potatoes, which are cultivated very extensively in the district. Within the last few years numerous tasteful villas have been erected in the suburbs of the town, which are chiefly occupied by the merchants and wealthy tradesmen of Manchester. The parish church of St. Mary, seated on a considerable elevation, is in the perpendicular or third pointed period style of architecture. The old church, said to have existed prior to the Conquest, was partially razed in 1858, and the present one, which is considerably larger, erected. The portions of the late edifice which had been preserved have been restored, and the carved oak ceilings of the side aisles of the old building are retained. It consists of a nave, chancel, side aisles, transepts, and tower. In the church are several handsome monuments and tablets, principally to the Langhams, Booths, and Asshetons, members of the Stamford and Warrington family. The living is a vicarage in the gift of the Bishop of Chester. The tithes are commuted at £401 per annum. The fees amount to about £80, with residence, and 51 acres of glebe land. The Rev. Canon Gore, M.A., is the present vicar. The other places of worship will be found immediately following. A grammar school was founded here in 1600, and the school house was rebuilt in 1670, and again in 1806. The charities are numerous, several benefactors having left, by will, bread to be given away to the poor every Sunday for ever. Clothing is also distributed occasionally. The recipients are included in the several townships in the parish.

HALE is an agricultural township, in the parish of Bowdon, comprising an area of 3,679 acres, and a population in 1851 of 995; in 1861, 1,160; and in 1871, 1,711 inhabitants—viz., 811 males and 900 females; 359 separate families, 336 inhabited houses, and 17 uninhabited. The Earl of Stamford is lord of the manor. The township adjoins that of Altrincham. The hamlet of Hale Barns is 2 miles from Altrincham, 10 from Manchester, and 6 from Knutsford. Ringway is a hamlet, about 3 miles from Altrincham. Here is a chapel of ease, erected in 1720, by Lord Crewe. Lord Egerton is patron of the living, which is a perpetual curacy. The Rev. H. A. Hignett, M.A., is the present vicar. Peel Causeway is a station on the Cheshire Midland line of railway, about half a mile south-east from Bowdon.

DAVENHAM is a parish comprising the several townships of Leftwich, Davenham, Bostock, Moulton, Wharton, Newhall, Rudheath, Stanthorn, Shurlach, Shipbrook and Whatcroft, in the Northwich hundred, union, and county court district. The population of the parish in 1861 was, 6,855, and 1871, 7,612; acreage, 9,449. The village of Davenham is pleasantly situated about two miles south from Northwich on the high road to Middlewich, and four miles north from the latter town. The church of St. Wilfrid, a beautiful edifice surmounted by a lofty spire, has undergone considerable alteration, including new chancel and transepts, removal of the old galleries, and a thorough restoration of the interior, with a new organ, at a cost of upwards of £7,000, defrayed by the munificent rector, the Rev. Thomas France Hayhurst. The Independents and Wesleyans have each chapels in the township, and there is a National School for children of both sexes. A neat memorial (stone fountain), has been erected a short distance from the village to the memory of the late J. Hosken Harper, Esq. J.P. of Davenham Hall. The nearest railway station is at Hartford, on the London and North-Western line, 1½ miles distant, and the omnibus running between Northwich and Winsford passes through the village. The population of the township in 1861 was 518, and in 1871, 554.

FRODSHAM,

OVERTON, BRADLEY, NETHERTON, WOODHOUSES, AND FIVE CROSSES.

FRODSHAM (formerly a market town) is pleasantly situated on the banks of the river Weaver, and on the high road from Warrington to Chester, being about ten miles from each town, six from Runcorn, and 29 from Manchester, and on account of its far-famed hills, and the picturesque scenery has become a favourite resort of pleasure seekers. It is a first-class station on the Cheshire junction line of railway. A loop line has been constructed by the London and North-Western Company, to join their line over Runcorn Gap, which has brought it in direct communication with Liverpool and the populous districts of Widnes, St. Helens, &c. The parish of Frodsham includes the townships of Helsby, Manley, Newton-by-Frodsham, and the chapelries of Alvanley and Norley. Fairs are held on the last Tuesday in April, and the last Thursday in October. The population of the parish in 1861 was 6,050, and in 1871, 6,609. The river Weaver forms the north-eastern boundary, over which is a neat stone bridge, separating the township from that of Sutton. The bridge consists of three arches, each having a span of 70 feet. The Birkenhead, Lancashire and Cheshire junction railway crosses the river on a splendid viaduct. The main street is nearly a mile long. The Town Hall is in the main street, which is also used for Savings' Bank, Volunteer's Drill and Armoury Rooms and Overseer's Office. There are several good inns in the town, the principal being the Queen's Head, the Commercial, and the Bear's Paw. There are also several well-stocked drapery, ironmongery, grocery, &c., establishments. The parish church (dedicated to St. Lawrence) stands on a lofty eminence about half a mile from the town, in the village of Overton. It is an ancient edifice in the Norman style of architecture, and is built of red sand-stone. The tower contains an excellent peal of six bells. The living is a vicarage in the gift of Christ Church, Oxford; the Rev. W. C. Cotton is the present vicar. There are chapels each for Wesleyans, Primitive Methodists, and a Methodist Free Church. The Free Grammar School situated at Overton was rebuilt in 1824. The National Schools are in Church street, and there are several boarding and day schools in the town; and at Overton. From the summit of Overton hill, which is 400 feet in height, a splendid view of the surrounding country may be obtained. It has recently become a favourite summer resort for schools, pic-nic and other parties, for which every accommodation has been provided. Near the summit of the hill is a large refreshment room, gymnasiums, croquet lawn, bowling green, archery butts, and fields for rural sports, where a day's recreation and enjoyment of the beautiful scenery, exhilerating air, shaded and open walks, cannot fail to satisfy all who pay a visit to this charming locality.

Post Office, Main street—Miss Ann Lewis, postmistress. Letters from all parts arrive (from Preston Brook) at 7.15 a.m. and 4.10 p.m., and are despatched thereto at 7.25 a.m., 10.25 a.m. and 7.50 p.m. Sunday letters arrive at 7.15 a.m., and are despatched at 7.50 p.m. Money Order, Savings' Bank and Telegraph Office. KNUTSFORD.

KNUTSFORD is a parish comprising the townships of Bexton, Knutsford Inferior, Knutsford Superior, Ollerton, and Toft, in Altrincham Union and Bucklow Hundred, situated about 15 miles S. W. from Manchester, 24 N.E. from Chester, six N.E. from Northwich, 29 S.E. from Liverpool, and 172 from London, containing 4,832 acres. Knutsford Inferior (or Nether Knutsford), in the above parish is an ancient market town. The charter for holding a market on a Saturday, and three days fairs on the festivals of St. Peter and St. Paul, being procured about the year 1292. Saturday is still the market day, and the fairs are now held on the 23rd April; Whit-Tuesday, and the 8th November. The town, which consists of two principal streets and a few small ones branching off, has within the last few years greatly improved, and many handsome residences have been erected on the outskirts, which are occupied chiefly by the merchants, &c., from Manchester and districts. The Cheshire Midland Line of Railway, opened a few years ago by the Manchester, Sheffield & Lincolnshire, Great Northern and Midland Joint Co., has a station here which affords great facilities for railway communication with all parts of the kingdom, and will no doubt tend still further to increase and improve the town. Race meetings were formerly held here, but have been discontinued for the last two years. The County Gaol, situated near the railway, is a very extensive building, and contains the Sessions Hall, in which sessions are held on the first Tuesday in each month. A new Town Hall has been recently erected on a commanding site nearly opposite the county gaol; it is a handsome brick building in the Gothic style, and cost upwards of £9,000; the basement is fitted with stalls, and is used as a market hall; the upper portion contains two committee rooms, cloakrooms, and lavatories; there is also a large and commodious room suitable for concerts, balls, &c., which is well ventilated, and heated by a patent apparatus. The workhouse for the Altrincham Union is situated here. The town is well supplied with water, and the streets and shops are well lighted with gas. The parish church, dedicated to St. John the Baptist, is an extensive brick edifice, consisting of nave and side aisles, with tower, which contains a peal of six bells. There are also places of worship for Independents, Primitive and Wesleyan Methodists, Roman Catholics and Unitarians, several of which are handsome structures of recent erection. Here are a number of first-class boarding and day schools; also a Grammar School and the Parochial Schools. Parr's Banking Co. Limited and the Union Bank of Manchester have each a branch here. There is also a Savings' Bank and the Post Office Savings' Bank. Brick and tile making is extensively carried on here by the Knutsford Brick & Tile Co. Limited, and tanning by Mr. John Long. The establishments of the drapers, grocers, &c., are extensive and well stocked, and several of the hotels are large and commodious. The township contains 751 acres of land. The population in 1871 was 7,585. Knutsford Superior is a township adjoining that of Knutsford Inferior, also in the same parish, union and hundred. The church situated in the hamlet of Crosstown, is a handsome brick edifice, consisting of nave, side aisles and chancel, with a tower and spire. The Rev. R. T. Bradbury, M.A., is the present vicar. Here is a National school. Population in 1871, 206; acreage, 942.

TATTON is a township in the parish of Rostherne, two miles north of Knutsford, comprising an area of 1886 acres of land, and in 1871, 108 inhabitants. Tatton Hall, the residence of the Right Hon. Lord Egerton, of Tatton, is a noble mansion, delightfully situated in a park upwards of 10 miles in circumference, finely timbered, principally with oak. It contains 2,135 acres of land, and about 50 acres of water. The gardens and conservatories are very extensive, and contain a valuable collection of exotic plants. The mansion is a handsome structure of white freestone, from which a splendid and extensive view of the surrounding country may be obtained.

POST OFFICE, King street—John Hulme, postmaster. Letters from all parts are delivered at 7 a.m. and 3.15 p.m., and are despatched at 8.35 and 9.45 p.m. Money Order Office and Savings' Bank open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Telegraph Office open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., Sundays 8 to 10 a.m.

LOSTOCK GRALAM is a township and village situated on the high road between Knutsford and Northwich, five miles south-west from the former, and 2½ north-east from the latter. The township is in the parish of Great Budworth, Northwich union, hundred and county court district, and diocese of Chester. The church, erected in 1844, is a neat brick edifice, dedicated to St. John; the living is a perpetual curacy of the value of £120 per annum. The Rev. William Charles de Laney is the vicar. The living is under the patronage of the vicar of Witton. The Wesleyans have a place of worship in the township, and there are National schools for children of both sexes. The North Staffordshire Railway, and Canal Company's Canal pass through the township; also the Cheshire Lines Committee's Railway from Northwich to Manchester. The station is immediately adjoining the village. The district is principally agricultural, and there is a tannery and corn and bone mills in the village. Population in 1861, 467; 1871, 568; acreage, 1,706.

HULSE is a small township adjoining.

LYMM.

LYMM is a parish in the Altrincham Union and Bucklow hundred, situated on the Manchester, Warrington, Widnes, and Liverpool line of the London and North-Western Railway, about six miles W. from Altrincham, five S.E. from Warrington, seven N.W. from Knutsford, and 13½ S.W. from Manchester. Here are two railway stations—Lymm, and Heatley for Warburton. The Bridgewater canal passes through the township. The church is dedicated to the Virgin Mary, and is a handsome structure of stone, in the early decorated style of architecture, consisting of nave, side aisles, chancel, transept and tower. The living is a rectory; the Rev. Thomas Redhead Branfoot, M.A. is the present rector. Here is a grammar school, endowed in 1608, by Sir George Warburton and William Domville. There are also parochial schools. The affairs of the parish are managed by a local board. The population in 1861 was 3,769, and in 1871 4,541, and contains 4,849 acres of land.

HEATLEY, STATHAM, and OUGHTRINGTON are hamlets in this parish. At the latter a new church has been recently erected.

AGDEN is a township partly in Bowdon, and partly in Rostherne parish, Altrincham union. and Bucklow hundred, about four miles from Altrincham, and two miles from Lymm. Population in 1871, 109. Letters through Lymm.

POST OFFICE, Eagle brow, James Henshall, postmaster. Letters (through Warrington) arrive at 7.45 a.m. and 2.30 p.m., and are despatched at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. On Sundays despatched at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. Money Order, Telegraph Office and Savings' Bank.

MIDDLEWICH,

NEWTON, KINDERTON-CUM-HUME, SPROSTON.

MIDDLEWICH is a parish comprising the townships of Byley-cum-Yatehouse, Clive, Croxton, Kinderton-cum-Hulme, Moresbarrow-cum-Parme, Newton, Occleston, Ravenscroft, Sproston, Stublach, Sutton, Weaver, Wimboldsby, and Minshull Vernon. Middlewich is a very ancient market town, six miles south-east from Northwich, 21 east from Chester, 167 from London, and three from Winsford. In the immediate neighbourhood are several salt springs, with salt works adjacent. The name of the town is derived from its central situation in respect to the "Wiches," or salt-producing towns. The parish church, dedicated to St. Michael and All-Angels, is an ancient Gothic structure, with tower, containing a peal of six bells. The living, a vicarage of the annual value of £300, is held by the Rev. Henry Goodwin, M.A. There are places of worship for Independents, Methodists, Society of Friends, and Roman Catholics. The national schools in Lewin street are well attended by children of both sexes. The Town Hall and Market House is a neat building near the parish church, the lower part is devoted to market purposes, and the upper portion is used as a library, reading-room, and also for the holding of petty sessions. The market is held on Tuesday, and there are fairs on the last Tuesday in February, April and October. Middlewich is a station on the London & North-Western Railway branch from Northwich to Sandbach. The North Staffordshire Railway Company's Canal passes through the town. The sanitary and other local affairs of the town and suburbs are regulated by a Local Board, the population of the district under their superintendence, including Middlewich and parts of Kinderton and Newton, was, in 1871, 3,150: in Middlewich township alone, the population in 1861 was 1,203, and in 1871, 1,283.

NEWTON is a township forming a suburb of and in the parish of Middlewich to the south, here is the Middlewich cemetery, the two beautiful chapels in this pleasant burial place, are admirable specimens of Gothic architecture.

KINDERTON-CUM-HULME is a township in the parish of Middlewich, and forms a suburb on the eastern side of the town. The railway station and gas works are in this township. Population in 1861, 477, in 1871, 485. Acreage, 1,637. Letters through Middlewich.

SPROSTON is an agricultural township in the parish of Middlewich, two miles east from that town, containing a population in 1861 of 163, and in 1871. 158 inhabitants, and 846 acres. Letters through Middlewich.

POST OFFICE, Hightown, Middlewich, George Buckley, postmaster. Letters arrive at 7 a.m. and 3.30 p.m.; despatched at 10 a.m. and 10 p.m. Money Order, Telegraph Office, and Savings' Bank.

NORTHWICH,

CASTLE NORTHWICH, LEFTWICH, ANDERTON, MARSTON, WINCHAM, WITTON, WINNINGTON.

NORTHWICH, an excellent market town, and one of the principal seats of the salt trade, is in the parish of Great Budworth, hundred, union, and county court district to which it gives its name, is pleasantly situated on the banks of the rivers Weaver and Dane, 34½ miles from Liverpool (by rail), 18 from Manchester (22 by road), 18 north-east from Chester, 174 from London, 2½ from Hartford station, on the Liverpool and Birmingham section of the London and North-Western Railway, three from Weaverham, six from Middlewich, and the same distance from Winsford. The town and district has been noted for its salt springs from a very early date. Hellah, or Hellah-Du, or the Black Salt town, being the name given to it by the ancient Britons, and it is tolerably certain that the Romans, prior to the Christian era, had discovered what has since become an enormous source of wealth and prosperity to this locality. The principal works for the production of white salt, and the rock salt mines, are in the town and townships, within a radius of two miles. Many of the salt works are conveniently situated on the banks of the river Weaver, and the North Staffordshire Railway Company's Canal. Vessels are thus enabled to receive their cargoes at the various works for conveyance to Liverpool, Runcorn, and other parts of the kingdom. A branch line of railway from near the Northwich station to the mines and works at Witton, Marston, and Wincham, is also a valuable means of transit for the enormous tonnage of the various kinds of salt annually produced. For the information of the stranger it may be stated that the mines produce rock salt, which is brought to the surface in lumps, and in some cases afterwards pulverised by machinery. The white (or common salt) is produced by evaporation from brine pumped from pits, at depths of about thirty yards from the bed of the river. The brine, or salt water, is supposed to be formed by fresh water flowing into extensive beds of rock salt. The process employed in the salt manufacture is very simple, the brine being conveyed from the pits in pipes to a reservoir, thence to the shallow iron salt pans, which are vessels of from 40 to 100 feet in length, and 10 to 30 feet wide, and 1½ feet in depth, thus exposing a wide surface for evaporating purposes. The heat is supplied by furnaces under each pan. In manufacturing stoved or lump salt the pan is required to be brought to boiling heat, 225 degrees Fahrenheit, which causes the evaporation to proceed quickly, the murate of soda thus produced falling to the bottom of the pan immediately on formation; the furnaces are then slackened, the salt drawn to the side of the pan and placed in oblong wooden tubs to drain, and afterwards to the stove or drying house. The large-grained salt used for fish-curing purposes is produced in a much slower manner at 100 degrees, and the coarse-grained salt at 130 Fahrenheit. Rock salt was first discovered in the adjoining township of Marbury, about 1670. In addition to the enormous production for home consumption, it is largely exported from the ports of Liverpool, Runcorn, Hull, and Grimsby. Considerable improvements in the navigation of the river Weaver have been made, and are still being carried on by the trustees at various points, and steam has of late years been used in towing and propelling the numerous vessels employed in the trade of the district, on the river, which has effected a considerable saving of time in the voyage to Liverpool, &c. There are several yards here for the building and repairing of vessels, an iron foundry, two leather manufactories, and brick and tile making is extensively carried on in the neighbourhood. The general trade of the town is in a flourishing state; the market held on Friday being exceedingly well attended by the surrounding agriculturalists, and the corn, &c., merchants of Liverpool, Manchester, and other places. The retail establishments are large and well stocked, and the sanitary and other affairs of the town are superintended by the Local Board of Northwich. Railway communication is afforded by the Cheshire Lines Committee and the London and North-Western Railway. The station is in Witton, about half a mile from the centre of the town. Omnibuses for Winsford meet several trains daily. Northwich is the head quarters of the 22nd Cheshire Volunteers. The drill shed in Leftwich is admirably adapted for the purpose, and is also used for public meetings, horticultural exhibitions, &c. The actual township of Northwich is small, containing by the last census, on the 2nd April, 1871, 231 houses, of which 15 were uninhabited, and a population of 1,214, showing an increase of 27 during the previous ten years. To arrive at the population of the town of Northwich it will be necessary to include those of the inhabitants residing in the adjoining townships of Witton, Leftwich, Winnington, and Castle Northwich, which form suburbs or parts of the town itself, which, by the census of 1871, numbered 9,248, as follows:—In the ecclesiastical district of Witton, 6,860; of St. Paul's, Dane Bridge (including part of Northwich), 2,388.

WITTON, or Witton-cum-Twambrooks, is a populous township in the union and county court district, and an important suburb of Northwich, on the eastern side. In this township are the Northwich Post Office, Railway Station, Provident Dispensary, several salt works, and rock salt mines, brick and draining pipe works, two breweries, and the waterworks. Witton Church, dedicated to St. Helen, is a noble specimen of ecclesiastical architecture, in the early English style. The church contains nave, chancel, north and south aisles, with a magnificent oak roof, with ornamental panels, and tower containing a peal of six bells and a clock. The living, a perpetual curacy, is of the annual value of £230, with residence. There are National schools for children of both sexes. The members of the Methodist Free Church and the Primitive Methodists have each chapels here, and the Wesleyans have a school in Leicester street, which was established in 1787. The Roman Catholics have a neat well-built chapel in Witton street, to which schools have been added. The Witton Grammar School, near the church, was founded and endowed by Sir John Dean, in 1588. The school estates now produce upwards of £400 per annum. Population in 1861, 3,677; in 1871, 4,229; acreage, 588.

LEFTWICH is a township in the parish of Davenham, union and county court district of Northwich, of which town it forms a suburb, on the south side. The church of St. Paul, Dane Bridge, of which the Rev. D. Waller, M.A., is vicar, is a beautiful edifice in the early English style. The living is a perpetual curacy of the annual value of £160, with residence in the township of Castle Northwich. The Wesleyans have a large chapel here, with residence for the circuit minister. There are National and infants' schools for children of both sexes. The Cheshire Lines Railway to Helsby and Chester is carried over the township by a viaduct of numerous lofty arches. In the township are extensive manufactories of leather, of a light description; also an iron foundry, salt works, saw mills, and the Northwich Union Workhouse. Population in 1861, 2,625; in 1871, 2,749; acreage, 972.

CASTLE NORTHWICH, a suburb of Northwich, is a township in the parish of Great Budworth. The name of this township is derived from a castle which stood here, of which nothing now remains. The offices of the trustees of the Weaver Navigation are in Navigation road; also a school, established and supported by them, for children of both sexes. The same corporation also erected, in 1852, a church dedicated to St. Paul, which stands on an eminence overlooking the Weaver valley. The Independents and Primitive Methodists have places of worship here. The township is in the union and county court district of Northwich, and contained, by the census of 1861, 1,395, and in 1871, 1,648 inhabitants. The area is 100 acres.

WINNINGTON township, a portion of which forms a suburb of Northwich, is in Great Budworth parish, union and county court district of Northwich. There are several extensive salt works on the banks of the Weaver, about a mile from the town bridge. Lord Stanley of Alderley is lord of the manor. Population in 1861, 458; 1871, 529. Acreage, 597.

ANDERTON, two miles from Northwich, is a township in the parish of Great Budworth, union and county court district of Northwich, containing extensive salt works on the banks of the river Weaver. The Anderton Carrying Company, and Traders North Staffordshire Carrying Company, have extensive warehouses here, for the transhipment of goods and minerals from the vessels in the river to "narrow boats," on the North Staffordshire Railway Company's Canal, which passes through the township. The level of the river being considerably lower than the canal, the transhipment is effected by wagons drawn up an inclined plane by steam power. Population of the township in 1861, 332; 1871, 281; showing a decrease of 51 in the ten years. Acreage, 481.

MARSTON, two miles from Northwich, is also a township, in the parish of Great Budworth, union and county court district of Northwich. Here are very extensive rock salt mines and salt works. The Great Marston mine was sunk about a century ago to a depth of 60 yards, since which the present bed was discovered at a depth of 112 yards. The Royal Society of England, and the late Emperor Nicholas of Russia, paid a visit to this mine in 1844, the mine being illuminated with dazzling effect, and the illustrious guest entertained at a grand banquet served in the mine. There is a branch line of railway from near the Northwich station to the various mines and works, and the North Staffordshire Canal passes through the township, completing a system of transit for the thousands of tons of all kinds of salt annually produced here. There is also a forge for the manufacture of bar iron, plates, &c. The population in 1861 was 745, and in 1871, 763; acreage, 1,045.

WINCHAM is a township two miles from Northwich, in the parish of Great Budworth, Northwich union and county court district. Here also are extensive salt works and rock salt mines, the North Staffordshire Canal and a branch line of railway affording transit for their productions. There is a boiler and salt pan works in the township, and a National school. Population in 1861, 642; 1871, 911; acreage, 941.

POST OFFICE, Witton street, Northwich, Robert Banks, postmaster. Telegraph, Money Order, and Savings' Bank Office. Letters are delivered at 7 a.m. and 1.45 p.m. Despatches (box closes) at 10.20 a.m. and 9 p.m. Messengers on foot are despatched at 6.30 a.m., to the sub-offices of Arley, Weaverham, Davenham, Great Budworth, Higher Whitley and Whitegate, returning in time for the evening despatch. Letters are collected in time for the morning and evening despatches, from the pillar letter boxes, placed in High street, near the town bridge, Northwich; in Leftwich, near the railway arch, and receiving office at Castle Northwich. The sub-office, Marston, and letter box at the Canal bridge, Wincham, are cleared in the evening. Letters for Wincham are sent through Knutsford, unless the parties have a private box at Northwich post office.

RUNCORN.

RUNCORN is a parish, township, port and market town, and the principal of the Union to which it gives its name, in the hundred of Bucklow and diocese of Chester. The parish comprises 19 townships, and 18,906 acres. The population within the registration sub-districts in 1861, was 13,590; and in 2871, 16,446. The Union comprises 37 townships, and contained in 1861, 26,792 inhabitants; and in 1871, 30,656. The town and port is situated about 18 miles south-east from Liverpool, 15 north-east from Chester, nine south-west from Warrington, and about six north from Frodsham, on the southern shore of the river Mersey, at the point where the Bridgewater Canal and the Old Quay Navigation unite with that river. The Bridgewater Docks accommodate a large number of vessels, and the entrance from the Mersey is through a gateway fifty feet in width, which is also the width of the opening into the Alfred Dock. The new Fenton Dock, now in course of construction, will add considerably to the existing dock for vessels frequenting the port. There is every adaptation for a large amount of traffic; but the more modern appliances are found at the newer portion of the works, where steam and hydraulic cranes are in regular use, and by their rapid and easy movements greatly facilitate the despatch of ships, and the smaller craft which ply on the canals into the interior of the country. The various British products which occupy the quays and warehouses are used in numerous branches of manufacture, and a considerable extent of foreign merchandise is imported and exported. The docks are linked with the railway systems of the kingdom, by a branch line belonging to the London and North-Western Railway Co. The Bridgewater Navigation Co. Limited maintain a fleet of powerful steamers for towing vessels between Runcorn and Liverpool, those having cargoes being towed free of charge, and no dock charges are made on vessels with cargoes using the basins and docks for the purpose of trade, unless they remain longer than 21 days. The Port is especially eligible for all purposes of traffic in connection with the manufacturing districts of Lancashire, Yorkshire, Derbyshire, the Staffordshire Potteries, and iron districts of Wolverhampton, Birmingham, &c., and the inland towns of the Northern and Midland Counties of England. The Lancashire coal fields and the Cheshire salt works, together with the usual exports of manufacturing towns, afford ready means for ships procuring outward cargoes. Direct and economical communication exists by railway and water with all these districts, by which goods are speedily conveyed to or from any part of the kingdom. The Bridgewater Canal is connected with the docks and the river Mersey by means of two lines of locks, one of which was constructed by the celebrated engineer, James Brindley, who also constructed the canal for the late Duke of Bridgewater, and besides these, a new cut, designated the "Runcorn and Weston Canal," was opened in 1860, which constitutes a junction of this navigation with the docks and the river Weaver navigation in the township of Weston. The new Fenton dock will also be connected with the Weston Canal by means of a lock. The Old Quay Navigation from Manchester joins the river Mersey at this place, and has commodious docks, where extensive business is carried on, and which further tends to make Runcorn an important position as connecting the inland mercantile interests with the sea. The Port has a bonded warehouse at the docks for the storage of goods until the duty is paid at the Custom House, and for the convenience of vessels sailing to foreign ports being supplied with necessary stores. In the town are several large shipbuilding yards, roperies, ship chandlery establishments, soaperies, tanneries, chemical works, &c. The Runcorn and Weston stone quarries are much noted, the stone being used in most erections of importance in Cheshire, Lancashire, and adjoining counties. The Town Hall, in Bridge street, is a neat building, and contains the police station and Bridewell, the County Court, and Petty Sessions Court. The offices of the Runcorn Improvement Commissioners adjoin the Town Hall. The Public Hall in Public Hall street, is a handsome stone building erected by a Limited Company, and is let for concerts, theatrical performances, &c.; it contains the office of the Water Works Co. The parish church, dedicated to All Saints, is a handsome edifice in the early English style of architecture, erected in 1849 on the site of the old one. It consists of nave, chancel, north and south aisles, and transept, with tower and spire, and a peal of eight bells. The Rev. Canon Barclay, M.A., is the present vicar. Holy Trinity Church, in Trinity street, is a handsome Gothic structure with tower and one bell. It was erected by subscription and a grant from the Church Building Society in 1838. The Rev. William Preston, M.A., is the present vicar. St. Peter's Mission Church, the Docks, and the Mariners' Church, Irwell lane, are small neat edifices, and are chiefly attended by mariners. The Rev. J. W. Davis officiates at the former, and ministers from Holy Trinity at the latter. The Wesleyans have handsome chapels here, two of them having cost upwards of £20,000, and chiefly at the expense of T. Hazlehurst, Esq. The chapel in High street (St. Paul's) is perhaps the finest edifice in the kingdom belonging to the Wesleyan Connexion. It is in the Italian style of architecture, and calculated to seat about 1,300 persons. A list of the other places of worship will be found in the directory for Runcorn. Most of the places of worship have schools in connection, and there are several first-class boarding and day schools in the town. The market is held on Friday, and fairs on the last Friday in April, and the last Friday in October.

Parr's Banking Company Limited and The Midland Banking Co. Limited have branch offices here, and there is a Savings Bank and Post Office Savings Bank in the town.

WESTON is a township and village in the parish of Runcorn, situated about two miles S.E. from that town, and about three N.N.W. from Frodsham. Here are very extensive stone quarries, and the works of the Runcorn Soap & Alkali Company Limited, which give employment to a large portion of the population. Works have also been recently started for the manufacture of malleable iron. There is a Mission Church, dedicated to St. John the Evangelist; also a Wesleyan Chapel, and National and Wesleyan Schools.

WESTON POINT, a hamlet in this township, is situated about a mile from Weston, at the conjunction of the Rivers Mersey and Weaver. The trustees of the Weaver Navigation have docks here available for vessels drawing up to 16ft of water. The imports, foreign and coasting, during the year 1875 were 35,630 tons, and the exports 94,898. The discharge of cargoes and loading is rapidly effected by hydraulic cranes. Here is Christ Church, a handsome Gothic structure, with tower and spire, a Wesleyan chapel and National school; the church and school were erected and are supported by the trustees just named. Population of the township in 1861, 965; in 1871, 1,361.

POST OFFICE, Weston Point, Geo. Ashley, postmaster. Letters arrive (from Runcorn) at 9 a.m., and are despatched thereto at 6.30 p.m. Money Order and Telegraph Office, and Savings' Bank.

WHITEGATE is a parish comprising the township of Darnhall, and parts of Over and Weaverham. The parish church of St. Mary is situated 4½ miles S.W. from Northwich, on the west bank of the river Weaver. The living, of the annual value of £230, is held by the Rev. George E. Hignett, M.A. In this parish is Vale Royal, the ancient seat of the Lords of Delamere. The mansion was erected on the site of an abbey of Cisterian Monks, which was originally established and endowed by Edward I., with the manors of Over, Darnhall, and Weaverham, over which Abbots had peculiar powers, including the punishment of death for certain offences.

MARTON is an agricultural township in the parish of Whitegate, hundred of Eddisbury, Northwich Union, and county court district, five miles S.W. from Northwich. The branch line of railway from Winsford to Northwich passes through the township. The station is at Whitegate.

POST OFFICE, Whitegate (for Marton)—John Briscall, postmaster. Letters arrive from Northwich at 9 a.m., and are despatched at 5 p.m. Nearest Money Order Office is at Winsford.

WINSFORD.

WINSFORD is a market town, noted for its extensive salt works, situated on the banks of the river Weaver, six miles south from Northwich, and three miles north-west from Middlewich. The town of Winsford is situated in portions of the townships of Wharton and Over, on both banks of the river Weaver, which is here crossed by a bridge, previous to the construction of which there was a ford or ferry, originally, it is said, kept by a person named "Winn;" hence the name of Winsford, which it retains to the present day. The salt works extend upwards of a mile, on both banks of the river, and are very extensive. The brine is found at depths of from 12 to 60 yards, and is considered of excellent quality, producing 52 ounces of salt from the gallon. There are also rock-salt mines, the products of which are exported to the continent in large quantities. The river Weaver supplies a direct water communication with Liverpool and Runcorn. Many of the vessels employed are propelled by steam, and accomplish the journey to Liverpool in about 8½ hours The London and North-Western railway passes through the township of Wharton, and is connected with several of the works by branch lines, thus completing a system of transit for the enormous amount of salt annually produced for home consumption and export to various parts of the world. There are public and private yards for building and repairing the numerous vessels employed in the trade of the district; also an ironfoundry, corn mill, Market Hall, several good inns, a manufactory of artificial manure, and numerous respectable retail establishments. Sail and tent making is also carried on here to some extent. A branch of the Cheshire Lines Committee's Railway connects the town with their main line from Northwich to Helsby, and there is a station on the London & North-Western line, about a mile from Winsford bridge. The market is held on Saturday.

OVER is a parish, township, and small market town. The parish comprises part of the township of Over, the townships of Oulton and Whittenhall, containing an area of 7,469 acres. The township of Over is partly in the parish of its name, and partly in that of Whitegate, union and county court district of Northwich, first division of the hundred of Eddisbury, situated on the west bank of the river Weaver, 4½ miles west from Middlewich, seven south from Northwich, and 15 east from Chester. The township contained a population of 3,774 inhabitants by the census of 1861; and in 1871, 5,020; showing an increase of 1,246 in the ten years. As far back as the year 1280 King Edward granted a charter for holding the market here, it having been created a borough from a very early date, and still retains the privilege of electing a mayor, who, during his year of office, exercises the full powers of justice of the peace, and sits as magistrate at the quarter sessions. The borough includes the townships of Over, Marton, and Swanlow. The ancient parish church, dedicated to St. Chad, is situated about a mile from the town. The living, a vicarage, is in the patronage of the Bishop of Chester. The present vicar is the Rev. Nathan Jackson, M.A. A separate ecclesiastical district having been formed of a portion of Over, a church was erected in 1863, as a memorial to Sarah, the wife of Lord Delamere, who gave the site and erected the church principally at his own cost. Christ Church was erected near the river, in 1844, by the trustees of the Weaver navigation, for the benefit of the watermen. It is a beautiful stone edifice, in the early English style, with tower and spire. The living is a perpetual curacy, and is held by the Rev. E. Nixon, M.A. There are National schools for children of both sexes. The Congregational Chapel is a beautiful building, with Sunday school attached. The various bodies of Methodists have also places of worship here. A large cotton spinning mill, erected in the township in 1870, employing upwards of 500 hands, and which added much to the prosperity of the neighbourhood, was recently burned down, but is now in course of erection on a more extensive scale. Cattle fairs are held on the 15th May and 25th September. Lord Delamere is lord of the manor.

WHARTON is a township in Davenham parish, in the Northwich union, and county court district, six miles south of Northwich, and three from Middlewich. The river Weaver ceases to be navigable at this place. The church is a handsome edifice, with tower. The living, a perpetual curacy, is held by the Rev. T. Davies. The several sects of Methodists have chapels here, and there are national and infant schools for children of both sexes. Population 1861, 2,234; 1871, 2,595; acreage, 1,224.

POST OFFICE, Over lane, Winsford, Thomas K. Crosbie, postmaster. Letters arrive at 7 a.m., and at 1.30 p.m.; despatched to the North, 10.28 a.m., to the South 12.10 noon, and to all parts at 10 p.m. Money Order and Telegraph Office and Savings' Bank.

POST OFFICE, Over, James Court, postmaster. Letters arrive from Winsford at 7 a.m., and are despatched thereto at 5.55 p.m. Nearest Money Order and Telegraph Office at Winsford.

Register Office for Families and Servants,

ESTABLISHED 1864.

MRS. M. A. PATTERSON

40, DARLINGTON STREET, WIGAN.

ALL CHURCHES, CHAPELS, SCHOOLS, AND PUBLIC BUILDINGS,

CAN BE THOROUGHLY WARMED AND VENTILATED WITH LITTLE FUEL BY

THE PATENT

CONVOLUTED STOVE

EFFICIENCY IN ALL CASES GUARANTEED.

"The radiating surface and heating power of the PATENT CONVOLUTED STOVE are as much greater than those of the old-fashioned 'Cockle' as the steam-generating power of the multitubular is to that of the old waggon-shaped boiler."

It is by far the most powerful, efficient, and economical air-warmer now in use.

THE NEW ROYAL EXCHANGE AND THE FREE TRADE HALL, MANCHESTER.

The warming of the immence area of the new Royal Exchange, Manchester, was a problem which caused considerable anxiety to all concerned, and in fact by many was pronounced impracticable; but two large Convoluted Stoves fixed in the basement answer the purpose most effectually, and with less labour and consumption of fuel than are required for many small churches under the old system.

In the same manner, the large room of the Free Trade Hall (one of the largest in the country) is most effectually warmed by one stove in the basement, the second stove being seldom required.

In each of the above cases Mr. Constantine is kindly allowed to refer inquirers.

Free Trade Hall, Manchester, 26th March, 1874.

MR. J. CONSTANTINE, Oxford-street.

Dear Sir,—For the last six years we have had our Large Room in this Hall heated by your Patent Convoluted Stoves. I think it only due to you to state that they have been a complete success therein. They are easily lighted, warm the large room speedily and well, with very little expense of fuel, which is coke from the gas works. Wishing you success, I am, dear sir, yours very respectfully,

SMITH P. ROBINSON, SECRETARY.

REV. CANON BIRCH, M.A., writes as follows:—

The Vicarage, Blackburn, March 24th, 1874.

The Warming Apparatus you put into Blackburn Parish Church five years ago is, in my opinion, everything that could be desired for (1) Moderate cost of erection; (2) Efficiency; (3) Economical consumption of fuel; (4) Facility of management, having only to be attended to two or three times in the twenty-four hours; (5) Durability, wanting no repairs, and never out of order.

EDWARD BIRCH, VICAR OF BLACKBURN.

Estimates given for warming Cathedrals, Churches, Chapels, Schools, Town Halls, Hotels, Mansions, Halls, Cottages, Laundries, Workhouses, Turkish Baths, Manufactories, Warehouses, Drying Rooms, Shops, Offices, Workshops, &c., on plans being forwarded showing the area to be warmed and situation of apparatus chamber. All communications will receive prompt attention.

This Company having been established more than sixty years, ample time has elapsed to prove the soundness of the principles on which it has been conducted. During that period its operations have attained great magnitude, and it has enjoyed much prosperity.

The Capital of the Company is One Million Two Hundred Thousand Pounds; of this Capital the sum of One Hundred and Thirty-eight Thousand Pounds is already invested in Government or real Securities, and is applicable to the immediate purposes of the Institution. The remainder is guaranteed under a Deed of Settlement, by a most numerous and respectable Proprietary. Thus the stability of the Company, and the means of fulfilling its engagements, are, on the one hand, placed beyond the reach of any calculable human hazard; and, on the other, persons making Assurances do not incur responsibility, as in the case of Contribution Societies.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

The Accumulated Premiums amount to more than £1,850,000.
The Annual Income exceeds £190,000.

Bonuses have been declared on some Policies to an amount greater than the sum originally assured.

Premiums have been extinguished where the parties assured have applied the Bonus in reduction of the Annual Premium.

The Valuation up to Christmas, 1874, has been made. It is the Ninth Bonus declared by the Company; the first being up to Christmas, 1823. The total surplus divided amongst the assured up to the present time, amounts to the sum of £1,411,447 in actual money, and is represented by a still larger reversionary sum payable at death.

Annual Premium to Assure the Sum of £100 for the Whole Life in Great Britain.

BALL'S PATENT

UNIQUE GAS FIRE.

A COMPLETE SUBSTITUTE FOR COAL WITHOUT SMOKE, DUST, SOOT, OR ASHES.

Applicable to all ordinary fire grates and coal stoves without their being altered.

It is very similar in appearance to a coal fire well burned up. It gives out intense heat and emits neither sparks, dust, or injurious vapours.

The warmth of rooms can be regulated to any degree, and remain so night and day without any attention being paid to the fire.

The fuel is indestructible, and will last for many years.

THE TRADE SUPPLIED.

Extract from "LIVERPOOL COURIER" December 5th, 1873.

"The public will be glad to hear of any substitute for the present high-priced commodity—coal. A fire composed of indestructible fuel, heated by Gas, can now be had at moderate prices. The patent is applicable to all ordinary fire grates and coal stoves, and is said to have all the good qualities of a Coal Fire, without the disadvantages of dust, ashes, soot, smoke, or unpleasant odour. It is very similar in appearance to an ordinary Coal Fire well burned up. This effect is produced by burning gas and air in the midst of a number of pieces of incombustible material placed in the grate similar to coal or coke. These give out an intense heat, that emit neither sparks, dust, or injurious vapours. The warmth of rooms can be regulated to any degree, and remain so night and day without any attention being paid to the fire. Such are the advantages claimed for the new fire, which has already made some progress in the houses of mercantile princes, as well as in their offices. The Patentee is Mr. BALL, of Birmingham; and Mr. THOMAS CHESTERS, Merton-road, Bootle, is Agent."

CHESHIRE.

HEAD MASTER: Mr. S. BEVAN DAVIES, Member of the London University, of the College of Preceptors and of the Manchester Board of Schoolmasters.
SECOND MASTER (Resident): Mr. THOMAS BAILEY, of Westminster Training College, Certificated Master.
THIRD MASTER, (Resident): Mr. EDWARD ROGERS.
DRAWING MASTER: Mr. HENRY MEADOWS, Certificated Master.
GYMNASTIC MASTER: Mr THOMAS RENSHAW.

The House and School were erected in 1867. The educational appliances are modern and of the best kind. Drawing and French are made leading subjects of instruction, and are taught without extra charge. There is a special course of instruction for youths intended for commercial pursuits under the direction of the Head Masters.

The pupils in the Senior Classes are prepared for the Cambridge Local Examinations, and, subject to the approval of their friends, are sent in for examination in December.

The School year is divided into four terms of equal length. The vacations are, at Midummer, six weeks, at Christmas, four weeks. Every Saturday is a whole holiday.

TERMS:

DAY PUPILS:

FIRST FORM	£1 10	per quarter.
SECOND FORM	£2 0
THIRD FORM	£2 10
SUPERNUMERARIES AND FOURTH FORM	£3 0

WEEKLY BOARDERS:	£40 0	per annum.
QUARTERLY BOARDERS:	£48 0

In the case of Boarders the only charges for Stationery are for

(a) Foreign Dictionaries, Authors, and Atlases.
(b) The Text-Books of Euclid, Algebra, Trigonometry.
(c) Drawing Materials, Music-pieces.

Ordinary School Books are lent. Copy and Exercise books, slates, pens, &c., are supplied to Boarders free of charge.

Dinner with the Boarders is provided for Day Pupils at a charge of £3 per quarter.

Special accommodation is provided for youths requiring a separate bedroom, superior board, private tuition, or to remain during the vacations, at terms varying from £60 to £100 per annum.

ADDITIONAL CHARGES:

PIANO: £1 5s. per quarter.
GYMNASTICS: 5s. per quarter.
SINGING: 5s. per quarter.

Mr. Davies wishes it to be distinctly understood—

(1) That no pupil will be received for a shorter term than half a year.

(2) That any pupil kept away from school except for serious illness will be charged the usual fees.

(3) That a quarter's notice or the payment of a quarter's fees will in all cases be required before the removal of any pupil, day scholar, or boarder.

There is a Junior Department for very young Boys, under the management of a trained and experienced lady.

Asphalte.

The attention of the Nobility, Owners of Property, Architects, Glass and Chemical Manufacturers, and the Public generally, is invited to the GRANITE CONCRETE ASPHALTE, and the BITUMINOUS ASPHALTUM, as a most valuable substitute for Flagging, Tiling, Paving, Gravelling, &c. The CONCRETE being specially prepared for School Playgrounds, Foot Paths, Garden Walks, Carriage Roads, Railway Platforms, Stable, Workhouse, and Hospital Yards, and for such purposes very much admired on account of its BEAUTY, ECONOMY, CLEANLINESS, FIRMNESS, and DURABILITY; Weeds will not grow in it; neither is it washed away by rain as gravel, &c., and may be easily kept clean, thus rendering it most desirable for the purposes referred to. Also proved to be superior to any other mode of Flooring for Glass House purposes, when Glass is placed upon it, its elasticity and non-conductor of cold prevents breakage. For chemical works the floor is even and dry, thus affording every facility for storing and securing any of the manufacture, which otherwise might be wasted betwixt the joints, &c., of ordinary flooring. In a SANITARY POINT OF VIEW, it is decidedly superior to anything else, there being no lodgment for STAGNANT WATER, THUS PREVENTING ALL INJURIOUS EFFECTS ARISING THEREFROM, it is also a DISINFECTANT, therefore for BACK YARDS OF HOUSES, &c., ought to be universally adopted.

The BITUMINOUS ASPHALTUM is a hard and solid compound, perfectly impervious to water or damp, surpassing anything hitherto invented for Grouting Foundations of either Brick or Stone Work, covering Railway or other Arches, laying Barn, Warehouse, or Cellar floors. For the above it is already proved by the Faculty to be most invaluable. When Foundations are grouted with it, damp is prevented from ascending. Arches are always found to be dry underneath, and the structure thereby preserved; Barn and other Floors are clean, hard, even, and proof against moisture or the ravages of vermin.

Varnish.

HAYES' RED OXIDE VARNISH PAINT is a most convenient substitute for Oil Paint, it is ready for use and can be applied by any unskilled workman, invaluable for coating Tanks, Boilers, Sheds, Bridges, and Brick Walls; bears a good firm body, prevents damp, and is durable. Sold in kegs of 15 gallons and upwards. The Cost of which does not exceed one half the price of Oil Paint.

Black Japan Varnish.

HAYES' BLACK JAPAN VARNISH was the first ever introduced: the late Mr. JOHN HAYES being the inventor of both it and the Red ditto, and it is still the best Varnish in use; and is known by the Manufacturers of Hardware for its superior body, gloss, and hardness. Can be delivered at from 1s. and upwards per gallon.

QUEEN INSURANCE COMPANY.

What ought to be sought first by intending Assurers is Absolute Security.

THE "QUEEN" Life Accumulation Fund at the close of last Quinquennium (31st Dec., 1873), amounted to upwards of 67 PER CENT. of the entire net premiums received on every policy then in existence, and, after making ample Reserves on a THREE PER CENT. PURE PREMIUM valuation, showed a clear divisible surplus or profit for the five years, of over £30,000.

The late eminent Actuary, MR. SAMUEL BROWN, who checked the valuations, concluded his report as follows:—

"The precautions which have been taken not to anticipate any of the future profits of the Company, and by using the tables on which the premiums are based at a very low rate of interest to strengthen its position at all future Divisions, are sure to lead to the confidence and support of the Public.

"It seems to me that such results as those above show, are likely to lead to a great influx of business during the next Quinquennial period."

IN ADDITION TO THE UNDENIABLE SECURITY THUS SHOWN, THE SUBSCRIBED CAPITAL AT THE DATE MENTIONED ACTUALLY EXCEEDED THE TOTAL NET AMOUNT ASSURED UNDER ALL ITS POLICIES BY £344,334.

Total Amount of Assurances (less Re-assurances)	£1,453,965 11 6
Amount of Subscribed Capital	1,798,300 0 0

Begs to return his most sincere and cordial thanks to his friends and the public generally for the very kind and liberal support they have accorded him since his commencement of the above business, and having had experience from early youth in Agriculture, the English Timber, Stone, and Building Trades; and being a practical Millwright and Engineer, he flatters himself he has attained a thorough knowledge of the value of Farming Stock, Growing and Fallen Timber, Engines, Gearing, Machinery, Working Plant, Houses, Buildings, Land, and Property generally, and hopes that, by integrity, strict attention to business, prompt settlements, and reasonable charges, combined with courtesy and civility, to continue to merit the good feeling, patronage and support hitherto shown him; and he wishes to subscribe himself the humble and faithful servant of the public, and desires to call the attention of intended patrons to copies of letters given below.

[Copy.]

Garswood Cottage,
January 3rd, 1872.

DEAR SIR,

I have much pleasure in informing you that my father is very well pleased at the way in which you have conducted the Meads Farm Sale, and at your promptness in settling up.

Yours truly,
H. J. BROMILOW.

MR. JOHN MAKINSON.

Extract from the Wigan Observer, December 26th, 1873.

PRESENTATION TO MR. JOHN MAKINSON.—On Friday last, at the Railway Hotel, Wigan, a Gold Medal and a beautifully illuminated Address were presented by Mr. T. Allen, on behalf of the representatives of the late Mr. John Rigby, to Mr. John Makinson, of Upholland and Wigan, who officiated as auctioneer at the sale at Tucker's Hill Farm, Blackrod, last month. The Medal bore the following inscription:—"Presented to Mr. John Makinson, auctioneer, Upholland, by the representatives of the late Mr. John Rigby, November, 1873, in recognition of his valuable services in conducting the sale of farming stock at Tucker's Hill Farm, and Property in Blackrod." The Address was as follows:—"Presented to Mr. John Makinson, by the representatives of the late Mr. John Rigby farmer, Haigh. The representatives of the late Mr. John Rigby present this small memento to Mr. John Makinson, auctioneer and valuer, as a mark of their esteem of his valuable services in connection with the sales of farming and other stock at Tucker's Hill Farm, Haigh, and the property at Blackrod, belonging to the late Mr. John Rigby. In doing so they wish to express their sincere appreciation of the integrity, business capability, and courtesy with which Mr. Makinson has conducted all his transactions; and hope he may continue to meet with that success which his urbanity, skill, and aptitude deserve.—Robert Gore, Thomas Allen, John Barton. Haigh, December, 1873."

DEAR SIR,

Bilton Grange, Rugby, 23rd January, 1875.

Mr. Lancaster desires me to acknowledge due receipt of your letter of yesterday and enclosures, and to thank you for cheque, balance of Ashfield sale for which I return receipt. Mr. Lancaster is well satisfied with your arrangements and will have pleasure in employing you again should opportunity occur.

THE "MARVELLOUS"

FAMILY WASHING MACHINE.

E. FIRTH'S PATENT, OLDHAM.

This is the only Washing Machine before the Public which has been awarded EIGHT PRIZES since Sept. 7th, 1875.

It took the SILVER MEDAL at Middleton Agricultural Show, Sept. 11th, after a severe contest with Twelve other Washing Machines.

THE UNIVERSAL TESTIMONY IS—"WE WOULD NOT DO WITHOUT THEM FOR THREE TIMES THEIR COST."

No. 1 Machine. Price 35s.

The grand aim of the present day is to economise time and lighten labour. Many inventions have already done much to relieve the really hard work of washing; but an undoubted success has been gained by over all other Machines in the market. It has rapidly become a universal favourite with all classes, being unequalled for its Simplicity, Usefulness, and Efficiency.

THE "MARVELLOUS"

The "MARVELLOUS" WASHER has now become one of the most popular inventions of the day, the success of a small portable and efficient Machine is an established fact,—the "MARVELLOUS" WASHER having a larger sale than any other Washing Machine in the market. Even those who have room for the larger Machines prefer the "MARVELLOUS," because it does its work equal to any, and is the only one in use which does not wear the clothes. The principle on which this Machine is constructed is without doubt the most speedy and effectual method of washing. As will be seen from the accompanying sketches, the clothes, saturated with water, are passed between beaded rollers, which crimp the fabric, the plain side rollers acting in such a manner as to forcibly drive out the water with the dirt thus loosened. By this means all articles are evenly washed, as all portions of the clothes are acted upon equally by the rollers, so that SEAMS AND CREASES ARE THOROUGHLY CLEANSED.

No. 2 Machine. Price 42s.

IT WILL DO A DAY'S WASHING IN TWO HOURS,

And possesses the following advantages :—

It occupies less space than any other Machine.

It is very simple, and not liable to get out of order, on account of its simplicity.

It is very easy to work—a child can manage it.

It is very durable, light, and portable.

It will wash anything, from a piece of muslin to a counterpane, and does not injure the buttons.

The wear and tear of clothes is not so great as with hand labour. A piece of writing paper may be wetted and passed through the rollers without injury.

No rubbing or scrubbing is required; and after washing is done the rollers can be taken out, and the tub be used as a bath for children, or other domestic purposes.

No. 3 Machine,

with Wringer combined.

Price £3 16s.

TESTIMONIALS.

Lord Street, Leigh, Dec. 12th, 1875.

Dear Sirs,—I am quite surprised with your "Marvellous" Washer doing its work so well and being so easy to manage; it saves me 5s. per week.—Yours truly, MRS. BATTERSBY.

Shuttle Street, Tyldesley, Jan. 6th, 1876.

Gentlemen,—I have much pleasure in testifying to the efficiency of your "Marvellous" Washer. It is more trouble to get ready and peg out the clothes than to wash them.—I am, dear sirs, yours respectfully, MRS. CALLEY.

Swan Hotel, Astley, Jan. 8th, 1876.

Dear Sirs,—After giving your "Marvellous" a fair trial, I can with every confidence recommend it for doing its work well, and it is saving me 4s. per week.—Yours truly, MRS. HARRISON.

69, Lees Road, Oldham, Feb. 5th, 1876.

Sir,—After giving your "Marvellous" Machine a fair trial, I can with every confidence highly recommend it for doing its work well, and also for durability.—Yours very truly, MOSES BLACKBURN.

The Vicarage, Tonge, near Middleton.

Mrs. Potter's servants have given the "Marvellous" Washing Machine a fair trial, and they consider it does its work well, with a very great saving of labour.

BROADBENT'S

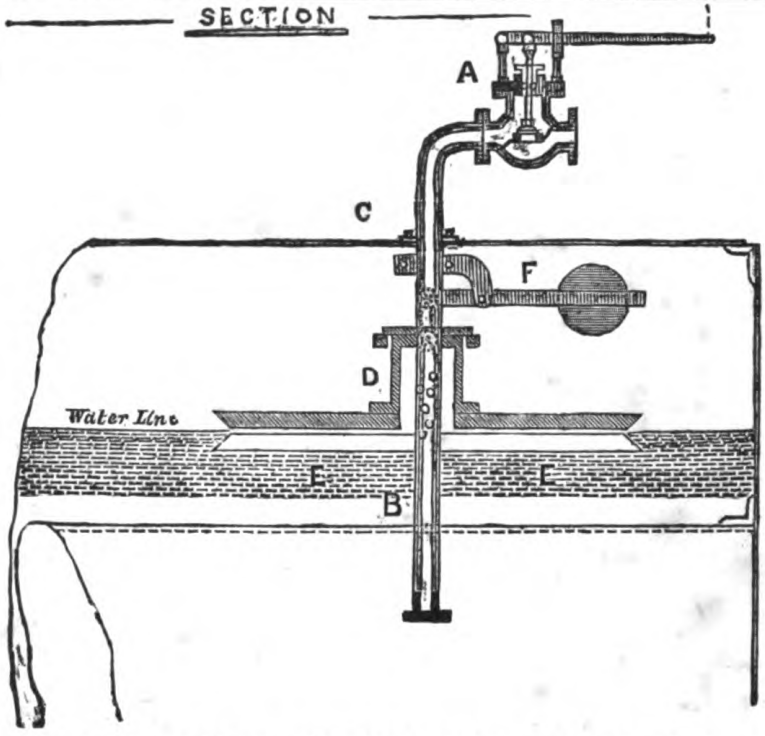

PATENT FLOATING

BOILER SCUMMERS

ARE INVALUABLE.

THEY INCREASE THE SAFETY OF THE BOILERS AND SAVE COAL.

DESCRIPTION.—The principal portions of the apparatus are—the Valve A, which forms the outlet; the Dip Pipe B, which is secured to the Flange C, at the top of the Boiler, and perforated under the Cap D; the Fire-brick Float EE is attached to Cap D, and rises and falls with the water, being balanced by the weighted Lever F.

The Lever F is secured by a bracket to the Dip Pipe, and attached to the Cap of the Float by two loose links, one on each side. The Inlet is along the edge of the Float, at the water line, when the internal pressure forces the Scum through the Inlet into the Cap, hence through the holes into the Dip Pipe, to the Outlet.

SILVER MEDAL AWARDED AT THE MIDDLETON AGRICULTURAL SHOW, 1871.

In submitting this important Invention to the notice of steam users and others, we feel confident of being able to supply a want which has long been felt, namely, a really good scummer, the thorough efficiency of which has been proved by the best of all tests—practical application. The great superiority of the movable or floating Scummer over the fixed Scummer is very evident; for while the latter can only remove the scum when at a particular elevation, the former carries it away successfully, no matter what may be the height of the water.

This Apparatus deserves the special attention of the owners of Marine Boilers, as its adoption would prevent, to a great extent, the large and rapid accumulation of scale, to which these boilers are peculiarly subject. The mechanism is slightly different from that applied to Stationary Boilers, in order to secure the proper working condition of the Scummer during any motion of the vessel. Whatever the vessel's position the Float will be level with the surface of the water.

Another important feature is its simplicity of construction, rendering liability to get out of order very slight.

———:o:———

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS ON THE SCUMMER.

Too much importance can scarcely be attached to a really good Scummer, as it removes, in a great measure, a prolific source of expensive, and often lamentable, results; in short, few users of steam boilers can be ignorant of the very numerous evils attendant on corrosion and incrustation. By the use of our Scummer the number of these evils may, at least, be materially reduced.

The Scummer ought always to be placed near the back end of the boiler, as the scum is carried there by the current of the water from the firing-end.

———:o:———

ADVANTAGES ARISING FROM THE USE OF THE FLOATING SCUMMER.

Increased safety and durability of the Boiler, and Steam easier generated, is attained by the scum being blown outside the boiler, and prevents that rapid accumulation of scale and deposit, allowing the heat from the furnaces to act more direct upon the water, at the same time with less injury to the boiler plates.

[SEE NEXT PAGE.]

Less wear and tear on the Engine Cylinder and Valve surfaces, by the steam passing from the boiler in a purer state, i.e., free from scummings; the surface of valve facings are kept clean, they do not get fluted, fit well, and consequently, do their work better; the cylinder does not get (what is known amongst Engineers) painted by a deposit of scum. There are more break-downs caused through this evil than any other, for immediately the scum gets upon the cylinder the friction is increased, and the velocity of the piston is suddenly retarded, causing a severe back lashing in the wheels, and often results in a stoppage of the whole works until the wheels are replaced. By the cylinder being kept clean the turning is more regular, and less steam is required.

Price per Boiler ... ... £15 Nett.
Price for Self-acting Motion to work the Scummer ... £2 „

THE SCUMMER CAN BE ATTACHED TO BOILERS IN A FEW HOURS.

OLDHAM EDGE IRON WORKS, February, 1871.

We have one of Broadbent's Patent Floating Scummers at work, and are pleased to state that it gives entire satisfaction. J. PRITCHARD & SONS.

———:o:———

VALE MILL, HOLLINWOOD, NEAR MANCHESTER, August 7th, 1872.

DEAR SIR,—In answer to your enquiries, we have had five of Broadbent's Scummers (one on each boiler) at work about twelve months, and are glad to say that we are very well pleased with them. We find the SCALE in the boilers gradually diminishing, and the Pistons almost free from DIRT, consequently needing less TALLOW. Before we applied the Scummers we cleaned the Pistons every three months, but now we clean them once in six months, and yet we do not find one quarter of the DIRT in the cylinders that we used to do. Yours, very truly,

p. pro PROCKTER, LITTLER, & Co., THOMAS PROCKTER.

PARK MILLS, HOLLINWOOD, NEAR MANCHESTER, February 15th, 1872,

SIR,—We have pleasure in testifying to the efficient working of Broadbent's Patent Scummer. Previous to applying it, we were very much troubled with "ENGINE PRIMING," we never are now; the Boiler is also very much cleaner.

Yours respectfully, H. L. & G. BAXTER.

———:o:———

ALBERT MILLS, HOLLINWOOD, NEAR MANCHESTER, February 17th, 1872.

We have had your Patent Scummers at work for some time, on four of our Boilers, and think them very useful for preventing incrustation, and likely to continue operative for a long time without getting choked, or otherwise out of order.

Yours truly, W. J. & B. LEES.

———:o:———

MOORSIDE MILLS, OLDHAM, March 2nd, 1872.

SIR,—We have very great pleasure in testifying to the efficacy of the Patent Scummer you have applied to our Boilers. We have let the Boilers off now after four months' working, and are glad to find that no scale or residue whatever exists, although we have usually cleaned our Boilers once every six weeks, and were nevertheless troubled with scale to a great extent.

Yours respectfully, THOMAS MELLODEW & Co.

STAYLEY NEW MILLS, STALYBRIDGE, February 17th, 1873.

Mr. J. W. BROADBENT,

DEAR SIR,—I have pleasure in stating that the Patent Floating Boiler Scummers you applied to my four Boilers are doing their work exceedingly well. I work them double the time I used to do without cleaning, and I find scarcely any scale adhering to the flues. I can with confidence recommend them to all users of steam power where they are troubled with scale.

I am, dear sir, yours truly, For GEORGE ADSHEAD, ISAAC K. CLAYTON.

Proprietor of the following Valuable Preparations:—Compound Balsamic Cough Mixture, Gingerbread Worm Nuts, Compound Antibilious Pills, Oriental Hair Restorative, and Sarsæ Cum Tarax, or Compound Sarsaparilla with Dandelion.

To ease a cough, there's no denying,
Bamford Taylor's mixture is worth trying;
It never yet was known to fail,
And thus commands a wondrous sale.

His Worm Nuts, too, suit old and young,
And praised they are by every tongue;
For those who've tried them always say,
They're the greatest remedy of the day.

All ye who suffer constant pain,
Ye who've tried all else in vain;
Purchase Taylor's Antibilious Pills,
And gain relief from all your ills.

And if your blood you'd purify,
His "Sarsæ cum tarax" now try,
All skin diseases quickly cured,
And health and happiness secured.

Now if your hair be turning grey,
Or falling off from sheer decay,
His Restorative I'd have you use,
And testimonials peruse.
