THE first Column is the days of the Year; the second the days of the Month; the third the days of the Week, (all Capital D's are Sundays); the fourth the Kalendar, Birth-days of the Royal family, Equation of time and Gray Day-light, (when the Sun is 10 degrees below the Horizon); the fifth the Moon's rising or setting, (M between the Figures standing for Morning, and E. for Evening); the sixth shews the Moon's age; the seventh the Forenoon tide at Leith; the eighth the Afternoon's tide; both here, and in the Column for the rising and setting of the Moon, 0 Hours stands for Midnight, and 12 for Noon.

ECLIPSES in the Year 1767.

There will be but two Eclipses of the Luminaries this year, both of the Sun, viz. on January the 30th and July the 25th, neither of which will be visible to the inhabitants of Great Britain.

The mail for London, all parts of England, Haddington, Dunbar, Old Cammus, Dunse, Berwick, Dumfries, Linton, Lochmaben and Moffat, is dispatched at 7 at night. The other posts, when not otherwise noted, are dispatched at 9 at night and, unless marked otherwise, arrive in the morning, except Drumlanrig, Langholm, Leadhills, Monjaive, Newton Stewart, New Galloway, and Sanquhar, which arrive in the afternoon.

When the London post is later of arriving at Edinburgh than 5 in the afternoon, the dispatch of the Inland-posts is proportionably extended after 9 at night, so as at all times to preserve an intervening space of 4 hours between the arrival from London and the departure for the country.

The full postage must be paid at the in-giving office for every letter directed to any person on ship-board, with an additional penny for putting it on board, otherwise no such letter can be forwarded. All letters from on ship-board are all charged with one penny above postage.

A packet is dispatched for Lerwick in Shetland, first Wedn of Feb. April, June, Aug. Oct. and Dec. and returns generally arrive about the 8th or 10th of the intervening months.

¶ The sea-postage of 2 d. single, and so in proportion, must be paid at in-giving, for all letters to Ireland; if this is not done, they cannot be sent by Port Patrick, but must go by London and Holyhead.
